WHAT HAVE WE IN THE WEST HAS SHOCKED MARKET

One Prostration Is Reported As Barometer Soars To Eighty In Chicago District

CHICAGO, Apr. 8.—(AP)—Showers in many sections of the Middle West were promised today by the weather bureau to relieve the heat, which had abated April 8 records and led to one prostration in sections covered by snowdrifts only 10 days ago.

The temperature here soared to 82, the highest on record for that date.

His children lured into the streets by the first real warm weather of the season were killed by automobiles here and in the suburbs.

A normal weather was reported from Northern Oklahoma to the Canadian border. Dust storms swept North Dakota and Minnesota. L. H. Ruggles, auctioneer, was overcome while crying out at his mate in Lincoln, Kansas. A temperature of 88 was recorded at Des Moines and Sioux City.

Local Elks Lodge Given High Praise By District Deputy

Lewis Elkins, a former resident of Sanford, now with the Pensacola Journal, is here for the session and seems to be well liked among the members. He writes some very interesting articles for his paper. At one time Lewis was connected with The Sanford Herald. He is leaving tomorrow to spend the week-end in Sanford with his family.

Speaker Lewis appointed his temporary committee today, and it is extremely well-made after the manner of the permanent committee.

There still seem to be about ten applicants for every position. Many of them actually need the work, too.

I just had a talk with Senator Parrish, in regard to several bills which will be introduced regarding state roads in Seminole County.

Many of us from the central and southern sections of the State are realizing that we are not used to walking up and down these hills, nor are many stops as are necessary, to get up to and away from the House of Representatives. Our feet are mighty sore, and it will take some time to get used to them.

There is some talk of adjourning Thursday afternoon until Monday evening, and I am opposed to this, and intend to fight it on the floor. The Legislature is very inefficient; it seems to me, although, I expected to find it this way, still feel that it is my duty to attempt to get some work done as possible from Friday until recess.

The sessions are being modified today, and they should be revised in Sanford by this time. By reading them, you can follow our every action, but please do not be too critical, at first, especially.

Those contemplating a visit to the Capitol during the session, should be advised in order that we may all know where they have been. A Chamber Court, which will settle some or admissions to the House.

Mystery Of Vivian Gordon Murder Believed Solved With Arrest Of Suspect

NEW YORK, Apr. 8.—(AP)—Vivian Gordon's murder was believed solved today. The man charged with the murder is Harry Blain, otherwise identified in the cautious first announcement. Three others are being held as material witnesses and a fifth, whose connection in the case was not made clear, is being held for possessing a pistol and burglar tools. He and the man formerly a Canadian mounted policeman.

The motive for the murder, police said, was robbery. By a coincidence all five men gave their birthplace as Russia. Vivian Gordon was strangled and her body thrown into a thicket in the park.

Throughout last night New York's highest law enforcement officials questioned the man. After formal charges were placed against the prisoners they were turned over to police headquarters. The arrests were made simultaneously last night.

Bendix Stein, the man arrested, was Samuel Greenbaum, Mrs. Levine, David Butterman, and Jack Holdcroft. Stein, Levine, and Greenbaum are the three mentioned in Vivian Gordon's diary in which she set down her affections of love, blackmail, and fear. The trio denied knowing the Gordon woman.

SPEEDY CLEANUP OF CITY HALL IN CHICAGO IS PLAN

Cermak States He Expects To Have Gunmen Out In 60 Days

CHICAGO, Apr. 8.—(AP)—A speedy reorganization of the Chicago municipal government was planned last night by Mayor-elect Anton J. Cermak, who expected to be inducted into office Friday.

The man who beat William Hale Thompson by 101,016 votes in Tuesday's election spent most of the day selecting men for the more important jobs out of the 12,000 apolitical positions he must fill. He gave but little of his time to the naming of the city by armed force under the protection of warships in the harbor. The first contingent of an expeditionary force was despatched to the Island of Hispaniola yesterday.

"I promised to clean out the city hall," he said, "and I'm going to live up to it." The hums and hoots who hang around in the gily hell make a cheap lodging house on Saturday night a safe bet.

For the time being, it was announced, no withdrawal of the American colony from Madiera is contemplated. This was decided after the American minister here conferred with the foreign offices. The American and British embassies also communicated with their representatives at Funchal during the day.

