Bomb Blast, Fire KIL

12 Revolvers in Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A powerful bomb explosion and flash fire ripped through a hotel complex with party-goers and their children Friday night, killing at least 12 people and injuring 30 others in Northern Ireland's worst terrorist attack in six years.

Police said they received two anonymous warnings of the blast, but did not have time to clear the building. They said they suspected the provisional Irish Republican Army.

Survivors said a hotel had just struck up a tune in the Lillies Metal crowded with 400 people in Crottabrough, 7 miles east of central Belfast, when the bomb went off.

Paris Gas Blasts KIL 5

PARIS (UPI) — Police and fire officials today searched the rubble of three fashionable Paris apartment buildings in an effort to determine the cause of a chain of explosions which killed five people and injured 49.

District First Chief Col. Jean Couper said the official death toll from the three blasts, apparently caused by leaking gas, stood at five but added that more victims may be found.

Mondale To South Pacific

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Walter F. Mondale is heading to the South Pacific to discuss U.S. security and economic relations with leaders in New Zealand, Australia, Indonesia, Thailand and the Philippines.

His mission underscores the importance my administration attaches to this region of the world where we retain vital security interests and where we have very large and rapidly growing commercial ties. President Carter said in a statement issued Friday by the White House while he was traveling in New England.

AFS: Peace Prize To Biko

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The American Friends Service Committee says it wants to nominate the late South African black activist Stephen Biko, who died in police custody, for the 1979 Nobel Peace Prize.

The Quaker group said it wants to honor the "gentle, yet forceful" leadership Biko showed black South Africans before his suspicious death last September.

Poisoned Stamps in Italy

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — Thousands of counterfeit postage stamps backed with poisonous glue are circulating in Italy, according to postal officials.

Officials said they had so far received no reports of persons becoming ill after licking the backs of the stamps to paste on letters.

Another Cosmos Launched

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has launched into orbit another Cosmos satellite, the official Tass news agency said today.

The satellite, number 900 in the series — was launched Friday and circles the Earth every 101 minutes in an orbit that takes it 497 miles from the Earth at its maximum distance and 434 miles at its closest.

After Chowchilla Sentencings Kidnappers' Mother: 'Happy And Sad'

OKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — The mother of two of the three Chowchilla, Calif., kidnapers said after their sentencing: "How can you be sad and happy at the same time?"

Her younger son, Richard Schoenfeld, 24, will not have to spend the rest of his life behind bars and that made her happy. But her other son, James Schoenfeld, 24, was given a life term in prison without possibility of parole.

Mrs. Merry Schoenfeld of Alhambra, Calif., made her comment Friday after Alameda County Superior Court Judge Leo Dawson imposed without parole on her two sons and Fred Woods, 35.

Dawson, however, said the younger Schoenfeld would be eligible for release on parole in six months under a state law permitting consideration of release for offenders 20 years of age and younger.

James was 31 at the time the 20 school children and their bus driver, Ed Ray, were abducted on July 18, 1976.

"It's good for one of them and bad for the others," Mrs. Schoenfeld said. "I'm glad the courtroom after the sentencing. "How can you be sad and happy at the same time?"

The lawyers for all three defendants said they would appeal the sentences.

Ray, who was in the courtroom for the final chapter in the bizarre case, said, "All three of them should have gotten the same thing." He added the younger Schoenfeld

"was old enough to know better."

The defendants pleaded guilty to simple kidnap charges, but were convicted in a one-jury trial of kidnap with bodily injury. The bodily injury charge carries a mandatory life sentence without parole.

Dawson conducted a thorough hearing on mitigating circumstances before imposing sentence. He said his purpose was to enable defense lawyers to present evidence for future appeals.

Herbert Yarnowitz, Woods' attorney, said it was ironic that the special protection he provided to his clients on grounds other convictions might try to harm them.

Alameda County Judge Charles Cliff Harbaugh said the three would be housed in the California Men's Facility had secured him the three would be protected.

The trio will be held at the Vacaville prison for 90 days before being assigned to other state facilities.

The defense lawyers asked that special protection be provided to their clients on grounds other convictions might try to harm them.

The kidnapers staged the abduction in an attempt to obtain $5 million in ransom. The victims were taken from Chowchilla to a Livermore, Calif., truck garage where they were entombed in a buried van.

Couple Charges Police Forced 'Deal'

A Camberly couple charges in a lawsuit filed in circuit court that Camberly police in May 1978 refused to tell them where they could recover their stolen gun unless the couple gave police information about other burglaries.

The Seminoles-Bradford state attorney's office and Attorney General Robert Shreve.

The Sampsons called the police's action a conspiracy to deprive them of their property rights.

Police finally told the Sampsons the equipment was being held in an Orlando pawnshop, but that only one air tank was left when the Sampsons went to the pawnshop, the suit claims.

The suit claims the two Camberly policemen told the Camberly couple they would never see their property again unless they provided information about other burglaries in the city.

The Sampsons wrote to Sheriff Shreve, asking action, but none was forthcoming, according to the Sampsons' lawsuit.

These people made a complete fool of themselves and officers and that none was anticipated. The chief said he personally investigated the charges when the complaint was filed and found "no basis for the allegations."

Asked if not reporting stolen property is unusual, the chief said, "We've been trying to figure that one out, but..."

He said no disciplinary action had been taken against the officers and that none was anticipated. The chief said he personally investigated the charges when the complaint was filed and found "no basis for the allegations."

Utility employee Gilbert A. McPherson, 41, of Apopka, had his personal vehicle, parked on the property Thursday night, suffered a rearview mirror torn off and windshield wipers damaged.

He said a centrifugal force pump was thrown into a storage bin on the property. McPherson also said some of the wiring of a backhoe was ripped off and that the backhoe was damaged.

Deposits say thieves entered through a broken-out window of the trailer, but deputies had not determined how thieves left the trailer. They are investigating.

CB, RADAR DETECTOR GONE

Thieves early Thursday morning took a citizens band radio and a police radar detector from an unlocked car in Forest City, the car's owner told deputies.

Ronald Lewis Berner, 38, of 185 Alhambra St., told deputies the stolen property is worth $200. He said the car was parked in front of his home.

GARDEN TRACTOR TAKEN

A new garden tractor worth $2,500 was taken sometime Thursday night or Friday morning from Behrens Tractor Co. on State Road 46 and Crawford Avenue east of Sanford, the company's owner told deputies.

Gerald Behrens, 41, reported the missing tractor to deputies, who say the tractor was washed each week and cost $2,500. It was reduced to $2,000 for each by County Court Judge Alan A. Dickey Friday.

Deputies acting on an anonymous tip, arrested the two near a Longwood pawnshop, and the two had an evening machine and cash register taken Monday from Sentry Fence Co., U.S. 17-92, Longwood, deputies said.

