Wallace Sends Message To Sanford

The Florida American Party executive committee, at Holiday Inn in Sanford Saturday, was addressed by Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, over a telephone hook-up. Governor Wallace reiterated his position of "keeping his options open" regarding the 1972 campaign, and that more detailed reports on this will be forthcoming after the press of state business subsides. Specific points the Governor discussed were his court suits to be brought against the tax exempt foundations and suits to be brought to reopen schools that have been arbitrarily closed in Alabama, as well as in Sanford and other parts of Florida. He also stated that the one man — one vote concept being enforced by the Supreme Court should be enforced by the United Nations as well, and if not, he is in favor of removing the United Nations from the United States. Regarding the economic conditions of the country today, the Governor stated that the income tax structure must be changed to remove the inequities imposed upon the "Hard Hat," the working man, the small business man, the farmer, and the professional man who make up the backbone of American society, and to shift this tax burden to the tax-free foundations.

Gov. Wallace concluded by promising to visit with the people of Florida in September.

Robbing The Blind
PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP) — In recent months more than $5,000 in checks have been stolen from mail boxes in this area. Postmaster W. T. McCauston said most of the checks were from the U.S. Treasury Department: state welfare, retirement and insurance firms. They included one welfare check for a blind woman and an insurance check used to support seven children. The checks can be easily identified, said the postmaster.

Shot A Tornado
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Ernest Baker, 79, remembers the day, May 20, 1920, when a tornado hovered over the city and then struck in half to damage surrounding areas. "I was on the third floor of the then Land Office Building," Baker said. "Since my desk faced the north, I just picked up my camera and took the picture. I sent the picture to The New York Times and they published it on their front page."

AROUND THE CLOCK
By JOHN A. SPOLSKI
So, OK... who's the wise guy already?
Spent a couple of days visiting in Pennsylvania... was making my return "approach" to Sanford via Interstate 4 (from Deltona-way), and what do I see... I mean right in the median strip where absolutely "nulin" is supposed to be?
One of those portable "out-houses"... and worse yet, a sign on it saying, "Welcome Back, John!"
Oh, funny... really, really funny!
I do have an "exclusive" for you, though... if you're planning on visiting that Pennsylvania-Van-Dutch country... BE CAREFUL!
When you turn your clothes into any cleaner up there, they're bound to come back shrunken... (must be something in the water).
And talkin' about the water, they have a funny way of dispensing it. They put it into a brown bottle and put a cap on it... and if you drink enough of the stuff, another miracle takes place.
I went up there with a comfortable 36-inch waist-line and am now a "blotted" 40.
They're very "spirited" up there too, 'cause they put name onto each of the bottles and call it Old Reading (beer).
It was always an accepted fact that the Dutch people really know how to cook food... and like a fool, I just couldn't say "No" when it was offered to me. (Anybody want to join me on a sure-cure low-calorie, high-protein diet?)
These same Dutch people have a unique way of twisting a sentence. But even with all of their "mistakes," the message comes through loud and clear.
Like... "Ve get too soon Old, Un too late Schmart," and again on the subject of food they say, "Klasiin" wears out "Cookin' do!"... on marriage, "Better it is to single live than to the wife the briches give!"
Whenever you or I read a brief vacation, we usually have some choice thoughts on the matter. But, if they'd want to say the vacation is over, it would come out, "Hiss off is all!"
The purpose of this abbreviated Northern Journey really was to attend the wedding of a niece. And if all of the rolls of film came out, you'll be treated to a pictorial review of an honest-to-goodness Ukrainian wedding. None other like it, believe me.
There were over 800 invited guests... the fun really starts on Friday evening (sorta to loosen up the elbow for the serious business ahead of you) and then the marriage takes place Saturday morning... reception officially at 5 on Saturday... and it doesn't end until sometime late on Sunday. Hopefully, I was in focus on some of those shots and I'll be able to share the sights with you.
All those dreams... all those "hobbies" you've been seeing... all those places where you had so much fun... all of those now have new places; and suddenly, you're made aware that time really and truly waits for no man.

School Board Split Orange Savant Hired

By BILL SCOTT
Amid the tumult and furor vent by a number of persons opposed to the naming of an Orange County educator to the vacant Seminole High School principal's post, the School Board Tuesday night named Jack Lee Redding as replacement for Richard Barnett at the helm of the Sanford High School.
With only four of the five board members present and one of those abstaining, the board approved the recommendation of Supt. John Atchard that Redding, present Orange County adult education director, be named to replace Barnett, who was recently promoted to head the county's student studies.
Board member Stuart Culpepper was absent from the session, held at Lyman High School, but A. P. Bule, Ray Slaton, Jean Bryant and A. F. Keith, were present and voting — all except Bule, who announced he was abstaining from casting a ballot either for or against Redding.
Bule let his wishes be known before Tuesday night's voting, when he circulated a memo to Angel and other board members, explaining his opposition to Redding's appointment, based on a possible deterioration of a racial situation at Seminole High School.
Bule also advised he has litigation pending which involves Redding.
Tuesday night, Bule, in explaining to the Press his abstention on voting, said it was because of coming legal confrontation. Besides Bule, three were others, mostly blacks, opposed to Redding's selection.
Several members of the advisory committee to administer $80,000 in federal desegregation funds argued that William Daugherty, Seminole assistant principal, be named instead of Redding.
The bi-racial group interested in the county's school integration dilemma, was present at least, in part, and Ruth Higgins, said she had been told Daugherty was first selected for the position.
Angel argued that the bi-racial group is not attached to the School Board in making decisions affecting personnel selection.
It was stressed that the committee's function is to serve as a watchdog over the expenditure of federal funds to aid integration.
Bule moved to supersede the previous action which picked Redding and nominated Daugherty to the post.
His motion died for lack of a second and the long-haired board member gathered his papers and walked silently out of the meeting room and into the night.
Another personnel appointment also drew some comment from the gathering, when the board approved the transfer of Richard Evans, recently named as Croombs principal, in a switch from Seminole High, was moved back to Seminole as an assistant principal.
In questioning the return of Evans, Slaton elicited the disclosure that Evans had been school personnel director, that Evans does not desire the return to Seminole High but will go.
Replacing Evans as Croombs will be William Ashley, present Seminole High assistant principal.
This brought a question from Rev. John Connelly, advisory committee member, who wondered why Evans was not given a principal post at one of the county schools, since Angel implied the black education is doing a "good job."
There was no direct answer to the minister's query.

Grand Jury Probe Bid

By LARRY NEELY
A grand jury investigation into the operations of Tri-State Billboards has been requested by the Seminole County Commission. The commissioners unanimously yesterday requested State Attorney Abbott Herring to bring the matter before the grand jury during its present session.
The action was prompted by a report by County Zoning Director Robert Brown concerning the operations of the outdoor advertising firm. Brown reported he had contacted the Secretary of State's office in Tallahassee and was informed Tri-State is not registered with the state of Florida as is required by state statutes.
Brown said he asked for confirmation that it is a violation and had been informed it is. He said he was also told that the state would take no action in the matter and any action taken would have to be a civil case filed by the county or other local governmental agency.
At that point Commission chairman Greg Drummond asked County Attorney Harold Johnson for an explanation. Johnson said he does not know why the action has to be initiated at the local level. The county attorney was then directed to get a clarification from State Attorney General Robert Shevin on the matter.
Brown further reported he had checked the county tax collector's records and found that Tri-State does not have a valid state or county occupational license. The zoning director added there is no record of an occupational license having been issued to a representative of Tri-State.
The grand jury probe will be in addition to a civil suit filed in 1967.

