Ku Klux Klan Out, Tarred and Feathered Alleged Wife-Beater

The Ku Klux Klan, or what was supposed to be the Ku Klux, took a man named McCredie, out Thursday night and after giving him a coat of tar and feathers turned him loose with a warning to leave town. He had been in jail upon a warrant sworn out by his wife for assault and battery and was taken out of jail upon a cash warrant being put up for him. When he was liberated he was shanghaied and taken to the woods by the masked men and severely beaten and tarred and feathered. The next morning his case for assault was called and he was found guilty upon the testimony of his wife and was given 60 days or $100 fine. It seems that he had been living apart from his wife for some time but had forced her to go riding with him on the Sanford-Orlando road several weeks ago and it was on this ride that he beat her and she signalled to a passing car to get her help which was immediately given by the sheriff's office and the arrest of the husband followed.

JAMES NEILL OF "SATURDAY NIGHT" CAST HAS IDEA

James Neill, who with his wife, Edythe Chapman, appears in Cecil B. DeMille's latest Paramount picture, "Saturday Night," which will be the feature at the Star Theatre Friday and Saturday nights, once asked a young and ambitious actor who Edwin Booth was and was surprised to learn—from the youthful actor—that Booth was an oyster packer operating in Baltimore! The actor was certain of this because he had seen the name on an oyster container!

"All of which points out the crying need a famous course of historical training for young actors," said Mr. Neill. "There is no one institution of authority to which an actor can turn for information and for the atmosphere that he must acquire if he hopes to succeed. Of course, there are good dramatic schools. But they teach only such fundamentals as elocution and grace of movement. It is a pity there cannot be a school where actors can learn not only these things, but the no less important history of the English speaking stage, with its glories and traditions."

FORMER TREASURER HELD ON RAIL FOR DENTAL ROBBERY

He told the police today he stole the money to make his mother happy.

COX ATTACKS POLICIES OF REPUBLICANS

(By The Associated Press)
COLUMBIA, S. C., March 10.—"The failure of our government to engage in the Genoa economic conference is but another evidence of the administration's failure to grasp the essential facts of the world-wide depression," said former Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, here last night. "It will set things back more than any development in the last two years," he continued. "Our domestic business will not show much improvement until conditions get better in Europe. They will improve there with the exchange of ideas on reformed budgets and kindred subjects."

"A considerable part of the European burden is the debt to America. There is sincere doubt expressed as to whether some countries can pay. Certainly an indifferent attitude on the part of our government will carry much discouragement. The cable advices from Europe tell us of the depressing effect that has come from our retarded policy of a hermit nation. In private affairs such conduct on the part of a great creditor would lead to certain resentment and in the present instance that same feeling will exist whether it is articulated or not."

"The conference was called to consider international economic and financial matters. Secretary Hughes, whether intentionally or not, has nevertheless challenged the faith of European nations by the cold announcement that the conference will be of a political character. Telling him at his word, the country will be interested in the philosophy which makes virtue out of a political association with the yellow people of the orient, and vice out of any political relationship with the white people of Europe. But that is quite another matter."

"Our people are chiefly concerned now about their return to employment. They have endured a sufficiency of unhappiness from the terror of isolation. They recognize the fundamental need of an outlet for our markets, if our shops are to prosper. They also know that Europe cannot buy without credit and no worth while credit is possible without international co-operation. We possess the potential possibilities for a better economic day, because we have the preponderance of gold supply. If we can help beside our moneybags, however, unmoved by the distress we easily could help to relieve, there will descend upon us the accumulated hate of generations."

