NITROGEN SUPPLY CAUSE OF DISSENSION

Illustrative Element Said to Have Been Harnessed During War, Proves Beneficial For Farmer But Hurts Industry

Millions Of Dollars In Machinery Lost

Mill's Forced To Scrap Equipment Hitherto Used In Distilling Ammonia Liquors

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 30.—Skillful harnessing to man's ability during the war of one of nature's most elusive elements, nitrogen, has proved in its post-war phases to be a distinct boomerang to one branch of American industry and a substantial benefit to agriculture.

Steel mills, tanning plants and hundreds of municipal gas companies today are faced with discarding millions of dollars' worth of equipment hitherto used to distill ammonia liquor as a by-product of gas manufacture because pure ammonia can now be produced more cheaply from atmospheric nitrogen. This was made available by a process developed primarily in supplementing during the war the supply of South American nitrates so vital to the manufacture of high explosives.

In the meantime, farmers also may reap in the form of substantially reduced fertilizer prices, the harvest of one of the outstanding pieces of wartime ingenuity.

Announcement made by the local Citizens' gas company of the scrapping of $100,000 worth of ammonia-distilling apparatus and of its replacement with a $250,000 ammonia sulphate plant, brought from Clarence Kirk, president of the company, the story of tremendous strides taken in seven years by one of the American's newest industries.

"Fifteen years ago German scientists perfected the Haber process of fixing nitrogen," Mr. Kirk said. "It was a great discovery. Man's supply of nitrogen before that time was confined to natural beds of sodium and potassium nitrates found almost exclusively in Chile. Through nitrogen, a gas harmless in itself, constituted four-fifths of air we breathe, we could not, until the Haber process was discovered, make substantial and cheap use of the valuable properties it possesses when in combination with other elements.

"While the Haber process opened up new fields of scientific thought, it was unable to fixate nitrogen in sufficient quantity nor at low enough cost to be commercially valuable.

"The war forced Germany and other nations to speed-up their work of fixing nitrogen and the result was development of means to obtain an almost unlimited supply. Then came the problem of a peace-time use for the product of valuable equipment and it was discovered that it could not only be made into a purer ammonia than the steel plants and gas companies were manufacturing as a by-product of their industries, but also could be made much more cheaply.

"That was the beginning of the end of the gas company's career as a manufacturer of straight ammonia liquor. So completely has this 'synthetic' ammonia supplanted our product, that we are forced to turn to other fields for use of our ammonia, and we have now started making ammonia sulphate."

Nitrogen compounds, he added, are a basic element in the composition of virtually all soil-enriching fertilizers and farmers may reasonably expect even lower prices for such products.

Jail Sentence For Drivers Who Try To Beat Trains Across

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30 (P)—Santa Clara county, California, has a new ordinance designed to take much of the joy out of beating the train to the crossing.

It used to be simply a race with death in which the undertaker won if the train got there first and the driver's only reward was perhaps enhanced respect for his make of car if it proved faster than the locomotive.

Now the situation is changed. If the engine passes the finish line first or the race is a tie the award still will be to the undertaker but if the autoist wins he will receive a special recognition during his driving, pushing him from the less daring highway user, a jail sentence.

This new ordinance makes it a misdemeanor to cross in front of a train after a warning or time signal has sounded the train's approach.

RESEARCH WORK IS EXPLAINED AT SCIENTIFIC MEET

Anti-Scientists Are Pictured With Spirit Of Speculation Comparable To That Of Witchcraft Hangings

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 30.—(P)—Products of untiring research were laid by scientists today before sectional meetings of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and related organizations. Scientists from widely scattered parts of the country brought contributions as widely different in character.

Dr. Edwin Linton, parasitologist of the University of Georgia, before the zoological section of the association, pictures anti-scientists of today, imbued with a spirit of speculation comparable to that manifested in the witchcraft hangings at Salem.

They are hastening "to their task of exhortation against knowledge" and "vested interests whose traffic in iniquity is threatened by scientifically framed pure food laws, vendors of quack medicines, and practitioners of magic who hate science whose light is as deadly to them as the light of the sun to the anaerobic bacteria."

"If these people, who have appropriated the name of fundamentalist, would consult their common sense, and apply the scientific method to anti-scientific tenets of their theology they might be led to remove a lot of the stibble that got into their foundations."

Commander N. H. Teck, chief of the division of terrestrial magnetism and seismography of the U. S. coast and geodetic survey, warned against an optimism which had caused an unnecessary loss of life in earthquakes.

Of the original era of virgin forests in the U. S. estimated at 800,000,000 acres, three fifths have disappeared, Professor Fred Rogers Fairchild, of Yale University, told the social and economic section of the association in a plea for forest preservation. From the remaining forests, he said, lumber and other wood products equal to four times the annual growth are being taken.

Smoking does not agree with rabbits, Professor W. J. Baumgartner, of the University of Kansas, related in a paper prepared for the zoological section. Rabbits subjected regularly to cigarette smoke at the university became slovenly and did not gain weight normally.

University of Florida Is Facing Critical Period In Progressing With State

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 30.—(P)—The state university is the barometer by which the progress of a state can be accurately measured. The significance of this fact is being forcibly brought home to many of the states in the Union by the efforts of the University of Florida in its history.

The rapidly increasing enrollment and the continuous demand for new departments to meet the state, have taxed the resources of the university to the limit in attempting to adequately meet the abnormal situation.

