McCord To Talk 'Watergate'

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
 Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — James W. McCord, the burglar who blew the lid off the Watergate case, took the witness stand at the Senate's televised hearings today to tell his inside story of political intrigue.
 "I will try to be as accurate as I can," McCord said.
 McCord, convicted of burglary, wiretapping and conspiracy in the case, promised to testify fully, although he said his memory may have faded about some of the events from a year or more ago.
 And he said he is sorry he'd ever been mixed up in the affair.
 "Whatever reasons I may have had at the time, whatever rationale I may have had at the time, was in error, was a mistake, a very grave mistake, which I regret," he said.

Watergate burglar James W. McCord Jr. testified today he was told President Nixon was aware of offers of clemency made to him.

Before McCord began his testimony the Senate select Watergate committee heard 23 minutes of testimony from police officer Carl Shoffer, one of three casual-clothes policemen who arrested McCord and four other men inside the headquarters of the Democratic Party in the Watergate building in the early hours of last June 17.
 Shoffer, saying nothing that hadn't been made public before, related how he had spotted a man, who later turned out to be Alfred C. Baldwin, on a balcony of the Howard Johnson motel across the street from the Watergate building that morning.
 Two members of the seven-man Senate committee, Republicans Lowell P. Weicker of Connecticut and Howard Baker of Tennessee, predicted that McCord's testimony would produce some new disclosures.

 McCord, a retired 19-year veteran of the CIA, broke the wall of silence that protected the high levels of government from being drawn into the scandal.
 He had held his tongue with the others after being caught in the act of burglary and bugging Democratic headquarters in the Watergate office building last June 17. But, as McCord stood before the bench in March to be sentenced for his crimes, Chief U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica read a letter from the convicted man with three terse paragraphs of allegations.
 McCord said political pressure was applied to the defendants to plead guilty and remain silent; perjury was committed by witnesses, and others involved in the spy mission had not been identified when they could have been during the trial.

Only One In Train Theft, Say Police

By GARY TAYLOR
 Herald Staff Writer
 Seminole County sheriff's detectives said today that they now feel Mary Lane Pipkin, 25, of 912 W. 11th St., Sanford, was the only one involved in the theft of a $2 million train from the Sanford depot Wednesday. "More and more I'm inclined to believe she was by herself," commented Detective Tom Hennigan, commenting, "all indications lead to her being the only one involved."

The mother of four told officers that she couldn't remember a thing about the incident after she was arrested in the locomotive which crashed into a gondola car at Pierson after trainmen switched the engine pulling 28 cars onto a side-track.
 Mrs. Pipkin told Hennigan she couldn't remember from the time she was in a West 13th Street phone booth until police awakened her in the cab of the stolen train.
 Hennigan said a prime suspect in his search for an accomplice was out of town on a long-distance trucking haul at the time of the incident, and after questioning Mrs. Pipkin's friends and neighbors, he could find no one she was associated with that was familiar with railroading.
 Mrs. Pipkin was charged with grand larceny and jailed under $5,000 bond after allegedly taking the engine that was left running while crews were changed.
 Mrs. Pipkin appeared before Judge Wallace Hall for her first hearing Wednesday, and is slated for a preliminary hearing at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. A public defender was appointed at the Wednesday hearing.

AROUND THE CLOCK
 By John A. Spolski
 Look, let's give you a break, O.K.? I mean how much Watergate can any of us take...
 So, a couple of political statements — probably meant with all sincerity at the time they were made — but absolutely ludicrous when you take the time to study 'em.
 How about Senator Gurney's aides "revealing" all of those many phone calls (from all parts of the country?) indicating they were so impressed with the Senator's opening remarks as a member of the Watergate investigation committee that he "should run for President."
 Sorry... but I can't help but remember those other surveys supporting President Nixon's naming of Haiphong (which were paid for by the Republican zealots — forgetting that this is nothing more than being fraudulent with the public).
 Another funny Congressman Gunter (see we show no partisan partiality) writing to Governor Askew that he should support the University of Florida in their quest for a $50,000 grant in studying the eradication of the love bugs.
 Item... about two years ago, I made a formal request of the Orange-Seminole delegation on this same item. Representative Mooney carried the ball and had it not been the "politics" of a certain Jacksonville legislator in also trying to make some points with the home folks, the Mooney Bill would

Skylabbers Scurry To Save Flight

By HOWARD BENEDETT
 AP Aerospace Writer
 CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Scientists and engineers worked across the nation today to perfect equipment and procedures for flying a delayed repair mission to the overheated Skylab space station.
 The space agency had hoped to mount the unprecedented mission to erect a sun shield on the orbiting vehicle Sunday but decided Thursday it couldn't be done that soon and delayed the attempt five more days.
 It was the second five-day postponement for Skylab 1 astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz. They were to have set out in pursuit of the laboratory Tuesday but remained grounded when trouble developed aboard the craft.
 The major problem created when a thermal shield ripped off the Skylab, enabling the outer skin to absorb the sun's rays and heat the interior of the vehicle so that it was uninhabitable.
 Flight controllers were able to stabilize the heat at 100 degrees by orienting the spacecraft with one side away from Earth.
 They will take two types of shades and decide which would be the easiest to install after they reach the station and inspect it during a fly-around maneuver.
 It will be a dramatic event in the history of U.S. manned space flight as the spacecraft attempt to salvage the $284-million laboratory. What they see and do up there will be televised.