HOME OF D. C. ROBB DESTROYED BY FIRE

The home of D. C. Robb on Fourth street and Bay avenue, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon being a total loss. The flames had made rapid headway having caught from the grass that was burning near the home and Mrs. Robb being at the home of her daughter nearby, did not see the grass burning until it had caught the house. The department was summoned but as there are no fire plugs in this part of the city nothing could be done except to keep the flames confined to the one house as much as possible. On account of the rapid spread of the fire very little could be saved from the home and the loss falls heavy upon Mr. and Mrs. Robb, all their furnishings and a magnificent library being destroyed. They have the sympathy of their many friends in their loss—a loss that swept away the accumulations of a life time and many articles that can never be replaced.

FOUR POWER TREATY WAS ANOTHER ALLIANCE SAYS DEMOCRATIC SENATORS

Charge England and Japan With Framing Up on the Rest

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 10.—Charging that the four power Pacific treaty resulted from a Japanese-British plan to offset the embarrassing effect of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, opponents of the pact sought without success in the senate yesterday to learn exactly by whom the original draft of the document was prepared.

Both of the senate's representatives on the arms conference delegation, Senators Lodge of Massachusetts and Underwood of Alabama, declared in reply to direct questions that the delegation head Secretary Hughes, had conducted most of the negotiations leading up to the treaty. Mr. Lodge said "many hands" had helped in the drafting and redrafting, and that he did not know who made the first suggestion. Mr. Underwood asserted that the first draft he saw was the final one, laid before him by Secretary Hughes.

The statements of the two senate leaders were made in reply to a series of questions by Senator Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, who told the senate when the cross-questioning was over that although "we don't know and will never find out from any authentic source who wrote the first draft," he was inclined to believe that the finished product resulted from the joint labors of Arthur J. Balfour for Great Britain and Prince Tokugawa, for Japan. He assailed the treaty as an "alliance" and predicted it would do more harm than good.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL NEXT IN MUSCLE SHOALS

CHAIRMAN NORRIS IS PREPARING TO SUBMIT PROPOSITION

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 10.—Chairman Norris, of the senate agriculture committee, announced today in the senate he was preparing for submission to his committee a bill creating government owned corporation empowered to develop and operate Muscle Shoals Nitrate and Water Power Project. Norris said he was not prepared to say he favored governmental corporation as against acceptance from private interests to same end but believed such a proposition worth the senate's study.

Ninety-Three Persons Lost Lives in Florida Automobile Accidents

During the Year of 1921-22, According To Statistics.

(By The Associated Press)
JACKSONVILLE, March 10.—Ninety-three persons lost their lives in Florida during 1921, as the result of automobile accidents, according to the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Board of Health, which just completed compilation of mortality tables for the year. The total shows a decrease from 1920, during which year one hundred and seven deaths were attributed to automobile accidents.

MIAMI MAN ARRESTED FOR ALLEGED ROBBERY IN SALT LAKE CITY

(By The Associated Press)
MIAMI, March 10.—Acting Governor Hardee order, the Sheriff here today re-arrested J. D. Meyers, local real estate man who is wanted in Salt Lake City as Milton D. Joseph for an alleged robbery in 1914, of securities worth fifty thousand dollars from the Continental National Bank of that city.

Myers is now in jail pending a habeas corpus hearing which has been set for this afternoon. His attorneys claim the Governor exceeded his authority in ordering a re-arrest, asserting a man can be at liberty on bond until extradition papers are received here.

TALLAHASSEE, March 10.—Governor Hardee issued extradition papers for the removal of Myers to Utah late yesterday. A Utah officer left here this morning for Miami to take Myers to Salt Lake City.

OUTGROWTH OF THREATS

MUSIC INSPIRES AT THE REVIVAL, BOYDS ARE O. K.

ONE OF THE FEATURES OF THE METHODIST REVIVAL IS THE MUSIC

Last night the following conversation was overheard between two ladies who had tarried for a moment on the corner opposite the Methodist church to listen to the singing. "Who is playing for the meeting," asked one. "Mrs. Boyd, I believe," was the reply. "Oh, listen!" said the first as Mrs. Boyd began a hymn embellished with runs and grace notes; "Will you just listen to all the little doodads and fly-up-the-creeks she's adding to that hymn." Though not couched in strictly musical terms that expresses, nevertheless, the sort of music Mrs. Boyd furnishes. It is music plus—and the singing is great.

