

Hungary Is Stage, But Prompters Are Located In Moscow

On Oct. 23, 1956, Hungarians rebelled against their Communist government. Soviet forces stationed in the country put down the revolt with bloody results. There is a lack of the country today by a veteran correspondent who was in Budapest at the time of the revolution 20 years ago.

By ERIC WASH, Associated Press Writer

VIENNA (AP) — Twenty years after their abortive anti-Soviet revolution, Hungarians describe their country as a stage "where we can move freely, but where the prompter's box is in Moscow."

This paradox reflects the Hungarian way of life: to go as far as possible within the confines of the Soviet Bloc but never to twist the tail of the Russian bear.

While losing the Soviet foreign policy line and retaining a staunch member of the Warsaw Pact military alliance and Comcon, the Eastern equivalent of the European Common Market, the Hungarians enjoy perhaps the most liberal brand of capitalism within the Soviet Bloc. They even have experimented with a modified form of free market economy. Its consumer orientation has earned Hungarian communism the label of "Goulash communism."

But four Soviet divisions are believed to be still inside Hungary, comprising 50,000 troops, 1,200 tanks and 300 planes. To open opening old wounds, the Russians are kept in barracks or maneuver areas and have scant contact with local inhabitants.

Western observers agree that the Hungarians have, for the most part, overcome the trauma of 1956.

"The Hungarians feel no great love for the Russians, no particular respect, but no great hatred," said a Western diplomat in Budapest.

Tibor Dery, an 82-year-old Hungarian writer who was jailed after Soviet forces crushed the uprising, said in an Austrian television interview recently that he felt the revolution had a "happy end" after all.

"I do not believe that the many wounds and destruction we suffered are still felt today, not much, at any rate," he said.

The two-week-long revolt broke out Oct. 23, 1956, and 2-700 Hungarians were killed, 30-900 were wounded and 300,000 fled the country after the Soviet army went into action. The U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service said 30,715 went to the United States.

Hundreds were arrested in the ensuing crackdown. Scores were executed, including Imre Nagy, the premier of the revolutionary government, and his defense minister, Gen. Pal Maléter.

Of the refugees, 40,000 have since returned, the government says. Others who acquired foreign citizenship have come back as tourists. Today, every 10th tourist is Hungarian-born, officials claim.

Janos Kadar, who first sided with Nagy and then turned against the revolution, is still in power, leading the 18.5 million Hungarians on a political tight rope.

Now 64, Kadar is second in seniority among Soviet bloc leaders in Bulgaria's Todor Zhivkov.

When Soviet tanks crushed the uprising, Kadar became the most hated man in Hungary. He referred to Soviet leader Nikita Khrushchev, who ordered the suppression, as "my fatherly friend and elder brother."

Much of Kadar's success in winning popular support since then is attributed to his dictum: "Whoever is not against us is with us."

He is a master of caution, never going far enough to incur the wrath of his own people or of the Kremlin.

His relationship with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev is considered good but not overly cordial. Every summer, they vacation at the same Black Sea resort.

Budget today resembles Western capitals in stylishness, with glittering shop windows and traffic jams. Long hair, faded blue jeans and pop music are "in" among the youth.

But despite large-scale construction, there is a continuing housing shortage. In one new Budapest project built to house 160,000, there were 13,000 complaints as tenants moved in. The planners failed to make provision for shops and schools.

Soviet bloc automobiles cost 30 to 30 times the average monthly salary of $146, but Hungary ranks second in the West. Last year $74,000 did not buy a car in Hungary. But shock waves of the 150 per cent hike in the price of Soviet oil are still being felt. The 1976 foreign trade deficit is estimated at $1.04 billion, $608 million above the Communist bloc. Low standards of living helped spark the uprising in Poland on Oct. 19, 1956, and in Hungary four days later. But they were essentially revolts against Stalinism without Stalin; the Soviet dictator had died in 1953.

Shortly before the Hungarian uprising, the Communist dictator Matyas Rabast was forced to resign. He was replaced by another Stalinist, Ernő Gervai. Gervai immediately called on Soviet troops stationed in Hungary to bolster his faltering regime.

In the opening clashes between the rebels and Soviet troops, Hungarian army units, including the one commanded by Col. Pal Maléter, sided with the rebels. Nagy formed a coalition government which included Maléter and named him defense minister.

Hungary was withdrawn from the Warsaw Pact and proclaimed neutral in the Cold War.

Soviet Cardinal Mindszenty, the Roman Catholic primate who had been sentenced to life imprisonment by the Stalinist regime, was liberated.

The Soviets massed tanks and troops around Budapest and smashed the rebellion on Nov. 4. Maléter was arrested after being lured to Soviet army headquarters, ostensibly to

Cities, County Near Sewer 'Engagement'

By JACQUELINE DOWD Herald Staff Writer

The thorny problem of how to mesh the gears of three very different governments is the next task facing the committee studying a proposed regional sewer system for north Seminole.

Representatives of Sanford, Lake Mary and Seminole County began discussing ways of organizing the group that will plan, build and operate the regional sewer system at a Wednesday night meeting at Sanford's city hall.

But they ended up agreeing to discuss, as engineer Clark Deke put it, "the engagement rather than the marriage contract."

Administrators and attorneys for the three governments will be meeting within the next 30 days to draw up an interlocal agreement that will formalize the committee and commit the three governments to the general philosophy of a regional approach to north Seminole's sewer problems.

The specifics of how the authority will be organized will be decided later, after more extensive discussions.

Committee members had originally hoped to have a bill creating a regional sewer authority ready for the 1977 session of the Florida Legislature.

But the deadline for submitting local legislation is Dec. 1, and the committee members agreed that the details of the authority's management system couldn't be hammered out in six weeks. Public hearings also will be required before the bill could be submitted.

The interlocal agreement will have to shape an organization that can work until at least July 1, 1978 — the date local bills submitted to the 1978 Legislature can be expected to become law.

Consumer Prices Up .4 Of 1%

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices rose four-tenths of a percent in September as grocery costs declined for the first time in six months, helping offset increases for other goods and services.

The overall rise in the consumer price index translates into an annual inflation rate of about 4.9 per cent, a level in line with the basic underlying rate of inflation in the economy of 5 to 6 per cent.

September's rise follows increases of five-tenths of a percent in each of the previous three months.

While inflation eased slightly last month, the Labor Department said the purchasing power of the average worker's paycheck continued to shrink. The department said real earnings — what's left of salary after deductions for taxes and adjusted for inflation — declined five-tenths of a percent last month.

The price report was the final major economic statistic to be released before the November elections.

President Ford has claimed that his economic policies have helped cut the inflation rate to half of its 1974 levels, while Democrat Jimmy Carter has charged that the current rate still is twice as high as when the Democrats were in office.

Consumer prices surged 12.2 per cent in 1974 and slowed to 7 per cent in 1975. Over the past 12 months, prices have risen 5.8 per cent.

But for Americans accustomed to price increases averaging about 2 per cent a year through much of the post-World War II period, the current rate is high.

Over-all, the Consumer Price Index stood at 172.8 in September, meaning a market basket of goods and services costing $100 in 1967 now costs $172.80.

Grocery prices declined in September one-tenth of a percent after seasonal adjustment, the first decline since March when they fell eight-tenths of a percent.

Pork and poultry prices declined sharply as they have in recent months. Beef prices also fell but less than in July or August, the Labor Department said.

Prices of cereal and bakery products dropped for the first time since March, and sugar prices declined sharply. But prices for fresh vegetables, dairy products and coffee continued to increase.