The University of Florida is a young institution. The present organization dates from 1919. Its development has been phenomenal under the leadership of Dr. A. A. Murphee, its president, during the 15 years. The enrollment has grown from about 300 to almost 2,000 and new buildings have risen all over the campus.

Beginning as a second rate institution, the university has expanded into an institution recognized as one of the best in the country. This progress has been made despite the fact that the university has been hampered in its efforts to carry out a program of expansion by the lack of sufficient funds.

The university is almost entirely dependent upon appropriations by the legislature for expansion and maintenance and the appropriations have never approached the amount necessary for constructive growth in keeping with the needs of the state. Every department has been cramped because of insufficient funds, the department heads say. It was also stated that new departments, had they been needed, have not been established at the institution because no provision for financing them had been made.

Financing Big Problem
Financing a state educational institution has been a big problem for most states in the Union but many of the states have been more liberal in making appropriations for their universities than has Florida. However, economists maintain that Florida has been handicapped because of the lack of rich industries and because of the low assessments which have made it difficult for the state to maintain all the departments of the state government and still have sufficient funds for educational purposes.

There are other factors that have tended to keep appropriations for the university at a low level. The educational policy of the state in the past has been, for the most part, ultra-conservative. Economy has been the watchword without giving due consideration, in many instances, to constructive planning the future educational development of the state, says a statement issued by the publicity department of the university. Until recently, it adds, a large proportion of the membership of the legislature has been made of members who were either indifferent toward higher education or who only gave it half-hearted support. The influence of this element was so strong that it was necessary at almost every session of the general assembly for supporters of the university to go to Tallahassee and make a fight for necessary appropriations.

Situation Improved
"This situation has materially improved during the past year," the statement continued. "The present legislature has shown a much more liberal attitude toward appropriations for the state educational institutions and had the state continued to develop normally, the appropriations made for the university by the legislature at its last regular session, would have no doubt been ample to take care of necessary expansion and maintenance of departments of the University."

Two Injured When Motor Cars Collide Early This Morning

J. King and C. Green, both colored, were painfully injured last night about 6 o'clock when a truck which they were riding collided with a Buick car driven by James Brown. The driver of the truck, Leon Long and the other driver, Brown, were uninjured. The collision occurred at the corner of Eighth Street and Magnolia Avenue.

Police called to the scene immediately took King and Green to the station where their injuries were dressed by Dr. Langley after which they were allowed to go home.

Long, an employee of the Iutson Construction Co., and James Brown, were arrested on charges of reckless driving. They were released on bond and will appear in police court Jan. 4 for trial.

Flood Damage Is On Increase In Europe

PARIS, Dec. 30.—(P)—Floods in central Europe are increasing their ravages and every hour brings news of additional rivers overflowing their banks. Transylvania, northern Roumania and eastern Hungary are being disastrously flooded.

Far to the north, in Poland, the Vistula is rising. There already is a flood near Cracow and Warsaw seems bound to be affected.

The French rivers continued to rise slowly. The officials are optimistic but when the mass of water accumulating in the tributaries of the Seine comes down about Jan. 6, Paris and its suburbs are apparently bound to suffer badly.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—"Warm and Dry" is the epitaph written by the weather bureau for the year 1925.

The period will go down in meteorological history marked by the most devastating spread drought, and by the most devastating weather record since the year 1920.

Nearly every part of the country recorded excessive heat during the year as a whole. Many sections marked especially in the South and north Pacific states were one of the record in all sections.

Rainfall was deficient year throughout the country, notably in the West where drought prevailed most of the spring and summer. An unusually cold October and the end of the year as a whole was the warmest yet.

REFUTATION DAY BANQUET IS TO BE STAGED ON JAN. 1

President Coolidge And Many Prominent Men Invited To Attend Affair At Daytona
Consolidation Celebration

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Dec. 30.—With President Coolidge, John D. Rockefeller, Rex Beach and Frank Parker Stockbridge heading the list, 176 noted American men and women have been invited by the Daytona Beach Chamber of Commerce to attend a Florida Refutation Day banquet, which will be held at Chateau Lido, on the Halifax River, on the evening of New Year's day, and at which eloquent speakers, by radio, will refute charges that have been hurled at the fast-growing state in many sections.
All persons invited hold notable positions in the financial, political, publishing or artistic worlds, and their interest in Florida indicates that the banquet, in addition to being unique in conception, will prove one of the most notable of American history.
The banquet is the stellar feature of a New Year Eve and New Year Day celebration of the consolidation of Daytona, Daytona Beach, Seabreeze and the world-famous Ormond-Daytona Beach auto speedway, which will be legally consummated with the birth of 1926, former United States Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman of Illinois, now a banker-resident of Daytona, Beach, will act as toastmaster, and the two-day program will be both varied and interesting.
The inspirational cut-off for the banquet is given in the following extracts from the formal invitation being sent out by David Sholtz, president of the Daytona Beach Chamber of Commerce:
"The recent growth of this state, as you undoubtedly know, has inspired a deluge of adverse and unfair publicity in many circles—publicity that is almost invariably founded on either a gross misstate-

New Year's Resolutions

This is the time of year when varied and multitudinous New Year's resolutions are lined up preparatory to starting with the crack of the new year down the long hard road to fulfillment. Alas, how few of the many finish the race, how many slip and fall in the pits of temptation and moral weakness, how many are converted into paving blocks for that well known place that is hard surfaced with good intentions.