The special service for women, last night brought out a large congregation with women as numerous as sandflies in June. They over-ran the church.

Dr. Walker preached a strong and stirring sermon on the text: "Beloved, the day's come, saith the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the words of the Lord."

This was Dr. Walker's first sermon in this series of meetings to the unconverted, "As the Jew rejected Jesus and lives, heart-hungry and unsatisfied, so the individual who forgets Him hunger, while all about is the bread of life which will feed the soul."

The morning service was shortened in order to allow Dr. Walker and Mr. Boyd to attend chapel exercises at the high and grammar schools.

The morning lesson was taken from the first chapter of Acts. It was hardly a sermon Dr. Walker delivered. Rather a kindly and intimate talk with his people upon self-preparation for a revival, stressing personal responsibility for the unsaved.

There will be a special service tonight for the young people of the church and of Sanford. A special invitation is extended to all from Mr. Boyd's age down.

Come to the meeting.

NEILL A REEL BUTLER!

Actor in "Saturday Night" Shows Him With a Toupee!

A butler with a toupee and without a bowl!

That's the unique character James Neill presents in Cecil B. DeMille's new Paramount picture, "Saturday Night," which will be shown at the Star Theatre today and tomorrow.

"For some reason unknown," says Mr. Neill, "screen butlers from time immemorial have been bald and have possessed Chesterfieldian bows which they worked overtime."

"Few real butlers are bald. Still fewer insist on bowing on the slightest provocation. They are courteous but not servile."

The cast also includes Lentrica Joy, Edith Roberts, Conrad Nagel, Jack Mower, Edythe Chapman (Mrs. Neill), Theodore Roberts, Sylvia Ashton, Julia Faye, John Davidson and others.

NATION WIDE COAL STRIKE IS AGITATED

GOVERNMENT APPEALS FOR MINERS AND OPERATORS TO MEET

(By The Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, March 10.—Hope of the nation-wide coal strike being averted by the Government's appeal for the operators and miners meeting in the wage conference seemed vanished today among officials of the United Mine Works of America, account of the continued refusal of some operators to meet with the miners and negotiate. Union officials refrained, however, from any announcement on future plans.

That His Advice to the Banks Will Spoil the Chances for Loan

WILL HAVE DEBATE

Tomorrow and all Points Thrashed Out Then

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 10.—While announcement yesterday by Comptroller of the Currency Crisinger that, if the revised soldier bonus bill was passed, he would advise national banks not to accept adjusted compensation certificates as security for loans of former service men, created a stir among members of congress, leaders regarded it as unlikely that his stand would swerve a majority of the ways and means committee from their determination to report the measure to the house.

With opponents of the legislation conceding that the bill would have enough friends in the committee to reach the house with a recommendation that it be passed, speculation centered on the attitude of the currency comptroller, and its probable effect. There was considerable talk among members in the lobbies, most of the representatives taking the position that it would be best to proceed with the bill as drafted by Republicans on the ways and means committee, but members of the committee were reluctant to express their views.

Republican leaders, however, indicated there would be no change in the plans for consideration of the bill by the ways and means committee on Saturday with expectation that it will be reported at that time, and for a vote on the measure under suspension of rules a week from Monday.

Twice during the day the bonus question broke into the debate on the floor of the house—Representative Knight, Republican, Ohio, denounced the bill as "indefensible from either the economic or patriotic standpoint." Representative Luce, Republican, Massachusetts, protested against the plan to take the measure up under suspension of rules which would limit debate to forty minutes under ordinary procedure and would shut off amendments from the floor.