He Shoots At Flag, Now Sues

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Attorney John Pascoek sued the San Gabriel Valley Gun Club for $3 million in slander damages, saying he was humiliated by being publicly shamed as a patriot for shooting at a telephone book decorated with a picture of the U.S. flag.

He charged that his legal practice has suffered ever since.

Pascoek, a former police officer, said in the suit filed Friday, that he was at the gun club on Jan. 19, 1977, to obtain samples of fired bullets for a ballistics comparison test.

Haldeman Book: Really Nothing New

By CLAY F. RICHARDS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — H.R. Haldeman's new book, "The Ends of Power," reveals much about the Richard Nixon that only a few insiders knew, but little said never fact about Watergate.

Although the book carried the heavy promise of a "tell all" expose on the great scandal, it instead offers "theories," and educated guesses that shed little light on the unanswered questions of Watergate.

It is possible that what Haldeman calls his "theories" are indeed fact, and that he must write them as conjecture in order to avoid additional prosecution on perjury charges — since much of what he says appears to contradict what he told Watergate investigators years ago.

He charged that his legal practice has suffered ever since.

Pascoek, a former police officer, said in the suit filed Friday, that he was at the gun club on Jan. 19, 1977, to obtain samples of fired bullets for a ballistics comparison test.

He put up a telephone directory as a target because the thick book would trap bullets without deforming the markings he needed to study. That edition of the directory had a flag printed on the cover.

After he had fired several shots, he charged, a club official, Cecil Phillips, named as co-defendant, ordered over the public address system that all shooters cease firing.

He ordered whoever "is shooting at the bicentennial flag" to retrieve it, calling it "the worst violation of respect for the flag" he had ever seen, that it would not be tolerated," Pascoek's suit alleged.

Although the book carried the heavy promise of a "tell all" expose on the great scandal, it instead offers "theories," and educated guesses that shed little light on the unanswered questions of Watergate.

It is possible that what Haldeman calls his "theories" are indeed fact, and that he must write them as conjecture in order to avoid additional prosecution on perjury charges — since much of what he says appears to contradict what he told Watergate investigators years ago.

Let Crickets do the cleaning

Now that the holidays are over and the decorations down, does your home need cleaning? If so, call Crickets. They have a team of women trained before they ever go on a job, who clean your house from top to bottom. If it's not clean, it's not Crickets. And it only takes a day.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Bad Weather Delays Hunt For Boy, 15, On Raft

MIAMI (UPI) — Bad weather forced a delay today in the continuing air search off Florida's east coast for a 15-year-old Kentucky boy who drifted out to sea in a tiny rubber raft last week.

A Coast Guard spokesman said weather conditions cancelled the scheduled early morning departure of six planes in the massive search which began last Thursday.

Rosalynn Honors Pro-ERAs

First Lady Rosalynn Carter is scheduled to dedicate "Artifact," a 21-foot, $30,000 stainless steel sculpture outside Orlando's federal building Saturday before going on to Tampa for a ball honoring pro-ERA (Equal Rights Amendment) lawmakers.

Judge Won't Cut Medicaid

TALLAHASSEE, (UPI) — Over 420,000 Medicaid recipients now have full access to medical services because of the temporary refusal by federal Judge William Stafford to honor requests to continue cuts in the program.

Baby Sitter Clinic: The Newest 'Helping Hand'

Schuckman said many people in Longwood and many teen-agers in that area are still disturbed about the baby sitter who was severely beaten by an intruder recently and that incident is what triggered the new "baby sitter clinic."

Prince Fab But Not Set For Marriage

LONDON (UPI) — Prince Charles is a "fantastic" person but isn't ready for marriage and probably hasn't even met the woman who will be his queen, according to one of prince's current girlfriends.

13th Hillside Strangler Victim Found In LA Car

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Hillside Strangler has claimed a 13th victim, a 29-year-old clerk found dead in the trunk of a car in the Los Angeles National Forest, authorities said.

Cindy Lee Hudspeth, a former Glendale cocktail waitress who worked for a savings and loan association in Los Angeles, was the latest victim of the sex killer, the Los Angeles County Sheriff's office said Friday night.

Snow Hits Texas, Moves East

By United Press International

A snowstorm that clobered North Texas shoved eastward Saturday and New Englanders feared it could bring them another crippling blast of winter.

The storm that lumbered out of the Rockies laid down three-foot drifts in western and north-central Texas Friday. It closed businesses and schools and all but shut down the Dallas-Fort Worth airport.

Skyjacker Gets 30 Years

SEATTLE (UPI) — Frank M. Sibley, 48, who sped over an airport tarmac on a bicycle with a rifle slung over the handlebars to hijack an airliner, was sentenced to 30 years in federal prison Friday on air piracy charges.

The sentencing followed a retrial earlier this month. An appellate court ruled he had been wrongfully denied a competency hearing in his first trial in 1972.

Dole: Black Vote Needed

ATLANTA (UPI) — Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas said Friday Republicans will have a "slow and difficult" journey "courting the black vote, which he said would probably be needed to unseat President Carter in 1980.

Dole made the remarks at a fundraiser for the National Black Economic and Political Action Committee, based in Columbus, Ga. The GOP-affiliated group is trying to attract blacks to run for municipal, state legislative and congressional offices on the Republican line.

Cops On Bundy Coed Tie: 'Looks Good'

PENSACOLA (UPI) — Theodore Robert Bundy, a "friendly but aloof" jagger, suspected of three slayings of young women in the West, is talking with investigators who suspect him of the killing of two Florida State University sorority girls.

"It looks real good, although we haven't any physical evidence tying him to it yet," Leon County Sheriff Kim Kauter said in Tallahassee. "Bundy is leading a fifth coed."

The slain 21-year-old fugitive, one of the FBI's most wanted men, was being held under tight security of the Pensacola jail, charged with driving a stolen car, possessing stolen credit cards, resisting arrest and kidnapping a woman. The court-appointed attorney did not ask for bail.

The one-time Boy Scout who earned a bachelor's degree in psychology at the University of Washington lived in a Tallahassee rooming house four blocks away from the Chi Omega sorority house, Jan. 7. He gave his name as Chris Hagan.

"He was in Tallahassee and there's a similar modus operandi to the Tallahassee murders," Kauter said. "The chance of having two people with the same m.o. in the same community at the same time is pretty remote."

An intruder broke into the Chi Omega house early Sunday morning Jan. 15. He bludgeoned and strangled Lisa Levy and Margaret Bowman. One of them was raped. The man then bludgeoned two other sorority members before moving to an apartment six blocks away and leaving a fifth coed.

"I thought he was a really nice person, friendly but aloof," said Keith Hargrove, a neighbor at the rooming house. He said Bundy stayed in his room and often jogged in red shorts, but always spoke and smiled.

