Seminole's Old Fashioned 4th Is Coming

By Jane Casselberry Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County residents will celebrate the Fourth of July with a bang in spite of cancellations at other places because of insurance problems. Sanford and Oviedo are two of the locations in Central Florida where there will plenty of pyrotechnics.

The fireworks display in Sanford is scheduled to go off at dusk, climaxing a day of family festivities in Fort Mellon Park being put on by the city Parks and Recreation department and the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

Free hot air balloon rides and a re-enactment of a Civil War battle will be featured at 12, 2, 4 and 6 p.m. The day's activities begin at 11 a.m.

Dorts Mager, the Eagle Lady, will have Lirds of prey on display at Ft. Mellon Park from 6 until 7:30 p.m. At 7 p.m.,

There will be performances by the Dixieland Cloggers and the Sanford Gymnastic Association. Radio station Z14 will broadcast live from the park and a team from the station will challenge local notables in a softball

City Recreation personnel will be in charge of games for children of all ages. such as water balloon toss and sack races. There will be a "moon walk", and a variety of food, drink and game booths operated by local organizations.

In conjunction with the celebration, the Henry S. Sanford Museum and Library, located at the park, will honor a local hero, the late Maj. General Joseph C. Hutchison. He served in World Wars ! and II and accepted the surrender of Japanese General Morozomi in the Phillipines in World War II. There will be she will give a talk on the American Bald an exhibit of his military artifacts open to the public from 2-4 p.m. Friday. Deane Smith of DeLand will have a display of fossils and Indian relics.

In Oviedo festivities begin at 11 a.m. with a barbecue, entertainment, games and contests in downtown Oviedo. The fire department is sponsoring the event including the fireworks display at dusk.

The traditional Skyblast at the Altamonte Mall was cancelled this year when the city was unable to get the necessary liability insurance coverage.

in Orlando the action will center around Lake Eola where an oldfashioned Picnic in the Park is scheduled beginning at 9 a.m. with a children's parade. There will be a fishing derby, volleyball tournament, canoe races, mini-olympics, crafts demonstrations, pony and train rides, food and entertainment. Fireworks will climax the festivities.

The Altamonte Springs Letter Carriers

will hold an All-American Dunk for Dystrophy at Flea World on Highway 17-92. Sanford, July 5 and 6. Mayor Larry Goldberg of Longwood will be in the dunking marchine at noon Sunday; Mayor Dick Fess of Lake Mary at 2 p.m. followed by Lake Mary Police Chief Lauderdale. Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith will be there at 3 and Sanford Postmaster Don Moore will be in the hot seat at 3:10. Other postmasters and postal supervisors from around the area will also participate.

There will be fireworks at the Mercado Festival Center on International Drive in Orlando. The public can view the fireworks from the field between Mercado and the Orlando Marriott.

There will also be a fireworks display at Lee Vista Center on State Road 436 north of the Bee Line Friday night.

In Kissimmee it will be Silver Spurs Rodeo time at 2:30 p.m. Friday: 7 p.m., Saturday; and 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Kutun, who billed himself as the leading conservative Democrat in the race and had been sharply critical of Pajcic for his liberal record, said he had come to understand and support Pajeic's views. Kutun said he had accomplished his campaign goals of spotlighting crime fighting and drug abuse and making sure south Florida's problems would be tended to by the eventual gavernor.

"I think Barry Kutun would have made a great governor, but I know Steve Pajcic will make a great governor," Kutun said. He has the strongest platform of anyone to fight crime, and he has the vision to represent south Florida and all of Florida."

Financier Plans Leasing Mayfair

By Karen Talley Herald Staff Writer

Sanford entrepreneur Stan Sandefur said today he will purchase the lease to operate the city of Sanford-owned Mayfair golf course and country club if he and the facility's manager. Jack Daniels, can strike a sales agreement.

Sandefur said Mayfair would be operated through his development corporation, Sandefur perties inc., which is head-artered on East First Sirvet in Sanford. Daniels, who could conongoing city commission investigation determines he has violated its terms, has declined to comment on the possible sale.

City Commissioner John Mercer, who prompted the commission's probe, said "It would be great" if Sandefur purchased the Mayfair lease.

Sandefur, a Sanford native. said he "would love" to operate the facility and plans to formally contact Daniels to begin purchase discussions as follow-up to the preliminary contacts the two have already had through phone calls and correspondance.

Sandefur said negotiations will begin at the $2 million mark Daniels has set for the lease. Sandefur said he will look into the course's annual patronage and revenues before making a counter offer.

Sanford officials learned Daniels had put the lease up for sale in March, soon after beginning their investigation into his compliance with its terms.

Packard Commission Completes Report On Defense Spending

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The furor over $535 hammers and $640 tollet seats has led a presidential commission to recommend the Pentagon rely on the defense industry to police itself to protect taxpayer dollars from waste and

Industrialist David Packard, chairman of the Commission on Defense Management, said Wednesday that extensive government audits, investigations and reviews have mired Pentagon procurement functions in red tape

Rather than subject contractors to constant fear of harassment or prosecution, Packard proposed that the industry police itself to atreamline the process and improve what he described as a tarnished public image.

While that sounds to some like wishful thinking against the backdrop of Pentagon horror stories of the last several years, Packard maintained, "There are things a lot more important than profits to people in business.

U.S. Searches For Trade Pacts

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The United States, hoping to defuse a trade war on two fronts, announced a truce with the Common Market over agricultural exports and negotiated down to the wire with the Japanese over semiconductor chips.

President Reagan, in a statement Wednesday, said a "provisional agreement" had been reached to keep European agricultural markets open to U.S. exports. The announcement temporarily put on hold Reagan's threat to retaliate against European wine and food exports.

Meanwhile, U.S. and Japanese negotiators in Washington, facing a midnight deadline, continued intense negotiations Wednesday on a pact to ensure U.S. semiconductor chips more access to Japanese markets.

No Jail For Sanctuary Members

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) - Although eight Sanctuary Movement activists were convicted of smuggling aliens into the United States, they have avoided prison and may have won a partial victory in their battle to obtain asylum for Central Americans.

After the last of the defendants were sentenced Wednesday, a top Immigraton and Naturalization Service official said the agency would investigate charges that Central Americans fleeing their strife-torn countries are unfairly denied the status of refugee.

U.S. District Judge Earl H. Carroll, who could have sentenced all eight to prison terms, urged the Sanctuary Movement to work within the system, and urged immigration authorities to be fair when considering applications for asylum.

Police Station Bombed As Botha Appeals For Moderation

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) - A bomb exploded outside a Cape Town police station early today, injuring two police officers and damaging the building. witnesses and officials said.

Witnesses said the explosion at the Mowbray police station occurred at about 7:30 a.m. as heavy rush-hour traffic streamed by on a nearby main road. Traffic officers closed the road soon after the blast - the 12th since the government imposed a nationwide state of emergency June 12.

The blast came a day after President Pieter Botha, facing a threat of nationwide strikes over the detention of black trade union leaders, called on moderate blacks to "join me in negotiations and peace."

Botha's appeal coincided with an ultimatum from the 650,000-member, largely black Congress of South African Trade Unions, which threatened to stage nationwide strikes unless leaders detained under the state of emergency are freed by July 10.

Supreme Court OK s Affirmative Action

that affirmative action plans affirmative action programs. may only benefit actual victims of discrimination, gave sweeping approval Wednesday to programs to help blacks and other minorities get jobs

An exuberant civil rights leader called the court rulings an 'overwhelming repudiation" of the affirmative action stand taken by President Reagan and some of his top aides.

The high court, in a pair of rulings in cases from Cleveland and New York, endorsed wideranging affirmative action plans covering both promotions and hiring - and including specific numerical quotas and timetables

In an opinion by Justice William Brennan, the oldest and most liberal member of the nation's highest tribunal, the court said federal courts may "in appropriate cases, provide relief ... that benefits individuals who were not the actual victims of a defendant's discriminatory practices." That view was a direct rejection of the adminstration's arguments that such plans could only be used to aid those who could prove they have been victims of discrimination.

"The purpose of affirmative action is not to make identified victims whole, but rather to dismantle prior patterns of employment discrimination and to prevent discrimination in the future," Brennan said in the New York case.

Such relief is provided to the class as a whole rather than to individual members ... and beneficiaries need not show that they were themselves victims of discrimination."

The New York case involved a court order that a specific percentage of minority group members be enrolled in a union apprenticeship program by a specific time. In the Cleveland case, the plan called for a one-for-one promotion of whites and minorities

The Justice Department. which had urged the court to strike down the affirmative action plans as discriminating against whites, withheld immediate comment. Attorney General Edwin Meese was expected to be questioned about the ruling Wednesday at a news conference that had been scheduled earlier.

House spokesman, said simply, capsized boat in Louisiana.

