Ex-Bosses Praise City Manager-Designate

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

The five men Sanford City Manager-designate Frank Faison worked for while he was county manager of Henrico County, Va., describe him as an "excellent" administrator with a tough business style of management. But the majority of the Henrico County Board of Supervisors also said he had poor communication skills which led to frustration for himself and the board before he left last year.

Faison, 55, was chosen by the Sanford City Commission to be city manager Friday after a 90-minute interview and a dinner with the commissioners. He is replacing Warren E. "Pete" Knowles who is retiring April 30 after 32 years with the city. Faison is expected to be officially named city manager at tonight's city commission meeting and is scheduled to report to work April 3.

Faison, who works for Financial Design Corp. in Richmond, Va., was county manager of Henrico County from 1978 to 1984 and Pensacola's (Fla.) city manager for seven years before that.

During his interview here the city commission commented on his impressive background in business and finance.

Frank Faison...

...A native of Virginia, Faison, 55, was tapped for the Sanford City Manager's post Friday. He was county manager of Henrico County, Va., for six years, quitting to go into the private sales of bonds and securities in 1984. He was city manager of Pensacola for seven years, of Danville, Va. for four years and of LaGrange Park, Ill. for six years. He was a member of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, earning the rank of colonel. Married and the father of three children, Faison has a bachelor's degree in civil engineering and a master's degree in sanitary engineering from Virginia Polytechnic Institute. He and his wife, Lyn, plan to move to Sanford from Richmond.

In Henrico County, the members of the ruling Board of Supervisors, under whom Faison served, also speak of his business savvy in glowing terms.

"He's an extremely intelligent man," said John Waldrop, member of the board. "He will bring a very strong business approach to your community. The county progressed quite a bit under him, especially in the area of economic development and police and fire."

Board member L. Ray Shadwell described Faison as a fiscal conservative who guided Henrico County through lean economic times.

In response to the local depressed economy, Shadwell said Faison cut the number of government employees from 2,500 to 2,000 and balanced the budget in 1981. This happened without a loss of the number or quality of city

Horse's Race Winnings In SCC Auction

One successful bidder in Seminole Community College's "Dream Auction '85" will have a special interest in an upcoming horse race at Hialeah because the thoroughbred Lordship's order of finish will determine the worth of the auction item.

The auction and dinner will be held Thursday night at Sheraton Maitland Hotel.

Owner of the race horse, Ron Worswick, who owns Central Florida Training Center and is chairman of the board of Certified Slings, Casselberry, will fly the high bidder to Miami to view the race from his VIP box at the Hialeah Race Track.

If Lordship comes in first, second, third, or fourth in his race, the high bidder will go home with the owner's winnings, which could amount to as much as $8,500.

The chances that the horse may win are good, according to race experts. Lordship's half brother has won purses in excess of $375,000 and was recently syndicated for over $1 million.

"This is a real dream item," said Dr. Earl Weldon, SCC president. "We expect bidding to run high on this. We know that the whole community will be cheering for Lordship just as they have been supporting this auction from day one."

Admission to the auction is included with a $50 dinner ticket. A limited number of tickets are still available. Call SCC at 843-7001 or 323-1450 to donate an item or purchase a ticket.

Who Should Control Police, Fire Depts.?

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford City Manager-designate Frank Faison of Richmond, Va., would like to have managerial responsibility and control of the city's police and fire departments when he takes over the post May 1.

Three city commissioners think that's a good idea. One commissioner hasn't made up his mind and one is opposed to the idea.

Faison told commissioners Friday: "The president of General Motors doesn't spin off two divisions and have them report to the board of directors."

He made the comment after Mayor Bettye Smith said she felt all city departments should be supervised by the city manager.

In Sanford, police and fire departments are answerable to the city commission.

That's unusual, Faison said, especially in cities as large as Sanford (27,000 population at recent estimates). But Commissioner Bob Thomas doesn't think much of the idea.

"It gives the city manager too much power," he said. "If we had a city manager who wasn't fair, it would be difficult to protect innocent people. I would rather it stays the way it is. That's what is in the charter and I don't feel we should change it."

If the majority of the Sanford City Commission decides it wants to act on the idea, they may face some difficulty.

City records say those two uniformed departments, as specified by the city charter, have been under the control and direction of the city commission for at least 36 years, and Police Chief Ben Butler, who favors a change, says it's probably been that way for 50 years or longer.

City Attorney Bill Colbert says, without researching the matter, it appears the only way to change the charter is through a public referendum. But the citizens of Sanford in recent years have turned down a charter amendment to change that practice at least once — that was in 1982 — by a 3-1 vote.

As Sanford saw a year ago, a second way to change the city charter is by court order. This was the case in April 1984 when the district federal court ordered Sanford to set up election districts with four members of the commission elected by voters within those districts, rather than the charter-required election at large. This order came despite the fact Sanford voters turned down twice, once in 1980 and again in 1982, a proposal for districting in Sanford.

A third way to change a city charter is through a special act of the Legislature. But local legislators for the past decade have refused to accept special legislation for charter changes.

Gorbachev To Succeed Chernenko As Party Chief

MOSCOW (UPI) — President Konstantin Chernenko, who took power 13 months ago, died Sunday and was succeeded today by Mikhail Gorbachev in the key post of Communist Party chief, Tass said.

Gorbachev, 54, will be the Soviet Union's fourth leader in the past 28 months and the youngest since Vladimir Lenin. His appointment by the party's Central Committee heralds the emergence of a new generation of post-war Soviet leaders.

Chernenko, 73, died Sunday night from complications of emphysema, which the official Tass news agency said he suffered "for a long time." He will be buried Wednesday.

"Mikhail Gorbachev was unanimously elected

General Secretary of the Communist Party at an extraordinary session of the Central Committee," Tass said four hours after the announcement of Chernenko's death.

Gorbachev had earlier been appointed chairman of Chernenko's funeral committee, a position that virtually guaranteed he would be the next chairman of the Communist Party.

In Washington, White House spokesman Larry Speakes said President Reagan had considered going to Moscow for Chernenko's funeral, but decided against it for logistical difficulties.

Tass said Chernenko died from chronic emphysema, complicated by a heart deficiency and cirrhosis of the liver.

An autopsy revealed Chernenko "was suffering for a long time from pulmonary emphysema, complicated by pulmonary and cardiac insufficiency."

Tass said the report — signed by the chief Kremlin doctor Yevgeny Chazov and nine other doctors — said, "The gravity of the condition was furthered by concomitant chronic hepatitis, which worsened into cirrhosis."

"The heart stopped beating at 7:20 p.m. on March 10, 1985, against the background of worsening hepatic, pulmonary and cardiac insufficiency."

The official news agency made the announcement almost 19 hours after his death, following a night of speculation prompted by changes on

Trauma Faces Infants In Day Care: Experts

From Staff and Wire Reports

Day-care centers may be harmful to young children because of trauma caused by separating infants from their mothers, experts on child development say.

But because there are so few centers catering to very young children in Florida and Seminole County, at least one day-care center operator said such separation is not a problem here.

Dr. Edward Zigler of Yale University, former head of the now defunct U.S. Children's Bureau, and Dr. T. Berry Brazelton of Harvard predicted Sunday the problem will worsen because infant care is the fastest growing part of day care.

Mary Mize, a Sanford woman who owns four day-care centers in Sanford, agreed that infant care services are in demand but said such a service is not economically feasible.

"There is a demand for a good infant care center," which would provide care for children from infancy to age 1.

"We have people coming in here pregnant looking for space," she said, explaining that about half of the mothers with children under 2 years old work.

An infant-only care service is an economic gamble because good care cannot be offered without a low ratio of infants to workers which drives the cost of the service too high, she said. In states where the legislature-set ratio is one-to-one as in New York and California, there are no infant care centers, Mrs. Mize said.

In Florida, the state-mandated worker to child ratio is 1-to-8 unless the program receives some federal support, then the ratio is 1-to-5. Mrs. Mize said her ratio is 1-to-3.

Joan Collard, owner of a day care center in Lake Mary, said

Willing Women No Excuse

LYNNWOOD, Wash. (UPI) — A man charged with assault for kissing store clerks at a shopping mall argues that the case against him should be dismissed.

Elwyn Anderson, 50, sporting a black briefcase decorated with an orange sticker that read, "The Kissing Bandit," acted as his own attorney at a hearing in District Court.

Lynnwood, Wash., police arrested the bearded, 6-foot suspect at the Alderwood Mall Jan. 7 after security officers warned him several times to stop kissing store clerks.

"I'm just a human being that's going around trying to live and breathe," Anderson protested during Friday's hearing. He said the charges should be dismissed because "I've never kissed an unwilling woman."

The judge didn't see it that way. He is scheduled to go to trial March 19. If convicted, Anderson faces a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail and a $500 fine.

Paperboy Accused Of Robbing, Raping Clients

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — A 16-year-old newspaper carrier, arrested for rape, burglary and robbery of elderly women along his route, studied his victims and knew they were alone and vulnerable, police say.

A hearing to determine if the carrier is to be tried as an adult was scheduled today.

