Positive Attitude

By REV. WILLIAM T. KEANE
All South Catholic Church

School is open again. The teachers are empty after the summer crowds and mothers breathe a daily sigh of relief as the children hustle off to the school bus and become someone else's responsibility for a few hours. Or do they?

All schools are really an extension to your home and they continue for your child the education that began the day he was born. Parents have the first rights in the education of their child and were his first teachers. The lessons he learned before entering school are lasting. Teachers try to complete that lesson, to form and mold the character and mind of the child entrusted to them. Being a parent is a difficult job. So is being a teacher. The interest parents take in the school is vital to those who teach your child. They need your friendly attitude and cooperation. It is your child they are teaching. Attitudes are not everything in school but without correct attitudes, learning and teaching are difficult. Parents who exemplify sound attitudes in their daily living are helping in no small way toward the educational welfare of their child.

Try to send your child to school with sound attitudes. He will naturally pick up many of your prejudices. Never express disapproval of the school or the teacher in your child's presence. If you are not happy with school's standards, your child should not be in that school. But if by your criticism, you undermine the authority of the teacher or the school to your child you render his education impossible. If you are favorably disposed and reflect a positive attitude toward education in your words and actions, you will have no problem of morale with your child. Teach him to value excellence of achievement but not being satisfied with mere passing grades. If he is capable of superior work, but do not expect too much from him. Try to see him as he really is, not as you would like him to be. Your child needs a reasonable amount of self-confidence and it is primarily from you that this must come. Try to see what is best in him and bring it out. He will get much more from school if you encourage him than if you demand of him what he is incapable of.

Teach him by word and example that there are standards of right and wrong, that there are principles to live by. Your child should be taught never to be guided by "what can get away with" but by what the majority does, not even by his own personal likes and dislikes.

Children should be trained to be loyal to each other, to their school, to their community, to their country and to their God. Children who do not hear constant criticism and fault-finding but live in a home where the highest type of loyalty prevails have given the foundation of true loyalty. What a child reveals in class is the expression of home training. Because parents are his primary teachers and because children learn what they live.

If a child lives with criticism, he learns to condemn.
If a child lives with hostility, he learns to fight.
If a child lives with fear, he learns to be apprehensive.
If a child lives with pity, he learns to feel sorry for himself.
If a child lives with jealousy, he learns to feel guilty.
If a child lives with encouragement, he learns to be confident.
If a child lives with tolerance, he learns to be patient.
If a child lives with acceptance, he learns to love.
If a child lives with approval, he learns to be himself.
If a child lives with recognition, he learns it is good to have a goal.
If a child lives with fairness, he learns what justice is.
If a child lives with honesty, he learns what truth is.
If a child lives with security, he learns to have faith in himself and those about him.
If a child lives with friendliness, he learns that the world is a nice place in which to live.

Packing away summer clothes and house furnishings in a dustproof container to keep clean.

Plan operations weeks, months, energy, and nerve. First list everything you want to store for the winter and provide suitable cartons, boxes or bags to put them in. Then check which items go in the washer, grouping loads so you can take a batch of laundry from the dryer or line and wrap them in proper storage containers.

Plastic boxes, bags, and "water sacks" (which can be used year after year) should be washed, inside and out with a sudsy cloth before being packed with clean things. If you use cartons, make sure they are in good condition and dusted.

Pick a clear day to launder and process summer blouses, blouses, and curtains. When dry, fold neatly and store them in plastic bags or sheeting, or wrap them in heavy paper and seal the edges with cellophane tape.

Machine-wash summer clothes.

Farm Front

By DOYLE CONNER
Commissioner of Agriculture

Florida farmers are beginning what promises to be an all-time record harvest of all crop and soybean.

The same is true nationwide, but there is special implication for Florida farmers and others throughout the Southeast where the crop exceed previous levels by very wide margins.

Large crops are always accompanied by relatively low prices at harvest time and farmers not prepared to store the bulk of their harvests may not only have to sell low, but with a fed crop last year, the same farmer may buy it back later at a substantially higher price.

