

Millions Changing Homes Now

How You Can Protect Yourself From Crooked Movers

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

Millions of Americans will move to new homes this summer, and consumers who shop carefully can save themselves money and trouble. The Interstate Commerce Commission says preliminary figures show there were more than one million interstate household moves last year. The cost of the relocations was over $1 billion.

ICC requires the companies to file annual reports on such things as the number of shipments delivered and the number and type of complaints. Copies of all the reports are available at ICC regional offices in Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Fort Worth, Philadelphia and San Francisco, as well as at the agency's headquarters in Washington.

method cuts the amount of handling and the seal adds security. One target of the government's latest investigation is the practice of adding weight to a load, such as bricks, or falsifying records so the shipment seems heavier than it really is.

How Much Should We Pay For Wasting Precious Oil?

NEW YORK (AP) — The debate in Congress over President Carter's energy program again raises the question of how much Americans should pay for the oil they use so wastefully. Currently, federal price policy encourages overconsumption of the scarcest fuels by artificially holding down prices.

According to Robert E. Hall and Robert S. Pindyck, economists at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, present policies have depressed the domestic price of energy an average of about 30 per cent below the world price with the consequence that consumption is about 8 per cent higher and production about 6 per cent lower than it would be otherwise.

Imports might well be much lower had our energy policy not been based on maintaining low prices," they say in an article arguing for complete decontrol of oil prices in the current issue of the Public Interest, a quarterly journal.

wellhead taxes would be imposed to bring the price paid by refiners for all domestic oil to the $13.50 a barrel level within three years. The cost of this to the consumer would be an increase of four to five cents in a gallon of gasoline, officials said.

Put most simply, the aim of the plan is to induce conservation by making energy cost more while at the same time making the transition gradual enough so that the increases do not work undue hardship.

While there is growing agreement that energy should cost more, opinion is sharply split on whether to achieve higher oil prices through taxation or through removal of price controls.

Price controls on domestic oil are now scheduled to expire in May 1979 but they would be extended indefinitely under the Carter plan, which is expected to spark spirited debate in Congress.

There are now three different wellhead prices for domestic crude oil, old oil at $5.25 a barrel, new oil controlled at $11.28 a barrel and stripper well production on the free market at about $13.50 a barrel.

What has happened is that world oil prices soared above the domestic level right at a time when U.S. prices were basically controlled. For years following World War II the world price of oil stayed at about $2 a barrel. The United States imposed import quotas in 1959 to protect domestic producers from a flood of cheap foreign crude.

The creation of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries — OPEC — in 1960 was a reaction to this situation and reflected a nationalist trend in which less developed countries sought control over their own natural resources.

OPEC was still a relatively powerless group when the price of domestic oil and nearly everything else was fixed under the 1971 economic stabilization program.

During that year, foreign producers began demanding and getting higher prices. Within two years, OPEC proved that it had the unity to set prices for its own members and to regulate its production.

The price situation was then reversed, and it was only the retention of controls that kept domestic prices from soaring. Controls were gradually eliminated elsewhere in the economy but changes in the international oil picture, especially the fourfold price increase of the OPEC cartel in 1973, created pressures that have kept a ceiling on domestically produced oil.

With world oil prices going up in 1973, the Cost of Living Council devised a two-tier price system that limited the price of so-called "old" oil to $4.25 a barrel and allowed what was defined as "new" oil to sell at the market price.

Following the OPEC oil embargo in October that year, the average ceiling price of old oil was allowed to increase to $5.25 a barrel.

President Ford sought to phase out price controls on domestic crude oil but in late 1973 he finally gave in to an adamant Democratic Congress that would not approve sharply higher prices to control consumption and encourage production.

The compromise they agreed to set a ceiling of $11.28 a barrel for new oil that had been selling at $12.50 to $13 and it forced a reduction in the average price of crude oil produced in the United States — both old oil and new oil — from about $8.75 to $7.66 a barrel.

All this has left the United States with a complicated oil pricing system that brought moderation in price increases for the present at the cost of widening disparity with world prices.

Under the Carter plan, new wellhead taxes would be imposed to bring the price paid by refiners for all domestic oil to the $13.50 a barrel level within three years.

The most common complaint among oilmen is that the Carter plan lacks incentives to increase domestic production. The cure, they said, is to remove price controls, a remedy Republicans endorsed in their response to the plan.

It's 'I Do' To Bridal Tradition In '77

The era of Flower Children being married in the woods and meadows clad in blue jeans and cotton caftans is over. Today's June bride is saying "no thanks" to the offbeat in fashion, "I do" to tradition in bridal styles.

The color is white, the length is formal, and the embellishments are lavish and lady.

Nor has the bridegroom been ignored. His outfit, too, is formal and is carefully coordinated with the bride's ensemble.

