

'Women Of Glamour' Rich In Wit, Drama And Surprise Scenes

A superbly enacted comedy drama, rich in romance, pathos and emotional power, comes to the Ritz Theater Tuesday with its straightforward, daring tale of a love that defied the conventions of a society too smug to be realistic. The film is Columbia's "Women of Glamour," written by Lynn Starling and Mary C. McCall Jr., with Virginia Bruce and Melvyn Douglas in the leading roles. Supporting the stars is a large cast including Reginald Denny, Leona Maricle, Thurston Hall, Pert Kelton and Miki Morita.

Taking a serious theme, and infusing it with bright flashes of tender romance and sharp-witted comedy, Director Gordon Wiles has painted a screen picture that approaches entertainment perfection.

Melvyn Douglas, sterling actor whose flair for the modern touch was so well illustrated in "She Married Her Boss" and "Theodora Goes Wild," comes through with another perfect performance.

Betty Furness Is Tops In Comedy At Ritz Next Friday

Hilarious comedy played against a background of a newspaper cameraman's adventures forms the theme of "They Wanted to Marry," which comes to the Ritz Theater screen next Friday.

The picture deals with the dizzy love-affair between a news photographer and a society heiress. The two fall in love soon after meeting at a fashionable wedding, but no matter what road they take toward getting married, they wind up in the city jail without benefit of matrimony.

This result is discouraging to the two participants, but it offers plenty of laughter to the audience. The situations are further complicated by an indignant father, a timorous butler, a well-meaning friend and, last but not least, "Faithy," the hero's carrier pigeon.

With Gordon Jones as the cameraman and Betty Furness as the heiress, the action and comedy of the film are ably handled. Jones, the former U. C. L. A.

Dramatic Story Of Midnight Court Is Told In Film Soon

"Midnight Court," a melodrama whose characters are introduced to the audience at one of those new type of police tribunals, will be featured offering next Saturday at the Ritz Theater, with the popular Ann Dvorak in the starring role. John Lital, an excellent actor who recently left Broadway for Hollywood, has the featured male role.

Ann plays the part of a court stenographer who is horrified when one of the vagabonds in the lineup turned out to be the brilliant lawyer who was once her husband.

Lital's regeneration with Ann's aid, his exposure, and the breaking up of a gang of automobile thieves that has been terrorizing the city, is the theme.

Gene Autry Star Of Western Film

Gene Autry, handsome Republic Western star is an evening's entertainment himself. So is Smiley Burness, his pal, neighbor and acting contemporary. But when you have these two plus six light crust doughboys — any story is an assured success.

Not that "Oh, Susanna," which shows at the Ritz Theater next Saturday night lacks for plot, color and character interest. It doesn't.

In fact the story, which has to do with a bad man masquerading as a radio star at a Dialektich, is probably Mr. Autry's best photoplay to date.

Irving Berlin's Numbers Feature 'On The Avenue'

Madeleine Carroll And Dick Powell Are In Lead Roles Of Hit

With songs by Irving Berlin carrying it to new heights of wacky melody, "On The Avenue," Twentieth Century-Fox' sparkling musical production shows Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz Theater, with a stellar cast of entertainers and the latest hits by the man to whose music most of the world makes love.

In this real-life romance of Irving Berlin's Twentieth-Century-Fox musical, "On The Avenue," starring Dick Powell and Madeleine Carroll.

New York, gay and glamorous as the town itself, Dick Powell and Madeleine Carroll, a combination new to musical comedy, makes a handsome and romantic team, ably surrounded by such masters of mirth and melody as Alice Faye. The Ritz Brothers and George Barbier.

"On The Avenue" gets off to a hilarious start when Madeleine Carroll, as a wealthy debutante, George Barbier, as her father, and Alan Mowbray, as an explorer enter a theater just as Dick Powell, Alice Faye and The Ritz Brothers are going into a farcical burlesque of the home life of "the richest girl in the world."

