

SOME IMPRESSIONS AND EXPERIENCES OF A TRIP TO OLD ENGLAND

The next town after Oxford, on the writer's list, was Stratford-on Avon. A pleasant railway journey of about two and a half hours, through more of the beautiful English scenery, placed him in the town, so well known the world over as the scene of the birth and the boyhood of Shakespeare.

At this time of the year, the first of August, the tourist season is at its height and one finds difficulty in securing lodgings unless they have been requested ahead of time. The best and most pretentious hotel in the town, the Shakespeare House, was found to be full, and likewise the second one tried was found in the same condition. But being directed to the Red Horse Hotel, the writer was able to secure a bed and one meal for the sum of eight shillings and sixpence or two dollars and four cents. That amount is remarkably cheap as compared with the prices charged in Stratford, and one does well to get fair accommodations for less than five dollars a day.

The Red Horse proved to be one of the most interesting places in town, for it has been made famous by another great writer, our own Washington Irving. It was here that he stopped when he was a visitor to the birthplace of the great bard, and some of the inspiration for the Sketch Book came to him while a guest at the Red Horse. A room on the ground floor, the same room indeed that he was accustomed to sit in when he was at the hotel, has been dedicated to his memory and contains many souvenirs and mementoes of Irving. It was in this very room that he "abdicated his throne like a prudent monarch rather than be deposed and laid aside the sceptre when the charming maid appeared at twelve to ask if he had called?" Here he wrote these exquisite reflections, which still attract us to the pages of the Sketch Book. The room is still sacred to his memory, and the mahogany arm chair in which the author sat on the memorable evening he has described is distinguished by a brass plate bearing his name. Besides it, within easy reach, is also the poker which Irving playfully called his sceptre, since with this, as with a magic wand, he fancied that he ruled that night the spirits of the mighty dead and called them up before him at will. It is appropriate that upon its side is engraved "Geoffrey Crayon's Sceptre."

Nearly all Americans lodge at this hotel when in Stratford, for to lodge elsewhere would seem unpatriotic. One really feels very much at home here among so many Americans, and in all of Stratford an American may feel at home for he sees almost as many of his countrymen here as Englishmen. The American is usually as much interested in Shakespeare and better informed than the average Englishman that comes here.

Three points in Stratford attract the tourist. The birthplace of the bard comes first in importance, and when one first sees the peculiar old plastered house with its first timbering, there is a peculiar feeling comes over one. It is neither beautiful or attractive, but that does not matter when it is remembered that the greatest poet the world has ever seen first saw the light of day in this old house.

The Avon is the next most interesting place to see, for the beautiful quiet stream seems to embody the spirit of the country in which the poet was born and spent part of his boyhood days.

The other point of interest is the church where rests what remains of the dust that once composed the body of this wonderful man. It likewise is a beautiful place, and its spire pointing high above the surrounding trees and being reflected in the quiet waters of the nearby Avon forms a picture that one can never forget. Unlike the tombs of most great people the grave of Shakespeare is the simplest imaginable, for it is a simple slab in the floor of the church, bearing the famous epitaph:

*"Good friend, for Jesus' sake forbear
To dig the dust enclosed here.*

*Blest be the man that spares these stones,
And cursed be he that moves my bones.*

Accordingly the bones of Shakespeare guarded by so sinister a warning, have rested over three centuries here, in spite of numerous attempts to have them moved to Westminster Abbey.

The whole town of Stratford is devoted to the memory of the bard in some way or other. Even the shop where one buys post cards and souvenirs bears above the door the following quotation from Henry IV: "Have I not the proper cards?" Various places are named after his various plays or some character who was made famous in the plays. All kinds of objects are offered for souvenirs, and a large portion of the population are devoted to the task of not letting a single American get away from the town without spending all of the wealth every American is supposed to possess.

Only a night and a part of a day were spent in Stratford-on-Avon, and then the writer started for the city of Liverpool to embark again for America. In getting from Stratford to Liverpool it is necessary to stop over in Birmingham for a few hours. Birmingham is one of the greatest manufacturing towns and one of the greatest producers of smoke the world has ever seen. Indeed so dense was the smoke the few hours the writer was in the town that he did not dare venture more than a few yards from the station for fear of getting lost in the cloud of smoke that hovers close to the ground. However quiet and sleepy the rest of England may seem, this place can certainly not be so described, for here all the energy of a whole nation seems to be at work, and the goods of various kinds produced are famous the world over.

After reaching Liverpool again it was necessary to spend two days in the city, for the writer had become used to the many differences in climate and customs and people, and the dark and gloomy city did not seem so forbidding as at first. But it was with a great deal of joy that the writer set foot on the gangway leading up to the deck of the Lusitania in the afternoon of August 16th, and found himself ready to begin the long journey back to the "States."

The journey homeward was not so interesting as the outward trip, for the reason that not so many interesting friends were made, but it was pleasant in other ways for within two or three days the weather began to get warm again and the cold unpleasant weather of England was left behind.