Industrial Board Mix Over Ads

By MARION BETHEA
 Herald Staff Writer
 Barbs flew Thursday at a meeting of the Seminole County Industrial Development Authority (SIDA) in a meeting which one board member pointed out, "aside from the county commission these are the longest meetings in history."
 Another suggested a format be established whereby Executive Director Frank Daley prepare a monthly newsletter highlighting his activities and progress in the industrial field.
 "We have got to do something to keep these meetings short," it was stressed as one-by-one guests, board members and County Commissioner Greg Drummond departed from the scene.
 The controversy which added to the meetings duration was precipitated by board member Jim Ryan, who questioned an apparent change in the advertising firm contracted by SIDA without his knowledge. Ryan had written letters to Daley on the matter and noted that the issue had been discussed at length at meetings, bids taken and a firm selected.
 However, Ryan said, "it appears now that someone else is doing the advertising without my knowledge as a board member, which is not surprising."
 Daley explained another individual was preparing ads at a low fee, and Chairman George Schrader noted the firm which had been selected had been for the remainder of the budget year and "perpetuity" was not indicated.
 Daley injected it was difficult to procure adequate advertising upon a $10,000 yearly budget allocated by the county commission.
 Ryan, again stressed, "I don't know from month to month what you're doing. I have difficulty in making contact and the only means I have is writing letters."
 Schrader quipped about Ryan's "poison pen" letters and Ryan became agitated and remarked he saw no need for levity in the matter.
 "I am only seeking information," Ryan said, "I want to be a helpful member of the board and I can't do it if I don't know what kind of game you're playing."
 Drummond said he hoped the commission increases the advertising budget, and will personally vote to do so.
 Daley, at this point, said he felt it to be his prerogative as executive director to make decisions and that if he wished to change the ad firm he should be able to do so without coming before the board.
 Drummond disagreed contending that if an ad firm had been contracted the board would have to retain it.
 Schrader later moved that Daley be given the "express authority to engage whatever ad firm he deemed to be in the best interests of SIDA and the motion was amended by member Edward White that the agency selected by Daley be presented before the board at a subsequent meeting.
 The climax to the politely-heated discussion was when Daley asked Ryan why he simply did not make a "phone call to clarify the issue instead of writing letters."
 Ryan replied, "Dialing his courthouse is something out of this world. I've probably called 50 times."

ONE KILLED AS TRUCKS HIT HEAD-ON
 GERALD NOLAN SPARKMAN, 30, of Sumterville, was killed in an accident near his home early Thursday morning. Florida Highway Patrol Troopers C.C. Hall and Sam Jones said the man was southbound on U.S. 301 about 3 mile north of Sumterville and was traveling on the wrong side of the road at a high rate of speed, according to witnesses. The truck hit a semi-truck head-on, after the semi driver swerved to the left to avoid a collision and Sparkman reportedly cut right to the center of the road. It was Sumter County's ninth fatality of the year.

Pastor's Corner Ask God's Guidance

On the eve of the American Revolution a minister, commending to pray for King George III, compiled in these words: "O Lord, bless Thy servant King George and give him wisdom. Thou knowest, O Lord, he needs it."

When the New England clergy were much opposed to Jefferson, then President of the United States, one of the ministers prayed thus: "Forasmuch as Thou hast commanded us to pray for our enemies, we pray for the President of these United States."

All of us, no doubt, feel at times that some of the people involved in our government have failed us — meaning that they have failed to live up to the high offices entrusted to their care. Perhaps we have also failed our government in at least one respect. Perhaps we need to be reminded again that one of the most important things we can do for our government and country is to pray for them.

God invited us to pray for our country just as King Hezekiah prayed for his. He tells us to pray for all people especially those who rule our land. A primary privilege of Christians is that they can go to God in prayer and talk to Him about the needs of government and country.

Our country has many needs. We need protection against those who would destroy us. Our public officials need wisdom and courage so they can in a God-pleasing way solve the difficult problems they face. There is a need to bring about peace between groups in our country fighting and quarreling with one another. Those who have no job need to find work.

God wants honest people to be able to pass legislation that is for the good of all. We need officials who want to be honest and just and right for every citizen.

This is not to say that to pray will ensure our success. It merely a reminder that God has invited us to pray for those in government.