Mr. Luce declared it was proposed that the house after spending desultory debate on questions of little importance, devote only forty minutes to discussion of "one of the greatest questions this congress has had to deal with." He contended it would be not only to the best interests of the Republican party, but of the house, if time were afforded for members to discuss the bonus question "freely and fully."

Another development in the situation was the announcement by Representative Mills, Republican, of New York, selected as a member of the ways and means committee to succeed former Representative Houghton, resigned, that he was opposed to the bonus bill. He indicated that he would vote against a favorable report of the measure.

GREAT INTEREST IN REVIVALS HELD HERE

METHODIST CHURCH FILLED EVERY NIGHT WITH PEOPLE TO HEAR DR. WALKER

If numbers is an indication of interest—and it is—then interest in the revival meeting at the Methodist church is deepening. Last night witnessed a great service. A special invitation had been given the men's classes of the Sunday school to be present. The central block of pews was reserved for them. Man, as a unit, is not especially inspiring, but when, during the singing of the opening hymn, the Brotherhood and Scrap Iron members began pouring into the church and down the aisles, the sight thrilled like that of an army marching with banners—and they came, and came, and kept coming, until they overflowed the space allotted to them.

Dr. Walker took as a text: "Pay Thy Vows Unto Thy God." The lesson was drawn from that episode in the life of Joshua which tells of his being tricked into a league with the crafty Gibeonites, by their coming to him, dressed in rummage, representing themselves as being ambassadors of a far country. At the end of the third day their trick was exposed but Joshua, that man of God, kept with them, his vows.

Have we as a nation kept our vows, asked Dr. Walker. Witness our broken faith with the Indians. Our Chinese exclusion act, following the treaty of 1868; our ignoble part in the Columbia squabble.

Our divorce courts write an awful record of broken vows. Homes are wrecked by broken vows.

"It was said in this pulpit recently that the theory of evolution is a menace to Christianity, but I say to you," said Dr. Walker, "that the thing today, which threaten the church, is neither evolution nor agnosticism. It is the broken vows of her members. The enemies within her gates. Old Joshua could teach a great many of us men of Sanford something about keeping vows."

The service this morning marked a rising tide of spirituality in the membership of the church. A fine, large congregation was present. Dr. Walker gave a fine talk on Gideon's faithful few.

There will be a special service tonight to the women of the church, but men are admitted.

Mrs. Newberry will sing. Come to the meeting.

I. C. C. RULES RATES ON EMPTY FIELD CRATES IN STATE NOT UNREASONABLE

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 9.—(Special.)—The Interstate Commerce Commission, in a decision rendered yesterday in the case of the Florida Citrus Exchange against the director of railroads, held that charges collected during federal control on citrus fruits in field boxes, and on returned empty field boxes and on returned empty boxes moved intrastate in Florida, were found not unreasonable. The decision refers to the standard box prescribed by the Florida legislature in June, 1915, and also discussed rates on half size boxes, saying: "The desirability of a standard size field box is not disputed. The dimensions prescribed by the Florida legislature are not claimed to be unfair, nor are the rates per standard box alleged to have been unreasonable. The contention that the charges collected were unreasonable rests solely on the fact that the provisions of the tariff effective Oct. 23, 1918, operated to double the charges where the half size box was used. The mere fact that complainant was charged more for hauling a like quantity of fruit than were the users of the standard box does not entitle it to reparation. Such a result inevitably follows where rates are stated in amounts per package and the shipper chooses to use a package smaller than the standard prescribed by the tariff."

"We find that charges collected were not unreasonable. The complaint will be dismissed."

Chairman Fordney tells the meeting of the American Wholesale Lumber Association that the Bonus Bill is not a political plan. Telling the lumbermen such a romantic story is just like giving a wooden check.

"Haynes Thinks Drouth Will Soon Sweep Over Country" says headline in papers today. Yes, that's what he says. He will have a swell time putting it over with ten thousand islands in Florida alone to look after.