Because of this defiant attitude, the government was determined to press measures previously agreed upon to put down the revolt. This does not preclude the possibility of taking the city by armed force under the protection of warships in the harbor. The first contingent of an expeditionary force was despatched to the Island of Hispaniola yesterday.

With completion of the official census late yesterday afternoon in record time, Cermak planned to visit office Thursday. A call for a special meeting of the city council to approve his bond was issued immediately after completion of the census in accordance with the law that 24 hours' notice must be given for such a meeting.

The new mayor will have a working majority in the city council, as 50 of the city's 60 aldermen are Democrats. Nine of the 20 Republicans were classed as allies of Mayor Thompson.

Cermak refused to comment on his selections for department heads.

One-Sided Scores Mark Early Games Of Lions Ball Loop

One-sided scores have been the outstanding feature of the early games played in the Lions Club Junior Baseball League, which got underway on a month's schedule of play Monday afternoon.

Pete Walther, Red Sox whiz kid John McLean, Yankees by a score of 24 to 10 to open the season Monday; Max Stewart's Pirates romped on Eddie Hendon's Giants Tuesday afternoon by the score of 28 to 6, while yesterday afternoon, Bob Colby's Indians had little difficulty with M. O. Johnson's Cubs.

Young Robinson pitching and hitting his mate to a 16 to 5 victory.

The Indians' Hominioles, Adams, Ramley, 1B; Equires, 3B; Robinson, 2B; Vickery, c; Gaines, 2B; Dean, rf; Steele, lf; Terrell, r. The Cubs, Eskols, rf; Stewart, Sh. Williams, p; Purdon, c; Henderson, 1B; Mouser, ss; Etchison, Sh. Bonkis, H, and Waite.

Games will be played every free day afternoon until May 9, at 2:00 o'clock, in the Grammar School ball park on Seventh street and Oak Avenue.

The Junior baseball League has been organized for several years in a Lions Club enterprise established under the aegis of the Kiwanis Club.

The musical part of the program will be George Brockman under several piano selections, and the Sanford Male Quartette, composed of F. B. Lomax, H. W. Kucker, J. M. Schneipher, and B. C. Moore sing three numbers.

The members appointed Kiwanis & D. Highmyer and Raymond Paul to handle the details in connection with the selection of a high school girl to represent the club in a proposed bathing beauty contest to be held here soon.

HOUSE SPIKES ALL CHANCES OF SALES TAX

Votes 88 to 4 Against Any General Sales Tax Proposal During 60-Day Session

TALLAHASSEE, Apr. 8.—(AP)—The House rejected a bill to change the state's tax structure. The house voted 108 to 4 against consideration of any general sales tax proposal during the 60-day session, while the Senate received bills proposing a state income tax and repeal of the 1929

Another Senate bill called for a convention to revise the constitution, while two Senate bills asked for redistricting of the state to provide five Congressional districts permitted under the 1930 census.

The house action on the sales tax proposal assured merchants that a lobby to fight such a levy during the session is unnecessary and placed that body on record with Governor Carlton as opposing a general measure along this line.

The house also received a resolution seeking information on the number of closed banks since Jan. 1, 1929. The resolution was introduced by Representative Watson, Hillsborough, who yesterday introduced a resolution seeking the impeachment of Comptroller Andrew.

The Senate voted to adjourn until Monday to permit members to attend the legion convention in Tampa. The house voted to meet tomorrow evening members wishing to go to Tampa.

Negro Found Guilty In County Court On Assaulding Charge

Alph Rockmore, colored man who went on trial in County Judge James G. Sharpen's April term of criminal court this morning, was found guilty of assault and battery on another negro man. The jury was composed of W. L. Tyler, E. E. Newcomer, J. E. Singletary, W. H. Allen, A. D. Smith, and E. L. Hyattine, John G. Leonard, county prosecuting attorney, represented the state.

Rockmore went on trial on a similar charge this afternoon, accused of having made an assault on a young colored boy some weeks ago. A jury was being selected shortly after 1:30 o'clock, and, providing the case was disposed of, Judge Sharpen expected to hear the cases of Willie Cotton, colored, charged with assault, Jessie Judge, colored, charged with pistol robbery, and Nolan Price while charged with possessing a pistol and Clifford Harris, charged with reckless driving and possessing liquor.