Social Security Analysis

WASHINGTON (AP) — This example of how the House-passed Social Security bill might affect retirement prospects was compiled by Social Security statisticians.
The example is for a man who will retire in January 1965 at the age of 65, and his wife of the same age. He is assumed to be earning at the median point of the Social Security-covered wage scale. The example takes into account the automatic cost-of-living increases provided in the bill, so it involves estimates of future inflation and also of average wage increases.

Club Helping Finance Home

By MRS. R. B. THOMAS JR. Mrs. Mary Smith, president and founder of the "Just Us Club," is asking for financial aid from all people, black and white, throughout Florida for help in completing the flooring at Good Samaritan Home.

The block work was one by Shoemaker Construction Company some time ago. All other work is yet to be completed.

After contacting Shoemaker, the club was informed that the floor completion would cost $5,000. For this reason they are asking for your help for completion of the floor of this most needed building.

On Saturday, July 10, the first drive for the cause will be held on the grounds of Good Samaritan Home.

A festive carnival will be held featuring a table raffle, rummage sale and bake sale. Chicken plien, outdoor fish fry with hush puppies, homemade cakes and ice cold lemonade also will be available. Door prizes will be given to the first 100 adults who visit the completed structure of the Good Samaritan Home. The carnival will begin at 10 a.m.

They are asking that you donate items they can sell and give monetary contributions. All checks and money orders should be made payable to the Good Samaritan Home Building Fund.

Items and donations may be taken to or mailed to Good Samaritan Home at 404 Mulberry Avenue in care of "Just Us Club" or call 322-5321 for items or donations to be picked up.

The Just Us Club wishes to thank everyone in advance for helping in the floor drive effort.

Commission Delays Decision

By LARRY NEELY
The Seminole County Commission can allocate funds to the Seminole County Association for Retarded Children (SCARC), according to the advice of County Attorney Harold Johnson. The question that has arisen is whether the county can allocate money to pay bills that have been incurred and the County Commissioners yesterday decided to wait until a final decision can be made by Johnson, Clerk of the Circuit Court Arthur Beckwith and state auditors.

Commission Chairman Greg Drummond said he would like to see more participation on the part of the Seminole County School Board in the program.

Drummond said "A warped sense of values" existed when more people supported football stadiums than supported educational programs. Drummond heartily endorsed the request by SCARC as a most worthwhile project.

Commissioner Sidney Vihlen said he also supported the program and would offer a motion to authorize the $5,000 requested, contingent to Johnson and Beckwith's approval, but would not do so as he realized it would die with the lack of a second.

Commissioner Al Davis said he would be opposed to any action taken yet for three reasons. Davis said that he was not convinced that he was not receiving its name.

Drummond said "It is possible to be funded by the School Board. Davis added that perhaps the county did not have the money in the contingency account."

Commissioners Edward Yarborough and John Kimbrough said they both favored delaying any action until Johnson could provide further information on the matter.

Representing SCARC at the meeting were William Reck and Christine Jones. Reck said he did not think program could be continued without the state.

Drummond said, "We want clarifications before the act." He said that if the auditors found portions of the items SCARC was requesting the county pay as unacceptable then the money would have to be paid back by the commissioners themselves.

Mrs. Jones said SCARC needed a decision by June 30 from the commissions for them to fulfill state requirements of completing their budget by that time. Johnson said he would confer with Beckwith and the state auditors on June 28 and the information could be provided to the Commissioners at their June 29 meeting.

'Green Thumb' Is Love

MIAMI (AP) — "I believe the legendary green thumb is love," says Julie F. Morton, a University of Miami botanist who is investigating emotional responses in plants.

Mrs. Morton says recent research has convinced her there might be some substance to the belief that plants respond to human actions and moods.

"It's definitely not 'thinking' or 'feeling' and it's not emotion," she says. "It's some kind of physical response to forces we don't thoroughly understand."

Mrs. Morton said a new technique called "galvanic monitoring" permits researchers to measure tiny electrical currents that flow through plants. Changes in electrical resistance to the current indicate to scientists to measure a plant's internal state, she said.

Mrs. Morton says examples of successful gardeners compared to unsuccessful ones indicate plants might sense favorable emotions, such as love, from the people who grow them.

"There is electrical activity in people, of course," she says.

"We do give off waves of energy. If it affects people, it could affect plants. I believe the legendary green thumb is love, which functions to produce favorable reactions in plants as much as it does in people."

Mrs. Morton said one report stated that vegetables tended by a gardener who had arthritis did not do as well as an identical row raised under similar conditions by a healthy gardener.

And some gardeners "say they can't grow African violets, even though they do all the right things. The plants simply get sick and die. Others can grow them easily."

The study of plant emotions isn't without its practical side. A few years ago, the Florida Citrus Commission experimented with chemically "tranquilizing" orange trees so they would withstand cold snaps better.

Unfortunately it didn't work. The chemical tranquilizer caused damaging side effects to the fruit.

Book Relates Adventures

By MARILYN GORDON
CASSLEBERRY — A "Rugged American" is W. H. Vernor as he relates many of his adventures in a book by the same name. He was born on March 1885, in the little town of San Saba, Texas, which is near the geographical center of the state and not too far north of the L.R.J. ranch.

"My father," relates Vernor, "was a Methodist circuit rider, covering about a hundred miles around, on horse back, with his Bible in one saddle pocket and his pistol in the other. For this work he was supposed to receive a regular salary of $200 a year. Much of the time, a considerable portion of the stipend was paid in vegetables, poultry, and other home grown products of the day. Mind you, he had nine children. Finding it difficult to support his family as a circuit rider he moved his family in a covered wagon to Lampasas where he purchased the Lampasas Leader, a weekly paper being published at that time by Mr. W. T. Campbell, who afterwards became one of the founders and original stockholders of the mammoth 'Texasco.'"

"I was judged to be smarter than my brother," he says, "so they sent him to school and put me to work in the printing office. I learned the alphabet from type in the printing office and became a pretty good printer in a short time."

After serving out his apprenticeship in his father's printing shop, and trying himself out in two cities, Houston and Beaumont, he felt like a real grown up tramp printer and went back home "just for the trip." His father suggested that he get some college education and that he could afford to send him to America's A & M College where the qualifications for entering were not so severe. One had to be at least 15 years of age and have the necessary $15 a month to pay for room, board, lodging, laundry, and other accessories. He did not own any books while going to the A&M college but enjoyed playing quarter-back on the football team. In those days sports were not well financed, when they wanted a new ball or any other equipment they took up a collection. There were no grandstands, no admission charges, no chance for income of any kind.

From such beginnings came W. H. Vernor, a man who was destined to make and lose five fortunes. At times he made as much as $5,000 in one week. "It made no difference to me if I was broke or affluent" related Vernor, "because I could always make more."

"I masterminded the last of the great land lotteries in Texas. There were 6,000 tickets. They sold for $100 each to people who lived mostly in the states of Texas, Oklahoma and Nebraska. While the tickets sold at $100 each, it did not take all cash to buy one. $10 cash and $10 monthly, without interest was considered sufficient and that's the way most of the tickets were sold," Vernor recalls.