Keep Cabinet Elected, Smith Says

By DONNA ESTER Herald Staff Writer

The people of Florida will not give up their right to vote for members of the Cabinet or the Public Service Commission, Jim Smith, Democratic candidate for Attorney General, predicted during an interview in Sanford on his campaign trail.

Speaking of the proposals of the Constitution Revision Commission to abolish the elected cabinet and elected Public Service Commission, Smith said the two proposals will be turned down by the voters.

Saying he is a strong supporter and advocate of the state's current elected cabinet system, Smith claimed elected officials are more responsive to the public. He said he could, however, support an appointed Public Service Commission composed of an engineer, an attorney and an accountant, a commission which would be purely technical and not political.

Pointing to Florida's unique cabinet system, Smith said the cabinet makes decisions in public meetings where any citizen has the right to speak and give his views. When there is an appointed secretary of a department, his decisions are not made in public, he said.

Smith, who served as Gov. Reubin Askew's campaign manager in 1974, is currently a member of the Board of Regents and spent five years working in state government, said the major issues people throughout the state have talked to him about are crime and casino gambling.

"Crime really does pay in Florida," he said, noting that only 25 to 30 percent of the robberies in the state were solved last year. "Miami businessmen are now paying protection money," Smith said, adding the people of Florida will be shocked when the Lake Mary Eyes Change Should Councilmen Have Right To Fire?

The Lake Mary City Council may change policy to give each individual councilman the right to fire employees under his control.

The city law currently requires that all employees be hired and fired only with the approval of the entire council.

Three of the councilmen favored changing the ordinance Thursday night — before referring it to a workshop session.

Lake Mary, according to its city charter, has each councilman in charge of a specific department.

City Attorney Gary Massey Thursday night explained that the ordinance was adopted originally as a check and balance — intended hiring and to control demands on the budget.

Councilman Cliff Nelson, however, said that it is impossible to separate authority and responsibility, opting for a change in the ordinance.

Councilman Pat Southward, who heads the recreation department, said that had he

A Delay In Lake Mary

Lake Mary still does not have a definitive official policy for dealing with resident complaints of police harassment or, by extension, of abuse by other public servants.

The latest delay came Thursday evening when the council voted to table the matter until March 2. Council members said they wanted to study the proposals offered by Councilmen Burt Perinich and Cliff Nelson. Perinich is also police commissioner.

Adoption of a uniform procedure is laudable and, probably, overdue. And the eagerness of the council to study the situation more closely and scrupulously is commendable.

But we urge them to come to grips with the situation at the soonest possible time.

The Thursday evening non-action came at a session that followed several weeks of turmoil in the newest Seminole County municipality.

It started, as we know, with allegations by 18-year-old Torey Lee Riley against the police and was followed by additional complaints from other residents.

Miss Riley's complaints were investigated and the charges found unwarranted.

There was a positive aspect to the Thursday session.

For, until then, the council had appeared to be moving toward some sort of procedure and policy that was secret in nature—that is, one in which little or no input would be made by the public and any disposition of complaints would be done out of the public eye.

The thrust seems to have changed now, thanks mainly to Mr. Nelson.

Sometimes between the last council meeting and Thursday, Mr. Nelson decided that openness is indeed the best policy. And we commend him for that.

Specifically, in his proposal, Mr. Nelson comments: "Although it may not be legally advisable for the city council or the public to know the detailed disposition of each and every complaint made against the police, the council and the public should be kept advised of the progress of the complaint and the general disposition of each." This report should be made by the director (commissioner) to council at each workshop meeting."

He's on the right track.

But we are disturbed with City Attorney Gary Massey who seems obsessed with the need for all resident complaints to be in the form of sworn statements. His explanation: "If someone is unwilling to swear to his word, I doubt the word to begin with."

Nonsense. And frightening in a free society. It is really suggesting that because an individual opts not to swear to a statement the validity of that statement or his or her credibility should be doubted?

Fortunately and rightly, neither Mr. Nelson nor Dr. Perinich stresses the need for a sworn-statement requirement in his proposal.

We urge council to back them on this when it comes up with a complaint-procedure policy.

And we urge that, given this extra time to ponder matters, the council will act firmly and positive in the public interest at the March 2 meeting.

CIA Course

The "art" form of the Central Intelligence Agency will be precisely what the name implies, according to Director Bradford Turner, suggesting a determined effort to win back global respect and public confidence.

The agency will reduce its "political action," the director said, referring to the interference in the governments of other nations that has brought criticism upon the CIA.

But Turner has pledged to stop short of "amercing" the CIA's capabilities by placing an absolute ban on such intrigue. National security in the future may still demand that the CIA not only report on events abroad but influence them as well.

As emphasized by the director, however, and reaffirmed by President Carter in his recent news conference, such activity must be authorized by the President himself and the proper committee of Congress must be advised.

WASHINGTON — Criticism of former President Richard M. Nixon in the years since he left the White House probably can be blamed on irresponsible conduct on the grounds that not even Nixon should be lashed when he's down.

But two recent developments suggest that situation may be changing. The first is a series of events indicating that there may be an effort underway to rehabilitate Nixon politically.

The second is a long, well-publicized attack on his California estate to fly to Washington for memorial services for the late Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., was viewed by some observers as a major act of contrition.

Less than a month after that trip, Rep. Robert V. Dornan, D-Calif., once a fierce Nixon critic, publicly suggested that the former president might some day again merit a prestigious government title, such as ambassador.

Nixon's memoirs are scheduled to be published this spring. Like his other post-White House pronouncements, they presumably will include carefully measured doses of repentance and regret — without much acknowledgment of guilt or complexity in illegal activities.

The second recent development is the public disclosure of hundreds of pages of internal documents compiled by the Watergate Special Prosecution Force, released through a civil suit filed by the Fund for Constitutional Government and several other organizations.

They are replete with evidence of the one element of Nixon's conduct that he fought so hard to obscure during the protracted investigation of his activities in the White House — his direct, personal involvement in a variety of nefarious, if not illegal, schemes.

In reviewing the Nixon administration scandal involving the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. (ITT), the special prosecutor's office cited documentary evidence that "brings Nixon directly into the case for the first time."

The special prosecutor's memo says "Nixon obviously played a significant role in the matters we investigated. He had intervened in the (federal antitrust) cases" filed against ITT "and generally kept close contact with the efforts by the White House to control" the Senate hearings on the ITT affair.

The memo also says that although "we were never able to establish that his intervention was criminal, he plainly was aware" that at least one witness at the Senate hearings "and probably others were perjuring themselves."

Only three months after Nixon was sworn in as president, the memo said, the Justice Department believed it necessary to secure political clearance from the White House before filing an antitrust suit against ITT.

Also cited in a White House log recording of a 1973 meeting in which Nixon indicated to several high-ranking advisers "that he generally was leaning toward an antitrust settlement since he does not want to get into political activities and he is a politician, especially before the 1974 election."