The boy, who worked as a substitute Milwaukee Sentinel carrier on the city's near north side, was arrested Saturday after he allegedly broke into a home at 5:45 a.m. and removed his clothing.

Three rapes, six armed burglaries and three armed robberies have been reported since June. All 12 crimes, many of them involving elderly women, occurred in the early morning hours.

Rudolph Will, deputy inspector of detectives, said the boy had learned about the people along the route and "knew his victims lived by themselves and were vulnerable to attack."

In most cases, the assailant wore a scarf or bandana over his face and entered by breaking a window on a door. Frequently, he was armed with a knife or toy gun.

'Ivan' Faces Deportation

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Holocaust survivors call him "Ivan the Terrible" — a savage Nazi death camp guard who tortured Jews before herding them into gas chambers where nearly 1 million died.

But a friend of the accused man, John Demjanjuk, described him "as the kind of a guy who would stop to help you fix a flat on the road, even if he didn't know you."

Demjanjuk, a retired Ford Motor Co. worker, lives in a modest single-story brick house in Seven Hills, Ohio, regularly attends services at a Ukrainian Orthodox church and had been hunted for nine years by authorities from the United States, Soviet Union, Israel and West Germany.

In the process, the tall, broad-shouldered man was stripped of his U.S. citizenship, ordered deported and now faces extradition to Israel to stand trial for war crimes.

He denies that he is "Ivan" and his attorney claims the affair is a "case of mistaken identity."

The international investigation may come to a climax in the courtroom of U.S. District Judge Frank Battisti, who will hear arguments Tuesday on Israel's 15-month-old request for extradition.

Mother Starved Blind Daughter?

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Police discovered the bone-thin body of a 22-year-old blind woman in her family's filthy, unfurnished apartment and charged her mother with starving her and keeping her prisoner.

Police Sunday charged Margaret Williams, 42, of North Philadelphia, with murder. The malnourished body of her daughter Patricia was found Saturday in a room littered with human excrement. She had been blind since age 9.

The medical examiner's office said the victim had not eaten in the last 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 months, although she had been given liquids. The death was ruled a homicide.

saying under homerule, charters can be amended without a municipality referendum.

The issue came up again last week as the city commission interviewed candidates for the city manager appointment.

All five interviewed said that a city manager should have control and supervisory direction of all city departments. The way all the candidates put it was that the city commission should be able to look to one person as responsible for all city functions.

Mayor Smith, who queried each of the manager candidates on the issue during the interviews, said today, "It — having one person for all department heads to be answerable to — is the most efficient way."

Her colleagues, commissioners Milton Smith and David Farr, also said today they favor that approach.

Commissioner John Mercer said, however, he hasn't formed an opinion. "It seems to work this way — with both police and fire answerable to the city commission." But, he added, he doesn't know why it was set up differently in the beginning. "I don't know that much about the police or fire departments."

In actual practice the fire department, under the past three fire chiefs, have voluntarily taken their problems to City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles for assistance and abided by his budgetary decisions.

Butler says he wholeheartedly agrees with the proposed change.

"That's the way it should be. Knowles and I already discuss police department matters and our budget goes through his office. In budgetary and other matters, Knowles has always supported the police department. We discuss our problems with him and will continue to do so with the new manager," Butler said.

It Doesn't Always Come In Can

NEW YORK (UPI) — A recent outbreak of botulism, traced to sauteed onions kept warm on a grill, shows the sometimes deadly poisoning is not exclusively associated with home-canned or preserved foods, federal researchers report.

Fresh vegetables, such as baked potatoes and onions or those found in pot pies, can harbor the bacteria that causes botulism if the food is cooked, left out and then not reheated before being eaten, said Dr. Kristine MacDonald, an epidemiologist at the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta.

She advised that food be refrigerated to guard against poisoning. If it is left out, it should be reheated to boiling temperatures to destroy the toxin created by the botulism bacteria.

The third largest outbreak of botulism in the United States occurred in 1983, when 28 people became ill after eating fried onions served with patty-melt sandwiches at a restaurant in Peoria, Ill. MacDonald reported in today's issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

among job seekers, including some who were discouraged and had stopped looking.

"The labor force will continue to grow in the months ahead, and increased hiring will be necessary to prevent increases in unemployment," he said.

The Manpower survey indicated that hirings should be on the increase in all regions of the country, with a slightly more favorable outlook in the Midwest.

Seasonal advances are expected in the construction field and improvements over last quarter will come in the services, manufacturing and finance fields and in the wholesale-retail industries, the survey suggested.

In the services field, which added the largest number of jobs in 1984, 28 percent of the firms surveyed said they would hire additional workers and only 6 percent spoke of decreases.

The government reported the nation's unemployment rate dropped 0.1 per cent in February to 7.3 percent, with 300,000 people added to job rolls.

Of the 115.1 million people in the work force in February, 8.4 million were looking for jobs, the department said.

Reagan Links MX To Arms Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the curtain rising on new arms talks, President Reagan today apparently was close to using a plea for bipartisanship in foreign affairs to ensure the political survival of the MX missile.

The U.S.-Soviet arms talks, scheduled to begin Tuesday in Geneva, Switzerland, are shrouded in uncertainty with the death of Soviet leader Konstantin Chernenko.

At the White House and on Capitol Hill, officials report brightened prospects for the MX as the result of a relentless drive by Reagan in the past week to link the chances for arms control to the future of the 10-warhead missile.

But Reagan also has found bipartisanship to be a two-edged sword.

Even as some key Democrats have closed ranks behind him on matters related to arms control, Reagan has been stung by setbacks on other fronts as election-minded Republicans have joined with Democrats in attacks on his fiscal 1986 budget.

Both issues — the MX and the budget — were on Reagan's mind as he invited out-of-town journalists to lunch at the White House today and arranged to drop by an administration briefing for 150 state legislators.

In recent days, the rhetoric from the White House has alternated between conciliatory appeals for togetherness on arms control to sharp criticisms of the Republican-dominated Senate Budget Committee for rejecting major elements of the president's budget.

President Reagan

"...I can't guarantee that if we build the MX we will get the kind of a reduction agreement (in Geneva) that we want, but I believe I can guarantee you that if we don't get it, we won't get an agreement."

While Reagan now is expected to prevail in his push for Congress to unfreeze $1.5 billion for a second batch of 21 MX missiles this year, his clash with Congress over budget priorities shows no sign of cooling off.

After the Senate Budget Committee last week rejected his proposals for almost 6 percent growth in the Pentagon budget, abolition of the Small Business Administration and an end to Amtrak subsidies and urban development grants, White House spokesman Larry Speakes served notice that Reagan was "prepared to go to the people in order to carry our message forward."

How that is done remains to be seen. Committee leaders agreed Sunday that the panel is "moving very quickly" toward tax increases if it continues to reject major spending cuts and still wants to seriously slash the federal deficit.

Administration officials said Sunday that Reagan will use every opportunity to prod Congress on the budget, even while seeking a fragile truce on the MX so as to project a unified front at home as U.S. and Soviet arms negotiators get down to business in Geneva, Switzerland.

In an interview with Newsweek magazine released Sunday, Reagan said the MX "is not a bargaining chip in the sense of we need something to give away."

"I can't guarantee that if we build the MX we will get the kind of a reduction agreement (in Geneva) that we want, but I believe I can guarantee you that if we don't get it, we won't get an agreement," Reagan said in the interview.

In addition to the $1.5 billion in MX production funds for 1985, Reagan wants Congress to approve $4 billion for 48 more missiles in 1986. The first congressional votes on the 1985 production funds are expected next week.

Sen. Sam Nunn of Georgia, the ranking Democrat on the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Sunday Reagan "has exaggerated the argument" that congressional approval of the MX is essential to negotiation of an arms reduction agreement.

Nunn said he intends to vote for the $1.5 billion in fiscal 1985 production funds but may not support the amount requested for next year.

...Day Care

one of the major problems she faces is getting quality personnel to care for such young children. At her center, infants comprise the smallest age group she cares for.

Zigler, referring to latent child development damage resulting from sensory deprivation and trauma when infants are separated from mothers, called such deprivation "psychological thalidomide."

Thalidomide, a tranquilizing and sleep-inducing drug taken unwittingly by pregnant women in Europe in the early 1960s, caused gross physical deformities in infants. It was taken off the market in December 1962.

Zigler and Brazelton commented during an interview at the end of an Association of Junior Leagues Inc. conference about parents who take time off from work to care for infants.

The ideal infant-care center, Zigler said, has one worker for each three babies.

"By contrast to the ideal, consider two overworked women taking care of 24 infants," he said.

"All these women do is feed babies, and diaper and keep them in a darkened room," he said. "We know about the harmful effects of sensory deprivation."

Mrs. Collard said she had heard of some places that have kept infants in darkened rooms, but she said the children in her care receive sensory stimulation by workers and other children.

In the typical state, Zigler said, there are eight infants to one day-care worker, who may be a 17-year-old with no training, making less than the minimum wage and carrying an infection.

There is also this problem — how can one person get eight infants out in a fire? he asked.