Florida's corn crop is expected to total nearly 23 million bushels. This is half again as much as the crop last year, the third largest in the history of the state since 1909, and more than double the 1939-40 average.

While the soybean crop is smaller, it is even more extreme in its long-term rate of increase.

The out-turn of 2.7 million bushels expected this year is a substantial increase over the 1,900,000 bushels produced in 1952. Florida still falls short of producing the feed grain we use. Last year's relatively large production of corn was just about one-third of our total feed grain consumption. The big increase over last year's crop amounts to only about one-fourth of the feed grain we imported last year.

Some Florida farmers have been providing themselves with modern grain drying and storage facilities in the last few years. Nevertheless, a great many of us still lack the modern facilities to store and store properly the large crops of corn and soybeans.

Scale insects possess talents for "undercover" work that would surprise not only home owners but even some insect agents.

Often the presence of a scale insect infestation is not noticed because many scales are found primarily on the undersides of leaves on ornamentals.

Most scale insects attach themselves to their host plant soon after hatching, and rarely do the insects move from their feeding sites. Mealybugs, which are also in the scale insect family, remain mobile throughout life. Typically, scales appear as small specks with a waxy covering that may be powdery, cottony, or in a solid cover. They range in size from about 1/16 to 1/8 inch in diameter.

Scales feed by inserting a thin, sharp mouth part into the plant and sucking plant juices. Heavily infested plants appear unattractive and produce very little new growth. Some species infest only the foliage, others are found only on the branches, while others may attack both foliage and branches.

Scale insects can be one of the most important problems in the culture of the plant. On carnations, for example, the scale requires almost constant attention. The Florida red scale is especially found on carnations and hollies, and the Florida red scale can be a very serious pest of many ornamental plants.

Scale insects are much more difficult to control as they are very hardy, long lived, and have a very long life span. Frequent inspections should be made of ornamental plants and through spray application made when the scales are still in the young stages.

Dimethoate 25 - sold under the trade name of Cygon - is probably the most effective single pesticide for scale control.

Do not use Cygon on crops or buds or buds about to open. It is not safe for use on ornamentals in the late fall, late winter or on plants in bloom. Other materials including malathion and oil emulsions are commonly used for scale control. But oil emulsions can injure ornamental plants if they're applied during hot weather.

Combinations of malathion plus oil - or oil plus oil - have also been effective. Prepared mixtures of these are commercially available.

Future Farmer Sets Sights On Agri-Business

By MIKE GIBSON

John Wolfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. L.N. Wolfe, is an exceptional Future Farmer of the Seminole High Chapter of Future Farmers of America. John's supervised farming projects are far more advanced than his leadership participation of the club.

John's projects consist of hedges, beef cattle, and pasture. John maintains his projects during his free time and keeps records of gain and performance on each project.

John has three calves, four head of beef cows, and 1000 head of head cows, and 1000 acres of pasture for grazing purposes.

John was a member of the FFA for four years and is an excellent student in vocational agriculture classes. During this time he has served the club as a substitute officer for installations, chairman of many different committees, and ranch foreman of the chapter's store program.

John was also one of the members on the club's first most judging team in the history of SFHS. His main responsibility for last year was to initiate and coordinate the membership drive to fill out applications for many different foundation awards. This position is known as the contest chairman and is a time consuming project for a 17-year-old. He gave his daughter away on Sept. 3, 1957.

The gate arms at two busy Main Line crossings have been painted in the pattern of bright yellow and high-visibility red, in place of the black-and-white diagonal stripping used across the station.

No Mystery

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - Hugo Schmitt, in charge of the elephants for Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, said recently he is asked daily how he talks to an elephant. "It's no mystery language," he said as he was parading 17 elephants toward a circus tent. "We just say the elephant's name and a one-word command. 'Roma, come.' Schmitt holered. Roma came."

Pup (?) Causes Zany Accident

CREVE COEUR, Mo. (AP) - Three members of the Williams Zener family of Creve Coeur were injured during the Labor Day weekend in what might qualify as the year's unluckiest traffic accident—their bike collided with a puppy.