In reviewing the host of fallen resolutions that come crawling back to the starting line of the next year, the question arises as to whether indiscriminate and rash resolutions are really a benefit or a detriment to the development of character. Certainly any good action, or good intention is commendable and worthy of encouragement, but one great trouble with the people of this generation is the tendency to pledge themselves to actions that they never really intend to carry through to a successful conclusion.

Vice-President Dawes has been asked by an anti-tobacco society to abjure his pipe and the use of the weed as a New Year's resolution. If the vice-president is sensible he will laugh off this proposition and give his attention and his pledges to something more important and worthwhile than a pipe and tobacco.

In making new year resolutions, people seem to give too much attention to trivial, inconsequential things, and not enough to the basic rules of everyday life and the things really worthwhile.

Wider Streets

When we try to find a place to park our car in the business section of Sanford and end up with parking it several blocks away from the office, we frequently wonder where all the cars come from and how great the congestion will be a year from now if it becomes worse than it is at this time.

Figures made public recently reveal the fact that there are more than 20,200,000 motor vehicles registered in this country. These figures show an increase of 2,132,768 in twelve months. This means more when we take into consideration the fact that more than one million cars were scrapped during the year.

Registered in the state of Florida are 291,400 vehicles, showing an increase of 50.1 per cent in the year. This does not include the thousands and tens of thousands of cars being operated in the state bearing licenses issued in other states.

Statistics like those bring more forcibly to mind the need for wider streets and avenues, paved roads, and sensible traffic regulations. The city that disregards the needs of the motorist suddenly awakes to a realization of serious traffic conditions.

Sanford is daily becoming more congested, as everyone cannot help but notice. The narrowness of some of its streets is largely responsible for the condition which exists. The Herald believes immediate action should be taken to remedy the situation while it is a comparatively easy matter to do so.

Park Ave., which is the new route for the Dixie Highway through Sanford, should be made a wide thoroughfare, and prompt action on the part of City Commissioners in widening this street in the downtown section would meet with the general approval of the people.

In its rapid strides toward big city days, Sanford must not fall to give necessary attention to providing wide streets. The paving program carried out by the city administration has helped greatly in the growth and development of the city, but in its desire to pave the greatest number of streets, and to give the greatest number of miles of pavement, the commission, it is hoped, will not allow those streets in the downtown section, where traffic is heavy, to be neglected.

WILL FLORIDA HAVE a future after the boom is over? My answer to this is "Yes." I expect to see those who go to Florida to get rich quick and to get something for nothing, keep on playing with speculative fire until they are badly burned.

There is less crookedness among Florida real estate men than among those of any other section. I earnestly urge that the investing public use the same caution in looking up a real estate dealer in Florida that they would in looking up a broker in New York.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB... Here are two compliments from widely different sources for Yankee valor. In 1914, E. H. Davis, editor of Munsey's Magazine, was visiting G. K. Chesterton, the English writer, at the latter's home near London.

Science Marches on... We Don't Crave Cuba... About Moustaches... By ARTHUR BRISBANE... Copyright 1925, by Star Co.

WHILE MODERNISTS and fundamentalists fight, France never ceases its fight against falsehood, superstition and ignorance. Dr. Scott, of Princeton College, says that, beyond a doubt, Philo-canthropus, the "monkey-shaped man" was a human of low grade.

FASCISM SAYS Italy doesn't want any "limitation of arms." Complete disarmament might appeal to Italians, but they have learned lessons in the last war, and will not put themselves in the hands of paternal regulating powers.

EL SOL, of Madrid, hopes and believes that America will not annex Cuba. That's a reasonable hope. The United States people would not care to brand themselves thieves and murderers to add a little to their property.

WHEN THE Kaiser left Germany in a hurry, imperial moustaches, pointing the sky, became unfashionable. Now the moustache returns, and Goggin moving picture actors complain that men, will not have actors with moustaches in love scenes, because the moustache scratches.

IF GERMANS want to imitate a soldier, why not imitate Alexander the Great? He never ran away, and had been alive in 1914. He would have taught his imitators a lesson or something about war. It was he who made the smooth moustache fashionable. Caesar and Napoleon imitated him. That trio ought to be good enough.

A POOR OLD woman aged seventy-one is found dead in a wretched tenement, no furniture, a few dry crusts of bread. Most unjustly this old lady is called an "old maid." You can't live on that, although you can keep going if you rummage in garbage cans and pick up fruit, dropped by peddlers as Mrs. September did.

OUR STANDARD of living has improved. About 100 years ago one workman in the United States could earn $1 a day all the year around.

MR. GREEN, of the American Federation of Labor, predicts an end to the coal strike, now distracting the east and other parts of the country. The thermometer at zero may help, Americans are "doable," as Northcliffe said. You must pinch their fingers with the distasteful, but pinch their pockets hard to make them take action. And, unlike mine workers and owners, the people are not organized.

WISE OFFICIALS of Silesia order cats as well as dogs muzzled. A good idea, but it isn't enough. Cats and dogs should be shaved as well as muzzled to make them safe for children that play with them. If a mother allowing her child to play with a cat had microscopic eyes, and saw the dust germs that thrive in the cat's fur, she would shave that cat and wash it in a weak solution of carbolic acid.