Zigler and Brazelton estimated that tens of thousands of very young infants — from 3 weeks to 2 months old — are checked into infant care centers of questionable quality in America every day.

Zigler said that even if quality infant care were available everywhere, few could afford the $6,000 annual cost. Studies show most mothers of infants work because they need the money for necessities and are on the low side of pay scales.

Zigler said President Reagan needs someone to counsel him on the infant care problem and on other equally critical child and family problems not getting the national high level attention needed.

The conferees called for a national policy endorsing paid, job-protected parental leaves. In 117 other countries such leaves, in place for decades, range from three months to one year.

Kaechley also said disunity among the board also contributed to the problem. Mehfoed said the hassles with the finance department stemmed from Faison's appointment of a search committee to find a new director for the department. That didn't sit well with the board, he said, because it wanted to have more control over the selection process.

Hiring Outlook Bright For Next Three Months

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hiring is expected to keep up a quickening pace during April, May and June, a national survey of employers shows.

Manpower Inc. of Milwaukee said Sunday that its quarterly survey of 12,000 firms found that more than 27 percent intend to increase their work force, 64 percent will remain at present levels and only 6 percent plan staff reductions.

"The national survey for the second quarter indicates that hiring will continue at a quickened pace over the first quarter of 1985, but slightly behind the aggressive rate of last spring." Manpower said.

The April-May-June quarter of 1984 provided the strongest outlook in five years, said Manpower President Mitchell Fromstein. "Anything close to that level can be considered optimistic."

Fromstein cautioned that the pace of hiring is expected to slow down somewhat because the economy had supported eight consecutive quarters of year-to-year employment increases.

Fromstein said 3.5 million jobs were generated in 1984, creating optimism among job seekers, including some who were discouraged and had stopped looking.

"The labor force will continue to grow in the months ahead, and increased hiring will be necessary to prevent increases in unemployment," he said.

The Manpower survey indicated that hirings should be on the increase in all regions of the country, with a slightly more favorable outlook in the Midwest.

The Sanford Police Department closed off W. 16th Street and evacuation of the surrounding area was considered. Student Sues Father For College Costs

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A high school senior has sued her divorced father in an effort to make him pay the estimated $25,000 cost of a college education she says her mother cannot afford.

Her lawyer said that although Jennifer Jones, 18, works part time to save for college, that money and her mother's $28,000 annual income will not cover the costs of her education.

Attorney Gloria Allred said the teenager and millions of other children from single-parent homes should not have to suffer such a hardship when their child support stops, usually at age 18.

Jones, who plans to enroll at North Arizona State University as a journalism major after graduating from high school in June, said her father had promised to pay for college if she kept up her grades.

The suit, filed in Superior Court Thursday, said she maintained almost a B average but he notified her in January — near the time she turned 18 — that he would not finance her education.

"It makes me angry," she told reporters. "It's unfair that he doesn't have to pay it's just as much his responsibility as my mom's."

She said she and her father had a good relationship after her parent's divorce in 1980, although the college dispute has caused a rift.

Her mother, Carol Jones, said her husband, whose name was not released, could afford to support their daughter on his $50,000-a-year salary as an executive for a computer company.

"He has gone to college and I have gone to college and I think she (Jennifer) has a right to go," she said. "You know as well as I you can't make it without a college education."

Allred said she hopes to convince the court it must order parents to pay for their children's college education if they are able.

Control Growth, Consultant Tells City Planners

By Donna Eates
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford's population could soar from today's 27,000 to 194,000 soon if the Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission does not pay strict attention to the city's comprehensive land use plan, said Mack LaZeny, the consultant to the advisory board on planning, at a workshop meeting.

Meanwhile, James Crouse, a planning specialist with Cardinal Industries, told the board Thursday night that it should be looking at permitting apartment construction in the city of 280 square foot units for single persons as it considers revisions in the city's zoning ordinance.

"There is a legitimate need for smaller units," Crouse said.

The advisory board is looking at writing a new comprehensive land use plan and a new zoning ordinance.

On the first and third Thursdays of each month, the nine-member board studies the zoning ordinance and on the second and fourth Thursday considers the comprehensive plan.

And Planning and Zoning Commission Chairman John Morris will give the city commission at its meeting at 7 p.m. today a report on the progress made on both projects to date.

At a recent workshop on the comprehensive land use plan, LaZeny said the city's population could climb to near 200,000, but there would not be adequate roads nor sufficient water and sewer capacity to serve that great a number of city residents.

He told the board members they "ought to get off the defensive" and get on the offensive, making developers and others show good reason why a change in zoning in conflict with the city's comprehensive plan should be granted.

"I'm trying to get you to say no," LaZeny said.

Concerning zoning, however, Crouse said Thursday night 34.7 percent of Sanford's households have one person and 25.8 percent have two persons. "Households are smaller than they were 10 to 20 years ago," he said.

He said the city could allow a mixture of unit sizes in an apartment complex to come up with a 500 square foot overall average.

Member Cliff Miller objected to the smaller units, saying they would benefit investors and not the city of Sanford or its residents. Morris countered that the recommendation for smaller unit sizes in the zoning ordinance needs to be considered. "We are to recommend what is best for Sanford as a whole," Morris said.

Earlier, LaZeny told the board, "If someone wants to rezone, it ought not be automatic, you should look at the comprehensive plan," he said.

He said over the 10 years since the city's plan was developed, some of the changes made in the plan have been improvements while others have not.

LaZeny said there are few parcels of land being purchased by developers in the city which can be developed as they wish with the zoning the property has now.

"Their motivation is to buy property, change the zoning and develop it," he said.

LaZeny is a former city engineer and now engineer for the Sanford Airport Authority. He has been hired to help the planning and zoning commission prepare a new comprehensive plan for consideration by the city commission.

LaZeny, at a recent workshop with the advisory group, also urged the board to consider a new concept in park land development — developing parks for active use such as into baseball diamonds, soccer and football fields for the youth of the community.

He said the newest concept is to develop these type parks in industrially-zoned areas.

"We have always put parks where the people are — in new housing developments," he said. "But how many would like to live by a ball park which is lighted at night?"

LaZeny said industrial areas should not be isolated from providing the city with park areas and he said parks in those areas would have the advantage of not bothering anyone since industries generally close down in the evenings.

Of Sanford's policy of accepting contributions of money where sufficient land is not available for dedication of parkland, LaZeny said the city should be selective about the developments allowed to make financial contributions rather than land.

At the same time, he said, the city doesn't want 50 two-acre parks. "The city would go bankrupt trying to maintain them."

Again speaking of the city's comprehensive plan, LaZeny said when the board is asked for a recommendation for rezoning, it should note whether the request conforms to the plan. "If it doesn't conform, deny it," he said.

Assistant City Manager Steve Harrett, also acting in an advisory role to the planners and zoners said the comprehensive plan is a guide. "It ought to be changed only for good reason."

And LaZeny added, "Because it is a guide, it has lost its significance of being the tool it ought to be."

He warned the board members that when consideration is being given to changing zoning, they are dealing "with experts, sharpshooters, who know how to develop property and are very convincing, are sales people."

LaZeny told the board to study the northeast quadrant of the city and be ready to make recommendations on how the new comprehensive plan should designate property for development in the new plan at their 7 p.m. March 14 workshop.

After the advisory board completes its work on the new comprehensive plan in the next 60 days, it will go to the city commission for consideration, modification, public hearing and adoption.

Jaruzelski Attacks Washington

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Prime Minister Wojciech Jaruzelski has accused the United States of building "an iron curtain" around Poland with economic restrictions.

In an address to the Communist Party conference in the Baltic seaport of Szczecin Sunday, Jaruzelski said Washington does not want to ease the economic restrictions imposed on Poland in 1981 after the government declared martial law.

Instead, he said, Washington is claiming economic measures are being lifted when they are not.

"It was not enough to build an iron curtain around Poland, which has been constructed for four years now. New tricks are used," said Jaruzelski, head of the Polish Communist Party.

The attack on the United States came three weeks after the Polish government expelled the U.S. military attache from Warsaw, Col. Frederick Myer, and his wife on espionage charges. Washington retaliated by expelling a Polish military attache, Col. Zbigniew Szymanski, from the United States.

Jaruzelski, who previously has avoided criticism of the Roman Catholic Church, also charged some pro-Solidarity clergy with delivering emotionally charged sermons and with getting involved in politics.

Choice Of Governors

President Reagan doubtless disapproved of some of what he heard from the nation's governors as they met recently in Washington.

Even so, it cannot have escaped Mr. Reagan's attention that several of the formal recommendations they put forward on budget and tax policy might almost have been written at the Republican national convention.

Naturally, many governors are unhappy about the administration's proposed cuts in federal aid to states and cities.

The president defended the cuts, arguing that a federal government running a $200 billion deficit had no business handing out aid to state and local governments running surpluses.

Good point. Still, some of the governors had grounds to counter that their present surpluses were not much larger than the sums needed to maintain prudent reserves.

States lack the federal government's prerogative of printing money, which means that governors know the hard reality of having to choose between cutting services or raising taxes.