Zener said he and his wife were pedaling their tandem bike on a quiet street when the puppy dashed from between parked cars and overtook the bike. Mr. and Mrs. Zener and their 4-year-old daughter Sharon were treated at a nearby hospital.

Prospects Looking Good

The prospects for Sanford and Seminole County keep looking brighter and brighter with every passing day.

Take the last 90 days - it's strongly predicted for the Winn-Dixie complex - groundbreaking for a new movie house at Sanford Plaza.

A real first class renovation of John Burton's architectural offices in the Sanford Atlantic Bank Building to the tune of $40,000.

The Landmark Pico Building received a new lease on life thanks to Howard McNelly.

Start of construction of the new Zayre's department store at 436 and Hwy. 17-92.

This is just a smattering of what's been going on in this area.

What's ahead?

Of course, No. 1, the Marina complex opening Oct. 1.

A new courthouse in Sanford.

The Paulucci Building may get underway by January.

The Firestone facility has the leases all signed up and tearing down the old Paint Shop on Commercial will get underway by late fall.

The Sanford Atlantic Bank Building's continual faith in downtown Sanford within its $300,000 expansion program within the next 60 days.

Of course, the Port of Sanford construction.

With all these projects the Herald thinks we shouldn't have to take a back seat to any other county in the state.

Things Haven't Changed

The proverb, "There is never anything new under the sun," is strongly affirmed in a clipping found recently by the Herald's Oesterrover, Mrs. Clarence Snyder, of a sermon delivered by the late Rev. Billy Sunday, noted evangelist in New Castle, Pa., on Sept. 23, 1908.

Following excerpts from the sermon could as well be stated today:

"I have never aspired to but one public office and that was to be a member of the school board. The first thing I would do would be to raise the salaries of school teachers. The average woman school teacher gets only $47 per month and the average man teacher gets $53. The average daily wage in some states is 91 cents.

"The teachers go into the school in the fall with cheeks looking like roses and come out in the spring with cheeks like lilies. They bend over the nonentities that bear your name and try to put something else in their heads. We ought to pay them 12 months a year.

"The price of beef has gone up, the price of labor, but not the wages of the school teachers and it's a disgrace and an insult."

James Marlow Analysis Of The News

By JOHN CHAWWICH

For JAMES MARLOW, a member of the Washington (AP) - Many U.S. District Court judges not only have endorsed the House-passed entire bill but also supported amendments to make it tougher.

The Senate Judiciary Committee had copies of the bill sent to each of the 235 district courts, judges with a request for their comments and recommendations for improving it or making it more readily enforceable.

Two indicated they opposed the bill, and some replied it would be inappropriate to comment or took no position on the merits of the legislation. Several suggested it might be difficult to enforce.

Perhaps the most unusual reply was from Chief Judge Charles E. Wyanski Jr. of the U.S. District Court in Massachusetts. He wrote:

"My position with respect to this bill is identical with that of Judge Luther Bohannon of the Western District of Oklahoma suggested amending the bill to require that half for arrests caught inciting a riot be set in an amount 'to make sure he is accused be confined until such time as he is released from his house or to other place in the community.'

The bill would make one state the recommendation to delete from the House-passed bill of language saying that to incite to riot 'shall not mean the mere advocacy of ideas or the mere expression of belief.'

Judge Carl A. Weiman of the Southern District of Ohio said: "You are setting forth what might be a defense for a person accused of inciting to riot."

Similarly, Chief Judge James C. Connell of the Northern District of Ohio wrote:

"Judge Carl A. Weiman of the Southern District of California recommended the bill provide for life imprisonment or death if the defendant is a repeat offender and if his act results in an outside agent resulted in any one being killed."

This bill is identical with that of Judge Luther Bohannon of the Western District of Oklahoma suggested amending the bill to require that half for arrests caught inciting a riot be set in an amount 'to make sure he is accused be confined until such time as he is released from his house or to other place in the community.'