"This is not a dire situation, but it is a psychological problem for the industry and the economy to overcome," an analyst said.

announcement of candidacy to cite his achievements while serving on the Peace County Commission. He claims that before his election to that board in 1974 the Peace County government was controlled by a special interest-dominated county commission.

Writing Nader's Defeat

In Washington, it's had enough to be consistently beaten at the game of politics. It's much wiser to be ignored.

The latter fate faces Ralph Nader after the 227-188 defeat of his consumer protection agency bill in the House of Representatives the other day.

President Carter was hurt by the vote, for his administration had lobbied hard for the bill and the loss is further evidence of its inability to get legislation through the Congress dominated by his own party (181 Democrats voted "yes" on this one). But, for Nader the defeat may be sweated with, with the self-anointed consumer champion never headed down the backside of the mountain, perhaps taking the much-defeated consumer protection agency concept with him.

The bill, in various forms, had been around since 1970, either defeated or shelved (because of threatened presidential vetoes) in every Congress since. Despite four name changes over the years, it remained little changed from the beginning. It would have created a new federal agency with extraordinary powers to intervene at will in the proceedings of other government agencies on behalf of "the consumer interest."

What went wrong? To paraphrase a famous line, it may be a case of "consumerism, they made it up." The movement seems to be swimming upstream, these days, partly because it had many earlier legislative successes, the consumer cut of which are now being felt, partly because of the opposition against government regulation is mounting, and partly because anger against high taxes is being translated into anger against any new government program.

Despite the relatively small start-up budget for the consumer protection agency about $90 million for the first three years — no one in Washington would have believed it would stay within such a budget for long.

Another problem: the bill's supporters never defined what they meant by "consumer interest" — probably because they couldn't. With some 230 million of us inhabiting these United States, there is no such thing as a single "Consumer interest." There are many consumers, conflicting and differently defined interests.

Ultimately, had the bill passed, the "consumer interest" would have been whatever the lawyers of the consumer protection agency wanted it to be. That would have been consistent with the well-known best attitude that has characterized Nader's own front groups over the years.

A further flaw: the bill assumed that all consumer bills are the result of inaction by the federal government. Yet, the idea that a single agency in Washington could solve all the problems of 230 million consumers simply doesn't add water. Already, there are 33 federal agencies and some 600 bureaus and subagencies operating more than 1,000 consumer-oriented programs in the federal government.

For Some, The Lessons Of Government Come Hard

Wonder how long it is going to be before elected officials learn that it is in their best interest to be in their office.

That is the dilemma most to discuss members of the Senate. The federal government did not have to be so heavy-handed. But, then, it would have been nice if the country had implemented its first administrative action plan.

The plan was passed unanimously by the Congress two years ago this month. Commissioner Bill Kirshoff's contention that the affirmative action program was ill-conceived is valid. The program was not to be a quota system. The government says the program was to be a merit system. They are not qualified. But how do they know they were rejected on the basis of their qualifications and not race, sex or disability?

Proving that violation is almost impossible. Recognizing this, the federal government has instituted the quota system or targets, as an imperfect, but necessary way of ensuring the right of everyone to equal opportunity.

That right is all part of the long struggle for the rights for all people, disadvantaged or otherwise.

One thing that makes some form of quotas is the fact that those groups which stand to benefit are minorities or disadvantaged who can be discriminated against on the basis of physical appearance.

America has a tradition of rewarding the rugged individualist. This is often called its pioneering spirit.

Quota Systems Must Suffice

And the federal government looked down on Seminole County and said, "they are not implementing their affirmative action plan." And it was not so.

No doubt the county commission feels no though the federal government is playing God with the affirmative action plan. It is a violation of the law.

Paperwork Heavy For Police

Two Seminole County sheriff's deputies were talking the other day about the "old days."

"I would have said 'good old days,' but that wouldn't be an accurate description of the old days."

One of the deputies was talking about a police force he served with in another state, several years ago. "We sure didn't have much paperwork to do in those days," the deputy said.

When we avoided someone, we didn't even take his name. We just brought him down to the station, and a booking officer handled the whole thing. There was no time in a big ledger-type book for each arrest, whether it was a simple traffic violation or a murder.

The other deputy, a long-time veteran of the Seminole County sheriff's department, said that in years past "there was hardly any paperwork at all—compared to today."

Times indeed have changed. Every policeman these days are almost smothered with paperwork after their shift is over.

This is an aspect of police work that the public knows little about. Though the paperwork may be necessary to establish a case, it is often a burden on the police officer, filling out numerous forms on the police officer's incident is a fact of life for a policeman.

In addition, state attorneys are not paid to make an arrest. The support must be checked with nationwide computers to see if he is wanted for additional crimes. The policeman must bring the suspect to county jail, which may mean a 20-mile trip to the county jail.

One of the most consistent aspects of daily police activity is dealing with numerous cases of violence or vandalism in the process of driver or motorcycle licensing. Sometimes these acts follow closely the filing of a divorce by the husband and wife, and sometimes the reverse is true.

It's obvious that people's inability to deal with their own problems, relationships, the lawyer or a great deal of money. And drivers require judges to hear the case, courts to hear them in, deputy clerks to file the legal documents and officers to issue the license, driver's license and judge. Adjudicating documents and personal rights in broken marriages is another paper work that we have to carry.

Law & Government

Paperwork Heavy For Police

Two Seminole County sheriff's deputies were talking the other day about the "old days."

"I would have said 'good old days,' but that wouldn't be an accurate description of the old days."

One of the deputies was talking about a police force he served with in another state, several years ago. "We sure didn't have much paperwork to do in those days," the deputy said.

When we avoided someone, we didn't even take his name. We just brought him down to the station, and a booking officer handled the whole thing. There was no time in a big ledger-type book for each arrest, whether it was a simple traffic violation or a murder.

The other deputy, a long-time veteran of the Seminole County sheriff's department, said that in years past "there was hardly any paperwork at all—compared to today."

Times indeed have changed. Every policeman these days are almost smothered with paperwork after their shift is over.

Petty Injured In Three-Car Crash

DAYTONA BEACH—(UPI)—Richard Petty stepped out of his element for one brief hour and paid for the indiscretion.

Petty, leaving the heavy protection of his habitual stock car for the lighter Camaro in the International Race of Champions series, suffered a bruised knee and a mild head injury Friday in a three-car collision.

King Richard, seeking his sixth Daytona 500 victory Sunday, spent the night in Halifax Hospital for observation, although X-rays for a suspected concussion were negative.

Dr. Thomas Scott, a neurosurgeon, said he was pleased with the way Petty healed and said the driver would be released today. It will be up to Petty to determine if he's well enough to ride Sunday.