As the infuriated family stalks from the theater, voicing threats of damage suits to the manager, Madeleine heads for the stage entrance and, brushing past the doorman, snatches Alice's wig off and starts to wreck Dick's dressing room before she is ejected. To revenge herself on Dick for the humiliation, Madeleine not only agrees to marry the explorer, but takes over the show and fills the audience with people who walk out on her when he starts his song "You're Laughing at Me." Columbia's, tipped off in advance, report gleefully that "now they're howling at him."

The six song hits Berlin wrote for "On The Avenue" are "This Year's Kisses," "You're Laughing at Me," "Slumming on Park Avenue," "I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm," "The Girl on the Palace Gazette," and "He Ain't Got Rhythm."

HERE WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

'WOMEN OF GLAMOUR'

Swingtime Varieties Come To Ritz Friday

Coming to the Ritz Theater stage as an added feature of the program next Friday, Flo Nickerson and her Swingtime Varieties bring to Sanford a highly entertaining show which includes the singing of Henri Thierion, National Broadcasting Company star who is known as "the painter of songs."

Thierion is the original Tony Theater tenor and has sung many times for President Roosevelt.

With Flo Nickerson acting as mistress of ceremonies, the comedy, songs and lively chatter flow in smooth unison to the delight of the audience.

Dance numbers by Virginia Page and "The Five Sweethearts of Rhythm" are added features of the show while Eddie Daniels as the "Variety Voice of the Air Impersonator," gives distinctly different impersonations of the leading radio figures.

Eve Olson, the "Swedish Nightingale," sings popular swing songs to add to the program which runs for a full hour.

The stage attraction will be a portion of the program which features the screen showing of "They Wanted to Marry."

Victor McLaglen In Star Role Of 'Nancy Steele Is Missing'

A powerful drama that rains blows of passions and emotions on your pounding heart, "Nancy Steele Is Missing," the Twentieth Century-Fox production which opens at the Ritz Theater, is unforgettably portrayed by the star of "The Informer" and an inspired cast.

Victor McLaglen, winner of the Motion Picture Academy acting award for 1935, turns in one of the finest performances of his career in this taut, dramatic film in which he is starred with two of the screen's outstanding players, Walter Connolly and Peter Lorre, Europe's one-man chamber of horrors, June Lang and Robert Kent are featured in the picture, adding a romantic note to the proceedings.

"Here today we are confronted with a highly provocative project," said Secretary of Commerce Rogers in the radio address. "It enables us to visualize the cooperative effort necessary for the maintenance of our natural resources and protection of the people against abnormal natural occurrences, which have taken an unreasonable toll of damage in the past."

Rebel' Guns Used Against Own Legions

Hasty Retreat After Government Attack Brings Capture Of Many Field Pieces
MADRID, Mar. 22.—(AP)—Government troops turned insurgent own guns on the retreating legions of Gen. Francisco Franco today.
Tanks, trucks and guns were abandoned so hastily, declared Defense Gen. Jose Blaz, that the Government found weapons ready for use against the former owners against the Guadalupe front as the Government made an advance of more than 20 miles.
Government troops, driving up the Arago Highway in one of the greatest onslaughts of the Spanish civil war, were reported to be within 13 miles of the rebel stronghold of Sigüenza.
It was from Sigüenza, an old Moorish town 83 miles northeast of the capital, that Gen. Franco launched his fifth Madrid offensive at daybreak Mar. 8 and drove the loyalists back 43 miles before the tide of battle turned.
Gen. Blaz reported that his counter-attack resulted in a "complete rout" of the enemy.
Franco, he said, has ordered the evacuation of Almadrones and insurgent artillery has been driven from its positions along Franco's main line of resistance, 10 miles north of Brihuega and 60 miles from Madrid.