That made the governors notably unsympathetic when members of Congress trooped through with pathetic laments about how impossible it was to make much progress toward balancing the budget.

Then the governors sat down to draft their own recommendations for Congress and the administration.

The governors agreed with President Reagan in endorsing a constitutional amendment requiring a balanced federal budget.

They supported Mr. Reagan's request of Congress for line-item veto authority, a tool most governors find essential in constraining the spending habits of their own legislatures.

And that was not all. The governors went on record as favoring tax reform along the lines proposed some months ago by Mr. Reagan's Treasury Department.

Which is to say that a majority of state governors support a simpler, flatter federal income tax with lower rates — a concept branded as right-wing as recently as last year's GOP convention in Dallas.

The governors' call for a de facto, one-year freeze in Social Security benefits and the defense budget was at odds with White House positions, but not radically so.

The administration's proposed budget for fiscal 1986 amounts to a net freeze on total federal spending excepting interest payments on the national debt.

Democratic governors outnumbered Republicans at this year's annual conference 34-16.

That a majority nonetheless supported proposals with which the Reagan administration would be most comfortable is one more measure of how the Reagan revolution is reshaping the nation's political agenda.

Nancy Will Tell Pope Of Drug Crusade

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nancy Reagan will have a solo audience with Pope John Paul II at the Vatican to discuss her anti-drug crusade while President Reagan is attending the Economic Summit in Bonn.

The exact date of the private audience with the pope has not yet been made public, or is it known who initiated the visit.

While in Rome, the first lady will visit Progetto Uomo, an organization for the rehabilitation of drug abuse victims that has branches throughout Italy.

The visit to the Vatican will be in the aftermath of Mrs. Reagan's conference of first ladies to discuss the worldwide youth drug abuse problem. The wives of 17 foreign leaders will gather at the White House on April 24 for meetings and the group will fly to Atlanta on the following day for more seminars and briefings.

White House aides are overwhelmed with the global response and the fact that the first lady has touched a chord with her counterparts around the world.

Mrs. Reagan will be at the president's side, however, during the state visit phase of her trip to Germany that will follow the Economic Summit. There also will be state visits to Spain and Portugal on the trip that runs from April 30 to May 10.

Mrs. Reagan's itinerary still is being planned and her chief of staff, James Rosebush, is expected to travel to Europe to work out her private schedule in the countries to be visited.

The White House is not expected to replace President Reagan's official photographer, Michael Evans, who leaves in mid-March to return to magazine photography.

The four other photographers on the White House staff were expected to carry on with their daily chores with no numero uno among them.

It is understood that is the decision of Donald Regan, the new chief of staff.

Evans covered Ronald Reagan during the 1980 campaign and came to the White House with him at the start of the first term.

Shuttle Prices A Dilemma

By Al Rossiter Jr., UPI Science Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — NASA proposes boosting the price of a space shuttle flight to $87 million starting in 1989, but the Transportation Department wants even higher prices so commercial rockets can compete for satellite launching business.

Therein lies a dilemma. According to a new report by the Congressional Budget Office, significantly higher prices for a shuttle launch will divert some of that transportation business to France's expendable Ariane rocket unless the French company raises its prices too.

And unless the shuttle prices are considerably higher than NASA proposes, the companies trying to find business for Delta and Atlas Centaur expendable rockets are not likely to succeed, the report said.

If the price to carry a satellite aboard the shuttle is so high that it makes it cheaper to fly on a Delta or Atlas Centaur, then NASA will lose all but the most specialized commercial and foreign satellite business, according to the Congressional Budget Office analysis.

That would mean the cost to taxpayers for the remaining shuttle missions would be much more than it would be if NASA had commercial and foreign business to go along with military and NASA's own missions. A low flight rate for the shuttle is inefficient because NASA has fixed personnel and facilities costs no matter how often it flies.

The current price for a shuttle launch is $38 million in 1982 dollars. Starting next year and running through 1988, the price will be $71 million in 1982 dollars, but the analysis said that will not cover all costs.

NASA Administrator James Beggs says President Reagan has directed NASA to produce a pricing plan for "full cost recovery" for shuttle operations starting with 1989 and beyond.

Eric Hanushek, deputy director of the Congressional Budget Office, told a House subcommittee that NASA has proposed a price of $87 million per flight for 1989 through 1991. Hanushek said that price — figured on the basis of 1982 dollars — calls for recovery of average operational costs only.

"It remains substantially less than the price implied by the original pricing policy to cover all operating and production costs," Hanushek said.

Jennifer Dorn, director of space commercialization for the Department of Transportation, told the subcommittee that the commercial rocket industry in the United States "cannot become viable unless full cost recovery is established for the shuttle."

Oil Paybacks: Consumers Still Lose

WASHINGTON — Does Big Oil always win? Do consumers always lose? Sometimes it sure seems that way.

Take the billions that American consumers were overcharged by oil companies during the period of oil price controls in the 1970s. The Department of Energy cracked down, and the corporations were ordered to pay back their ill-gotten gains.

Unfortunately, in several cases the DOE ordered the companies to pay their money to the state governments, not consumers — then failed to keep track of what the overcharge money was used for.

In fact, according to an unreleased General Accounting Office review of $36 million in reimbursements dating from the mid-1970s, the DOE didn't even give the overcharged customers — utilities, airlines, schools, small businesses, towns and individuals — a chance to claim their share.

The result is that some of the

Bush Polishes Image

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Vice President George Bush's trip to Africa was long scheduled for early February, but was moved to early March so it would coincide with a similar trip by the Rev. Jerry Falwell, who is conducting his own African fact-finding mission.

A Bush spokesman says it was "only a coincidence" that Bush and Falwell met before all of those cameras in the Sudan's Wad Sherif refugee camp. The Bush party also included the Rev. Pat Robertson, whose television ministry is perhaps the largest in the country.

Therefore, Bush shared the limelight with the two most highly visible conservative ministers — at a time when he seems to be lagging in gaining conservative support for his prospective 1988 presidential bid.

In a recent conservative straw poll, most favored Rep. Jack Kemp (R-N.Y.) over Bush for the 1988 nomination — and so most political pros see the African trip as a major Bush attempt to reach conservative Christians.

When Ronald Reagan became president and the Republicans took over the Senate in 1980, most GOP leaders predicted that their party eventually would control the House as well. Then came a loss of Republican seats in 1982, followed by only small GOP gains in the House last November. Now the GOP rallying cry is "Wait till 1992."

Republicans say a number of many Democratic-controlled state legislatures have gerrymandered their states' House districts, making it impossible for the GOP to wrest control of the House for the rest of the 80s.

However, the GOP has made steady gains at the state level during the last few elections. Republicans believe that, by the end of this decade, they will control several state legislatures that are now controlled by the Democrats.

The law requires that states reapportion their House seats for 1992 on the basis of the 1990 census. The GOP believes that this reapportionment will end much of the current gerrymandering and that the 1992 elections will mean a GOP majority in the House.

If you've missed the last campaign's TV spots, you're in luck. The GOP will soon begin its TV portion of Campaign '86.

In early April, the National Republican Congressional Committee — which has more money than it knows what to do with — will start a TV- and radio-ad campaign in 20 to 50 congressional districts that are now held by "vulnerable" Democrats. The campaign will continue from April through the summer of 1986. Of the total $5 million budget, up to $200,000 will be spent in each district.

Democrats question whether this proposed campaign is legal under federal campaign financing laws. "I'm always open to creative legal interpretations," says Martin Franks, executive director of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, "but they're going to have to come up with a doozy to justify this campaign."

God Gets More Votes

By Clay F. Richards, UPI Political Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consider for a moment two events that took place during the last two presidential campaigns.

The first was in Detroit in 1980 where President Reagan accepted nomination for his first term. Near the end of his speech, the future president said, "I'm almost afraid to say this, but I'm afraid not to," and went on to ask for a moment of prayer and concluded, "God Bless America."

The second was during September of last year when for several days the news media was full of reports of two of the nation's leading Democrats, Geraldine Ferraro and Gov. Mario Cuomo, leading with Archbishop John O'Connor of New York over abortion.

According to Richard Viguerie, the conservative fundraiser and magazine publisher, the two incidents may have more to do with how Americans vote in the coming years than foreign policy or the nation's economy.

Coming from the far right of the political spectrum, Viguerie's comments and predictions over the past few years have been treated with understandable skepticism. Like it or not, a lot of what Viguerie said has come true and his theory is worth listening to.

As he laid out his ideas at the Washington Journalism Center seminar on politics last week, Viguerie began with the not too startling assertion that the outcome of the 1988 presidential race will hinge on three things: foreign policy, the nation's economy and the social agenda.

Viguerie said that in the realm of foreign policy there is a good chance that in three years we'll be pretty much where we are now.

With a little bit of luck, he went on, the current healthy state of the economy will continue.

Therefore, the one area for true realignment is social issues, Viguerie said. "We call it social issues, but it may be called values."

At this point dogmatic conservatives often launch into the litany of their social agenda — school prayer, busing, abortion. But Viguerie said those hot issues that polarize voters are not what he is talking about.