A crowd of 60,000 watched a four-race program that included a pair of 125-mile races won by A. J. Foyt and Darrell Waltrip, the IROC event taken by Mario Andretti and a 200-mile modified race that marked Waltrip's second win of the day.

Michael Liska, an Ormond Beach, Fla., driver, was reported to have fractured his skull when he rammed the wall during the 200. James Doherty, a crewman from Holland, Fla., was also injured when a jack fell while he was servicing a car during the 200.

Petty was hurt when Al Unser tried to get under frontrunner Andretti and triggered the pileup. Johnny Rutherford's car then rammed Petty.

Unser, who earned $60,000 as the IROC winner despite a seventh place finish, said the cars were going better than 90 miles an hour when the accident occurred.

"I spun around and was helpless as I whirled toward an embankment near the lake," Unser said. "I saw the sand wall coming up and I thought I was about to take a swim. Fortunately, I didn't go upside down."

The car hurled a 12-foot dirt wall that separates the track along Lake Lloyd on the 3,000-foot backstretch and landed in wheel-deep water.

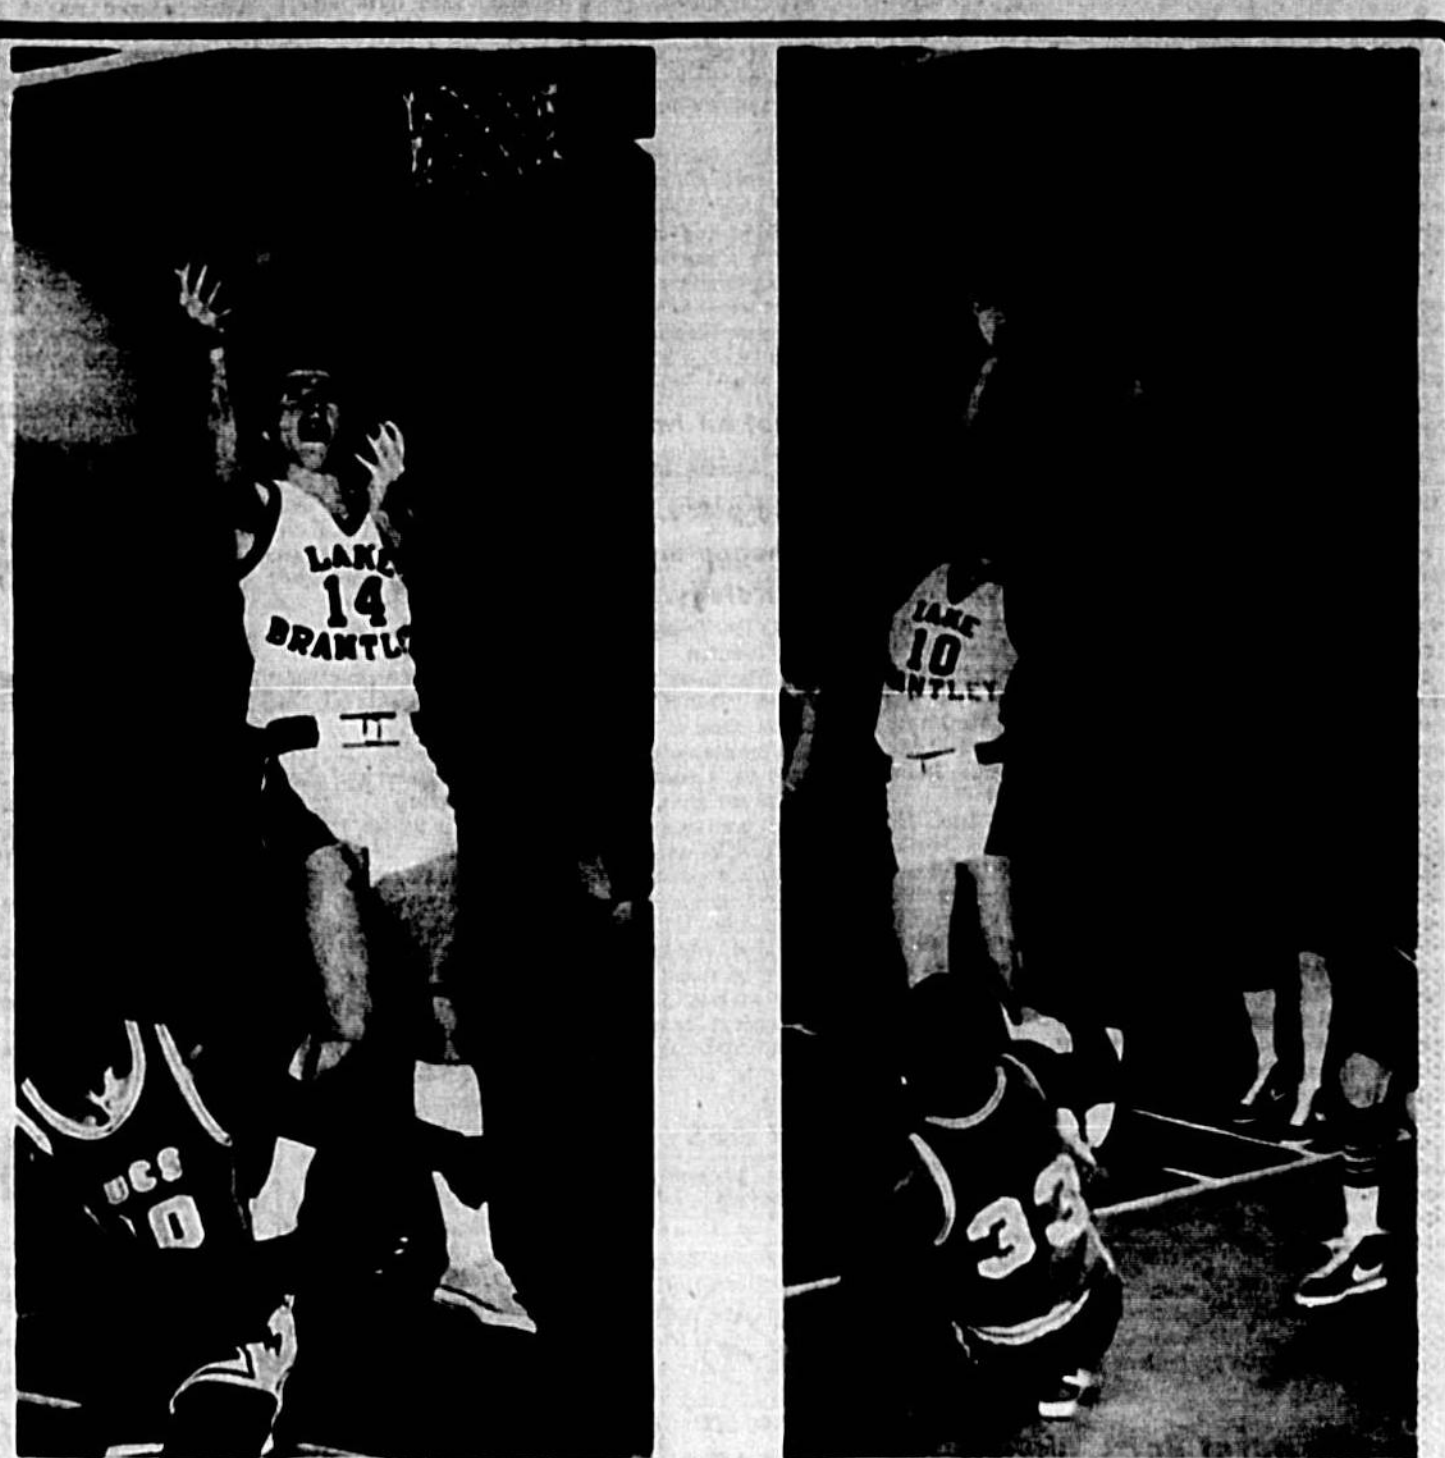

"Richard was unconscious when Rutherford and I went to his car. But he came to and was aware of everything that was going on."

Waltrip blamed Unser for the accident, claiming the Indianapolis 500 winner was "weaving all over the place. He was running the corners real low. Richard was below me at the time. The accident got him off on the grass and he spun back on the track, where Rutherford hit him."

If Petty is up to it, he'll be on the third row of the grid Sunday. Cale Yarborough and Ron Buckhorn occupy the front row, because of their top qualifying times and Foyt and Waltrip are on the second row by virtue of winning Friday's 125-mile race.

Janet Guthrie was bumped from the field by Cecil Gordon. Petty was second to Waltrip and stands on the third row with David Pearson, the runner-up to Foyt on Friday.

Waltrip was the busiest driver on the track. He ran 425 miles Friday, he is in the Sportsman 300 Saturday and the Daytona 500 Sunday. That's a total of 1,225 miles in three days of racing.

Scoring Spree For Brantley; Lyman, Oviedo Keep Rolling

Seminole High Schools closed out the regular basketball season Friday night.

The Lake Brantley Patriots went on a scoring spree on its way to a 95-77 win over visiting Daytona Mainland.

The Patriots scored 33 of those points on free throws, hitting on 33 of 38. Four of the team's players went into double figures. Jim Fry paced the club with 20 points followed by Harold Leroy's 19.

Dewayne Hoadler had 15 points for the night and Mike Lemarr added 13.

The Patriots, 12-12 on the season, look an early lead and held on for a nine-point edge at the half. The laces decided to try and foul to victory in the second half, but the strategy just didn't work.

The win assured the Patriots of at least fourth place in the conference.

The county's top ranked Class AAAA team, The Lyman liveboys relied for its 19th consecutive victory with a 59-42 win over Deland.

Four players hit in double figures led by Greg Thomas with 16 points, Arthur Cleveland and Gregg Nelson with 12 and Marcus Neal with 11.

Lyman stands at 26-3 for the season and hosts the district tournament beginning Feb. 22.

Oviedo, the county's top ranked Class AAA team, trounced Wymore Tech, 66-29.

Senior Gary Hird once again paced the club, scoring almost as many points as the entire opposing team, 32. Troy Kestinger and Horace Holland each had eight points for the winners.

Rich Rosemond and Bruce Barrett set the pace and Frank Edson and Stan Nutt added the points as Trinity Prep got past Jacksonville Episcopal 61-54.

