

HIGHER-THAN-NEW HORSEPOWER! BETTER-THAN-NEW ON GASOLINE MILEAGE! AND NOT A SINGLE TRACE OF CARBON KNOCK OR PRE-IGNITION AT ANY TIME—EVEN ON THE STEEPEST MOUNTAIN GRADES!

Instead of trying to fight trouble-making deposits with so-called "miracle-additives"—inside your engine—Gulf believes in preventing them from forming in the first place. That's why Gulf, in making new Super-Refined NO-NOX, refines out the carbon-forming, "dirty-burning tail-end"—more than a cupful in every gallon. Just look at the plates the Gulf scientist is holding in the un触手写 photo above, and see what a difference Gulf super refining makes!

Now—Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—the No. 1 troublemaker in high-compression engines. Result: a cleaner-burning super-fuel that gives you thousands of extra miles of full engine power . . . free from knock or pre-ignition.

Starting with your first tankful, this new, super-refined, super-powered fuel will give you these immediate and lasting benefits:

► More complete engine protection than the so-called "miracle-additive" gasones. Why? Because Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline, the No. 1 troublemaker in high-compression engines—and then treats this new Super-Refined NO-NOX to give it a complete range of protective properties. It protects every part it touches against harmful deposits—carbon, rust, gum.

► Extra gas mileage. Why? Because now

NO-NOX is specially blended for the short-trip, stop-and-go driving you do most.

► No knock, no pre-ignition—even in today's super-compression engines. Why? Because the anti-knock power of new NO-NOX has been stepped up to an all-time high.

► Start-proof smoothness—no more worries about carburetor icing in chilly weather, or vapor lock on warm days. Instant starts, too—and fast, fuel-saving warm-up.

That's why new Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX gives you more power-with-protection than you've ever known.

Ohio Negroes Fight To End Segregation

Strolling In Sanford

Audie Runnels, Navy man who works with Bob Cox, photographer, has been proudly displaying his new and only daughter, Robin, downtown lately. The new addition was born Aug. 31.

The Sanford Grammar School's "Fall Roundup" Saturday will feature a new and colorful booth. A feature attraction at the "Pioneer Handicraft Shop" will be personalized bandanas. Mrs. Joe Garrett will apply names by machine on the big handkerchiefs. The booth also will have clever aprons for mothers and daughters in a variety of colors and designs. A large selection of pretty workwear made of gingham, denim, cottons, flannels and tiny flowers and ribbon bandanas for the young lady will be on hand. Also, there will be smart gypsy bandana designs. The school board decided to close the school Sept. 20 following a meeting at which the community's two other all-Negro schools were closed.

Black Negro pupils registered with 600 white children for classes in previously all-white schools. The Board of Education closed the schools last Monday "in the best interests of the children" after threats of violence if white and Negro high school pupils were allowed to continue studying in the same schools.

Despite a petition bearing over 500 signatures which called for exclusion of Negroes, the school board still will go ahead with its plan to integrate the schools again to take their case to court on Tuesday. But board member William V. Sipple Jr., who told telephone calls "bothered" in threatening possible violence to the Negro pupils.

The board then ordered the schools closed again Friday in the face of a strike. The Milford board is slated to meet with the state Board of Education Thursday night.

In the South, Alabama legislative leaders recommended that Negroes join all-white schools in order to maintain segregation. A special legislative committee recommended adoption of a constitutional amendment removing all references to public schools in the constitution.

The amendment would open the way for state subsidized private schools. It would give the legislature wide powers in setting up non-state operated schools and is similar to proposals already given legislative approval in Georgia and Mississippi.

The theory behind the private school plan is that the Supreme Court could not regulate admission to "private" schools.

In addition, the Justice Department also may prevent one hour of argument, and seven states which were not directly involved in the May decision have notified the court they wish to appear as friends of the court.

These states, which will file briefs and possibly take part in the oral arguments, are North Carolina, Arkansas, Texas, Florida, Maryland, Tennessee and Oklahoma. If attorneys general of these states wish to argue, they will be allowed one hour each.

They are Douglas Stensrud and E. Brady, both of Sanford and J. F. Parrish, Titusville.

The program will be broadcast at 12:30 p.m. by the local radio station.

Jap 'Kimino Cabinet' Studies Government

TOKYO (UPI)—A 13-woman "kimono cabinet" has taken a look at Japan's problems and decided to专门ly house cleaning in order to help.

Woman's Fourm, leading Japanese woman's magazine, reported the self-appointed cabinet includes authors, civil servants and politicians. Some members described quickly as critics.

An emphatic recommendation urged the setting up of several reformatories for geisha girls, the traditional paid companions or hostesses of Japan.

Here are the women's planks:

"Labor Minister" Kikue Yamakawa—outlaw the geisha girls.

"Education minister" Keiko Shimizu—an immediate 10 per cent pay increase for teachers and higher pay for lower grade teachers than for college professors.

"Construction minister" Yoko Matsushita (American educated) outlaw the hanging of diapers and "unmentionables" from apartment house windows. Require fireproof housing.

"Postal minister" Hanako Murakami—more women's pictures on postage stamps.

UN General Assembly Gets Ready To Plunge Into World Problems

New York Demos Choose Harriman; Ike Starts Tour

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York Democrats today nominated Averell Harriman as their candidate for governor. The former ambassador and foreign aid chief topped Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. on the first conventional ballot.

Today also marks the start of a three-day speaking tour by President Eisenhower. He has scheduled four talks for a week through Montana, Oregon, Washington and California.

Vice President Nixon was barmstorming Minnesota today, aiming for a COP victory in the Nov. 2 ballot.

Nixon spoke last night at East Lansing, Mich., and challenged Democrat Adlai Stevenson to make "constructive" suggestions rather than quips and criticisms on the Eisenhower administration.

Pulling of delegates in the heated Harriman-Brownell contest in New York City began shortly after midnight. The count was halted soon after Harriman picked up the 540 votes needed to win.

Harriman then entered the hall and suggested that "the nomination of my old friend Averell Roosevelt be made unanimous." He called Harriman "great leader with a great record."

At that point, Harriman had 541 votes, Roosevelt 217.

Harriman, 62, had the backing of the state's most influential party leaders. A former Republican he served both the Roosevelt and Truman administrations.

Brownell withdrew his bid for the state ticket today as New York Republicans open their convention in Syracuse. The GOP is expected to name as Harriman's opponent Sen. Irving M. Ives, the choice of retiring Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Eisenhower held off at Denver yesterday while the National Convention opened at the Hotel Colorado. He told reporters he faced a "hard fight" to retain control of Congress but had a "good" chance of succeeding. Presidential aide said this was not likely to cause a change in Eisenhower's campaign plans.

The arguments could extend over a year. There will be an allowance of 10 hours for arguments from South Carolina, Virginia, Kansas, Delaware and the District of Columbia—directly involved in the case, which brought the court's antisegregation decision last May 17—and the replies to those arguments.

Scientific Data Gathered By Climbers May Be Help In Proposed Space Travel

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 22.—An expedition which recently failed to reach the top of the world's fourth highest mountain has returned home with some scientific information that may help man survive in his projected space travel.

Ten young Californians, each a specialist in a special area, had volunteered to mountain climbing made up the group. Their attempt to reach the top of Makalu, 23,290 feet peak in the Himalayas, was cut short by the early arrival of the monsoon season.

However, the party spent about two months at the 15,500-foot level and two of them reached 21,200 feet.

At 15,500 feet the temperature stays around 30 to 35 degrees below zero and the atmospheric pressure is only about half what it is at sea level. This combination produced severe physical stress and Dr. Nelly Pace, physiologist, the member of the expedition.

In many respects, Dr. Pace reported, the climbers behaved as would be expected from the time the battlefield. The main difference, he added, is that it last longer than combat there, a matter of weeks rather than hours or days.