First prize was a three-story, 72-room hotel, located on a corner of the main street, which was 120 ft. wide. Second prizes consisted of 10 modern cottages, which had been built by the promoters especially for the occasion of the drawing. Third prizes consisted of 1,000 farming tracts, ranging in size from five to 40 acres each.

Vernor, now 86 years old, and a resident of Summerrest subdivision remains very active. His eyesight has failed due to cataracts. He lives alone with a nurse and has two projects—rewriting his book "A Rugged American" and bringing it up to date, and the marketing of a new idea to eliminate "tailgating" of automobiles.

Group Gains County's Support Zoo Society Is Seeking $500,000

Support for the Seminole Zoo Society and its efforts to relocate the Sanford Zoo was reiterated by the Seminole County commissioners at their meeting yesterday. Dr. Edwin P. Calvin, representing the zoo group, appeared before the commissioners yesterday to request use of part or all of the county's proposed Lake Monroe park. The commissioners said they support the group's effort to find a place for a zoological garden to replace the Sanford Zoo. The county's governing body maintains that it cannot afford to operate the zoo any longer.

The County Commissioners said they could not grant use of any of the property because the county does not have title as yet. Sidney Vihlen Jr. said the county will be in a position to determine what property the county could afford to acquire within 25-30 days. County Attorney Harold Johnson pointed out the county will not have title by that time. He said if some of the property has to be condemned the process could take a year or more.

Calvin said the Seminole Zoological Society has been put in a "time bind" by the Oct. 1 deadline set by the city. Vihlen suggested the zoo group prepare a statement of financial stability and plans for the zoological gardens for the Commission to base its decision on when the property becomes the county's. Calvin said he will take the recommendation back to the group.

Calvin told the commissioners that the zoo group is preparing to begin its fund raising drive next month and will be employing a full-time fund raising director. He said the group has set a goal of $500,000.

Also yesterday, Commission Chairman Greg Drummond reported that interviews were conducted this morning of the candidates for the County Equipment Company's trustee assistant. Drummond said there are four applicants being given consideration and stated he is preparing a statement of financial stability and plans for the zoological gardens for the Commission to base its decision on when the property becomes the county's. Calvin said he will take the recommendation back to the group.

Calvin said the county's trustees and three trustees of the Lake Land Equipment Company of Lakeland with a bid $151,900.11 County Road Sup. J. C. Lavender, in charge of the county's sanitary landfill operations where the equipment is to be used, told the commissioners that the Lake Land company did not meet the county's specifications for the equipment and recommended the county accept the bid of Senco Corporation of Ft. Lauderdale at $198,681.60.

Representatives of Truck Equipment Company differ with Lavender and subsequently the county attorney has been directed by the commissioners to meet with Lavender at a meeting open to the bidders and public to go over the bids once again to determine if the Lake Land firm does meet the county's specifications.

Also yesterday, the commissioners decided to postpone a scheduled June 30 trip to River side County, Calif., because of the inability to arrange transportation. The trip was postponed.

Free Press Functioning At Its Finest

The role which major newspapers are playing in the momentous publication of the Pentagon Papers is one which we applaud and which, we are convinced, is in the high tradition of America's free press.

Now the traditionally hard-headed and respected Boston Globe, a believed in voice in New England which still shows traces of the vigor which General Taylor demanded and received, has started publication of the papers which show how the United States got involved in an expanded ground war in Vietnam.

What Editor Thomas Winship had to say in explaining this publication is illuminating: "... we came by this material and we feel it is in the public interest to publish it."

The New York Times broke the ice in this historic event when it published what was first termed the "McNamara Papers" after months of careful scrutiny about 10 days ago.

This was a bombshell which shook the entire structure of the presidential administrations, both in being and those which had passed into history.

Then it was the Washington Post that took up the challenge after the federal government had moved into the courts to stop the Times series.

Both the Times and the Post stood on the very solid ground of the constitutional right of a "free press." This is being challenged by the assertion of a Nixon administration that this right does not include the publication of "top secret" papers which would be injurious to the nation's interests.

So far, judicial reasoning has persuaded the judges in both the Times and Post cases that the material should not be banned, but that the newspapers in fulfilling their obligation as a "free press" were justified in publishing.

Now the cases are before appeals courts and there is little doubt that the Supreme Court will have to make the final judgement.

Of course it is not even common sense to think that what the newspapers have accomplished will not lead to the full airing of the report, regardless of the political reputations it could damage or ruin.

Thus, from the point of view as a member of the Fourth Estate, we can only applaud the Times, Post and Globe and all other newspapers of national influence who have taken part and will take part in this demonstration of the use of a free press in a free democracy.

We do not undervalue the impact the revelations, even those which have already been allowed to be published, are making in domestic politics and even in Vietnam, where sentiments which have been concealed are now being expressed.

The greatest danger to the realization of the good which this reliable information regarding the United States and its slipping into the morass of the Indochina war, lies in the possibility that personalities, charges and counter-charges will so fill the atmosphere to hide the truths which all concerned citizens must seek.

Nor can it be overlooked that such repercussions which have already taken place and which will continue can not be properly evaluated or understood on an "instant analysis" basis.

Not at all. Listen to what that seasoned politician and able Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has to say on this topic. He warns against "sniffing for political profit" in publication of the documents and warns against any search for "scapegoats."

With his usual directness and clarity, the senator states that "the documents show with unmistakable clarity that party politics had nothing to do with the descent into the morass of Vietnam," and points out that the goal now must be to end the war as quickly as possible.

This is the tone which would establish a public climate in which the courage of the free press in exposing the Vietnam war circumstances can come to its full flower in pointing the way to avoid any such ghastly repetition anywhere by any national administration!

Right To Choose

Most Americans accept the concept that a worker should have the right to a job if one is available and he is competent to handle it. Yet, one of the most bitter and endless labor-management battles is constantly being waged in contradiction of this right. Reference is to so-called "right-to-work" laws, which are in effect in some states. Oklahoma has rejected the "right-to-work" thesis in at least one statewide election.

But regardless of whether one favors or opposes right to work information in U.S. Labor Department records indicates generally more open job climate in right-to-work states than in those where the union or closed shop contracts are the pattern. Here are some significant Labor Department figures on the matter:

The past 10 years has seen new manufacturing jobs in right-to-work states increase by 45.3 per cent as compared with 15 per cent in non right-to-work states. Expenditures for new plant and equipment in the same states rose 156 per cent against 116 per cent in controlled areas. Per capita income climbed 77.3 per cent as against 67.9 per cent, and unemployment ranged from 3.4 per cent in the former to 3.8 per cent in the latter.

The argument is made by Reed Larson, executive vice-president of the National Right-To-Work Committee, that the elimination of compulsory union membership "insures greater union responsibility at the bargaining table." It is a subject to question, but cannot be ignored.

In principle, right-to-work laws tend to preserve the right of a worker to hold a job, whether or not he joins a union. This, too, is challenged by organized labor. Not under challenge, however, is the moral justice of protecting a man's right to hold a job without paying a form of tribute for the privilege. — Tulsa (Okla.) World

A Time Of Presidential Talk

By MICHAEL O'CONNOR
Copy News Service

WASHINGTON — With few social issues to grasp onto, the professional presidential election watchers here are leaning heavily now on the technique of "pamphleteering."