If there is anyone here who thinks golf is simply a child's game let them scan the papers for the names of the notables that are going to towns in Florida where there are golf links and passing them up where there are no links.

State's Attorney Joseph Jones will assist in the prosecution of the alleged "con men" at Ft. Lauderdale. Hon. Joe is probably getting ready to give the Orange county "con men" something new when they come before him in his own bailiwick.

Man just died in Maine who has been in the navy for 37 years. He ought to have six medals, his family have a million in insurance and a monument erected to his memory. Any man who could stay in the navy that long and like it deserves something nice even after he is dead.

Secretary Denby is being called upon to explain the sale of certain ships. He will be called upon to explain several peculiar circumstances surrounding the sale of ships and the reluctance with which the ship subsidy and the merchant marine business is put over by the Republican party. There are many peculiar things in connection with the American fleet of ships and the common people would like to know just where the African reposes in the splinters. Yes!

Good time to send Florida literature to California. With the freeze and now an earthquake shock it wouldn't take much persuasion to induce many people out there that Florida was the best state in the union bar none. We are not trading on the misfortunes of California but we are trading on the fortunes of Florida and we might just as well get up on our hind legs and tell the world about what we have and expect to have down here among the snakes and alligators that have been caricatured so much in certain quarters.

We hear rumors of new buildings that will soon replace the old shacks that are a disgrace to Sanford's business district. It may be true but we have heard so much about those mythical buildings that are soon to be built that we want to see them started before we believe it. However the City commissioners are responsible for the shacks standing where they are standing now. It is discrimination to make one man tear down his building and let the other men keep their building intact. Why and wherefore is it done, Mrj Commissioners?

Our President is in Florida playing golf and we want him to come over here to Sanford and inspect the new golf grounds that will be ready for him next fall. We want his picture taken on the beautiful golf grounds and Country Club and we want it taken with S. O. Chase and F. P. Forster, the men who made the golf club possible by their great work in getting members, getting the lands and putting it over. If President Harding says it is all right, all right.

Those so far named for gubernatorial honors are John W. Martin, Jacksonville; Charles B. Parkhill, Tampa; Harry Brown, Lakeland; Jefferson B. Browne, Tallahassee; Robert Holly, Sanford; Goode Guerry, Palatka, and Frank B. Shutts, Miami—Ocala Banner.

Thanks. First we knew of it. Will get in training at once.

California had another slight earthquake shock felt at Los Angeles but no damage done. We suppose this is simply a warning to the movie folks to move out and behave themselves in the future. Whole cities were wiped out in biblical times for doing less than the folks are doing or at least were doing at Hollywood.

Cyrus Curtis, the publisher of the Saturday Evening Post is spending a vacation in Tampa. If any of his subscribers in Sanford would like to tell him how to run the Post while he is in Florida this is their chance. It would also give the Herald a rest.

THE PRICE OF RECKLESSNESS

The general safety committee of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company has recently issued a striking and timely circular intended as a warning to automobile drivers who show such a reckless disregard for the safety of themselves and those in their cars that they jeopardize human life every hour of the day and night. A cartoon depicts the family car at a railway crossing with Death on the running board urging "Father" to "make it take a chance." An express train is approaching and it is easy to see that if the chance is taken it is all off with father, mother and the children. The startling statement is made that approximately seventeen thousand persons were killed or injured in the United States by railroad crossing accidents during the years 1917 to 1920 inclusive. The figures for 1921 have not yet been compiled but it is safe to say they, too, will be appalling. Ordinary caution exercised by motorists in approaching railroad crossings would be sufficient in most cases to prevent the waste of human life. The penalty for recklessness is so great that one would think that common sense would at least have an equal opportunity with the foolhardiness.—Lakeland Telegram.