Conservative, Presbyterians Cause Schism

By GEORGE W. CORNELL, AP Religion Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Sable, fostering conflicts, about as tangled as those infecting some contentions Northern family in a William Falkner novel, are building toward a climax among Southern Presbyterians. The bitterness has produced a sort of "shell shock" throughout the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., says its moderator, the Rev. Dr. L. Nelson Bell, of Montreal, N.C. The anguished struggle has spilled into lawsuits and meetings, into periodic appeals, and it raised the shadow of schism over the million-member denomination on the eve of its annual governing assembly.

Three weeks before that event June 8-15 in Fort Worth, Tex., and oddly ambivalent emotions and extraordinary results a group of conservatives were meeting in Birmingham, Ala., to discuss a separate denomination.

Longwood Council Actions

By DONNA ESTES, Herald Staff Writer City Council Thursday night decided to lease two cars for the police department on a six-month trial basis. The vehicles to be leased from Mid-Florida Dodge at $200 monthly each are those returned to the agency after six months use by the Casselberry Police Department.

Aerial Fire Truck Fire Chief Roy LaBrosse asked the board to consider leasing bids for the pumper fire truck and instead ask bids on an aerial truck. The chief said with the condominiums expected to be constructed in the north end of the city, the planned new shopping centers and the old buildings brought into the city by the historic society a ladder truck is needed.

Revenue Sharing A resolution was adopted limiting expenditures of the $33,000 federal revenue sharing money received for 1972. Listed were police vehicles, $4,000; pickup truck $2,800; garbage paker $13,000; front end loader, $10,000 and summer recreation program $3,400.

Mosquito Control A mosquito control program is to be initiated in the city next week following council action authorizing purchase of $5 gallons of a powdered insecticide. The chemical company representative, C. L. Cooper, has offered to lend the city free of charge the spray guns to be used in the program, Klosky said.

Claim No Violence Jail Rape Pair Testify

By BOB FERRY LLOYD, Herald Staff Writer Two defendants in the Sanford jail rape trial testified today that a 20-year-old cellmate voluntarily had homosexual relations with them and offered no resistance. William Davis, of Matland, and Norris Chisolm of Sanford, denied the cellmate, who claims he was forcibly raped, was held on a bunk or beaten. Rob told the court they were ashamed.

Armstrong said Jackson later told him the 20-year-old victim admitted voluntarily and if questioned he was to say "there had been a fight over tobacco." Several times Armstrong said he "couldn't be sure what was said the night of the alleged assault." "It was a long time ago," he told the court.

The fifth defendant, James Walker, 30, Detroit, Mich., has not been scheduled for trial. The state denied giving immunity to Walker and he didn't testify.

For Some It's A Little Joke

Watergate Talk Sinks To Sick Level

The Watergate controversy, like its outdated counterpart issues, is, unfortunately, creating massive amounts of heat and little light in the nation's capital.

While such politically diverse voices as Vice President Spiro Agnew and Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., are appealing for a common sense understanding of the problem, the Watergate incident, with all its complex side effects, is developing as a topic of conversation that no one can avoid.

Watergate jokes, from crude one-liners to contrived shaggy dog stories about what life is really like in the White House, abound at parties, receptions and luncheon conversations here.

There are many examples of how far the ridicule can go.

One local off-campus newspaper is circulating a poll where readers, for a contributory fee of $5, are asked to go through a list of names mentioned in the Watergate investigation and determine who will go to prison and for how long.

The winner receives all the money with an unspecified take-off by the publisher to aid a "defense fund" for political prisoners.

Proxmire's recent defense of President Nixon is one indication of how far the personal commentary has come on Capitol Hill. Proxmire, under any standard no friend of the White House, conceded that the individual small talk about Watergate had become so out of bounds that the integrity of the executive branch was in jeopardy.

One hostess at a dinner party celebrating her husband's 50th birthday was near tears when the thing was over because she said all her guests would talk about was Watergate.

As the frustrated hostess candidly saw the situation:

"It is an important thing, but I can't see two mature men almost coming to blows over it."

Lessons Of Watergate

Wrongs Do Not Ever Make Rights

It is a characteristic of a free society that an issue as explosive as Watergate generates a zeal for its resolution so great that everybody wants to get into the act.

The impulse, a vital part of the American system of checks and balances, should be applauded. It creates the climate as well as the dynamism that progresses to the bottom of things. Hopefully, the momentum also will be forcing enough checks and balances to the extent that the possibility of another Watergate-type incident is diminished.

The actions of Ethel Richardson, attorney general designate, to appoint a special prosecutor to investigate the Watergate affair is sound judgment.

AF Seeks Equal Time In Shuttle

Don't let anybody tell you the U.S. Air Force gives up easily, because it isn't so.

Back in the mid-1960s the Air Force thought it had its own military space shuttle system. It was to be called the Manned Orbital Laboratory (MOL) and was designed to find out what military missions man could achieve in space.