Ted Mercer Relates Tale Of New York Conversion

Presbyterian Church Congregation Hears Story Of Famed Water Street Mission, Metropolitan Haven

Ted Mercer, the layman evangelist who is holding a week's series in the First Presbyterian Church, spoke last night on his experiences in the Water Street mission of New York where he himself was converted and where he said he had seen hundreds of drunks, down and outs, harlots and men of various description come through a religious experience to life redeemed from all its habits of sin.
Mr. Mercer told how he was converted under the leadership of Samuel H. Hall, a man once completely dominated by liquor but who became one of the outstanding Christian laymen of America and superintendent of Water Street mission for many years.
Hall, he said, was converted under Jerry McAuley, the founder of the mission who was a converted wharf rat and was saved in Sing Sing prison while an inmate there. Over 600,000 broken lives have been mended at Water Street mission.
"We talk about miracles," said Mr. Mercer, "but miracles of grace" (Continued on Page Three)

Kissimmee Man Held In Death Of Sanford Boy

Witnesses Testify Passenger Vehicle Did Have Lights
Rascob Robinson, about 40, of Kissimmee, was ordered held Saturday when a coroner's jury found him guilty of causing the crash which snuffed out the life of William Williams, 20, Sanford, truck driver, five miles from St. Cloud.
Testimony given by John Padgett, a Miss Story and a Miss Morris, all of Kissimmee who were occupants of Robinson's car, said Robinson was on the wrong side of the road when the accident occurred Friday night, although the witnesses said there were lights on their automobile.
The witnesses testified that Robinson had planned to turn into a road leading off the highway beyond the side road and was backing up when Williams' truck rounded a bend and crashed into the touring car.
George P. Jeffries, St. Cloud chief of police, said Robinson's bond was placed at $200 pending a second hearing which probably will be held sometime this week. The prisoner did not testify at the coroner's inquest.

Youth Is Responsible For Major Part Of U.S. Crime

Missionary Tells Rotarians Infractions Of Law Perpetuated 65 Percent By Persons Under 30 Years Old

The most dangerous age in American life from the standpoint of criminalistic tendencies is between 18 and 20, according to E. C. Mercer, well known missionary, who told Rotarians today at their regular weekly luncheon that 65 percent of the crimes in the country are committed by persons under 30 years of age.
"It is the youth of the country that we have got to train and save," he said, "if we are to preserve our country from crime, clean up our politics, and perfect a more decent civilization." The most important influences, he said, in the training of boys and girls are the home and its mother, the church, environment and associations, and the examples which are set the younger generation by the older.
Mr. Mercer, who was introduced by the Rev. E. D. Brownlee of the Presbyterian Church, speaks with authority on this subject as he described himself as a reformed drunkard. Because of his heritage of culture and refinement, he had no fear of liquor as a youth and thought he could drink and leave it alone. But by the time he was 25 he had run the gamut of college liquor parties, parental disfavor (Continued on Page Three)

Hughes Says Boost In Judges' Number Impairs Efficiency

City Asks Bids For Improvement To Water Works

Diesel Engines And Generators To Be Installed Here
The City today called for bids on equipment designed to improve and modernize the municipal water plant.
In the process of formation for several months, the plans for the changes have been completed after a score or more conferences of City officials with hydraulic engineers and countless inspection trips through the plant.
Bids are being asked for two 150 horsepower Diesel engines with foundations, magnetic clutches, belt-driven generator and switchboards. Five turbine pumps and 3.2 miles of electric power line are sought also.
City Clerk Frank Lamson explained that under the new water works will be added from the well by electric motor, "the size of a small car" and will lift it to the main pipe on five wells known as an "air lift" method by which air is blown down the water pipe and the liquid forced upward. This system is to be replaced by five (Continued on Page Three)

County To Seek Special Acts In '37 Legislature

Will Ask Authorization To Issue Hospital Bonds
At least six special acts, one authorizing the issuance of bonds for the erection and maintenance of a County Hospital, will be sought by County Commissioners in the 1937 Legislature, County Attorney E. F. Housholder disclosed today.
Construction of the hospital, the lawyer explained, would of course depend on an approval by taxpayers. However, the County believes it advisable to have everything in readiness should the institution be deemed necessary.
Mr. Housholder said another act will be sought to give the County the authority of foreclosure against tax certificates covering property where the owner fails to pay his taxes. The act would be a protection in the event of realizable business property who pays the taxes and is forced to collect higher rents than the owner of property on which taxes are unpaid.
Another piece of desired legislation would enable the Commission to adjust delinquent taxes of 1933 and prior. Mr. Housholder (Continued on Page Three)

THE FELLOWSHIP OF BELIEVERS

Truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ.—1 John 1:3.