JOSEPH S. DONOVAN, of Boston, when young, vowed he would some day be worth a million. He is now worth the million and he remains. How, with his million can he make himself really happy? He won't find it easy in his retirement to be as much interested in life, as those that still have their million to make. It is striving that is worth while.

GREAT BRITAIN with her rubber monopoly takes from this country about $700,000,000 a year, more than enough to pay her debt to us. By the way of reprisal the Massachusetts legislature is asked to drive out British insurance companies. Such talk is foolish. Uncle Sam, his pockets bulging with gold, and playing the part of a "gry baby," makes himself unnecessarily ticklish.

Besides, in the California Fire English Insurance Companies paid what they owed in full, which is more than can be said for some American companies. In Paris a column of our troops marched under the Arc de Triomphe in the parade in honor of the French unknown soldier. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the commanding officer approached Marshal Foch for instructions.

GOOD-BYE TO the horse. Los Angeles is the first city to have no horse-drawn vehicles on four important thoroughfares. That will spread. The horse is happier in the country, away from hard streets. He is no longer necessary in the city, no excuse for him. Even if he were a little cheaper for some work, which is doubtful, he should be driven and three-fourths of the winter months.

WHAT TO DO—WHAT TO DO!

A EUGENE FIELD MEMORIAL

LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL

It was appropriate that the announcement of a memorial to Eugene Field should be made on Christmas morning. His all too slender sheaf of children's poems settles him in a high place as a poet of children and this distinction could not have been made on a more fit occasion than the festival that is essentially a children's day.

Instead of the small headstone that thousands have placed in the Graceland Cemetery with out knowing that it marked the grave of this gentle writer of delicate verse a specially built tomb in a Kenilworth church will be his resting place, to recall the poignant cry of "Little Boy Blue," or the lullaby of "Wynkin, Blynkin and Nod."

Field with his few poems dedicated to children holds perhaps a

TOWN AND COUNTRY

TAMPA TRIBUNE

The folly of the tug-of-war between town and country is about as plain as it ever will be. The time has come for rural and urban America to pull together. The day for referring to the farmer as a "hick" and the city dweller as a "dude" is over. Both are human and American.

The community today is composed of farmers, bankers, merchants, professional men and mechanics. The periphery of every town includes the remotest farm, whose occupants look to that town for the business of buying or selling. To think that the town, and town interests and where the farms begin is nonsense.

On the other hand, the farm is of no great value unless there is a trading center within easy reach of team or auto. Were the towns wiped from the map, the farmer would revert to the old pioneer days of absolute self-dependence.

SMALL HEADS, BIG MINDS

POPULAR SCIENCE MONTHLY

A few weeks ago a brilliant woman died in Washington. When her attorneys opened her will, they found she had left her brain to Cornell University for study. Mrs. Helen Hamilton Gardener, noted as a writer, and the only woman United States Civil Service Commissioner, made this strange bequest in the hope of throwing light on the age-old question: Are women as smart as men?

In death she proved at least that the brain of one exceptional woman is as big as that of one exceptional man, for her brain was found to weigh 1,130 grams—exactly the same as that of Dr. Burt G. Wilder, distinguished scientist, who for many years was a member of the Cornell faculty.

Will further study of Mrs. Gardener's brain help establish the truth of the old belief that all great thinkers have big brains and that a man's mental capacity may be judged by the size of the hat he wears.

Informed scientists now agree with the saying of Oliver Wendell Holmes that "You can't tell by looking at a man's head what kind of mind is inside it, any more than you can tell by looking at a safe how much money it contains." So if your hat size is small, remember that a large head may mean large cranial capacity, but not necessarily a large or well-developed brain.

The average American wears a seven and one-fourth hat. How does that compare with the sizes of his fellow citizens who have achieved fame? Very well, indeed. Take for example, men who have been elected to the presidency. James A. Garfield wore a seven and one-fourth hat, and three-fourths of the winter months.

ANNUAL WOMAN'S CLUB BALL IS BRILLIANT SOCIAL EVENT

The most brilliant social event of this season was the annual ball given Tuesday evening by the Social Department of the Woman's club-house, with Mrs. Fred Walms as the gracious hostess for the occasion. This event which is anticipated with so much pleasure each year, far surpassed any previous affair given by the Social Department, both as to beauty and pleasure.

The State of Florida was represented in the elaborate decorations, which adorned the spacious club lounge. Many small pines and cedars encircled the large room, while vines adorned with tiny white jasmine blossoms entwined the stairways and balconies. Overhead Spanish moss was gracefully draped from suspended rods from which red ribbons fell, adding a pleasing touch of color.

The central decoration of the stage was a large Christmas tree, hung with tinsel and bright ornaments. Baskets of fragrant narcissus were also used to advantage. The orchestra was hidden by a screen of palms, and French baskets of narcissus and ferns. Red shaded lights cast a rich warm glow over the lovely scene.

The programs decorated with the club symbols, red roses were given out by Mrs. W. C. Hill and Mrs. J. D. Woodruff.

Mrs. Woodruff was attired in a smart frock of chartreuse green georgette beaded in rhinestones. Most becoming was the gown worn by Mrs. Hill, it being a geranium beaded georgette over flame satin.