FORMAL ATTIRE for the bridegroom will be an integral part of the wedding scene. His attire is by Arthur Richards Formals and is dramatically right for her gown in organza with pave lace with winged capelet, embellished with sprigs of lace that also cover the flowing skirt. Romantic hat is layered in organza and traced with lace, as is matching umbrella; gown by Christos for Bridal Couture.

TWO PIECE DRESS for a garden wedding is of silk with cotton eyelet insets and comes in one size to fit all, available in ivory only from Nani.

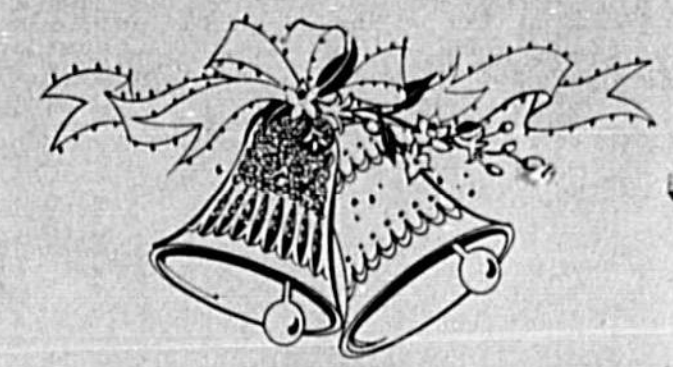

VICTORIAN FEELING oozes from this semi-cathedral length bridal gown. Worked in Sheerganza and Chantilly-type lace for Bridallure, it has a waist length veil and headpiece by Tina Michele.

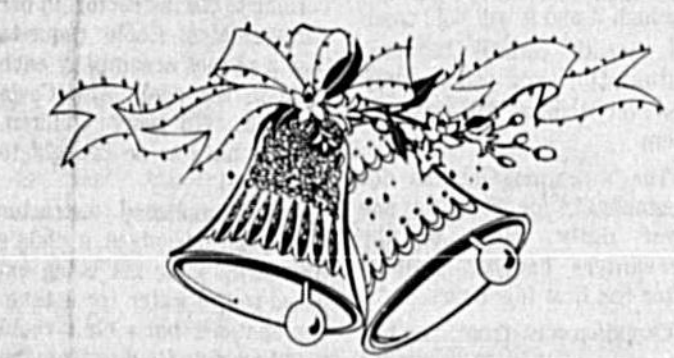

SOPHISTICATED SUMMER bride selects this sleeveless redingote gown in white English net and satin sheer. Applique is white bouquets of venise and Venetian point lace on the open neckline bodice and skirts with matching shoulder length mantilla, by Priscilla of Boston.

WHITE ORGANDY, tiered gown catches the eye of the informal bride. White Chantilly and venise lace edge each tier and capelet worn over gown. Priscilla of Boston designs this with a wreath of silk flowers worn over chapel length illusion. Attendant's tiered gown is in pink.

TWO MOODS FOR weddings this summer include a contemporary bridal dress whose turban headpiece and bodice design give it an Oriental impression and the frivolous Swiss dot gown for bridesmaids who attend brides in bright summer colored gowns. The bridal gown here is Qiana Jersey draped to a gliding train with bodice embellished with venise lace. Both by Christos for Bridal Couture.

DESTINATION: SOUTH AFRICA

Seminole High School Junior Roby Sawyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Sawyer, Sanford, studies a map of South Africa, a country he will visit this summer as an American Field Service (AFS) exchange student. Sawyer, excited about his forthcoming trip, leaves June 23 and will return at the end of August. While abroad, he will live with a South African family in the city of Vanderbijlpark, near Johannesburg, and attend the local high school. He hopes to visit the Kruger National Game Reserve while in the country.

'I Was Neither His First Nor His Only'

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago when I was 16, I fell in love with my brother's best buddy. He was 19 and gave me no encouragement.

I am ashamed to admit it, but the summer I turned 18 I threw myself at him in a way he couldn't turn down, and he had an affair. He was my first and only, but I was neither his first nor his only. He told me about the others.

He never once said he loved me, but I told him I loved him. He said he couldn't get serious about any girl, but I notice he's got a steady now. He treats me like a sister except for those times I beg him to be a lover to me.

I feel so cheap, Abby, but I can't help myself. I love him so much. When I see him with a girl, I get physically sick. I turn down dates with other guys just to sit home and play records that remind me of him.

How can I make him love me? IN LOVE AND MISERABLE

Fireman Sparks Series Of Life-Saving Incidents

By ELDA NICHOLS
Herald Correspondent

L. Don Farnum, of the Longwood Fire Department, is quiet and unassuming, but he has been indirectly responsible for several lives being saved in recent weeks.

