Now comes the suggestion from Rubert Barry, writing in tensive cultivation of its soil. He further says: Florida can solve President Coolidge's farmer relief problem, and remove from his pillow the nightmares of the McNary-Haugen subsidy bills defeated by Secretary Mellon. The cities of Florida will take care of themselves. The dreamy developments will materialize some day, when the street-markers now visible have rotted. The conservative money of Florida will go into agricultural homesteading during the ensuing three years. Plans have been drawn for the development of modest farm plots to be offered at reasonable prices. Model farms are projected. Co-operating marketing schemes are in process. Importation of tested dairy cattle is contemplated. Chicken farms are in incubation. Truck gardening development is envisaged. Why? Recause if Florida is to be the playground all its residents think it certain to be, these prospective producers of anticipated table necessities for the expected horde of tourists, the agriculturalist has a future right handy.

Doing Things

A Little Better...

Than they are being done by someone else adds, 'tis said, somewhat to the stature of man-so does it add to the worth-whileness in business.

The House of Higgins, Smith, Wight, Inc., you'll find, are ever alert to serve you in buying or selling, just a little bit better than someone else.

To try harder—to work longer -to plan more carefully--is the plussage in the service you buy when you deal with us.

You should know that the common ground of mutual interests

too is always given thoughtful consideration.

A share of your business will be appreciated