Blood On The Path

Alan Garcia was the shining light of Peru. Young, democratic and a Socialist, Garcia symbolized an alternate path for Latin America. While other Latin presidents made painful domestic cuts to satisfy the International Monetary Fund, Garcia said Peruvians came first and the lenders second. His charisma attracted foreign leaders to the meeting of the Socialist International in Lima this week.

But the guerillas of Sendero Luminoso -Shining Path - had other plans. They wanted to embarrass Garcia before his fellow Socialists. Ultimately, they want to overthrow democracy in Peru. So the guerillas staged a prison revolt. Using smuggled guns, they took over prisons.

After minimal negotiations and under pressure of time before the Socialist meeting. Garcia threw up his hands. He ordered the military to quell the prison revolt.

The military, itching to get back at the guerillas, quelled it all right. They massacred every Sendero Luminoso prisoner in one prison. When some 60 guerillas surrendered with their hands behind their heads, the military slaughtered them in cold blood. Guerillas had tunneled under one prison. The military attacked with anti-tank guns and the tunnels collapsed, burying prisoners. When the smoke cleared over the charnel houses, the official death toll was 154. Human rights groups estimate 250 prisoners were killed.

The guerillas retaliated by bombing buildings around Lima. A women guerilla was blown up while aiming a bomb at the building where the Socialists were meeting.

Shaken, Garcia called for independent investigations. World Socialists wrung their

But it was too late now to wash the blood from Peru. The violence radicalized the main opposition party and shook Peruvian democ-

Garcia had read up on Socialist rhetoric. But he had not learned the lessons of Attica, of Philadelphia and Bogota. In the Attica prison revolt, the Philadelphia "Move" bombing and the Bogota Supreme Court massaere, political leaders relied on police and troops - not negotiation - to dislodge armed insurrections. The massive use of force ended up killing not only the insurrectionists but also innocents, as well as shaking political institutions.

Sendero Luminoso lost key leaders and many guerillas. But it won a crucial battle in provoking democracy to act like a dictatorship. When the rule of law is replaced with the rule of violence, guerillas are fighting on their own turf.

Peru's shining light president is drenched in the blood of Sendero Luminoso. But the Shining Path offers no hope to the Peruvian people, not only an endless revolution led by Maoist ideologues.

Instead of smiling charismatically for the cameras, García must hold his country together. He must punish soldiers who killed prisoners. He must also wage the war against the guerillas. With guns. With negotiation. With law, the shining light of rhetoric is not enough to defeat the problems of Peru, still agonizing centuries after the Spanish Conquest. The United States, which has witnessed its own prison massacres, should stand behind democracy in Peru in its time of

Give Me Liberty Or Give Me Bartholdi

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I confess it. I have a chance to make good on that vow never set foot on Bedloe's Island nor been inside So take it from me. No bare-legged git the Statue of Liberty. Ideally, I suppose, a Miss Liberty look-alike would be strong enough to hold a torch over her head, have her own patina and resemble in countenance a French sculptor's mother.

The mother of Frederic Auguste Bartholdi. who designed the Statue of Liberty, is said to have been the model for the face.

As to who was model for the figure, I wouldn't even guess, but you know how those French artists are. Englishmen, too, for that matter.

Whistler's Mother immediately coomes to mind. This much I can tell you: Miss Liberty does not show her legs, wear nail polish or have white stripes left by swim suit straps on her suntanned shoulders.

That I know from long-distance viewing of the statue from Manhattan Island and from having once sailed off to war from New York Harbor.

On the latter occasion, I promised protection for Miss Liberty and now, almost 40 years later.

So take it from me. No bare-legged girls need apply for the job of Miss Liberty's look-alike. Me and of Ron Smith of Los Angeles, who has been running a series of regional contests around the country, will see to that.

To refresh your memory, the statue was given to the United States by France in 1884 as an expression of friendship. Joanne Aaront of Greenbelt, Md., a regional finalist, seemed friendly enough, I might add.

Some of the other contestants were short skirts, robes with bare midriffs and gloves. But Aaront told me she didn't consider the competition unfair.

Since the entrants were judged on "creativity," as well as "personality" and "attractiveness," all costumes were well within the contest rules, she said.

The judges, incidentally, were mostly celebrity look-alikes ranging from a clone of John Belushi to replicas of Linda Evans. Tina Turner

Smith, who was in charge, said he would reserve final judgment for himself. That he went for Aaront was obvious. Maybe her costume was more huddled than the others.

Now about patina, a greenish coating caused by oxidation. Possibly Aaront's was the wrong color. She had painted her face and hair silver rather than green.

At that, it was superior of that of the California representative, Cheryl Willis of San Diego.

According to her photograph, Willia appeared skin-colored in the regional contest and also wore lipstick and earrings, three Miss Liberty

Also, in photographs of regional winners I have seen, the contestants were holding the lamp too low to qualify for a deodorant commercial, must less a Miss Liberty look-alie.

It may be, with Lee lacocca's restoration project, that Miss Liberty is now more silvery than greenish. Even so, Aaront didn't look a thing like Bartholdi's mother.

She didn't greatly resemble lacocca either,

Action Against Terrorism

By Ronald de Valderano

LONDON - It is difficult to digest the universal condemnation of the South African raid Into Botswana. Zimbabwe and Zambia. The condemnation voiced by Kenneth Kuanda of Zambia is particularly disturbing when he admits that he supports the African National Congress (ANC) whose forays of terroism are launched from Zambia. The Soviet ambassador to Zambia has long been known to provide directives and active assistance to the ANC.

That Robert Mugabe, the Marxist ruler of Zimbabwe, should give all facilities in Zimbabwe is hardly surprising in that he openly admits that the destruction of the South African Government is his ultimate ambition.

As regards Botswana, it certainly doesn't have the means, even if it should wish to do so, to control the movement of ANC guerillas through its territory or to prevent the existence of small guerilla encampments.

One of the principles of the United Nations gives all countries the right of self-defense. This clause was evoked by the United States, and also cited by Britain, as the legal justification of the American raid on Libya. Certainly, Zambia's Kuanda and Zimbabwe's Mugabe are not in the same class of international meddlers and sponsors of terrorism as is Libya's Gadaffi. They do not train thousands of terrorists to be used in all the surrounding countries. In fact, neither Zambia nor Zimbabwe openly and officially train terrorists, although there are confirmed reports of Zambian Army units engaged in such activities. What neither Zambia nor "...nbabwe will deny, however, is that they harbor, shelter, and give aid and succour to the ANC headquarters in their terroritories; and plan and launch raids from these headquarters with the full approval of the Zambian and Zimbabwian authorities. That these ANC terrorists are concentrated against a single country - South Africa does not place them in any special category. They are terrorists, pure and simple, who bomb, lay mines and murder as other terrorists do.

If Zambia, Zimbabwe, Botswana or any other country provides such terrorist gangs with bases, permitting them to carry on their activities and actually approving of and encouraging their activities, then those countries are adding and abetting terrorism and should not whine when South Africa, acting in defense of its territory and citizens. attacks ANC offices, bases and encampments.

Nixon On The Move

Being an ex-president doesn't, all by itself, keep a person very busy, but Richard Nixon isn't letting any grass grow under his feet. The former chief executive is often in the public eye these days, making speeches, traveling here and there, writing books or being interviewed. He wouldn't be Nixon, however, if he didn't also have a secret project

Currently his biggest such project is to expand this country's relations with Communist China into a fullfledged treaty of alliance. In addition to the scheme's merits (if any), the point is that, if it succeeds, history will presumably look more fondly on Nixon than it currently does, since it was in his administration that "detente" with Peking began

Even an ex-president, however, has to operate through people currently holding key positions if he wants to influence current U.S. policies. Luckily. Nixon not long ago managed to insert a dependable friend in exactly the right slot in the State Department Nixon's point man in State is Richard H. Solomon, Solomon, who received his doctorate from MIT in 1966, is a specialist in Chinese affairs and speaks the language. From 1966 to 1971, he was a professor of political science at the University of Michigan, and it was there that he wrote his first book: "Mao's Revolution and the Chinese Political Culture.

It may have been that book that called Solomon to Nixon's attention.

At any rate, Solomon's rise thereafter was swift. In 1971, he received a grant from the Council on Foreign Relations to serve as an international affairs fellow. And in that same year President Nixon, who of course had already embarked on his own romance with Communist China, moved Solomon onto the staff of the National Security Council as senior staff member for Asian affairs.

Solomon accompanied Nixon on his trip to Peking in January 1972. and continued in his key NSC job through the rest of the Nixon and Ford administrations. In 1976 he moved to the Rand Corp., becoming director of its research program on international security policy.

It was not until January 1985 that Nixon found another suttable spot in government for his protege. In that month, after the usual Nixonian backstairs maneuvers. Solomon was appointed director of the policy planning staff of the Department of State. In that post today, he is one of the former president's most influential operatives on the subject of U.S. policy toward China.