Then along came Defense Secretary Robert McNamara in the Johnson administration. He knocked off the MOL project to save billions, along with the Air Force's Dyna-Sour program, an effort to build a manned craft which could fly to the edge of space and perform military missions.

The moves were popular with foes of sky-high military spending but a harsh blow to the Air Force.

It was forced to turn to unmanned missiles as the launch vehicles for its supervised communications and surveillance satellites. With MOL and Dyna-Sour the Air Force had planned to launch them from space or near-space, high above the earth, then retrieve or repair them in orbit later with crews of experts.

All that went out the window with the McNamara regime. But now the Air Force appears to be getting back into the MOL business again, this time with the civilian space to "avoid embarrassment to her family."

Another example of how far the kook element has gone in the Watergate situation surfaced two weeks ago when management of the massive apartment and office building complex placed an advertisement on the financial pages of a local newspaper seeking an executive to run its leasing operation.

The Watergate reported a flood of inquiries on its main switchboard and through general mail with most, again, seeking to create a particular type of joke about the whole affair.

selective. As luminous as it has been in Watergate, the press has certainly been less than zealous in pursuing the immorality of thefts of government documents, in documenting the violence perpetrated in the name of good at Wounded Knee, in condemning disregard of gross jury proceedings by theft of secrets, and so forth. Sen. Birch Bayh insists that the Senate committee considering the appointment of Mr. Richardson must have raw FBI files on Watergate. The files also could be evidence in court and thus tainted by Senate disclosure. Further, opening of the files to the public could bring the bettered FBI back into the political arena for no good purpose. Mrs. Luce is entirely correct. Watergate is not justifiable, theft of government documents is not justifiable and illegal means to reach an ethical end are not justifiable.

In the United States of America, two wrongs still do not make a right.

McGovern a 'Plot' Victor? Pooh-Pooh!

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Reports that men linked to the Watergate plottings set out to assure that the Democrats in 1972 picked the weakest possible presidential nominee to oppose President Nixon should be viewed with care.

The game, of course, was supposed to be to use dirty tricks to defeat the presumably strong Sen. Edmund Muskie and by other devices to promote the candidacy of Sen. George McGovern, perceived by early polling evidence as eminently crushable.

Tricks clearly were employed against Muskie, but the game was not to be played by McGovern and McGovern did win his party's nomination.

To a good many political viewers, and especially to those men said to have been trying to engineer such an outcome, that may look persuasively like cause and effect.

But some of us who watched that campaign closely are not persuaded that a result which involved the votes of millions of voters and the political skills and energies of many individuals can be "determined" by a band of undercover manipulators — no matter how devilishly clever and well-behaved.

In the always well-publicized jump-off primary in New Hampshire, Muskie got his first wounds. Reporters had said in their infinite wisdom, that he had to win at least 50 per cent of the vote to be impressive. He beat McGovern by just 46 per cent to 37, and the tongues lashed.

FLORIDA BUSINESS TYCOON GLENN W. TURNER files a suit in Washington accusing the federal government of bugging his office and state and federal officials of attempting to "cripple and kill" his business.

Turner Hits U. S. With Bug Suit

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Florida business tycoon Glenn W. Turner has filed suit accusing the U.S. Government of bugging his office and state and federal officials of attempting to "cripple and kill" his business, an aide says.

The suit, charging three federal agencies and various public officials with illegal wiretapping and 30 counts of violating Turner's civil rights, was filed Thursday in U.S. District Court in Washington, D.C. according to a statement released in Orlando by Turner aide Tom Bush.

It was filed on behalf of Turner, his parent firm, Glenn W. Turner Enterprises, and the two firms that rocketed the one-time penniless South Carolina plowboy to fame, fortune and legal controversy — Kosco Interplanetary Inc., a cosmetics outfit and Data To Be Great Inc., a motivation program.

Turner, 38, seeks a hearing to try to stop alleged activities which he claims are infringing on his rights. He also wants to block possible indictments of him or his employees by a federal grand jury in Orlando.

Summarizing the contents, Bush said a company employe found two bugging devices on telephones in Turner's office. The suit contends they were placed there by federal authorities.

Bus, also said the suit further claims various federal and state officials have harassed him, his relatives and employees.

The 45-paragraph complaint names as defendants the Federal Trade Commission, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the U.S. Postal Service, the federal grand jury in Orlando and the U.S. Attorney for Florida, according to the statement.

Filing the suit were Jerris Leonard, a former U.S. Assistant Attorney General, and Theodore Kasoff of Bridgeport, Conn.

Turner's vast business ventures have come under legal scrutiny in more than half the states in the past two years, with most of the legal action centering over controversial marketing techniques.

Recently, a number of dissatisfied investors filed a class action suit seeking to recoup alleged financial losses.