Bob Olson, a 197-pound senior, again holds the center position flanked by guards Dan Peterson, Rutenkroger and Dave Fulsome. Paul Nicholas also is expected at one of the guard posts.

Head Football Coach Ralph Stumpf said, "We're ready. The boys are anxious to get into action and have been looking sharp all week long."

Stumpf is undecided about his starting unit and added, "I'll probably not make a definite choice until just prior to the start of the game."

The JV's Head Mentor Owen McCarron was pleased with the addition of quarterback Harry Smith, who is capable of understanding the big bomb. "Smith just joined us from the varsity two days ago and will have to work with the boys on polishing his timing, but he will definitely bolster our passing game for us," added McCarron.

Lonborg 3 Hits Yanks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jim Lonborg, down about 20 pounds from his normal weight, says he's a little tired. The New York Yankees, down about 20 games from their normal position, are not impressed.

The Yankees shattered the virtual four-way tie at Detroit and Chicago late Thursday, fell half a game off the pace. Lonborg's victory over the Yankees, now nixed in ninth place 17 1/2 games off the pace at a time when they're usually running away with the flag, was all but a carbon copy of the one in New York on Aug. 29.

Sou-Sem Jr. High Schedules Open House Tuesday

North Orlando Firemen Get New Siren

By RAYMOND E. WARE
North Orlando Volunteer Fire Department has installed a new electronic siren at the fire house. It was reported at Tuesday's business meeting.

According to a new signaling system set up by Fire Chief Bob LaFollette, three blasts of the siren will be sounded for a fire, two for a meeting of the fire department, while one blast will signal all clear.

The department also plans to install a red blinking light on the fire house to let the firemen know the trucks have left for scene of the fire and that the firemen should follow. This will allow for faster and more efficient fire fighting.

It was mentioned that the department is in need of fire policemen to block off streets during an emergency. It was pointed out that vehicles have interfered with practice alarms in the past.

Volunteer Firemen's Association will hold its monthly meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday, in the space next to the North Orlando Super Market. Guest speaker will be William Phillips, County School Superintendent.

Mrs. Roberts Wins Honors In State Post

Mrs. W. V. Roberts has been named finance chairman of the Florida Parliamentarians Association. It was announced Tuesday.

Mrs. Roberts is the first woman ever appointed to the post from Seminole County. There are 700 to 800 members in the organization.

A meeting of the group will be held this weekend at the Cherry Plaza.

One-Man Show

Oil paintings of Mrs. Suzanne Highsmith are on display at the art corner of Senkari's for the month of September. Mrs. Highsmith has shown her paintings not only locally but also at art shows throughout Central Florida.

Green Town

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — When William Penn founded Philadelphia in 1682, he vowed it should be a green country town. So the city's Fairmount Park Commission recently launched a program to plant 700 trees along city streets.