Coach Andy Denicole said Rosemond has added a new dimension to his squad, turning them into a running team. Meanwhile, Burnett pulled down 14 rebounds, handed out six assists and scored eight points in one of his best games ever.

Edison added 33 points for the winners and Nutt had 12. Trinity begins district tournament play at Lake Highland High School this week.

Lake Howell High School dropped its season mark to 2-21, losing to Spruce Creek, 61-39. The Hawks started poorly, behind 24-4 after the first quarter. They pulled closer in the second and third quarters but Spruce Creek, with superior height, blew the game open in the fourth quarter to cement the victory.

Seminole High School also fell victim to superior height, losing to Daytona Seabreeze, 73-64.

Daytona's 8'9" Tony Harris had 14 points and nine rebounds in the victory. The Seminoles were led by David Williams' 18 points, David Craig with 12 and Eric Hicks with 11. The loss left the Seminoles' with a season record of 11-16 — DENNIS FEOLA

SHS Soccer Squad Does It Again -- Win In Five Overtimes

After struggling through a 3-16 season, The Seminole High School soccer squad has finally found the winning formula: Penalty kicks.

High school's rules mandate if a game goes to five overtimes, it is decided by each team taking five penalty shots.

For the second consecutive district tournament game, Seminole has gone to five overtimes and won. The latest victim was Florida Air Academy.

They fell when the Seminoles hit on four of its kicks. Florida Air had only two. In the first round of the tournament being played in Deland, the Deland squad lost 5-1.

"We've actually played well in three of our last four games," coach Larry McCurtin said. "Pat Reno is good for teams he picked up 16 saves in the penalty situation," McCurtin said. "The coach said his goalie 'intimidated' the Deland squad in the penalty situation. Defensesman Keith Williamson was cited for outstanding offensive work as well as defensive play by McCurtin. Also cited in the district victory were Bruce Dentile and Bill Cameron.

Carl Lohman had the key save of the game, McCurtin said. With five minutes remaining, a Florida player who had just headed towards a virtually open net. "Lohman came out of nowhere and blocked that shot," McCurtin said. "It was the key save of the game." — DENNIS FEOLA

Forgive, Forget Spouse Cheating An Old Custom

DEAR ABBY: Frequently you have expressed the opinion that if a man cheats on his wife, she should "forgive and forget," and take the unfaithful husband back.

Obviously you do not uphold the traditional Orthodox Jewish view that states once the marriage has been broken by either husband or wife, the only solution is divorce!

YALE: The girl next door "forgives" in an old Jewish custom. In fact, the theme of the Yom Kippur service stresses that we are all human, and it urges forgiveness and reconciliation. ("It is human to err, and it is in the spirit of the Divine to forgive.")

The prophet Isaiah was actually commanded by God to accept Gomer as his wife even though it was public knowledge that she was harlot.

The God forbade the prophet Isaiah to "bring the family together in acceptance and compassion." Shall we do less?

DEAR ABBY: Recently I moved into a small apartment building - with paper-thin walls.

A male tenant (single) lives next door. Everything he does - and I do mean EVERYTHING - can be heard through the walls.

Late at night, and especially in weekends, he carries on a very noisy love life.

I am not an eavesdropper. What he does is his own business, but how do I have his private life from ruining my sleep and embarrassing me and my guests?