Under these conditions, the physiologist reported, some unusual things happened to the bodies of the expedition members.

Most surprising change was that the body cells of the climbers had increased in amount and amount of hormone from the cap of the adrenal glands which help the kidneys.

In any condition of stress, anger, or fear, hormones from the adrenal glands help maintain the whole body to meet the emergency. They aid in contracting blood vessels, speeding up the heart rate, and tensing the muscles. This helps the soldier to fight, the mountain climber to resist cold and low oxygen.

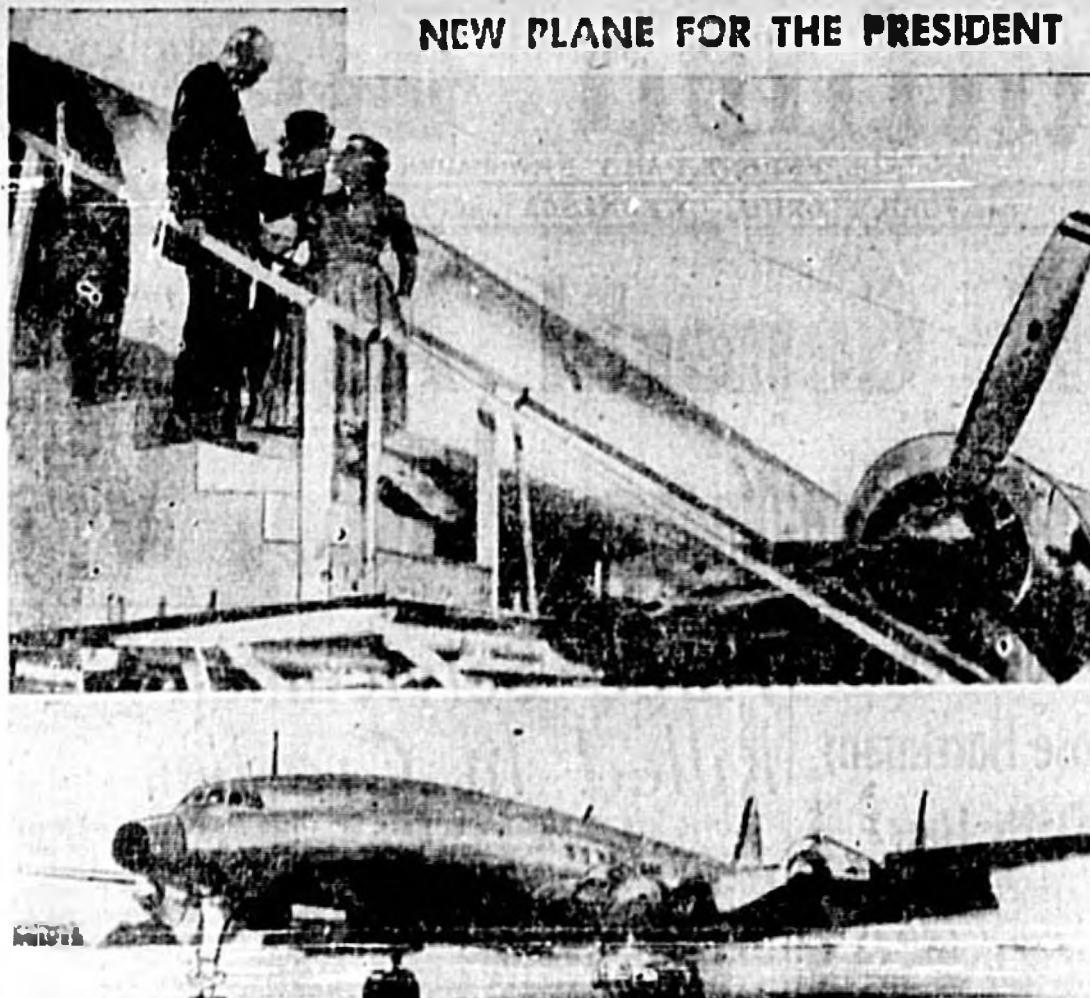

Late afternoon hours can be a dangerous time on autumn evenings. By the time youngsters are pedaling home from a school meeting or football game after school, it's twilight and time for drivers to be extra alert. Every bicycle is equipped with an adequate reflector to warn approaching cars. The two children here are using safety reflectors of red "Scotchlite." More than 15 million of these are being distributed this fall in special packages of a leading brand of margarine. The red hexagons light up more than a block away when a car's headlights shine on them.

ERAZ TAFT BENSON, Secretary of Agriculture, outlines the relaxation of the "total acreage allotment" plan for farmers with a drought area map in his Washington office. The plan had been designed to prevent new surpluses from being produced by areas diverted from basic crops. Benson hopes to encourage use of this land, and suggested increased aid to farmers and ranchers and the addition of Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, Tennessee and South Carolina as disaster areas. Dog's Proper Care Explained By Use Of Transparent Canine Hundreds of thousands of dog lovers in the United States have been getting advice on the care of their dogs straight from a dog.

"Vesta," the world's first transparent dog who was created as an educational exhibit by the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York, has made appearances coast-to-coast since her debut last fall, in conjunction with veterinary meetings at colleges leading dog shows and fairs. Her appearances are necessarily limited because it is quite an undertaking to transport this sensational creature. She needs a special luxury carrier, intricate assembling and her own "handler engineer." All complete and ready to go, Vesta weighs some 1,160 pounds.

Modeled after an actual female Great Dane, she is made of plastic and mounted on a pedestal that revolves. Because she is transparent, her skeletal structure, muscles, and the organs of her body can be viewed. Each organ is illuminated by its own individual color as Vesta's "voice", a special recording, explains their function.

But she is not just a scientific achievement. Vesta was designed to give people a better understanding of dogs and their care.

she explains that all dogs are alike in structure, from one of her own mammoth size to a tiny Chihuahua, the smallest of the 113 recognized breeds of dogs in America.

Like Vesta, all dogs have 303 bones in their bodies and she explains that parts of the skeleton is a protective framework for vital organs. The bones allow, for example, house the heart and lungs, and enable the dog to breathe by expanding the chest. She explains how the bones of the dog's legs are joined and angulated to permit him to trot and run and leap.

Vesta, like all normal dogs, has forty-two teeth. These are the permanent teeth, which take the place of the puppy milk teeth. When a puppy reaches the age of three or four months, Vesta makes the point that pups like to chew on things, just as babies do during the teething period and often get scolded for selecting the owner's best shoes!

Among the most valuable information that Vesta imparts is that dogs need a complete diet, just as humans do, in order to live.

Army Airport For Helicopters To Open Soon

On Oct. 5, the Army will put into operation the world's first helicopter airport, "Heliport" at Fort Eustis, Va., home of the Army's transportation corps.

Air transportation has come to realize the versatility and increased verability of the helicopter as a revolutionary advancement in the transporting of men and equipment and are concentrating all effort on expanding the program in the Army.

The completion of the heliport is one of the many which the Army is undertaking in its expansion program. The greatest problem created by the helicopter program thus far has been the lack of trained specialists to pilot, maintain and repair the flying windmills. Next year the Army has offered all its personnel, who can qualify, the opportunity to be schooled in pilot and ground courses.

Recently this training has been made available to high school graduates who can meet the qualifications. Courses offered to high school graduates direct from civilian life include rotor and propeller, helicopter maintenance, helicopter mechanics, maintenance and helicopter mechanic night types.

With the announcement of the opening of the heliport, the Army also announced that 100 new helicopter companies of men are being organized which will be specialized in all phases pertaining to helicopters. These companies will be based at Fort Sill, Okla.; Camp Rucker, Ala.; Fort Bragg, N.C.; Fort Benning, Ga.; and Fort Eustis, Va.

Each company will be equipped with 20 of the Plastic-type helicopters, each capable of carrying 16 to 20 passengers apiece, or carrying loads of 8,800 pounds.