He is talking about Reagan asking for a moment of prayer, even though it may seem to be embarrassing, vs. two prominent Democratic leaders agreeing with their spiritual leader in public.

But Viguerie's suggestion that religion could intrude in a much more subtle way is a theory politicians on both sides will be carefully watching for the next three years.

Fuzzy Won't Wilt, Captures Bay Hill

ORLANDO (UPI) — Fuzzy Zoeller capped his remarkable comeback from delicate back surgery Sunday by winning the Bay Hill Classic. The frightening aspect for the rest of the PGA field is that he did so at 70 percent.

Refusing to wilt despite 84-degree heat and a mighty challenge from Tom Watson, Zoeller strung together four birdies on the front nine Sunday to shoot a 67 and claim a two-stroke victory. Zoeller, who started the day tied for the lead with Curtis Strange at 5-under 208 was playing in just his third tournament since undergoing surgery Sept. 25 for a protruding disc. The defending U.S. Open champion rejoined the PGA Tour two weeks ago, finishing 46th in the Doral Open.

Zoeller, 33, tied for 20th in last week's Honda Classic, but finished the rugged 7,103-yard Bay Hill course at 9 under 275 for his seventh triumph on the Tour.

"I'm running about 70 percent right now," said Zoeller, who grabbed the winner's check of $90,000. "I hope this isn't what 100 percent feels like. To be just three weeks out on the Tour and get a win is a great feeling. I feel wonderful right now. I'm on cloud nine. Anytime you beat these guys, it's exciting. I don't think you'll find four tougher finishing holes anywhere — they'll bring out the man in you."

Watson, who couldn't break par in his final six holes, finished at 7 under 277 after a 67 and Mark Lye was alone in third at 278 after closing with rounds of 68 and 67.

Zoeller followed rounds of 70 and 72 with a sizzling 66 Saturday and opened the final round with a birdie at No. 1, adding a birdie at the par-4 No. 3. At the sixth hole, where Zoeller suffered a double bogey-7 on Saturday, he registered a birdie to go 8-under and a birdie on No. 7 helped Zoeller make the turn at 32. On the back nine, Zoeller was a model of steadiness with nine pars, including a 5-footer at 18.

"I played well the whole day," Zoeller said. "I went over my mistakes last night and tossed and turned. I didn't want to make that one mental mistake that opens the door."

Watson was in a group of four at 3-under 210 entering Sunday's play and he opened with an eagle-3 at No. 1. Birdies at No. 6 and No. 8 dropped him to 7 under, but a bogey-5 at No. 9 gave him a 33 on the front side. A birdie at 12 pulled Watson within two shots of Zoeller, but the winner of 31 PGA events never came any closer.

"I didn't have a real good shot at birdie over those final six holes," Watson said. "The closest I came to the pin was about 30 feet. I couldn't be happier for Fuzzy — when you cut the muscles in his back, as they did to him, you never know. What's it like to see your career flash by before your eyes?"

Lye, who began the final round three strokes behind Zoeller and Strange, birdied four of his first five holes, but a bogey at 14 dropped him four shots off Zoeller's blistering pace. Strange birdied No. 1 to match Zoeller at 6 under, but bogeys at No. 4 and No. 7 left the Honda Classic

NFL Combo Sinks 'Gades

ORLANDO (UPI) — As far as one USFL coach was concerned, there was too much NFL talent on the field Saturday night.

"Stoudt to Smith is an NFL combination," said Orlando Coach Lee Corso after Cliff Stoudt and Jim Smith — a pair of former teammates on the Pittsburgh Steelers — combined for two touchdown passes in Birmingham's 34-10 romp over the winless Renegades. Stoudt also ran for another score and Joe Cribbs dashed 13 yards for a TD as the Stallions improved to 2-1. Danny Miller added field goals of 48 and 40 yards.

"They have a young program here that will do nothing but get better," said Birmingham Coach Rollie Dotsch. "Tonight we played just well enough to win. It wasn't pretty, but we got 34 points on the board."

The Stallions, who rebounded from a 40-23 loss to Denver, won their 10th straight road game. Birmingham ran off 27 consecutive points after Orlando grabbed a 10-7 advantage in front of a crowd of 25,831 as Jerry Golsteyn hit William Miller for a 45-yard TD pass and Jeff Brockhaus added a 22-yard field goal.

The Renegades were limited to just 135 yards in total offense and Golsteyn was yanked late in the third quarter after completing just 5 of 17 passes. His replacement, Reggie Collier, fared little better, hitting on 2 of 9.

"We put in Collier because he worked hard this week and deserved the chance to show us what he can do," Corso said. "Our quarterback situation is not our major problem. They scored on a lot of big plays against us and if our defense does not get better, we are not going to win."

Stoudt hit Smith on an 8-yard

Molle Guns Down 2 Darters

Metz, Schmit Provide Offense As Rams Improve To 6-0

By Sam Cook

Herald Sports Editor

Brett Molle first started flashing his defensive prowess midway through the football season. As a linebacker on Lake Mary's Five Star Conference champions, he contributed several key performances toward a 9-2 season.

Molle carried that defensive ability over to baseball Saturday afternoon. And if the Rams wrap up another Five Star title on the diamond, they might look back to the day in March when their right fielder threw out two runners in a 5-3 victory over the Apopka Blue Darters at Lake Mary's field.

"Give Molle credit," said Lake Mary coach Allen Tuttle about his muscular junior. "He gunned down two of them today."

Give credit to Mike Schmit and Rod "C.J." Metz, too. Schmit socked a clutch two-run homer to snap a 3-3 tie in the fourth inning and Metz crashed four straight hits as the Rams remained unbeaten in the Five Star Conference with a 6-0 record. Lake Brantley, which lost to Lyman Friday, is one game back at 5-1. No. 7 ranked Lyman and surging Lake Howell are 4-2. The Rams have won six straight and the state's No. 5 ranked team has a 9-1 mark overall. Tonight, they travel to DeLand looking for their seventh straight.

The setback was a sobering one for Apopka coach Sonny Wise, whose Blue Darters have owned the conference the past three years. "We've lost a couple of tough ballgames before this one," he said about his 7-4-1 and 3-3 No. 10 ranked squad. "Realistically, we're out of the hunt. Lake Mary has a good ballclub and when Schmit pitches, they've very tough."

And Schmit pitched Saturday. Although he wasn't overpowering, he was tough enough when it counted. The Darters reached him for 11 hits but Schmit struck out four and walked just two. The two defensive gems by Molle cut off runs and momentum.

Lake Mary knocked out Apopka starter Keith Ussery with a two-run first inning. With one out, Keith Wallace reached on an error by the first baseman. Scott Underwood's groundout moved him to second and Schmit drove in the first of his three runs batted in with a single over the first baseman's head.

Metz, who raised his average to .444 with three singles and a double, smacked a single to left center. Ryan Lisle followed with a double over the left fielder's head for a 2-0 lead.

Molle's first defensive gem came in the second. With one out, Tony Johnson singled to left and when the ball went under Lisle's glove, moved to second. Mike Brown then drew a walk and Cecil "Bubba" Milliken lifted a medium fly ball to left field. Lisle lost it in the sun, however, and it fell for a single, scoring Johnson to load the bases.

Greg Jones then lined a single over shortstop to score the first run and bring up leadoff hitter Jason Andrews. Andrew lifted a fly ball down the line which Molle camped under in short right field. Brown tagged after the catch and was a dead Darter at home as Molle's throw got him by 10 feet and Metz slapped on the bag to end the inning.

Lake Mary increased its lead to 3-1 in the third when Underwood snapped a slump with a leadoff homer to right center. "I

Riggins Has Good Game Despite The 34-10 Score

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

You'll never get Charles Riggins to say he's had a good game when his team loses, 34-10. But Sanford's newest member of the Orlando Renegades was pretty impressive in his USFL debut Saturday against the Birmingham Stallions.

"It was all right," he said while heading for the tunnel. "But I've got to do better and we've got to play better."

The Renegades lost for the third straight time at Orlando Stadium Saturday night before a crowd of 25,831. But like big (6-5, 255) said, "We've played three of last year's playoff teams."

The 'Gades now take off for a three-game road trip. They play Portland Saturday, the Jacksonville Thursday, March 21 and Denver Sunday, March 31 before returning home for Memphis.

Although Saturday's loss was once again lopsided, it didn't bear any first-half resemblance to the first two to Tampa Bay and New Jersey where the Renegades fell too far behind early to make a game of it.

Orlando, in its first year of USFL football, even led, 7-0, in the first quarter. Jerry Golsteyn, who suffered through an agonizing 5 of 18 (72 yards) performance, was replaced by Reggie Collier in the third quarter after the fans sent up several choruses of REG-gie, REG-gie.

In the first quarter, however, Golsteyn whipped a swing pass to William Miller. When two Birmingham defenders ran together and fell down trying to cover the front man on the pattern, Miller outraced the rest of the defense to the end zone. Jeff Brockhaus kicked the PAT for

Football

Orlando's first-ever USFL lead, 7-0.