The music was unusually good and was furnished by the Brockhahn orchestra. Punch was served throughout the evening at two prettily arranged tables, presided over by Mrs. G. Irving Loucks and Mrs. J. C. Gibbs. Mrs. Loucks was gowned in black beaded velvet while Mrs. Gibbs was charming in orchid lace and tulle.

At 11 o'clock, refreshments of coffee and French pastries were served by Mrs. William Moore Scott, Mrs. John R. MacDonald, Ernest Morrison, and Mrs. Ernest Morrison.

Mrs. Scott was lovely in mauve georgette beaded in crystal and silver. Worn with this costume were slippers of gold brocade.

Of Apple green georgette beaded in silver and roses of pastel tulle and ribbons, was the frock worn by Mrs. Newman.

Mrs. Galway's beautiful costume was of blue and silver metallic cloth and tulle with silver and iridescent blue beads.

Mrs. Macdonald's beaded in French green artistically beaded in iridescent beads of harmonizing tones.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hazard of Augusta, Ga.; Miss Evelyn Anderson of Chester, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis O'Brien of Kissimmee; Miss Chivette Smith of Ocala; Miss Frances Melver of Ocala; Mr. and Mrs. Stephens Coch of Albany, Ga.; Joe and Scott James of Washington, D. A novel adaptation of the buckle motif is shown in these little shoes of suede or kid. The tongue is long and falls over the instep, giving a buckle effect. The trimmings, too, in a harmonizing shade of smooth leather, is unusual.

EVERYTHING NEW THAT'S GOOD

WINTER SEASON NOW STARTING IN FLORIDA

Thanksgiving Day Sees Opening of Resorts in Several Sections of South Florida; Palm Beach Season Starts

Many Visitors Are On Way For Season

Recreation Offered To Rich And New Rich, Famous And Near Famous, Over State

PALM BEACH, Fla., Dec. 30 (AP)—The "Florida season" has begun and from now until mid-March the Peninsula state will hang heavy on the map with winter tourists. Thanksgiving was the official opening of the winter season at a number of the semi-tropical resorts. Others more or less popular centers of social and recreational activity, have no special dates for beginning the whirl and rush of receiving vacationists, but rather keep "open house." This commences from the turning of the first leaf in the North and will last until the last tourist departs in the spring.

Actual tenure of the social season is determined by the whims of society.

In late years there has been evidenced a decided trend to synchronize the Florida season with that of the French Riviera, to which the local salient is proving a mighty competitor. While Fifth Avenue tallies and modistes are showing what the beau monde will wear at Palm Beach and on the Cote d'Azur, this concession to the foreign playground is being sharply offset on the Rue de la Paix, where modistes are viewing that which will be chic at Palm Beach this year.

Closely following the Yuletide holidays, Palm Beach, a city whose chief heritage is a honeyed air, a strip of palm fringed sand, a shining sun and a singing sea, begins to acquire all the accoutrements of a metropolis. Here come the hosts of society, here come the men and women of big and little fame; the legions of rich and new-rich—all to romp on the beaches, to frolic in the surf, to relax in the shade of palm-studded glades. Palm Beach becomes the capital of society for a season.

Although Palm Beach is the heart of Florida's winter vacationing area, other resorts and even non-resort sectors bear their share in providing amusement and recreation to the incoming fugitives from colder and harsher scenes.

From St. John's on the east coast, down around the little keys and up the bend of the Gulf on the west coast the visitor rests, as well as in lake towns and other interior resorts. A number of out-of-state millionaires maintain palace-like homes along the coasts and in the interior, while other wealthy visitors locate their magnificent bungalows on little coral-based keys, just large enough to give space to a house and "elbow room." Seen from a distance these islets, with the sky as a background and a light-colored base, have the fairy-like appearance of islands floating in the air.

To meet the anticipated increase in tourists this season new de luxe trains have been added to the already heavy regular schedule from Florida to New York and Chicago. A coastwise steamship line has eliminated a regular out-of-state port of call and extended its southernmost terminus from Jacksonville to Miami, while a new line has been inaugurated between Miami and Havana.

Hotels have been refurbished and expanded, and numerous cottages for tourists' use have sprung up in readiness for the big rush.

The last census shows there are 20,000,000 horses in the United States.

United States Again Sets Pace For All World Wide Sporting Contests

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—The season of 1925 witnessed keen rivalry and many sensational features in the field of international sports, in spite of the marked let-down from the pace of the year before, when this type of activity was at its peak.

The fading year's athletic slate had no Olympic Games, no such picturesque events as the Zev-Papyrus and Epinarud horse races or the historic polo cup matches, all high spots of the brilliant 1924 calendar. But the last twelve months developed many stirring struggles for honors in such branches of sports as tennis, golf, track, rowing, yachting and billiards.

No season is lacking in color which includes such outstanding features as Joyce Wethered's golf victory over Glenna Collett, Jack Beresford's rowing triumph over Walter Hoover, the sensational bid of France's Davis Cup team for tennis glory, the triumph of Britain's Ulick hurdlers, Lord Burghley, on American tracks, or the historic running performances of the Finnish marvel, Paavo Nurmi.

Nurmi, competing throughout Canada and the United States, held the spotlight for most of the winter and spring as he dashed from one triumph to another. A summary of the year's performances shows the United States once more setting the pace for all rivals, leading the pack with a record of thirteen victories in various branches of competition, but also finding unexpectedly stiff opposition from British rivals.