One other impression remains to be described about this trip. Of course there are hundreds of others that the writer has not mentioned, but this is one of the most important. No American has ever returned from abroad and entered New York harbor without having a peculiarly great feeling of pride and patriotism and happiness come over him when the Statue of Liberty rises over the horizon, facing the old world, greeting both the home coming American and the stranger from other shores, and holding up to both of them the torch to light their path as they seek the way to the new world. The famous statue seems to take on new meaning and to be a thousand times more beautiful than when it was last seen disappearing below the horizon as the traveller pointed his course towards the distant shores of the old world. If any one has a single bit of patriotism in his blood it will make itself felt when the Statue of Liberty first looms into view together with the shores of the new world and home.

That's All

To the Wholesale Trade:

Tampa, Florida, Oct. 16, 1912.

Conditions in Florida are enigmatical, so far as the development and maturity of the citrus crop is concerned. Copious rains with very warm weather continue, conducive to growth and not to maturing of the fruit. Reports of green fruiterers to the contrary notwithstanding, the orange crop of Florida is later in developing this year than last. Parson Browns are developing sugar but they are not coloring. There are some Boone's Early which are showing more color than Parson Browns. These are also developing sugar.

There is no effort on the part of the growers themselves to get this fruit out of the state until it is matured and ready for market. There are some small operators, however, who are determined to circumvent the law if possible, and who are quoting oranges as Parson Browns that are not related in the remotest degree to that variety. A number of these operators have attempted to move oranges, and in a few instances have succeeded, during this week. In practically every case they have been detected, samples have been taken and tested and proven to be below the standard. Suits will be filed against these shippers by the Pure Food Department of the State and they will be vigorously prosecuted. The spread of the anti-green fruit sentiment is general among the growers of the state, as they are beginning to realize that only good fruit can be sold and the trade held on Florida oranges.

Owing to the slowness in coloring of the peel, our associations have refrained from moving Parson Browns this week, but will probably move a few next week. Every car that we move under the Parson Brown brand bill be guaranteed true to characteristic. They will be up to the standard and better than seven times as much sugar as citric acid. They will not be highly flavored, but will be palatable and they will probably be green on the outside. Those who order must understand distinctly that this will be the case and that no allowance will be made on arrival of the cars on account of color. We prefer not moving this fruit until it is colored, as it will then be much better matured and will insure entire satisfaction to consumers and encourage trade to the dealers.

In communities where the associations are located the great bulk of the fruit is in the organization. In some communities our holdings are large, but there are growers not affiliated with these associations in these communities. We have moved since the 1st of October about forty cars of grapefruit. This fruit has been selected with great care as to color and sizes. We have had no complaint on arrival of any of these cars as to quality. On the contrary, they have been very satisfactory. In one community there are about 85,000 boxes of fruit in the Association, probably 50 per cent. of it grapefruit. There is but one grove of any magnitude outside of the Association. The grapefruit on that grove was sold to one of these small operators, the grove was stripped clean, although the fruit was grass green, and it was put on the market. In the same community, in order to ship two cars of grapefruit, our Association went over 50,000 boxes. This will explain why we are not disposed to meet prices named indiscriminately by small operators. This incident is typical of many communities in the state.

Street Car Strike Assumes More Threatening Aspect

FLORIDA NEWS AND VIEWS FROM EVERY SOURCE

Daily Happenings in The Land of Flowers Culled and Tied Into a Nosegay of Brieflets

On account of the inability of the local police to cope with the street car strike situation here Governor Gilchrist has ordered the First Florida State troops, comprising about 1,000 men from various sections of the state. The four Jacksonville companies, about 400 strong, went on duty at 8 o'clock tonight, and will protect the street car company's property. The Board of Trade at a special meeting tonight, passed a resolution that peace be restored in Jacksonville and on the strength of this the troops were ordered out. The scenes of wildest disorder have been recurring ever since 10 o'clock this morning, several of the strike breakers imported by the street car company having been badly beaten up.

The police were unable to cope with the situation and the strike breakers were compelled to leave their cars and flee for their lives. On Main street in the heart of the business district, the mob climbed the cars, broke out the windows and defeated the cars as they went through.

Palatka will entertain the Hoo-Hoos when they meet in annual conglomeration when they meet in annual conglomeration in that city on November 23. This is always an interesting occasion, for the Hoo-Hoos, composed of lumbermen, do not fail to enjoy the outing.

No matter what the fruit or vegetable grower may raise, be it standardized grape fruit or a new fashioned spud, a premium will be offered for it at the Dade county fair next March. This was definitely decided upon by the directors of the fair association at a meeting last evening, the directors wishing the announcement made that premiums will be offered for anything and everything in the way of fruits and vegetables that can be raised in Dade county.

The St. Petersburg postoffice here is to be increased by the addition of clerks and two carriers.

Hon. M. O. Cox, for four terms judge of the Putnam county court and for years one of Palatka's most prominent public men, died at his home Wednesday afternoon.

In Miami there are already many beautiful homes and more are being projected. A correspondent tells that a Mr. Deering of Chicago, has recently purchased a strip of land on Biscayne Bay at a cost of $80,000 and will erect thereon a magnificent winter home.

The Fruit Exchange at Trilby is installing a fifteen horsepower gas engine and other machinery in the new packing house there. They expect to be in position to handle fruits by the first of the month.