"All this franchise is going to do it get better," said Stallions' coach Rollie Dotsch, whose club is 2-1. "Those guys they got from Tampa (Riggins and defensive back Jeff George) really helped them."

Joe Cribbs, one of the USFL's few name players, scored on a 13-yard trap play later in the first quarter but soon thereafter suffered two broken fingers on his left hand and missed the rest of the game.

Riggins came close to averting Birmingham's second touchdown but a penalty flag gave the Stallions a reprieve. Facing a third and 10 at the Orlando 12, quarterback Cliff Stoudt faded back. Riggins broke through from his defensive left end and sacked him for an eight-yard loss. A defensive holding call, though, gave the Stallions another chance at the Orlando 7. One play later, Stoudt hit Jim Smith for an eight-yard TD for a 14-7 lead with 2:08 left in the half.

Orlando had added a field goal five minutes early when George picked off a Stoudt pass and returned it 20 yards to the Birmingham 15. Six plays later, Brockhaus booted a 22-yard field goal.

The Stallions extended their lead to 20-10 in the third quarter before coach Lee Corso inserted Collier. The former Southern Mississippi great fired an interception, though, on his third play from scrimmage, a peculiar call since halfback Curtis Hledsøe had just picked up 19 yards on two carries to move the ball to the Orlando 44.

Charles Riggins, right, chases Birmingham's Cliff Stoudt. Riggins caught up with Stoudt on one occasion but a penalty negated the sack.

Regardless, the 'Gades were still in the game when Riggins made his second big play. Rushing from the left side, he batted a Stoudt pass into the air. He dove after it but it slid off his fingers as he bumped into a teammate.

"I just saw it in the air, so I went for it," said Riggins. "If I'd left it alone, (defensive tackle) David Graham might have had it."

Such are the breaks when you're 0-3. Riggins entered the game on passing situations during the first half. "I was playing on our nickel defense," he said. "I guess they saw something they liked because they let me stay in there on most of the downs in the second half."

A good beginning for the ex-Seminole standout despite the loss.

NFL Hopes To Shorten Games For '85 Season

PHOENIX (UPI) — Ownership changes, the shortening of games and a step into the modern world of communication will be on the agenda beginning today at the National Football League's annual winter meetings.

An unusually active week seems in order for the NFL owners, who could approve two newcomers to their ranks during their five-day session.

Change of ownership is pending for both the Philadelphia Eagles and New Orleans Saints and a report is also expected from St. Louis officials on the possibility of a new stadium in that city.

As far as play on the field is concerned, the NFL's competition committee is toying with ideas to get people out of the stadiums quicker in coming years.

"One of the major things we are looking at is the length of the game," said competition committee chairman Tex Schramm, president and general manager of the Dallas Cowboys.

"It has continued to grow and now the time of a game averages three hours and 10 minutes."

"What we don't want to do is cut the length of the game by taking a number of plays out of it."

"We don't want to cut out action. Of course I've never heard about anybody complain about the length of a game if it is an exciting game."

"If you commit yourself to going to the game you don't care how long it is. The only time you see people leaving is when the game isn't any good."

"Television is in a Catch 22 situation here. They can't win either way."

Sanford Recreation Stars Fall Twice In State Cage Tourney

ORLANDO — The Sanford Recreation Intermediate League All-Stars found the going rough in the State Tournament this past weekend as they dropped a pair of lopsided losses at the Dr. Smith Center in Orlando.

In the first game, Sanford fell behind, 25-8, at the end of one quarter and could never get back in the game as it dropped a 91-29 decision to Lake Vista out of St. Petersburg.

Reginald Lawrence was high-point man for Sanford with seven points. Derrick Hagan added six while Ronald Cox and Willie Grayson contributed four each.

Chris Franklin led four Lake Vista players in double figures with 15 points. Dan Grant added 11 and Dwayne Singleton and Ken Sims tossed in 10 each.

Sanford bowed out of the tournament in equally embarrassing fashion as it was routed by North Miami Beach, 103-21, in its second game.

Cox was the only bright spot for Sanford as he scored 13 of the 21 points. Grayson added four. Willie Paisley pumped in 26 points to lead North Miami Beach and Paul Scarborough poured in 19.

Motta Collects 700th Victory

United Press International

Dick Motta and Mark Aguirre, who have battled in earnest, traded barbs again on Sunday. This time, however, it was all in fun.

Motta picked up his 700th career coaching victory with the Mavericks' 126-113 triumph over the New Jersey Nets and needed his team about it afterward.

"If you had played better, we'd have gotten this two weeks ago," said Motta.

Aguirre, who finished with a game-high 32 points, yelled back. "And if you'd have coached better, you'd have had this two years ago."

Later Motta, reflected on his 17-year career which has taken him to Chicago, Washington and now Dallas and on the 700 victories.

"Well, I got there. It means I made it. If you coach long enough you're going to get a certain amount."

Motta, who has a coaching mark of 700-676, is only the fourth man to win 700 games in the NBA. Red Auerbach, Gene Shue and Jack Ramsay are the others.

Aguirre notched his second 32-point performance in a row. He was backed by Rolando Blackman who added 28 points and Jay Vincent and Brad Davis each with 17.

Elsewhere, Kansas City topped the Los Angeles Clippers 129-111 and Milwaukee defeated Portland 110-94.

Lauer Runs Away From Field

COSTA MESA, Calif. (UPI) — In Spanish, Mesa Verde means "green table" or "green plateau" in golf. Mesa Verde means "bad news."

The tough Mesa Verde Country Club, a tricky 6,085-yard layout, had befuddled the best of the LPGA for five years, refusing to yield a 72-hole score under par.

But that changed Sunday when Bonnie Lauer pounded the course to the tune of a 4-under-par 68 to run away from the field and win the $330,000 LPGA Invitational by five strokes and set a tournament record with an 11-under-par 277.

Defending champion Nancy Lopez set the old record of even-par 284 in 1984 when the course was slightly shorter and was a par-71 layout.

Lauer, 34, was the 1978 Rookie of the Year, but hadn't won a tournament since '977. She earned $49,500 for Sunday's victory. Finishing second was Alice Miller, who had a final-round 69 for a 282. She earned $30,525.

Lopez rallied on the back nine Sunday and closed with a 69 to finish alone in third place at 285.

2 ICBA Champs Upset In Finals

Two of the four regular season winners in the Inter-County Basketball Association (ICBA) were upset in the tournament finals this past weekend.

South Seminole's 8th grade boys and Jackson Heights' girls were the two regular season champs who survived while Oviedo's senior boys and 6-7th grade boys were knocked out in the finals.

In the varsity (8th grade) boys final, Larry Watkins sunk two free throws with four seconds left to give the South Seminole Bobcats a 49-48 victory over Winter Park. The Bobcats finished the season with a 12-0 record.

South Seminole had built up a nine-point lead, 40-31, going into the fourth quarter but Winter Park came back to take a 48-47 lead late in the game. Watkins was then fouled going up for a layup and made both free throws to give the Bobcats the win.

Dan Rubin led the balanced South Seminole attack with 14 points, Willie Daunic and J.J. Miller added 10 each and Watkins chipped in seven. Terry Dixon pumped in a game-high 22 points to lead Winter Park and Erin McGuire tossed in 11.

In the Senior Division final, former Lyman High cagers Lance Wall and Laveche Nelson combined for 33 points to lead the Eastmonte Greyhounds past the Oviedo Stray Cats, 65-62.

The Stray Cats were playing without leading scorer and rebounder Demetrius Hill who was at the Central Florida Fair, according to ICBA director Mickey Norton.

Still, Oviedo managed to stay close as it trailed by just one, 44-43, going into the fourth quarter. Eastmonte, which finished third in the regular season, held on in the fourth quarter for the win.

Wall led the Greyhounds with 19 points, Nelson tossed in 13 and Todd Rowland added 11. Charles "Pop" Bowers was high for the Stray Cats with 17 points and Doug Akerman popped in 16.

In the Girls Division (6-8th grades), the Hughes sisters, Suzanne and Betsy, combined for 16 points as the Jackson Heights Scorpions outlasted Winter Park, 22-19.

Suzanne, an 8th grader, led the way with a game-high 11 points and Betsy, a 6th grader, tossed in five. Their brother, Robb, is a standout on the Oviedo High varsity team. Their father, Bob, is the superintendent of Seminole County's schools.

The Scorpions, who finished with an 11-1 record, took a 10-6 halftime lead, then outscored Winter Park, 6-0, in the third quarter to take a 16-6 lead into the fourth. Heidi Sells led Winter Park with six points.

In the JV boys final (6-7th grades), Winter Park stunned the previously unbeaten Oviedo Lions of coach Dale Phillips, 46-37.

Bryan James took advantage of Vince Hollis' absence to pour in 26 points to lead the way for Winter Park. Donovan Williams was high for Oviedo with 20 points and Danny Phillips, son of Oviedo coach, Dale, tossed in eight.

Gulf War Heats Up; Iran Bombs Iraqi Capital

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Iran said its warplanes bombed the Iraqi capital of Baghdad and three border towns today, hitting strategic locations in retaliation for the shelling and bombardment of Iranian cities.

