Teacher Sues School Board

Denmark Trial On Docket

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Defendants in robbery, manslaughter, sexual battery and stolen property possession cases are docketed for trial this week before Circuit Court Judge Robert B. McGregor.

Sylvester Denmark, 39-year-old teacher at Sanford's

Lakeview Middle School, is accused of robbery in connection with the taking of money and credit cards on July 30 from Lou Dritz at 110 N. Holly Ave., Sanford.

Denmark was suspended from his job after his Sept. 3 arrest and has filed a civil suit against the School Board and its members, seeking his pay and contending the suspension was illegal.

Documents in the court file indicate that Denmark will use an alibi defense in the robbery trial. Defense attorney James Golden has filed a notice of alibi, alleging that Denmark was at 1610 W. 13th St., Sanford, with Joe Watkins at the time of the alleged robbery 14 blocks away.

A second defendant in the case, Alonza Teague, 23, of Sanford, was acquitted by a circuit court jury last week.

Police testified that Teague confessed before a prosecutor and a court reporter that he and Denmark robbed Dritz and later used money from the robbery to buy heroin. Police said Teague also gave a handwritten confession.

Teague testified in a hearing that he was "high on heroin" when he confessed the robbery.

Monroe P. Lee, Jr., 25, 565 Seminole Ave., Longwood, is scheduled for trial on charges of manslaughter, aggravated assault and leaving the scene of an accident resulting in injury.

The charges stem from a Sept. 3 traffic accident on I-4 north of SR-436, Altamonte Springs, in which three-year-old Fabian Montanez, of Hoboken, N.J., was killed.

The child's parents, Ralph Montanez, 34, and Nilda, 24, were injured also when their compact car was struck from the rear and hurled into the median of the divided highway. Calvin Chapman, 18, 314 Campello St., Altamonte Springs, faces trial in the Sept. 13 rape of a 26-year-old Altamonte Springs woman.

Two men arrested in connection with a multi-county "steal-to-order" theft ring are also docketed for trials this week. Roland Henry Durand, 33, 603 David St., Winter Springs, is accused of buying, receiving and concealing an air compressor stolen from an Orange County business.

Sheriff's agents said the air compressor was recovered during raids in mid-August in which 13 suspects were charged in connection with the theft ring.

Stanley G. Stroup, 35, 119 Ruby Court, south Seminole, is accused of buying, receiving and concealing a $15,000 motor

Survey Shows Costs Vary

School Photos Earn Money

By JOE ASKREN
Herald Staff Writer

Those school color pictures that Dick and Jane bring home every year for their parents to buy are a real "money-maker" for Seminole County schools, according to Superintendent W.P. "Bud" Layer.

Layer said prices vary because it's up to the individual schools and the half dozen photography companies who make their annual package offers to determine the cost for pictures.

A recent survey of a half dozen schools revealed the current picture package price varies from $3.25 to $8. Of the total money collected, the amount returned to the schools on a negotiated commission basis varies from 40 to 55 per cent.

Layer said the package price depends on the number and sizes of photos and the deal worked out between the school and the company.

"Each school tries to get the best pictures for the least amount of money. . . . In most cases the parent doesn't have to buy the whole package to get just a few pictures of the kids. And the parent doesn't have to buy it at all," said Layer.

Where does the money go and what is it used for?

A recent survey of a half dozen schools revealed the current picture package price varies from $3.25 to $8. Of the total money collected, the amount returned to the schools on a negotiated commission basis varies from 40 to 55 per cent.

Layer and five of the principals interviewed agreed the money given to the school as profit is deposited in each school's general fund or internal trust or checking account and is used only to benefit the entire student body at each school.

"It's a real money-maker for the schools," said Layer, explaining why some schools seem to "push" the pictures of school children.

He said usually between 50 and 60 per cent of the pictures taken of students at any one school are actually purchased by the parents. "More elementary kids' parents buy them," said Layer.

The half dozen principals checked said the amount purchased varied from 30 to 90 per cent of total pictures taken of pupils, depending on the school. The middle schools reported a higher percentage of pictures purchased.

Layer said the only policy regarding school pictures is that they are prepaid before the pupils take them home.

"Before, the kids would take pictures home and no money came back," said Layer.

Layer said the money that the school receives from the pictures is used to buy things like a water fountain, textbooks, or gymnasium dressing baskets.

The pictures usually are taken in the Fall, before the holidays, and plans for yearbook pictures are made at the same time between the school and the photo company, according to the principals.

Donald Reynolds, principal at Seminole High School, said his school's picture package costs $3.25, it's optional and includes three different picture sizes. He said the 40 per cent profit to the school goes to the general fund to help build sidewalks or volleyball courts.

"In the past, half of that money went to the Student Council, but the auditors disapproved of it," said Reynolds.

He said some companies have been known to promise schools a return of "$1 for each student."

"We try to get the cheapest price for the picture and the company makes duplicates for our yearbook," he said.

Reynolds said only 30 per cent of his students purchase the pictures.

Pinecrest Elementary Principal Paul Murphy said 50 per cent of the money collected goes to the school's internal checking account and is used to buy student supplies, physical education equipment and art and science material.

Murphy said about half of his pupils buy the $3.50 package. He said most of those parents buy the whole package rather than only a portion of it.

Lakeview Middle School Principal Ted Barker said his 55 per cent profit goes into

Problem Still Exists In Sanford

Blind Intersections A Nuisance

By AUDIE MURPHY
Herald Staff Writer

A spot check on the problem of "blind" intersections in the Sanford area has revealed the problem still exists, although many of those intersections have been corrected.

In a study commissioned by the City of Sanford, and completed in March, 1974, Orlando consulting engineers Campbell, Foxworth and Pugh, Inc. detailed several intersections with "sight obstructions."

A check on these intersections made recently revealed most of the deficiencies had been corrected. This most often entailed trimming or removing shrubbery and on one occasion, at least, an entire row of palm trees.

The problem still exists at some locations, however. And what is probably the most severe example of "sight obstruction" does not occur at an intersection at all, but at the driveway to a convenience store and beauty shop.