Yesterday afternoon Justice Davis, colored man, went on trial on a charge of possessing liquor, and, after Judge Sharpen denied three motions, one to continue the case, one to suppress the evidence of Sheriff J. P. McClelland and deputies Jack Hickson and O. R. Edridge, and one for directed verdict, a jury found Davis not guilty. James Wilson, 1B, Renaud, C. E. Rawson, C. P. Martin, S. W. Bradford, and W. B. Williams were on the jury.

O. L. Henderson, colored, charged with simple assault pleaded guilty. Judge Sharpen fined him $2 and costs, or the alternative of a 60 day jail sentence.

The last case tried yesterday afternoon resulted in Carroll Engle, young white man charged with embezzlement, being given his freedom when a jury found him not guilty. Karl Gaul, C. M. Reid, H. E. Norwood, W. I. Tyler, J. E. Singletary, and A. D. Smith were on the jury.

Largest Display Ever Seen In Sanford Is Opinion Of Chairman

The united efforts of members of the Sanford Garden Club to make their first annual Flower Show an outstanding success were realized at an early hour this afternoon shortly after the doors were officially opened, in the Episcopal Parish House, for from all sides were heard enthusiastic words of praise and surprise at the complete manner in which every detail had been handled.

"This is the largest exhibition of plants and flowers ever seen in Sanford," said Mrs. Harry Dooren, one of the chairman, "and, since we anticipate a record crowd of interested spectators, because such a keen interest has been manifested during the past few months, this showing of flowers is certainly bound to create a further interest by the amateur botanists, one of the aims of the Garden Club."

Young Johnson Boy Dies This Morning

James Earle Johnson, four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Johnson died at the South Sanford Avenue home of his parents this morning at about 7:00 o'clock. Funeral services were held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the home. The Rev. Wm. F. Brooks, Jr., of the First Baptist Church was the officiating clergyman, and burial took place in Lakewood Cemetery, the Jackson Funeral Home was in charge.

The boy died this morning at about 7:00 o'clock after a short illness. His death was caused by pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson's son played on the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, his wife, former Alice Roosevelt, is at his bedside when death ends noted career.

AIKEN, S. C., Apr. 9.—(AP)—Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the national House of Representatives, died today. His amazing vitality, physicians said, alone kept him alive last night.

He was taken ill Monday of pneumonia in one lung. At his bedside was his wife, the former Alice Roosevelt, daughter of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, and his friend Mrs. James Curtis, whose home he contracted the disease. His daughter, Pauline, was not with him.

After physicians diagnosed his illness Monday night he steadily grew worse and two days later they admitted his condition was desperate. Mrs. Longworth was notified and she arrived here Wednesday. Two of Mrs. Longworth's brothers, Kermit and Archibald Roosevelt, also believed to be spending the winter in a plane, but they had not arrived at the time of the Speaker's death.

Speaker Longworth contended a cold last week, became ill Monday and that night was found to have pneumonia. The fact that he was ill, however, was kept secret until Tuesday night.

Mrs. Longworth brought with her a nurse from Baltimore, Miss Elizabeth Nelson, who supplements the aids to those nurses assigned to the case.

The physicians are using an oxygen tent in treatment of the speaker. Dr. Wilds described it as one of the newest methods of combating the disease. No effort was made to move the patient from the Curtis home.

In discussing pneumonia, Dr. Wilds said a cold might come in within three or nine days but that there might be no cold at all. In certain cases, he explained, the patient grows gradually better without having a cold.

Speaker Longworth came to Aiken Mar. 30 for a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Curtis, residents of Washington. For several years he has visited them at their home here each spring, spending the greater part of his time in rest.

New Library Hours Are Adopted Aids To School Children

Through the courtesy of members of the Finance Committee of the Sanford Women's Club, children living in the rural districts and attending local schools will again be given the opportunity of taking advantage of the facilities of the Sanford Library at convenient hours.

When the City reduced operating expenses in many departments, the library was one of the first to feel the changes, for the hours were cut materially, and help reduced. Under the new plan, the library was closed during the only hour which children from the rural districts could visit it, namely the hours they were at school. Children have been without means of research work in connection with school studies.

The Sanford Women's Club offered to bear the expense of an assistant at the library for an entire hour each week-day, and the City Commissioners accepted the offer.