Imperial Manager Replies
The management of the Imperial having seen your editorial in your issue of the 29th inst., relative to painting upon the sidewalks wishes to make this public apology for their part in the nuisance.

To redeem the good graces of any lady who might possibly have been put to any kind of inconvenience from our street signs we desire to offer a prize of a season ticket to the lady who can exhibit the worst soiled skirt or other piece of wearing apparel which was soiled by our advertising efforts.

In painting the sidewalks it was not our desire to commit any nuisance to the public, and we only realized the nuisance that it was to us in having to resort to this kind of publicity.

Your stand in this matter is perfectly correct only you do us an injustice in saying "There seems to be rivalry." There is no rivalry. We acknowledge that we lead in everything—good, better and best.

Respectfully yours,
J. F. KARNATZ,
Manager.

TRIP AROUND THE WORLD

One of The Events In The Social Life of Sanford.

CREDIT DUE METHODIST LADIES'

Homes Were Most Tastefully Decorated and Costumes Were Elegant.

It has been said of Americans that they are the most indefatigable travelers and sightseers in the world. Judging from the very large number who enjoyed the trip around the world, planned and conducted by the Missionary Society of the Methodist church Tuesday evening, Oct. 29th that statement is quite probably a conservative one.

The party were received and entertained at colonial America, the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Abernathy, before starting out on the trip they were to make around the world that evening.

The house was artistically and profusely decorated in red and white bunting and American flags of various sizes. A variety of the bunting was placed over the arch between the parlors and three very effective tablecloths were shown in the parlors.

Miss Douglas Abernathy presided at the table in the parlors, the first table in the second Miss M. H. Harrell as the hostess and Miss George W. Williams as the hostess were kneeling at the feet of the Goddess of Liberty.

The party were grouped around the Goddess. The hostess were seated in the dining room, where they were served with sandwiches, puddies and coffee, and presented with miniature American flags. Mrs. Abernathy was assisted by Mrs. E. K. Mettinger, Mrs. Albert Williams, Mrs. M. A. Mott, Mrs. Tom Williams, Mrs. George Wilson, Misses Genevieve Wickes, Elizabeth McLaughlin, Mrs. J. C. Hargis, Mrs. Hargis, who were in charge of the dinner.

Mrs. W. W. Williams, in entertaining the party, and "winging them off on their journey around the world, and embarking in the automobiles for Ireland, the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Philips, who as Mr. and Mrs. O. Harbert, did the honors of the table.

As the party were about to start on their journey, Mrs. W. W. Williams, who had them welcome to the Emerald Isle, and escorted them to the door, where Master Raymond Philips, dressed as an Irish soldier, received them, and Mr. E. K. Mettinger, wearing a tall green beaver hat, and carrying a rifle, escorted the party out into the street.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Williams, dressed in colonial attire, were the first to be seen on the trip, and they were followed by Mrs. O. Harbert, dressed in a blue silk dress with light waist and sleeves, and the skirt full enough to make three of the present style.

As the party entered Dublin, resplendent in green and yellow decorations and flowers, and where Mrs. C. A. Randall in a green and white costume entertained the visitors with a number of beautiful old-fashioned melodies and readings. Killarney came next, with its famous lakes and castle cleverly depicted with building blocks and various sized mirrors, showing through green leaves on an elevation.

They went to Belfast on their way to Cork, where in a typical restaurant they were served delicious potato salad and wafers with lettuce by charming Irish "biddies." From Cork the trip continued to Blarney, where they were requested by Mr. Mettinger, in true Irish brogue, to kiss the Blarney stone, arranged on the side of the staircase, necessitating a real lean over to reach it.

Miss Marian Philips presented the guests with a shamrock leaf as a souvenir. Many Irish suggestions were faithfully carried out, the beautiful harp which hung in Para's hall was there, with a large number of dainty green silk flags, on which were painted golden harps, with "Erin go Brach," and were true to the soil "Erin go Brach," and more true to the soil the girls wore in the parlors.

Mrs. Philips was assisted in entertaining the guests by Mrs. Harry Wilson, Misses Lillie Farnsworth, Gertrude Williams, and Mrs. J. C. Hargis.

At 10:30 the party were escorted to the depot, where they were to start on their journey around the world. The party were accompanied to the depot by Mrs. W. W. Williams, Mrs. O. Harbert, Mrs. E. K. Mettinger, Mrs. Albert Williams, Mrs. M. A. Mott, Mrs. Tom Williams, Mrs. George Wilson, Misses Genevieve Wickes, Elizabeth McLaughlin, Mrs. J. C. Hargis, Mrs. Hargis, and Mrs. W. W. Williams.

ORANGE COUNTY BOY HONORED

Richard P. Marks Appointed U. S. District Attorney Southern District

The many friends of Richard P. Marks among the attorneys throughout the State of Florida, as well as the business men and citizens generally will be delighted to learn that President Taft has appointed him United States district attorney for the Southern District of Florida to succeed Hon. John M. Cheney, the late district attorney, who was not long ago made United States judge of the district.

A telegram was received here this morning stating that the President had just appointed Mr. Marks district attorney, and signed his commission, which is enroute to Jacksonville.