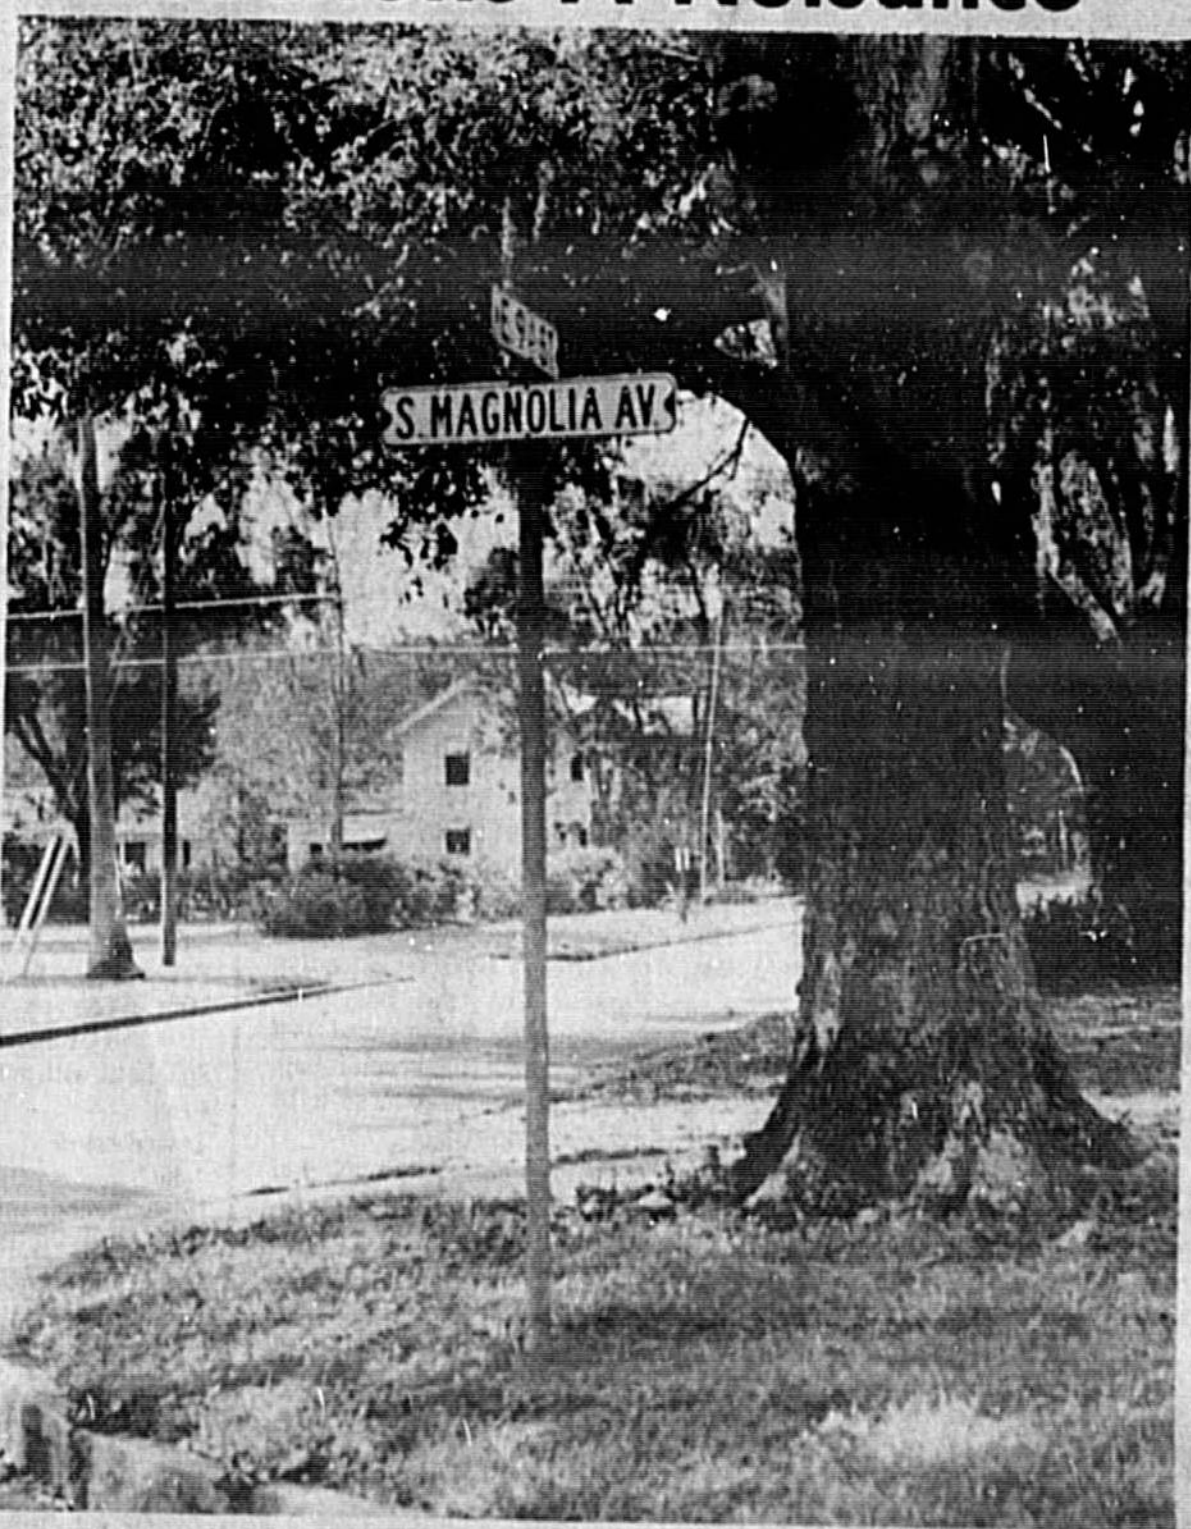

Customers leaving either the Handy Food Store or Wanda Elaine's Beauty Shop on West 25th St. find making a left turn from the parking lot can be a hazardous experience, since the driver's line of sight is blocked by a pine tree and a growth of palmettos on the adjacent residential lot. The driver must ease his automobile well into the nearest lane of traffic to watch for cars approaching on 25th St.

According to Wanda Sheffield, owner of the beauty shop, there have been "three or four" accidents in front of her shop in the past two months — including one in which a small child was killed.

"I wish something could be done about it," she said.

The owner of the adjacent property, Mrs. Ada Reiley, said she had not been notified the shrubbery was causing a problem.

"It's a case of lack of communication," she said. Asked if she would object to removing some of the shrubbery, Mrs. Reiley said, "I don't see why not."

Trees are necessary to everyday life, but at times they become a nuisance to motorists who must pull out into a street in order to see around the tree and its overhanging branches. (Herald Photo by Audie Murphy)

Mrs. Reiley said the death of the little girl was caused by the speed limit on that stretch of 25th St. which is 35 m.p.h.

An intersection which still poses problems for motorists is located at 9th St. and Magnolia Ave., which has large oak trees that tend to obstruct southbound motorists' view of 9th Street in both directions. The problem is not severe, however, and even the hard-boiled traffic study mentioned that the trees are "more of an asset to the community than a detriment."

The fence is still there. A clump of shrubbery and a palm tree cause a problem near the intersection of 8th Street and Mellonville Ave.

Another intersection mentioned in the 1974 study was that of 25th St. and Cedar Ave. The study suggested trimming shrubbery at the intersection which apparently has been done, but noted that "no action seems possible on the fencing around the multi-family complex" which contributes to the problem.

Automobiles southbound on Mellonville Ave. are hard to spot before they are almost upon the intersection. Contrary to popular belief, "blind" intersections do not produce the most accidents, according to Sanford City Engineer M. R. LaZebny.

"People tend to be much more cautious when there is a small sight obstruction problem at an intersection," LaZebny said. "You will have more accidents at a wide-open intersection with a heavy traffic flow."

Spaziano Trial Day Delayed

The murder trial of a 30-year-old former Outlaw motorcycle gang member has been delayed until the week of Dec. 8 in circuit court.

Joseph Robert "Crazy Joe" Spaziano had been scheduled for trial this week on a first-degree murder indictment in the Aug. 1973 death of an Orlando woman whose decomposing remains were found on an Altamonte Springs garbage dump.

Defense attorney Edward Kirkland of Orlando was granted a continuance in the trial in order to prepare the defense case.

Addresses of five state witnesses, including a former Outlaw motorcycle gang member, have been ordered kept secret by the court because of alleged threats against their lives, according to documents in the court file.

Spaziano is accused in the sex mutilation slaying of 18-year-old Orlando hospital clerk Laura Lynn Harberts.

A second decomposing female body found on the trash heap still hasn't been identified, according to investigators, and no charges have been made in the second death.

Spaziano, already serving a life sentence for rape in Orange County, also faces trial Dec. 1 here for the Dec. 1973 rape of a 30-year-old south Seminole woman.

Spaziano is also scheduled for trial Nov. 17 in Orlando in another rape case.

Perjury Case Dismissed Again

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

For the third time in 14 months a circuit court has dismissed a perjury charge against former Altamonte Springs mayor W. Lawrence Swofford.

But the long legal battle, centered on $2,000 furnished Swofford by a developer, may not be over.

State Atty. Abbott Herring has 30 days in which to appeal the latest dismissal to the Fourth District Court of Appeals, West Palm Beach.

Circuit Court Judge Virgil B. Conkling ruled on Friday that Herring's office had failed to comply with rules of court procedure and "failed to obtain an order extending or tolling the speedy trial time" in the case involving money received by Swofford in December 1973.

Swofford, a candidate for the Altamonte mayor's post in next Tuesday's municipal election was indicted for perjury by the Seminole County Grand Jury in July 1974.

On Aug. 26, 1974, Circuit Judge David U. Strawn dismissed the indictment because Herring had signed an indictment which failed to state just what perjury Swofford allegedly committed in testifying before the grand jury in an investigation of alleged corrupt activities of elected officials in Altamonte Springs.

Herring filed a corrected charge, in the form of a direct information, alleging Swofford knew he was lying about a Dec. 25, 1972, check for $2,000 from developer Lester Mandell.

According to the charge, Swofford told the grand jury the money was a personal loan, "knowing at the time of giving such testimony that said monies were in fact not a loan from Lester Mandell, but in fact were a post election campaign contribution for... (Swofford's) participation in a municipal election" on Dec. 5, 1972.

On Sept. 30, 1974, Circuit Judge Strawn granted a defense motion to dismiss the re-filed Swofford charge. Herring appealed the decision to the Fourth District Court of Appeals.

The appeal court reversed Strawn Aug. 5, 1975, and sent the case back with directions to re-instate the direct information.

Swofford's attorneys asked the appeals court to rehear the case but their petition was denied.

The appeal panel ruled that Strawn erred in ruling that under state law Swofford wasn't "a candidate" when the monies were received. The trial court had dismissed the perjury information on the ground that the alleged false statement didn't involve a subject material to the grand jury inquiry.

Strawn had ruled that Swofford was not "a candidate" at the time he received the money in question because at the time he actually received the money the election was over, and even if Swofford were a candidate, whether the money was a gift or a loan was inconsequential.

The appeal court disagreed with the local court's conclusion saying, "Such an interpretation is fraught with possibilities to circumvent the purpose and intent of the Florida Election Code. If a person running for public office preferred not to disclose the identity of those financially interested in his election he could simply postpone actual receipt of their contributions and loans until immediately after the election when he was no longer actively seeking office. As we see it, the key to this case is the alleged agreement made prior to the election by (Swofford)," the appeal court's ruling stated.

The state had alleged that the giving of money as campaign contributions had been discussed and agreed upon at a meeting involving Swofford and local builders and developers "including but not limited to Mandell" in Mandell's office about Sept. 12, 1973, according to court records.

The appeal court ruled that separate sections of Florida law require disclosure of information as to campaign fund donors and campaign fund lenders.