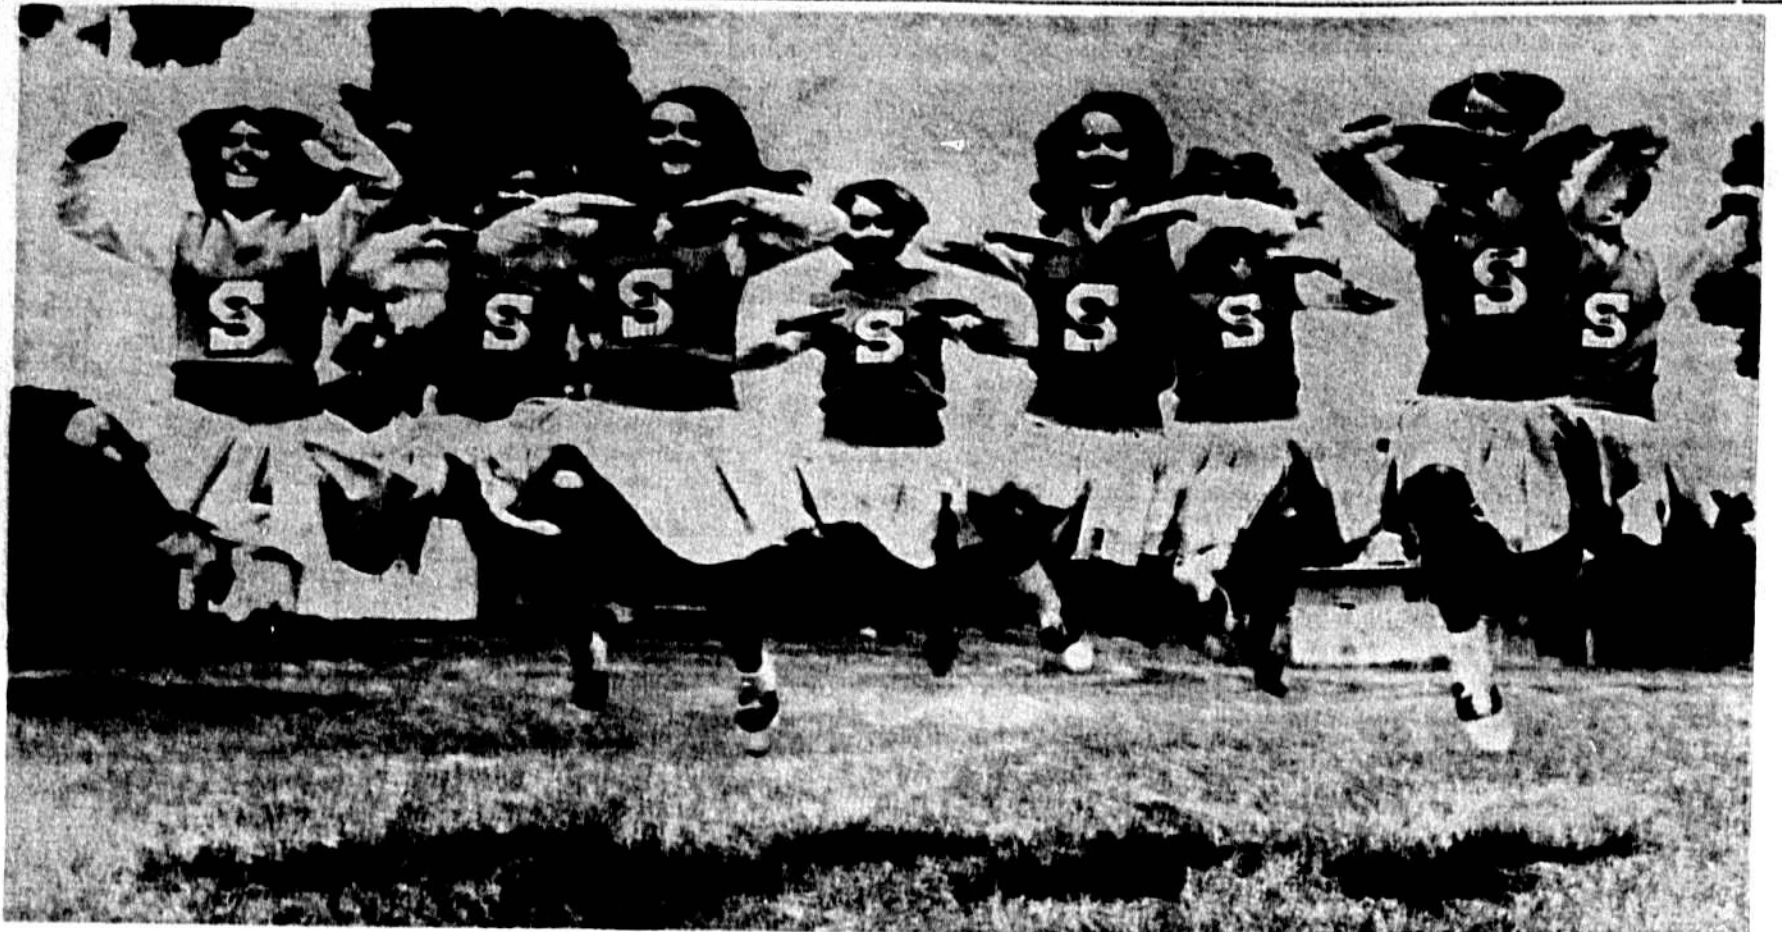

There will be a brief meeting in the auditorium presided over by Mrs. Robert Booth, president to give parents instructions on the visitation. Principal John Angel will introduce the teachers.