These short partisan booklets and press releases are arriving at news desks throughout the capital with increasing regularity. The game, as played with increasing fervor by both Republicans and Democrats, is either to debunk or clarify what has been printed by newspapers or espoused by members of Congress in speeches.

One of the strongest dialogues is being waged by the Republican National Committee, through

"Monday," its weekly publication, and the public relations mill of Lawrence O'Brien, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Particularly since the arrival of Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas as national chairman, "Monday" has taken on a sharper tone. Its most recent slap was directed at Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, when the publication charges is merely a front man for the new back-seat candidacy of Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Also in on the act is Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly, who through a June newsletter distributed primarily to conservative Republicans, raises serious questions about the electability of President Nixon to a second term.

The Schlafly publication, "Monday," and frequent newsletters from the liberal Republican Society all reflect divergent thoughts within the GOP.

On the other side of town, the Democratic National Committee's daily outpouring of paper centers directly on a criticism of outward leaning to the presidential bids of McGovern, Kennedy or any other potential candidates.

Many who scan these and other publications have a consensus between-the-lines reading of their purpose—and how Nixon and his political adversaries actually are faring as of mid-summer 1970.

Don Oakley Says: No Sugar-coating Of Failure

By DON OAKLEY
NEA Editorialist

Commencement speakers have traditionally retraced the long climb of mankind to reach the mountain peak of history represented by a particular graduating class.

This was usually by way of preface to listing the unreached goals and unrealized dreams which the older generation was hopeful that the new crop of graduates (always the best ever produced) would accomplish. Youth was charged to take up and, eventually in its own turn, to pass on the torch of human progress.

If anything is different today, it is that less is said about the successes of mankind in the past 6,000 years of recorded history and more about its failures.

Consider the world described by Dr. Linus Pauling to the graduating class of the College of Social Science at the University of California at Berkeley.

"The very unequal distribution of the world's wealth is one of the greatest causes of human suffering," said Pauling, the only holder of two Nobel Prizes, one for peace and one for chemistry.

Friends' personal amazement that you still like to play a little tennis, but then ask, "don't you think it's pretty risky now—at your age?"

Everyone suggests that you should begin to take things easy and not to put any unusual strain on yourself. This makes you wonder now and then if it isn't something of a victory when you cross the street unaided.

You are not expected by young people to say anything either subtle or important. Your remarks, by their reckoning, are one-third age and two-thirds senile.

What can you do about this insidious aging process by which you are regarded as "an old fool" at all about it, not even if you find the fabled Fountain of Youth and take a swig from it 10 times a day.

When the world decides it is high time for you to be old, it usually works its will, whether you are glad or sad about it.

Oakley

pare with world income distribution 50 years ago or 100 years ago. The situation is probably no worse and is quite possibly a great deal better, despite the world's doubling of population in the past century.

Most unfortunately, by charging that the unequal distribution of the world's wealth is a "cause" of human suffering, Pauling lends his imposing prestige to the current idea that the developed world has built and must maintain its prosperity upon the impoverishment of the underdeveloped world, that one man can have a high standard of living only if several other men are kept to a low standard of living, and therefore to correct this imbalance we must take from the haves and give to the have-nots.

But wealth, if properly used, generates wealth; charity merely dilutes the misery.

The underdeveloped world has an old saying to the effect that if you give a man a fish you feed him for a day, but if you teach him how to fish you feed him for the rest of his life.

The world savers now emerging from colleges and universities seem filled with a lot of information but little knowledge.

Castro Strikes Back At U. S.

By THEODORE A. EDGER
Copy News Service

MIAMI, Fla. — There is no doubt about the guilt of four Cubans caught fishing in U. S. waters and taken to trial in chains and leg irons, no matter what Cuban Communist Premier Fidel Castro may claim to the contrary. But, despite their conviction, it appears that Communist Cuba may have come out ahead in the confrontation, as scoring anti-Yankee propaganda means much more to them.

The U. S. Coast Guard, known for its reluctance to provoke problems with Cuba, May 26 routinely arrested the Cubans as they angled for grouper near the Dry Tortugas, some 60 miles out in the Gulf of Mexico, west of Key West, Fla.

When, as luck would have it, a Venezuelan revolutionary sky-jacked an American airplane to Cuba, Castro took advantage of the coincidence, keeping the plane, its 68 passengers and crew in Havana four days.

Cuba dumped Pan American Airways $27,827 for the unscheduled stopover, explaining that that was for expenses of the stay and the plane and the people on it.

Castro may have figured he would break even, since the last time Cuban poachers were arrested in Florida waters their fines totaled $25,500.

This time, though, tough federal district Judge William O. Scriffens fined each of the defendants $10,000 and sentenced them to six-month jail terms.

Cuba throughout hailed five Americans before revolutionary tribunals for "violating our jurisdictional waters" and imposed $20,000 fines on each of them.

Among the fishing war victims was canoeist Fritz Sprandel, of Whitehall, Pa., who had been paddling from Key West to the Yucatan peninsula, en route to Los Angeles, when bad weather forced him ashore on Cuba's north coast. Others convicted included Dr. Bernard Bender, Woodland Hills, Calif.

One Final Tax Item Solons Set To Adjourn

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)— Some $877 million in House-passed tax proposals were slated for Senate action today—the last major unresolved issue of the 1971 Legislature.

The taxes were due for review by the Ways and Means Committee early today, and if passed by the group, faced full Senate action. If House and Senate can agree on taxes, the Legislature can adjourn and go home.

A proposed $1.39 billion budget bill has already cleared the Legislature.

It is the last day of the special session on taxes and spending, originally called for 10 days by Gov. Reubin Askew after lawmakers deadlocked during the 60-day general session. Askew later extended the special session five more days, through 5 p.m. today.

But Senate leaders said they may need more time to resolve the issue of new taxes. "We'll not rush something as important as spending the taxpayers' hard-earned money for the sake of adjournment," said Sen. President Jerry Thomas, D-Jupiter.

Senate Ways and Means Chairman Louis de la Parte, D-Tampa, said the House tax package was lacking in aid to cities and counties.

De la Parte said the House did not even consider a four-cent boost in the cigarette tax, which would have netted $20 million for local governments.

In addition, charged the senator, the House called for increasing the gasoline tax by one penny, but giving only $17 million of it to cities and counties, while funneling the other $20 million it is expected to generate directly into state coffers.

A Senate penny-on-the-gallon increase diverted the entire $17 million to local governments, said de la Parte.

"They've completely overlooked the needs of the cities," he said.

House Appropriations Chairman Rep. Marshall Harris, D-Miami, said that "we're going to have some problems because of that one thing, the absence of funding for cities and counties."

The House taxes slated for Senate review today included:

- The penny-on-the-gallon gasoline tax hike.
- One mill net worth corporate privilege tax, $24 million.
- One per cent increase on the sales tax on motor vehicles and heavy machinery, as well

Baby Lenore Finds Her Home At Last

MIAMI (AP) — Nicholas and Jean DeMartino abandoned their Brooklyn home after New York courts ruled they had to return their adoptive daughter, Lenore, to her natural mother, Tuesday their flight ended.

"Dear God, we won," cried Nicholas DeMartino when Dade County Circuit Judge Ralph Cullen ruled they could keep Lenore.