Tallahassee Police Search Instituted Seeking Motorist In Probe Of Accident

TALLAHASSEE Fla., Dec. 30 (AP)—Identity of the man in whose name the motor number of the automobile which Christmas eve collided with another car on the highway near Jacksonville, resulting in a death, was issued by the Sheriff of Duval county this morning by the controller's office, it was announced here.

Although the controller's office would not divulge the man's name, it was stated that he is a resident of Jacksonville. Officials of the office here explained that they preferred not to make his identity public.

In the accident on the highway, one man was killed and another seriously injured. The driver of the car which is said to have crowded the other from the road threw the license tag on the machine into the woods. The tag was later found, and, according to the controller, the records here show that it was issued to the same man in whose name the motor was registered.

Student Is Dead After 10 Story Fall In Elevator Shaft

BIRMINGHAM Ala., Dec. 30 (AP)—The death of Joseph S. Vogt, of Grand Rapids, Mich., which occurred early today when he plunged 10 stories through an elevator shaft, was an unavoidable accident, Coroner J. D. Russell declared today in releasing from custody A. O. Kuehnstedt Jr., companion of Vogt.

Coroner Russell said there was no criminal intent in the action of Kuehnstedt for obtaining possession of Vogt's overcoat when the latter was buried through an emergency door in an elevator shaft. Vogt's body was shipped from Grand Rapids this afternoon upon instruction of the father, who is a furniture manufacturer. He was a junior at the University of Michigan and was attending the annual convention of the Delta

The report showed the present membership of the organization to be 70 realty boards and 3,500 members of individual clubs. This is expected to increase materially as quarterly reports from the boards are received the first of January, association officers stated.

Human Skeletons Found Painted Red

SIMFEROPOL, Southern Russia, Dec. 30 (AP)—Human skeletons painted a deep red have been found by Russian archaeologists in the vicinity of Simferopol. They are believed to belong to the Cimbric race which inhabited the coast of Kertch Bay 2,000 years before Christ. It was the custom of this ancient race to cover the corpses of their dead with ochre, which was believed to preserve the bodies against decomposition.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—Strength of oil companies issues featured today's early bond trading, which maintained a firm tone in the absence of any important new development.

The activity spread to Sinclair and Pan American lines, all of which recorded gains. Railroad bonds were sluggish in the face of a series of favorable November earnings, which formed the basis for a rise in the carriers' shares. Chicago and Alton 3s and Erie General 4s were the only railroad issues to attract attention. Independent strength was shown by National Dairy Products 6s, and Donner Steel 7s.

Mr. Rose told the local presidents that it was the aim of the association to make it the largest state association of realtors in the United States and that the goal was already in sight.

Gene Sarazen With Card of 144, Leads In Miami Tourney

MIAMI, Dec. 30.—(AP)—Gene Sarazen, whose card of 144 enabled him to lead a notable field of players yesterday in the opening of Miami's second annual championship golf tournament at Biltmore, paced off this morning with two other champions for the first 36 holes of play.

By a quirk of circumstance three nationally prominent players each of whom has won the national open title, tied off. Sarazen, winner of the honor in 1922, went out with Bobby Jones, 1924 title holder and himself national amateur champion, and with Willie MacFarlane, present champion.

Fifteen minutes later came another well known trio, which included Johnny Farrell, Mike Brady and Jock Hutchison. Eddie Loos and Willie Klein, who shared second honors yesterday with cards of 145 each, followed this match in successive threesomes, respectively. Although Jones and MacFarlane are five strokes behind Sarazen, at the head of the column, the battle that this pair has been waging has held the bulk of attention.

Golf history repeated itself when Jones and MacFarlane went into another sensational tie, duplicating their feat of the Worcester tourney, where the latter annexed his present title.

Alabamans Are On Edge For Contest With Washington

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 30.—(AP)—Alabama's Crimson Tide, pride of southern football, today enters the semi-final phase of training in the east-west gridiron classic here New Year's Day in which the brassy huskies of the University of Washington will be its foes.

As yet, scrimmaging has claimed no injuries and Coach Wallace Wade believes today's and tomorrow's workouts will put the finishing touches on the conditioning of his charges and that New Year's Day will find them in the pink condition for their task of upholding the eastern football glory.

Kept practically in seclusion, as their only appearance off the hotel grounds are the workouts at the Rose Bowl, the Alabamans enjoy no outing other than a walk about the grounds. They eat in a private dining room. Through the day they have four rest periods and go to bed early.

Although the huskies are favored, the Alabama crew, with weather in its favor, and weight advantages are gaining in popularity daily.

Predictions that Rose Bowl will be filled New Year's Day was made by R. C. Torrance, in charge of the game, who announced that 35,000 tickets already have been sold and another 15,000 are believed certain to be sold before the whistle blows, which will pack the bowl to capacity.

pleted, it is understood that a large part of this equipment, which cannot be used on the canal in winter, will be sent to Florida for local traffic, to supplement the coastwise ships.

Further announcement has been made by the Munson Line that the steamship MUNAMAR will be placed on the Havana-New Orleans route this winter. The MUNAMAR is now being reconditioned, and has had two additional staterooms and ten new staterooms installed, giving accommodations for 150 first class passengers. The liner will sail from New York late this month to inaugurate the new service with a sailing from Havana on January 1. A weekly schedule, with departures from Havana every Tuesday and from New Orleans every Saturday, will be maintained thereafter.