I have met him only once, and he seems nice. For that reason I am unable to bring myself to tell him that I can overhear everything he does.

Is there some way I can let

Dear Abby

Everyone Invited To A Bull Roast

Meadeville resident Jack Schraff, known for his "bull," is back with us from his short sojourn in South Arabia, and is again throwing the bull, bull roast that!

Schraff, charter commander of the Winter Springs VFW 548, has graciously loaned his own bull roasts. This year is no exception.

On Feb. 28, from 2 to 7 p.m., is the time set to enjoy a delicious meal of barbecue roast beef, beans and salad. The place to be is the Post home, 170 N. Highway 17-66, Longwood. Take out plates will be available.

The price is $2 for adults and $1 for children. The event is being sponsored by the Post and Auxiliary.

Happy Birthdays are extended to the following Winter Springsers: Arlene Hunt and Jessie Liebman, who celebrated birthdays on Feb. 12. Bonnie Haber's birthday was Feb. 15. John Buckjones and Abe Lincoln had birthdays on Feb. 12. Bernice Haber's birthday was Feb. 15.

Coming up are birthdays for Ruth Niren, Feb. 25, Elaine McCallie, Feb. 26, and Peg Wright, Feb. 27.

Notes from the Hacienda Village Homeowners Association News.

Volunteers will be remembering all driveways in the mobile home park.

A ladies shuffle-board league is already underway under the auspices of Peggy Lovett.

Starting on Jan. 28, a "Social Night" featuring Bingo will be held.

Being investigated is the possibility of forming a "Kitchen Band."

The Hacienda Village Women's Club has recently selected the following new officers: Dorothy Foster, president; Mildred Brown, secretary; and Ruth Chase, treasurer.

Eight members of the Winter Springs VFW 548 were present at the annual Memorial Service for the Four Chaplains, at the United Methodist Church of College Park. The service was sponsored this year by the Orlando Memorial Post 19, American Legion.

During World War II, four chaplains, representing four different faiths, were on board a ship that was torpedoed. Although the four men had little preservers, they discovered four young sailors who did not. Without hesitation, the men gave up their preservers. The four chaplains went down with the ship.

For their ultimate sacrifice, the four chaplains have been remembered each year throughout the country by various veterans groups.

Attending from the Winter Springs VFW were, Commander Ed Ramsey, Junior Vice-president Bob Jacobs, Captain Bob Dyerst, and Chaplain Vern Beasant and Jack Schraff.

Attending from the Auxiliary were President Kay Beasant, Secretary Ethel Jacob, and Treasurer Frieda Dyerst.

Dr. George F. Schroder of Shrook Boulevard, has been named associate dean of the College of Engineering at Florida Technological University. He has been acting chairman of the Industrial Engineering and Managerial Systems Department. He joined the faculty at FTU in June, 1980, following three years at the University of Nebraska.

Thespians To Hit Road For Indiana

The Lyman High School Thespian Club has given generously of their talents in many areas of community service. They are now seeking the community's support in their most challenging endeavor.

The Lyman Thespian Club, recognized as one of the most talented dramatic clubs in the nation, has been invited to participate in an international competition in Muncie, Ind. in June. They are one of only 30 schools invited to this biyearly event.

Participation in such an event is costly, though, and that's where the community support is needed.

The Thespians would like to perform for any civic or private organization and they offer, for a donation, a wide variety of entertainment including straight or improvisational theatre, mime, songs and dance, etc.

Rebecca Vickers, Lyman junior and Thespian, is excited about the marathon theater weekend scheduled for April 14, 15 and 16 at the Altamonte Springs Civic Center, "Harvest in the Park" will be performed Friday evening.

A children's play, "The Lion That Wouldn't" will amuse children Saturday afternoon, and a musical review, planned for the evening, will give members of the community an opportunity to enjoy the talents of students who have won many awards.

The children's play will be performed again on Sunday afternoon, and "Harvest in the Park" repeats in the evening. Specific details will be given later, but the Thespian's would appreciate your keeping that weekend open.

Congratulations to Charles and Winifred Mariotti who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently with a family dinner at Holiday House.

The couple were married in England and lived in Canada before moving to Massachusetts where they spent the next 40 years. Ten years ago, they moved to Fern Park.

The Mariotti's have three children: Andy Pryor of Kautz; Irene Mariotti of Reading, Pa.; and Phil Mariotti of Fern Park.

In recent time, a prophetic omen, their vine was approved, and they entered the state in March 1977. On Feb. 3 they moved into their new home in Oakland Estates.

They're a delightful couple. The neighbors are sure to enjoy their acquaintance.

The boys were born on Jan. 8, and Dorothy weighed in at 5 lb. 3 oz. and Daniel weighed 5 lb. 13 oz.

Mother and twins are fine!

Officer Edna N. Abell, Community Relations officer with the Altamonte Springs Police Department, presented a program on safety in the household at the Thursday morning of the Altamonte Springs Garden Club.

Through lecture and film, members were given procedures they should take to protect their homes from burglary. Officer Abell pointed out that many people leave doors in good lock, then find out they are not.

Clear Stumper, under whose direction the club last year received state recognition and a superior rating in group status, may be reached at Lyman High School by those wishing to help this talented group.

It was their first time out of the British West Indies, but when Sylvia and Roy Ward set their eyes on Central Florida in 1971, they knew it was where they wanted to be.

They had come to Altamonte Springs to visit friends, the G. and M. family, who had lived in Massachusetts where they spent the next 40 years. Ten years ago, they moved to Fern Park.

Circuit Judge Upset Over Longwood Dumping Arrest

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

"They knew they had a judge and just wanted to hassle me around," said Circuit Court Judge Kenneth Leffler today, pondering his arrest, ride in a patrol car while handcuffed with three Longwood police officers and later booking into county jail charged with violation of three misdemeanors.

"I feel I was treated differently than another citizen would have been. At least I feel I was treated differently than another citizen would have been."

hope so," said Leffler, outlining his arrest by Longwood police for dumping leaves and lawn clippings on the low property of an acquaintance.

He said he hopes that other citizens accused of dumping leaves do not have their hands cuffed behind their backs. Leffler ultimately was charged with dumping refuse, having an improper tag on his trailer and with refusing to sign the citation on the improper tag.

Leffler is to be arraigned on March 3 at 9 a.m.

"I've had permission for the last two years from Colin Burgess, president and owner of Hamar Industries," Leffler said.

Burgess said today that he had granted Judge Leffler permission to dump leaves and lawn clippings on the land. "It doesn't hurt and it fills in the land. I dump them there every day. This has been going on since the beginning of leaves and clippings only — for years. I don't know why all of a sudden the police start questioning it," Burgess said.

However, City Attorney Neil Julian Jr. said the dumping of anything, including leaves and clippings, on real estate in Longwood is a violation of a city ordinance.