In particular, Nixon and Solomon are urging the State Department to pressure the Nationalist Chinese government on Taiwan to engage in direct talks with Peking - on postal matters, on customs, on almost anything that could break the ice and lead eventually to a political solution of what the Communists call "the Taiwan problem."

They Do Read The Mail

By Robert Shepard

WASHINGTON (UPI) - "Write your congressman," a tactic so often recommended to disgruntled citizens, really is worthwhile, says a former congressman, especially if it is done well.

Orval Hansen, former representative from Idaho, made an in-depth study of congressional mail and concluded that, indeed, writing your congressman can be effective. Hansen warns, however, that quality is more important than quantly in communicating with members of the House of Representatives.

Hansen's research on the matter of congressional mail was the basis for a doctoral dissertation that recently earned him a Ph.D. at George Washington University.

"For all practical purposes, mail is the only channel available to all citizens who seek to communicate with their representatives in Congress," Hansen notes. Since 1972, the volume of mail sent to members of the House has increased dramatically. Hansen learned. In 1985 alone, House members received some 200 million pieces of mail. Hansen suggests the mail boom is the result of advances in communication technology and the growth of grass roots lobbying activities.

Despite the flood, however, Hansen says House members generally manage to keep up with their mail, in part by reading it personally and with reports prepared by their staff. Hansen would calm the fears of those who suspect much of the mail never gets beyond staff members. and is never seen by the addressee. "In processing the mail, the staff serves primarily as a conduit rather than as a filter," he reports.

Hansen's study points to several elements that make mail more effective. Most important is that the letter writer should know what he is talking about and "reflect informed optnion.

A lawmaker also is more likely to pay attention if the writer is affected in a direct or personal way by the issue being discussed. Hansen

A member's own experience and knowledge of the subject raised in the letter also is a factor. Those who have a record of past votes or expertise on an issue are less likely to be influenced by what constituents say in their letters.

A tactic popular with organized groups is to hand out form letters to their members who in turn send the letters to members of congress.

Doubts, Problems, Delay Project

By Jack Anderson And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON - The six year. multimillion dollar effort to build a new American Embassy in Cairo is a near-perfect symbol of the United States' on again, off-again Middle East policy: hagridden by doubts. beset by fear of offending, hopelessly hesitant.

Like U.S. policy, the embassy project began with the best of intentions. It was originally to be a gleaming 20-story tower - modest by the standards of Chicago's or Manhattan's modern-day pyramid builders, but certainly impressive in the low, drab skyline of Cairo.

There was no doubt of the need for a new and larger embassy. In the aftermath of the Camp David accords - and the billions in U.S. aid that were the price of the agreement

- the U.S. mission in Cairo quickly grew to more than 1,000 people. one of the biggest American outposts in the world. Embassy employees scattered in smaller buildings all over Cairo would be brought together in a single, efficient office building.

But second thoughts soon came into Foggy Bottom on little cat feet. following attacks on American embassies in Tehran. Islamabad and Tripolt, and the assassination of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in

The doubters wondered if an imposing high-rise embassy would 1) present too tempting a target for terrorists, and 2) offend sensitive Egyptians. A senior diplomat in the Cairo embassy wrote a memo to Washington titled: "Why I Oppose the Proposed Chancery Plan." The anguished memo read in part:

"An 18- to 20-story tower... (is) inappropriate to a low profile U.S. government official presence in Egypt. Following the assassination. of President Sadat, it is especially important to be discreet. We must be especially sensitive not to appear to be 'pulling .he strings' on a puppet government in Egypt."

The 20-story tower "would be a visible symbol of an overwhelming U.S. presence," the diplomat contimued. "It could be at best a subject of public comment and ridicule ... and at worst a potential lightning tod for demonstrations or more serious problems."

The bureaucrats in Washington chewed their nails for a while and decided the embassy man was right: The building should be lower. They decided that 16 stories would be compatible with the desired low profile, and bids were invited.

An Egyptian contractor was chosen in 1982. The embassy would cost about $27 million, and be finished by January 1986

It soon became obvious that the contractor wasn't up to the task. State Department and General Accounting Office documents obtained by our associate Lucette Lagnado listed the "classic signs" of troublesubcontractors and workers complaining of not being paid, a halt to the contractor's contributions to Egyptian social security, and a noticeable slowdown in actual con-

By the time the State Department finally fired the contractor, in January 1985, there was only a three- to four-story shell of a building. A department official explained that it had taken a long time to gather the documentation needed to cancel the contract without a legal

Court's Sodomy Opinion Has Little Local Effect

From Staff and Wire Reports A Supreme Court ruling Monday stating homosexuals do not have a right to engage in sodomy will make little difference in enforcement of Florida's laws, local officials say. The Supreme Court, in a major defeat for homosexuals seeking sexual equality, ruled Monday the Constitution does not include a fundamental right to practice sodomy. The narrow 5-4 ruling brought a storm of protest from homosexual groups already beleagured by fears about the spread of AIDS, the deadly acquired immune deficiency syndrome that currently claims a preponderance of homosexuals among its victims.

"I can't see that it is going to be a big deal for us." said can be punished by 20 years in Captain Roy Hughey of the prison. Hardwick was not pro-Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

"I cannot recall when we have ever charged anyone with sodomy, If anything, it would be lewd and lascivious assault," he said.

Under Florida law sodomy is referred to under the category of unnatural and lascivious acts in jail. Georgia law defined the act as oral and or anal sex.

Lt. Richard Berry of the Altamonte Springs police department said such arrests in the past involving such behavior was charged under lewd and lascivious laws. He said those instances have occurred in public places, such as bathrooms, and were looked into because of complaints.

He said to his knowledge the department has not received any complaints stemming from such behavior within a residence. Berry said if the department started receiving such complaints, the incidents would evaluated separately for possible action.

While the decision affects all U.S. citizens, homosexual groups have protested vigorously about the ruling.

The decision is as bad as it possibly could have been," said Roberta Achtenberg, an attorney for the Lesbian Rights Project of San Francisco.

The ruling "allows Big Brother

Nan Hunter, director of the American Civil Liberties Union's Lesbian-Gay Rights Project.

Thomas Stoddard, executive director of the Lambda Legal Defense and Education Fund in New York, a homosexual rights group, said, "Twenty-five years from now this will be viewed as the Dred Scott case of the gay rights movement," a reference to the 1857 high court ruling that blacks were not citizens.

He said, however, efforts will continue to decriminalize sodomy in those areas of the country where it remains illegal.

The court upheld Georgia's anti-sodomy law in a case begun by Michael Hardwick, who was arrested by Atlanta police for violating the law, an offense that secuted, but used his arrest as a chance to go to federal court to have the law overturned.

The state had asked the high court to void a ruling by the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that ordered a trial on whether the law, which applies to all people and makes oral and anal sex a crime, was unconstituand is punishable by six months tional. As a result of Monday's ruling, no trial will be held and the law will stay on the books.

Underlying the legal issue of whether the case should go to trial was the broader question of how far the constitutional right to privacy, gleaned from various provisions of the Bill of Rights. extends into the bedrooms of America.

On that point, New York Attorney General Robert Abrams criticized the decision as "a gross invasion of the privacy rights of all Americans. The court is allowing states to criminalize conduct engaged in by millions of Americans — married and unmarried, heterosexual and homosexual.

The court, which has extended the right to privacy to lasues relating to marriage and child bearing and rearing, refused to extend it to homosexual activity.

None of the rights announced in those cases bears any resemblance to the claimed constitutional right of homosexuals to engage in acts of sodomy that is asserted in this case," Justice to police the bedrooms of mil- Byron White said for the majori-

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor Duane LaFollette, who wasn't real pleased with the way his Moose team performed Tuesday night. has just two words for Knights Columbus prior to tonight's championship battle for the Sanford Junior League City Series.

'Mike Merthie.' LaFollette, who guided Moose to the first-half championship, calls Merthie the best pitcher in the Junior League and he thinks the 14-year-old righthander will be the difference tonight at 6 when Moose and KOC collide at Chase Park.

"They have to beat Mike Merthie," LaFoliette said after Tuesday's 16-8 loss to KOC. "That's all you have to

Not many teams have beaten Merthie this year. The slim righthander, who also catches, picked up the nickname "Dr. K" by posting double-figure strikeout totals just about every time he was handed the ball. He posted a 10-2 record.

If Merthic has a nemesis, however, he will face it tonight in Knights of Columbus righthander Anton "Mr. K" Reid. With both pitchers possessing live fastballs which usually leave the hits ters swinging at air, tonight's "Special K" showdown should be a classic confrontation.