Mr. Marks is especially qualified for the position of district attorney from the fact that he is an excellent lawyer, thoroughly familiar with the United States statutes, having begun at the bottom round of the ladder and come up step by step by perseverance, hard study and close attention to criminal as well as all kinds of cases that are heard in the Federal courts.

He has made hundreds of friends from the fact that he has always given everybody with whom he came in contact a square deal, being only desirous of having even handed "justice" of her fifty scales at all times and under all circumstances. In other words "justice tempered with mercy" has been his motto since he started in the United States attorney's office as clerk in 1899 under the late J. N. Stripling.

In 1902 Mr. Marks was promoted to the position of assistant United States attorney, and he served in that capacity until September 2, 1912, when he was appointed acting United States attorney.

His elevation now to the office of United States District Attorney is a testimony to his executive ability, and the part of President Taft, inasmuch as he is just the man that is the man, in point of legal ability, stamina and experience, that is needed for that position in the Southern District of Florida, Jacksonville-Metropolis.

Will Start Restaurant

The fine large room in the south end of the Wellborn block is being papered and painted and generally cleared up in preparation for the advent of a brand new restaurant that will start in about ten days. Mrs. Alice Messenger will preside over the destinies of the new venture and it goes without saying that the place will be the real thing in the line of good things to eat. This room is well and conveniently situated just one-half block from First street and the fittings already installed are superb and will fit in nicely for the restaurant business.

Mrs. Messenger has been in the restaurant business for a number of years and in Sanford has had charge of the depot lunch counter for several years. Recognizing the need of a restaurant with the removal of the depot Mrs. Messenger, at the request of her many city patrons has decided to open a city restaurant and promises them that when the place is finished to have one of the swiftest, cleanest and best equipped places in the state. As for the "eat" every knows that Mrs. Alice is bound to give the patrons what they want in the lunch line, the way they want it and when they want it.

Watch for the announcement of opening date.

Banks Close

Tuesday, Nov. 5, General Election Day, being a legal holiday, the banks will not be open for business on that day.

Hon. H. H. Dickson and Seth Woodruff of Orlando were among the prominent visitors to the city on Tuesday of this week.

After a long illness Vice President

James S. Sherman died in his home at Utica, N. Y., yesterday, of uremic poisoning and Bright's disease. He had been sinking since early morning and it was realized that death was only a question of a few hours. There was a slight relief shortly after 9 p. m., apparently caused by a better condition of the kidneys, but it did not prove lasting and gave only temporary hope. At nine the patient's temperament rose to 106. From that time on his condition became worse. Mr. Sherman was unconscious when the end came and had been so for hours. All the members of his immediate family were witnesses to the end. In addition to Mrs. Sherman there were in the death chamber their three sons, Sherrill, Richard C. and Thomas M. Sherman and their respective wives; R. M. and Sanford Sherman, brother of Mr. Sherman and Mrs. I. R. Moore and Mrs. S. J. Cockingham, sisters of Mr. Sherman.

Three hundred Turkish officers and men have been executed in connection with the panic of the Turkish troops at the taking of Kirk Kiliseh by the Bulgarians. According to narratives by refugees from that city the troops at Kirk Kiliseh were composed almost entirely of reservists. They were under-armed, ill fed and badly clothed, several of the regiments at the time of the fighting had been without rations for forty-eight hours.

Testimony that International Harvesting Company in 1905 paid an attorney a fee of $8,000 to defeat a bill in the Kansas Legislature designed to prevent the International Harvester Company from using an exclusive clause in their agreement with selling representatives was given today by Rodney B. Swift, former head of the law department of the McCormick Harvester Company and later connected with the Harvester Company in the hearing of the Government's dis solution suit.

Seven persons perished and three were injured in a fire which destroyed St. John's Catholic Orphanage at San Antonio, Texas, yesterday. One boy is missing and believed to be dead.

Mrs. Grover Cleveland authorizes the announcement of her engagement to Thomas Joseph Preston, professor of archaeology and history of arts at Wells College. The date of the marriage is not yet determined but will be announced later.

That the three men who held up and robbed Missouri, Kansas and Texas passenger train No. 9 at Wirth, Okla., early today overlooked a package containing $50,000 in currency by the express company is far safe is declared by express company officials here tonight. Just how much loot was secured the officials declare they do not know but it is reported that it will reach $25,000.

Presbyterian Church Social

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold a social at the vacant store room next to the City Restaurant on Saturday afternoon, November 2. Supper will be served at 6 and will cost the small sum of 35 cents. Oysters will be served in every style for only 25 cents. Remember the date and get your appetite ready for the event, for the Presbyterian ladies have a reputation as most excellent cooks.

Socialist Meeting

Hon. Thomas W. Cox, candidate for Governor on the Socialist ticket addressed a large crowd on First street last night on the issues of the day and the object of Socialism. Mr. Cox is a forceful speaker and handled his subject in the usual able manner of the Socialists. They have a full ticket in the field this year and will poll a large vote in Florida.