Each parent is asked to bring a copy of the child's schedule in order to get a capsule version of the school day and meet the teachers.

Membership chairman Marjorie Becker and her assistants will be on hand before the meeting to greet the parents and sign up members. Strong membership is needed to unite efforts in better education for our children, she said.

Other officers include Mrs. Norma, first vice president; John Angel, second vice president; Mrs. Thelma Knoebel, secretary; and Jack Williamson, treasurer.

Other committee heads are Mrs. Marian Landry, co-chairman membership; Mrs. Mollie Stoville, program; Mrs. Bonnie Werley, hospitality; Mrs. Vi Segrest, publicity; Mrs. Whitford Nicarty, devotional; Mrs. Jean Nunn, historian; Mrs. Millicent Pattishall, study groups; Lucas Grillo, legislative; Mrs. Eva Moore and Mrs. Mildred Coyte, yearbook; Mrs. Richard Brown, publication; and Mrs. Blanche Householder, room representatives.

Varsity cheerleaders at Seminole High School went through their paces and "kicked up their heels" this morning for Herald staff photographer Bill Vincent Jr. Note that Bill caught all the girls at the very top of their leap. That's called "split timing photography."

Space Lab Races To Analyze Soil On The Moon

CAPE KENNEDY (AP) — Riding into space on the most accurate moon rocket ever launched by the United States, Surveyor 2 raced today toward a lunar soft landing with a camera and a small chemistry lab to analyze the soil.

The mooncraft launching before dawn today climaxed a spectacular space doubleheader that started last night with the orbiting of millions of "astro-bugs" and plants in a biomedical laboratory named Biosatellite 2.

Spider-shaped Surveyor 2 started its intended 65-hour, 221,675-mile lunar journey that blasted away from Cape Kennedy at 5:57 a.m.

Several hours later, the Flight Control Center at Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif., reported the craft was on a near-perfect course that was only 37 miles off its target point in the Sea of Tranquility.

That's the most accurate shooting in 27 American moon landings.

"We're on a real good course that will require only a small mid-course motor correction to hit the aiming point," a project official said. He added that all systems aboard the craft were working well.

The moon vehicle is to settle gently onto the moon's surface Sunday night to investigate a potential astronaut landing site with a camera and a miniature chemistry lab that may, for the first time, tell scientists what elements are present in the lunar soil.

The planned touchdown area is in the Sea of Tranquility 21 miles from the Crater Moltke.

The two-shot spectacular started at 6:04 p.m. Thursday when Biosatellite 2 and its cargo of more than 18 million insects, plants and bacteria rode a Delta rocket into an orbit about 200 miles above the earth.

During three days in space, the specimens are to grow, reproduce and eat to determine how biological processes are affected by space weightlessness and radiation.

The strange passenger list included parasitic wasps, vinegar gnats, four beetles, pepper plants, wheat seedlings, frog eggs, amoeba and bacteria.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported some difficulty in sending radio commands to the Biosatellite. Officials said they were over-correcting the problem by repeatedly transmitting each command until it is accepted by the payload.

The Biosatellite launching was delayed more than three hours by technical difficulties, including the late discovery that a switch-part of the parachute deployment systems had been installed backward.

The wrong installation resulted because the biosatellite for the Biosatellite last December, ruining the flight.

About 9 p.m., Surveyor 2 is to ignite its braking rocket for the touchdown on the moon. All contact with Surveyor 4 and Biosatellite 1 payloads failed.

About 3 p.m. (EDT) Biosatellite 2 is to fire its retro-rocket and re-enter the atmosphere over the Pacific Ocean near Hawaii. An Air Force plane will attempt to snag the parachute as the payload descends. The retro-rocket failed on the first Biosatellite last December, ruining the flight.