High school graduates who are interested in information as to how to apply for this type direct training program are invited to visit Sergeant Jacobsen at the 42nd Sergeant Jacobsen at the Orlando post office building, 42 E. Central Ave., or call Orlando 6-3341.

Fan Dancer Dunks Self In Fountain

ROME, Ga.—A blonde fan dancer from Tacoma, Wash., claiming she had no coins, cheerfully threw her self and a pet monkey into Rome's tourist-lined Trevi fountain today.

An astounded policeman chased the blonde, Charlie Castle, and the monkey, named Paul, out. But the said she hoped she'd return to Rome one day anyway but the way visitors who flock into the fountains are supposed to.

Thoughtfully forewarned, a bevy of press photographers snapped Miss Castle as she as she moved a leopard-skin coat and took the plunge in a leopard-skin bikini with the monkey.

Miss Castle and the monkey emerged quickly, too short stage of whisky and dashed off amidst the gaping tourists while the cop barked.

"I was too fast for him," said the fan dancer at her boarding house later. She said she pulled the stunt to get publicity for a book and a traveling companion on travel lectures. Abby Ricker of New York City, are writing about their current trip around the world.

Social Security Changes Told By Office Manager

The following information was provided to The Herald by Paul K. Weaver, Orlando, Fla., Social Security office:

Social Security manager Paul K. Weaver, Orlando, will receive thousands of questions after President Eisenhower signed the 1944 Amendments to the Social Security Act.

When Congress proposed and enacted the new amendments, it did so with the main view to widen and bring social security benefits better in line with current earning levels and living costs.

As important are parts of the law which extend social security coverage to more people and in this way make benefits available to more workers in their retirement and to their families when they die. Weaver said.

The amendments which the people in the Senate and in the House under consideration had in mind were to the right of receiving their retirement or survivors' benefit.

The act provides automatically for pension checks to be given to beneficiaries whose monthly income is less than $60. And there will be a proportionate increase for the dependents or survivors who are receiving their monthly social security payments now.

The minimum monthly pension amount will be increased from $30 under the old law to $36 under the new. The additional monthly benefit will be increased from $10 to $12. The maximum family benefit which was $86.15 will be $900. Non-minimum benefit amounts will be less than $10 for a retired worker or an only survivor.

The non-minimum benefit amounts will be increased from $10 to $12. The maximum family benefit which was $86.15 will be $900. Non-minimum benefit amounts will be less than $10 for a retired worker or an only survivor.

The second objective is giving increased benefits to those already receiving social security survivors' payments as well as to those who will be getting them in the future. Three important points are: the increase in the amount of wages which will be counted for social security purposes; a drop in the low or no-earning years; and a revised formula for computing benefit amounts. We are continuing.

Commas Do Count

Was there or was there not a comma in one sentence of President Eisenhower's call for a Republican congressional victory this fall? This trivial-sounding question really has significance.

The President's statement includes this sentence:

"All of us who believe in the aims of this program should join together to elect Republican senators and congressmen, who will work effectively with the leaders of the Executive Branch toward fulfillment of this program."

After the word "congressmen" there is a comma. With its inclusion the sentence means that all Republican congressmen will work effectively with the President. Without the comma, this would have been a plan to elect only those who will work effectively. It would imply that there are some who will not, and therefore are not actively supported by the President. Was the comma intentional?

Commas are not the only punctuation marks that make a difference. "Is that so?" means something quite other than "Is that go!"

A Newburyport, Mass., eccentric of the last century who called himself Lord Timothy Dexter published an autobiography with no punctuation whatever. At the end he printed several lines of commas, semi-colons and other marks, with an invitation to

Baby Has Learned To Toddle

NEW YORK (AP)—I mustn't forget to drop into the drug store today.

Have to pick up some bunions for the baby. She learned to walk just four days ago, and at the rate she's going now her feet will be worn off clear up to the ankles by the end of the week.

Ever since Tracy Ann, accompanied by three spare diapers, moved into our house at the age of five weeks I have been looking forward to seeing her take her first step.

But she took her own sweet time about it. When she was a year old, she was still what is known as a "creeper" now in the old days we called 'em crawlers. She did pull herself upright in her play pen. But after yawning, she sat down again.

I began to get worried. Why didn't she walk? Every parent I ran into seemed to have a baby that walked at 10 months or one month or a year. One guy really drove me crazy. Said he'd heard of a case in which a mother and her baby, two weeks after birth, strayed out the hospital hand-in-hand together, with the tired mother leaning for support on the shoulder of her sturdy infant. Funny fellow.

It was worse when Tracy Ann was 14 months old. Friends began telling of babies they know—"thoughtful babies"—who hadn't walked until they were two years or older.

I began reading magazine articles to Tracy on the value of walking as an exercise. I brought her home books called "Tramping Through Life" and "The Hiker's Handbook." She took the books seriously, digesting them a page at a time. She got so to prefer the books to her pallium. But she didn't even regard them as food for thought just food.

"Tracy, stand up—no hands," I pleaded. And Tracy, sitting square on her small rump, wiggled and held up both hands—to show she wasn't holding on to anything. But when she did stand up, she grabbed at the nearest support like a guy going down in the third tier. She could climb like a squirrel, but she wouldn't stand up by herself.

For some reason her heartless mother seemed completely unconcerned.

"Why won't you let the baby alone?" said Frances. "She'll be fine when she goes to school."

"I'll show her how," I told her. "After all, nobody took me to kindergarten piggy-back. I wheeled there the first day on roller skates."

"Well, bully for you," murmured Frances. "Brave lad."

Miracles came into our lives in commonplace ways. The other day, we were walking along the beach before Tracy's 15-month birthday. We were visiting friends, Peggy and John McKee.

Peggy put Tracy on her feet, and took away her hands. Tracy stood there a moment thoughtfully, took a hesitant step ... then another ... then another.

Way Down South In Sanford, Florida

PICKLEWORMS — do not confine their activities to pickles and are frequently found in squash, likewise do not be astonished to see the two critters pests. Malefly and Cottony-cushion scale on your Australian pines. Perhaps the bugs get confused.

HOT WEATHER — In 1953 Florida produced 11,930,000 gallons of ice cream.

HANTS — If you wake up in the night and hear a slight clicking sound in the wall, your home may be suffering an invasion by the old house borer. The house does not have to be old. Sometimes that exposed lumber used in construction has been infested with this borer or some of its related powder-post beetles.

NAPOLEON — The final test of fame is to have a crazy person imagine he is you.

BUGS are heavy. It is estimated that the total weight of insects on earth today is far greater than the weight of all land animals. Four tons of aphids have been found on an acre of alfalfa.

HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED! — Millions of farm people today watch eagerly for new ideas and farming methods, timely information, and detailed instruction and facts about the jobs they are doing. The USDA, the State colleges, publishers of farm papers, and television and radio broadcasters are well aware of this, and do the best they can to keep up with the demand. It was not ever thus.

About 200 years ago, Ben Franklin is reported to have bought 50 copies "Essays on Field Husbandry" by the celebrated Connecticut yankee farmer and writer, Jared Eliot, planning to give them to farmer friends. They turned the books down, saying: "We want no information on husbandry; we know all about it. Give us labor; we want not your books of information."

RETURN TO THE TWO PANTS SUIT

JAMES MARLOW

Mendes-France Is Quite Indefinite

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pierre Mendes-France, the French Premier, will have proved himself a superb gambler, playing for the highest stakes, if he gets half of what he wants before agreeing to a rearmed Germany.

At the moment it is not clear whether he is gambling that he can make a deal close to his own terms or is actually trying to block any German rearmament at all.

This week he laid down French conditions for letting Germany have guns again. If these conditions are agreed to by the Allies, he said, his countrymen might appear next Tuesday in London at prove. He didn't say they would.