Iraq had no immediate comment on the reports, but said Iranian artillery fire had struck the southern port of Basra today.

The Gulf News Agency, however, said, "Air raid sirens were heard in Baghdad. At the same time, and for about a minute and a half, the sound of anti-aircraft fire was also heard. But there was no aircraft noise and explosions were not heard either," the agency said in a dispatch from Baghdad.

IRNA said the Iranian air force also attacked the Iraqi border towns of Khurmatu, Amadiya and Aara, and shot down an Iraqi warplane.

The reported air strike, the first against Baghdad since early 1983, further complicated efforts to check the Iranian and Iraqi attacks on civilian targets.

The attacks on cities began Tuesday, shattering an 8-month-old U.N.-mediated agreement to spare civilians from the Persian Gulf war.

'U.S. Should Talk To Jordan, PLO'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, believing the stalemate in Middle East peace efforts can be broken with a bold move, today urges U.S. leaders to open talks with a delegation representing Jordan and the PLO.

But administration officials said Sunday that Mubarak will find President Reagan cool to his requests for a new U.S.-led peace initiative in the Middle East and a hefty boost in aid to Egypt.

The official reaffirmed Reagan's position Sunday that the United States remain disengaged from the details of the peace process until direct Israeli-Arab negotiations begin.

Attempt To Show Fetus On TV Sparks Investigation

PENSACOLA (UPI) — Authorities are investigating to see whether any laws were broken when an anti-abortionist tried to show what he said was a 20-week-old aborted fetus during a live television interview.

Evangelist John Burt pulled out what looked like a fetus wrapped in a cloth on a live television newscast Saturday, and the news anchor stopped the interview.

Burt, 47, said his attempt to show the fetus — which he called a counseling tool — on the newscast was not exploitation.

"Are we exploiting it? No, I think in its death, this child can save lives," Burt said. He said he planned to use the fetus for a month before burying it.

The incident occurred Saturday night during a live interview with Burt on WEAR-TV. Burt, who earlier in the day was among 2,000 people who marched on an abortion clinic, pulled out what appeared to be a fetus.

Peter Neumann, news director of WEAR, said the news crew had no idea Burt had anything with him.

Burning Restrictions Imposed

JASPER (UPI) — A blaze that burned 3,000 acres of swampland in north Florida was "70 percent contained," and fire officials were confident it would spread no further if winds remained light.

The swamp fire was the worst of about 50 blazes reported Saturday across the drought-plagued state. The other fires were reported contained.

Exceptionally dry conditions led John Bethea, director of the state Division of Forestry, to impose statewide restrictions on burning Saturday.

Under the order, controlled burning will be allowed only if a landowner's livelihood depends on immediate burning to clear land to plant a crop. If a forest ranger or fire department official first inspects the site, and if adequate personnel and equipment are available to prevent the fire from burning out of control.

Plan To Clean Up Lake Apopka Might Do More Harm Than Good

ORLANDO (UPI) — A plan to clean polluted Lake Apopka by flooding millions of gallons of treated sewage through a man-made marsh could do more harm than good.

Lake Apopka, once famed for its bass fishing, is one of the most polluted lakes in Florida, harboring pesticides and other pollutants in a thick layer of sludge that coats its bed. Phosphates and other so-called nutrients have stripped the lake's waters of oxygen by fostering a suffocating growth of algae.

Orange County officials have proposed screening off the lake's northeastern quarter. Officials, who estimate the plan will cost $50 million, say much pumped from other parts of the lake would turn the screened-off area into a marshland through which the county could filter millions of gallons of treated sewage.

"The primary goal is lake restoration, not sewage disposal," said County Administrator Rick Fitzgerald.

Consultants who developed the county's plan say the treated effluent would flush pollutants out of the lake.

State environmental experts, however, contend the county proposal is unworkable and would further damage Lake Apopka's already soupy water. They also argue the plan would cost $200 million, not $50 million.

Jim Modica, a biologist for the St. Johns River Water Management District, said the county proposal would aggravate Lake Apopka's algae problem because sewage can act as a nutrient.

Orange County's wastewater already is a problem in Lake Tohopekaliga, Modica said.

Israel Vows Revenge

Fierce Battle Follows Suicide Car Bombing

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Lebanese troops today fought a fierce tank and machine gun battle with the Israeli army in southern Lebanon where a suicide car bombing killed at least 12 Israeli soldiers.

A Lebanese military spokesman said the battle took place on the outskirts of Zrariyeh, a Shiite Moslem village 9 miles northeast of the occupied southern port of Tyre.

"We also have reports of an Israeli helicopter landing at the village, but we are not sure of this," the spokesman said. "The Israelis started shelling Zrariyeh with tanks and our forces responded."

Sources within Amal, the Moslem Shiite movement, said in Beirut the Israelis entered parts of the village but were driven out by "heavy and heroic resistance."

The army did not report casualties, but some Amal sources said three people were killed and seven others were wounded. Other Amal militia sources said 15 people were wounded.

A spokesman for the Lebanese army, which has now fought Israeli forces three times since they withdrew from the area around the port city of Sidon Feb. 16, said an Israeli army mechanized patrol advanced on Zrariyeh and opened fire with tanks on a handful of Lebanese troops defending the outpost.

Israeli leaders had vowed to strike back in retaliation for a suicide car bombing Sunday in southern Lebanon that killed at least 12 Israeli soldiers and wounded 14 — the worst single attack on Israeli forces since 1983.

At least three different groups claimed responsibility for the attack about half a mile north of the Israeli border town of Metulla.

The Israeli military command said the driver of a red pickup truck waited on the roadside just north of an Israeli border crossing point until an Israeli army convoy arrived.

The driver then detonated 220 pounds of explosives, Israeli officials said.

Israel's state-run radio and television networks report said the pickup rigged with explosives apparently hit the four-vehicle Israeli convoy.

The blast wrecked two vehicles and gouged a 3-foot deep crater in the road in an area well inside a Lebanese Christian enclave set up to protect Israel's northern settlements.

In Jerusalem, Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres expressed deep shock over the attack, vowing that Israel will "never relax its war against terrorism and will strike back against its perpetrators."

Moslem leaders blamed Israel for Friday's explosion in the Beirut suburb of Beir Al-Abed that killed about 80 people and wounded 250 and a bomb blast last week in the southern Lebanese village of Maarakeh, in which 12 people died.

$1.5 Billion Sought For African Aid

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — Vice President George Bush and representatives of some 80 nations gathered for the opening today of a U.N. conference aimed at raising $1.5 billion in emergency aid for millions of starving Africans.

The conference was called by U.N. Secretary General Perez de Cuellar in January to mobilize international aid for an estimated 30 million famine victims in Africa.

Bush, who arrived Sunday after a tour of three drought-stricken African nations, told reporters at the Geneva airport Sunday he was "delighted to participate in what is a very, very worthy cause."

The vice president said he would "try to encourage every country, transcending ideology, to be supportive in this enormous human tragedy."

"Over the last six months, the emergency situation has sharply deteriorated."

During his four-day tour, Bush pledged $115 million in U.S. aid to the three countries he visited — Mali, Niger and Sudan.

Israel 'will never relax its war against terrorism and will strike back against its perpetrators.'

Sanford Man Held In Rape At Club Two Spot

A 32-year-old Sanford man was being held in the Seminole County jail without bond today charged with raping a Sanford woman at knife-point.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies reported picking the suspect up behind the Club Two Spot on state Road 46A east of Sanford about 30 minutes after the man allegedly broke into a private room at the club shortly after 1 p.m. Sunday.

A 25-year-old woman reported to deputies that the man had removed a screen from a window in the room, entered, put a pocketknife to her throat and raped her, a sheriff's report said.

The man left through the door and witnesses reported seeing him in the hallway of the club, the report said.

Deputies nabbed the suspect about 50 yards from the scene of the rape. He reportedly had a pocketknife in his possession, the report said.

Johnny Frank Little, 32, of 1103 W. 8th St., Sanford, has been charged with armed burglary and sexual battery.

Where's A Cowboy To Hang His Hat, Anyhow?

DEAR ABBY: On the subject of cowboys wearing their hats indoors: In more genteel times, restaurants had coatrooms, which had proper spaces for hats and someone to watch them and prevent their being pilfered.

Nowadays, if a restaurant has a coatroom at all, it is "at the customer's risk" and has no place even to hang a hat. Often not even a peg exists, necessitating either putting it on the seat of an adjacent chair, subject to being slopped on by careless waiters, or sat upon by incoming customers!

I sometimes hang my hat on any convenient projection from the wall, be it steer horns, false beams or a bookcase. In rowdier places, I have been known to take out a knife, stick it in a wall plank and hang my hat thereupon.

Lucky (and rare) is the home nowadays that has a hall closet, much less one with room for anything but a ski cap. Throwing the coats on the bed in the spare bedroom often results in coats landing atop a hat and crushing it — sometimes the coats even have people still in them!

WILLIAM D.,
DEER PARK, N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: Your column about the cowboy hat reminded me of a story that circulated in the Houston area about the former Houston Oilers coach, Bum Phillips, now coach of the New Orleans Saints.