'Death Ship' Raised, 82 Die

LULING, La. (AP) — A giant floating crane today righted the Mississippi River ferry that capsized after a collision that left up to 82 river commuters dead, but the ferry remained partially submerged.

Efforts continued to bring the ferry to the surface even as divers stood by on the shore to resume a search for bodies.

Sheriff's officers said 22 bodies were recovered in the hours after the collision, many of them still trapped in cars that were aboard the ferry.

The bodies of many of the missing were believed trapped in the ferry or sunk in the 10 feet of mud on the river bottom, officials said.

Laboring through the night, workers on the floating crane attached lines to the 120-by-55-foot ferry, which had settled upside down with its rusted hull protruding after it was rammed by the 66-foot Norwegian tanker Frosta.

Eighteen persons survived the collision, but it was unknown exactly how many were on the George Prince ferry when it was hit broadside just before dawn Wednesday.

A bank of the dead were factory workers on route to jobs on the west bank from Destrahan and other east-bank towns about 20 miles upriver from New Orleans.

Some passengers were on foot, but others had remained in their cars with windows rolled up to keep out the cold.

The impact of the collision dumped cars and screaming passengers into the cold, wet water, which reached depths of 80 feet.

Divers searching for survivors on Wednesday reported hearing tapping from the hull, but found only bodies bumping around.

No one was injured aboard Frosta.

"We don't have any idea," said Deputy Sheriff Wallace Fritoux of St. Charles Parish. "There were 30 to 35 autos aboard, with from one to four or five people per car. And we don't know how many foot passengers were aboard."

"We saw the ship moving up the river, and the ship blew its whistle for the ferry four or five times, but the ferry just kept going," said Jerry Mayo, a worker on a sissy ferry that rescued many of the survivors.

Gurney Loses Bid

ORLANDO (AP) — U.S. District Judge George C. Young today denied another defense motion to dismiss a perjury charge against former Sen. Edward R. Gurney.

Young ruled against Gurney's claim of governmental misconduct over failure of the prosecution to provide full records of plea-bargaining agreements with Gurney's former fundraiser, Larry Williams.

Polk And Pal GRADY FOR U.S. SENATE

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk (left) corners Sen. Lawton Chiles during a fund-raising barbecue for Chiles at Mayfair Country Club. Among the estimated 125 persons attending the 2 1/2-hour affair Wednesday night were 3rd District State Rep. Robert Hattaway; Joe Knowles, candidate for State Rep., 34th District; State Sen. John Vogt; Sanford Mayor Lee Moore; Dave Gunter, Seminole County Commission candidate and Sanford city commission hopefuls James Melvin and Larry Blair; Jack Bridges, Chiles' county campaign coordinator and treasurer, said proceeds had not been counted yet but termed the barbecue "a success financially."

Whoami? Who's responsible for sending Democratic County Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski into a tizzy? Kwiatkowski, a staunch Lawton Chiles supporter, strolled into his office one day this week to receive the shock of his life. "Who put that up there?" boomed Kwiatkowski. The "that" turned out to be a campaign poster advertising the assets of none other than Chiles' opponent for the U.S. Senate, John Grady, a Republican and official of the John Birch Society. "I never thought I'd see that," quipped Republican Commissioner John Kimbrough. "Who put that in that blanky-blank up on my wall?" asked Kwiatkowski. "Sid (Whiten) did it," suggested Kimbrough, (who just happens to be a Grady supporter).

Knock! Knock?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The television lights switched on the camera focused on the door, the members of the press stood and the introduction was solemnly made: "Ladies and gentlemen, the President of the United States."

The reporters waited, but nobody came in.

Then there was a rattling and thumping at the door of the White House East Room. President Ford couldn't get in.

Finally, he appeared from another door leading to an adjacent hallway and took his place at the rostrum.

"We just had a doorknob break off," he explained, quickly adding, "You can't blame that on me."

There was some confusion about the doorknob incident. Ford, describing the doorknob affair, said it occurred as he was trying to leave the Oval Office for the walk to the Separate Tables, Page 3-A

He said the Oval Office doorknob came off in the hands of one of his aides, Terrence O'Donnell.

In an effort to record the actual location of the door, a television camera crew later moved in to film a closeup of the vacant spot on the door where the handle had been.

But an alert presidential aide quickly stopped in front of the camera to block the view of the missing doorknob.

'He's Some Little Kid'

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — A New Jersey woman recently released from prison on a drug conviction is trying to get back the son she sold in a motel for $1,200.

"I just keep in my mind that if I can get myself together, there's no reason why I can't get him back," Debbie Intilli said from her relative's home in New Jersey. "He's really some little kid. He's been through a lot."

Joey Intilli is three and has had three homes in his short life. A husky, affectionate boy, he saw his mother last month for the first time in 18 months.

Miss Intilli, 22, hopes her cooperation with authorities in New Jersey and Florida will help her win custody of Joey at a hearing next week in Elizabeth, N.J.

If she gets her son back, she said, she will move to Hollywood, and live with her mother. They've reconciled after previous differences.

She said she had argued with her mother over care of the child when she agreed to sell Joey 18 months ago. She had been living in nearby Lauderdale with Ellen Kalt, who is serving a five-year prison sentence on a fraud conviction in a different baby-sale case.

"I know people will say, 'How could she do a thing like that,' but I thought I was doing the best thing at the time," Miss Intilli said.

When Joey was sold in a Miami motel, his mother said she signed some papers before a baby broker took him to the airport.

The child has been in a foster home since last month. The New York couple who had the boy gave him up to New Jersey authorities after a court ruled last month that they had no claim to him since Miss Intilli refused to sign adoption papers.

"Joey is doing very well," said Judy Fell, a supervisor in the New Jersey Family Services Department. "But all this has got to have some effect on him while he's growing up."

For More Judges, Cases 'Space' Panel Created

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Florida's unemployment rate fell slightly in September as the number of unemployed Floridians decreased by 2,100, officials said today.

However, the 2 per cent drop to a level of 8.4 per cent still kept the state's unemployment figure well above the national average of 7.8 per cent.

Cleveland — is expected to sit down with representatives of the judiciary and the county commission and come up with recommendations to solve the burgeoning need for office and courtroom space.

Exec. Asst. Roger Newmeyer said the Florida Bar Association saw "an impasse" developing between the board and judges. The bar asked commissioners to let Cleveland arbitrate issues in meetings between the two entities.

County Commissioner John Kimbrough at first was skeptical. But after he was informed that decisions made by panel members would be binding — as much as possible — on both the county commission and the judiciary, the Republican commissioner agreed to give it a try.

In January, the county courts will be responsible for caseloads once handled by Longwood, Altamonte Springs, Oviedo, Casselberry and Winter Springs. Sanford already has phased out its city court.

Giuseppi said circuit judges have informed county officials that the case load is shifting to Seminole County. As the case load shifts, so will judges.

Presently 13 circuit judges are assigned to the 18th Judicial Circuit, which includes Seminole and Brevard Counties.

FTC Bars Sears From Using 'Bait-And-Switch' Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission today approved an order that bars Sears, Roebuck and Co., the nation's largest retailer, from using bait-and-switch tactics to sell major home appliances.

Sears, in agreeing to the order, admitted no wrongdoing. But the company said in a statement that "incidents which came to light in the recent FTC hearings were violations of Sears policy as well as FTC standards."