As a result, Mrs. E. J. Moulton, who was formerly employed at the library, is now assisted by Mrs. Elsa Knight, Librarian, and she will have particular charge of children's activities.

The new library hours, which effect Monday are: 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 o'clock, and 2:00 p.m. to 3:00 o'clock, on every day. Saturday hours: 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 o'clock, 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 o'clock, and 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 o'clock.

DETAILS SCANT UPON ILLNESS OF LONGWORTH

WASHINGTON, Apr. 8.—(AP)— Speaker Longworth left Wash-

to Alton as a guest of Mrs.
James F. Curtis, of Washington yesterday his departure was intended to spend a week playing and resting.

The speaker came to Congress

Count Of Paris Weds Prince Before Nobility

Some 325 of them, mostly French highborn persons, returned for the night on a French ship in the Palermo harbor. The boat brought them from Marsala and serves them as a hotel since all the regular hotels are filled.

At 11 o'clock this morning Henri and Isabelle were married according to the rites of the Catholic church. The bride's father, Prince Pierre D'Orléans Braganza, gave her away.

It was a brilliant ceremony with titled guests from France,
Belgium, Italy, Spain, Yugoslavia, Denmark, Portugal and Greece in attendance.

The Italian royal family, however, was not represented officially, although Italian princes of the blood were present. Nor was the Italian government represented officially, since the marriage was regarded as private.

The marriage united two descendants of Louis Philippe, last king of France, who abdicated three-quarters of a century ago.
French royalists consider that the marriage gives the Duke of Guise, and after him the Count of Paris, a better chance of someday re-establishing and mounting the French throne.

The D'Orléans palace has had a romantic history. It is the sole ancient residence outside of France remaining to the pretend-ers to the throne. Consequently it has been, for half a century or more, the rallying ground for hopeful French royalists dreaming of a return to throne and power.

discovered that some of the work-

The business of government, disrupted by the quake, will be resumed in a week or so. President Monroe yesterday issued a call for a session of Congress. When it meets, probably before the end of this month, it will decide whether the capital shall be transferred to another city.

To make things harder for the

the animals may go mad

There are dozens of "unsung who came back from vacation and went to work like men;

the marine lieutenant who broke three ribs but stayed on the job and said nothing about it.

Even the natives who never ward now to the arrival of Guillermo of them call him—or Will Rogers

Matches Placed In Indian's Grave As Part Of Ceremony

MIAMI, Apr. 8.—(AP)—Three matches were placed among the personal effects buried yesterday with Tony Tommy, Seminole Indian, as a touch of tribal custom attended his funeral at the Dania Indian reservation north of here.

Mrs. E. L. Lasher of the Musatla Indian village here, explained that the matches symbolized a means for Tony Tommy to light his way to the happy hunting ground. The said embers from the fire were cast into the grave in funeral service, carried out strictly under tribal rites.

The services were conducted by the Rev. U. R. Stevens of the Dania Methodist church. Relations of Tony Tommy placed his efforts in the grave at the conclusion of the services and Ben Tommy, a brother, placed the matches among them.

Tony Tommy died in a Miami hospital Monday night, after a long illness. He was given the complimentary title of chief because he was educated in the elementary schools at Fort Lauderdale and became the principal contact between the Seminoles and the white residents of this

The Chamber of Commerce

The public work of any civic organization or individual is always apt to go unnoticed. People are usually so absorbed in their own affairs that they do not notice the community to assist much in the general development of the community and whether do they take the time and trouble to notice what particular organizations and officials of the community of citizens are doing. We can believe that it is entirely so in the case of the present members of the Chamber of Commerce, for much of their work has been so outstanding in progressive characteristics as to no doubt escape the shadow of popular indifference. Nevertheless, a brief consideration of their numerous undertakings and achievements should not be amiss at this time.

Readers of The Herald will find set forth in several columns in other parts of this issue President Faworth's annual report of the trade body's activities during the past year and should find this review highly interesting and illuminating, embracing as it does a score or more noteworthy accomplishments and commendable undertakings which, while they have not yet reached a successful conclusion, offer hope and encouragement of a proper final outcome. A year ago when the re-organization of the Chamber of Commerce was effected several "Doubting Thomases" predicted for it a noxious life of quiet dormitude, harmful in that it would cost money, quiet in that it would see no worthy goal attained.