"Thus it appears the legislature felt it advisable to differentiate between loans and gifts. The public may feel a candidate less beholden to a creditor than to the donor of a gift," the appeal court ruling stated.

The Swofford case was returned to the local circuit court and on Friday Judge Conkling granted a motion to dismiss the perjury charge by defense attorney J. Cheney Mason on the grounds that Herring's office had failed to comply with court rules on the speedy trial issue.

Herring wasn't available to indicate if he has made a decision on appealing to the district appeals court the latest dismissal in the case.

City Woman Shot After Argument

By AUDIE MURPHY Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford woman is reported to be in Seminole Memorial Hospital after a shooting incident Friday night.

Mary Frances Johnson, 40, 1102 W. 9th St., went to the hospital after leaving an unidentified bar, where she told police officers she had argued with an unidentified woman. She said she was attempting to leave the bar when the woman was handed a gun by an unidentified man. The woman then allegedly fired three shots, one of them striking Miss Johnson in the back.

Doctors estimated the slug came from a .38 caliber pistol. Investigation of the incident is continuing.

Youth Attacked

Conan Shane, 18, Rt. 1, Box 354, Maitland, told police he was attacked by three men when he met while visiting his girlfriend at the Marine's Village apartment complex in Sanford.

Shane said an argument ensued which resulted in the alleged assault. Shane also said a rifle was taken during the incident.

The three men reportedly fled when residents of the apartments heard the dispute and came outside.

The Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant at Highway 436 and SR-400 has lost two bank bags containing approximately $500 during the past week, according to a report filed by Jacquelyn Bassett. The first bag, containing $300, disappeared last Sunday, and the second bag, with $300, was discovered to be missing Friday.

Another grand larceny was reported by Gene Wilkinson, 31, who told police that on the night of October 30-31, 23 sheets of plywood and 60 bags of fertilizer were taken from a shed at Green Belt Development, Longwood.

Burglary Reported

Almost $500 in stolen cash, food and property damage at the Time Out Restaurant was reported by Mary Duncan, 42. Burglars reportedly entered a rear window and broke into eight vending machines, removing $25 in change and cigarettes. Also stolen was $50 worth of meat.

Swofford Challenging Mayor Floyd City Posts To Be Contested In Altamonte Springs

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS City Clerk Phyllis Jordahl, looking at Tuesday's city election optimistically, has predicted that 1,600 of the city's 4,000 registered voters will turn out at the city's three polling places to cast ballots.

In one of the most exciting election campaigns in the city in years, incumbent Mayor Norman Floyd is pitted against former Mayor Lawrence Swofford for the chief executive's office. Term of office, under the new charter, is three years.

Swofford served as mayor for 12 consecutive years and was a member of the city government for 20 years prior to his defeat by less than 200 votes at the polls in 1973 by Floyd, an ex-Army major and former city police officer.

Merilyn Floyd and Missouri Belle Swofford, as well as their children and personal friends, have been actively involved in the campaign.

Helen Keyser, a three term city commissioner, is being opposed for the first time in her fourth bid for public office. During her first campaign, in 1969, an opponent withdrew because he was not a property owner of record for one year prior to seeking office, a city requirement at that time.

Vying with Mrs. Keyser for the city commission post is Glen Buschman, who retired from the Air Force after 31 years service. In his first foray into the political arena, Buschman has been a resident of the city for three years.

City Commissioner Cal DeVoney, completing his first two-year term, is unopposed in his quest for another.

The three city polling places for the election include the city civic center where city voters from county precincts 11, 23, 25 and 34 may vote; city hall where city voters in county precincts 4 and 34 may vote and the Montgomery Road Fire

The polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Voters who will be out of town or otherwise unable to vote at the polling places on election day may apply for absentee ballots up to 5 p.m. Monday.

The absentee ballots must be returned to Mrs. Jordahl at city hall by 7 p.m. Tuesday. The city had received requests for 35 absentee ballots.

A new program Floyd said he is planning is on community affairs, to gain more information on what the citizens want the city government to undertake. He said senior citizens and youth will be included among the members of the group.

In 1974, his first year in office, Floyd was unanimously elected chairman of the CALNO Council of Local Governments. He has represented the city at every meeting of the group since he took office.

Floyd was also the recent recipient of the South Seminoe Jaycees' Good Government award.

Noting he has reorganized the city's structure since assuming the mayor's office two years ago, Floyd said he prepared administrative guidelines for all operations, improved building and zoning codes and their enforcement and improved all services, including police and fire protection.

A current project underway, Floyd said, is the paving of Montgomery Road where a bridge is now under construction. Working with other governmental entities, including the United States Geologic Survey, the University of Florida and the federal Toole-Wade program on water quality, Floyd said the city has established a board of citizens to provide input on cleaning up the city's lakes.

Pledging to repeal the $2.50 monthly "garbage" tax charged city households for garbage collection service if he is elected, Swofford said the service was provided by the city for 36 years previously at no additional cost to residents above property taxes.

Pointing to the city's giant hydroplaner water tower, Swofford said it was paid for with sewer connection charges levied on land developers.

On the availability of federal money for city programs, Swofford said during his terms of office, spanning a 20-year period, he submitted 17 applications for federal funding and all were approved.

The candidate said the Altamonte Mall was built during his administration and now pays more in property taxes to the city than the city had for its entire budget in 1973.

Swofford said the board of County Commissioners approved drainage plans and zoning for the mall before the city annexed the property at SR 436 and Palm Springs Road.

"I've always been dedicated to the City of Altamonte Springs," Swofford said, adding "I have given 20 years of my life to it."

Lake County Sheriff Says Robberies To End

CLERMONT (AP) — Lake County authorities predict that there will be arrests "in the next few days" of the gunmen responsible for a rash of bizarre armed robberies of rural homes.

Sheriff Guy Bliss said Friday that investigators reported "definite suspects" in the crimes, some of which have transformed rural areas of Lake and Orange counties into armed camps.

Bliss, however, refused to elaborate on the alleged suspects in the case.

Meanwhile, authorities in Highlands County slapped a news blackout on an appearance by the gang in their area, fearing an outbreak of panic like that which has spread across the two counties to the north.

Gunter Eyes Insurance Job

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Former Rep. William Gunter, D-Fla., appears certain to become a candidate for insurance commissioner-treasurer next year and state Rep. Carl Ogden, D-Jacksonville, is a possibility.

But one legislator said "it looks like there'll be a long line" as possible candidates begin assessing their chances Friday after Gov. Reubin Askew decided to leave Philip Ashler in office. Ashler has pledged not to run.

"I'm certainly very interested," said Gunter, an Orlando insurance man. "I haven't made a firm decision, but I will be making up my mind shortly."

After serving one term in Congress, Gunter was narrowly defeated last year in a race for the Democratic nomination to the Senate.

Cities Demand Eye For Eye

WINTER HAVEN (AP) — A group of central Florida cities is taking a tough stand on New York City's fiscal woes, demanding an eye for an eye.

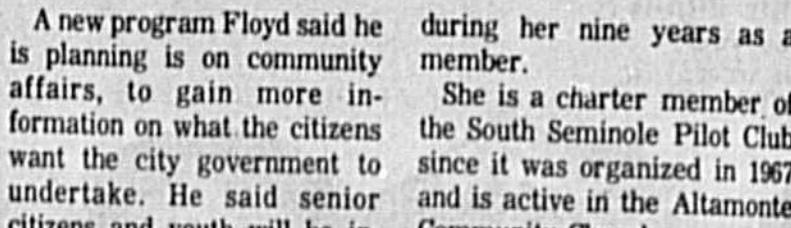

The Ridge League of Municipalities, composed of cities in Polk County, passed a resolution Thursday night blasting New York City for fiscal irresponsibility.

The resolution said that if New York received federal aid or credit guarantees an equal amount should be distributed among other American cities based on their populations to "allow those cities to respond and to repay their public servants and citizens for their former efforts."

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS—The city is giving its citizens more for the tax dollar, more efficient government operation and exercising tighter control of expenditures than ever before, says Mayor Norman Floyd, seeking a second term in the chief executive's office of this community.

Noting he has reorganized the city's structure since assuming the mayor's office two years ago, Floyd said he prepared administrative guidelines for all operations, improved building and zoning codes and their enforcement and improved all services, including police and fire protection.

A current project underway, Floyd said, is the paving of Montgomery Road where a bridge is now under construction. Working with other governmental entities, including the United States Geologic Survey, the University of Florida and the federal Toole-Wade program on water quality, Floyd said the city has established a board of citizens to provide input on cleaning up the city's lakes.

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Cal DeVoney, running unopposed for a second term on the city commission, has thanked the citizens of the city for their vote of confidence.

Despite his lack of opposition, he has spoken out in favor of the $2.50 garbage collection fee levied on homeowners and residents of the community this year.

"I don't think it is a tax. It is a bargain at $2.50 monthly," he said.

Of flooding problems in the community, DeVoney said it takes a lot of money to solve the problem, adding the flooding will not be solved tomorrow and perhaps not for years to come.