Starting with the departure of the company's line MUNARGO from New York on December 19, the MUNARGO will maintain a weekly schedule between that port and Nassau.

These additional services to South Atlantic and Gulf ports, according to officials of the company, are due to the greatly increased demands for both passenger and freight space.

It is expected that in addition to the heavy tourist traffic to Florida the company will also do a large business this winter to and from Nassau, where elaborate plans have been made in connection with the New Colonial Hotel for a brilliant social season.

A group of prominent New York merchants have organized the Royal Nassau Sailing Club and have ordered twelve 14-foot boats. These are being completed at Nassau from designs by C. S. & H. H. H. A series of races will be held there starting after the Christmas season.

ber and January. Beginning with the departure of the liner from Miami on February 4, the MUNARGO will make three round trips weekly until the end of March, after which there will be two voyages a week for the remainder of the Nassau season.

The MUNARGO is 840 feet long 42 feet beam, of 5500 displacement tons, and makes a speed of 16 knots. The company has announced a new schedule of minimum fares for the service—$24 for a one-way trip and $45 for the round voyage. The MUNARGO has accommodations for 150 first class.

In addition to the Miami-Nassau service, the Munson Line has established a regular freight line between Baltimore and Miami, which began with the departure of the steamship MUNBONIA from Baltimore on December 8. Sailings will be maintained regularly every two weeks between these two ports.

The Munson Line recently purchased a controlling interest in the New York & Great Lakes Corporation, operating a fleet of 50 barges and 30 canal steamboats on the New York Barge Canal. While definite plans have 504 7th Street

Blazing "Fire Ball" Visible In East; Falls Near Ottawa

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP)—A blazing meteorite or "fire ball," which flashed out of the East across New York and New England yesterday leaving in its wake a trail of signs that another dead comet had paid the earth a visit, is believed to have fallen near Ottawa, Canada.

Ralph DeFeber, astronomer, said he would attempt to locate it today.

Reports that a comet was abroad in the heavens was spread by thousands who saw the flaming trail left in the murky early evening sky and mistook it for a comet's tail. Scientists along the route asserted it was only a meteor or perhaps a "fire ball" whose appearances are frequent.

It was scarcely more luminous than the stars when it appeared over New York City about 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Soon reports came that it had flashed over northern and central New York.

Scientists at the Harvard observatory were inclined to believe that the illumination was a "fire ball" rather than a meteor.

Wife of James G. Thompson Found Trapped in Fire

MOBILE, Ala., Dec. 30.—(AP)—James G. Thompson, secretary of the National Football League, was found trapped in the ruins of his home today after a fire early this morning had destroyed the residence.

J. Frank Stevens, secretary of the club, was painfully rescued when he leaped for his life from the third floor after he had discovered the fire. Clyde Kelly, assistant secretary, saved his life by jumping from the burning building. He was trapped but broke through the flames.

Stevens declared he had heard what he thought was Campbell calling for help when the fire awakened him. He attempted to reach the golf professional's quarters to revive him, but found he could not. He then jumped to safety.

and that is why Miami Shores sold more property in the short twelve months they have been in operation than they expected to have sold in four or five years.

That is why folks who analytically appraise property and its values on the basis of natural location, line of travel, accessibility, have chosen MIAMI SHORES.

That is why MIAMI SHORES sales and resales records are many times the best first year's records that any development project in the South has made.

This is why all of our resales have been made at a decided profit for our clients and that is why these clients have come right back again and bought increasing quantities of MIAMI SHORES properties.

That is why, when after two or three or four year's additional development has been completed, the then magnificent MIAMI SHORES, by virtue also of its magnificent naturally advantageous location, will bring about the composite superior project that MIAMI SHORES is destined to be.

NEW STATE SOIL MAP NOW READY FOR MAILING OUT

Recently Prepared By State Geologists, Map is Under Supervision of Agriculture Department For Issuance

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Dec. 29.—(P)—Members of the State Geological Survey recently prepared a generalized soil map of Florida on a scale of one to a million, or about 16 miles to the inch, in color, and the map is now ready for distribution from the Department of Agriculture, without charge.

Although there are probably 100 or more different kinds of soil in Florida, it was explained by the survey workers, most of them are in such small patches that it would be impossible to show them on a map of the whole state. The map just published, however, assembles them in seven groups, separating the wet and dry, rich and poor, calcareous and non-calcareous, and so forth. The fertility, it was announced, is indicated indirectly by brief statements of the prevailing vegetation and the percentage of cultivation.

The agricultural department bore most of the expense of printing the map, and most of the edition will be distributed by that office.

The rapid influx of settlers into Florida in recent years has created an insistent demand for information about the soil of the state, which heretofore has never been adequately supplied. The principal varieties of soil have been described only in a general way, and in certain specific terms. Besides a few soil provinces maps of the whole United States, or a large part, two generalized maps of Florida's soil have been published, one by the U. S. Census office in 1884, and the other by the state experiment station. Both, however, were on a small scale.

FRIDIA HEMPEL TO FIND REMAINS OF RACE WHICH LIVED IN UNITED STATES 2,000 YEARS AGO

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 30.—(P)—The story of the Basket Makers, a race believed to have lived in the United States sometime 2,000 years before the Christian era, is told by Dr. E. H. Renaud, professor of anthropology of the University of Denver.