THROWBACK

Man was no subtle blend of air and earth—No magic texture spun of rain and foam. No wind brought this shape to dazling birth...

—Kleon Wigam.

Amelia Earhart is giving the world a good lesson in how to get away from it all.

The DeLand Sun News seems to think that nowadays a man starts at the bottom of the ladder and sits down.

Isn't it too bad that the next war is going to break out before the world discovers who started the last one?

Young Jimmy Roosevelt, the heir apparent, made a speech the other night on the Supreme Court; and strangely enough, he supported the President.

Of course, it isn't always necessary to dim your headlights when passing another auto at night. You can always take a chance on not getting hit.

From the way some of our State officials are busy these days boosting their own salaries, you'd think they felt pretty sure inflation is coming anyway.

It's a poor senator these days who can't mail to his constituents some kind of a speech he has made in Congress on the subject of the Supreme Court.

The Legislature is planning to pass some kind of a law to keep cattle off the highways. Of course, it probably won't apply to the kind of cattle who persist in hogging the road.

The Governor and the State Legislature are going to have to give and take if they are to get along in April and May.—Cocoa Tribune. Yeh, give all you can of other people's money, and take what you can get for yourself.

Military men insist that the public does not have to be afraid of poison gas in the next war. No, the only kind of poison gas men of the public will have to fear is that put out by the paid propagandists.

Another foreign expert, Wylie Williams, in his "Duck of Empire," is predicting that the next World War may start any time after Easter this year. Williams claims that Italy and Japan will go in on Germany's side this time, and that the United States ultimately will be drawn in on the side of the Allies.

Moving Out

Americans are getting out of the "dust bowl" of the middle western states and moving farther westward much after the manner of the "gold rush" of 1849, only today they are rushing away from something instead of to something. They are piling what is left of their household belongings into their worn out flivvers, or in some cases into mule drawn wagons, and moving west.

"About 70,000 Americans," according to a report recently published by Collier's Magazine, "have moved westward from the sun-baked areas of Oklahoma, Arkansas, Nebraska, Kansas, Wyoming, Colorado and the Dakotas. Many of these nomads are still on the move, looking for places to start farming anew. It is the most important and significant migration since the days of the covered wagon."

"Over the roads they come, the nomads from the Central States whose farms either were blown away by the wind or broiled by the heat. In recent years they have helped to add more than 25,000 new farms to the total number in the Pacific northwest."

"And while various and sundry statesmen lay down heavy verbal bombardments, these nomadic farmers from the Middle West muddle through. In all sorts of improvised shelters they bivouac throughout the Pacific Coast area. Their tents and shacks are strung along every highway between Puget Sound and the Sierras. Some of the drought refugees are virtually penniless, but they manage to struggle along. Others have brought wallets filled with bonus and crop-reduction checks, the latter saved from the days of the defunct AAA."

"And to this last group of migrants, unscrupulous land sharpers are as dangerous a menace as were hostile Indians to the wanderers of the previous century."

Favored Groups

Statisticians of some of the big life insurance companies have exploded one of vaudeville's most venerable gags—the one that went: "Why do married men live longer than single men?" "They don't, it only seems longer."

"The risk of death is unevenly divided among the single, the married and the widowed." "But," they point out, "one rule holds consistently throughout life: the married male is favored over the unmarried, and the disparity is not a mere trifle, it is very pronounced. In fact, over a considerable range of ages, from 30 to 45, the mortality of the married man is less than half that of the single."

"When it comes to women, however, the statisticians found conditions not quite so favorable for the married. 'The advantage of the married women is less pronounced,' they say. 'Their death rate at ages from 30 to 65 is better by only about 10 percent than that of the single; and for very young wives, ages 20 to 24, the hazards of childbirth, concentrated at this period, raise the mortality of the married somewhat above that of the single.'

"The excess mortality of the widowed as compared with the married is greater for men than for women. 'Here again,' the statisticians say, 'we are not dealing with slight differences, but with severe contrasts. For example, at age 35 the mortality of widows is 5.76 per 1,000 as against 4.11 among married women, a serious enough excess, but relatively moderate as compared with the corresponding excess in the case of men. Among widowers at age 35 the mortality is 9.22 per 1,000, well over twice that among married men, which is 4.42 per 1,000.'