Moose, which posted a 17-3 overall record, has played KOC five times during the regular season and two times this week. During the regular season, Merthie whipped KOC four times against one loss. He also beat the Knights Monday, although he wasn't as sharp as normal. KOC

Pigfish Grunts Are Sweet Music For 'Splatterpolers'

What does the word pigfish conjure up in your mind? Some fishermen might think that someone is trying to insult their vast and profound knowledge of fishing. Others might guess that it is a fat, gluttonous fish that eats anything smaller

Believe it or not, pigfish do exist, and many serious trout fishermen eagerly await the summer months when these fish mature to three-five inch size. These strange little fish have a sloped head and bright orange spots on their backs. They inhabit the inland saltwater rivers of Florida and live in grassy areas where they can feed and hide in relative safety.

The pigfish doesn't derive its name from its shape or eating habits, but from the grunting sounds that it makes. Pigfish grunt when they are under stress, and the grunting is like ringing a dinner bell to gator trout.

Commercial "splatterpolers" were the first fishermen to discover the effectiveness of this baitfish many years ago. Luckily for the trout population, not many splatterpolers still practice this deadly method of fishing (to watch one of these men in action is an educational experience).

Splatterpolers can be easily distinguished from other fishermen. They are the guys in the small. low-profile skiffs with the long fiberglass poles of 18-20 feet. The terminal rig of the long pole consists of a length of 50-60 pound monofilament line and a strong stainless steel hook.

Most of them either drift the river flats or anchor on the edges of holes. The long pole is used to keep the pigfish just off the bottom, where It cannot hide in the grass. When a trout hits, it is immediately pulled from the water and swung into the lap of the splatterpoler. He then hits the fish on the head with a kill stick and throws it into the fish box.

Splatterpolers are human vacuum cleaners, and sweep up any trout in the immediate area. As soon as the trout stop biting in one spot, they lift up their anchor and head for the next hole. These men sometimes fish 30-40 spots in a day and often catch hundreds of pounds of gator trout.

Pigfish are very popular baits in the Mosquito Lagoon area and in the Banana and Indian rivers. They can be purchased or caught in small traps similar to those used for crabs. These traps are batted with crushed crab and are dropped into small sandy holes in the grass flats. Pigfish enter the traps through a small funnel-shaped opening and become trapped.

Fishermen do well with pigfish along the edges of canals, in areas of mangroves, in grass flats, or around boat docks. A bobber is used to prevent the pigfish from hiding in the grass. Natural cork bobbers are recommended because trout often spook from a red and white bobber in shallow water.

There are two ways to hook a pigfish. depending upon the water depth. In shallow water of three feet or less, the pigfish should be hooked in the anal area. This keeps the pigfish swimming upwards. In deeper water, the pigfish is hooked in the dorsal area to make it dive down.

Pigilsh are very active for a short time after they are hooked. They grunt frequently and swim erratically, attracting any trout in the area. After two or three casts, it is recommended that the bait be replaced with a fresh one. The secret of trout fishing with pigfish is to keep a fresh, active balt on your hook.

Trout fishermen have learned to love the ugly pigfish. Its grunting is music to their ears and its annual appearance has become transformed in their eyes to that of Cinderella. After all, anything that catches trout like pigfish has to be beautiful.

BHUPE'S SCOOP - Pigfish can be caught on hook and line. Use a tiny hook and small bits of shrimp and crab on a light pole and fish around docks and bulkheads.

WEEKEND FORECAST — Ron Rawlins from Highland Park Fish Camp reports that bess are still hitting, but that fishermen have to get on the water early in the morning or late in the afternoon. Bream are active in Mud Lake and Lake Weakruif.

Deli Abernethy said that base are being caught in good numbers in spite of the heat around the Outcom Bridge Fish Camp. Plastic worms are pepular in the heaf of the summer. A lot of bream and catfish are still biting around the new bridge, Check with Dell for the latest hot Action at Schooling Inlet is primarily restricted to redfish, trout. Action at seasonal inter is primarity restricted to reditar, from, and flounder. The closure at shook season has put a damper on the fishing at this popular spot. A large finger mullet is hard to beat for sure strikes, but ligs and Mirreriures are also productive.

Offshore fishing at Port Canaveral is still red hot according to Captain Jack. Anglers are bringing in wahoo, dolphin, salifish, king mackeral, blacklin funa, and a few martin from 200-240 feet of water.

Scattered king mackeral are being caught on 8A and Pelican Flats. The See Witch and bellyhoe combination is the best all-around belt for most of these species. Redfish and front are still active in the flats of the Banese and Indian rivers. Use topwater plugs, Seasy Shads, or is ar Vs sunce gold or sliver spoons for the best results. Santini Task: Test Martina WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) - Martina Navratilova is still waiting for a challenge at Wimbledon and perhaps it will come from a ncophyte.

No. 10 seed Gabriela Sabatini, at 16 years and one month, will be Wimbledon's youngest semifinalist of this century when she takes the court against the six-time singles champion.

In the other women's semifinal. No 2 seed Chris Evert Lloyd will play No. 3 Hana Mandlikova of Czechoslovakia.

Sabatini, of Argentina, has never played Navratilova and believes the burden of proof will be on Navratilova.

"I've got nothing to lose against Martina. All the pressure will be on her. I will show a lot of heart, a lot of fight, and go out there to enjoy myself," said the teenager whose best weapons are her heavy top-spin groundstrokes

Sabatini has lost just two sets during her march to the semifinals, while the world's No. 1 ranked woman has not lost a set.

Navratiloya's five opponents have combined to win just 21 games, none winning more than six games in a match.

Her first four matches were against baseline specialists like Sabatini, but none had a ranking better than No. 106.

After beating Bettina Bunge in the quarterfinals, the confident Navratilova said, "I dominated on my serve. If I serve like that, everything's so easy. It's like Borts Becker, there's no defense against it."

Evert Lloyd and Mandlikova will meet for the 25th time, the American holding a 19-5 edge.

Proclaiming herself to be in "the best condition of my career," Evert Lloyd at 31 says she now plays "some matches better than I've ever played and some not as good as I should."

Pursuing her fourth Wimbledon title, the Floridian has dropped two sets in five matches. Evert Lloyd has won each of the Grand Slam

Orlando Jumps Into NBA Race NEW YORK (UPI) - A group of investors from Orlando formally applied for an NBA franchise Wednesday, presenting league commissioner David Stern with a check for $100,000. Others to apply for a team include Miami.

Charlotte, N.C., Minneapolis and Orange County (Santa Ana), Calif. Investors from Toronto and St. Louis also have expressed interest but have yet to pay the $100,000 application fee. Former Philadelphia 76ers general manager

Pat Williams, recently hired as president of Orlando Professional Basketball Ltd., handed Stern a pair of Mickey Mouse ears from Disney World before giving him the oversized check.

When you come from Central Florida, you cannot give anything without the proper attire," he said.

Stern emphasized that the league owners had made no commitment to expansion beyond its current 23 teams.

"There are going to be many applications and its up to the owners to decide which cities if any we're going to grant franchises to." he said. "We don't know the timetable, but I can tell you that the subject of expansion will come under serious consideration.

If the league does decide to adu teams, Orlando would be in competition with Miami, a larger city in the same state that most owners would probably favor. Jim Hewitt, a real estate investor who heads the partnership of 28 seeking to attract a franchise, said Orlando would be a better choice.

"The Orlando Renegades of the U.S. Football league averaged 25,000 fans even though they came in last." Hewitt said. "If we bring in an

NBA club, this city will rally around it." "An arena is being built anyway for other functions. If we get a club we'll just open it

Blue Jays Halt Clemens' Record Quest

BOSTON (UPI) - Roger Clemens did everything he wanted to - except win.

"I had great rhythm." Clemens said Wednesday night after the Toronto Blue Jays ended his 14-game winning streak with a 4-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

"I was doing exactly what I wanted to do," said Clemens, who in dropping to 14-1, fell one victory shy of matching the American League record scason-starting winning streak of 15 games shared by Baltimore's Dave McNally (1969) and Cleveland's Johnny Allen (1937).

"I would throw a couple of strikes, then offer the ball up high," Clemens said. "They went for it."

Oddly, it was the fact Clemens felt so strong that might have led to the undoing of his winning streak.

"I was seriously strong for six innings," Clemens said. "My legs feit great. It's the first time I've thrown that hard for that long.

"Usually about the fourth or fifth inning I'll take a little breather," C'emens said, meaning he mixes in more curves and changeups to give his legs and arm a chance to regroup for a strong finish.

"Roger threw very well through five innings." Boston manager John McNamara said, "which made it obvious he lost his rhythm in the sixth and seventh."

Clemens agreed: "I had outstanding stuff for six innings," he said. "But in the seventh I didn't get my pitches exactly where I wanted to."

The 23-year-old will take a 2.34 carned run average into his next start. which comes Monday night on national television against Oakland.