Consumer Price Report Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although inflation has been cut considerably over the past several months, government figures show consumer prices are rising at rates that were considered intolerable only a few years ago.

The September Consumer Price Index, the government's final retail-price report before the election, was due to be released today by the Labor Department.

Government economists say it probably will reflect the basic underlying rate of inflation in the economy.

Gas Rate Hikes Rescinded

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government regulators of natural gas are reducing by $800 million the natural gas price hikes they approved because of prospects that consumers were going to face larger increases than the government intended.

The Federal Power Commission voted Wednesday to rescind 25 percent of the record $2 billion rate increase it granted to natural gas producers last July.

Palmer's Wife Held In Prostitution

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Christine Curtis, 27-year-old wife of Charles J. Palmer, has been transferred to Orange County Jail after being arrested Wednesday afternoon by Seminole Sheriff's deputies at Altamonte Springs on two Orange County prostitution charges.

Ms. Curtis, also known as Cherie F. Blumso, married Palmer two months ago. Palmer is being held in Seminole County Jail on charges of rape, prostitution and incest. He was arrested Oct. 8 on the Seminole County charges following a probe into an alleged prostitution ring that State Atty. Abbott Herring says was operating out of a rental residence at The Springs, west of Longwood.

When booked at county jail in lieu of $2,000 bond on the prostitution charges, Ms. Curtis gave her residence address as Spring Lake Hills Apartments, Altamonte Springs.

Palmer has given 117 Red Cedar, The Springs, as his home address.

Misconduct Charged

In other arrests, William D. Carr, 36, 514 Oak St., Altamonte Springs, was charged in a Seminole Circuit Court warrant with delivery of controlled substance. Bond on the charge was set at $2,000.

Sheriff's detectives today were investigating the strong-arm robbery of a food store clerk Wednesday night in southwest Seminole.

Deputy W. Jackson Starr said a woman clerk told deputies two men entered the Little Food Town Store, 2550 Bear Lake Road, near the Orange County line, about 6 p.m. One of the men dropped a glass container of orange juice taken from a cooler and the clerk took the glass to a rear storage room one of the men grabbed her and demanded money from the store's cash register.

College Faculty Union Wants 66% Hike

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The newest round of contract fight for 5,500 faculty and staff at the state's new universities has opened with union negotiators demanding a 66-percent pay hike.

University officials estimated that such a pay increase would cost $87 million over last year's salaries.

Negotiators for the United Faculty of Florida presented the demands Wednesday at a bargaining session with representatives of the Board of Regents.

The first contract between the two groups was ratified last week, but it contained a clause allowing negotiations to begin immediately on new salary demands, fringe benefits and submittal leaves.

Union leaders said the 25-percent pay hike and 66-month increases in the first contract were far below what the faculty deserved. They said they only agreed because the legislature had already determined how much money was available for salaries.

The demands presented Wednesday were the same as those made at the start of the first talks and then dropped because of the legislative action.

The union proposal would raise a full-professor's nine-month average salary from $22,810 to a top of $35,500 after five years.

An instructor's nine-month salary would go from an average of $11,300 to a top after three years of $14,974; an assistant professor's pay would go from $13,740 to $18,994 and an associate professor's salary would increase from $18,480 to a maximum of $25,700.

After briefly reviewing the demands, negotiators recessed until Nov. 10. Regulators said they would probably have a counterproposal ready by late November.

However, Caesar Naples, chief regents negotiator, said that serious bargaining probably would not begin until December because he needed to have the latest estimates of state tax revenue.

In addition to minimum pay hikes, the union also sought guaranteed promotional and merit increases and quarterly cost-of-living boosts.

Ken Megill, chief union negotiator, said that Chancellor E.T. York said last year that a 23.8-percent increase was justified and would only bring employees up to the 1972-73 level.

"It is obvious that faculty and professional employees have been greatly underpaid in the

Grand Jury Hears Ex-Utility Chief

The Seminole County Grand Jury was in session today at Sanford in what observers speculated could be a probe concerning Caselleberry city government or its officials.

A tight lid of secrecy was clamped on the proceedings by Seminole-Brevard State Attorney Abbott Herring's office, as former Caselleberry utilities director John Lane was closed with the grand jurors for well over an hour.

Lane became Caselleberry's first utility director in the spring of 1973, resigning Oct. 8 to accept a $20,000-a-year job with the City of Cape Coral. His family is still living in Caselleberry and he is commuting weekends between Cape Coral and Caselleberry.

There were no indications of how long the grand jury session might last. On Wednesday the grand jurors are believed to have considered cases involving juveniles, because authorities who handle juvenile cases were observed near the grand jury chamber.

Separate Tables Set For Carter And Ford

By The Associated Press
Jimmy Carter and President Ford are heading for the same political dinner tonight and, although their paths will cross, the candidates don't plan to run into each other.

Both candidates are scheduled to be at the Al Smith dinner in New York City tonight. But their schedules have been carefully tailored to keep them from seeing each other. Ford's schedule calls for him to show up at 7 p.m. EDT and leave at 8:30 p.m., with Carter arriving at 9 p.m. and staying for about an hour.

The nonpartisan dinner honors the former New York Democratic governor who was the first Catholic presidential candidate. It is a historic event in New York politics, particularly in presidential election years, and is looked upon as a "virtual obligatory event" by all candidates seeking the Catholic vote.

Carter has been criticized by some members of the Catholic Church hierarchy because he is opposed to a constitutional amendment that would outlaw abortions. Carter, however, says he is personally opposed to abortion.

Ford at one point also opposed a constitutional amendment on abortion, but he now says he would favor an amendment that would let each state decide the abortion question on its own.

Both candidates spent Wednesday at home as they prepared for Friday's final debate in Williamsburg, Va. Their running mates, Democratic Sen. Walter Mondale and Republican Sen. Bob Dole, were campaigning.

Ford held a news conference Wednesday as his "event of the day." And he invited Hungarian freedom fighters to the White House today in what appeared to be another effort to repair damage done when he asserted two weeks ago that the Soviets do not dominate their Eastern European satellites.

Ford, who pardoned resigned President Richard M. Nixon, said he does not plan to issue pardons to other Watergate figures. Asked by a reporter who said there was speculation that pardons would be forthcoming for former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and Nixon aide H. R. Haldean — John Ehrlichman, Ford replied: "There is absolutely no validity whatsoever to that rumor."

Ford's attorney general, Edward H. Levi, said shortly after the news conference that the Justice Department will not in-

The district five county commission race listed on the election ballot in Seminole lists the names of two well-known Sanford families — Alexander and Kirchhoff.

John Alexander, 46, a Democrat, is seeking return to the county commission after a six-year retirement from the political arena.

Alexander served two terms on the county board and was elected chairman by his colleagues for six of the eight years.

Although William E. (Bill) Kirchhoff, 37, has never served in elective office, he was a member of the Seminole County Planning and Zoning Commission for four years, and its chairman for 3½ years prior to resigning to seek the county commission post.

The commissioners must reside within given geographical districts, but run for office countywide.

Kirchhoff: Ah, Those Days Watching The Trains

Sanford was a different, more railroad-oriented community, during the years Bill Kirchhoff was growing up.

"When I was a child, we used to go to the railroad yard and roundhouse to watch the engines being serviced just after World War II. Sanford was a major railroad center for Central Florida then," Kirchhoff recalls.

"Afterwards we watched as hundreds of trains were being scrapped or sent to South America. Where there are three railroad tracks in Sanford now, there were nine tracks back then, and something was always going on for young people to watch," he said.