A hundred and fifty miles southwest of the mainland of Florida the seven low bars composed of shell and coral sand. These are the Dry Tortugas Islands. On one of these, LOGGERHEAD KEY, is located a picturesque lighthouse with a distinction no other can claim. It is farther away from the mainland than any other lighthouse on the globe.

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

In the midst of the catcalls and artificial labor shortage. Mr. Eccles also puts his finger on another serious trouble with our productive system, namely, the fact that in craft after craft skilled men are being lost to the industry. Mr. Eccles, governor of the Federal Reserve system, Mr. Eccles said in effect precisely what Mr. Walter Lippmann expressed in his column some days ago, and which was the chief point of an address which the writer of this column made at the Harvard Club on Sunday. And that is that the immediate crisis of government which is upon us, is not a crisis of government failing to meet human needs, which, if they are not met, may precipitate a revolution. The crisis is the serious danger of a price inflation which may sweep everything before it—workers and capital alike. That crisis is due to a combination of factors of which this column has repeatedly warned: the international situation, and a vast artificial boom based upon prodigious expenditures for armaments which threaten to unbalance budgets and create currency crises throughout Europe, with inevitable repercussions here; sudden and universal demands of labor for shorter hours and higher wages, with the assumption of no responsibility for seeing that production is not thereby curtailed; the intention of capital to pass these increases on to the public in the form of higher prices, even when such are not economically necessary. Inflation occurs when expenditures are being made more rapidly than real wealth is being produced. It is just as simple as that.

Mr. Eccles points, in addition, to one other thing: A labor shortage. "Numerically," he said, "there are still millions of unemployed people able and willing to work, and several more millions engaged on public works, who could be diverted from public to private pay rolls." On which one can only comment that Mr. Eccles should have a word with Mr. Hopkins, who recently urged that the W. P. A. be put on a permanent basis, a proposal heartily hailed by the twenty Eastern Mayors who met in Philadelphia and thought it could be nicely done for $2,200,000,000 a year. A mere bagatelle of about a third of the total national income. Mr. Hopkins' argument is that there is a permanent technological unemployment in the United States, and millions of people who cannot work in production fields for other reasons. Indeed, the whole relief policy has gone on the assumption of a permanent large-scale unemployment, and the effect of that policy has been to withdraw millions of men from the production of wealth and create an artificial labor shortage.

Adherents Of Buddhism Look To Coming Wedding

Three-Hour Ceremony To Unite Mechanically Minded Prince To 18-Year-Old Princess

By JAMES A. MILLS.
TOKYO, Mar. 22.—(AP)—Hons of Buddhists of the influential "pure land" sect are concentrating their prayers on the approaching wedding of their democratic young abbot, Count Kocho Onari.

An elaborate three-hour ceremony will unite the 27-year-old, mechanically minded count and 18-year-old, poetry-writing Young-lie Tokudaiji.

The rite, which will take place in Kyoto's great Nishi-Hongwanji temple on Mar. 24, will be an exact replica of those repeated many times in the last six and a half centuries when the count's family has bequeathed without interruption the regalia of chief abbot upon the eldest son.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars will be spent before the affair is over.

The count will distribute more than $125,000 among the poor, while his followers have contributed more than $100,000 for a wedding present—a new palace, now being rushed to completion, to be purified by the priest before the couple moves in. The palace will be very simple in design with Nishi-Hongwanji style. It is built of unpainted wood and white plaster in the classical Japanese style. Not one of its 40 rooms has a trace of western architecture or furniture.

There will be two modern touches, however—a tennis court and a garage.

Both the count and his bride-to-be are fond of playing tennis. The garage, commodious and intricately equipped, will house his several automobiles and give him a chance toinker with auto engines—his favorite hobby.

He has driven his own car since he was 18. In fact, his intense interest in engines is now credited as one reason why he did not use his great influence to gain military exemption about a year ago. He served for a year as a military chauffeur and machine shop hand.