SOUTH FLORIDA—A DOUBTFUL STATE

There is, and has been for several years, a strong demand among the people of this section of Florida for a separation politically from the people of the northern and western part of the state. The movement, if such it can be called, has had no regard for political lines, as defined by Democrats and Republicans, but has for its basic reasons matters financial and ethnological. In short, the people of South Florida are more progressive than those of the balance of the state; their crops are different, their business interests are in a great measure diverse, and their ambitions are very much more active than those of the older part of the state. We believe this will stand without question among those who have studied the course of the state division sentiment for the last few years.

It is openly admitted that the infusion of many new people from other states with their new and vigorous ideas mixing with the native people has produced a people almost entirely foreign to those sections where there has been no new blood mixing with the standpat elements which always are the distinguishing marks of a country where there is little or no immigration or moving about of the population. South Florida is determined to either secure her just representation among the legislators of this state or get out and start housekeeping of her own, and this, also, is a fact that there can be no gainsaying of.

UNCLE HANK

A young feller should never propose to his gal over th' telephone until he is sure he has th' right number.

One feature of this movement among the people of this part of the state has already begun to attract the student of state politics, and that this state of South Florida, or whatever it would be named, would be no rock-ribbed Democratic state, for aout 90 per cent. of the immigration that has come to RFlorida has settled in that part of our territory that would fall south of a line drawn across the state about the position of Ocala. The great bulk of this new population has been born and raised in the Republican political faith, and the last general election rolled up a Republican vote in different localities that almost took the breath out of the old-time Democrats of the state of Florida. Miami almost went Republican, Palm Beach County showed a Republican majority, and the whole east coast showed an astonishing Republican minority. Sebring had a Republican majority, St. Petersburg, Fort Meyers and many other cities and towns went Republican, and the vote all over the southern end of the peninsula revealed the fact that if the state should ever be divided, the Democrats would never have a cinch on the state government, but would have to fight for their political lives. This paper is Democratic, but if the negro could be eliminated from the contest, we would much rather see the elections decided on the merits of the parties than to see them go forever and forever to one party. We have lived in doubtful states and can give for an honest statement from a firm believer in good government that we like it much better than we do where it is hopelessly and helplessly in the hands of one party.

We have found Democrats who admit that the division of the state would put one more doubtful state in the list, but there has never been one yet we have talked to who didn't express himself as wishing there was more competition in the political arena in this state. Most of them rather see the state divided first and then fight out the political issues afterward.

It might be good politics for the Republican party to assist the division of Florida. Who knows?—Arcadia Enterprise.

FLORIDA GROWERS GREAT YEAR

The Herald has said time and again that the Florida growers of winter vegetables had nothing to fear this year if they would just use judgment and sense in packing and shipping their products. There are no vegetables in any other section of the country at this time and aside from Manatee county and Seminole county there is no celery. California froze out first and now Louisiana freezes out and it leaves Florida growers with the field in this line. The following from the Lakeland Telegram expresses our thoughts:

"Florida truck growers will know how to sympathize with their fellow growers in southern Louisiana, who suffered a loss estimated at not less than one million dollars in a freeze that swept down to the coast of the Gulf of Mexico last Friday night. Cucumbers, peas, beans and early corn suffered the most, while berries sustained a 65 per cent loss. As a result the market for Florida products instantly stiffened but Florida does not seek to profit by the misfortunes of others, always realizing that the same things might occur in sections of this state."

PUBLIC OPINION RULES.

You often hear people say they care nothing about the opinion of the public and yet when they say it they know that they do care and that unless they have the good-will of people and are all right according to the standards of public opinion they might just as well move out of the community and make a fresh start in another locality. We are guided by two things—our own conscience first and strange as it may sound by public opinion second nine times out of ten. The Jacksonville Metropolis sums it up as follows:

"There are many strange forces which exert influences in the routine of human relations, many of which are strikingly strange in origin and even more strange in action, but the strangest of all these forces is public opinion.