Kirchhoff's father was a farmer, growing gladiolus to supply the major marketing centers in New York, Chicago and Detroit. He had farms in various strategic spots where the flowers were in bloom. The family happened to be in Niagara Falls, N. Y., when Kirchhoff was born.

The Kirchhoffs soon moved to Florida, and young Kirchhoff's father bought the old Mayfair Hotel which later became Sanford Naval Academy.

"It was like a big family at the hotel with the guests, mostly older, retired and successful people. The hotel was open in the winter, but during the summertime the guests were local people," he said. They became young Kirchhoff's playmates and he learned chess, bridge and other adult games with them.

He had a paper route and worked during the summers as a dishwasher and bellboy in upscale New York hotels while in high school, graduating from Seminole High School with the 88-member class of 1957. Part of the class went off to the services and many to attend educational pursuits.

Kirchhoff attended Georgia Tech for one year and then the University of Florida where he received his degree in government and history.

He served three years in the U.S. Navy as a lieutenant junior grade and was in the inactive reserves for a number of years.

Kirchhoff and his wife, Carol, a native of Tampa, met in geography class while attending the University of Florida. They have two sons, Bill, almost 14, and Eric, 12, both students at Sanford Middle School. The boys are often mistaken as twins.

Mrs. Kirchhoff is employed in Seminole County Property Appraiser Terry Goebel's office in the land-appraisal department.

Kirchhoff's hobbies include restoring old cars and old houses, reading historical novels and history books particularly concerning the history of Sanford and Seminole County. He collects stamps, old bottles, enjoys yard work and plays tennis.

He is a stockbroker with Reynolds Securities Inc.

Wednesday's straw vote by people and staff at South Side Elementary School, Sanford, ended in a resounding victory for Jimmy Carter over President Ford. Finally! 283-117

Independent presidential candidate Eugene McCarthy was in Sanford, Or., where he said Ford and Carter are not informing the voters of their views on foreign policy.

McCarthy said neither candidate has considered foreign policy beyond the question of military strength, adding: "There should have been a discussion on whether or not we are already overarmed."

East Europe Is Flimsy Issue

The second debate has thrust the "Eastern European issue" into center stage in the presidential campaign. When the subject is finally talked out, however, we wonder if there is really an issue there at all.

Former Gov. Jimmy Carter is working it to the hilt. "We will never accept permanent Soviet domination over countries that want to be free, and you can depend on that," he declared at a meeting of Polish-Americans.

Three cheers for Carter, but when President Ford's position emerges from the semantic fog that he himself put it in during the debate, it's virtually the same. The United States does not regard the Communist yoke on Eastern Europe as an irreconcilable condition.

There is no mechanism, of course, for us to "enforce" the Helsinki agreement. If he believes the United States should curtail trade with Russia to try to get the Communists to be more lenient with their people, he had a chance to say so when the question was put directly to him in the debate.

President Ford's stumbling misrepresentation of his approach to Eastern Europe is something he has to answer for, but the policy itself hardly needs defending. It is a cheap shot for Carter to be suggesting that the President had been "brainwashed" by the Communists.

This campaign seems to have more than its share of speaking now and thinking later, on both sides. Carter has had to apologize to Lady Bird Johnson for calling her late husband a liar, and he is still cleaning his shoes from his walk through the pages of Playboy.

Growing Burden

The nation's "progressive" tax structure, which is designed to distribute the tax burden so that wealthy families carry a higher proportion of the load, has been distorted over the past two decades.

In short, life has been a Chinese fire drill (a state of great confusion). Yet despite all the problems of the 60s and early 70s, the upicks and downicks of the stock market, skyrocketing real estate prices, and rampant inflation, the average family's earnings in 1975, the weather group paid little more than 29 percent.

The narrowing gap can be attributed to dramatic increases in personal property and retail sales taxes, together with a continuing spiral in the flat-rate Social Security tax, which has become nothing more than another income tax and regressive in nature.

The next hike in the Social Security assessment, due Jan. 1, will increase the levy on individuals earning $16,500 or more annually by about 70.

The growing burden on low-income families increases the pressure for real tax reform to acknowledge the income tax distortions caused by inflation. It also emphasizes the need for Social Security reform to provide general tax support for a program that has been expanded far beyond its original limited, specialized goals.

BERRY'S WORLD

Around

The Clock

By NORM OSHRIN

Watching the current World Series can be an unique opportunity for the hundreds of thousands of "ants" in our society. They can use it to absorb their negativity for the Nov. 2 election.

For them there is an alternative to staying home Election Day. They can, if they wish, continue the growing trend of voting against one of the candidates instead of for the other one. It can be a satisfying experience.

To perfect this negativity and "anti-ism," every bit of practice helps. And the World Series is the ideal place to do it. What better way than by rooting against the New York Yankees — even if you're not too crazy about their opponents, the Cincinnati Reds.

The Yankees have been helped to foster and encourage negative feelings of thousands against the organization — particularly by old-time Brooklyn Dodger fans in addition to independent Yankee haters. And all for valid reasons.

DON OAKLEY

Funky Rap From Our Fat City

It will surprise no one who has lived through the past decade and a half to be told that the world has vastly changed in that period. What may be a surprise is just how greatly the vocabulary we use to describe and explain that world to ourselves and others has also changed.

In the past 15 years, more new words have been added to the English language, as spoken by Americans, than perhaps any time in our history.

The G. C. Merriman Co. has published 6,000 of them in a special supplement to its Webster's Third New International Dictionary. It is a book that is a difficult to put down as the monstrous thing it is to lift up.

It's all there, from Age of Aquarius to nich, from aerospace to ZPG (zero population growth) — these and other words or terms that have become such a familiar part of the vocabulary that we forget how recent they are.

As in the past, the most prolific sources of new words have been science and technology. Space flight, for example, gave us moonwalk and earthrise. Astronomy quosars and black holes. Physics: a host of subatomic particles, as well as megadeath (one million deaths, a unit of measurement in reference to atomic war) and the means to deliver it — the smart bomb.

But social change and ferment, as reflected in the antiwar movement, integration, the new sexual permissiveness and the search for personal identity, also contributed to the growth of the language.

Ego trip, counterculture, chairperson, funky for only a few examples, were developed to describe new ways of living, new ideas, new philosophies.

The Yankee organization through the years has earned the reputation of treating its people with less than a complete lack of loyalty and capriciously, arbitrarily and cavalierly. A few cases in point: Yogi Berra — fired after guiding the Yankees to a pennant. They lost the Series and Yogi lost a job.

Red Barber — former Yankee announcer who got the ax for telling it like it is that the revered Yankee Stadium was more empty than gold on one night several years ago when the team was playing badly.

Mel Allen — another former announcer, long the voice of the Yankees. But, after all that devotion and dedication, one day he was gone. No clear explanation has ever been given.

The DeBary Republican Club will begin its program at 7 p.m. Monday in the Community Center with the televised debate between GOP candidates for the U.S. Senate, Dr. John Grady, and Sen. Lawton Chiles.

Personal appearances will be made by Lee Strong, candidate for the Florida Legislature. Dr. Presentations will be made for President Ford, Dr. Grady and Public Service Commissioner Paula Hawkins.

At 8 p.m. Republican candidates or their representatives will speak to the organization. Presentations will be made for President Ford, Dr. Grady and Public Service Commissioner Paula Hawkins.