At the time, Japanese newspapers attributed his interest to his known democratic nature. He is a fan for mountain climbing, skiing, golf and swimming. He was graduated from the Imperial university and plans to write a book on Chinese history.

His future bride displayed a fair for literary work at the princess school in Tokyo where she completed her education last year. Her talent is in the composition of the 17-syllable Japanese poem.

She is the daughter of Prince Tokudaiji and the granddaughter of one of the famous statesmen who helped overthrow the military lords more than 60 years ago.

About 20 American Buddhists are expected to join the pilgrimage to Kyoto for the wedding.

business failure, and destitution.

When he was thirty, he stumbled out of the gutter into a Bowery mission in New York City and there was converted to religion. Then began an eight months struggle to overcome a habit of a lifetime which finally met with success. Now at the age of 61 he has never touched a drop of liquor since.

"Liquor," he told the Rotarians is more dangerous than a rattlesnake. He said he is not himself trying to reform people, but by telling to young people his own experience, he hopes to prevent them from falling by the wayside. The most vicious influences upon American youth, he listed as including fire, liquor, second hand weapons, third, loafing, and fourth, bad associations.

Police Of Detroit Eject Sit-Downers From Print Plant

DETROIT, Mar. 22.—(AP)—fearing threats of a city-wide automotive strike if raids on strike-held plants continued, police today entered the plant of the Thomas P. Henry Print Co. and ejected strikers who have occupied the place since Mar. 11.

The strikers surrendered peacefully. Fifty policemen apparently took approximately 20 strikers there by surprise.

Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson issued an order last week on the strikers to stop cause why an injunction should not be issued forbidding them to occupy the plant.

The attorney for the company notified Judge Ferguson Saturday that the sheriff had been unable to serve notice of the court order because of a press of other duties and that police had declined to eject the strikers.

Tale Of New York Conversion Is Told By Ted Mercer

"No greater than all other kinds. We wonder at the radio, the telephone, television, we marvel at Lindbergh's long flight over the ocean, and they are marvelous, but they are not conversions. The conversion of Saul on the road to Damascus.

"And history records other celebrated instances of conversions, such as St. Francis of Assisi, John Bunyan, George Whitfield, and other noted Christians who were changed from desperate sinners to servants of God. They are miracles of grace."

Mr. Mercer related the story of the conversion of Henry James, who robbed Mark Twain's home in Redding Ridge, and spent a long term in Westchester prison for his crime and was converted to a clean useful life after being tested in knowing more about these out of prison.

He recommended to any interested to read "Down in Water Street" by S. H. Hatley, "Great Heart of the Bowery" by Dr. John Halimand, and "Twice Born Men" by Harold Regbie.

County To Seek Special Acts In '37 Legislature

and this measure is to be placed as a special act before the Legislature in the event the general act covering all Florida counties is not brought up for action.

Records show that about $25,000 additional was collected last year during the period in which the County Commission had power to adjust delinquent taxes.

Also to be asked for is a special act authorizing the County governing body to provide adjust and regulate traffic on cross roads and intersections on all County highways. At present the group has no power along this line.

It is hoped to secure a law empowering the Commission to adjust or cancel tax certificates due the County on lands acquired by the County or City to be used for public projects.

All Delinquent In Occupational Fees To Be Jailed

County provides a penalty of double the amount of the license in the event that the tax is unpaid.

City Hall records reveal that about 75 dual business institutions, private individuals and professional men have not complied with the license law.

It has been the policy of the City Government to stretch as far as possible the law governing occupational license payment. This method is in force to give every one possible opportunity to meet his obligation with the City.

Chief Williams explained that many persons are not financially able to obtain their licenses immediately after they are due, adding that the lenient policy of the City gives most of them ample time to collect the fee.

Toll records of last year show 100 percent collections. Occupational fees produce about $100,000 annually for the municipality.

Fire Department Seeks Ordinance To Oust Dangers

Chief Cleveland Asks Measure Authorizing Control Of Sanford Boilers

Boarding House Laxity Is Hit

Law May Cover Paint Shop Employing Spray Gun Method

By PAT PATTERSON
Fire Chief Mack Cleveland approached the City Commission last night to propose the enactment of an ordinance that would govern certain fire control methods for boilers, rooming houses, boarding houses and paint shops where spray guns are used.

