Antibiotics Can Control Acne

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB— I have "more than normal" problems with acne, and just plug and blotsheets but the deep kind that leaves scars on my face and back—over time the skin gets. Since then I have been using a dermatologist's care off and on.

I have been trying to take many drugs and medications that seem to help prevent acne but don't seem to help. I am not sure what you can do for me. Please help.

I am sorry that it is taking so long to get up with it for so long. I am 22, and even though my back is clear enough for scars, my face seems to be getting worse. It's not the place where my whole face is pitted, scarred and totally disfigured, but it doesn't improve me as being the right idea to let it go until it's too late. This is the reason I try to do something about it. I'd be grateful for any information.

DEAR DR. LAMB— I hope you can help convince my husband not to shave my daughter's head next summer. He is two, and has very fine hair. He is positive that shaving her head will make her hair grow thicker and coarser.

DEAR READER— This seems to be a common misconception. Each hair has a hair follicle tied to it. The hair is the hair like on the bathe being the follicle. The difference is that there is only one hair shaft.

Cutting off the shaft will not produce more follicles any more than cutting off the tops of onions will produce more onions.

All it does is leave the stable that feels coarse as stable always does. As the hair shaft grows out again, it will have the same characteristics. I suspect this will take care of your girl's hair.

Meanwhile, a well-balanced diet and normal life will do the most good for her.

NATION IN BRIEF

Muriel Humphrey May Decide This Weekend On Senate Seat

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Muriel Humphrey may decide as early as this weekend whether she wants to take the Senate seat of her husband, the late Sen. Hubert Humphrey, until next fall's general election.

Sen. Humphrey, 66, agreed Thursday to meet with Minnesota Gov. Rudy Perpich to discuss the issue. But she also relayed a message to the governor that her willingness to talk was not an expression of her thoughts on taking the job "one way or another."

Friends said the meeting had been discussed by the Humphrey family and some sources said Mrs. Humphrey seemed inclined to accept the Senate post.

Grain Explosion Kills 3

LIBERTY, Mo. (UPI) — A grain dust explosion at a feed mill Thursday night killed three persons, and critically injured six others.

Authorities said the explosion occurred at the Desert Gold Feed Co., in an area where grain was being loaded into trucks.

"There apparently was a substantial amount of dust and oxygen in the area, which caused the explosion," said Lt. Paul Stump of the Liberty Fire Department.

Escapee Goes On Wild Ride

NEW YORK (UPI) — A mental patient escaped from a Greenwich Village hospital, stole an ambulance with a blind patient inside and drove it wildly through the streets of New York before driving onto a sidewalk and seriously injuring an elderly pedestrian.

Police said the stolen ambulance finally was stopped by two brothers, who used their camper to force the escaped patient, Cesare Cane, 35, to a stop.

Rudd Gets Probation, Fine

By United Press International
Four "Days of Rage" in 1969 have earned former Weatherman militant Mark Rudd two years' probation and a $250 fine. The 30-year-old Rudd pleaded guilty in Chicago Thursday to aggravated battery for hitting two policemen during the rampage by the radical group. Rudd surfaced last September in New York after living underground for seven years. Cook County Judge John J. Moran said Rudd may serve his probation in New York where he was earlier freed of criminal trespass charges stemming from Columbia University upheaval in 1968.

Farmers Take Over Office

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Shouting members of a farm strike group briefly took over Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland's office Thursday night, angrily demanding a face-to-face meeting with the administration's farm chief.

Bergland was out of town, but aides said he would meet with a "representative delegation" of strike leaders today on Capitol Hill.

Strike leaders also planned a tractorcade through the capital city today.

Slipping, Sliding And Skidding

NEW YORK (UPI) — A driving snowstorm — the worst since the city was buried under 15 inches of snow in 1966 — blanketed the metropolitan area today, closing schools and airports and clogging highways with drifts. The National Weather Service said more than 11 inches of snow had fallen in midtown Manhattan and Long Island by 7 a.m., making travel by foot or by car an ordeal of slipping, sliding and skidding.

Mr. Begin's Indiscretion

In the vernacular of today's teenager, the Middle peace talks this week are a "downer."

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat has recalled his negotiating team from the foreign ministers' conference and the prospects for harmony and accord in the Middle East is not promising at this stage.

From all indications, Sadat's move was a direct result of a toast offered by Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin at a state dinner in Jerusalem Tuesday evening.

In essence, his comments compared a possible future, independent Palestinian state to Nazi Germany of the 1930s.

"We don't begrudge the right of the great Arab people to self-determination in an area that stretches from the Persian Gulf to the Mediterranean," Begin said.

"But, in our determination, self-determination was measured in Europe in the 1920s and the result was a disastrous compromise and withdrawal... let alone again the concept of self-determination by minority. Remember the late 1960s and the result of that minority."