Turner's complaint alleges acts by public officials, including the Pinellas County, Fla., state attorney's office and the legal counsel for the Florida Secretary of Agriculture, MacKay, Mattox, Papp, Snowden, Fai Thomas, Randall.

House Censures Tom Adams, Lawmakers Split On Meaning

By KEN GEFPERT Associated Press Writer TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Tom Adams stands censured by the Florida House, but lawmakers are sharply divided over whether the action is meaningless or a stern warning to other state officials.

Adams immediately thanked "a host of friends all over the state, in and out of the Legislature, for their advice, counsel and support."

"If any mistakes were made in a sense, they were mine," Adams said in a terse statement. "They were mistakes of the head and not of the heart."

Rep. Kenneth Mackay, D-Orlando, who supported impeachment, criticized Adams as "a meaningless, symbolic floor debate. He also said it was unconstitutional for the House to censure a state official outside the legislative branch. "Even if it is meaningless, unconstitutional and invalid, I am going to vote for censure to tell my people that when Tom Adams did what he did, it was wrong," said Rep. Robert Johnson, R-Sarasota.

Rep. Marshall Harris, D-Miami, co-sponsor of the censure resolution, said "I will leave this chamber without voting to censure Tom Adams we vote in effect to support the conduct that was disclosed to us."

Gov. Reubin Askew, who had asked Adams to resign as commerce secretary and repay the state $1,000 because of the misconduct charges, said he hoped his actions and the legislative vote had strengthened "the standards of ethical conduct among public officials."

Adams was charged by a committee with using Commerce Department employes for personal business and violating state personnel violations.

Rep. James Redman, D-Plant City, chairman of the investigating committee, told newsmen after the House vote that impeachment guidelines would fall in the Senate, where a two-thirds vote would also be needed to oust Adams from his $38,000-a-year office.

"It is enough to sound the cry across this state that this kind of conduct will find its way," said Harris. "And I want the assurance of censure rather than the dim possibility of impeachment."

Senior Linebacker and baseball first baseman Dickie Deas became the 45th in line to receive the nation's oldest continuing football trophy, the Peter Schaal Award, as an overflow crowd came to see Seminoles' high honor its athletes.

Pat Crimmins, who was Co-Most Valuable along with Cliffford Manley, of the basketball team, received the Terry Cordell Memorial Trophy for academic achievement and the Whitley McClucas Trophy as the school's most valuable in all sports.

Peter Schaal, who gave the first football trophy in the nation in 1928 as a Sanford Herald sportswriter, asked for and received permission from the athletic banquet's guest speaker, newly appointed Head Coach Claude Woodruff, to again present the award next year as the young Deas and his father, Richard, who was killed in action in Vietnam in 1964, to the athlete at Seminole High who attained the highest academic standing.

The Whitley McClucas Trophy, which also went to Cordell recipient Crimmins, who participated in football, basketball and baseball this past year.

Will McCoy received the football sportsmanship award; Herb Sutton, the most improved player; Jim Steffens, the Hatcher Man award for defensive play; and Reggie Smith, the best blocker award.

Pitchers Donald Brown and Frank Sloan were named Co-Most Valuable in baseball, with Levi Raines taking the trophy for the highest batting average.

The three also received Big Eight Conference pins for their selection to the First Team, All Conference Baseball team, and both Crimmins and Willie Wall were singled out as honorable mentions, all-conference. Coach Jerry Mays was also recognized as the conference "Coach of the Year."

Rick Russi was named the best defensive player, John Zell, most improved player, Tommy Wheaton Best Free Throw Shooting and Clifford Manley best rebounder.

Little Asbie was named most valuable non-sportsman, Steve Littlejohn and Herb Sutton were called for the Co-Sportsmanship Award, Theory Stringer received the most improved award, Nathaniel Perkins and Herb Scott were named Co-Best Distance Runners and Vic Johnson took the Most Valuable Cross

Seminole Big 'LL' Cops Third

Three Staats singled twice in three at bats for the Seminole Big 'LL' League against Conway last night, and ended up scoring both times, which were all the local team needed to trip their highly-rated visitors, 2-1.

The game, which was tied in the top of the sixth by Conway when Jim Dixon was hit by a pitch, advanced on Bill Overmeyer's single and came home on Tom Dixon's single to left field. With two men still in, Seminole pitcher Bobby Avani, who went the route for the win, picking up his second win and ground out short to second.

The Seminole team took the lead in the third frame, when Staats singled and moved to second on a sacrifice fly. He came across on Ron Russell's single.

In the bottom of the seventh, with extra-innings threatening, Staats again singled and moved to second on a sacrifice fly. He came across on Ron Russell's single.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Secretary, the Triple Crown contender seemingly back on the form, which earned him the "super horse" tag, takes on a slim field of five opponents in Saturday's 98th running of the $150,000-added Preakness Stakes.