We know what public opinion is—it is the conclusion entertained by the majority, although the majority generally accepts the conclusion without giving serious consideration to the factors entering into it—but we do not know by what courses of reckoning public opinion reaches the zeniths of its power, or by what natural law it has its rights of conception and manifestation.

The expression is often heard, "He is a moulder of public opinion," and while there are circumstances under which public opinion can be aroused to greater fury, it is doubtful if it can ever be poured into a fixed mould by a single mind or by a group of minds. The really successful so-called moulder of public opinion is the student who can interpret the hand-writing on the wall and proclaim its significance. Propaganda is sometimes a stimulant to public opinion but seldom a food with abiding nourishment. This, of course, depends upon the nature of propoganda. However, the commonly accepted meaning of propoganda is intended here. In its real sense propoganda is anything that contains facts. But public opinion classes propoganda as something seeking to arouse it, therefore public opinion regards it through eyes of distrust.

Reputation is one of the foster-children of public opinion. The fool is an individual who snaps his fingers at public opinion and boasts, "I am the exception; I can beat it." The wheels of public opinion sometimes grind slowly but always effectively. There is no escape once the machinery is in motion.

The thought that public opinion is a law—a law established as solidly as the law of gravitation or the law of conservation of matter and energy—is interesting, for if this is true an explanation is possible, since it becomes axiomatic and is accepted for its effects without reference to its causes. Otherwise it is inexplicable."

They were all taken into Dr. Marshall's office and later the one injured the worse was taken to the hospital. She still lives. The others were taken home.

Roads Do Not Plan To Cut Rates Equal to Asked Wage Cuts

TO ASK BENEFITS OF PAST REDUCTIONS IN RATES

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Railroads began their final defense yesterday of existing levels of freight and passenger rates before the Interstate Commerce Commission when attorneys gave oral arguments which will conclude the hearings that have continued for several months. Henry Wolf Bikle of the Pennsylvania system; Fred H. Wood, general counsel of the Southern Pacific, and Frank Gwahmey for the Southern Railroad, insisted that neither on legal or economic grounds had the mass of testimony taken disclosed ground for the commission to make general reductions of rates.

The railroads gave way to their opponents just before the day's session concluded and Fred W. Putnam of the Minnesota Railroad Commission, speaking for all state regulatory bodies associated in the hearings, entered upon the preliminaries of an argument, which will be continued today. State commissions are asking first, he said, for passenger fare reductions on the ground they are too high for the traffic to bear, and that no portion of railroad charges, if reduced, "would be more quickly reflected in the actual cost to the ultimate consumer."

Commissioner Lewis interrupted Mr. Wood's argument yesterday to ask how railroads intended to proceed under "the promise of lower rates which they made to the country by the resolutions of their executives in instituting complaints before the railway labor board asking for further general reduction in wages."

"We propose to bring the reductions given with estimates of the amount of money they mean to railroads before the commission," Mr. Wood replied, "and the information you have gathered in this long proceeding we are now engaged in you can determine how the rate decreases should be apportioned."

"We want to get that correctly," Mr. Lewis resumed. "Is it the intention of the railroads to make all those wage reductions translatable in reduced freight rates?"

Mr. Wood replied that was the intention but after a conference with Alfred P. Thom, counsel for the railroad executives, he added that the roads would ask to be given "credit for reductions already made" in applying the amounts which they expected to receive.

New Car Out With Everything, Sells For $348

Looks Like It Will Revolutionize the Car Business in America

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 9.—Since W. C. Durant announced three weeks ago that he would produce a four-cylinder, five-passenger automobile to sell at $348, the country has awaited its showing, anticipating the possibility of something out of the ordinary in motor car production. The car is here. It was introduced to the public today in a Connecticut avenue showroom, with a complete line of Durant models as a background.

It is a conventional type automobile with recognized standard parts. From semi-elliptic springs to vacuum feed gasoline tank and electrical equipment, it is a type of motor car that confirms the early conjecture. It does not startle the industry.