Optimistic Tigers Deal Yanks 11th Loss In 17

NEW YORK (UPI) - The Detroit Tigers, last in the American League East, are optimistic about getting back in the pennant race, and their 8-3 victory over New York Wednesday night intensified pessimism surrounding the Yankees.

"We've been playing well for three weeks," said Darrell Evans, who dre . in two runs, one with his 14th home run of the season. "but we've lost some tough games. If we continue to play the way we've been, we're gonna have a shot at it. We've got a good taste in our mouth, just can't let the frustration hurt us."

The Tigers are tied with the Milwaukee Brewers for last place in the East, 12 games behind the first-place Boston Red Sox. The Yankees are in second place, but trail Boston by eight games. and have lost 11 of their last 17 games, all against division rivals.

"This is a tough division," Tigers center fielder Chet Lemon said. "That's why we feel we've got a chance. Boston's going to struggle, too. If we run off a streak like we're capable of, we're going to make up ground.'

The Tigers are 14-13 in their current stretch, all against Eastern Division clubs.

Paced by five good innings from emergency starter Dave LaPoint, a season-high 16-hit attack and strong relief pitching from Willie Hernandez. the Tigers pointed up all the Yankees recent problems, and created a new one.

Yankees starter Ron Guidry, 4-8, lost his seventh straight decision, yielding three runs on 10 hits. He was forced from the game after seven innings when he was hit on his left hand by a line drive off the bat of Lance Parrish. Guidry, who was taken to New York University Medical Center, has not won since May 10, a span covering 10 starts.

"I think he's going to need some stitches," said Yankees manager Lou Piniella, who said he thought Guidry would miss his next start. "He got cut between his fingers (index and middle). I thought he threw well tonight.

"I still have confidence in him — I really do."

The Yankees finished the game with right fielder Dave Winfield at third base, and Pinielia looking for anyone in the bullpen who could get

Of Pinicila's starting rotation, only Dennis Rasmussen has a victory in the Yankees' last 15 games. Going to the bullpen has provided little relief, as the beleaguered Yankees manager learned again Wednesday.

"What am I gonna do?," Pintella asked rhetorically, "We've discussed it all. I've got myself in a Catch-22 situation: If I stay with my starters, they say I should have gone to the pen: if I bring in a reliever, they say I should have stayed with my starter."

LaPoint, 3-6, started in place of Randy O'Neal. who was hit below the collarbone with a line drive in his last start June 28. LaPoint allowed one run on five hits in five innings. The left-hander walked five and struck out two. Hernandez pitched the final 1-1-3 innings for his 16th save.

Evans gave the Tigers a 4-1 lead in the eighth inning with his 14th home run of the year, a solo shot off reliever Brian Fisher.

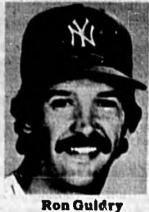

The Yankees pulled within 4-3 on Willie Randolpha's two-run single in the eighth off reliever Bill Campbell.

At Arlington, Texas, Oddibe McDowell drove in three runs with a two-run double and a sacrifice fly and Larry Parrish knocked in three runs with a homer and a single to lead the Rangers. Mike Mason, 5-2, and three relievers combined on a six-hitter for the victory. Mike Smithson, 7-7, took the loss.

Angels 4, White Sox 3 At Anahelm, California, Mike Witt pitched a five-hitter and Reggie Jackson tripled home three runs in the first inning to help the Angels snap a three-game losing streak and hand manager Jim Fregost only his third loss in 10 games with the

White Sox. Mariners 5, Royals 3

At Scattle, Danny Tartabuli drove in two runs and Ken Phelps and Scott Bradley belted solo homers, pacing the Mariners to their fourth straight victory. Kansas City has lost six in a row. Mike Morgan, 6-7, was the winner. Scott Bankhead, 3-2, took the tous.

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) - If the Oakland A's could only follow the suit of their new manager, they'd be bouncing back mighty

Tony LaRussa, fired 12 days ago as manager of the Chicago White Sox, Wednesday was named new manager of the Oakland A's, a team 20 games below .500 with the worst record in professional baseball.

Team president Roy Eisenhardt said the former White Sox manager was his club's first choice to replace Jackie Moore, who was dismissed last Thursday after directing the club to a 29.44 record. LaRussa, 41, mulled the job offer for several days.

Walling Batters Hawkins, Padres

United Press International Andy Hawkins has a way of transforming Denny Walling into Babe Ruth. While Walling is little more than a singles hitter against most National League pitchers. he is a feared slugger every time he comes to bat against Hawkins. Walling hit two home runs off Hawkins Wednesday night, giving him three homers off the right-hander this season, to spark the Houston Astros to an Padres. Walling also singled home two runs in the eighth to finish with a career high six RBI.

8-1 triumph over the San Diego

"I don't know what the key is between Hawkins and I." said Walling, who has hit only one home run against the rest of the NL pitchers. "Last time (in San Diegol I got a homer, and today I saw the ball real well. I got some pretty good pitches. I hope it continues because he gets me out enough.

"I don't know what it is with him," said Hawkins of Walling. He was definitely the difference today. Take away his homers. and it's a different game."

Mike Scott, 8-5, benefitted from Walling's heavy hitting to notch the victory. He raised his

Tough Tennessee Ousts Central Florida 16s From National AAU

Team Central Florida won its first game Wednesday but then went up against powerful Tennessee and was no match for the defending champions as it dropped a 95-53 decision in the AAU/USA Junior Olympics 16 and Under National Tournament at Plainview, Conn.

The loss to Tennessee eliminated Team Central Florida from the tournament. The Floridians, coached by Lake Mary High's Bill Moore, finished the tournament with a respectable 3-2 record.

In Wednesday's first game, Team Central Florida claimed a 66-51 victory over West Virginia. Merritt Island's Dee Williams led the way with 14 points and St. Petersburg Gibbs' Maria Teal added 10. Lake Mary's Tonya Lawson contributed seven points while Lake Mary's Terl Whyte and Lake Brantley's Ashley Thomas added four apice.

In the second game, Tennessee scored the first 11 points of the game and never looked back. The defending national champions built a 45-25 halftime lead and cruised in the Teal had 12 points for Team Central Florida and Orlando Edgewater's Vanessa Taylor tossed in 11. Lawson scored four points while Whyte and Thomas did not score.

"Tennessee could possibly come back and win it although it's really hard to come back in the losers' bracket," Team Central Florida assistant Bob Corwin said. "Tennessee definitely has a strong team. They're in another class compared to us." — Chris Ficter

Hagler Declares No Decision

BROCKTON, Mass. (UPI) — Undisputed middleweight champion Marvelous Marvin Hagler, expected to announce his next opponent, left doubts as to whether there ever again will be any opponent.

'It's been a very long, hard, strenuous road for me," Hagler said Wednesday, announcing he was "very seriously thinking about retiring from the boxing game"

Hagler, who is 62-2-2 with 52 knockouts lifetime, was expected to decide whether to fight Leonard or schedule a rematch with Thomas Hearns, who he defeated in March

"I've made no decision about Leonard and Hearns," said Hagler, a native of Brockton, which also produced the late heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

A Hagler-Leonard bout could be worth an estimated $15 million, of which $10 million would go to Hagler.

"I just need a little more time," he said concerning his next opponent or whether to retire.

Police Can't Find Rogers' Source

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) - Police have been unable to pinpoint who supplied the cocaine that killed Cleveland Browns standout Don Rogers and say no one may ever face criminal charges in the nationally publicized case.

Sacramento Police Capt. Mike O'Kane Wednesday said police were investigating many tips from telephone informants about who gave Rogers the narcotle.

"We may be getting a lot of tips saying 'so-and-so did it." but we haven't anything solid." O'Kane said.

"If it was a transaction between Rogers and the dealer, with no one else around, there'll never be any prosecution," he added.

Meanwhile, a state drug officer said the cocaine deaths of Rogers and basketball star Len Bias have triggered a flood their youngsters' use of the narcotic.

Trial Focus: Competition Costs

NEW YORK (UPI) - Competition for professional football players and the resulting increase in costs was the focus of testimony at the USFL's $1.5 billion antitrust suit against the NFL.

Jim Finks, President-General Manager of the New Orleans Saints, and Dick Daniels, Director of Player Personnel for the Washington Redskins, Wednesday testified as NFL witnesses at the 8-week-old trial in U.S. District Court in Manhattan.

After Wednesday's afternoon session, the trial was adjourned until Monday for the holiday weekend.

The USFL claims the NFL sought to force up the younger league's player costs to bankrupt its teams. The NFL has centered on high salaries in an attempt to show USFL owners created their own financial woes by wild spending.

Rowdies Slip Past Lions, 3-2

The Tampa Bay Rowdies used a pair of shootout goals to turn back the Orlando Lions, 3-2, in soccer action Wednesday night at Lake Brantley High School in Altamonte Springs.