Mr. Begin's remarks were at best indiscreet; at worst ill-timed and unfortunate. They are not the remarks of a diplomat, especially one on whom the world's spotlight has been focused.

The Israeli leader seems to have regressed to his former days as an underground leader and allowed his emotions to drown his reason.

The matter of a Palestinian homeland is a key subject in the negotiations between Egypt and Israel; indeed, the crux of all the discussions. From a resolution of that dilemma could very well come a fuller agreement on all aspects of the controversy in the Middle East.

That fact alone should have been reason enough for Mr. Begin not to even allude to the matter in public; let alone in the manner in which it was done.

A principal in an ongoing negotiation, particularly one as significant and historic as the Middle East talks, just does not use public forum to reveal his adversary in the negotiations.

So far, there is no definite indication of just what happens next. But the world is holding its breath that the groundwork that has been laid for peace in the Middle East has not been covered over by the foolish behavior of Mr. Begin.

President Carter, in his State of the Union message Thursday evening, pledged continued U.S. assistance in keeping momentum going with the talks. Toward that end, Secretary of State Cyrus Vance arrived in Cairo today to talk with Mr. Begin.

We wish him luck.

Mr. Begin has been trying to recoup his Tuesday indiscretion by explaining to the world some of the comments by the Egyptian representative that prompted them.

According to Begin, Foreign Minister Mohammed Kamel "just landed and told us we would have to give up Jerusalem. May I tell you, ladies and gentlemen, it was the most preposterous statement ever made by a guest."

Mr. Begin characterized the Kamel statement as "chutzpah"—commonly defined as "shameless and audacity or impudence."

That may be.

But we suggest that Mr. Begin's comments are not much better, nor do they contribute to peace in the volatile Middle East.

Reaganite Challenges Brock

WASHINGTON — Reagan's presentation to the Senate yesterday of his proposed budget for the 1980 fiscal year is no rosy exercise in "friendly competition."

The bid by George H.W. Bush, the new House majority leader, to match and perhaps surpass the first serious challenge to the president's budget by GOP Chairman Bill Brock.

It is a challenge that Brock and Crisp, his hand-picked nominees, must win if they are to continue their efforts to broaden both the base and the appeal of the Republican Party.

Both men have received a favorable response from House and Senate leaders, and the party's number two job would be great positive if the GOP is sincere about its current drive to open its doors to blacks.

Since Brock is the chief architect of the black recruitment effort, his determination to defeat Brock seems inconsistent on the surface.

But those are things that appear to be primary. To the first critical test of the new budget, the House and Senate versions of House Resolution 101 of the GOP convention and new norms on the board of his political action unit, Clinton for the Republic.

He was urged to challenge Crisp by a number of party conservatives, including Rep. George Miller, Rep. Neuberger, who are upset with Bush's efforts to dislodge Crisp's diehard ideological "cause." Like the Panama Canal in favor of a broad-based appeal to middle and working-class voters, who are job, taxes, living and other issues.

It is no coincidence that Brock's candidacy surfaced just as Brock and Neuberger had their first public quarrel over the GOP chairman's refusal to allocate $65,000 in funds to a conservative networking fund in opposition to the Panama Canal treaty.

Both men quickly pounced over their dispute, but Brock's actions left a sour taste with their supporters.

The right did not want to risk a direct challenge to Brock, as Crisp was selected as the top candidate for the House P.A.U. to be formed and met here Jan. 20 to elect its leaders for the coming year.

Crisp had already incurred the enmity of Neuberger and other true believers when he denounced the "partisan" of party conservatives in an interview last summer and warned that groups like Reagan's could drift away from political contributions from regular GOP organizations.

Brock bylines at the national committee are confident they can defeat. Thus, claiming he will get no more than one-third of the votes at the Jan. 20 meeting, GOP officials predict the group will withdraw from the race before the committee even convenes.

Carter Pleases Polish Regime, Rebels

WASHINGTON — Confidential cables from Warsaw report that President Carter's recent visit accomplished the diplomatic miracle of boosting both the Edward Gierek regime and the Polish dissidents at the same time.

Quoting Polish sources, the U.S. embassy reported that the president's visit probably "strengthened" First Secretary Gierek to the extent that no leadership changes are now likely.

But the embryo's sources were also quoted as saying the strengthening of Gierek's authority did not go far enough from under dissidents, making it more difficult for them to operate.

This fear apparently was not shared by the dissident themselves. Three more described in a confidential cable as "well known critics of the regime," told the embassy: "We are all thrilled with the president's visit. It gave us new inspiration. We know we are not alone. We don't expect the U.S. to do anything for us materially, but the president's support is immensely important to us."

The Carter visit, the communists report, has given the dissidents a "new lease on life" in their fight against the Polish authorities from the president's press conference. He offered written responses personally signed on each page, in questions on human rights from the dissident paper Opis.