He expressed a belief that many small boilers located within the city limits do not have periodic inspections, and some have no safety devices such as a pop valve.

The fire chief emphasized the danger of valveless boilers, showing that an explosion of one device is highly capable of spreading flames widely about its vicinity.

Mr. Cleveland asked the Commission for the authority to inspect establishments where guests are taken, asserting that some instances exist where inadequate fire precautions are taken and there is an apparent lack of interest on the part of the owners in the safety of either building or guest.

One of the most outstanding cases of this nature, Mr. Cleveland pointed out, is the discovery in guest houses for proper care of small fire extinguishers which he described as one of the most essential units of fire-fighting apparatus.

Drunken Drivers Feel Full Blast Of Law In Future

Persons convicted in Municipal Court on drunken driving charges may expect to pay the fine assessed or serve the sentence handed down from the bench, City officials said today.

In the past, the City has been lenient, particularly with first offenders having no other police record.

Some laxity also has been shown in cases where the person arrested has a family or is holding a job which might be jeopardized by a prison term.

City Court, on some occasions, has accepted part of the assessed fine, or released the convicted person after he served some of his sentence.

But in the future, the full penalty will be required, because, as City Commissioner W. A. Laffler put it, "there's no greater menace on the highway than a drunken driver."

Land Bank Observes 20th Anniversary With Radio Program

The 20th anniversary of the establishment of the Federal Land Bank of Columbia, S. C., which serves this County, will be observed tomorrow in a special radio broadcast from 12:30 P. M. to 1 P. M.

Andrews, secretary-treasurer of the Sanford Production Credit Association which is affiliated with the land bank, said the financial institution's Sanford branch served the counties of Seminole, Lake, Volusia, Brevard and Orange and Osceola.

In this district of six counties, 1,800 loans have been made totaling $5,500,000. Seminole County farmers have borrowed $1,250,000 to save their farms, according to Mr. Andrews.

Jimmy Wright Resigns Post With Ball Club

Secretary Says Private Business Interferes With Athletic Position

By A. R. STRAUSS
Herald Sports Editor
Coming as a forerunner to the 1937 season, the resignation of J. A. "Jimmie" Wright as secretary-treasurer of the Sanford Baseball Association, this morning surprised followers of the national pastime in this district.

Wright, popular as a business man and a baseball mogul, was secretary-treasurer since the Florida State League was organized and his resignation was far from expected by club officials and fans.

As manager of the Florida Palmetto Fibre Company, he was of the opinion that he could not handle both positions with the efficiency necessary to both, hence the resignation as Club secretary and treasurer.

In a statement issued to The Herald this morning, he said: "I regret that my personal duties prevent me from continuing as secretary-treasurer of the Sanford Baseball Association. The duties of the secretary have reached such a proportion that it will require considerable time to handle them in an efficient manner. I am sure that the directors of the baseball association will be able to secure some one who can give the time necessary to handle this position in a satisfactory manner."

"I will continue to be interested in Sanford as a baseball center and remain a loyal booster of our team."

When notified of Wright's resignation, H. M. Watson, president of the Club, expressed surprise and disappointment.

Watson could not name any possible successors for the position at the time of the interview and had no other comment to make. He regretted the fact that Wright's connection with the ball club had to be severed.

At a late hour today, no movement had been made to call a meeting to elect another secretary-treasurer.

Sanford DeMolays Choose Soderblom For High Position

Sanford's DeMolay Chapter last night elected Reginald Soderblom as master counselor to serve for the next three months.

Kipp, Grammar School principal; J. C. Trawick, master of the Sanford Masonic Lodge; and Leonard L. McLucas, High School coach.

A chicken plieu supper was served after the business session. A number of prospective DeMolays were guests.

No New Taxes By Congress This Session

President Refuses To Comment On Letter By Justice Regarding Court

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Mar. 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today he hoped there would be no new taxes at this session of Congress.