Both missions are to reach critical stages a few hours apart on Sunday. These are points at which the earlier Surveyor 4 and Biosatellite 1 payloads failed.

Teacher Unrest Widens, Baltimore Threatened

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Unrest in the ranks of the nation's teachers widened today as the Baltimore school system was threatened with a strike. Detroit teachers remained out and New York City schools were for a threatened mass resignation Monday.

More than 600,000 youngsters were already enjoying extended summer vacations in Michigan, Broward County, Fla., and McCracken County, Ky. Strikes in Baltimore and New York City schools were for a threatened mass resignation Monday.

A strike could occur before the end of next week after negotiations with school officials broke down Thursday over bargaining procedures and non-teaching duties.

The union representing 8,000 teachers said classes would open Monday as scheduled but warned that the city's more than 140,000 pupils might be back out in the parks and playgrounds before the end of the school year.

In Michigan, pickets continued to march in many of the 30 school districts where contracts are yet to be signed. Nearly half a million youngsters in 17 districts—including 200,000 in Detroit—remained locked out of their classrooms.

Both teachers and school officials awaiting a state court of appeals hearing Saturday on whether circuit courts can grant injunctions to force teachers without contracts back into the schools.

Progress Seen In Broward; Kirk Ducks Out On Issues

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The school board chairman and a spokesman for teachers reported progress Thursday night after a series of conferences aimed at getting 2,738 Broward County teachers to rescind their resignations and return to the classroom.

David Pierce, president of the Broward Classroom Teachers' Association and the man who handed in the resignations, said: "We have made progress."

Neither of the men would elaborate. Pierce said, "The situation is less hopeless than it was when I handed in the resignations."

During the day, both the board and representatives of the teachers' organization met with two men from the office of Floyd Christian, state school superintendent, and talked about the county school budget.

The Board of Education's final offer must be put to a general membership meeting for approval. The meeting is set for Monday at 8 p.m. at the county school building.

Christian Fires Back At Governor's Charge

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — State School Supt. Floyd Christian fired back at Republican Gov. Claude Kirk again in the broadest educational situation—but Kirk wasn't around to hear.

The governor and his wife, Erica, winged toward Germany for a two-week "Honeymoon" Thursday.

"I intend to carry out my legal responsibilities, but I want to make it clear that I consider this present crisis the responsibility of the governor, in his failure to provide funds to meet our educational needs and to keep promises made by him in his campaign speeches," he said.

Christian said he would address his conferences on education. "I think it's going to be probably the most dynamic of all Republican governor's conferences," Kirk said.

Education Meet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Education Association will have a Christian Education Meeting at 7 p.m. Sunday at the church.

Immediately following at 7:30 there will be a meeting of the church's official board. Rev. Don Reynolds, minister, urges all members of both groups to be present.

Sanctions imposed on Florida by the National Education Association are not the principal cause for the difficulty in getting properly prepared teachers in the classrooms of Seminole County, Gov. Kirk's long-range plan for improving Florida's education is basically sound but the school problem is at hand and should be met with a hard-headed re-appraisal of the tax structure. These are two of the current controversial education issues which were discussed by William Phillips at the weekly meeting of the San-Lita, DelRay, Elida Breaux, Charles Kelsey, Delmar Ruby Hackett, Enterprise; Virginia Bushor, Longwood; Pearl Boardman, Oviedo.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schultz, Sanford, a girl; Mr. and Mrs. William Beck, Sanford, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Swindle, Sanford, a boy; Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hackett, Enterprise, a boy.

'Beulah' Elbows Through Islands

MIAMI (AP)—Tropical Storm Beulah—still a gentle lady—elbowed slowly toward Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands today, driving rains on some islands of the Lesser Antilles.

Highest winds in the heart of the season's second Atlantic tropical storm were 50 miles per hour. Gale force winds (above 39 m.p.h.) extended about 75 miles in all directions.