In recognition of his work with students at Milwee Middle School, an award was presented to L. Farnum last week at a school assembly. Ms. Betty Merritt, instructor in health education, made the presentation, saying, "This is in appreciation of L. Farnum's sincere interest in our children and promoting safety. He has contributed many hours of his time helping to implement the safety program at the school. Several lives have been saved through his teaching the Heimlich method of saving a choking victim, and the CPR (Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation) program."

The Heimlich method consists of standing behind a choking victim, wrapping your arms around his waist, and making a fist with one hand, placing the other hand over it, the lieutenant explained. Give a quick, upward thrust, just below the rib cage, and the food will become dislodged. It may take more than one try, he noted. Sharon Hess, a Milwee English teacher, was calling her class to order recently, when a girl, running from the room, kept pointing to her throat.

"First, I thought she was going to throw-up," said Ms. Hess. "Then I realized she was choking. I grabbed her, and using the Heimlich method, dislodged a hard piece of candy from her throat. I had to use the method several times before the candy popped out."

Ms. Hess had allowed her room to be used for the film and L. Farnum's demonstration. "I really hadn't been paying too much attention, as I was grading papers. The very next day the incident happened," she said.

The one-year old son of another Milwee teacher, Nancy Martin, began to choke on a marshmallow recently. Nancy had seen the film, shown by L. Farnum, and putting the Heimlich method into action, dislodged the marshmallow from her son's throat.

Mrs. Ruth Demins, a home economics teacher, was enjoying a social function a few weeks ago, when the man seated next to her began to choke.

"I had seen the safety film in September at school," she said. "Some people thought he was having a heart attack, but when I saw him turning grey I remembered the film. I told the man seated next to him exactly what to do, as I didn't think I was strong enough to do it myself. The food was dislodged and the man was saved."

There were two doctors present, and they thought it was marvelous that I knew what to do in the emergency. Everybody should see this film."
L. Farnum feels everyone should have an exposure to the CPR and safety programs. "No matter how small a child is, they can still help save a life until other help arrives," he said. "We need to get more people certified. This is a needed thing in every community."

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You could be involved in a financial situation with another today. You stand to come out on top, but your counterpart's feelings may be deeply wounded. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Although your ideas have merit today, it's possible you may not present them with enough clarity to gain the cooperation they deserve. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Use your ingenuity today, such a way that you give value for what you receive. Don't hope to get something for nothing. CANCER (June 21-July 22) In a vain attempt to make yourself look good in front of a new friend you may do something to put your mate in an unfavorable light. This is a mistake. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You start out like gangbusters today, but given the smallest excuse you'll pack your tools away and leave the work till tomorrow. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A recent acquaintance who impresses you should be kept at arm's length today. Don't form any business partnerships or lend him money. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be willing to share with others who have done the same for you. Later you'll harbor regrets if you're parsimonious with them today. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) For one who normally has the courage of your convictions, you are unduly swayed by others today. Your best ideas could go down the drain. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Something advantageous could pass you by because you bring persons into the act who don't belong. Think before casting today's players. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It's too soon to press an influential contact you've recently met for help in an ambitious venture. Premature pleas could end the relationship. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Many times it doesn't pay to act on impulse. Today it may be better to move quickly. The more you analyze, the less assertive you'll be. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You should not pry too deeply into a pal's affairs today. This person has secrets he may validly not want you to know at this time. YOUR BIRTHDAY June 3, 1977 The choice that faces you this year could be between subjugation to work or career responsibilities or recreational enjoyment. If you opt for the former, the returns will please you.

Crash Diets Often Harmful

DEAR DR. LAMB—My sister went on Dr. Atkins' diet and went from 230 to 145 pounds in five months. She didn't do it under a doctor's supervision. She got some appetite depressants and just went on the Dr. Atkins' diet. After about four months her arms and leg muscles started to had crying spells. She still has her arms and shoulders ache and she got irritable and had crying spells. She still keeps her weight down on 800 calories but no one can live with her.

Today's hand should really have been included among our columns on best plays. South is in a very normal six notrump contract, but needs to score three club tricks to bring it in. Three-2 breaks don't worry him, but 4-1 breaks do. The correct club play is to lead low from either hand and play low in the other one if second hand does not produce an honor. He selects to lead from dummy.

Sanford Police Flirting With Unionization

There were indications today, following a Thursday night organizational meeting, that Sanford police may become the first law enforcement officers in Seminole County to unionize and seek a contract by collective bargaining.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles said today that he was aware of the police organizational meeting had been scheduled. "For three years I've been telling the city commission if some changes weren't made that there would be union efforts," he said.

Approximately 35 of the Sanford department's 70 employees attended the meeting to hear Orange County Police Benevolent Association Inc. president Stephen A. Micicche explain the collective bargaining process for public employees implemented by state law in 1973.