He gets a chance to play his meeting with Secretary of State Eden, Britain's Foreign minister Eden, and the representatives of all other Allies, including Germany.

The United States and Britain, convinced Germany must be rearmed fast and made part of the defense against Russia, thought it could be done in a way that would not permit Germany to become a menace to her neighbors again.

This was through a single European army, called the European Defense Community (EDC). In the EDC arms soldiers of West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg would have served side by side under a unified command chosen from among their own officers.

None of EDC's members would hardly afford to lose French support. European defense, with Germany in it but without France, would have a big hole in it, too.

He may have felt that EDC can make a deal close to his own terms or is actually trying to block any German rearmament at all.

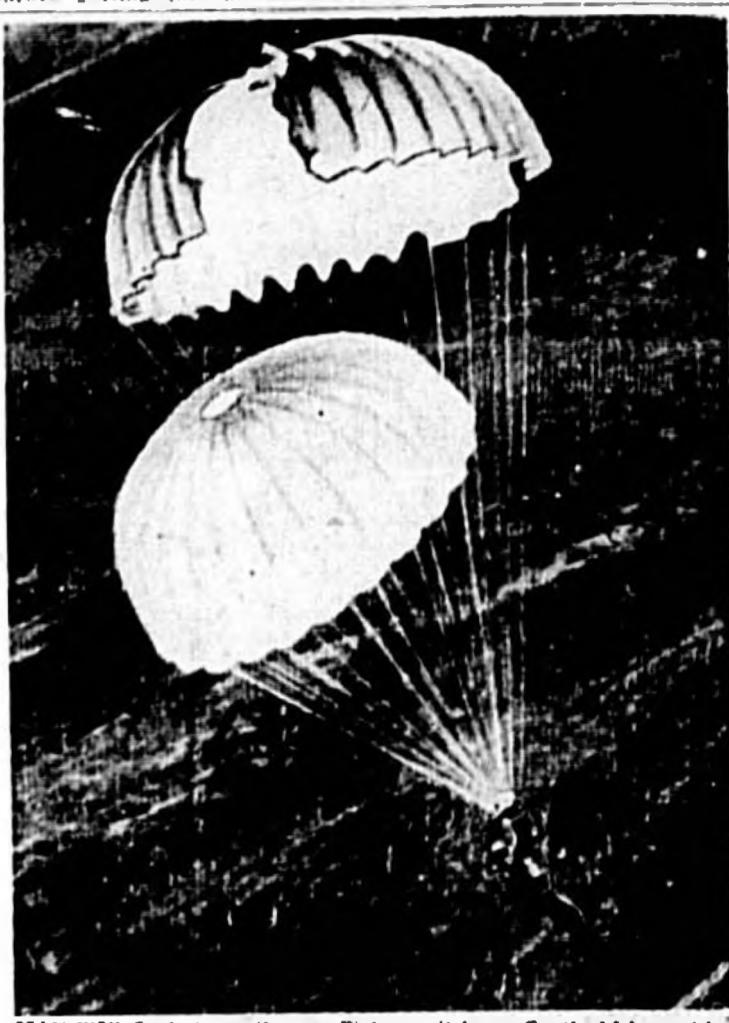

But if he was gambling, it's dangerous business. If Russia should attack before Western defenses are solid, it may be unfortunate for both Germany and France.

This week Mendes-France made a speech outlining the conditions under which he thinks France may improve getting into an alliance with rearmed Germany: "He wants British participation to the greatest degree" in any defense organization that includes Germany.

And he wants the members of that organization to set up a council of some kind which will: (A) have power to limit the armaments of all the members and (B) be free to go into the member countries on inspection trips to be sure there's no cheating.

If he remains rigid on those terms and the Allies won't accept them, it would seem to him he doesn't want Germany rearmed. But he may be offering them only as a starting point for bargaining and compromising.

Byron, future candidate for governor

Day after the dinner we headed home. Stopped in Eustis for a quick breakfast with Syd's mother and father—a stop in Ocala for a look at Syd's new grandson, Patrice Sidney Pattillo—another stop in Gainesville where Syd said showily to U of F student daughter Margaret. Then the long drive back to Washington.

What was the chief topic of conversation on the trip?—Politics? No, guess again—baseball. Don't forget, Syd Herling is known as "Mr. Baseball" in the nation's capital. As manager of the Democratic ball team, Syd's chief complaint is that his winning pitcher, Congressman Don Weston, has been defeated in the primaries—and by a lady. It was a trip home leaves me homesick for a fine trip. But, as usual, am I Florida—the most beautiful place in the world to live. We think well have our head examined.

Try and Stop Me

SOME BRAND NEW members of a hunting club were coming in from their first day's shooting. Unused to handling guns, the casualty list was rather formidable. One had his hand in a sling, another was hopping on one foot, a third looked like the drummer boy in the old Revolutionary War picture.

"Cheer up, fellows," urged an old member. "Judging by the bulle in your bag, you're not coming back empty-handed anyhow!" The one who was carrying the bag declared wearily, "That's our hunting dog!"

A prominent member of the "wolf pack" out in Hollywood spotted a new face—and a lovely one—at a party one evening, and, as was his subtle way, gave her his toothiest smile and a "Hi, Babe, how about coming up to my place for a nightcap later this evening?" The new face froze and said, "Sorry, Babe, but I happen to be on my honeymoon." "Sorry," snuffed the he-man. "How about making it tomorrow night, then?"

Mississippi Coach Works On Defense For Passing Attack

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pass defense is very much on the mind of Mississippi Coach Johnny Vaughn these days as he prepares his favored rebels for Saturday night's game with Kentucky.

Vaughn, who calls the upcoming series "the most difficult in his past bunch of the season," worked his usual at length yesterday on measures designed to thwart the Kentucky air game as intersected by quarterbacks Bob Hardy and Delmar Hughes.

The Rebels found time to work on their own passing game, however, and quarterbacks Houston Eaton, Eddie Day and Johnny Blalock looked sharp completing several long ones.

The top-flight Southeastern Conference battle takes place at Memphis, the second half of a twin card that features Mississippi State and Tennessee in an afternoon game.

Mississippi State Coach Darrell Royal scrimmaged his first three teams Monday, while the others, whose offense Royal considers the best in the country, had a day off. He claims he has never had an injury. End Pete Cook is out of the list. End Jim Ward, The Tide lost fullback Jim Clegg, while the team is short one. He said the Vol kicking game was getting better.

Auburn took another bad blow in the depleted end corps when Curtis Lynch, No. 1 right flanker, suffered a hip injury. Trainer Fred Perry said Lynch might not be able to play against Louisiana State Saturday. Also on the doubtful list are reserve guard Herb Cummings, who has a bad hip injury. End Pete Cook is out of the list. End Jim Ward, The Tide lost fullback Jim Clegg, while the team is short one. He said the Vol kicking game was getting better.

Kentucky emphasized defense against a freshman team operating from Mississippi offensive formations.

Florida scrimmaged in earnest, and Gator spirit seemed high for the game with Georgia Tech this week. Tech, warned by scouts that Florida was a greatly improved team offensively, had a hard time defense. Coach Bobby Dodd counted three men, fullback Dick McElroy, tackle Bob Wood, and end Jimmy Durham, out of the game, but said the Engineers had been lucky not to lose more players via the injury route.

Auburn Coach Ralph Jordan turned the Tigers' workouts last week and sent the team to the showers early. The coaching staff fears Auburn is not taking the opener Saturday with Chattanooga seriously.

Georgia scrimmaged against Clemson plays and sharpened its offense. Coach Wally Butta liked the defensive play of fullback Polby Garrison and ends Matt Arthur and Cleve Clark.

Vanderbilt worked out under the new lights at Dudley stadium last night. A rainstorm during the afternoon gave the Commodores their first taste of rough work since Thursday.