SANFORD THE BOSTON FLORIDA

Feed Cost of Milk per Gallon

During the year the usual accurate records have been kept of the dairy herd at the Agricultural Experiment Station. The records include the feed consumed and the milk produced. From these items we can reckon the cost of the milk produced by each cow. By keeping a record of each cow we can tell at the end of the year whether dairying is a profitable industry or not. We can also tell the values of the various animals. If any cow falls below the profit line she should be sold.

In figuring the cost of the milk per gallon, the cows were charged with only the stall feed consumed during the six months' test. No charges were made for labor. The feeds were charged at the following prices: Bran, $1.70; cottonseed meal, $1.50; and silage $0.20 per hundred. The bran and cottonseed meal were mixed by adding one hundred pounds of cottonseed meal to one every two hundred pounds of bran. Each cow consumed about twenty-five pounds of Japanese-cane silage every day. It is interesting to study these records and see the possibilities for dairying in Florida.

The value of the milk may be taken at thirty cents per gallon wholesale.

There seems to be a common idea that it involves considerable expense to feed a dairy cow in Florida. However our records do not bear out this contention.

The record for eight cows in the dairy herd shows that the average cost of feed per cow for one hundred and eighty days was $23.28. The average yield of milk per cow was 2634 pounds. A gallon of milk weighs 8.6 pounds. The average value of milk produced was $91.88 per cow, or $15.31 per month per cow. The average income over cost of feed was $68.75 per cow, or $11.45 per cow per month. The average cost of feed to produce a gallon of milk was seven and eight-tenths cents.

Two of the cows used in this test were three years old, with their first calves. It should not be expected that these cows would make as good records as mature ones. Yet one of these heifers produced milk at a lower cost for feed eaten than did some of the older ones.

Cow No. 6 produced more milk in 180 days than did any other cow. She gave 3246 pounds of milk, or 377.4 gallons. The smallest yield of milk was produced by cow No. 15, a three-year old cow with her first calf. She produced 1975 pounds, or 229.6 gallons. This shows the great variation in yield of different individual cows. If cow No. 15 produced enough milk to more than pay for her feed, cow No. 6 must have returned a good profit. If all of the cows in the herd had been as good producers as cow No. 6, the profits at the end of the year would have nearly doubled.

The above figures show that the cost of feed consumed by these cows was equal to seven and eight-tenths cents per gallon for the milk produced during the six months. To get the cost of the milk produced we must add the cost of labor, the cost of feed for the remainder of the year, interest on investment, taxes and up-keep. We must also take into consideration the milk produced during the remaining six months of the year.

Becker Sentenced
Ossining, N. Y., Oct. 31. Former Police Lieut. Charles Becker is in the "death house" at Sing Sing prison tonight under sentence to die in the electric chair during the week of December 9, the convicted murderer of the gambler Herman Rosenthal.

He was brought here from New York immediately after sentence was pronounced upon him by Justice Goff in the court room where he was found guilty six days ago.

Becker's execution will be stayed, however, by the filing of a notice of appeal from the verdict. In this lies Becker's only hope of escape from death. His last words before the gates of the prison were shut behind him this afternoon were: "I come here an innocent man. I never had a chance. I was railroaded. But the fight has only begun. I expect a reversal of the verdict and a new trial."

The condemned man, manacled to a deputy sheriff, arrived at the prison at 1:30 o'clock after a twenty minute walk through the street of the village surrounded by several hundred persons curious to see him. With stolid countenance and head erect, Becker withstood the ordeal without losing his composure.

The beautiful fall weather and cool breezes will soon cause us to regret there was ever a hot summer.

Mrs. John Jacobs is having her crop of egg plant gathered and shipped this week. She reports good returns.

The orange growers are more than busy these days, planning to market their crops of golden balls.

Mrs. Billie Jacobs and children, who have been quite ill for several days, are convalescing rapidly, so much so that the nurse, Miss Williams, has given up the case and returned to her home.

Mrs. Mattie Lusader and little daughter, Mildred of Orlando are spending a while with the former's sister, Mrs. Billie Jacobs.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Story and daughter, Miss Mollie, left Monday for Conway to visit their daughter, Mrs. Hart for several days.

Walter Hale, chief engineer for the Kissimmee Valley Construction Co., was a pleasant guest at The Palms the first of the week.

The private car of the F. E. C. Ry officials stopped over night in Chuluota Tuesday night. There is about thirty-five miles more of the new railroad ready for approval.

Messrs. Dann and Duke of Orlando visited friends in this neighborhood last Sunday.

Miss May Long has gone to City Point on the east coast to visit her sister, Mrs. O. W. Townsend for several weeks.

The Chuluota Baptist church entertained the Wekiva Association last week, most of the ministers coming in Tuesday and staying until Friday. There being about 125 of the visitors from distances whom our folks entertained at the homes, while the congregation during the day services was about two or three hundred besides our home folks. This church is small as to membership, having only forty-seven members to report at this association, while this delegation was entertained by only sixteen families.

The M. M. S. society met with Mrs. Victor Peters last Thursday evening. It was a very busy meeting as well as a pleasant one.

Miss Belle Eichelner returned last Wednesday from a very pleasant visit spent with Miss Mamie Harris of Winter Park.