Writing this month in The New York Times, Haywood Burns, the former national director of the National Conference of Black Lawyers, says: "It may be inconvenient to ignore the race question inherent in capital punishment but it is far from honest. (The) simple fact remains that the decision to permit the reintroduction of the death penalty was decision to kill hundreds of persons, mostly racial-minority members."

Washington — It is often alleged that we have a double-standard of justice in this country — one for rich, white people, another for poor, black people — and that the most blatant example of this injustice is the way the death penalty is applied.

According To Letter From American Seaman Soviet Sub Rammed U.S. Navy Frigate

TAMPA (AP) — A Soviet nuclear-powered submarine appeared to turn toward the U.S. Navy frigate Voge and head directly at it before the ships collided in the Indian Sea on Aug. 23, a Voge crewman told relatives.

The seaman's letter describing the collision, which damaged both ships, was made available to The Tampa Tribune and printed today. The Tribune did not identify the sailor.

The sailor got his camera and went to the ship's stern where he was joined by about 30 other crewmen. "Well, the sub was there all right, about two miles out, coming lower awash, speed 18 knots, course parallel to ours... then I noticed his con. (conning tower) get skinnier. The sub had turned towards us at an angle sort of like he was aiming at us."

Agents Search Drug Freighter

The 225-foot vessel was set on the high seas off the Bahamas last Friday after the United States received approval from the Panamanian government to do so.

When the ship was seized, officials estimated the marijuana aboard at 90 tons. Coast Guard officials later doubled the estimate, saying boarding crews had found more marijuana in another section of the ship.

5th-Graders Get Drinking Class

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — Fifth and eighth graders are getting the facts about hard liquor after a survey showed that more than one-third of Florida's high school students drink alcohol.

The state education officials said the first group to complete the program was a fifth grade class of 40 pupils at Timucuan Elementary School here.

It also said they know there is nothing wrong with choosing not to use it. The said a preliminary test of the pupils showed that many didn't know the legal age for purchasing alcohol or that coffee and cold showers won't sober a drunk or that alcohol is not an effective remedy for colds and make-ups.

Small Firms Losing

NEW YORK (AP) — You figure it out if you can: If there is so much support for small and medium-size business in the United States, why does it weaken in relation to big business and big government?

Some 15 years ago one of every four persons in the civilian labor force worked for government or for one of the 500 largest independent concerns. Now it is close to one of three.

You can measure the trend in other ways too. The National Small Business Association comments that in 1960 small and medium-size businesses accounted for 50 percent of assets and 41 percent of profits. In 1973 the numbers had fallen to 30 percent and 20 percent respectively.

Authorities of various persuasions agree that small and medium-size business is often the most responsive to the community's needs, the most innovative, the most vigorous, the most expressive of the nation's vitality.

"A whole lot of this is the fault of small business," concedes Milton Stewart, president of the association. In the past, he says, small business permitted the parties and the candidates to provide more lip service.

Meanwhile, he continues, "mistaken federal tax, spending, regulatory and other policies" permitted the very largest corporations, unions and government to grow at the expense of the "independent sector."

Now the association is checking up on the statements supporting independent business from both President Ford and his Democratic opponent, Jimmy Carter. Carter even promised to establish yardsticks to measure growth.

The association has established eight issues which it believes are important to the survival and growth of independent business, the vital of which is to halt the big business-big government trend.

"For small business, the ultimate measurable tests of the success of the next administration and the 96th and 98th Congress will be whether the independent sector... outgrows government."

All candidates for the Senate and House were asked their opinion. Forty Senate candidates and 40 House aspirants responded. No less than 94 per cent expressed some degree of agreement.

Doing Her Own Thing

Receptionist To Owner: Not All Luck

Beverly Campbell demonstrates tiny hearing aid

By MARVILYN K. TIPTON
Herald Correspondent

Beverly Campbell talks about how lucky she's been. But listen briefly and you will know that her "luck" is based on that guaranteed formula: hard work and self-discipline.

"I started work at 17. My hours were from nine to five. I was always there at eight and seldom left before six. I learned all I could from the people around me, who were willing to work with me because of my own effort."

That first job, as receptionist at a hearing aid retailer, was the beginning of a life-long love affair with manufacturing — a love which, according to a college advisory service, comes naturally. "They told me it should do well in any kind of manufacturing, particularly in the administrative end. So I took the job as manager of Magnatone Hearing Aid Corporation in Miami. Six months later I bought the company."

A smile spills across the sun-kissed face. "When I first purchased the company I found myself deeply in debt. Working from eight a.m. till ten or eleven at eight was not unusual. On weekends the children (Cindy and Donald) and I would go camping. While they played I sat in the van with my typewriter and books."

Mrs. Campbell recalls, "One of our Miami employees lived in Castleterry and commuted between here and Miami, so we all heard a great deal about the area. When our lease ran out the building was sold from under us, so we decided to move. I wanted to live in this area, and put my children in school in Seminole County."

That smile happens again. The Chamber of Commerce would be pleased. "We brought five of our employees with us. They just sold their homes and came along. One man left his own partnership to come up here and work with us!"

Though the company keeps an engineer quite busy working on new developments in the field, Mrs. Campbell notes, "We are still a small company though we are rapidly growing. Perhaps the most exciting involvement we have right now is our custom made hearing aid, which fits entirely into the ear, needs no battery and is completely re-chargeable. We sell to retail outlets around the country and Canada — we even sell to Taiwan."

The phone rings. Bev Campbell answers it herself. It is apparent she still believes that hard work breeds good luck.

Service League, Pioneers Collecting Old Hearing Aids

During November, the Service League and the East Orlando Telephone Pioneers are sponsoring a month-long drive to collect hearing aids for persons who need them but cannot afford them.

Hearing aids may be taken to area seven-eleven stores where envelopes are available for the deposit of the aids.

These will be picked up and reconditioned, if necessary, by the Easter Seal Society. Once ready, the Easter Seal Society will distribute them where they are needed.

Leave your name and address with the hearing aid you deposit. The Easter Seal Society will later mail a letter to be used as a receipt, and to make the gift tax deductible.

Nudity Upsets 10-Year-Old's Parents

DEAR ABBY: Our 10-year-old daughter, I'll call her Mary, has been bathing her 5-year-old brother for two years. She does a good job, and it's a big help to her mother's aching back.

Last week Mary's little girlfriend, whom I'll call Amy, came over. Mary let Amy help bathe her little brother. You don't believe this, but the next day Amy's mother phoned me to say that she and her husband were "furious" because we allowed Amy to see a naked male! She said they hadn't planned on seeing anything, because in my view they haven't.

FLABBERGASTED

DEAR ABBY: A woman wanted to know if medical treatment was in order for her husband, who had lately lost all interest in sex. That letter is from Phoenix, Ariz., it's from my wife, and I'd like to answer her this way:

Dear Wife: No, my dear, medical treatment is not in order for ME, but it may be that YOU could use some. When I married you 10 years ago, you were 5 foot 3 and weighed 117. Today you won't even get on a scale, but I know you must weigh at least 170 and are about six ax handles across the rear. Since bearing our two wonderful children, you have decided that your job is done, so you feed your face and grow fatter. The housework never gets done unless you're expecting company.

I'm not planning on leaving you. I think too much of the kids. But I must admit that the thought of kicking your fat can all the way back to LeMars, Iowa, has crossed my mind a couple of times.

FED UP IN PHOENIX

DEAR ABBY: A woman who belongs to my bridge club recently made a needlepoint sampler bearing the following message: "NEEDLEPOINT HAS REPLACED SEX!"