An undisclosed number of Sanford police officers and employees signed cards designating Orange County PBA Inc. to represent them as bargaining agent on wages, hours and conditions of employment.

Police Chief Ben Butler had no comment today on the police unionization move. Butler is scheduled soon to become city Public Safety Director, an administrative post without operational control of fire and police departments, and city commissioners say they'll hire a new police chief.

Sanford officers appeared cautious in the open meeting to air any complaints they have about their department but several indicated wages, no pay for overtime hours and little or no input from officers on matters concerning working conditions are among local complaints.

"We're here to be constructive, not destructive," Micicche told the policemen. "We're here to help you and the administration and to help Sanford citizens get the best professional law enforcement for their tax dollars."

He said a key element in whether Orange County PBA will represent Sanford officers in labor negotiations is will the officers stand united and not buckle under possible pressure from the city administration?

LANDFILL OPPONENT ERNEST L. SOUTHWARD EMPHASIZES STATEMENT.

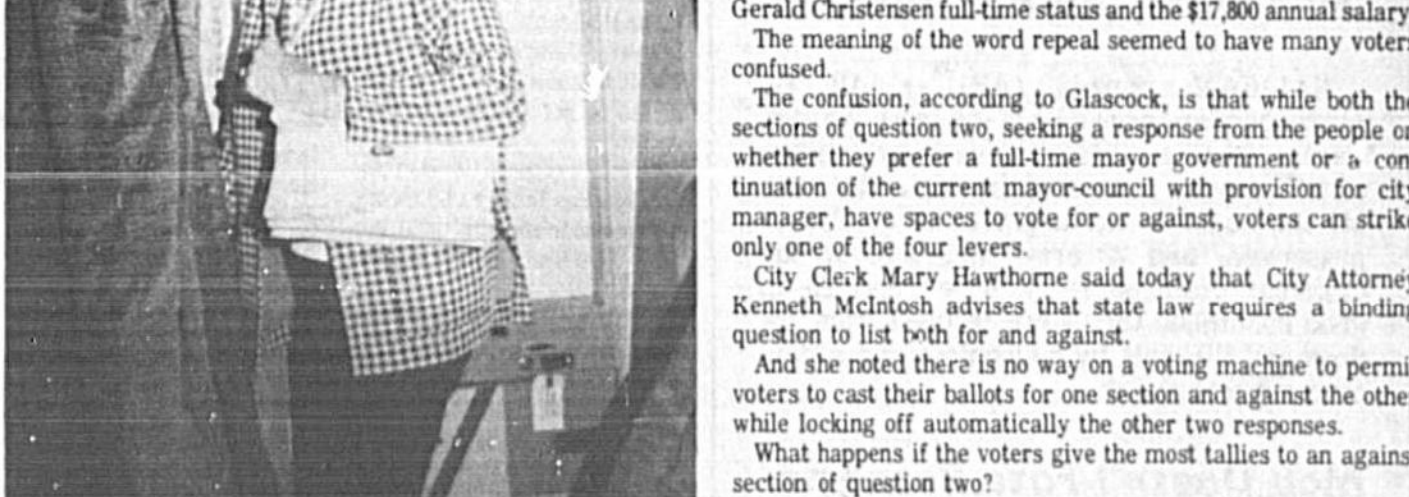

P&Z Turns Thumbs Down On Allowing 46A Landfill

Saying a Sanford City Commission plan for a landfill near Mayfair Country Club would remove prime residential land from the tax rolls, the planning and zoning commission, in a surprise move, voted against a rezoning request from residential to agricultural, the first step needed to allow a landfill there.

The zoning board voted 7-4 with one abstention to recommend the city commission not change the residential zoning of 29 acres at the corner of SR-46A and Oregon Ave.

Seventeen residents of the proposed landfill area testified the proposed landfill would be an environmental and safety hazard and would decrease the property value of their homes.

Results are expected to be announced within minutes of the city poll taking place at the rate of one per minute during the early hours of today's special referendum.

The resolution was adopted by the city council on a vote of three-to-two, with Van Meter and Councilman Carl Robertson Jr. and Don Wilson for and Councilmen Frank Schutte and John Leighty against.

ANTI-LANDFILL LAWYER BUD KIRK ASKS AUDIENCE TO KEEP REMARKS BRIEF

For five straight weekly meetings, citizens jammed city hall protesting the action and demanding the special election.

Van Meter said the electorate by turning down a proposed new charter calling for a strong city manager-council form of government last December obviously wanted a full-time mayor.

When City Manager Anthony Guiliano resigned last fall, the council named long-time City Clerk Mary Hawthorne acting city manager and then shifted the city manager responsibilities to Hawthorne by the resolution adopted March 28, effective April 1.

The city council agreed to the referendum on repeal of the resolution after a compromise was reached that the form of government would also be placed on the ballot.