In a paper prepared for the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, which meets here December 31-January 2, Dr. Renaud says this ancient people harried by an implacable foe, were forced to take refuge in islands, rocky coasts, deserts and very cold climates.

Acheology, he says, recognizes two main cultures in the Southwest, the older, that of the so-called Basket Makers, and the more recent, that of the Pueblo Cliff Dwellers. The Cliff Dwellers, he explains, deformed their skulls in the rear. The Basket Makers did not.

Prehistoric remains of the Basket Makers have been found either along marginal zones (coasts or islands) or in places of refuge (islands, rocky coasts, deserts or very cold climate).

"This," says the scientist, "New York City has more than 21,000 telephone operators."

Frieda Hempel To Find Remains Of Race Which Lived In United States 2,000 Years Ago

HAMBURG, Dec. 29.—(P)—The "spirit of Locarno" has been extended to Frieda Hempel, the prima donna who aroused the ire of the Germans by singing on behalf of the Liberty Loan in America during the world war.

Arrangements have been made for her to appear next year in a concert and operatic tour of the leading cities of Germany.

The Germans raucous the fact that Mrs. Hempel, although of German birth, supported the American side of the war. She was therefore persona non grata with musical patriots, which forced her to arrange concerts for her last there—be hostile demonstrations.

Mrs. Hempel's point of view was that America was the land of her adoption and that there was nothing else for her to do except to side with America.

The spirit of reconciliation of which Locarno is a political manifestation is also at work in artistic circles.

The principal varieties of soil have been described only in a general way, and in certain specific terms. Besides a few soil provinces maps of the whole United States, or a large part, two generalized maps of Florida's soil have been published, one by the U. S. Census office in 1884, and the other by the state experiment station. Both, however, were on a small scale.

Hundreds Die In Rumanian Floods

VIENNA, Austria, Dec. 30.—(P)—Hundreds of lives have been lost in floods along the Rumanian frontier, say dispatches received here from Torda. The floodwaters are declared to be sweeping bodies and debris through the streets of that city.

A tragic case is told of a family of five who took refuge on the roof of their home only to be forced off by fire which broke out in the upper story. All were drowned.

AGED JOURNALIST AND DIPLOMAT DIES

DAYTONA, Dec. 30.—(P)—Luther Short, 80, journalist and diplomat, died in a local hospital here today.

Rheumatism of the heart, a disease from which he had suffered for years, was said to be the cause of his death.

He was a member of the U. C. V. and a 33rd degree mason. No immediate relatives survive. The remains will be interred at Franklin, Ind.

FRIDIA HEMPEL TO FIND REMAINS OF RACE WHICH LIVED IN UNITED STATES 2,000 YEARS AGO

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 30.—(P)—The story of the Basket Makers, a race believed to have lived in the United States sometime 2,000 years before the Christian era, is told by Dr. E. H. Renaud, professor of anthropology of the University of Denver.

In a paper prepared for the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, which meets here December 31-January 2, Dr. Renaud says this ancient people harried by an implacable foe, were forced to take refuge in islands, rocky coasts, deserts and very cold climates.

Acheology, he says, recognizes two main cultures in the Southwest, the older, that of the so-called Basket Makers, and the more recent, that of the Pueblo Cliff Dwellers. The Cliff Dwellers, he explains, deformed their skulls in the rear. The Basket Makers did not.

Prehistoric remains of the Basket Makers have been found either along marginal zones (coasts or islands) or in places of refuge (islands, rocky coasts, deserts or very cold climate).

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

BY CHARLES F. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—As the Senate passes the bill to amend the law, so as to allow foreign hired girls to be employed on a non-quota basis, it is a good deal of interest in Congress.

People get so very old and so very young every day, even in the most prosperous American households.

Right at this point the bill's critics raise an objection. The girls virtually would be bond servants for those three years, they argue. Prevent a girl, for three years, from rising in life, if capable of it. "Wholly un-American!" exclaim the critics.

Nor do the bill's opponents believe a mere reduction in wages, even assuming its desirability, would solve the servant girl problem.

The skeptics have an idea that the cost of housing a hired girl and keeping her in edibles would be prohibitive, except to the comparatively wealthy, regardless of her wages.

Yale University's new Peabody Museum displays this skeleton of a gigantic tortoise, the largest turtle that ever lived. A member of the museum staff is shown beside it. One of the turtle's feet is gone. The evidence, scientists say, is that this foot was chewed off by a giant lizard some time before the turtle's death.

Loch Arbor

A country club property of lakes and hills

---beauty that enhances profit

When Nature was creating the magnificent residential section in which Loch Arbor is situated, she seemed to single out Loch Arbor for an abundant measure from her chalice of beauty. Lovers of Nature—and those who seek a property that would surround their home with beauty—could not conceive of such beauty so near the city, with its hum-drum din and confusion.

Such virtues and advantages are sure to make an irresistible appeal to the seekers of fine homesites in the near future. It is then that wise buyers who had vision to invest in Loch Arbor now—before that inevitable rise in values—will make appreciable profits.

The Country Club Entrance Section will be formally announced in the very near future. Watch closely for this announcement—in the meantime familiarize yourself with the improvement program that is now being carried on over the entire development. Have a courteous representative accompany you to the property that every improvement can be explained to detail.