At 8 a.m. (EDT) today Beulah was located in the Eastern Caribbean near Guadeloupe, latitude 14.8 North, longitude 62.0 West, about 60 miles west of Martinique, French Antilles. Her position was about 400 miles southeast of San Juan and 1,400 miles east-southeast of Miami.

Beulah's course was forecast at 8 m.p.h. to the northwest.

Small boats in the Leeward Islands and Northern Windward Islands were warned to stay in port.

Residents of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Northern Leeward Islands were urged by the Weather Bureau to keep in touch with later advisories.

Reconnaissance aircraft were to fly through the storm early Friday for a more definite indication of its future course.

The first Atlantic storm, Arlene, formed Aug. 30, grew into a hurricane and died Sept. 4 in the chilly North Atlantic without hitting any land area.

Deserted Baby Still Survives

Police sought the identity of the person who left the baby, tagged "John Doe" by the hospital, in the bushes. Officials said they followed up on lead but that it led nowhere.

take over a year's allocation for books," Harp said.

The school has a quite comprehensive library, however, with 4,000 books on hand, exceeding by 700 volumes the numbers needed for accreditation.

Harp pointed out the carpet samples used for siting mats in the library which he and the teachers have acquired through catalog companies at no expense to the school. "We then use the money we save, through not having to purchase mats, for additional library books," he said.

Expenditures for 11 books last year at the school were $1,280.76 while $115.24 was spent for newspapers and magazines.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a young man with a small child. My husband, I'll call him Arthur, is still in the university, and I work part time to help support us. We have very little money and seldom go out. We have friends in occasionally and find time to have fun together, but here is the problem: A friend of Arthur's is getting married soon and Arthur mentioned that he would like to go to a stag for this friend. I told him if he went out I would not sit at home alone, but would also go out and have a good time somewhere. Arthur objected to this. I say, in the first place a married man has no business going to a stag. Besides that, I don't like to stay home alone. I get depressed and miserable and sit and look at the clock. Am I wrong?

DEAR ABBY: For some years now I have been wondering whether happened to the good old-fashioned fast fight between two youngsters when they had a difference of opinion? Nowadays, it seems that the acceptable method of settling a difference consists of numerous rounds of a wrestling game administered not by one fellow, but by three or four opponents — or a whole gang against one.

The name, "wonder bid," has been applied rather liberally to the set of weak bids so popular today among our leading players. The modern expert uses weak two and weak jump overalls as a matter of course. Any other weak bid is used as a matter of his style and there are plenty to choose from. We use some weak bids ourselves but have never been so completely sold on them as to believe that they are inevitably better. Riffishly used, most of them give their users an advantage. Unskillfully used, they are likely to lie back at you. One, "wonder bid," is the Michaels one bid. Invented by the late Mike Michaels, it is usually used over minor suits and shows both majors. It may be strong, but it also may be quite weak. South was using this bid for the first time and deduced that South could have a pretty good hand but West might be on lead with the ace and king of diamonds. But North did know he had a mighty good hand for his Michaels cue bid and that he would not be able to make the best of things. He won East's jack of hearts with the queen and promptly led a spade. West's jack fell to dummy's queen and South breathed easier. When both opponents followed to the ace of hearts it was just a matter of mopping up. South played a heart to his ten and led a second spade. West dropped the king and South wound up with six spades, five trumps and the ace of clubs.

We The Women: By Betty Canary

I have been listening to our local "new sound" radio station. The reason is not because I cannot do without the guitars, but because I have to keep up on the serial about Chicken Man. The White-Winged Warrior. Anyway, I happened to hear one of the latest hits, where the boy is blasting about how he is going to love this girl forever. He is, although these are not the exact lyrics, going to let those people work and chase the dollar and spend time in the rat race, but for his career, it is going to be a life-time of loving, loving, loving her. I didn't even care about the White-Winged Warrior. I snapped off the radio and thought about that poor girl who is blasting about how he is going to love this girl forever. He is, although these are not the exact lyrics, going

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try not to be too good to give helpful suggestions to good friends, so await a better time. Contact influential persons and plan to get backing from them. Master the way so that you can later have a good time with congenials.