One of the most enjoyable social events ever held in Geneva took place last Friday night, when the ladies of the M. M. S. society gave a big supper for their husbands and men friends.

Mrs. Pattishall, who is president of the society very kindly gave the use of her beautiful home for this function.

The table in the form of a Maltese cross was set on the lawn, covered with its snowy cloth and centered by a growing fern banked with yellow elders. It presented a very beautiful appearance. The brilliant moonlight and soft glow of Japanese lanterns seemed almost all the light needed. Covers were laid for forty-four. The table was loaded with everything worth while, the best efforts of M. M. S. society cooks, and from chicken pie to ice cream and cake, was a perfect success. Well known quotations were written on slips of paper and cut in two, the first half given to the ladies and the last half to the men, as partners for supper. The result caused considerable fun. After supper all went to the parlors where a delightfully informal social time was spent. Mrs. Ernest Tolar of Sanford favored the company with a beautiful piano selection and accompanied the young folks in their merry songs. She also accompanied Mrs. Curlett, who sang a sweet little German song. At a

WE WIN WITH WILSON

MARKED "ADVERTISEMENT"

An editor compiles the following sample of what the new postal law requiring the marking of nearly everything as "advertisement" will lead to in the news columns:

The editor wishes to extend his thanks (adv.) to his old time friend Bill Jones (adv.) for a half bushel of sweet potatoes (adv.). These potatoes are of the famous pumpkin variety (adv.), for which Bill is noted for miles around (adv.) and while Bill claims all the credit (adv.) for raising these famous (adv.) potatoes, yet we have a feeling that Mrs. Jones' (adv.) watchful care had much to do with the large crop (adv.).

We might go a step further and give a copy of a wedding notice if the law is strictly complied with.

"The pretty (adv.) home wedding of Miss Sallie Shanks, the beautiful (adv.) and attractive daughter of John Smith Shanks, the prominent groceryman (adv.) and Mr. Samuel Snodgrass, one of the city's most successful (adv.) and popular (adv.) young business men (adv.) was solemnized yesterday at noon at the handsome home (adv.) of the bride's parents. The music was rendered by the talented organist (adv.) Mrs. Jerusha Jones, accompanied by the eminent violinist (adv.) Prof. (adv.) Bowstring. The ceremony was performed impressively (adv.) by Rev. Holy Smokes (adv.) and the young couple left immediately over the Sealantic Cour Line (adv.) for a bridal tour."

This is just where the absurd law will take us if we observe it to the letter. It prescribes that any statement in a newspaper that partakes of the nature of a newspaperment must be so marked—and the above gives a fair example of how an ordinary social paragraph would appear if this provision should be carefully carried out.

The newspaper industry is booming up in Jacksonville. Two new afternoon dailies are promised for that city. The Messrs. Dunne, under the auspices of the Scripps-McRae League, will start the Jacksonville Evening Star on Nov. 18, modern in all things, backed by abundant capital, and in the field to stay as one of the big papers in Florida. In addition Messrs. Whitney and Naugle, late of the Metropolis staff, will establish the Jacksonville News, an afternoon daily to appear not later than Nov. 5. With four dailies and two weeklies, Dixie and the Floridian, Jacksonville ought to feel that she is sure to get all the news—supplemented by appropriate comment."—Lakeland Telegram.

There are many parkways fronting fine residences, there are many fronts in the business section, there are many front lots and back lots that if cleaned now would make the city more presentable to the winter visitors who will soon be in our midst. There does not seem to be any concerted movement in this direction even on the part of our citizens, property owners, Commercial Club or Welaka Club. There is nothing that would improve our city quite as much at the present as a general cleaning up.

The Sanford Herald voices a widespread suspicion when it says that "when the general election is over there will be a general exodus to Florida that will eclipse anything in the tourist line that has ever crossed the Florida line." This state is now universally recognized by all the country east of the Mississippi as the winter tourist resort of the nation. And from even west of the Mississippi we are drawing a steadily increasing number.—Lakeland Telegram.

The loyal Democrats of Sanford and vicinity should have a grand Wilson rally on Monday night. We have not awakened during the campaign and this cock-sure idea about the election of Wilson is not good for party work. We ought to have a big time on Monday night and whoop-er-up for Wilson.

Headlines in daily papers state that Diaz will be shot in Vera Cruz. This would be rather tough on Diaz and if he can prevail upon them to shoot him just below Vera Cruz he might be able to live through it.

Woman in Tampa tried to commit suicide with a safety razor which would indicate to her that life is not real in the Cigar City.

Welaka Club Halloween

The Welaka Club observed Halloween in the usual brilliant style that characterizes all the affairs of this organization and although there were several other attractions in the city the rooms of the Club were filled to overflowing and during the dance there was hardly room on the floor for the couples.

The rooms were tastefully decorated in the Halloween effect and there were harvest moons, corn stalks and pumpkins galore. Even the hangings of the window were decorated with the traditional black cats and witches and broom sticks, and the amazement of the guests as they were ushered into the rooms was expressed by exclamations and praises.

The evening was sped by the "back to childhood" Halloween games, among them being sticking numbers in the eyes of a mammoth painted pumpkin face while blindfolded, eating doughnuts on the string and many others that brought forth peal after peal of laughter from the guests and those engaged in the games. Dancing was interspersed with the games and in all the evening was more thoroughly enjoyed than any "gentleman's night" that has ever been attempted by the club.