But despite the unfair handicap of depleted resources, restricted income, and previous debts, the Chamber of Commerce has carried on as vigorously, as hopefully, and as successfully as if it were ably entrenched financially and floating on the waves of prosperity. Most noteworthy of the features not overlooked by the trade body, but often ignored by the public, has been the entertainment it has provided for visiting delegations and celebrities. Such visitors as Ruth Bryan Owen, General Sumner, the Indiana farmers, and the Waterways committee of the state chamber of commerce, deserve, and have received, special consideration by members of the trade body.

Another feature, which has not been neglected, has been the matter of advertising. This very necessary item of public development is expensive, and when funds are low, is difficult. Nevertheless, the Chamber has succeeded in devising numerous ingenious methods of advertising which have been made possible in spite of the depleted pocketbook. Such things as sending by airplane a crate of candy to Mayor Walker, making sound pictures of the workers in Sanford's candy fields, Sam Highleyman's postcards, and the numerous highway signs which the Chamber has placed, all serve their purpose in putting Sanford on the map.

Most commendable of all, however, has been the Chamber of Commerce's work in behalf of the lakefront boulevard and the bridge across the St. Johns River at Monroe. Only the everlasting hammering away at the State Road Department could have resulted in the inclusion of this project in this year's budget. With this an assured fact, it is only a matter of days before the actual work will begin. Efforts in behalf of the Veterans Home are no less praiseworthy, and will we hope soon result in another announcement that Sanford, and the Chamber of Commerce, have triumphed again.

Our citizens have every reason to be proud of the Chamber of Commerce and the work it has accomplished, and of the men who compose its personnel and officers. They are entitled to the full support of all our merchants and our people and we hope that nothing may happen to dampen the ardor or hamper the enterprising spirit of this thoroughly worthwhile civic organization.

A Sane Policy

Governor Carlton's message to the Legislature is in general a recapitulation of various tax reports which have already been rendered and published in this newspaper and other newspapers of the state. Logically he confined most of his remarks to the tax situation, to the debts of the various governmental entities which make up the state of Florida and to the cost of operating these various subdivisions as well as the state itself. He, like practically everyone else, favors tax reduction, curtailment of operating expenses so far as compatible with orderly operation of the government, maintenance of Florida's credit structure, and equalization of taxes.

We commend the Governor for his positive stand against the sales tax. There is no equivocation in his very definite admonition against the passage of any law pertaining to this form of taxation. The sales tax, as he says, ignores the ability of the person taxed to pay, and worse than that would be so expensive to collect that there would be little left for the state treasury after the collecting agencies had been paid. There are too many simple and effectual ways of raising public monies to make it advisable to resort to the most complicated and troublesome of all.

The Governor will undoubtedly incur the animosity of some because of his recommendation that certain judicial circuits be consolidated with others, as well as from his rather surprising suggestion that school boards and county boards of commissioners be combined. While we have no doubt that this can be done in some instances with some saving to the public and without decreasing efficiency, we think that the office of tax assessor and tax collector could be more effectively joined, or to put it another way, the office of city tax collector with county tax collector.

Congressional bills, from any part of the country, were not mentioned in the Governor's remarks. We do not know whether this is because the bills did not have sufficient interest in their favor to merit attention, or whether the Governor did not consider them important enough to warrant their mention.

It is to be hoped that the Governor's remarks will receive the attention they deserve. If they do, the people of Florida will be better off for it.

NEW YORK, April 15.—The day when New York City became a city of the dead, through irresistible forces, was a day that resembled the horrors of the Texas stars, they said, and that hideous show were a sight to see.

The Burlesco scenes, the very malignant creatures, irresistibly charming what with their bold teeth and personal seductiveness, were unknown among us, nor had stage degenerates been so mere terror than the Humboldt current does for a healthy whale. In the course of their intricate evolutions, before the footlights, it is true that they moved slowly, even cautiously, for not grow to size, but the girl had to supply her own light.

On the other hand the comedians, the burlesque artists, red or green noses, comical expressions, whiskers and hairy traps. They went in largely for pantomime, but they thwacked each other at frequent intervals with double-bladed paddles, cleverly arranged so as to fire off a blank cartridge upon impact. The explosions made a merry and cheerful sound and could be heard even above the haw-haws of the audience and the cracking of peanut shells in the orchestra seats.