Mr. Durant arrived here early this morning, coming with a party of friends and associates in a special Pullman which left New York last night, to be present at the new car's showing.

"The new product is to be known as the Starr car," said Mr. Durant. "It is to be manufactured by Durant Motors, Inc., under a contract with the Starr Motor Car Company, which will control the distribution of the car in the United States and its possessions."

The Starr car is powered with a Red Seal Continental motor. It has a disc clutch, selective sliding transmission with three speeds forward and reverse, Timken bearings front and rear, Timken rear axle, conventional hand brake bands, and full chassis of hand lever brake, internal and external type with Hotchkiss type driving shaft.

The "tubular backbone," an exclusive Durant feature, gives the chassis unusual rigidity and strength. The body is full five-passenger and its streamline design includes a high hood and slanting windshield. The Starr will be produced in all popular models.

Mr. Durant promised quantity production by June 1, but would not specify which, if any, of his five plants will be used in its manufacture.

GEORGIA RIVERS OVERFLOW

(By The Associated Press)

MACON, Ga., March 8.—Streams throughout middle Georgia are still out of their banks as a result of Monday night's rain fall of 6.37 inches. The Ocmulgee river here was 2.8 feet last night and the Oconee river at Milledgeville, registered thirty feet, a rise of 11.2 feet in the former and 20.4 feet in the latter since Monday. A further rise indicated from the upstream flood.

The Georgia railroad will not be able to operate a train between Macon and Milledgeville for two or three days, it was announced, because of washouts at Brown's bottom, where a trestle is gone and where fifty feet of roadbed washed out. Other damage is reported near Mogul.

The Southwestern division of the Central railroad of Georgia had a bad washout at Powerville, near here, which tied up late night traffic until 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Central of Georgia's Atlanta division was tied up for several hours by a landslide near the city limits.

Washouts on the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad tied up traffic until 11 o'clock yesterday.

All brick manufacturing plants below the city are inundated. Farther down stream, farmers report their crops washed away. There has been no loss of human life or livestock.

Bridges between here and Fort Valley and Perry have been washed out, and one span of a bridge on the road to Gray is gone.

Another fortunate for songs—an opera singer has married the widow and millions of the "coffee king."

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Miss Martha Coney, the pretty young daughter of Mrs. Virginia Coney, celebrated her seventh birthday anniversary yesterday afternoon with a lovely party at her home on Oak avenue.

Pink and white were the pretty colors used in decorating for this lovely party, quantities of pink astors combined with ferns were used.

Games of all kinds were played on the spacious lawn, until a late hour, when interesting contest, "Putting cherries in the pie" afforded much merriment among the young guests. Mirah Moyo and Frederick Daiger winning the prizes for this. After the contest the children were invited into the dining room, for refreshments. The refreshment table was centered with the birthday cake iced in pink and topped with seven tiny pink lighted tapers in rose holders. From the chandelier to the corners of the table were streamers of pink crepe paper, at the corner were fluffy pink bows. The refreshments of ice cream and cake carried out the dainty color motif.

Little Miss Coney was an ideal young hostess and received many beautiful gifts from her friends. She was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Virginia Coney, Mrs. P. M. Elder, Mrs. Ralph Goodspeed, Mrs. Allen Jones and Mrs. Claude Herndon. About thirty young guests enjoyed this happy occasion.

SANFORD'S TEMPERATURE

Looks like rain this afternoon and the weather sharks say it will rain and storm warnings are posted on the Atlantic Coast. We should worry about storms or anything else. Roscoe Arbuckle has brought earthquakes to California and the Ku Klux can continue to klux in Florida but our brand of real weather goes on just the same. Not even the prohibition enforcement can stop the sun from shining or the moon from shining or the shiner from the worm. They say the worm will turn and we believe it—we saw one turning the other day in the woods—making rheumatism medicine. But the weather—yes it's fine and all our peppers are planted.