Dainty sandwiches, delicious salad and best of all the cute pumpkin pies like mother used to make and Welaka Club coffee rounded out an evening of rare enjoyment and added another well filled page to the history of club events.

Mrs. R. J. Holly, the hostess for October has given the members of the Welaka Club four weeks of delightful social affairs in the club room and to her and her valuable assistants much of the success of the pre-autumn events are due.

Vote for the Amendment

On Tuesday, Nov. 5th, at the general election for county, state and national officials, you will be called on to vote for an Amendment to the Constitution of Florida, which adds Section 17 to Aricle XII of the Constitution, and gives authority to the state Legislature to provide for the issuance of bonds by Special Tax School Districts whenever the freeholders of any such district shall, by majority vote, authorize the issuance of bonds by such district. The principle underlying this amendment is the Democratic one of Local Self Government; your vote in favor of it will give the people a greater measure of self government than they have ever had before. The necessity for this Educational Amendment is state wide, and the amendment is endorsed and recommended by the educators of the state. The adoption of the amendment does not compel any Special Tax School District to issue bonds, it simply makes it possible for a Special Tax School District to issue bonds for school purposes whenever the voters of such school districts so desire. No bonds can be issued without the expressed consent of the voters, even after the amendment is adopted. So that the voters take no risk whatever in voting for the amendment.

The Board of Public Instruction of Orange County approves the amendment and urges the voters of Orange county to vote for it.

Will Publish Paper Here

Sanford on account of the central location and many other advantages is attracting the attention of many business enterprises and every day sees new industries seeking a location here because the promoters realize that the matter of location and close touch with all of central and south Florida, Sanford is the peer of any city in Florida.

Among the new ones this week is the removal of the Growers Association News which has been published in Miami and hereafter will be published from the office of the Herald Printing Co. The News is under the capable management of Jas. F. McCombs who is well known to the fruit and vegetable trade and who with his paper will prove a valuable acquisition to the city and this section.

The coming of the News to Sanford means the addition of several more families, a larger pay roll and more advertising to the city. In the height of the season the News gives the growers the market reports fresh from the wires and this is something that has long been needed in Sanford, this section being recognized as the greatest vegetable section in the South.

Mr. McCumb's publishing a fruit and vegetable paper will mean that our section will receive more notice along these lines as he is an active worker and an authority on growing and shipping of fruits and vegetables and his paper is waging a continual warfare for lower freight rates, better shipping facilities and a square deal for the farmer.

SHIPPING LETTUCE

Well Known Commission Firm Obtains Good Prices for Stuff

Lettuce has not reached its maturity, in fact has not even intimated that it would ever possess a head, but the tender leaves are most palatable and in some parts of the country leaves are all that the people expect from lettuce. This week Sheridan Jewett had some prime stuff that while not headed looked crisp and fine and so tempted S. A. Anderson of the M. O. Coggins Co. that he prevailed upon Mr. Jewett to allow him to sell some of it. A campaign of postal cards brought Sandy orders from many points in the state and he disposed of a number of crates, the price ranging from $1.25 to $2.00 per crate f. o. b. Sanford, which is an excellent price for leaves and proves beyond doubt that Sandy Anderson knows a thing or two about selling Florida products.

Halloween Party

Mrs. B. A. Howard and Mrs. Kent Rossetter entertained at a very delightful Halloween party in the Welaka Club rooms Thursday afternoon.

The usual Halloween decorations were made very attractive by the tasteful arrangement of beautiful goldenrod and yellow daisies, which with the little red devil lanterns lent additional charm to the attractive club rooms. Seven tables of auction bridge were played. The highest score was made by Mrs. A. P. Connelly, who won the handsome prize, a brass book rack. Mrs. R. J. Holly received the low prize, a "good luck" black cat. Delicious punch, served from a huge pumpkin, was enjoyed during the afternoon.

After the interesting games of cards were concluded delicious chicken salad, wafers, coffee, pink, white and brown ice cream and cake were served.

Mrs. Howard's and Mrs. Rossetter's guests were Mrs. W. R. Anno, Mrs. F. J.

Paint is on hand for the warehouse and will soon be put on and an epidemic of painting will follow.

We are proud of our grocery stock at this place, managed by Mrs. Marshall. The stock is well selected, well kept and being added to almost daily. Call and see Mrs. Marshall or give her an order over the phone and she will deliver the goods.

R. Encampment. He was the flag bearer for the state of Florida in the grand parade. He has visited points in Nebraska and Ohio on his way home, besides considerable of California while there. From all he could learn Florida offers more opportunities than California in the way of farming and fruit raising and in general business. He also adds that the Florida climate is much better at all seasons. Mr. Hulbert has resided in St. Cloud three years. His home was in Nebraska formerly. Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hancock are an-

Bad Spells

"I suffered, during girlhood, from womanly weakness," writes Mrs. Mollie Navy, of Walnut, N. C. "At last, I was almost bed-ridden, and had to give up. We had three doctors. All the time, I was getting worse. I had bad spells, that lasted from 7 to 28 days. In one week, after I gave Cardui a trial, I could eat, sleep, and joke, as well as anybody. In 8 weeks, I was well. I had been an invalid for 5 weary years! Cardui relieved me, when everything else failed."