DeVoney notes the city this year passed an ordinance requiring builders to retain the first inch of rainwater on site, which will alleviate future problems.

Buschman and his wife, Pat, have been married 33½ years, are the parents of two sons and have one grandchild.

My only interest is the people of Altamonte Springs and doing what I can to make Altamonte a better place to live," he said, adding his background in accounting and business management and experience in working with commission, in the district three post.

He has pledged to give 100 per cent of his time, if necessary, to do the job and to attend city commission meetings after having researched the issues.

Buschman, during his years in the military, held every rank by promotion, retiring as a lieutenant colonel in May, 1972. He has been a resident of Altamonte for three years.

Buschman says he has no special interest, no business or property in the community except his home at 456 Orange Ave.

Food Stamp Plan Curbs Are Needed

There is an appealing symmetry about the food stamp reform plan sent to Congress by President Ford.

By revising eligibility standards and formulas, about one million families whose income exceeds a reasonable definition of poverty would be trimmed from the food stamp lists. As a result, about 1.4 million families — "the poorest of the poor," in the words of Agriculture Secretary Butz — would have their food stamps benefits increased.

Benefit would remain substantially the same for about half of the individuals and families now receiving the food subsidy. The net result would be to reduce the annual cost, now heading toward $6 billion a year, by $1.2 billion.

Cutting away at abuse and excesses at the high end of the spectrum, and applying part of the savings at the lower end, is the kind of balancing that the food stamp program and other welfare programs need. The principal that taxpayers will help support the genuinely needy in their communities is not at issue, nor should it be. What has gone wrong is that the intricacies of defining need and eligibility for assistance programs like food stamps have overcome the concept of charity that brought them into being.

Agriculture Department studies have shown that 6 per cent of the households receiving food stamps have incomes above $9,000. Another 11 per cent have incomes between $6,200 and $9,000. It is this 17 per cent that would forgo food stamps under the administration proposals. Those in Congress who would defend the present eligibility requirements have the burden of justifying a government food subsidy to Americans in those income brackets.

Congress should find it hard to argue with Mr. Ford's proposal that college students be ineligible for food stamps unless their families meet the eligibility requirements, or that food stamps be provided to strikers only if they are seeking other jobs. Those changes would strike at two of the most visible food stamp abuses.

Waste and abuse in the food stamp program have become so notorious it is hard to see how Congress can face the voters next year without some offering of reform. At the same time, however, it is hardly cynical to admit that the 18.8 million Americans now relying to a major or minor degree on food stamp benefits represent a constituency whose interests Congress will heed.

How far Congress will go in curtailing the food stamp program may be a primary question for 1976, but a more basic question apparently must wait for 1977. That is the issue of the existence of the program itself, which has grown up outside the framework of the welfare system where it obviously belongs. Food stamps cannot be separated from the bigger picture of welfare reform, which both Congress and the administration are still keeping on the back-burner.

States Do The Job

Congress is casting covetous eyes on another program that for 60 years or so has been handled capably and with increasing efficiency by the states.

Bills have been introduced in the Senate and House to create a federal system of workmen's compensation, entailing increased benefits for injured workers and threatening increased costs to employers and — ultimately — to the beleaguered consumer.

Today all 50 states have effective workmen's compensation laws under which employees give up their right to sue in exchange for assurances by the employer that he will accept liability for injury without regard to fault. The program was adopted to eliminate lengthy, costly and frequently inequitable lawsuits.

The congressional proposals would reestablish the workers' right to sue, moving back the calendar to the turn of the century. Some estimates put the cost of the contemplated switch at $40 billion annually as compared to the current $6 billion.

Presumably there are desirable features in the legislation. The states, however, have been responsive to recommended improvements in their own systems.

The first question Congress should resolve before jumping into the workmen's compensation issue is whether federal meddling is desirable or necessary.

DON OAKLEY Endorsement By Press Challenged

In a most unusual challenge to freedom of the press — or at any rate, a challenge to a practice the press has always felt free to engage in — a candidate for mayor of Willoughby, Ohio, in a 20 miles east of Cleveland, has filed a complaint with the Ohio Elections Commission against the Willoughby News-Herald.

Candidate Christopher J. Aquila contends that newspaper endorsements of political candidates are a violation of an Ohio law that prohibits corporations from making contributions to candidates.

The News-Herald, with a circulation of about 29,000 violated the law, he charges, because it endorsed one of the candidates for mayor of the neighboring town of Eastlake.

"If the published endorsement by a corporate newspaper is not a thing of value given for the benefit of a political candidate, then what is it?" Aquila asked in the complaint, pointing out that newspaper endorsements are often republished by candidates as a way of self-advertisement.

Immediate reaction of the office of the Ohio Secretary of State was that the charge was "ridiculous."

Mayor Aquila filed his complaint before the News-Herald endorsed his opponent, and Aquila is threatening to sue the paper.

Taxes on motor fuels have been increased more often than any other tax in 1975, reports Commerce Clearing House.

So far, eight states have upped their gasoline tax rates since January. Massachusetts, South Dakota, Oregon and Wyoming raised theirs by one cent a gallon (although in Oregon the increase was suspended by referendum petition and Wyoming's will not take effect until next March 1).

Minnesota and Rhode Island each raised theirs by 2 cents, Montana by 2.5 cents and Hawaii by 3.5 cents.

The increases continue a 10-year trend toward higher and higher tax rates on this essential commodity, says CCH. Only eight states — Alabama, Alaska, Iowa, Nevada, Ohio, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas — have not raised their gasoline taxes between 1965 and 1975.

New York City police detective Mary Glatzle has been cited as one of the 10 most outstanding police officers in the country.

"Muggable Mary," as she is nicknamed, has been working for two years as a volunteer decoy member of the NYPD street crime unit. Using a variety of disguises to make herself appear to be an easy prey for muggers, but always followed by a back-up team of other detectives, she has been responsible for no less than 300 felony arrests.

It's stories like this that not only reaffirm our faith in the nation's police but in our judicial system, too. With all the reports one hears about the "codding of criminals," it wouldn't have surprised us if sometime during the past two years some judge hadn't reprimanded Muggable Mary for using unfair tactics against unsuspecting purse-snatchers, rapists and other nice citizens.

Don't forget the big high school Band Festival Benefit will be held at the Sanford High School stadium on Saturday, Nov. 8 at 7:30 p.m.

The event is co-sponsored by the Civitan Club and The Evening Herald and features the marching bands from Lyman, Lake Brantley, Oviedo, Bishop Moore and Seminole high schools.

Although it is a festival, we must stress the point that there is no competition involved and all bands will receive a trophy of equal value.

All proceeds to the festival will be donated to the band programs of the participating schools.

Tickets are priced at $2 per person and are available from all band booster organizations as well as Music Unlimited at Sanford Plaza, Outer Limits at Altamonte Mall and at The Evening Herald.

A capacity crowd is expected to be on hand and we urge everyone in the area to come on out and support these high school bands.

In case you haven't heard, the Sanford Airport, once known as the Sanford Naval Air Station, has a new name.

It's officially the Sanford-Central Florida Airport now and the next publication of the Aeronautical Chart for Florida will pinpoint our airport facility with the Sanford-Central Florida designation.

The Sanford airport facility is expanding by leaps and bounds and will continue to increase in both size and flow of air traffic.

A dot of the derby to those who have made it what it is today, including Red Cleveland and Gene Eisenstein and the many others who have contributed so much.

In addition to such long-time favorites as glass bottom boats, Deer Park and the Early American Museum, Silver Springs is sporting new attractions and expanded areas which many Floridians haven't seen.

Some of these new attractions include the all-new electric jungle cruise boats, the 5 1/2 acre Cypress Point Island, the Reptile Institute and the soon-to-open Gardens of the Old South.

If you haven't visited this lovely attraction lately, we highly recommend it. You'll find it well worth the effort — and for 20 per cent off the regular prices from now until Dec. 15.

Higher education may be where you find it. When Sanford City Manager Warren E. Hughes of the Sanford Police Dept., jokingly remarked, "You aren't expecting any trouble, are you?"

Hughes, who was attending the meeting as a representative of the Civitan Club, said, "Well, you never can tell that fellow in the red coat looks like a cop."

WORLD IN BRIEF

Juan Carlos Of Spain Takes Over As Dictator

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon began settling into his new position as provisional chief of state today while Generalissimo Francisco Franco, removed by illness as dictator after 36 years, remained in grave condition.

Francisco, in his 15th day of lingering heart illness, showed signs Friday of peritonitis — inflammation of the abdominal membrane — that doctors said could hasten his death.

An early morning medical bulletin said Franco rested through the night. But the 82-year-old general was also suffering from lung congestion, a failing heart and a buildup of fluid in his abdominal cavity.

Sadat Wants Know-How HOUSTON (AP) — That shopping list Egyptian President Anwar Sadat brought to the United States includes American technology and know-how.

Sadat told an audience of several hundred oil, chemical, and construction executives Friday night Egypt offers unlimited opportunities for investment and that foreign investors are now immune from nationalization, appropriation, or seizure.