After finishing deadlocked at 1-1 in regulation, Orlando's Paul Butler gave the Lions a 2-1 lead in the overtime. The Liona next four attempts, though, failed and Tampa Bay was able to convert two of its five tries for the victory.

Mark Poland and Mike Alphonso had the OT goals for the the bottom half. Bennett best out an infield hit to start off the rally and Dillon followed with a single off the third base bag. With one out. Byrd singled to right to load the bases. Chibberton then looped a single to left to score Bennett and Dillonscored when Hunt walked with the bases louded.

Tavares then put Rick Chamblias in in relief but he uncorked a wild pitch which allowed Chibberton to score for an 8-4 Sanford lead. Jones then singled up the middle to drive in fielder's head for a two run double and an 11-4 Sanford lead. Stinson then went on in relief of

Chambliss and retired the next

The Nationals made it 13-4 in the bottom of the fifth with two runs on no hits. Dillon reached on an error and both Dunn and pinch hitter Mike Thomas walked to load the bases. Dillon scored on a wild pitch and Dunn scord on KoJack Hunt's groun-

Tavares scored once in the top of the sixth before Dunn struck out two of the last three hitters to end the game.

"Being relaxed at the plate and pulling for each other really helped us tonight," Mitchell said. "The kids were really fired up in the dugout and were KoJack Hunt and Don Hunt then helping each other out in the unloaded a fly ball over the left field. We came back through the losers' bracket last year and we can do it again if we keep up the positive attitude."

Sheffield, a pitcher-first baseman from Seminole High. who led the county in strikeouts and batted .385. Sheffleld will add to a long list of pitchers to sign up with the Raiders. Pantelias said the mound department was an area which needed to be strengthened.

Molle, a strong hitter, will add quickness to the SCC outfield. The muscular Seminole Pony Baseball product came on for the Rams during the post-season to help them toward their best season (32-3) ever.

Key returnees for Pantelias include Jeff Morgan, an all-state designated hitter, with great power, third baseman and ex-Lake Mary star Kevin Hill and all-stater Chad Sims.

Sanford's James Hersey, Matt Lawton, Jeff Duvall, and Hill will return for pitching duties. Help in the pitching department seems to be on the way, along with Sheffield seven other pitchers are on the way.

Dave Westgate, a Eustis righthander, will joins Pennsylvania's Dennis Sollen Jr. and Orlando's Richard Skelton Jr. Sollen and Skelton are lefthanders. Ridge Manor's Dave-Riddle, Eustis' Jeff Watson and Appleton, Wisc. lefty Brian McGinnis have also joined the SCC pen.

Along with all the pitchers, four catchers have also committed to SCC. Bill Peliatreau (Dowington, Va.), Jim Wolfer (New Smyrna Beach), James Hurst (Orlando) and Jeff Fortune (Sunrise) will pull on the tools of ignorance for the Raiders.

TRC Belts Boveri, Wraps Up Crown

The Tim Raines Connection wasted no time in sewing up the Sanford Men's Softball League championship Wednesday night as it scored five times in the bottom of the first and never looked back en route to a 17-3 rout of Brown Boveri at Pinchurst Field.

Wednesday's game was a makeup of an earlier rained out game and was the final game of the season. The Connection ended the season with a 15-1 record and Pants USA finished one game back at 14-2. Brown Bovert got one run in the top of the first when Tracy scored on Willie Merkerson's fielder's choice.

first. Levi Raines led off with a single and Billy Griffith then put the Connection ahead to stay with a two-run homer. Burnett 'Slim" Washington, Lloyd Wall and Sam Raines all added RBI singles in the inning.

The Connection pulled away with a four-run second inning with three homers accounting for all the runs. With two outs, 'Steady Eddie'' Jackson belted a solo shot and Rodney Turner followed with a round tripper. Holloman singled and later Ned Raines then reached on an error and Washington followed with a two-run dinger.

The Connection had 21 hits in short-lived, though, as the the game with Sam Raines, Connection scored five times on Washington and Turner leading seven hits in the bottom of the the way with three apiece.

singles titles at least twice but claims she is "just as hungry as I ever was." Mandlikova has won the Australian, French and U.S. Open titles in different years but in eight years on tour has reached Wimbledon's final just once.

A brilliant shotmaker, Mandlikova is only as good as her concentration.

In Wednesday's men's quarterfinals, top seed Ivan Lendl, surrendering just seven points on serve in the fifth set, struggled past No. 10 seed. Tim Mayotte 8-4, 4-6, 6-4, 3-6, 9-7.

The 3-hour, 28-minute match featured only five service breaks as Lendl extended his record to 11-0 against the American.

"I was going for an early service break in the fifth, but he didn't open the door at all," said Mayotte, who conceded that "there was a lot of pressure out there."

Lendl will meet unseeded Slobodan Zivojinovic in one of Friday's semifinals and defending champion Boris Becker will meet No. 7 seed Henri

This will be the first All-European men's semifinals since a regular tournament draw was adopted in 1922. It is the first time since 1970 an American has not reached the final four.

Becker won his 12th straight singles match at Wimbledon, ousting unseeded Miloslav Mecir of Czechoslovakia 6-4, 6-2, 7-6 (7-5).

Becker had 12 aces against Meeir, ranked No. 30, who returned well against the 18-year-old West German.

"He is the best returner in the game," said Becker. "Somehow he always gets the ball back and passes you, and it looks very easy.'

Both Zivojinovic and Leconte used their powerful serves and go for-broke strategy to advance to the semifinals here for the first time. In a pairing of unseeded quarterfinalists, the 6-foot-6 Zivojinovic of Yugoslavia overwhelmed Ramesh Krishnan, a 5-7 Indian, 6-2, 7-6 (7-4), 4-6.

Leconte, the first Frenchman in 40 years to advance to the round of four, defeated wild-card entry Pat Cash, ranked No. 413, 4-6, 7-6 (9-7), 7-6 (7.5), 6.3.

"I won because I played the big points better than him and I was serving much better in the tie-breakers," said Leconte, 22, who had 15 aces and won the majority of his service points on service winners.

Leconte becomes the first Frenchman since Yvon Petra, the 1946 titlist, to reach the Elliott, who lost last year's Firecracker when he had to pit for gas with less than 10 laps remaining, said his car is not as fast as the one he ran in February's Daytona 500.

"The car ran well, about as good as we can run at this point," said Elliott, who won the Miller American 400 at Michigan June 15. "It was plenty loose, probably to the point that it slowed me down. This car isn't as fast as the one I had here in February, but I feel it will probably be better for the 400mile distance.

Waltrip, who is the defending Winston Cup champion and is in second place behind Earnhardt this season, had the fourthslowest time of the day at 194.039 mph.

cerns him the most. "When the big batters come up. I just pitch them the fastball inside," he said. "It's hurts to have faced them so many times, though. They get to know your pitching."

In his lone loss to KOC. Merthie may have turned in one of his finest perfromances. He struck out 16 and allowed just one hit, but a double by Reid and a dropped flyball enabled the Knights to come away with a 4-2 win.

Merthie said he has a lot of respect for his "K" counterpart Reid. "He's a good pitcher," Merthle said. "Once in a while he has trouble with his control. If he walks one person, he might walk some more.

Reid had control problems Monday, walking 11 and hitting two. KOC manager Rick Taylor, however, said the lose of location was due to inactivity. "Anton had pitched for five or six days," he said. "We'll see a better performance Thursday. It's going to be the league's two best power pitchers going at each other.'

Reid agreed. "Thursday I'll be ready," the 14-year-old righthander said. "I'm going to pitch a let better. This is

The Knights posted an 8-2 record to win the second half and were 14-6 overall.

While Reid and Merthle try to blow away the hitters, KOC will attempt to sustain its 13-hit attack of Tuesday while Moose will try to come up with enough key hits to produce a championship.

Reid had four hits Tuesday. scored four runs and drove in two. An unexpected punch. though, came from the seventh spot in the order where Floyd Henderson drove in four runs with a three-run double and a single. Frisson, Henry June and Erskine Howard each supplied three hits.

We have to go into the game with hitting on our minds," Taylor said. "We've got one of the best hitting teams in the league. We just have to show it one more time."

Two of LaFollette's better sticks - left stelder Harvey Clinger and second baseman Tony Pritchard - were 0 for 7 Tuesday. LaFollette said they have to come around by Thursday.

"Tony had a big day in Monday's win," LaFollette said about Pritchard's trio of doubles and five RBI. "I thought it might go to his head. It did."

Moose mustered just three. hits Tuesday. Merthic and Tony Chavers had firstinning singles and Johnny Lewis had a fourth-inning single. Chavers had two ribbles.

We have to be patient at the plate," LaFollette said. 'We can't swing at bad pitches. If we put the ball in play we'll be all right."