Bum always wore his 10-gallon hat, which made him easily identifiable on the sidelines at football games. However, he never wore his hat when the Oilers played at home in the Astrodome.

Dear Abby

A reporter once asked Bum why he never wore his cowboy hat at a home game. As the story goes, he replied, "My mama taught me that a gentleman always removes his hat when he enters a home, and the Astrodome is home to me."

MARSHA B., TEXAN

DEAR ABBY: I know why cowboys always wear their 10-gallon hats. An honest-to-God cowboy wears his hat to shade his eyes from the scorching sun, but his face gets tanned anyway, taking on the look of leather. Meanwhile, his forehead is as fair as a newborn baby's bottom, and if he removes his hat, he will look silly with his tan face and his pale forehead, so he never takes his hat off unless he's going to bed.

COWBOY'S GIRLFRIEND

DEAR ABBY: Who said a cowboy never removes his hat? I just saw Gene Autry on the news. He was all dressed up in his spiffy Western clothes, including a beautiful 10-gallon hat, but when a lady approached him, I noticed that he took his hat off. Now, there's a gentleman for you!

Come to think of it, John Wayne always took his hat off in the presence of a lady, and so did Hopalong Cassidy, Gary Cooper and George Montgomery.

LOVES OLD WESTERNS

DEAR LOVES: True. All of the above had good manners. Also hair.

DEAR ABBY: Gentleman cowboys remove their hats indoors and in the presence of ladies no matter where they are. Dragoon cowboys, who just wear western clothes and hang out trying to look macho, never take their hats off.

If you recall the movie "Midnight Cowboy," that guy never took his hat off because he was no gentleman.

MOVIE BUFF

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps I can provide a reasonable explanation for why cowboys wear their hats indoors.

Those hats are so big, there is no place to put them. Also, each brim is shaped individually by the owner according to his personal taste. A real cowboy bends the brim of his hat to suit himself, and when he removes it, he always places it upside down on the crown with nothing touching it to keep the brim from being bent out of shape.

Most restaurants don't want to take the responsibility of keeping these precious hats in the checkroom, so they encourage cowboys to keep their hats on their head.

Docent Programs Offer New Horizons To Youth

Junior Docent programs at the Maitland and Loch Haven Art Centers were recently initiated under the aegis of the Mentor Program, a facet of Dividends, the Seminole County School Volunteers.

Operating under a grant from Chevron, Inc. to promote creativity, The Mentor Program is busy matching bright, creative students with a common interest area to knowledgeable, experienced volunteers from the adult community. The Junior Docent experiment is a group activity that fulfills the Mentor goals of widening student horizons.

The Mentor Program director, Jo Starks, in cooperation with Ethel Seures of Maitland Art Center and Seattle Foss of Loch Haven Museum of art, recognized that the working/learning relationship of a Junior Docent program would meet these goals and greatly benefit the students' general appreciation of the arts through the operation of an art museum.

At Loch Haven the high school students field the duties of museum operation through serving as Docent aides, guides, hosts, technicians and presenters as well as learning each new exhibit through orientations. Student Docents Lillian Laitman, Chansone Rintharany, Melanie Freeman, and Carrie Haines are from Lyman High; Diane Woody, Luke Howell; Doug Carter, Scott Leamon and Jennifer Denton of Lake Mary High will be on hand for Loch Haven's Kite Festival Day on March 23.

The Maitland Art Center's group of 4th and 5th grade students under the guidance of Ann Spalding are: Flora Chen and Amy Clay of Altamonte Elementary; Mona Ariza, Rock Lake Middle; Stacey Smith and Dev Herbert of Tusawilla Middle. They are serving at the opening of Diane Farris' photography exhibit and The Senior Citizen's tour March 11.

Many more Adult Mentors are needed in the creative communication areas. If you might be able to help ... consult ... advise ... or share with a student, please call Jo Starks at the Dividend office ... 834-8211.

The South Seminole Garden Club will meet on March 8 at 1 p.m. at the Lake Kathryn Estates Club House on Mango Drive in Casselberry.

Ann Kain and Becky Norden, talented area decorators, will present the program entitled, "Decorating With Flowers." Hostesses will be Mattie Salem, chairman, Ruby McKain, Virginia Kraft, and Areva Barnes. Interested area residents are invited to attend.

Lyman High's Girls Soccer team is on cloud-nine over their recent 3 to 2 victory over South Plantation which earned them the State Championship in women's soccer.

The Greyhounds, coached by Tom Barnes, finished the season with a perfect 24 to 0 record. Way to go, girls!

Another LHS winner is Lyman's Teacher of the Year, Ellis King. Mr. King was chosen as one of two runners-up in the Seminole County Teacher of the Year program.

With 14 years experience, 13 at Lyman, Mr. King teaches auto mechanics at Lyman. He lives in Longwood with his wife, Betty, and has two sons.

King was chosen as one of the top contenders from a field of 41 teachers selected from Seminole county schools.

Mrs. Selma Weidner, a waitress at Denny's Longwood restaurant, coordinated the company's Christmas Cheer drive whereby a worthy cause or group is the recipient of a collection from the employees of Denny's six area restaurants, customers and the community.

For her many hours of work and time spent on the fund raisers such as car washes and bake sales, Weidner was awarded a clock by the recipient, ORMC's Child Protection Team. The Team is directed by Dr. Ben Guedes and is aimed at preventing child abuse.

Come pay Longwood's oldest citizen a visit. This great spring weather is the perfect time to get out and enjoy an interesting time with The Senator who lives at Big Tree Park. The Senator is one of the oldest and largest cypress trees in North America.

Big Tree Park is located on General Hutchinson Parkway just off 17-92 in Longwood. The pleasant park is open 7 a.m. to sunset weekdays and 9 a.m. to sunset weekends. So come bring a picnic and the kids for a visit ... it's free.

Cirrhosis Of The Liver Not Always From Alcohol

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband has cirrhosis of the liver caused by hepatitis. He does not drink and never has. They found the cirrhosis during gallbladder surgery.

He has a problem with fluid buildup in his stomach. He has taken Lasix and other medicines to eliminate it. He has no fluid buildup in his legs or ankles. In fact, he is thin from taking the fluid pills.

When he has to increase the Lasix to eliminate fluid in his stomach, it makes him weak and he loses fluid all over his body. Is there something that would remove the fluid from his abdomen without taking it from all over his body?

DEAR READER — Many people who have cirrhosis of the liver do not get it from using alcohol. Probably 40 percent of the cases have other causes. Including previous viral hepatitis. Cirrhosis also can be caused by disease of the bile ducts and by heart failure. Regardless of the cause, liver damage has the same effects, caused by the loss of normal liver functions. One of these is an accumulation of fluid in the abdomen, which physicians call ascites.

There really isn't any medicine that will selectively remove fluid from the abdomen and not from the other tissues. In some cases, the excess fluid may be withdrawn from the abdomen by a needle, but that method has its drawbacks, too. In selected patients, an operation called the Leveen shunt can be used to shunt the abdominal fluid back to one of the main veins leading to the heart. This is often very helpful. You might want to discuss this possibility with your doctor.

To update you on the effects of cirrhosis of the liver, I am sending you The Health Letter, Special Report 27, Common Liver Disorders.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 24-year-old female, am 5 foot 6 and weigh 168. I have been diagnosed as having Hashimoto's disease of the thyroid. All I have been told is that it is caused by the immune system and is inherited, mostly by females. I would like to understand my problem a little better.

No one in my family has this, so how did I get it? How can I help my little daughter? Is there anything I can do to help prevent any future problems this illness can cause?

DEAR READER — Hashimoto's disease is an inflammatory disease of the thyroid gland. Your body produces antibodies to your thyroid tissue. These antibodies attack your thyroid just as antibodies to a germ attack a germ. However, since the antibodies are attacking one's own body, they are called autoantibodies, so it is an autoimmune disease. The process damages the thyroid. New growth of the thyroid gland to compensate for the problem can lead to a poorly-functioning large thyroid or a goiter.

The cause of this disease is not known. It is not just inherited.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

The latest interesting title published by Devin Press of Louisville, Ky., is "Winning Bridge Intangibles" by Mike Lawrence and Keith Manson. The book concerns itself with the psychological and personal attributes a player should develop to make both himself and partner play more effectively.

Their first illustration discusses one of the great disasters of bridge history. In this deal, Pietro Forquet of Italy was partnered with Siniscalco in the 1957 European Championships against Jais and Trezel. Forquet sat South, with Trezel West. The bidding proceeded as shown. Trezel's double of seven spades betrayed the trump position and would have enabled Forquet to play to the nine of spades and make his contract. Unfortunately Siniscalco misjudged the reason for the double, ran to seven no-trump, was doubled and lost the first six heart tricks.

Italy was still able to recover and win the match, largely because of Forquet's reaction to Siniscalco's enormous error of judgment. He did not say a word. He removed the completed board, replacing it with the next hand. Forquet's good temper enabled Siniscalco to recover his composure and play well for the remainder of the match.

The most important single skill a bridge player can possess is to be a good partner.