Jean DeMartino hugged their Miami attorney, William Colson. The DeMartinos' wept openly with joy.

Sitting just a few feet away Olga Scarpetta broke into tears as well. Her child was not her own.

Miss Scarpetta, 33, had put the child up for adoption with a New York agency four days after Lenore's birth on May 18, 1970.

The DeMartinos, then living in Brooklyn, took custody of the infant four weeks later. But Miss Scarpetta, a Colombian native now working as a secretary in New York, had a change of heart and tried to get Lenore back. The adoption agency refused but lost the fight in court.

The DeMartinos fled to Florida with Lenore and their 4-year-old adopted daughter, Linda, last month. They said they plan to stay.

Miss Scarpetta's attorneys said they would appeal Cullen's decision even though the DeMartinos said if Lenore were to demonstrate she wanted to see her natural mother, they would agree to it.

Cullen said he decided to deny Miss Scarpetta's Florida suit "in view of all the law, evidence and the DeMartinos' good reputation."

The ruling came at the end of an emotion-packed hearing in which Miss Scarpetta, the daughter of a Bogota importer, told how her child came into being.

She said she had been dating a man in her homeland for two years but only after she became pregnant by him did she learn he was married and had two children.

She moved to New York with out telling her parents of her condition.

"I was awfully ashamed of myself," she told the court. "I had never thought of having a relationship like that with a man."

She said the father offered to arrange an abortion or to take the child into his home, but she refused.

"I didn't want the child to be raised by his wife," she said. She turned Lenore over to the adoption agency instead.

Woman Must Decide: 60 Lbs. Or 36 Months

By STRATTON L. DOUTHAT
MIAMI (AP) — Mary Louise Peterson has a weighty problem. She must shed 60 pounds in the next five months or go to jail for the next three years.

The deadline diet was imposed on the 38-year-old mother of six after she was found guilty of disorderly conduct, and resisting police without violence, and was placed on probation, Miami Criminal Court Judge Murray Goodman made the weight loss mandatory as a term of her three-year probation.

"Her attorney said she was on welfare and was too over-weight to hold down a job," said Judge Goodman. "If I put her in jail or fine her, I just penalize the children."

At the time of her May 24 trial, Mrs. Peterson tipped the scales at 315. Tuesday, she said she was down to 310.

"I'm on a strict pedicel diet," she said. "It's not easy to lose weight, but then my doctor said it wouldn't be. The judge told me I had to lose three pounds a week until I got down to 250. I'm going to lose more than that. I'm not going to stop until I get down to 200."

Mrs. Peterson, a hefty six-footer, said she weighed 138 at the time of her marriage, nearly 20 years ago, but had gained steadily over the years.

"It sort of creeps up on you," she said. "And before you know it, you're way overweight."

Mrs. Peterson must make periodic visits to her probation officer while she is on probation.

Meanwhile, with Legislative time fast running out, Askew was urging legislative leaders to act on other matters included in his special session proclamation.

These included a watershed reorganization of the commerce department, mandatory setbacks for highway billboards, creation of regional mass transit authorities and extension for one more year the Jan. 1 deadline for cities to reduce their property tax levels to 10 mills.

Aides to the governor, however, said it was doubtful he would extend the session again on the basis of these issues.

In the Senate, de la Parte said he would propose an attempt to extend the 10 mill deadline if new revenues could be found through taxes as an alternate way of relieving local governments.

In the House, an aide said he "doubted anything will happen with it this session. It will probably happen in November."

Harris said that at the revenue level provided by the House for cities it would be impossible to force major cities like Miami, Tampa and St. Petersburg to cut back to 10 mills.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)— Florida's current distinction of being one of two states with the earliest presidential primary in the nation isn't expected to last long.

Gov. Reubin Askew Tuesday signed a bill scheduling the preference primary for March 14, 1972, same date as New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation primary.

But the New Hampshire Legislature was in session and expected to whip through a bill moving up its primary to March 7.

"We will retain the first in the nation primary," said New Hampshire House Speaker Marshall Cobleigh.

But the promise was of no apparent concern to Florida leaders who pushed for passage of the bill.

"Everyone recognizes," said Florida House Speaker Richard Pettigrew, D-Miami, "that Florida will have the first important one."

Askew agreed, saying Florida would remain as the "first major state" to hold a primary, unless some other big state adopts legislation in the upcoming months.

Pettigrew, key sponsor of the bill, said it was designed to give Florida a stronger voice in national politics and also allow the state to cash in on national publicity.

He said it would boost tourism to have a "sun so soon" contrast drawn in the national media if the Florida and New Hampshire primaries occurred at about the same time.

Several presidential candidates already have been in Florida and two U. S. Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Republican Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles, were visiting Florida cities at the time Askew signed the bill.

Others who have visited the state recently include Rep. Paul McCloskey, R-Calif., and U. S. Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine; Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.; Harold Hughes, D-Iowa; and Henry Jackson, D-Washington.

Candidates would be allowed on the ballot if they are recognized in the national or state news media as presidential aspirants and do not sign an oath by March 1 swearing they are not and do not intend to become candidates.

— Requires migrant labor contracts to comply with contracts with growers and workers; provide liability insurance on all vehicles; provide statements of wage deductions; comply with certain safety standards for migrant buses and to maintain records as required by the farm labor service.

Askew commended the legislators who have visited the state recently include Rep. Paul McCloskey, R-Calif., and U. S. Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine; Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.; Harold Hughes, D-Iowa; and Henry Jackson, D-Washington.

Candidates would be allowed on the ballot if they are recognized

Jack Prosser Is Stifled In Tourney Final, 4-0

By HERKY CUSH
Herald Sports Staff

A strapping six-footer, a giant among his peers, put the job to the Seminole Little League Champion, Jack Prosser, last night as Pinecastle won the District Three City Tournament, 4-0.

Chuck Forst, who in most instances this season displayed a great deal of wildness in his mound efforts, was in rare form last night as he fired a two-hitter and walked only two men en route to the victory.

Losing pitcher, Tim Raines, had nothing to be ashamed of as only a first inning outburst by the winners was the only time during the game in which the Prosser ace faltered.

In that first frame for Pinecastle Doug Soary walked to start the action. Steve Rutledge then tapped a single to center putting runners on first and second. Bob Elliot then got hold of a Raines delivery and sent it soaring over the centerfield fence to the delight of most of the gallery which packed Datsun Field. Rob Brown rapped a single after the blast by Elliot but Raines closed out the inning by striking out the next two batters and getting the last man on a pop up to short.

Seminole had a slight rally in the second frame. Jay Johnson threw to the delight of most of the gallery which packed Datsun Field. Rob Brown rapped a single after the blast by Elliot but Raines closed out the inning by striking out the next two batters and getting the last man on a pop up to short.

and promptly stole second. Mike Prosser walked. It was the only time during the game the Seminole manager got more than one base runner on. Forst got out of the jam by fanning the final Seminole hitter.

While Seminole posed few threats to the Pinecastle hurler the host Cadets were getting Raines in constant trouble but could not dent the plate.

In the third frame with two down Forst sent a line drive down the rightfield line on a late swing and just managed to sneak past the throw for a double. A wild pitch put him on third but Raines fanned the

Sportscaster Koufax Keeps Honest Image

By PAUL CORCORAN
Copley News Service

LOS ANGELES — Sandy Koufax has not pitched a ball in major league play since the second game of the 1966 World Series, forced out of the sport by an arthritic left elbow.