"We are interested in your technology and know-how," he said. "We are building a structure that guarantees a fair share for each partner. We are creating the atmosphere that is necessary for establishing a just and lasting relationship."

Riots Continue In Lebanon BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Christian gunmen were lodged in luxury high-rise hotels by the Mediterranean today as they fought to retain control of their lifeline to the sea.

Moslem forces, holding the trump cards in Lebanon's civil war, said they could take the Christian positions at any time but were waiting to see if a lasting cease-fire could be arranged.

Lebanese Moslems, leftists and their Palestinian guerrilla allies are being supplied overland from Syria and Iraq with Soviet arms, reportedly paid for with Libyan oil money.

Franco Shows Hemorrhage MADRID, Spain (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco shows new signs of internal hemorrhaging, his doctors said today.

A medical bulletin issued from the 18-year-old general's Pardo Palace said his condition was stationary but still marked by heart failure with widespread complications.

It said a threat of peritonitis — inflammation of the abdominal membrane — had not increased although there was new, intermittent hemorrhaging.

The doctors said, however, that throughout Franco's illness he had remained conscious.

Christians Fight For Sea BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — House-to-house fighting intensified today in downtown Beirut, with Christians charging that thousands of Palestinian guerrillas had infiltrated from Syria to reinforce their Muslim foes.

Spokesmen for the right-wing Phalange party claimed 5,000 men of the Syrian-based Palestine Liberation Army (PLA) were seen massing at the guerrillas' Sad Nayel training camp in Lebanon's upper Bekaa Valley.

Higher education may be where you find it. When Sanford City Manager Warren E. Hughes of the Sanford Police Dept., jokingly remarked, "You aren't expecting any trouble, are you?"

Weirdos, Upside-Down World Have Sealed Fate Of Halloween

The trick-or-treater just looked at me and handed back the three small candy bars I had offered him. "My mom won't let me take anything to eat," he said wistfully. "Mister, you got any toys?" They don't have to be new.
 Gee kid, my Erector set got all rusty and I threw it out. Sorry.
 As the youth went down the hallway to the next door, it hit me. Halloween is dead. The Halloween I knew.
 Weirdos with razor blades in apples sealed the fate of this October treat night, and an upside-down world finished it off.
 There was a time when one could talk of spooks without interpretation as a racial slur. And what kid didn't use to make the rounds at every house in the neighborhood, sometimes twice at houses where they gave Tootsie Rolls?
 Top many trick-or-treaters stayed indoors Friday night.
 They don't bob for the apple any more because of sick senses of humor by those who like to hold heads under water.
 To be sure, kids who visited Glenn Turner's Castle Friday night got a taste of the macabre. But that's Hollywood, not Halloween. The Exorcist and House of Wax-type shows are superbly realistic, and can put one in the mood for Halloween.
 But after the dance is over, what then? Back out into a society where fathers are afraid to let their daughters go to Friday night high school football games? Where in some corners the battle is not at the 50-yard line, but behind the bleachers? Where slashed tires, senseless vandalism and total disregard run wild?
 Educators say the answer is to play athletic contests in the daytime.

Words Of Socrates Still Echo
 What comes to mind is the account of a writer, complaining that "the youth run wild in the streets, show no regard or respect." It was Socrates, some 2,000 years ago.
 Problems extend from generation to generation and appear to heighten from time to time.
 Whatever explanation psychologists give for the irregular behavior of some degenerates, I can't help but wonder if the topsy-turvy sports world has been a factor.
 Million dollar bonuses, the acceptance of contract jumping, strikes, arbitration, unions, agents and lawyers.
 They have each had an effect.
 Do things come too easily for the All-American boys circa 1975? Student parking lots at area high schools hint in the affirmative. Formerly, the teachers had the shiny new cars, while the students had the jalopies. Just as surely as they have switched roles here, so have basic moral factors slipped.

What Happened To 'Yes, Sir'?
 When is the last time you heard a teenager say "yes sir" or "no sir"? My ears still ring from the cracks I got as a kid for merely saying "yeah" instead of "yes mam."
 Today's youth is more educated — in the classroom and out — than former generations. For

Big Play Drops Evans
Lyman's Homecoming: Nip And Tuck Battle

By JIM HAYNES
 Herald Sports Editor
LONGWOOD—How quickly they forget!
 While homecoming fans were sipping instantans reminiscing glory days at Lyman High Friday night, they couldn't help notice that this year's version had its problems on offense.
 No sooner was Diane Simpson crowned this year's queen, than Dick Copeland's "charges" changed the minds of a few fans.
 Coming from apparent brink of defeat — which would have been lost No. 6 — Lyman posted a 7-4 victory over Evans.
 There was more to this win than met the eye.
 Consider that Lyman had one of its worst offensive nights of the season, and in fact, it was a game won by defensive heroics of linebackers Jerry Human and Craig Smith.
 Human put a fierce rush on Evans quarterback Mike Cullison and forced a fumble, which was picked up by Smith and returned 31 yards to the Trojan four-yard line. Lyman scored on the first play with Bob Riazzi bulging his way into the endzone, never leaving his feet and dancing back to hand the ball to the referee.
 On the all-important try for extra point, Riazzi barely got his kick across the crossbar, but it did clear, and it was 7-6.
 While Lyman's offense was sputtering the rest of the game, the Greyhounds defense was getting stronger. Possibly encouraged by the fact they had cut off Evans' outside ground game, the Greyhounds were scared only once, on the final drive when Evans pushed the Lyman 36 before defense again came to the rescue.
 Interestingly enough, Lyman drove only twice past the Evans 30, and once it had gotten the ball at midfield.
 Evans won the toss, received the kickoff, but punted after three thrusts produced a net

Lyman's Lonnie Peeler (11) can't find the handle on a Bob Burkhardt pass. Evans cornerback Steve Adams just misses the interception.

Mike Dorsey (33) breaks away for a long gainer on a sweep. Greg Banfield (50) and Bob Lorah (86) give chase. (Herald Photos by Tom Vincent)

Jekyll-Hyde 'Hounds Howl About Win

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde couldn't have played a better dual role than the Lyman High School football team Friday night. There were the Greyhounds, silent on the sidelines, faces hung to the top of their letters, watching Evans protect a 6-0 lead on a pair of field goals by Mitch White.
 All of a sudden, the tide turned. And when it turned, momentum swung heavily.
 A homecoming crowd of 2,000 watched as Evans set up at its own 40-yard line, second and 11 late in the third chapter. Quarterback Mike Cullison dropped back and had Lyman's Jerry Human firing a gap right with him. Human applied the pressure, forcing a premature pitchout — or at least a fumble — and Greyhound Craig Smith picked up the ball and ran it to the Evans four, where Lyman needed only one plunge by Bob Riazzi to push over the touchdown.
 "I was covering the pitch man," said Smith afterward on the sidelines. "The ball was right there. I would have scored if I could have taken it on the dead run. But I had to wait for the bounce. I didn't know where anyone else was when I got near the

Mainland Knocks Brantley Off Lofty Perch

By SCOTT ABRAHAM
 Herald Correspondent
 From the giddy heights of an upset victory to the dreags of disappointing defeat.
 An offense that covered territory like a well-oiled racing machine to an offense that sputtered like a battered old heap.
 And a defense that held to one that didn't.
 Was this the same team you saw last week? asked Lake Brantley Head Coach Sammy Weir Friday night as reporters and a circle of assistant coaches gathered around his desk.
 He was referring to Brantley's upset win over county rival Lyman a week ago, a brilliant offensive and defensive victory, followed by Friday night's crushing 45-20 loss to Daytona Mainland.
 Perhaps the Halloween

Henry Stanley lets fly with perfect spiral pass as teammate Ross Lishen does his best to block, including undetected illegal use of hands, to stop Mainland rush.

Roughing Costs Oviedo A Shot At Victory Over Orange

By LOUIS SAPPIS
 Herald Correspondent
WINTER GARDEN—The West Orange Warriors, aided by a roughing the kicker call Friday night rolled to a hard fought 32-27 victory over Oviedo before a large crowd at Walker Field.
 The penalty was assessed against Oviedo midway through the third quarter when West again he was rushed by the Lions but this time they failed to get the ball when two Oviedo players appeared to run into each other.

 The punt was gotten off safely but the yellow penalty flag was thrown by one of the officials. Everyone on the Oviedo bench, especially head coach Bill Klein, began to yell. "they never touched him, they never touched him." And, "he never went down, he never went down."
 But their cries and pleas fell on deaf ears as the ball, along with penalty yardage, was given to West Orange.
 The home team was quick to capitalize on the call as they marched the remaining 44 yards in just four plays, with the touchdown coming on a pitchout to Ed Thompson, who carried the ball the final 13 yards.