She framed it and hung it in her den where we play bridge. Ever since she displayed it, she has had the nerve to bring out her needlepoint — even when she's dumpy.

SELF-CONSCIOUS

Dear Abby

Abby, Mary's bathing her little brother was so normal and innocent for this household that I never gave it a second thought. How can I explain to Mary why Amy can't sleep over again? I don't want the girls to think they've done anything wrong, because in my view they haven't.

Recital, Band Shows Hosted By Stetson

French Baritone Gerard Souzay will perform a recital at Stetson University Oct. 22 at 8 p.m. in Elizabeth Hall Auditorium.

Souzay has performed at the Vienna, Salzburg, Casals and Aix-en-Provence Festivals. He has sung with the Boston Symphony, New York Philharmonic, Philadelphia Orchestra and the Chicago Symphony.

The program will include a group of Italian works by Peri, Quaglianti, Calzanti and Scarlatti. Souzay will also sing selections, from works by Gounod, Duparc, Brahams, Haydn and DeFalla. He will be accompanied by pianist Dalton Baldwin.

The recital is sponsored by the Stetson University Artists and lecturers Committee.

Souzay's performance is open to the public. There will be a $2.00 admission fee.

In addition, the Stetson University Symphony Band will give its first concert of the season Oct. 22 at 8 p.m. in Elizabeth Hall Auditorium.

The Symphony Band, under the direction of Frank Stubbs, is a group of wind and percussion players. The program will open with "Grand Dialogue for Winds" by Eugene Diguez; Toccata by Girolamo Frescobaldi; "Jubilant, An Overture" by Robert Ward and "Marches des Parachutistes Belges" by Pierra Leemans.

"Pomp and Circumstance" by Alan Hovhaness with trumpet soloist, David Trigg, freshman, from Mantland; the program will conclude with the "First Suite in E flat for Military Band" by Gustav Holst and "March from Symphonie Metamorphose of Thomas Carl Maria von Weber" by Paul Hindemith.

The concert is open to the public. A $1 donation to the School of Music Endowment Fund is requested at the door.

Mail Hosts Bromeliad Show

The Bromeliad Society of Central Florida will hold its first bromeliad show Nov. 5-7, at the Altamonte Mall in cooperation with the merchants of the Mall. The Society, organized informally in 1972, elected officers and became affiliated with the international Bromeliad Society in 1974.

Unlike the typical garden club, half of the local Bromeliad Society members are men. The membership ranges from teenagers to octogenarians, from students to professional people. The Society meets at 7:30 p.m. the fourth Monday of each month in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan branch on South Orange Avenue at Michigan Street. Members come from as far as Ormond Beach, Palm Bay, Kissimmee, and Mt. Dora to these meetings. The Society publishes a monthly bulletin.

The public is invited to enter plants in the show along with the exhibitors for competition. Exhibitors should bring their plants to the entry table in the Mall on Nov. 4, between 7 and 8:30 p.m., or Nov. 5, between 7:30 and 8:30 a.m.

Plant lovers thinking of entering their bromeliads should consider some aspects of grooming their specimens to present the best possible appearance. First, don't wait until the day before the show; start now to evaluate possible entries. Select them for symmetry, good color, and attractive markings. Use a pot which is pleasingly proportional to the size of the plant. See that the pot is clean and that the plant is nicely centered.

Leaves, cobwebs, and wildlife should be removed from the plant. Some garden supply houses can furnish 12 to 15 inch tweezers which are very helpful in this task. Wipe the foliage clean with water.

Gurney Knew, Swears Fundraiser

ORLANDO (AP) — Former Sen. Edward J. Gurney was not surprised when he was told in June 1973 about illegal fund-raising operations which netted more than $100,000, his one-time fund raiser says.

The ex-senator was indicted on seven counts in the fund-raising scandal which ended his career. He was acquitted of five charges in a Tampa trial last year. The jury deadlocked on the remaining two counts, perjury and conspiracy charges, and the government dropped the conspiracy count last month.

Williams served five months in prison after plea bargaining with the government. Defense counsel C. Harris Dittmar lost another attempt to get the case dismissed when Williams testified that Gurney was not the physical owner and Mr. Groot and Mr.

"One $10,000 payment I sent by wire to Mr. Groot" in Gurney's office in Washington "for a market research poll for Mr. Gurney," Williams said.

Williams also testified that in the summer of 1971, Gurney accepted the use of a condominium apartment for a vacation in San Juan, Puerto Rico from Kramer.

What Emphasis On Winning?
Button, button... who's got the button? This is no set of nursery games they play this weekend, but by the same token don't look for a world beater in the bunch of games involving Seminoles County teams.

The question which arises is simply do we place too much emphasis on winning? To be sure, there are instances where a coach or even a player could abuse others in his relentless quest for victory. On the other hand, striving to win is what everyone plays for. And perhaps the greatest reward of a young athlete's life will be the knowledge that he met, battled and triumphed over an opponent.

The feeling of victory could surpass achievements in business or personal life. A high point of his life. Certainly, winning will linger longer than losing. The ultimate feeling of a victory or defeat, however, rests with the individual. And probably their role in either will reflect the degree of influence.

Opponents of a high degree of emphasis on winning might want to consider the case of every member of the Seminoles High team, right down to the bench warmers and water boys. That victory over Gainesville will never be erased. I picture those players recalling the score sheets from now, perhaps with grandchildren on their knees. Yes, sir! Now that was a game, Johnny. No one could, or should, attempt to tamper with the sweet vibration of victory.

On the other hand, take a peek at teams at the elsewhere in the county. Lake Brantley, Lake Howell, Oviedo and Lyman are mired in losing seasons. They might not wind up that way, or at least have their moments before the season is over. But what if they don't? Decades from now do you tell their grandchildren they were losers? I think not. The point is they can tell their children's children that they played football, proudly if that is the case. Unable to claim a champion's role, they none-the-less have experienced the tension of one-on-one confrontation and will have derived a great deal of satisfaction from the way they accepted that challenge.

MIAMI (AP) — The Miami Dolphins and Tampa Bay Buccaneers will have more in common than just losing streaks when they collide here Sunday — both are having trouble with holding penalties. Last Sunday while losing to Seattle, Miami had four holding penalties called in the first half in its loss to Kansas City. Three were declined by the Chiefs.

Weather Not Who'll Win Series Woe

NEW YORK (AP) — The Winter Game has become a summer game and the wait could end tonight. The drama series that most of the October Classics usually enjoy, took a night off Wednesday, please nobody.

Not the all-but-vanquished New York Yankees. Not the all-but-bored fans. "I don't like a day off. I would like to get it over with. The season's over. I want to go home," Cincinnati's Ed Conception said after Wednesday night's game was washed out.

The Yankees, he, says can't keep playing their game because it hasn't worked. The pressure is really on them now," McEnaney says. "They have to throw away their game plan and start from scratch. Ed Figueroa will be the Yankee starter. But the rain delay has given him an option. He could start Catfish Hunter.

Because of the debate between presidential candidates Jimmy Carter and Gerald Ford, the game originally scheduled for 8:30 p.m. may be pushed up to an afternoon or twilight starting time. The Reds came into this Series trying to achieve a feat unaccomplished by a National League team since the 1921-22 New York Giants, namely to win successive World Series.

The Yanks say they are not about to roll over and play dead. "We're not quitters," says Martin. "I'm not a quitter and my guys aren't. We have been a comeback club all

MIAMI (AP) — The Miami Dolphins and Tampa Bay Buccaneers will have more in common than just losing streaks when they collide here Sunday — both are having trouble with holding penalties. Last Sunday while losing to Seattle, Miami had four holding penalties called in the first half in its loss to Kansas City. Three were declined by the Chiefs.