A record turnout is expected at Pimlico, drawn by the magnificence of the Meadow Stable colt and given an added boost by an infield farewell for former Baltimore Colt quarterback Johnny Unitas.

Chick Lang, the Pimlico general manager, predicted today that the track's record crowd of 46,721 set last year will be easily surpassed.

"We should have between 55,000 and 60,000 people," Lang said, and he estimated that about 2,500 of them would attend chiefly because of the ceremonies honoring Unitas—who was traded to the San Diego Padres last year.

"They'll have to catch us," Delp said, "and if Secretariat and Sham worry about each other, we might make it interesting."

Lucien Laurin, the trainer of Secretariat, noted however, "I worry about everyone, and that joke of mine had better worry you."

Secretariat is the early 26-chance to win the race which is scheduled to go off at 5:46 P.M. EDT. Television coverage is scheduled for 5:46 p.m. and radio 5:55-5:45, both by CBS.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — One place that no one wants to be at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway is in the "bubble."

The driver on the bubble is the guy whose car turned in the slowest qualifying time during qualifications for the Indianapolis 500-mile race. He's the guy, who once the 33-car field is filled, will be the first to be bumped if someone can cough up a faster clocking.

During the first weekend of trials, 30 cars qualified for May 18's 500-mile race. The 33 fastest cars at the end of four days of qualifying will start the race.

The sandy-haired 29-year-old bachelor doesn't have any illusions about his previous speed making the lineup. The first to be bumped is the slowest qualifier, which is in a tenuous position. If, after the field is filled this weekend, his is still the slowest speed, a faster time by any previously unqualified car can knock Posey out of the lineup.

Hoory for Williamsport

Hallelujah! There are still men who have the guts to put principles in their proper perspective when a crisis arises and do not succumb to pressures of the "majority."

We are speaking of those wonderful fellows in Williamsport, Pa. who did what they should have when they suspended the Ypsilanti, Mich. Little League charter for allowing that girl to play in its league.

At the risk of being called a male chauvinist we agree wholeheartedly with the Little League folks and only wish the folks in Ypsilanti had the same attitude.

We can not for the life of us understand how a town could not see one individual's wants ahead of 300. And that's just what those folks in Michigan did when they permitted that young lass to play in their league.

Never Should Happen
Actually the Ypsilanti folks led the situation get started when they had no business doing so. The league rules call for boys to enter out for the teams. Ever before that the league requires the BOYS bring their birth certificates and a parent or guardian to registration.

If a girl is not permitted to register then she cannot make the team and can not play. See how easy it would have been to prevent the situation from getting out of hand.

While it seemed like a good idea it sure wasn't too practical since there are many ways to curb the situation and we relayed this to our "gas expert."

"Oh, I'm not against racing," the fellow went on to say. "But you realize how much gas is used not only by the fellows doing the driving, but the millions of fans who trek to these races in their automobiles!"

Yes, we do realize this we told the fellow but the same can be said for any sport, baseball, football, basketball, horse racing, hockey and countless other sports are attended by millions who trek to the stadiums via auto. But little or no fuss is made over their gas consumption.

Our idea on the gas consumption concept would be merely to cut down the miles per hour speed limits on various roads across the nation. Cutting speed by 10 mph would save tremendously on the gas stores. But the only way people are going to cut their speed is to have the limit cut by the law and enforced by the law.

Help Gas-Stop Racing
Had a fellow stop me the other day and said he had an answer to the problem of gas consumption.

"All we have to do is cut down or cut out all of the auto racing sports we have held week after week," the fellow related.

While it seemed like a good idea it sure wasn't too practical since there are many ways to curb the situation and we relayed this to our "gas expert."

Good Food, Good People, Good Places

There's no blame at O'LEARY'S, in Altamonte Springs when a customer orders a fine steak or good piece of roast. Drop in off Highway 436, and sample a fine meal, or a cocktail in one of the dark wood paneled rooms which combine elegance with good old Irish hospitality.

If you feel going for a "visit" or just want some plain good eating in downtown Sanford, the HOLIDAY INN dining room is waiting to serve you. With a beautiful view of Lake Monroe, diners may feast on the Inn's specialties in true southern style. The HOUSE OF STEAK is always ready to provide the finest cuts at a price you can afford.

LAKE MONROE INN needs no introduction. Here superb charcoal steaks and seafood are served daily from 4-11 p.m. Modern country music by BRUCE, LESS and TONY fills the bill Tuesday through Saturday, from 8:30 p.m. until 2 a.m. Action is the word!

DINN BROTHERS howl out with country and western music on Tuesday, Friday and Saturday nights. The cocktail hour is between 5-7 p.m. daily and luncheon is served Monday through Friday, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

you can eat... is served both at luncheon and dinner... and the price is right. During the happy hour, from 4-6 p.m. Hi ball prices are greatly slashed.