New York Giants' Infield Is Smoother Than Indians'

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants, with a solid defensive performer at each position, will take a smoother working and healthier infield than Cleveland into the first World Series next week.

With Whitey Lockman, Davey Williams, Alvin Dark, Hank Thompson, the newly-crowned National League champions rate the edge over the Indians' quartet of Vic Wertz, Bobby Avila, George Strickland and Al Rosen. Only at shortstop where Strickland is considered a shade the better fielder than Dark does Cleveland shine.

That's defensively. At the bat, the power of Wertz and Rosen on the consistency of Avila, the American League's leading batter.

Whether Rosen physically will at his peak is questionable. The latest report has AL's fractured foot of mid-June thoroughly healed, but he is now suffering from multiple life—a charley horse in his right thigh, calcium deposits in his left foot and muscle spasms in his back. He'll be ready for the opener in the Polo Grounds next Wednesday. But how ready?

Strickland, too, may pose a problem for Manager Al Lopez. Only two weeks recovered from a broken jaw, George has batted .995 since his return to the lineup with only 4 hits in 42 at bats.

At first base, there's still a choice between Lockman and Wertz. Both are converted out-fielders, but White made a consistent winning campaign last year.

Avila, with a .330 batting mark to Williams' .326, is the better hitter by far. Davey's strength lies in his ground-covering and pivot-making abilities, no small factor in the Giants' pennant drive. Avila, too, has improved considerably in the field this season.

Williams, with a .326 average, has had a disappointing season. His .320 average is punctuated with 24 home runs and 101 runs batted in. The Indians' hitting order Strickland is hitting .216 for the year.

Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—A year ago at about the same time we ran into an afternoon and paid a visit to the Polo Grounds, where a bedraggled team of New York Giants was playing out its sorry string. There was no earthly reason for the trip, unless it was morbid curiosity.

"Welcome, friend," said a member of the press brigade who had sat at the bleachers all summer. "Whatever brings you here, it's good to see new faces. You are about to have the privilege of watching the worst ball club in the world fall on its face. Draw up a chair."

The Giants were in fifth place, agonizingly 35 games behind the high-flying Brooklyn Dodgers. They were very bad, but Leo Durocher had been letting his coaches take turns managing them so that they, too, could learn to suffer.

We were told, confidentially, that President Horace Stoneham was kicking himself every hour on the hour for having given Leo a new two-year contract during the season after that Tom Johnson declined to comment on that time element but sold his previous offer to buy the ball club still stood.

Roy and Earle Mack, who own the controlling stock interest in the A's along with their father, Louie Mack, Sr., gave indirect credence to the general belief something was afoot by holding

The Chicago Tribune expected last night it had learned from high authorities the A's could be sold to Johnson within 24 hours.

Johnson declined to comment on that time element but sold his previous offer to buy the ball club still stood.

And it was only a year ago.

We got to wondering if ever a club in the history of baseball could have made such a remarkable comeback in a similarly brief span of time. There can be no certain answer, because the mental state of teams does not appear in the record books, but we can draw some interesting figures.

This marks the fifth time since

1900 that a National League Club has jumped from a fifth place finish the previous year to play in the World Series.

The Braves of 1914 were first to make the big leap. They were followed by the Chicago Cubs of 1916, the Brooklyn Dodgers of 1920, and the St. Louis Cardinals of 1934. Thus, the present Giants are the first team in 20 years to vault five notches.

But wait, that isn't all. The Phillies of 1915 jumped clear from sixth place to the throne team, and Bill Terry's Giants of 1933 eclipsed even that. They had finished the '32 campaign ninth in a tie with the Cards for sixth and seventh place, each with a 72-72 record.

It is at least incidental interest that three of the six clubs named—the Braves of '14, the Cubs of '16 and the Cardinals of

go on and win the American League's representative in the play-off. That would appear to give Durocher's team at least a 50-50 chance in the impending brawl.

One has to wonder, if any one of the six clubs which started at the top from the second division in the previous 50 seasons could have looked quite as demoralized

as the Giant did a year ago.

In the last analysis, the research can only give up a greater appreciation of Willie Mays and what the amazing boy from Albuquerque has meant to his team.

However, there was a feeling that at long last things were really beginning to jell.

In the previous 50 seasons

the American League would have to move the franchise to an other city. Those little details

would require more than a few

five notches.

But wait, nothing's been put in writing yet.

There's still a chance for the

Giants to make the big leap.

They've got the right stuff,

but the right time, place and

circumstances are still missing.

What do you think?

A's Owners Hold Closed Meetings On Matter Of Sale

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The current owners of the Philadelphia Athletics called closed meetings yesterday to discuss "let's make up our minds" meeting today and reports the ball club will be sold within a matter of hours.

Almost everyone but the principals involved seemed ready to concede the A's would be sold to Arnold Johnson of Chicago and the franchise moved to Kansas City. The new American Auto City. The big question appeared to be whether Johnson would buy the ball club or sell it to someone else. Johnson declined to comment on that point.

The Chicago Tribune expected last night it had learned from high authorities the A's could be sold to Johnson within 24 hours.

Johnson declined to comment on that time element but sold his previous offer to buy the ball club still stood.

Roy and Earle Mack, who own the controlling stock interest in the A's along with their father, Louie Mack, Sr., gave indirect credence to the general belief something was afoot.

The Associated Press was told authoritatively last night that sale of the Athletics couldn't possibly be completed in a matter of hours.

In the first place, Johnson reportedly has made only a verbal offer to the club, a reported $1,000,000, including Earle Mack's $300,000 without the pack.

Nothing's been put in writing yet.

The American League would have to approve the sale and an transfer of the franchise to an other city. Those little details

would require more than a few

five notches.

But wait, nothing's been put in writing yet.

There's still a chance for the

Giants to make the big leap.

They've got the right stuff,

but the right time, place and

circumstances are still missing.

What do you think?

Sweden Builds Underground Navy Base Repair Yards In Answer To Atomic Age

W.O. (Walter) L. Johnson, Chief Aviation Machinist, U.S. Navy, who received first prize in the Photron contest.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden.—Sweden has undertaken major naval bases underground, the first such project in Europe.

To answer the challenge of the atomic age, the Swedes are also building the biggest naval repair yards in the world at Berga island in the Stockholm Archipelago.

This fantastic project involves the total transfer of Stockholm naval bases and yards from the open-air to underground harbors at Härlandsbaden-Södermalm, 18 miles southeast of Stockholm.

Work is already well under way on the new yards, which are designed to house one carrier.

For defense of the Baltic, the Swedes have put in some of their most modern weapons, including Swedish-made medium range ballistic missiles, nuclear missiles, etc., which they call them here.

The new yards will not reach the sea until 1962, when they will be given to the Soviet coast on the other side of the Baltic. They are to be completed in about four years.

There are about 500 underground command posts in the country for the armed forces and the civil defense, mostly in granite mountains. Old ammunition stores are also underground in factories, submarine pens and underground harbors where it is safe to store ships.