Speer, Paschea Leffler and Miss Nita Moore, dressed as Irish biddies in white dresses, green aprons, yellow kerchiefs, and little white kerchiefs tied over their heads.

The journey was continued to Japan. Mrs. J. D. Roberts, where many colored Japanese lanterns and umbrellas of various colors and sizes united with the handsome palms, ferns, cut flowers and chrysanthemum decorations to make a very attractive scene. The guests were invited to sit on pretty cushions on the floor, where they were served by fascinating Japanese girls with rice in cute little bowls and chop sticks and tea with dainty wafers; while they were entertained by Mrs. R. C. Maxwell in Japanese costume and chrysanthemum in her hair, with several recitations, and Mrs. E. L. Robertson, accompanied by Dr. O. L. Miller on the piano, sang Japanese songs. Two little Japanese girls, Jean Maxwell and Irma Smith presented each guest with a chrysanthemum. The tea table in a bower of bright green and protected by a huge umbrella was presided over by Mrs. H. H. Hill, in Japanese costume. Mrs. Roberts was assisted by Mrs. J. D. Barker, Mrs. J. D. Jinkins, Mrs. H. H. Hill, Misses Margaret Davis, Luca Chappel; Margaret Roberts, Eleanor and Ruth Roberts, Esther and Katherine Wilson and Mrs. R. C. Maxwell. Messrs. R. M. Mason and Moye inspected the tickets.

The trip was then resumed with Cuba, the Pearl of the Antilles, its destination. Each traveler was fully repaid for their long journey from Japan, when at Mrs. S. O. Shinholser's, Cuba, in all of its tropical loveliness and brilliancy burst on their view, with Mrs. E. L. Robertson, dressed as a senorita, sitting on the stairway, amid gorgeous palms, banana plants and ferns sang Spanish love songs, accompanied by Dr. O. L. Miller on the guitar. The popular decorations were pink and green with a brilliant yellow room, where punch was served the thirsty travelers and cigars as favors were given the gentlemen. In the lovely red room, a huge banana plant filled one corner and bananas from a bunch on the plant were served to the ladies as favors by Misses L. J. Dameron and Beth Mettinger, dressed as Cuban senoritas. Mrs. J. W. Barnes as a senorita gave several delightful readings and sang Spanish songs to her own accompaniment on the guitar. Mrs. Shinholser was assisted by Mrs. C. E. Smith, Mrs. W. Palmer, Mrs. H. E. Hester, Mrs. R. L. Robertson, Mrs. J. W. Barnes, Misses L. Josephine Dameron, Elizabeth Mettinger and Mary McKim. Mr. W. L. Palmer and Mr. Shinholser looked after the tickets.

Leaving Cuba, the last stage of the journey began, when the party reached Iceland. Mrs. F. W. Miller. They gave up their tickets to Messrs. F. W. Miller and T. A. Newton, who bade them welcome to their frigid clime. The dazzling whiteness of Iceland was a decided contrast to the vivid coloring in Cuba. Ropes of simulated ice extended from all sides of the room, with icicles hanging from the walls, the trees were covered with snow, large snow balls were in abundance, and guarding all of this awesome radiance was a huge polar bear, with several smaller brown bears. The only color visible was red and white flags of Iceland. The same flag in miniature was given as favors. While ice cream and cake were being served Mrs. T. A. Newton, Mrs. Claire Walker and Mr. Frank Campbell entertained the guests with vocal and instrumental music. Mrs. Miller was assisted by Mrs. T. A. Newton, Claire Walker, Gladys Morris, Francis Liddon, Kate Underwood and Martha Miller, who were dressed in white with white hoods.

The entire trip and entertainment of the evening was delightful and thoroughly enjoyed by the entire party, who enthusiastically entered into the spirit of the occasion, appreciating the efforts made by the ladies of the Missionary Society to give them a pleasant evening.

Too much praise cannot be accorded Messrs. G. W. Spencer, Frank Milteer, Willie Hill, Hodges, Swope and Dr. O. L. Miller, who with their automobiles contributed very largely to the success of the Trip Around the World.

Congregational News

Last Wednesday evening at a business meeting of the church, Rev. J. D. Langley was invited by a unanimous vote to become its pastor. He has agreed to assume the duties of pastor while he remains in the city, but as he has had plans in view looking to his removal from Sanford he could promise only a temporary service. It is to be hoped, however, that he may reconsider and that the church and the city may not lose his valuable services. Preaching next Sunday at the usual hours. Remains for the evening service at 7 o'clock and Sunday school at 9:45 a. m.

The Irish Potato Crop

It is understood that the Irish potato acreage of Irish potatoes in Florida will probably be about one-fourth larger this season than last. The crop in the Hastings section will be increased 200 or 300 acres over last year. On the lower east coast at Miami and vicinity the potato acreage will probably be 30 per cent larger than last year. The potato acreage will also be increased in the Sanford section.