The Chief Executive made the statement at his second press conference of his vacation here as he sat in a motor car in front of the press cottages. He did not expand on his tax observation.

It was made in response to a request for comment on the recent statement of Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, that the budget should be balanced even if it became necessary to increase income and profits taxes.

He declined to comment on the letter of Chief Justice Hughes saying the Supreme Court revision would impair Court efficiency.

County and Community Committees of the Seminole County Agricultural Conservation Program for 1937 yesterday afternoon established the first part of a schedule for taking work sheets under this year's soil conservation plan.

Documents will be accepted Thursday, Apr. 1, and Friday, Apr. 2, in Altamonte Springs, Tuesday, Apr. 6, and Wednesday, Apr. 7, are the dates set for Oviedo. The remainder of the schedule is to be completed in the near future.

County Agent C. R. Dawson announced that the farm office will be closed on days when work sheets are being taken in the County outside of Sanford, and he said no checks for the 1936 program will be distributed on these days.

Kirchoff Candidate For President Of Local Civic Unit

The Sanford Junior Chamber of Commerce Nominating Committee last night selected Eddie Kirchoff as its choice for president of the civic unit for the coming 12 months.

Other nominees: J. N. Robson Jr., first vice-president; E. E. Loney, second vice-president; Roy Mann, treasurer; Clyde Ramsey, secretary.

The proposed Board of Directors includes John Schirard Jr., Jimmie Rowland, Henry Wite Jr., J. J. Kellaghan, Harold Powers and Ralph Cowan.

Club members pointed out that nomination by the Committee does not necessarily mean positive election, explaining on election night any member has the opportunity to take the floor and place his candidate on the ballot.

Jay Cees elected E. E. Loney and Mr. Ramsey as delegates to the State organization's convention in Lakeland, Apr. 9-11. Mr. Kirchoff and Fred Scott were chosen as alternates. About 10 members from the local unit will attend.

Fred Williams Jr., addressed the civic body briefly on proposed plans for beautification of the lake front, displaying a blueprint of the plans which the City hopes to use as a guide for future planning.

By a vote of the organization, Junior Chamber delayed plans for a membership drive until the new officers have been seated.

An address of W. R. Dyson, brother of Fred Dyson, was well received. It concerned the interest which northerners take in Florida.

Mr. Dyson asserted that he had been coming to Sanford for the past 12 years and never before saw so many tourists or strange faces in the City.

Raymond Moley Says Proposals Would Bring Defeat Of 'American Method'

Admits Striking Tribunal Action Believes Roosevelt Can Achieve Aim In Other Way

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—(AP)—Raymond Moley, once one of President Roosevelt's closest advisors, opposed the chief executive's court bill today on the ground it would abandon the "American method" of settling social and economic changes.

"That method, the American method, is to tell the public in an orderly fashion precisely what is necessary in the way of economic and social change, to explain to the people of its wisdom, and then ask approval of a change," Moley said.

"The end which Mr. Roosevelt has so courageously made his own can be achieved within a grand mosaic of American constitutional tradition. But to seek to achieve them through the destruction of the American tradition is to open the way to the death of ideals that gave them birth."

Moley told the Senate Judiciary Committee that "no one has been more outspoken than I have been in opposing the court bill."

He refused to find a way to modify the law and preserve continuity and unity so far as possible in a period of striking, unparalleled social and economic changes."

Mr. Moley said that he had been coming to Sanford for the past 12 years and never before saw so many tourists or strange faces in the City.

Missionary Tells Students Of Three Requisites Of Life

Ted Mercer, noted missionary, today told students at Seminole High School that the "real test of an education is its applicability to the needs of life."

He was the principal speaker on a special chapel program at the educational institution.

Mr. Mercer stressed moral character, a specialized intellect and a well-developed body as the three necessities which the modern youth must possess to maintain the pace of living.

In developing the trio, the missionary said all employers will examine any applicant for employment as to his character. He said it was mandatory that a boy or girl completely master one profession to become a success. He concluded with the statement that a good physical condition is an aid to both character and the ability to learn.

Mr. Mercer is scheduled to address Sanford Kiwanians tomorrow at 12:15 P. M. in the Valdez Hotel.