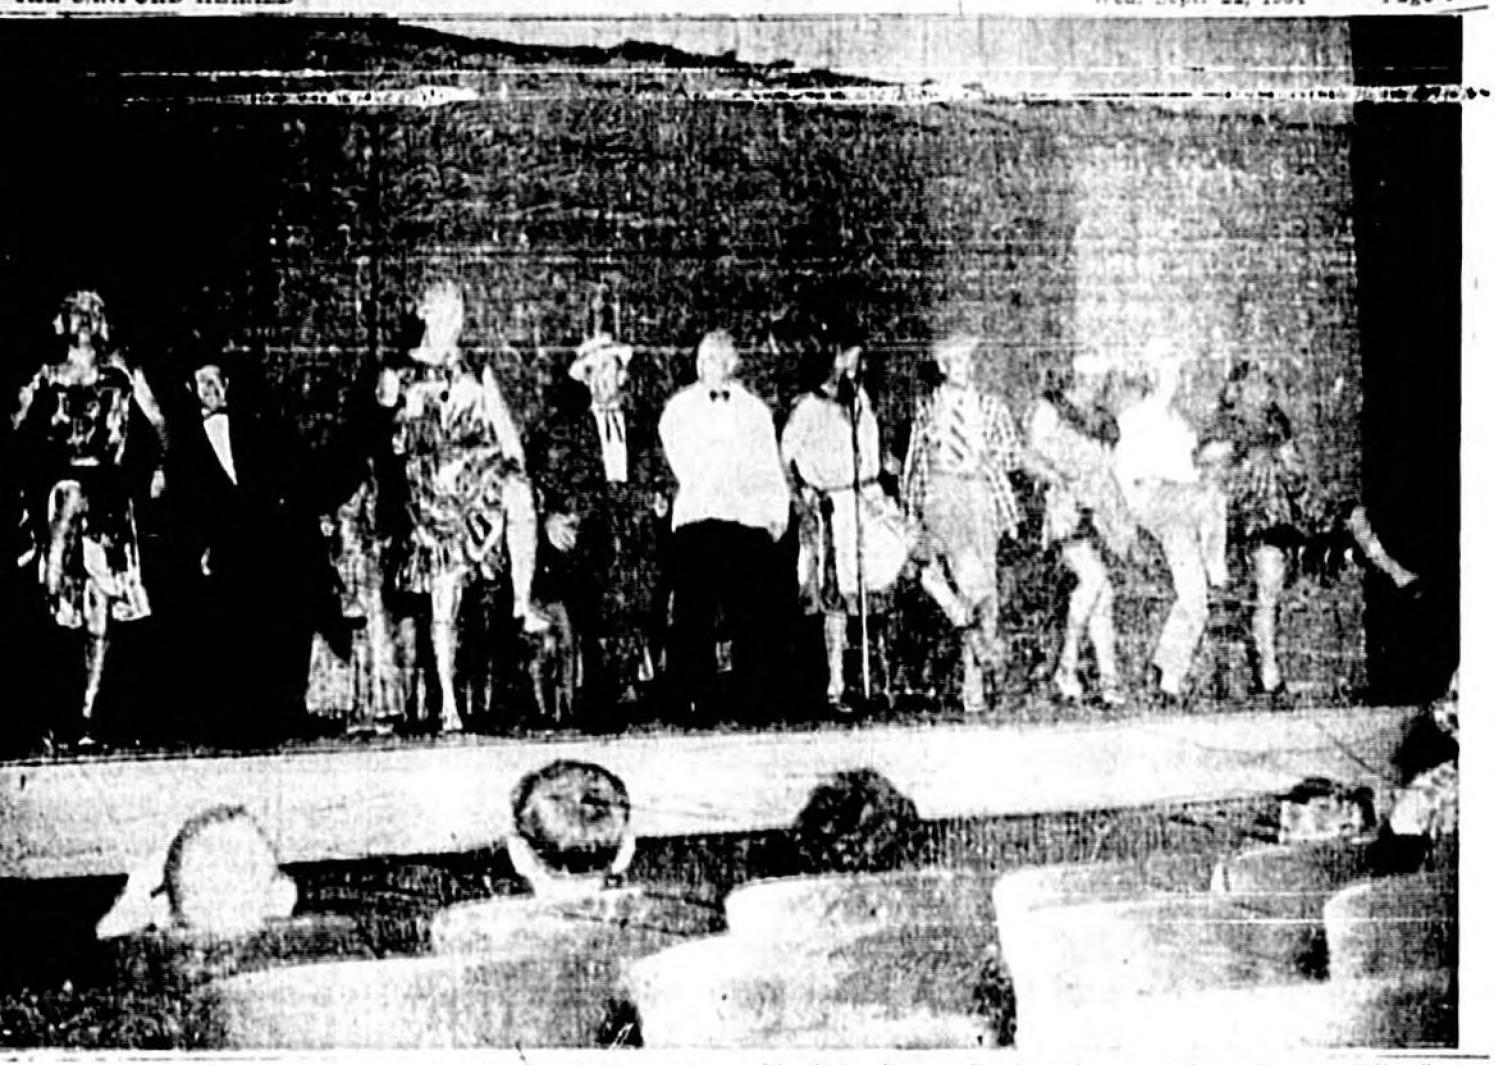

Underground buildings are being built in all Sweden inside the solid rock of Muskö Island. Also inside the part of Stockholm that was formerly the port of Stockholm Naval Base. Another part of the archipelago, the islands of the Stockholm Archipelago, are similar installations at Berga, across Härlandsbaden Bay.

NEW MUSICAL—Plenty of laughs were afforded Friday and Saturday nights by the musicals "East Beat Band," presented by the Sanford High School band, and "The Moonlighters," presented by the Sanford High School band, in the auditorium of the Sanford High School.

The musicals were staged in a night-life setting and provided diversified entertainment including solo musical numbers and chorus numbers by a young dancing group. Intermission was being given to facilitate another performance later in the auditorium.

Government Rids U. S. Of Thousands Of Commies—Nixon

OMAHA 6 — Vice President Nixon declared last night the Eisenhower administration is "kicking the Communists" off travel and security jobs out of the government by the thousands."

"The Communist conspiracy is being smashed to bits by this administration," he told a Republican meeting winding up a day of campaigning by the vice president in Nebraska.

Previous Democratic administrations, Nixon charged, "underestimated the Communists' danger at home and abroad."

He said the vice president voters will have a "candid choice" in voting for congressional candidates; either they will be voting to support the Eisenhower administration or for a return to the policies of the Truman administration which he said had been repudiated by voters in the last election.

Nixon, at Omaha and in an earlier speech in Grand Island, Neb., quoted National Democratic Chairman Stephen Mitchell as saying that should a Democratic Congress

Every Russian City Could Be Destroyed By U. S. With A-Bombs, New Book Says

WASHINGTON 6 — A new book says the United States could wipe out every city in the Soviet Union with a rain of atomic bombs today—and, within another year, could do the job with hydrogen bombs 30 times as destructive.

"The Hydrogen Bomb," a copy righted book by Time Magazine staffers James R. Shepley and Clev Blair Jr., warns at the same time that within only a few weeks or even less" the Red air force "must be conceded the same capability against the United States."

Shepley and Blair say that "within another year after 1954" most of the bombs this country could drop in a mass raid would be H-bombs of at least 15 megatons' force—that is, the explosive power of 15 million tons of TNT.

This compares with the estimated 500-kiloton force of the biggest existing A-bombs—equivalent to 500,000 tons of TNT. The maximum potential explosive strength of the H-bomb is 45 megatons—45 million tons of TNT.

"It seems doubtful," the book says, "that any people actually could survive the shock of say 1,000 'obsolete' 500-kiloton bombs. It seems more than probable that no people could survive if one substitutes in the equation the potential 45 megatons of the thermo-nuclear (hydrogen) bomb."

"Any time in the year 1954, the U.S. Strategic Air Command had the capability, if the President so ordered, to rain down complete urban annihilation on the Soviet Union."

"Within another year after 1954 most of the bombs in such a raid would be not 500-kiloton bombs but thermonuclear bombs of at least 15 megaton's force. One thousand Soviet targets wiped from the face of the earth would leave little else to hit even in such a vast land."

The Soviets, like us, are engaged in a struggle of which appears in the current U. S. News & World Report magazine, says atomic scientist J. Robert Oppenheimer actively opposed the hydrogen bomb more than a year after President Truman ordered work on the separation begun.

Oppenheimer, who has since been barred from atomic secrets, has testified before an Atomic Energy Commission panel that he hoped his opposition to all-out H-bomb research once Truman gave the go-ahead on Jan. 31, 1950.