His answers, though cautiously phrased, were held by diplomatic standards. In response to a question about the Helsinki human rights agreement, he said it would be "inappropriate for one country formally to demand that another fulfill obligations of that agreement." But he added: "It would be appropriate for one signatory of that agreement to call attention to the violations of others."

He also called for "periodic consultations" as the "best way to deal with the remaining obligations" and he determined that "dissidents involve not only political but must also be supported and encouraged by non-official individuals and groups."

In a cable from Warsaw, the embassy reported that the editor had telephoned to say he had received Carter's answer. "I am very proud," he told the embassy. "The president's recognition of a struggling dissident paper, and the editor, was 'a very high honor and a nice New Year's gift.'

Flyers' Problem: Canadiens -- 1-1

The Philadelphia Flyers have a serious problem — the Montreal Canadiens.

Montreal defeated the Flyers 3-2, streak against Philadelphia to 14 games. Toronto, Boston, New York, Detroit, and St. Louis' undefeated, good record the Canadiens a 1-1 tie with the Flyers in Philadelphia.

But, Montreal's record of three wins, two losses, and one tie over the last 10 games is not the reason. The Flyers' record is 14-14-1, 28 points, and the Canadiens' 1-1-1, 10 points.

Dryden said, "It's like a 16-game record every time we play. It's too to be the whole 10 minutes. These games are always great because you know you're going to be the best and the worst. The only thing is that it's a pain to play."

Dryden was asked if he was in the third period when the Flyers' 10-second string started three, which dates to Feb. 15, 1966 and includes 12 victories. But Dryden turned away 11 shots on goal, including hard drives by Nick MacLean and Bobby Clarke.

Forrest had to stop breakaways by Pierre Lachance, Jeanne Riendeau and Yves Courteau to preserve the tie.

In other NHL games, Boston beat Washington, 4-2; Buffalo beat Cleveland, 4-2; Detroit beat the Flyers, 4-1, in a high-scoring game. But, the Flyers' Philadelphia's Paul Henderson was called for interference on officials, who caused his 50th goal at 11:30 while Montreal had a man advantage.

"I went behind the net and used by the pens to get the puck out, not the Flyers saw my back," said Dryden. "I was waiting for them to catch me, but they were not there."

"The Coach" and company 8-1 late, the second period when Robert Picard scored on a screens, 50-foot shot.

Musical Coaches For Pro Bowl?

TAMPA (UPI) — The Tampa Bay football team Monday night is going to offer fans something a little out of the ordinary — players who have found themselves without coaches and a head coach no longer in the conference he is coaching.

Chris Koen is head coach of the National Football Conference team having been named to the NFL's Pro Bowl in NFC play last season. But after the season ended, Koen left the Bucs and signed on with the Buffalo Bills of the American Football Conference.

Head coach of the American Football League team is Ted Marchibroda, coach of the Bills.

The nationally televised game is scheduled for 7 p.m. (EST).

Husband's Fertility Can Be Increased

DEAR DR. LAMB — In one of your columns you described the effects of DES on male sterility. My husband is one such case. Although he is not sterile, he can still father a child in only 40% of cases. We would like to know if DES can be reversed? If so, how? Thank you for your time.

Dr. Lamb

We would appreciate your advice concerning this matter.

DEAR DR. LAMB — DES (diethylstilbestrol) is a synthetic oestrogenic drug used to treat endometriosis and it was once widely used to prevent miscarriages in women who had histories of miscarriages or a threatened abortion. The drug was believed to act on the ovaries to stimulate DES. As I mentioned in my earlier column there is evidence that it may also have affected men by affecting sexual development and more often affecting sperm production. It is certainly true that low sperm counts and infertility can result in a man whom neither took DES to preserve his fertility.

However, that does not prove that it caused your husband's low sperm count. There are lots of men who have low sperm counts whose mothers never took DES during pregnancy. The normal count is 60 to 80 million sperm cells per milliliter (there are about 2.5 million per teaspoon).

There are other factors that can cause a reduced count to involve a man's fertility which may help in your husband's case. It is important to have an evaluation to be sure there are no hormonal deficiencies that can be corrected. Some men have higher counts when they are on thyroid medication. There are some medications taken in the fertility pill that women use, but you won't get a good answer without a good personal study.

the same hormones from the pituitary gland that stimulate the ovary in the man. Using this principle, the fertility pills were tried and found to work in our case.

Another treatment that has been used in men is the use of pastes containing DES. A large number of pastes containing DES can be collected in several specimens and artificial insemination used but that is cumbersome and expensive and some people object to artificial insemination on moral grounds. I believe the Vatican has come out against artificial insemination for any reason, even when the donor is a relative.

It is possible to increase the number of sperm cells in a man by injecting DES directly into the testes. This has been done in some men with success.