FREDDIE'S, Central Florida's oldest and finest steak house adds a cosmopolitan touch to the local scene. The fact that the popular spot captured the coveted golden spoon award tells the entire story. Complete dinners are served until 1:30 a.m. and nightly entertainment is featured in the plush Lamplighter Lounge and dining rooms.

Highlights

8-9 CBS, Impossible (Rerun). Dane Clark portrays a mob boss suspected of killing his girl friend. Philip Lovejoy is charged with the murder. Fred and Leo just had an argument, and so it now looks as if Fred is about to shoot him. The gun had been brought home by Lamont.

TV Time Previews

8-9 CBS, The Little People (Rerun). "And Then I Wrote." Dr. Sean Jamison encounters an embarrassing situation. One of his little people has crawled some rather crude expressions across the hospital walls, and the doctor tries to eradicate them. When he's spotted, suspicion points at Sam.

9-11 CBS, The CBS Friday Night Movies. "The Sergeant." An effort to trace the loneliness and its manifestation on an Army sergeant, played by Rod Taylor, is at times fascinating, but more often diluted by a script which is a private who becomes almost paranoically possessive. John Phillip Law is featured.

The Church...

...THE HOPE OF OUR COMMUNITY, OUR NATION!

The Secret That Was

When someone shares a secret, it's on its way to becoming no secret at all. And yet it doesn't cease to be a secret until you have shared it.

When Jesus preached in the wilderness, hundreds came miles to hear Him. They wanted to share His secret... the secret of God... the secret of Man and God.

So right there in the wilderness, it was on its way to becoming no secret at all. Except that, even today, not everyone has shared it.

Academically every intelligent person knows what Christianity is all about. But each Sunday all over this world someone is finding in church a new strength, a new purpose, a new faith. For the heart of Christ's message brings a human soul into harmony with a mighty and loving God... whose power gives our lives direction... whose concern gives us lives meaning.

The secret that was in a secret, until YOU share it too.

'Pipe' Dream To Furnish Homes

Need Jobs Building Boom

By DONNA ESTES
 Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Nearly 1,000 homes are being built in the Longwood area, and the building boom has created many new jobs for pipe fitters and other construction workers.

The building boom in the Longwood area is the result of a combination of factors, including the growth of the area's commercial and industrial base, and the increasing demand for new housing.

Pipe fitters are in high demand because of the large number of new homes being built. They are responsible for installing the plumbing systems in these homes, and their work is essential to the building process.

A Boston Warehouse Becomes an Apartment

Here's How

By VIVIAN BROWN
 A Newsweek Writer

The idea of converting an old building into a new one is not new. But in recent years, it has become a popular way to revitalize old buildings and create new housing.

The conversion of a Boston warehouse into an apartment building is a prime example of this trend. The project was a success because of the building's location, its architectural features, and the careful planning that went into the conversion.

Pipe' Dream To Furnish Homes

Need Jobs Building Boom

By DONNA ESTES
 Herald Staff Writer

The city is in the midst of a building boom, and the demand for pipe fitters is high. This boom is being fueled by the construction of new homes, commercial buildings, and industrial facilities.

For those interested in a career in pipe fitting, there are many opportunities available. The field is a skilled trade, and pipe fitters are in demand throughout the country.

Herald Columnist Career Colorful

A Sanford boy, born and raised, Herald columnist J. J. Wren has had a colorful career in journalism and real estate.

Wren, 43, has worked for the Herald for a year and a half. Before that, he worked for the Orlando Sentinel and the Palm Beach Post.

He has a degree in journalism from the University of Florida and has worked for several years as a real estate agent. He says that his career in real estate has been as colorful as his career in journalism.

Wren says that he has learned a great deal from his years in journalism, and he plans to continue to write for the Herald for many years to come.

Low Wages Hurt Home Buyer

Sanford Boom A Powder Keg

By JAMES CASSELL-BRIBERY
 County Editor

Living units either under construction or in the drawing boards in Sanford are being held back by low wages. This is the view of J. J. Wren, a Herald columnist and real estate agent.

Wren says that the low wages paid to construction workers are making it difficult for home buyers to afford new homes. He says that this is a problem that will continue to exist unless wages are raised.

The building boom in Sanford is being fueled by the construction of new homes, commercial buildings, and industrial facilities. However, the low wages paid to workers are making it difficult for home buyers to afford these new homes.

Ten ways the Realtor takes the worry out of Home Buying!

1. THE REALTOR SAVES YOU TIME, EFFORT, AND HEADACHES. He discovers your architectural interests, likes, dislikes, and something you may not want to see within your price range.

2. THE REALTOR ADVISES YOU ABOUT NEIGHBORHOODS. His professional experience is invaluable to you in analyzing future trends and the value of your future as a long-range investment.

3. THE REALTOR HELPS YOU SEE THROUGH THE TRICKS OF THE TRADE. He knows what to look for in a home and what to avoid. But homes listed with a Realtor benefit from his knowledge of current market values.