Yet the Koufax who turned from baseball to television (NBC) is the same private person who used to keep his telephone in the oven to avoid calls, and to maintain discreet distance from the press, radio and TV.

This is not meant to imply that Koufax ever has been un-cooperative with the press. Assigned, perhaps inappropriately, to a back-up assignment on color comment on the Saturday Game of the Day, Koufax has an attractive new wife, the daughter of actor Richard Widmark, after a long reign as one of Los Angeles' most eligible bachelors.

He throws none of the temperamental typical of the "one-camera" personalities, perhaps because of his financial independence, but more than anything because of the nature of the man.

For example, doctors have diagnosed the ailment that prematurely ended Koufax' career at the age of 30 as the result of his pitching in Little League baseball.

In an interview, he refreshingly does not fall into a pattern of cliché answers. He is in effect a quiet Vince Lombardi, who does not dodge a loaded question but says he cannot answer accurately a query on something he knows little about.

Glorious Track In Heyday Death Closed Grand Boulevard

By MAURICE BEAM
Copley News Service

COORNA, Calif. — Turn off Sixth Street onto Grand Boulevard. Keep going and in exactly three miles you will return to your point of origin.

To the average motorist there seems to be little out of the ordinary about Grand Boulevard. But for a brief moment in automotive history it bathed in the glory of being the most famous racecourse in America.

For auto fans from coast to coast in the midtwentieth century, the Grand Boulevard Concours was the Indianapolis 500 and Europe's Grand Prix and Le Mans speedway all merged into one.

Today, Grand is a staid residential thoroughfare with a scattering of commercial zones along its tree-lined curves.

It wasn't like that as the age of speed by internal combustion lightened the American imagination. Along the Concour the light burned brightly. Then, after a final blaze, it went out. Why? Because death rode too often with the dare-devil pilots who drove at Coorna.

That first race over the Concour circle drew nearly 100,000 spectators in 1912. The next two meets in '14 and '16 did almost as well. After that the racing outcasts of the dirt-track juggernauts of speed were heard no more.

Go back to 1912. There were 6,000 residents in Coorna, which bore the proud nickname of "Lemon Capital" or "Citrus center" of the West. Local historians remember that as they remember, too, the smell of castor oil and gasoline fumes as these smokes for the first time with smog the green leaves of eucalyptus and sycamore.

Look over their shoulders. There go the thundering Duesenbergs, Stutzes, Mercers, Marmons, Maxwells, Fiats and Peugeot's hurtling along the oiled dirt raceway at the then incredible speeds of 110 miles an hour.

Gripping the steering wheels of the hurtling Behemoths are the men, alongside them their mechanics, flying around the three-mile course.

All the famous daredevils of racing were there: Barney Oldfield, Ralph De Palma, Terrible Teddy Tetzlaff, the three Ed-dies — Pullen, O'Donnell, Rick-hoffner, was slightly injured. But the old master emerged smiling, profane, unscathed, with the trademark cigar still in place, a hero larger than death.

Those cars may have been big but in certain vital areas they were weak. Wire wheels were embraced by tires the size of those on today's motorcycles. Wire was the transition material between timber and the pressed steel wheels of now.

Demountable rims were still experimental. Fixed directly to the wheel, the flimsy racing rubber carried pressures up to 200 pounds. Under the hot fury of 100-mile-an-hour speeds tires were prone to melt.

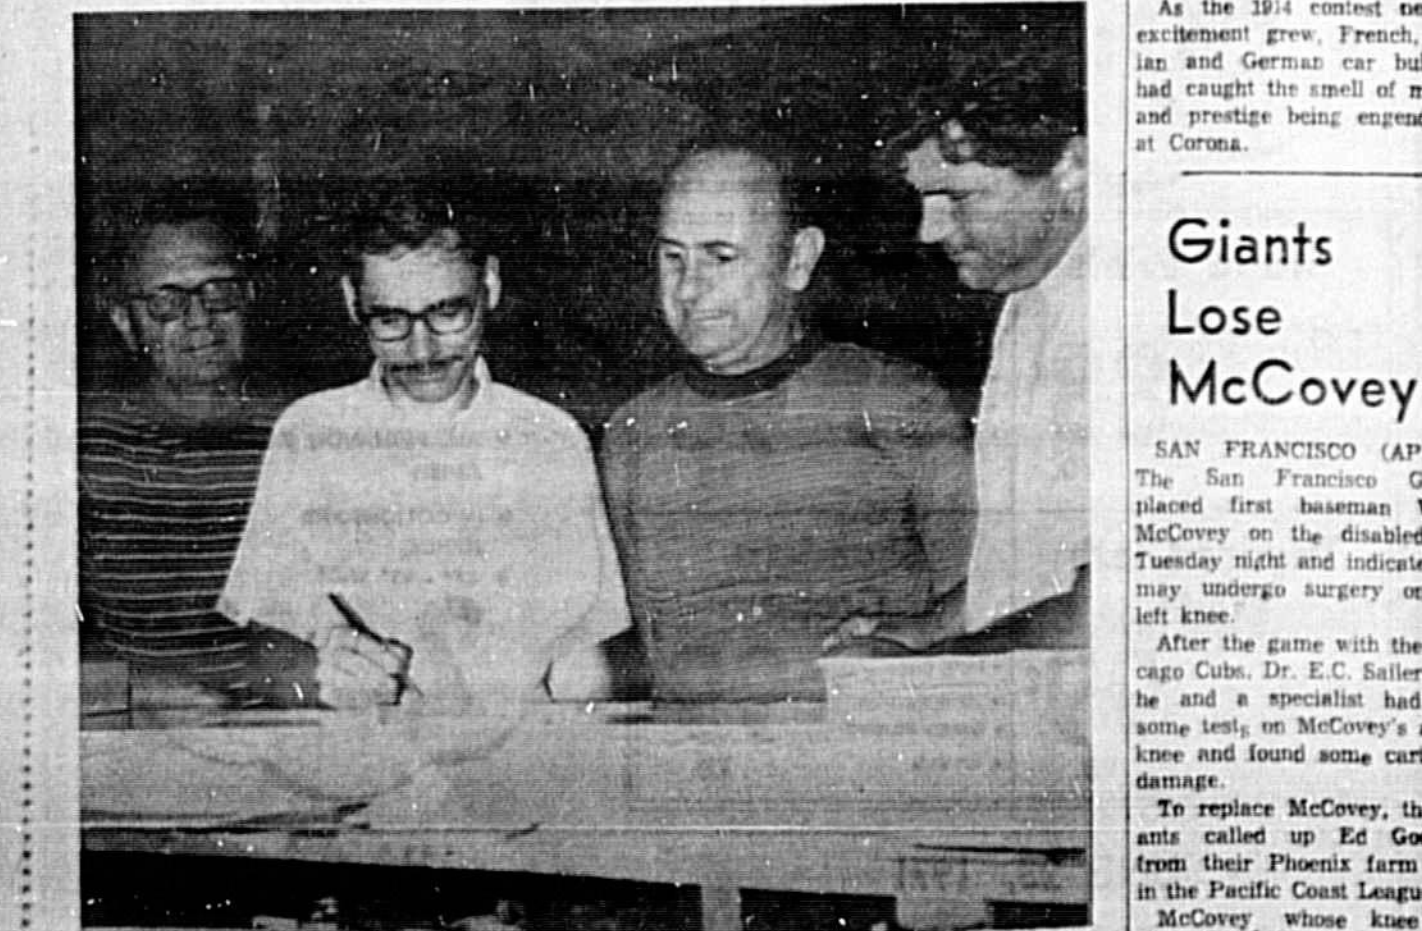

Engines were of a big bore, long-stroke design, with massive torque but lacking in top power. Internal combustion was still an infant not long out of midwifery of Damier, Benz, Duryea, Winton and countless other tinkers who launched the gasoline age.