Senate President Attacks Insurance Companies' Lawsuit

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - A lawsuit filed by 23 insurance companies and three trade associations challenging the new tort reform and insurance regulation law proves collusion within the industry. Senate President Herry Johnston said.

The companies filed suit Wednesday in Leon County Circuit Court challenging the constitutionality of the law.

The fact that you have 23 companies here and probably 171 property casualty companies (filing suit) just confirms my earlier suspicion that they're price fixing and they're in collusion and they've gotten together individually and as a group to attack this," Johnston said.

Fred Karl, a former state senator and Florida Supreme Court justice who is an attorney for the plaintiffs, said each insurance company makes their own decision on whether to challenge the law, which leaves companies unsure over their rights.

Rocket Failures Explained

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) - The nation's space program ta slowly showing signs of recovery with word from NASA and the Air Force that two rocket failures following the Challenger disaster were not caused by major design flaws.

Results of accident reviews were released Wednesday on the April 18 explosion of an unmanned Air Force Titan 34D rocket and the May 3 failure of a NASA Delta, and officials indicated both programs could be back on flight status by early next year.

Brig. Gen. Nathan Lindsay said the Titan, launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., exploded seconds after blastoff when insulation pulled away from the wall of a solid-fuel booster, allowing flame from burning propellant to burst through with catastrophic results.

Lawrence Ross, chairman of the Delta accident review, said in a separate news conference that critical electrical wiring apparently was damaged by launch vibration May 3. which created a short circuit that shut down the rocket's main engine prematurely.

That threw the vehicle out of control and forced safety officers to trigger the rocket's self-destruct system.

But Wednesday afternoon, the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta Intervened for Bundy, and Florida's Supreme Court decided to spare Stano.

Jacksonville.

Kutun had been particularly critical of Pajcie's opposition to the death penalty, and once charged Pajcic's position was "hypocritical" and soft on crime. He said he discussed the issue with Pajele Tuesday afternoon before pledging his support, and was satisfied by Pajete's promise he would not re-hear elemency appeals rejected by Gov. Bob Graham.

Pajete has said he opposes the death penalty but would sign death warrants if elected. He said Wednesday he would rehear none of the more than 140 capital clemency cases Graham has reviewed since 1979 unless new evidence develops in a case.

'Not only has due process already been served, but I wantto be a governor who will do more than sit as chairman of the clemency board." Pajete said. "To hear and re-hear all those cases would interfere with all the other important tasks a governor has to attend to."

Kutun called "totally inaccurate" a statement made by Smith that Kutun had hoped to be Smith's running mate. Kutun said he had met with Smith but never asked for and was never offered the number two spot on the Smith ticket. Smith has tabbed former Dade County representative Marshall Harris as his running mate.

Pajeic said Kutun's endorsement made him the top candidate in voter-saturated south Florida. Pajcic's top two opponents. Smith and Senate President Harry Johnston, a native of West Palm Beach, each claimed Kutun's withdrawl made him number one in south Florida.

June Jobless Rate Drops 7.1 Percent

By Dan Carmichael UPI Labor Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Unemployment dropped to 7.1 percent in June, the Labor Department reported today, despite the strike against AT&T and more job losses in the oil and gas industries.

The June figure was an improvement over the 7.3 percent unemployment level recorded in May and returned the level of American joblessness to the number reported in April - also 7.1 percent.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes called the drop in June more good news for an economy that is still growing. now for the 43rd consecutive month.'

"In the service-producing sector, the strike by some 155,000 American Telephone & Telegraph (Co.) workers, since settled, affected not only the communications industry within transportation and public utilities but also trade," the Labor Department said.

Even after adjusting the figures because of the strike, the government said, there was

The June figures showed that 8.4 million Americans were out of work - about the same level of the past four months.

Factory employment was down in June - largely because of the strike by the Communications Workers of America against AT&T.

The Labor Department said the drop in factory employment in June "was almost all strike related."

There were significant job losses, however, in the machinery industry as well. The gov-ernment said, "Part of that weakness can be traced to job losses in factories which manufacture oil field machin-

Following a trend, another 15,000 workers lost their jobs in the oil and gas industries in June, the figures showed.

Since employment in those industries peaked in March 1982, almost 320,000 oil and gas workers have been thrown out of work.

Construction - usually very strong in June - added fewer jobs than expected. After weakness in transportation, seasonal adjustment, there was public utilities and wholesale a decline of 30,000 jobs in the construction industry. "Strikes in June also affected employment levels in the serviceproducing sector, because about 40,000 of the strikers were in wholesale and retail trade, and more than 85,000 were in the communications industry," said Janet L. Norwood, chief of the Labor Department's statistics division.

"However, these industries showed very weak growth even after adjustment for workers on strike," Norwood said. "These workers are already back at work, because the AT&T strike has since been settled.

Unemployment levels among most groups of workers was about the same in June, although the jobless rate for adult men edged down slightly to 6.2 percent - partly offsetting a rise in May.

Other jobless rates in June were: 19.1 percent for teenagers; 6.4 percent for adult women: 6.1 percent for whites: 15.1 percent for blacks; and 10.6 percent for Hispanics.

The unemployment for black teenagers in June was a staggering 40.2 percent.

A companion measure of unemployment - counting members of the armed forces in the United States - was 7 percent in June. down from 7.2 percent in May. The militaryincluded figure mirrors the civilian unemployment rate, rising and falling in tandem.

The average duration of unemployment rose in June - and the number of Americans out of work for 27 weeks or more also increased by 150,000 people. The number of people out of work for less than five weeks also dropped. The average duration of unemployment was 15.2 weeks, the Labor Department said.

Also continuing a marked trend, the services industry continued to show strength in June particularly finance, insurance and real estate.

Job growth has been widespread throughout the finance industry, but employment increases in the mortgage banking and brokerage industry have been especially strong in recent months," Norwood said.

During June. 145,000 jobs were added in the services industry. By itself, this industry has accounted for almost 50 percent of the entire increase in jobs during the past year.

have automatically closed the account if it had a zero balance for a year or so, but it would take a a few days of research to find out, a bank employee said. Sorenson said he intended to use the money to pay any fines. The way the thing went is when it all finally worked its way out in Tallahassee. I got a letter from the attorney general's office ... saying that I would hear from that office on the amount of the fine and the time it should be paid. So I kind of just sat and waited for that and I waited a second letter around the end of last year ... I went to get the money out, and it was gone."

Sorenson said he paid the fine with his own money. Sorenson's lawyer at the time. Michael Gray of Sanford, told the Evening Herald that he did not receive any fees for Sorenson's defense, nor did his law firm.

Keogh, who says he has the bank records related to the account, said some of the money was spent on paralegal help and thank-you notes. He said he did not know if Sorenson spent any long, long time. And then I got a of the money on personal needs.

DEAR ABBY: My mother died last year and left me her Eastern Star ring, which she had proudly worn for over 45 years. Although I am not an Eastern Star, I loved wearing it. One day while shopping. I ran into a friend of Mother's in a shopping mail. We chatted a while, then she noticed my ring and asked me if it was my mother's. When I told her it was, she asked me to take it off so she could get a better look at it. I obliged. She proceeded to rant and rave about how I was blaspheming the Eastern Stars by wearing their ring when I was not a member. She said my mother should have been buried with that ring, and I had no right to wear it, and she was going to see that I was called before the council. Then she stomped off with my ring! I was stunned.

I went to the police and asked if this was a case of theft. They said, "Most definitely," and advised me to swear out a warrant if I wanted the ring. I did as they advised and finally got the ring back, but now I'm on the Eastern Star's blacklist and many of my mother's friends refuse to speak to me.

Now each time I look in my Jewelry box my heart aches because I know my dear mother would have wanted me to wear the ring, but I'm afraid to do so. What do you think about this?

NO EASTERN STAR

DEAR NO STAR: I spoke with Mrs. Norma Gordon, the Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star in Santa Monica and Pacific Palisades, Calif., and she was outraged that a member of that fine organization would behave as your mother's friend did. She said there is no rule stating that a woman must be a member of the Eastern Star In order to wear the ring; neither is there a ruling stating that the ring must be buried with the member who u wneu it. Now in have it noun an official, so take your mother's ring out of the jewelry box, put it back on your finger and wear it in the best of health.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to put in my 22 cents (inflation, you knowl about people who break their necks running to answer the phone, and just when they pick it up, the caller hangs up!

I would not even think of rushing to answer a telephone. There are times when I wish a caller would let the phone ring only three to four times during my nap, when I'm in the shower, or just walking in the DEAR LEARNING: More readers said they prefer that the caller let the phone ring a few more times before hanging up. but there were some (surprisingly enough) who were annoyed by too many rings. The mail is running 10-to-1 in favor of the ding-a-lings.

DEAR ABBY: Here's one for the Milwaukee lady who found her husband's teeth-picking in public repulsive.