It is saddening to quit this purely bearish, sentimental and probably lying description of burlesque as enjoyed by the earliest adherents of William Jennings Bryan, free silver and the breaking of tin cans to prevent front foaming. But burlesque is not like that any more.

The one remaining state of burlesque in Times Square is the Republic Theatre. But even the outside reveals change. The operations are in what the management supposes to be madamistic angles; there is not a single life-sized lithograph of a girl in bloom; and signs states with unintentional caustic. "Mostly Pretty Girls." Inside, there are no peanut shells and no blank cartridges. It is doubtful if any member of the crew weighs more than 110. The "queens" weigh less. Gold teeth are tables. The comedians in dress and manner try to imitate Eddie Cantor. The girls have apparently been rejected by Earl Carroll, and the audience seems to be there solely because there was no convenient subway excavation to stare into. Only the name of the show gives any sign of life. It is "Mme. Axel from Greece." Aren't you laughing?

OUR OWN "Dew Tail" Department (if you don't believe it send a stamped, self-address envelope and see how you come out!) Percy Crosby, the creator of "Skippy," looks and acts like SKIPPY.

The late Fred G. Nixon-Nordlinger, who was riddled with bullets fired by his hysterical hailing beauty wife at his home on the Riviera, left for mourning on Broadway. Managers who had played his Philadelphia theatres disliked him because he was as close, or closer, than they in figuring the accounts of visiting attractions. And actors thought he was British because he turned out the lights in their dressing rooms at 11 P. M., whether they had the green point off or not.

Determined efforts are in progress to put pajamas on the street. That is, women's pajamas. The bedsheet garments have already appeared in theatre houses, but, evidently, as commemorative. The blooming things are of the same material as with that they were made, and will be sold at the same price. The first pajama house to open its doors is to be established in New York. And get a hold of it. How about getting pajamas in Miami? Well, we can't say that we can't, but we can't say that we can't.

AWAY WITH APPLES

MIAMI HERALD

Apple vendors, it appears, keep business away, not the doctor. They have become a racket, and Manhattan has ruled them off the streets in the midtown sections, beginning April 15. What started out as a great philanthropic move to help the unemployed has apparently developed into the typical "good thing" operated at the expense of legitimate business.

Apple selling on the street was inaugurated last October as a plan to relieve the idle, fruit being sold to the hawkers at cost.

THE WORLD'S AT YOUR DOOR

IMMORTALIZED in story and song, the old "corner store" has passed along with the free potato on the kerosene cap, and the customers' access to the cracker-box. It was picturesque, but you never quite knew what you would find there. Half the time it was full of people who didn't know what they wanted. The other half, it was empty. It was more of a club than a store.

The Bible study was conducted by Mrs. E. W. Stiles while Mrs. Fred Myers had charge of the mission study. The meeting then adjourned for a social period when refreshments were served by the members to the following: Mrs. George Huff, Mrs. R. N. Nipper, Mrs. W. H. Hand, Mrs. Fred Myers, Mrs. L. B. Bragg, Mrs. J. L. Newman, Mrs. Theodore Stiles, Mrs. Hazel McMahon, Mrs. Hopkins and Miss Mary Goodale.

Mrs. Fred W. Williams plans to leave tomorrow for points in Georgia and North Carolina to visit friends for about a week. At the end of that time she will join her husband at Wilmington, N.C., for the summer months.

PARTY HINTS

Boys and girls will enjoy an "alphabet" party. Write the invitations on squares cut from buff colored correspondence cards. In one corner of each, paint a letter of the alphabet about three quarters of an inch high, and add a note asking the guest to come in a costume representing something suggested by the letter. Thus "B" might be Buster Brown, and "I" an Indian.

When the guests have arrived, pass slips of paper, and have them try to guess what letter each person represents. Collect the slips and give to three judges who have been selected. The others march single file before them and each in turn must tell who he is. Thus "ABC" book manner, thus "A" in Apache from "Paris We go."

The next person in line, must tell who he is and rhyme his description with that of the person in front of him. "B" is for boy who flakes all day."

The third person starts a new rhyme and so on.

Award prizes for the best rhymes and for the most original costumes.