The scientists say on this point: "In mid-1952, the vigorous pattern of activity on the part of J. R. Oppenheimer over the years, regarding both the hydrogen bomb and the strategic air concept had aroused the genuine concern of a small handful of officials in Washington."

In Princeton, N.J., Oppenheimer had no comment, saying he hadn't seen the book.

Klan Official Says Over 50,000 Sign For Segregation

TAMPA 6 — A Klan official says more than 50,000 people in 22 Florida counties have signed petitions demanding that segregation continue in Florida schools.

Plans are being made to have the petitions circulate in all Florida counties, added W. J. Griffin, operator of a Tampa private detective agency.

Griffin said he is grand dragon of the Assn. of the Florida Ku Klux Klan but that "The Klan hasn't a thing to do with this."

He said the petitions are being handled by the Hillsborough County by the American American Citizens Club. He added: "Good patriotic American organizations are sponsoring the movement in the other counties but did not name them."

He said that 98 per cent of people approached sign the petitions. Griffin said this disproved the accuracy of segregation survey by Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin which reported a minority of 30 per cent favored maintaining segregation or were opposed to any move to abolish it.

Dennis Fellows, a spokesman for the British Wireline Pilots Assn., told a wage tribunal Monday:

"Please may take their meals while flying in a grading flight on noxious conditions. Their bodies are so contaminated by the ever-present smell of animals that when they come in contact with their fellow men, they are shunned."

The tribunal awarded them $1 an hour.

They put in around 300 hours a year flying animals, handling other freight the rest of the time. BOAC said the pilots would get the extra money only when assigned to duty with livestock.

Ike Told GOP Chairman To Grin

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Everybody on Capitol Hill knew big jovial Len Hall during his 14 years in Congress.

Hall didn't exactly set the place on fire. He introduced few bills and few speeches. When he spoke on the House floor, the lawmakers applauded because they liked him—not because they listened to what he said.

Scarcely the man you'd expect to see as Republican national chairman today, the man who will call the signals the GOP's struggle to retain control of Congress in November. But Hall had something that people remembered: a kind heart, a smiling smile for everybody, which in politics is a precious negotiable commodity.

He took the President of the United States to remind Hall that his smile is a priceless asset. That was last November after Democratic upset victories in New Jersey.

"Nobody was smiling at Republicans at headquarters," Hall recalls. "I said, 'Len, I don't feel like it, either. I've got the nomination.' Then I went over to the White House to report to the President."

When Hall returned to his office, he slumped in a chair and stared gloomily at the array of miniature hand-carved elephants on his desk. The telephone rang. It was the President.

With a soft chuckle, like spoken words: "Soft that grin back!" Hall did.

His good humor and booming laugh were bywords on Capitol Hill during the seven terms he served in the House from 1938 to 1962. And they played a significant part in the shaping of his own destiny, during the tense political drama of the 1952 Republican National Convention in Chicago.

Temperatures jiggled on hair triggers during that torrid July battle between supporters of Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohi) and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the GOP presidency.

An isolated delegates shouted hoisted and booted. Len Hall kept cool—and cheerful. On his lapel instead of the usual "I Like Ike" or "I'm for Taft" button, he wore a huge emblem proclaiming: "I

Only too well know that off years elections are traditionally rough on the party in power. This year the gain or loss of seats could swing control of Senate and House to either party."

Here is the present tight squeeze:

Senate: 30 Democrats, 30 Republicans, 1 Independent and 1 Democratic vacancy, left by the recent death of South Carolina's Sen. May.

House: 219 Republicans, 213

Democrats, 1 Independent, 2 Dem ocratic vacancies.

"I think we'll swing it," says Hall. "Our scorecard, on the record of the Eisenhower administration, is going to be very, very good."

"I'd say we should pick up 15 to 25 seats in the House and 3 or 4 in the Senate. Enough to give us a working majority in both houses."

Although little known on a national scale, Hall became recognitized as a "politician's politician" during his years on Capitol Hill.

"He really knows the ropes," says Rep. Henry J. Latham (R-N.Y.), a close friend. "Len always talked common sense. He knew what would work and what wouldn't work."

"There's no doubt he's the one man who can bind up the splinters in the GOP. Without him, we'd be lost a lot farther apart."

Long-time acquaintances of Hall on Capitol Hill have difficulty remebering any flaws in him. Of the records about the hawkish Hall, one says: "He's a good guy."

"He plays his hand too wide open," one said. "Len has no secrets," another said. "If he's writing a check and your eye happens to stray over his check stub, he'll show you his bank balance and then laugh. 'Thought I had more, didn't I?'

"He trusts the other guy implicitly, all the way. But if he's double-crossed, he goes into a fury—out loud and on the spot."

Hall was born Oct. 2, 1900, in Oyster Bay, Long Island, and moved later because President Theodore Roosevelt's summer White House on Sagamore Hill. His father, Franklyn W. Hall, was TR's coachman and later served as White House librarian. At Mrs. Roosevelt's suggestion Hall was named after TR's old friend, Gen. Leonard Wood of Spanish-American War fame.

The youngest of eight children, with four brothers and three sisters, Len Hall played with the Roosevelt youngsters in grammar school and in the cool woods and caves around Oyster Bay. His boyhood chum was Quentin, youngest of the Roosevelt sons, who was killed in World War I.

The last of eight children, Len Hall had to work his way through Georgetown University in Washington.

For $50 a month, he worked days as a paper company clerk, and studied law at night. He won his law degree in 1920 at the age of 19 and was admitted to the New York bar a year later.

Hall broke into politics in 1927 when he ran for the New York State Assembly and won.

Today, if you ask Hall whether he is an "Old Guard" Republican or an Eisenhower "Young" Republi-

"I got into politics in Oyster Bay by beating an old guard. Then I lost my hair and waistline and became a young Republican."

Hall reluctantly served as sheriff of Nassau County from 1938 to 1941. "My only job ever held that I didn't like," he says—and in 1942 returned to the State Assembly for four more years. Then, in 1950, he was elected to Congress.

Hall gave up his seat in Congress to become surrogate judge of wills and estates in Nassau County. He left Washington largely because his wife, Hazel-eyed wife, Gladys, wanted him to settle down to a quiet life in Oyster Bay.

"I promised her I'd stay home for a while," Hall said.

He did—for exactly three months and nine days.

Hall gave up his $32,000-a-year lifetime job as surrogate and accepted the GOP national chairman post. He draws $32,500 a year expenses, but no salary.

Courts Martial Directs Lt. Col. Harry Fleming Be Drummed From Army

Strolling In Sanford

Only 4,412 driver's licenses have been issued so far, according to Mrs. Letha Pfeifer of the county judge's staff. This leaves approximately $300 to go in the six days remaining.

As an added service, the City Bus Co. will start a schedule Friday in the Colored Drive-In Theater. The bus will make regular stops in Goldsboro, Greenville and Midway.

A reminder is given all veterans by W. E. Green, supervisor in charge of enforcement of the U.S. Treasury Department. To the State of Florida, that many of the war souvenir firearms from overseas should be registered with his office. Firearms to be registered include machine guns, machine pistols, and other firearms over .22 caliber, rifles or shotguns with a barrel less than 18 inches in length, except a rifle of .22 caliber or less, which need only be registered if the barrel is less than 18 inches long. Anyone having a firearm to be registered may do so at the office of the U.S. Postal and Tobacco Tax at 203 Post Office Building, Orlando, or phone 483 at Orlando, or contact the Jacksonville office at 438 Federal Building, P.O. Box 4929, or phone 47111.

The Methodist Men's Club of the First Methodist Church will hold its first meeting of the fall tonight, which will begin with supper at 7 o'clock in the social hall of the church. A special committee of men will prepare the hamburger supper in the church kitchen. Following the meal, the group will be led in a singing session. Instead of a special program, an election of officers will be held, and plans made for the organization and program for the fall season. All the men of the church are invited.