I was recently at a dinner party where corn on the cob was served. After the meal, the hostess offered dental floss to the guests. Three people began flossing their teeth at the dinner table while conversing!

Have you ever? appailed in Minneapolis DEAR APPALLED: No. And I. hope I never do.

DEAR ABBY: 10a concerty informed "Ohio Dropout" regarding the GED test. However, you falled to say that anyone age 18 can go to a junior college. regardless of whether he or she has completed high school, or received a GED. After completion of the required program. one can transfer to a four-year college and receive a bachelor's degree.

I know, because that's what I did. I went back to college, received my BA, and am now working toward my law degree, even though I, too began as a 'high school dropout."

CHARLOTTE HUGGINS, SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR ABBY: "Sue From Delawhere" is absolutely right. It's amazing how few people know their geography. Our son, who was born and raised in New-Castle, Del., is now stationed in Hawaii with the Navy, and when he's asked where he's from, he says "Pennsylvania" because it's easier than explaining where Delaware is. Abby, Delaware happens to be the home of the DuPont Co., the largest chemical company in the world.

Yard Of The Month

Sanora Homeowners' Association Grounds Committee, has selected the yard of Carroll and Lucille Tarbert, 106 Krider Road as YARD OF THE MONTH for June. "The beautiful varigated evonymus, with annuals between which adds just the right amount of color, forms an attractive background for a lawn that is always well kept and accented by a well placed juniper," according to Levelle Thompson, chairman of the facilities and grounds committee.

What gives?

By Mark Schwed UPI TV Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) -At daybreak Monday, the onslaught began. The cameras. microwave dishes and lights were powered on, and the television shoulder and across networks began their coverage of "Liberty Weekend, free-for-all-to-end-all celebration of the Statue of Liberty's 100th birthday.

The party will run from sunup to sundown and beyond. ABC plans 17 1/2 hours of television coverage and special programs, not counting news; CBS is doing about 20 hours: NBC about 10; CNN more than 50 -

Monday was the official unofficial start day of Liberty Weekend — It officially begins July 3 - and it offered a hint of things to come.

Over at "CBS Morning News, weatherman Steve Haskerville was in a blimp, while Marta Shriver and Forrest Sawyer took their positions on a roof 13 stories above ground at Governor's Island.

Behind them was the Statue of Liberty, in front of them was Cable News Network. below was David Hartman and ABC's 'Good Morning America" and down to their left was NBC's empty stage.

"We're here this week to celebrate America." Sawyer announced, " ... to reintroduce you to the Lady of the harbor."

that first, this commercial.

ABC patd $10 million for exclusive rights to broadcast the Liberty events and will spend another $4 million on production, but don't feel too sorry for the No. 3 network. They expect to take in $30 nullion from commerctals.

Back to the morning news set at CRS: Saw. yer and Shriver were doing one of those "what if" pieces. What do you suppose the Statue of Liberty's dress would look like if It were designed today? A designer was brought on the set as were several models.

One model wore u tight red dress and atop her blonde locks was a $20,000 silver crown. Another model had a Dolly Parton hairdo and wore a low-cut red, white and blue outfit with American flags for earrings. But the third model took the prize. She wore a crown with bananas as spikes, and her slinky dress was wrapped over one her chest, leaving her midriff exposed.

Down at ABC, a brisk wind knocked over flower vases that were placed on the set to add some color to the backdrop, the murky Hudson River. Hartman did a story on why Governor's Island is a good place to call home."People teel safe here. Hartman sald, sitting on the island with New York Cur's skyling in the packground. They feel safe, he explained, because only those with permission are allowed on the island, which houses Coast Guard employees and their families.

Meanwhile. New York Mayor Ed Koch was doing both ABC and CBS this morning.

'Let's talk about what's so wonderful about the city," said GMA co-host Joan Lunden, who then mentioned erime, dirt and other assets.

"It's far more dangerous if you're in Detroit," the mayor said. "... This is the place to be if you want to be safe."

At ABC, there was one of those mandatory TV pieces about weird things one sees in New York City, Would you believe that on one block there are 17 restaurants and they all offer Indian food? Then there are the traffic signs that say "Don't even think about parking here," the $29,000 parking space. the man who trains dogs to walk in the city, the woman whose job is to wait in line for other people, the store that sells only bones and the good food you get at delis.

Back of CBS, Shriver was asking Henry Winkler, better known as "The Fonz," about bis impressions of Lady Liberty.

"It's historic," he of-

NOW YOU HAVE

ANOTHER PROBLEM

HOW'D YOU - GUESS ?

DEAR READER - And I'd advise you to get one. Tic doloreux (trigeminal neuralgia) - spasms of stabbing facial pain is common and treatable. See a neurologist. DEAR DR. GOTT - I get outbreaks of acne and oily skin that seem to be accompanied by sour stomach, gas and constipation. Are the two related? Would a change in diet help, or does this indicate an underlying digestive disorder?

DEAR READER - The relation of acne to certain foods seems unclear at present. In the past, young people with bad complexions were counseled to avoid chocolate and greasy foods. Dermatologists are much less dogmatic about food restrictions now. Nonetheless, in my experience, some people with oily skin and acne often seem to improve if they omit certain foods. If, when your acne is worse, you also have digestive disturbances, you may be one of these people. Try to identify which foods give you symptoms. then avoid them. Also, you might consider seeing an allergist.

DEAR DR. GOTT - Since moving to a different part of Florida, I've had itchy eyes (near the tear ducts), an Itchy nose, sneezing and red spots on my throat. I never had this before. Should I see an allergist?

DEAR READER - I think that would be an appropriate next step. All plants pollinate, and you may be reacting to specific pollens in your new locale. Also, some forms of air pollution can cause allergie symptoms. An allergist who is familiar with the flora and fauna in Florida may be able to discover the cause of your complaints and recommend treatment.

DEAR DR. GOTT - At dinner. my 15-year-old granddaughter placed one hand on her chin, the other on top of her head and gave a twist. You could hear her neck crack. Aside from making her dinner companions slightly nauscated, will this procedure harm her? DEAR READER - Your you a home-style demonstration of chiropractic manipulation. As spinal vertebrae snap on each other. Aside from the fact that ups' teeth on edge, the semifinals of the National seven hearts and was known to Team Championship last March. have four diamonds, declarer they had no excuses. After quite reasonably played West for playing 64 deals, a team should be able to demonstrate its superiority. Nevertheless, the losing side inevitably sifts the rubble. searching for quirks of destiny. and I have found one. It's a tale about the queen of spades.

When my teammate Jim Robison held the South cards, he reached slam in just one bid. After East's four-heart opening had precluded any scientific approach, Jim took the oldfashioned route - he bid what he thought he could make. Dummy's two working kings were enough to give a good play for slam. However, he had to lose a club trick, and when diamonds failed to split, he needed to find the queen of spades. Since East When the Jacoby team lost in apparently had started with the clusive queen of spades. That was down one.

At the other table, the opening bid by East was one heart. South eventually reached six clubs, but now, feeling that East had to have more high cards than A-Q-J and J-10 for an opening bid of one, declarer played East for the spade queen and made the slam. And the quirk of destiny is simply this: If the queen of spades had been in the West hand and the bidding at both tables had remained the same, our team would have won the match and advanced to the finals. Of course, then I would not be string about so many semifinal hands.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY JULY 4, 1986

A stronger and more independent you will emerge in the year ahead. This is well and good. But don't impulsively dissolve associations that have been helpful to you in the past.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This is not a good day to experiment with unfamiliar materials or equipment. Let the experts supply the know-how. Trying to patch up a romance? The Matchmaker set can help you understand what it might take to make the relationship work. Mail $2 to Matchmaker. c/o this newspaper. Box 1846. Cincinnati, OH 45201.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you are overly insistent on doing things your way today, you could create unnecessary dissension within your group. Movewith the majority.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In competitive involvements today. you might be tripped up by your own carelessness rather than defeated by the opposition. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is not a good day to implement activities that are a bit chancy. Stick to the types of events that are both fun and safe. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your greatest enjoyment is apt to be derived from activities today that cost you little or nothing. Pleasures with a high price tag could fizzle. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The course of action you have selected for yourself today is the best one for you. But you could be influenced by another to unwisely change direction.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Hard feelings can be avoided today if everyone you're involved with is assigned a specific task. Be sure the workload is fairly distributed. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)

Opening lead: 🛡 3

Today you might not be as lucky as you think you are in situations that have elements of chance. Avoid taking silly risks. PISCES (Feb. 20 March 20)

You won't be inhospitable today if you limit your guest list to family members and relatives. Outsiders might not fit in too comfortably.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Plan your logistics wisely today or you may waste time and steps, creating complications. Stick to a sensible itinerary.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're likely to be disappointed today if you expect others to pick up expenses for you. Pay your share.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Plans should not be altered today to serve your convenience if they inconvenience compa-nions. Be considerate of the requirements of others