Judge Leffler said that after dumping the leaves, and proceeding toward his home about a block outside the city of Longwood, three patrolmen in a squad car halted him down and asked if he had dumped something. Leffler said he admitted that he had.

"Officer George Burfield said I was going to go back and pick up the leaves. I told him he was crazy if he thought I was going to pick up those damn leaves."

He said Burfield, accompanied by Sgt. Terry Baker and Officer Jerry Human, asked "I instructed the officers to treat Judge Leffler the same as they would any citizen" for identification.

— POLICE CHIEF MANNING

It was then that Leffler discovered that he didn't have his wallet with him. "The only identification I had with me was a card signed by Secretary of State Bruce Smeathers identifying me as a circuit judge. It was only with reluctance that I showed the officers the card," he said.

He said that he was arrested at about 3:30 p.m. and taken to the county jail at 6 p.m.

In Embezzlement Disbarment Facing Pair In Casselberry

By MAX ERKLETTIAN
Herald Staff Writer

Petitions instituting disbarment proceedings against two Casselberry attorneys have been filed by the Florida Bar Association with the Florida Supreme Court and are under consideration, according to an official in the clerk's office of the high court.

E. Pope "Buddy" Bassett and Warren S. Kaiser were charged Friday with grand larceny in connection with claims they embezzled money from clients in unrelated real estate transactions.

The were arrested the same day by members of the Orange County State's Attorney's Organized Crime Task Force. Both were later released on bonds of $1,000 each.

The actions filed against the attorneys are "Petitions for Temporary Suspension," according to the official. The court will make a determination on disbarment on the basis of these petitions, according to the official.

Neither attorney was available for comment today. A spokesman for the Winter Park Telephone Co., said Saturday Kaiser's office telephone has been disconnected.

The Worleys paid Bassett $25,000, according to Hamilton. The cost of the condominium was $65,000. The extra $40,000 was to have gone to Bassett as a commission, according to Hamilton.

Bassett kept the money and applied $25,000 to the mortgage, according to Hamilton.

"When Bassett paid off the mortgage," said Hamilton, "he left me high and dry for the $27,000. I kept calling him and he kept saying 'I'm sorry.'"

Finally, Hamilton said, he employed attorney Patrick Doyle to help him retrieve the money. Bassett gave Doyle a certified check for $10,000, according to Doyle. However, Bassett refused to turn over the remainder of the money Hamilton claimed he owed.

In August, Hamilton won a judgment for the remaining $27,000 plus $1,000 punitive damage and $307 in legal fees.

"The judgment was worthless," Hamilton said. "We found out he already had $21,000 in judgments against him and all his assets were in his wife's name."

County Fire Stations: Not Enough People, But...

By MAX ERKLETTIAN
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County fire stations are undermanned. Maintenance time on equipment is alarmingly high. Yet, the response time of fire fighting units is better than national standards.

"It really focuses on the individuals. The difference is what is placed on the people in the field. We've got good people. They're professionals and they're dedicated," said Gary Kaiser, director of the department of public safety.

Through the last three months of 1977, the county's five urban fire stations were undermanned 87 percent of the time, according to a report Kaiser presented to the Office of Management Analysis Evaluation. During that period, the county responded to 89 calls. The county employs 79 firefighters in nine stations.

"The normal staffing situation is that we have three men in the urban stations and two in the stations in unincorporated areas," said Kaiser.

He said the understaffing problem arose last year when it was determined three firefighters were needed at all times in the urban stations.

"This resulted from an analysis of the incident rate in the urban areas," Kaiser said.

"The problem is this," said Kaiser. "We need a minimum of three more per shift."

County firefighters work a shift of 24 hours on duty and 48 hours off, according to Kaiser. He said staff levels never dip below two at each station.

"The way it works is that when we have a man out at one of the rural stations, we pull a man from the urban station to fill his spot," explained Kaiser.

"The practice of placing urban firefighters in rural stations when needed accounts for the high rate of understaffing at the urban stations," said Kaiser.

He said absenteeism is at about four percent annually. "That is not out of line," said Kaiser.

The shortage of manpower has not affected the response time of the department, said Kaiser. In fact, response times are below the projected levels and better than national standards.

"The National Fire Protection Association has estimated a good response time would be between six and nine minutes and we usually do better than that," Kaiser said.

Even though response time is good, Kaiser noted the understaffing presents a problem in handling fires.

"It does have a certain impact on the operations of the fire scene," commented Kaiser. "When you don't have as many men, you can't handle the fire as efficiently."

Will County Schools Develop Appetite For Breakfast?

By MARYLIN SHEDDAN
Herald Staff Writer

There is a national program for breakfasts in the schools, designed to work along with the National Lunch Program. It is not in use in Seminole County.

But in at least one Seminole County school, a lunchroom manager has, at the request of the students, made available food beginning at 6:45 a.m.

Mrs. Carolyn Brown, lunchroom manager at Oviedo High School, which prepares food for four other schools, provides a variety of sandwiches for students at Lake Howell High School, at the students' request.

"This morning 125 students had breakfast at the school," she said one day last week. "We have only been doing this for two weeks. The number is doubling almost every day. Teachers also are taking advantage of the breakfast opportunities," she said.

The students who benefit from the Lake Howell program, according to Mrs. Brown, are the ones who drive or otherwise arrange to arrive at school early.

"They also are the students who can't afford to buy their breakfast," she said.

The question of providing school breakfasts for students in Seminole County under the National Breakfast Program has been under discussion since summer.

At that time two lawyers for Central Florida Legal Services Inc., Sanford, approached school officials asking about the program.

"We did a great deal of research into it, including talking to people who head the program in nearby counties," explained lawyers Toby Lev and Trema Kay.

"We want to be involved in as many of the social and economic and political areas which affect the people we deal with as possible," Miss Kay explained.

"Health and nutrition are a large part of our interest, not because we read about them, but because we deal with people with these needs every day," she added.

The breakfast program is available to all schools, but Miss Kay and Lev would like to see it at least put into effect at schools receiving "Title I" funds—the schools with the highest percentage of students on free and reduced-cost lunch programs.

They estimate schools in that category in Seminole County would be Midway Elementary, Sanford Grammar, Pinecrest Elementary, Goldboro Elementary, Southside Elementary, Idylwild Elementary, Lake Mary Elementary, Geneva Elementary and Lake Orestia Elementary Schools.

The breakfast program requires that schools serve a minimum of: one half pint fluid whole milk; one half cup fruit or full strength fruit or vegetable juice; one slice whole grain or enriched bread or an equivalent serving of cornbread, biscuits, rolls, muffins, or three-fourths cup serving of cereal, pancakes or waffles—and, as often as possible, protein-rich foods such as an egg, a one-ounce serving of meat, poultry, fish, cheese, or two