"I've never seen so many penalties in my life. I wish they (officials) had to coach one of the teams," said Bucs' Coach John McKay, whose expansion team has lost all six National Football League games. "The thing that I've noticed is that the referees who previous to this had seldom called holding penalties — unless the were very flagrant — are now throwing more flags than I've ever seen them throw before," said Dolphins' Coach Don Shula, whose 2-4 club has lost three straight games.

OK, George, that's three with mushrooms, two with anchovies and one with extra cheese...

Jackson's Three TDs Boost Crooms, 28-2

Dennis Hardy (11) picks up loose ball, Jackson watches.

Sweet, Branch Defensive Keys

Arthur Jackson carried the ball, and Gene Sweet and Reggie Branch came up with their coach's praise for some unheralded defensive work Wednesday night as the Crooms High freshman football team crushed Bishop Moore's ninth grade squad, 28-2.

Jackson had touchdown runs of 54, 65 and 50 yards in pacing Crooms to its second win in four games. He wound up with 246 yards on 16 carries. In all, Crooms rushed for 389 yards. Bobby Wells scored Crooms' fourth TD, intercepting a pass and running 41 yards for the score.

Oviedo Lions Take On Titusville Astronauts

One just has to admire the spirit of those Oviedo Lions. Trapped in the middle of a rebuilding campaign and showing a record of only one win in six games, the team carries its head high, and as coach Joe Montgomery puts it, "this is a beginning." The Lions have been mired in losing seasons for as long as oranges have been growing in that section of the county, so it might seem. However, the new spirit prevails and Montgomery expects it to surface any week now in form of old man upset. "The team has made strides in a number of areas even if we have a 1-5 record. And I'm proud of them for what they have accomplished." This week's opponent is Astronaut of Titusville, hardly a pushover. Still, the Lions are growing, because this might be the week.

Coach Joe Montgomery's team is eager to battle the Astronauts in the big bout this week.

Well, Since You Asked ...

Q. When asked recently why a batter is not just waded to first base for intentional walks, you replied, "Because logic does not dictate baseball." On the contrary, it more logical that there must be thrown ... because in baseball anything can happen. — Martin Carroll, Kentworth, N.J.

Q. Who is now the highest paid player in professional football, and how much is he paid? — R.T. Olson, N.Y.

Q. What do they mean by the Australian formation in tennis doubles? — R.L. Fountain Valley, Calif.

Q. Why are so many pro teams going to the three-man line defense? It seems that it would weaken them against the running attack. — T.J. Oakland, Calif.

Q. There is an apparent shortage of the big, mobile linebackers that it takes to employ the standard 3-4 defense in football. Linebackers are in greater supply. Ergo, the 3-4-4. And it can be effective against the run if you have a nose guard like Curley Culp of the Houston Oilers, who contains the middle, and active, physical linebackers. The defense is nothing more than the old Oklahoma line defense, dressed up in new terminology (the Raiders call it their "Orange" defense, the Dolphins call it the "33") and provides good pursuit angles.

Q. If it is possible, would you please explain in the shortest space allowed the difference between the T, the wishbone and the veer formations? — J.C. O'Donnell, Huntington Beach, Calif.

NBA To Open Tonight; Celtics Meet Pacers

By The Associated Press
The Boston Celtics, bloodied and battered but as yet unbowed, begin defense of their National Basketball Association championship tonight when they take on the Indiana Pacers in one of four National Basketball Association season openers.

The Los Angeles Lakers, with Jerry West at the helm, take on the New York Knicks; the Houston Rockets open under Tom Nissalke against the Atlanta Hawks, and the Buffalo Braves, led by Tales Locke, meet the Milwaukee Bucks.

Power forward Paul Silas was traded to Denver Wednesday in a three-way deal that brings Curtis Rowe from Detroit, but Rowe isn't expected to play in the opener.

Sidney Wickert, purchased from Portland last week in an effort to bolster the frontcourt, will start at one forward position, although he has been hampered by a groin pull. "He'll go as far as he can, but we don't know how far that will be," a Celtics spokesman said.

Havlicek and Cowens are also penciled in as starters, but if Steve Kuberski and Jim Ard will get the call.

Indiana, meanwhile, has its own problems. Perhaps the least imposing of the four ABA teams to be admitted to the expanded NBA, the Pacers were further weakened by the loss of starting center Len Elmore and reserve guard Kevin Joyce, both of whom are out for the season with knee injuries.

Desjardins' Idea Works For Shutout

By The Associated Press
The times of game-day worry are past for Buffalo Sabres goaltender Gerry Desjardins. "On the day of a game, I try not to think about the game I used to," said the veteran goalie after his 4-0 shutout of the Vancouver Canucks Wednesday night. "It's not easy, but I try to keep my mind off hockey on game days."

Termite, Vincent On Card

ORLANDO — Southern lightweight champion Termitte Watkins, and state welterweight line Joey Vincent, appear in 10-round title defenses Tuesday night at Orlando Sports Stadium.

Watkins, of Houston, meets Leroy Walker of Miami Beach, while Vincent defends against former titleholder Ponce Ortiz of Miami.

Watkins, considered the brightest 135-pound prospect in the country, is just 23 years old. He and Walker collided last year in a San Carlos, Calif., main event, when Walker was fighting out of the Golden State.

Termitte won an eight-round TKO when the referee saved a badly cut Walker, who bitterly complained the damage was inflicted by butts. Walker labeled Watkins the "dirtiest fighter I ever met," and vows revenge here in Florida.

Watkins took the Florida 147-pound crown from Oris June 22, in a wild brawl that saw a total of five knockdowns before Orlando's "Mr. Excitement" Lee Jr., former FAMU vice president, and former Atlanta Braves baseball player Bill Lucas.

World War II Criminal Charges To Be Heard Nightmare Of Europe To Be Re-Lived

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nightmare of wartime Europe will be re-lived in three U.S. courtrooms next month as federal authorities attempt to drop three aging immigrants accused of atrocities against Jews more than 30 years ago.

The hearings before federal immigration judges in New Britain, Conn., Baltimore and New York City will be, in effect, this country's first trials for crimes committed during World War II.

The charges mark a turning point in the government's efforts to track down and deport Nazi war criminals living in the United States. In these cases and others to come, government lawyers are relying on the memories of Jews who watched in horror as their friends and neighbors were beaten and slain by the hundreds in prisons and concentration camps.

About 20 who escaped the persecution and now live in Israel will be brought to the United States to testify in the three hearings, said Verne Jervis, spokesman for the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The defendants are Bronius Kaminkas, a 73-year-old Lithuanian who lives alone in a 120-week room in Hartford, Conn.; Karlis Delava, 65, who retired from his Baltimore factory job after being a left to cancer three years ago; and Boleslav Malinkovskis, a 72-year-old retired carpenter in Mineola, N.Y.

Kaminkas and Delava have told reporters they are innocent of the charges. Malinkovskis has refused to see reporters and has made no comment on the charges.

The INS judges could take several weeks to announce their decision. The loser, whether it's the defendant or the agency, may appeal to the Board of Immigration Appeals. The defendant, if he loses there, could take the case to the courts and ultimately to the Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, INS investigators are gathering evidence in 77 other cases that could lead to deportation orders or lawsuits to strip naturalized Americans of their citizenship.