4. THE REALTOR MAKES ARRANGEMENTS FOR YOUR SPECIFICATIONS. He makes appointments for your work and he will also see that you have plenty of time for a thorough, unhurried inspection.

5. THE REALTOR HELPS YOU SHARPEN YOUR EYE FOR IMPROVEMENTS AND ADVANTAGES you could not look. Also points out any disadvantages his trained eye may spot.

6. THE REALTOR PROVIDES YOU WITH FULL INFORMATION. He will give you essential facts about taxes, maintenance costs, quality of construction, and other details that you may not know. He will also help you negotiate a mutually advantageous agreement.

7. THE REALTOR HELPS YOU TO STAY WITHIN YOUR BUDGET. He will help you analyze your financial situation, give you sound mortgage advice. Then, if you desire, he can recommend sources of mortgage funds so you can arrange financing.

8. THE REALTOR HELPS YOU KNOW FINAL FACTS AND FIGURES. At the closing of the transaction, you will need a complete financial statement, giving you an exact record for insurance, tax and other purposes.

9. THE REALTOR IS PLEASED TO SERVE YOU. WELLS (DUBOIS) OF THE NARS said: "It is a pleasure to uphold the ideals of the Association. The Realtor has a duty to his client and to the public."

10. THE REALTOR HELPS YOU TO STAY WITHIN YOUR BUDGET. He will help you analyze your financial situation, give you sound mortgage advice. Then, if you desire, he can recommend sources of mortgage funds so you can arrange financing.

Buying a home can be a barrel of fun, or a pack of pitfalls. And that's where a Realtor comes in. Even though you may know the difference between a dormer and a bay window, his expert help can open features you might never notice. And steer you clear of drawbacks you might easily overlook. Below you will find ten of the best reasons we know for starting your search for a home in a Realtor's office.

Sanford Boom A Powder Keg

By JAMES CASSELL-BRIBERY
 County Editor

Living units either under construction or in the drawing boards in Sanford are being held back by low wages. This is the view of J. J. Wren, a Herald columnist and real estate agent.

Wren says that the low wages paid to construction workers are making it difficult for home buyers to afford new homes. He says that this is a problem that will continue to exist unless wages are raised.

The building boom in Sanford is being fueled by the construction of new homes, commercial buildings, and industrial facilities. However, the low wages paid to workers are making it difficult for home buyers to afford these new homes.

DO-IT-YOURSELF

How You Can Be Good Mixer

By MR. FIX

Concrete is a little bit like yourself. It starts from scratch with all the ingredients, and you have to mix it to get it just the way you want it. You can get the stuff all these days, and you will have to do the finishing yourself unless you want to hire someone for that. You can get a ready-mix product to which you add the water and sand or gravel and cement in the right proportions. A mix is more expensive than buying ingredients separately, but if you are doing a big job, it will be money-saving in the long run. When you shop for concrete, you will find that you can buy it only in large amounts. Large jobs, such as a driveway, but many concrete jobs are in cubic yards and one way to get a quantity of concrete is to order it in 3-cu-yd increments. Concrete brought right to square feet and a sliding by cubic feet figure in the thick of it. If you are trying to handle your home in a cement certain figure in the thick of it. ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG

If there is one frequently asked question which defines a home, it is "What kind of home is it?" Which is the best kind of home to buy? The answer is: "It depends on what you want." There are many different types of homes, and each has its own characteristics. If you are looking for a home that is easy to maintain, a ranch-style home might be the best choice. If you are looking for a home that is easy to maintain, a ranch-style home might be the best choice. If you are looking for a home that is easy to maintain, a ranch-style home might be the best choice.

Ehrlichman Implicated

WASHINGTON (AP) — A source close to the Senate Watergate probe says investigators believe they can establish that former presidential counselor John D. Ehrlichman authorized repeat offers of executive clemency made to James McCord.

McCord stands convicted of wrongdoing, bribery and conspiracy in the case. He testified in televised hearings Friday that former White House aide John Caulfield repeatedly pressured him, and once threatened him, in an attempt to get him to go to jail without talking.

'Bug Prosecutor Is Harvard Prof

WASHINGTON (AP) — The appointment of a Democrat and Harvard law professor as government prosecutor of the Watergate case has drawn favorable comment from key senators.

Archibald Cox, 61, accepted the assignment from Atty. Gen.-designate Elliot L. Richardson Friday and told a Boston news conference he would conduct a wide-ranging investigation. If the evidence leads to President Nixon, it will be referred to a grand jury.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here, at a glance, are Friday's highlights at the special Senate Watergate committee hearings: WITNESSES—Karl Schaffer, a Washington, D.C., policeman who took part in the arrest of burglars at the Democratic National Committee headquarters last June, and James W. McCord, one of the convicted burglars, for four hours.