The Seminole County Education Association will meet Oct. 5 at the home of Mrs. Melvin Smith, president, in the Sanford Transfer Park.

The auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars post will meet at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Melvin Smith, president, in the Sanford Transfer Park. The Seminole High School Band and the Pep Club have prepared a novel show for the first game at home of the 1954 football season tomorrow night. The band, under the guidance of its captain, Mickey Durak, has rehearsed regularly all summer in preparation for this year's work. Two weeks before school started, the band drilled for an hour and a half every morning.

Fremont answered a false alarm last night at Paul Campbell's cabinet shop south of Sanford on Highway 17-92 where only a trash fire was burning.

Triplets' Births Are Spread Out

LUDINGTON, Mich. (AP)—Mrs. Albert Bidwell won her race with the stock yesterday only because she had triplets. Two of the three boys—Tom, Dick and Harry—arrived under far from orthodox conditions. Tom was born in an auto-pile on the way to the hospital. Dick was born in an elevator on the way to the delivery room. Harry was more securely. He awaited a clinical reception and came into the world via the hospital delivery room.

Doctors put two of the babies into an incubator. Tom—the busiest of the three—was doing all right on his own. Both mother and babies were said to be doing fine.

Mrs. Bidwell, 32, and her husband, Velmer, 33, have five other children, two sons and three daughters, ranging in age from two to 12. The father is a driver-salesman.

WASHINGON (AP)—FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover says crime in America will reach a record high this year if the present rate keeps up.

Hoover gave this estimate in reporting last night that the national crime rate for the first half of 1954 climbed 8.8 per cent over last year's level during the same period.

In the semiannual issue of the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports, compiled from Police reports from across the nation, Hoover said 1,

THOMAS WYSOKOWSKI, 17, faces a future of 10 to 20 years in prison because he sold Korean War souvenirs, firearms, and other items to the Chinese Communists.

Found Guilty Of Assisting Communists

LT. SHERIDAN, Ill. (AP)—Lt. Col. Harry Fleming, first American Army officer court-martialed for conduct as a prisoner of war, was sentenced today to dismissal from the service.

In addition he must forfeit all pay and allowances, under terms of the punishment imposed by an Illinois military court which convicted him of espionage and aiding the Communists while a prisoner in Korea.

The court-martial of 11 colonels and lieutenant colonels deliberated for 12 hours before fixing Fleming's punishment. The officers considerate of the extent of the penalty from late yesterday afternoon until 1:30 a.m. today. The court-martial reassembled at 9 a.m. (EST) to deliver its verdict.

Men of the prosecution and defense attorneys were in the courtroom when the sentence was announced. Many of the men who were prisoners of war in Korea with Fleming stood tensely in the courtroom waiting for the court's decision.

"Thank God I'm out of prison now—this one and the Communists," Col. Fleming said. After the sentence was pronounced he said, "I did everything I can to clear my name."

"Dismissal from the service is pretty hard to take. I don't intend to stop the fight which started here."

The colonel said he wished to express his tremendous thanks to his friends and to those who never heard of me before this thing but still have responded with hundreds of letters.

Fleming's wife Gladys, and that in the back of their family automobile she had a box full of letters and telegrams which I have not yet had time to answer."

The counsel for Fleming, Atty. Ed. France of Racine, Wis., and Lt. Col. Rodham Rutherford, and Lt. Gen. Van Graan, said that they too were received several hundred letters and telegrams expressing "success" for the colonel.

Mrs. Fleming told newsmen as the verdict brought a smile of relief to her face.

"I'm so happy that he is out of jail. We can go on and fight the thing I haven't had him much in the last four years. Now he will be closer by."

When the verdict was announced it was the colonel's first free moment since May 19 when he was captured at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., where he was stationed. He has been in custody at Ft. Sheridan for four months.

Slain Grandmother Is Found Near Jax

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—Mrs. Margaret E. Baynard, a 49-year-old grandmother, was found last night shot to death, her body thrown into a clump of weeds along a road 10 miles south of here.

Her blood stained car, with bullet holes in the seat and front door, was parked on U.S. 1 three miles away.

Gene Griffin, chief criminal deputy, declined to speculate why or how she was killed. "We're investigating," he said.

Griffin reported the woman's husband, J. S. Baynard, an oil company representative, told him he missed his wife and the car when he went up about 7:15 a.m. yesterday. He noted Baynard was at his home in Titusville.

Action was deferred on a petition presented by Atty. Wilson Alexander for petitioners to close portions of Pineview Ave. on Lake Marion until the commissioners could personally investigate the area.

The commission suggested S. H. Taylor file an amended petition to reverse a property designation as roadway in Lloyd's Ter. on Lake Branley.

The deputy sheriff's bond of Ernest Lee, issued by the American Fire and Casualty Co., was accepted. According to chief sheriff's deputy O. G. Owens, Lee will act as a special deputy at the Central Florida Speedway, between Sanford and Orlando on Highway 17-92.

Hoover Says Crime May Hit Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover says crime in America will reach a record high this year if the present rate keeps up.

Hoover gave this estimate in reporting last night that the national crime rate for the first half of 1954 climbed 8.8 per cent over last year's level during the same period.

In the semiannual issue of the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports, compiled from Police reports from across the nation, Hoover said 1, down 2.3 per cent and negligent manslaughter down 3.9 per cent.

Urban crime was placed at 7.2 per cent higher than the January-June 1953 rate, and rural crime 11.9 per cent lower.

During 1954, Hoover added, police arrested by arrest 75.5 per cent of all crimes against the person such as murder, rape, negligent manslaughter and aggravated assault.

But on property crimes, he said, only 22.9 per cent were solved and arrests made.

Rape offenses were listed as declining 1.8 per cent, auto theft

Riot-Ripped Pen Where Three Died Entered By Police

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Heavily armed police forced the Missouri State Guard into the state legislature Monday to quell any possible last-ditch uprising by unruly convicts.

Three prisoners were killed and eight penitentiary buildings destroyed or severely damaged by fire in a six-hour riot last night. Twelve persons were injured. Total estimated damage might reach $5 million dollars.

The shooting rock throwing convicts finally were driven back into their holdings after late troopers fired on them.

Some, however, refused to go into their cells and there were sporadic outbreaks shooting and the noise of breaking glass and fixtures throughout the night from the darkness of buildings.

A large detachment of highway patrol troopers moved through parts of cellblock B at 7 a.m.

Two minutes later there was a red gun blast followed by shooting and crashing of glass.

The troopers could be seen marching in the cell block. A few minutes later, three troopers were heard shouting, dead down. Several prisoners came out with their hands up.

Deployed in and around the prison, one of the largest state prisons in the country, were more than 200 guards and National Guardsmen.

Prisoners, their hands clasped behind their heads, trickled out of cellblock B as the troopers moved in. One was carried away on a stretcher. One had a bloody towel around his head.

Thomas E. Whitecotton, director of the Missouri State Penitentiary, said he had to hold up printing of general election ballots until after the primary elections so the names of the candidates for County judge and State senator could be inserted. Oct. 12 has been set for a second primary if one is needed. This will do away with the necessity of printing additional ballots.

The colonel said he wished to express his tremendous thanks to his friends and to those who never heard of me before this thing but still have responded with hundreds of letters.

When the verdict was announced it was the colonel's first free moment since May 19 when he was captured at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., where he was stationed. He has been in custody at Ft. Sheridan for four months.

Thomas E. Whitecotton, director of corrections, and while accurate estimates of the damage from the riot and the fires could not be determined, he figured the loss would run in the millions.

Amid the shooting, just before the troopers moved in, came one voice saying:

"I used to have a parole board. I would have a parole board if I had a parole board. I would have a parole board if I had a parole board."