 Then with the count standing 27-14, Lion quarterback Lee Ward threw a perfect pass to Jon Anderson but the ball hit the senior on his pads and bounced straight up in the air.
 An alert Warrior defender caught the ball in midair, and returned it to the Oviedo 14.
 From there it only took the Warriors three plays to put the ball on ice when their signal, caller dropped back and hit Greg Kannon all alone in the end zone with a 10 yard pass, to make the count stand 35-14.
 The game started off on a high note for Oviedo when the Warriors fumbled the ball on their first play from scrimmage. Will Carter recovered for the Lions on the West Orange 18 but they were unable to score and finally gave up the ball on downs at the one-yard line.
 Again the home team fumbled the ball on its first attempt at moving it and again the Lions were able to recover, this time on the six-yard line.
 After Henry Finney was thrown for a yard loss and Ward threw an incomplete pass, Lee was able to hit Bob Merchant in the end zone with a seven-yard strike for the first score of the game.
 Tom Fenton added the extra point and Oviedo led for the only time in the game, 7-0.
 The Warriors were able to roar back with two quick scores before the quarter ended with West Orange on top 14-7.
 On one occasion the Warriors Gene Webb was able to get outside of the Oviedo defense and ramble for long TD strike for the first score of the game.

EVEN WITHOUT THE WEIGHT OF HIS ARMOR, HIS HANDS ARE CRAMPED AND BLEEDING FROM THE ROPE WHEN HE LANDS ON THE WATCHTOWER, THEN HE DRAWS THE 'SINGING SWORD.'

IN THE GATHERING DARKNESS THEY REACH A POINT ABOVE THE CAVERN AND VAL BEGINS HIS DESCENT.

IT WAS A LONG RIDE BACK TO THE CITY TO OBTAIN ROPE FOR THEIR PURPOSE, AND THE DAY IS ALMOST SPENT AS THEY BEGIN THEIR CLIMB.

OUR STORY: PRINCE VALIANT FAILS IN THE FIRST ATTEMPT TO ENTER THE OMINOUS ABODE OF HASHIDA THE MAGICIAN. "WE FAILED TO ENTER FROM BELOW, SO WE WILL TRY IT FROM ABOVE."

HE HELPS WITH PAIN AS HER KEEN DAGGER SLIDES ALONG HIS RIBS. THEN HE NOTICES THEY ARE NOT ALONE. A FIGURE STANDS IN THE DOORWAY HOLDING A RESTLESS SWORD.

STILL TRYING TO DOMINATE HER, HE HOLDS ALETA CLOSE. POOR HASHIDA, NO ONE HAS EVER TOLD HIM NOT TO LAY HANDS ON A QUEEN, ESPECIALLY THIS ONE.

IN DESPERATION HE GRASPS HER SHOULDERS: "LOVE ME!" HE COMMANDS, BUT AT THE TOUCH OF HIS HANDS THE SPELL IS BROKEN. ANGER AND CONTEMPT SHINE IN HER EYES.

HASHIDA IS DESPERATE. HE HAD FIRST SEEN HER WHEN HER EYES WERE ALIGHT WITH HAPPINESS, A SMILE ON HER LIPS. AND HE HAD FALLEN IN LOVE. THROUGH TRICKERY HE HAD PUT HER UNDER A HYPNOTIC TRANCE AND NOW SHE STANDS, MUTE, UNHEEDING.

Dunn's Miniature Circus, a breathtaking display of one million tiny but authentic hand-carved replicas of the world of The Big Top, makes its 194th and final road showing at Altamonte Mall next month.

Text by Jean Patterson, Photographs by Bill Vincenzi Jr.

When he was little, Harold Dunn saw the miniature world of his father almost every day. His father, a circus man, would take his business of wood carving to the important all the way back to the Bavarian Alps where the weeks of the year would create all but about six and handsome replicas from the wood which surrounded their isolated cabin.

"I've always wanted to own a real circus, but my father never let me," Dunn said. "I've always wanted to own a real circus, but my father never let me."