Nor could steel allow in timing chains, differentials and other gear trains match the tough fiber of the men who sent them churning.

Historical records of the three races contain legacies grim and nostalgic.

That 100,000 crowd in 1912 saw Cooper come in first in his Stutz Bearcat, averaging 74 miles an hour for the 300-mile course. Only three finished in a field of 32. Oldfield had wrecked his car to save the boy.

As the 1914 contest neared, excitement grew. French, Italian and German car builders had caught the smell of money and prestige being engendered at Coorna.

Nolan Fires Six-Hitter With Lot Of Support

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's Gary Nolan, who couldn't get even a little help from his friends a few weeks ago, is beginning to pick up support in double doses.

Nolan, who has pitched in bad luck for most of the season, tossed a six-hitter Tuesday night to beat Philadelphia 6-1 with the backing of timely doubles by Tony Perez, Hal McRae and George Foster.

It was the second successive complete game victory for the 23-year-old right hander, who had lost five in a row from May 19 to June 8 as his team scored a total of three runs behind him.

In other National League action, the New York Mets topped Pittsburgh 4-0. Atlanta trimmed Montreal 4-0. San Francisco blanked the Chicago Cubs 2-0. St. Louis shaded Los Angeles 6-5 and Houston beat San Diego 4-2.

Rookie Charlie Williams blanked Pittsburgh on three hits for eight innings and reliever Danny Fritzel checked off a two-run Prieto rally in the ninth as the Mets gained ground in the East Division race.

Grote's run scoring single in the eighth proved decisive for the Mets, who trail first-place Pittsburgh by 3½ games.

Ron Reed fired a three-hitter and the Braves struck four for runs in the third to top Montreal. Reed blanked the Expos 10-0 in an infield single by losing pitcher Steve Renko until the ninth.

Chris Speier's run-scoring single in the sixth sparked the Giants to their sixth straight victory for a 7½ game lead in the West.

Joe Torre, Lou Brock and Jerry McNetney divided nine St. Louis' 14 hits and left-hander Steve Carlton, 11-3, stopped the Dodgers on six. The Cards broke a 3-3 tie in the sixth with a three-run rally ending in the first round.

Other seeded Americans in the second round are Arthur Ashe, of Gum Spring, Va., who faced Patrick Proby of France, and Cliff Richey of Sarasota, Fla., who had to parlay British contract professional Roger Taylor.

Bad Luck For Mid-Florida Riders

By HERKY CUSH
Herald Sports Writer

"You can't win them all" is the way the saying goes and the Mid-Florida Riders Club of Seminole found this true last week at the Orlando Sports Stadium Motocross.

For the first time since they've been racing as a club the Mid-Florida Riders failed to capture at least one trophy in motocross competition.

But last Sunday just was not their day. Not only did they fail to win a trophy but for the most part the Mid-Florida crew failed to keep their bikes in the way the saying goes and the Mid-Florida Riders Club of Seminole found this true last week at the Orlando Sports Stadium Motocross.

Gorman Wins Opener

By GEOFFREY MILLER
WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Tom Gorman, American tennis star and Wimbledon giant-killer, faced his second match today with the turf drying out in the sun and his confidence sky-high.

The 23-year-old player from Seattle, Wash., was paired against Elio Di Matteo, Italy's fourth-ranked man. Gorman appeared to have a much easier task than in the first round when he eliminated eight-seeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa.

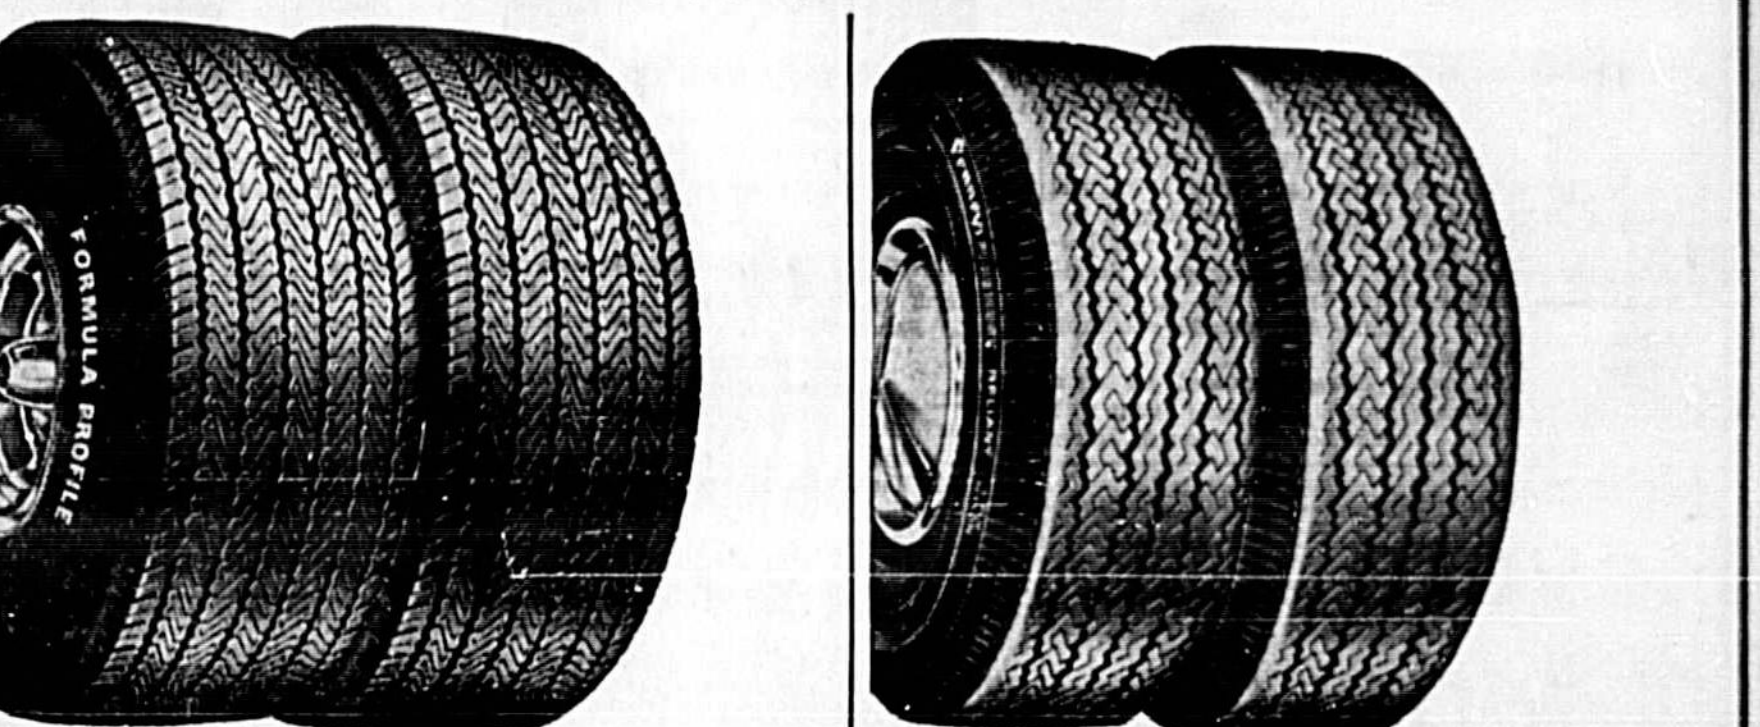

"Every hour of play and practice on English grass makes me more confident," Gorman said after playing in a men's doubles on the center court last night.