The agency has announced plans to launch denaturalization proceedings against four accused war criminals but will not identify them until the suits are filed. This requires Justice Department approval.

Through the 1950s and 1960s, Jervis said, the INS periodically looked into war crimes cases, but no charges were brought and the effort ranked low in priority.

The current effort began three years ago when Leonard F. Chapman took office as INS commissioner and was questioned by the House immigration subcommittee.

"It was clear to him that the war crimes investigation was one of the things the subcommittee wanted him to do," Jervis said.

Subcommittee Chairman Joshua Ellberg, D-Pa., and member Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., in particular have pushed for a probe.

"The interest of the subcommittee was certainly a factor" in raising the effort to a high priority in the agency, Jervis acknowledged.

Ellberg frequently has complained that the agency has taken much too long to bring the first charges.

One explanation, Jervis said, is that "the size and scope and depth of this is something new for this agency. A worldwide investigation is a new experience for us."

There are only three previous cases in which the INS has attempted to deport immigrants for alleged war crimes.

Deportation charges were initiated against Hermone Braunsteiner Ryan of New York City in 1972. During the process, the West German government initiated extradition proceedings. She was extradited to West Germany in August 1973, and is now on trial there for murder.

A deportation case was brought in 1953 against Andrija Artukovic of Seal Beach, Calif., who is wanted in Yugoslavia on charges of murdering

Blood Pressure Needs Attention

By Lawrence R. Lamb, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB - I am 46 years old, weigh 210 pounds and am 5 feet 4. By the time I get to the doctor's office my blood pressure is 180 over 120.

My doctor had me on several medicines before trying Ser-Ap-Es. After three weeks on that medicine I had nightmares, severe depression and was thinking of ways to commit suicide. At times I was unable to control my arm muscles, and it felt like a cereal bowl was embedded in the top of my head. I had a general mental change. I changed doctors and was put on Natriuretic. With the first pill I felt like I wanted to climb a tree. I was probably about taking one of the mild diuretics - water pills. I would comment "Diuretic" or "Hydrodiuretic" and nothing else. These do nothing to your nervous system and act only to eliminate salt and water. They will help lower your pressure some and probably enough to keep you out of danger.

The first I was up to you. That means a dedicated weight control program. To help you I am sending you the Health Letter number 47. Weight Loss Diet. Others who send this information can save 20 cents, with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. I'll just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1501, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10101. It's not a long time to get that heavy and it will take a long time to get rid of it. Stay on that diet no matter what. Don't let your friends or family distract you.

Start an exercise program and walk, walk, walk. Walk a short distance that doesn't tire you and then gradually increase the amount every day. Try to build up to walking at least an hour every day. You don't need to walk fast. Just every day. Go to a shopping mall to walk if one is nearby if you don't want to do it out of doors.

If you are able to swim you could also begin swimming every day. Don't allow some health club, though, to get you to do anything more strenuous than walking or swimming until you have lost a great deal of weight.

South ruffed a club and led a diamond to his lack and West's ace. At this point West fell asleep. He led a second trump. South won with dummy's king, came to his hand, with the king of diamonds and eventually discarded a spade on dummy's last diamond to make four hearts doubled and score 580 points.

The board wasn't an exact tie. The bidding went the same way at the other table except that North bid just three hearts. West made a hungry double and defended the hand one trick better. He did take his ace of spades and give his partner a trick with the king, but that South made three hearts doubled for a score of 530.

CRASH-LANDING IN GENEVA

Single-engine plane lies in cow pasture near Geneva where it crashed late Thursday afternoon. The pilot, William A. Raulerson, 45, of Titusville, told sheriff deputies his craft quit about 700 feet over Geneva. Unable to restart the engine, he crash-landed it at the edge of Edward Yarbrough's pasture on Old Mims Road. Raulerson, bleeding from facial cuts, used an air pump to break out a window. He was listed in "fairly good" condition today at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Sanford Officers Filed Bias Charges

2 Cops Claim Threatening Calls

The City of Sanford Civil Service Board has denied charges by two city policemen that there has been racial discrimination and civil rights violations in employment of policemen in Sanford. Two policemen claim they've been receiving threatening telephone calls in connection with their complaints to a federal agency. One of the officers, Tony L. Brooks Jr., said today that he has received the calls during the three days he's been hospitalized at Florida Hospital, North, Altamonte Springs, for chronic bronchitis. Brooks said he is filing a complaint with the Altamonte Springs Police Department on the calls. "Some white guy called and said if I know what's good for me, I'll drop the complaints (to the federal Equal Employment Opportunities Commission - EEOC)," Brooks said. "In another call a man mentioned the name of States Attorney investigator Jack Fulemwidder, but he wouldn't be specific."

THE Race: 'Greatest Shifting In Sentiment' In 40 Years

NEW YORK (AP) — Regardless of how the percentage points in the latest political polls appear to the naked eye, the margin of error built into the surveys makes the race between President Ford and Jimmy Carter now too close to call. The polls show Carter ahead by 2 to 6 percentage points, but any conclusion from those numbers would be cloudy at best. And an unusually moody electorate, as indicated by great swings in the opinion surveys over the campaign season, adds uncertainty. The dean of the pollsters, Dr. George Gallup Sr., agrees — "If you look at the last two to three months, since the conventions, you find the greatest shifting in sentiment we've encountered in 40 years."

Lower Price Could Change Plan For Park

By EDD FRICKETT Herald Staff Writer The controversy-studded $255,000 purchase of 40 acres near Apple Valley subdivision will be reconsidered by the Seminole County Commission unless landowners shop the asking price by $22,000. Commission Chairman Mike Hattaway said today. Hattaway indicated an appraisal showing the land's value at $233,000 instead of the $255,000 asking price approved Aug. 5 by the commission changes the picture. However, if E. T. Overstreet, president of the Orlando firm that owns the parcel, will accept the lower price, Hattaway indicated the deal is still on. "We'll have to get back with Overstreet. If he won't sell for less, then I'll be up to a majority of the board," the chairman said. The appraisal, by Ronald Irwin of Orlando, was turned over to county officials on Thursday. Last week, Overstreet indicated $255,000 was the bottom-line figure. Overstreet was out of town today and unavailable for comment. On Tuesday, the commission deadlocked 3-2 on the purchase after about 100 Apple Valley homeowners showed up to protest the intended purchase. Homeowners say a park would pollute the area and increase traffic hazards. Commissioners Dick Williams and John Kimbrough voted against placing the park in any area where, in their view, it shouldn't be allowed to make decisions for some 40,000 residents in South Seminole who might enjoy a park. The $255,000 was the figure agreed on by commissioners because that's all that's remaining of a $1.5 million bond issue to buy park lands. Initially, Overstreet's asking price was in the $300,000 range. Kwiatkowski said paying $255,000 for land appraised at $233,000 would be difficult to justify. However, he, like Hattaway, indicated the county will have to get with Overstreet before any official action is taken. The swing vote on the park issue is held by Sid Vihlen Jr. But Vihlen, who holds the deciding vote, didn't attend Tuesday night's commission meeting.

MOVIN' ON Sam Ackley, personnel director and assistant to Sanford City Manager Warren Knowles, is cleaning out his desk in preparation for a move to Holly Hill. Ackley will begin a new job as city manager of the small town north of Daytona Beach Nov. 22. Ackley has worked for Sanford for 2 1/2 years, since meeting Knowles at Florida Technological University. Ackley, his wife Lynell and their two children, will move to Holly Hill as soon as they can sell their house in Sanford.