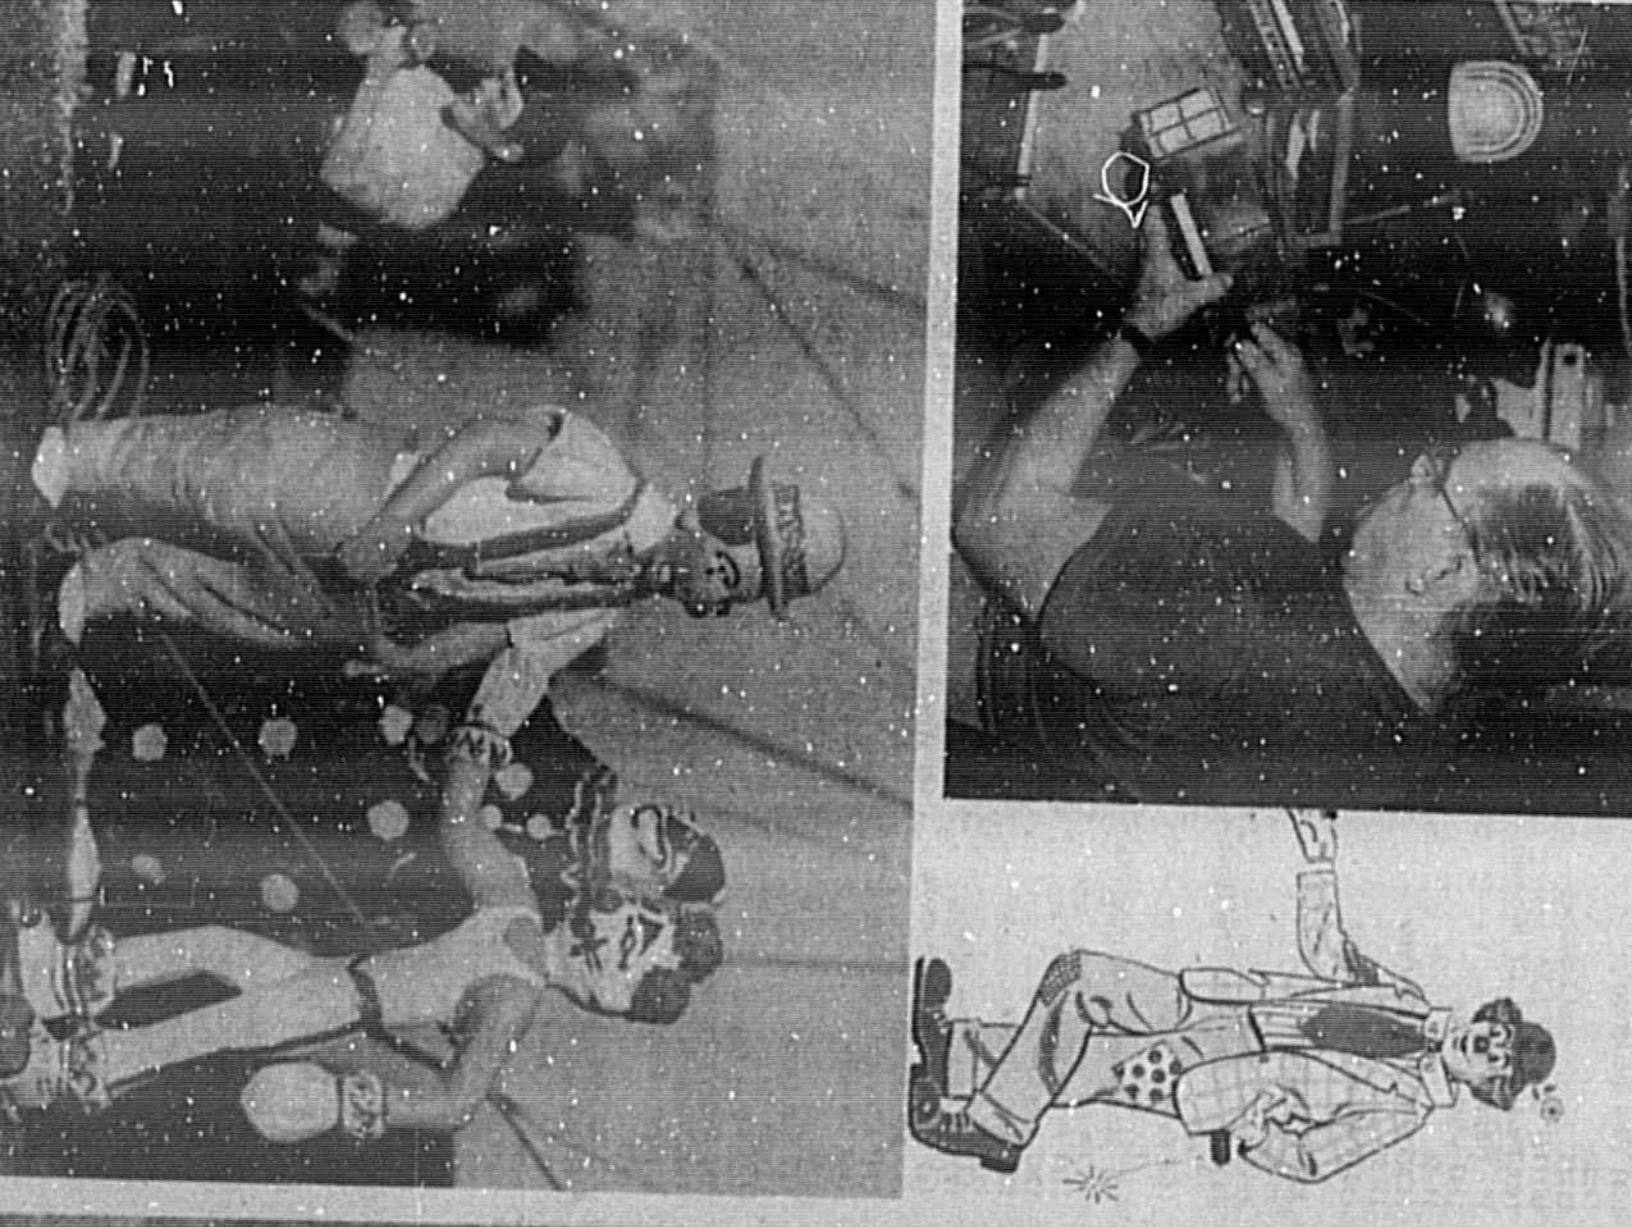

Even the spectators which leap from a...
at the mention of the miniature world...
selected what in my opinion are the greatest...
and put them all together in a grand...
and I've never had to buy an ounce of food...
for a single salary!" he grinned.

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY - To make a good "shoe house" to hang in your closet, pin two stripes of heavy cloth so they hang from the lower bar of a sturdy coat hanger. Pin a heavy plastic bag sideways to each strip and a foot or so apart, then slip shoes into the bags. - KATHY.

DEAR POLLY - The plastic ring holders from six-pack drink cartons make handy tie holders. Slip on a hook or hanger and then put a tie through each ring. - MRS. R.P.C.

DEAR POLLY - When lining a shelf with adhesive-backed paper, remove only about an inch of the protective backing from the edges. It stays in place just as well and is easier to remove. - D.L.H.

DEAR POLLY - I prepare meals for my disabled neighbor, and one day I forgot to bring the tray home. To take over the next meal, I put a towel in the bottom of my dish drainer and arranged the food on it. This works better than a tray - no danger of the dishes slipping. - CATHERINE.

DEAR POLLY - When cutting out a dress to be made with sleeves, I also cut out underarm facings (they come with many patterns) and put them away. If the day comes when I want a sleeveless dress I remove the sleeves and the matching facing is all ready to put in. - MRS. T.E.D.

DEAR POLLY - Record albums will continue to stand up when some are removed from the shelf if you have first glued a sheet of corrugated cardboard (ridges running vertically) inside the back of the cabinet. The ridges in the cardboard keep remaining albums standing upright. - BECKY.

DEAR POLLY - Funnel cooking oil into a small, clear, plastic dishwashing liquid bottle that has been thoroughly washed and dried. Label the bottle "Cooking Oil" with a permanent marking pen. This can be kept handy on the stove top. No drops from THIS bottle. - BECKY.

Dear Bernice:

DEAR CONCERNED:
YOUR SON'S CHART SHOWS HE IS A SENSITIVE, COM-PASSIONATE PERSON WHO IS QUITE RESTLESS AND EASILY DIS-ORIENTED. HE SPREADS HIS PROBLEMS THIN AND DOES NOT MAKE A HABIT OF MEETING HIS PROBLEMS HEAD-ON. HE HAS A GOOD CHANCE TO SUCCEED IN FIELDS THAT OFFER VARIETY AND CHANGE, THAT AREN'T TOO COMPETITIVE AND WHERE HE IS ALLOWED TO EXPRESS CREATIVENESS. ---BERNICE

Sanford Hit-Run Is Fatal

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford police and area law enforcement agencies today were pushing a search for a vehicle that struck and killed a 26-year-old pregnant Sanford woman Saturday night on French Avenue and fled the accident scene at a high rate of speed.

Patrolman D. H. Whitmire said police are looking for an older model pickup truck, grey primer or a faded black in color. Officers said the vehicle may have damage to the right front or side.

Mrs. Kathleen Louise Culler, 26, of 2517 Princeton Ave., died four hours after she was struck as she exited her disabled auto in the northbound parking lane on French Avenue just south of 20th Street, police said.

Mrs. Culler was five months pregnant and traffic homicide reports list two deaths in the accident, according to homicide investigator H. J. Shea Jr.

Whitmire today urged that anyone who was in the vicinity of Guy's Bar-B-Q, 2101 French Ave., at 7:40 p.m. Saturday to contact police.

Whitmire related the following account of the fatal accident:

Mrs. Culler and her brother, Mike DePeyster, 23, of 2517 Princeton Ave., were northbound on French in Mrs. Culler's 1967 Chevrolet sedan when the auto ran out of gas.

Mrs. Culler and her husband, Bob, who works for a Sanford service station, were in the process of moving from the Sanford address to Cysr Trailer Park at DeBarry.

DePeyster was walking toward the restaurant after the car stopped next to the curb and Mrs. Culler had exited her car when she was struck and crushed against her auto by the unidentified hit and run vehicle.

DePeyster told officers he just saw "a blur" as the other vehicle fled the scene.

A man at a coin laundry across the street told officers he heard a loud "thump" and saw a pickup truck leave the area at a "high rate of speed." Another person told officers that a northbound vehicle ran the red light at the nearby French Avenue and 20th Street intersection.

Police said Mrs. Culler was hurled over the left front hood of her car onto the pavement in front of the parked car.

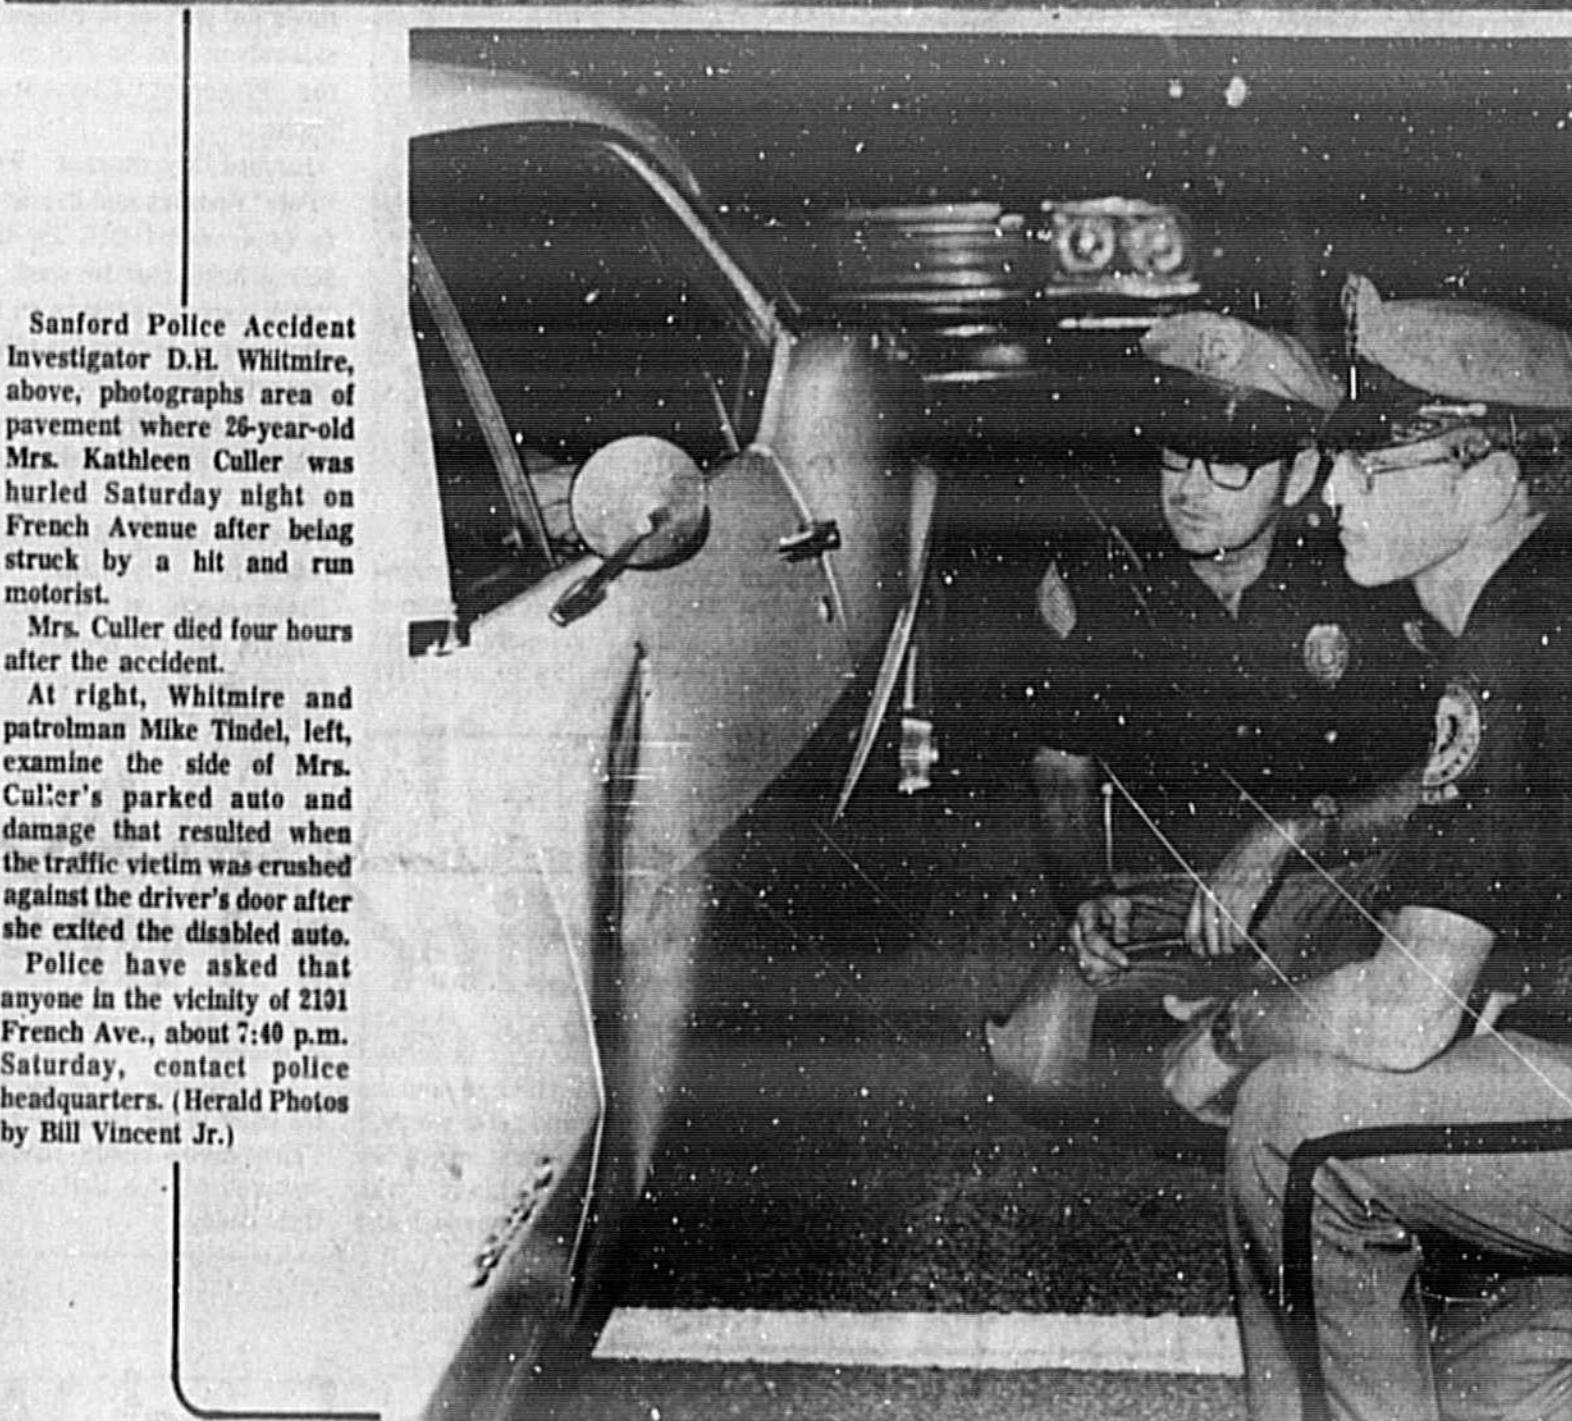

Police said Mrs. Culler was taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital, then transferred to Florida Hospital North, Altamonte Springs, where she died of internal injuries four hours after the accident.

Officers said there were no skid marks left by the hit and run vehicle and it apparently made no contact with the Culler car.

The victim's clothing was to be examined at the Sanford Crime Lab today in hopes some clue to the hit and run vehicle may be turned up.

Mrs. Culler attended schools in Sanford and returned here three months ago from Ramseur, N.C. She was a member of Jordan Missionary Baptist Church.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Gramkow Funeral Home chapel with burial in the Paoli Church of Christ cemetery, west of Sanford.

At Tuesday's Personality Breakfast

Seaboard Official To Be Featured Speaker

There are just too many jobs involved for the county to "give an ultimatum to the railroad," Seminole County Commissioners are considering a proposed ordinance making railroad personnel liable to the extent of a $500 fine and/or 90 days in jail when crossings are blocked for longer than five minutes without prior approval.

Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen recently criticized railroad personnel for their slowness at the SR 46 crossing, saying they showed no consideration whatsoever for motorists waiting at the crossing.

In other business, Horner said the Chamber is "going all out" to welcome the 25 women aviators expected when they make a scheduled stop at the Sanford Airport at 11 a.m. Friday during the 1975 "Deltona Derby."

The Sanford stop and a luncheon is part of a two day, air, land and sea obstacle race by female pilots flying from St. Augustine to Naples.

Horner urged all local officials to accompany the Chamber's aviation committee in welcoming the visiting competitors in Florida's only in-state flying race for women.

Sanford Mayor Lee Moore has declared Nov. 7 as "Deltona Derby Day" in Sanford.

MILLARD S. JONES

"We hope to get the 'Powder Puff Derby' next which includes hundreds of pilots," said Horner.

He said there may be 1,000 local participants in the shuttleboard tourney, as part of the Golden Age Olympics planned for senior citizens here Nov. 10 through 15. Horner said the special event sponsored by all local civic groups, will begin with a torch lighting at 10 a.m. the first day.

Richard Oswald, with McDonald restaurants, has purchased the bronze, silver and gold track medals, said Horner.

Horner said a dance and awards banquet is set for Nov. 15 at the Sanford Civic Center with Jack Drummond's band. Horner reported there are already some 30 entries in the annual Christmas Parade, set for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 4.

At the request of Joseph Davis, chamber member and a former State Representative, Horner said he would check into the possibility of scheduling Chamber seminars on the metric system which is being introduced in this country.

Ernest Cowley said he believes it will take "a couple of years" before the nation makes the transition.

Edward Douglas, vocational-technical director for Seminole County schools, said he understands the nation is going to change from conventional measurements to metric and kilometers with a "piecemeal approach" which may be costly.

School Superintendent W.P. "Bud" Layer told Chamber members state guidelines for including economic education systems in all career education classes are expected by January.

Horner also reported one of the reasons the local United Fund drive "went over the top this year" was due to some $14,000 collected among the county school system. The goal was $154,500 and about $174,000 was collected.

Rockefeller Out In 1976 Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller stepped aside today as President Ford's 1976 running mate, saying he does not want to be considered for the Republican ticket next year.

He did so in a letter to Ford, saying: "After much thought, I have decided ... that I do not wish my name to enter into consideration for the upcoming Republican vice presidential nominee."

"I wish you to know this now for your own planning," Rockefeller said.

The Rockefeller announcement, a political bolt no one had anticipated, could undercut the planned presidential challenge of former California Gov. Ronald Reagan. The conservative Reagan had gained early support among GOP liberals.

Rockefeller's announcement was relayed by his press secretary Hugh Downs, who said the vice president was delivering the letter to Ford today.

Rockefeller's decision means the Republican vice presidential spot will be an object of maneuver and potential political bargaining. It also means that if Ford does win the GOP nomination, he will be in a position to choose a new Republican face who would instantly become a party power for future campaigns.

There had been no advance signal that Rockefeller was considering the step he took today, but there had been public evidence of disagreement between the President and vice president over administration handling of the financial crisis besetting New York City.

Teenagers Removed From Oviedo High After Assault

Both Kathy (Holzman) and Pam (Roy) were thrown to the ground, by their assailant, who pulled out handfuls of hair, blacked their eyes and left them sore and bruised.

— Kathy's Father Charles Holzman

Oviedo Police Chief Ken Triplett said he had not been informed of threats against the girls prior to the incident and the parents did not swear out complaints until Saturday and Sunday.

Triplett said he accompanied Kathy and Pam to Oviedo High School this morning while they removed articles from their lockers.

Triplett said he plans to ask the bus drivers to cooperate with police in allowing them to search the buses in attempt to put a halt to marijuana smoking by students.

"As to the 'fight,'" Triplett added, "I don't know if we could have prevented it even if we had known about the threats in advance."

up and ran to the office to report the incident there was no one there," he added.

Kathy and Pam were commended last week by Winter Springs Council for their courage in coming forward with a complaint that students were smoking "pot" (marijuana) on the school bus during the 12 mile trip to Oviedo High School, in spite of threats. After they went to council seeking help in correcting the problem, the girls had been informed they were "going to get beat up by two girls," Holzman said.

"I had a conference with Principal Keith Stone Friday morning," Holzman said, "and it was not 45 minutes after he assured me the girls would be safe that the incident occurred." He said the girls had gone to their lockers following