Tuesday as the sun shone and the wind dropped, the ball began to bounce for the big servers. It looked like the weather to help Stan Smith, the 6-foot-4 giant from Pasadena, Calif., who is rated by many experts as the main challenger to the top ranking Australians.

Smith, the No. 4 seed, had to meet young John Paish of Britain in the second round.

Other seeded Americans in the second round are Arthur Ashe, of Gum Spring, Va., who faced Patrick Proby of France, and Cliff Richey of Sarasota, Fla., who had to parlay British contract professional Roger Taylor.

Safety Precautions For OSU Fans Described

By HUBERT MIZELL
 MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Ohio State's unbeaten Buckeyes crunched toward a touchdown against rival Michigan as 83,000 loyal fans erupted in the giant horseshoe at Columbus.

Michigan one-yard line ... first and goal.
 "That's when we had to call for the bomb," says Ohio State Athletic Director Ed Weaver.

"And this bomb had nothing to do with our great quarterback, Rex Kerr."
 This bomb was the dynamite kind. At least that's what the anonymous telephone caller had told Ohio State University of officials.

"Our decision was to advise the crowd," Weaver said. "We worried there might be some wild panic. Boy, were we relieved when the crowd reacted by applauding, cheering and laughing."
 Ohio State scored and won the game. No bomb was found.

Weaver was speaking on campus disorders involving sports facilities. His Tuesday audience was composed of conveners of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics. "Our guidelines are established by the attorney general of the State of Ohio," he said. "We have a sound of men placed in our football stadium on Thursday to watch the game ... they don't leave until gametime on Saturday."

 There are other precautions on the gigantic Ohio State University campus where civil disorders erupted last year and forced a temporary closing of all buildings.

"We also have the very efficient Ohio Highway Patrol to come in Saturday morning and comb the stadium," Weaver continued. "On top of that, we have the Columbus City Bomb Squad to check it over before the gates are opened at noon."
 Like many big-time sports operations, Ohio State is prepared for almost any type of disorder.

"If something breaks out during the game," Weaver said, "if the referee thinks it's serious, the game is stopped. We have a liaison man with a hot line telephone on the bench. The referee comes to him." On the "hot line" is Weaver, the OSU president and campus security boss.

If the disturbances become heated, the teams will be sent to the locker rooms — by Big Ten rule. The game may even be postponed, a decision that rests with the two schools' athletic directors.

Mills Is Promoted In Eckerd Company

CLEARWATER (SPL) — The Jack Eckerd Corporation has a new vice president who began his career in aeronautical engineering and now has one of the top drug management posts in the Jack Eckerd Corporation.

Jack M. Eckerd, chairman of the board of the corporation, announced today the elevation of H. B. (Bill) Mills to corporate vice president. Mills is general manager of the Clearwater Division of Eckerd Drugs, and will continue in that post.

Eckerd, commenting on Mills, said: "Bill's competence in almost every phase of our company's operations has earned for him our respect and confidence. As an officer of the corporation, we know he will continue to make valuable contributions to our growing organization."

Mills is a Tar Heel — a native of Wilmington, N.C. He trained as an aeronautical engineer at the University of California, Los Angeles and later worked for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. He began his career in management and retailing when he joined Sears, Roebuck & Co. For 12 years he served that company in an executive capacity, and then went with the Grand Union Corp.

Mills joined the Jack Eckerd Corp. in February, 1966. He was named acting general manager of the Clearwater Division in April, 1970, and general manager in January, 1971.

Prior to that he had been an Eckerd Drug Store manager, a Clearwater Division area supervisor, a director of the corporation's food operations, and an assistant to the corporation's president, Harry F. Roberts.

Mills and his family reside in St. Petersburg. He and his wife, Jacqueline, have three sons, Herbert B. III, Richard and Mark, and a daughter, Sandra.

Frank Vaught, of WDBO television; Don Ammon, Radio WOOO of Deland; Barbara Kenney, of Daytona Beach News-Journal; Owen Forgione, professional photographer of Deland, and Mrs. J. J. Siczekowski, correspondent for The Sanford Herald.

Winners will be judged on poise, personality and sincerity. They will present a short talk on an assigned subject. Four finalists will be chosen. The winner will receive a weekend vacation for herself and family at the Mackle Brothers' Marco Island. She will also receive a gift from Florida Greeting Service. The other three finalists will receive in the order of their placement in the competition, awards of $50, $25 and $25.

Following the crowning of the new queen, Mrs. W. Stahlrueber will present a variety show, consisting of Deltona Woman's Club Chorale, DelRay Players, doing a skit from an original musical; a male cast in a comedy skit; the Empire State Club Entertainers and "The American Road," a musical group with its own dance troupe.

The public is invited to come to Deltona and enjoy a safe and sound holiday on July 4 at Elcam Park Community Center.

Milk Up But Use Is Down

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Writer

Right now in New York State and particularly, and in the entire nation generally, it seems that the more milk cows produce the less of it is consumed. Up goes the supply, down goes the demand. That is today's story. But the cows don't hear. They go right on increasing their annual output.

The dairy industry expects milk consumption to drop from current 561 pounds per person per year to at least 450 pounds by 1980. That could be a modest prediction," reports Barbara Ribbar, consumer economist with the Cornell College of Human Ecology. "But that doesn't mean all dairy products will be hit in the same way. Butter, yes; and whole milk, probably. But we are using more cheese, cottage cheese and low-fat fluid milk. Ice cream is becoming almost a fad in certain parts of the country.

"The cholesterol question has definitely influenced the increased consumption of low-fat fluid milk. It is a big seller in today's market.

"Many people fear eating too much animal fat. The fat in milk is animal fat, of course, and people therefore try to avoid it, using polyunsaturated fats. Instead, like vegetable and fish oil, for example. But even so, when the fat in milk is reduced to 1 to 2 per cent from the regular 3 1/2 to 4 per cent, this appeals to them. Which explains why so many dieters are drinking low-fat fluid milk," she says, adding:

"It is much more available nowadays. Furthermore, the so-called modified or fortified milks, originally introduced were not very popular."

The sales of nonfat dry milk have increased almost 50 per cent since 1960. There are several reasons. Manufacturers use it to fortify their dairy products and creamed dishes; the U.S. Department of Agriculture is using it for welfare programs.

"The home use of nonfat milk has increased greatly, too. It is a better product today - it solves quicker and tastes much better. It is economical, too, costing around 11 cents a quart as compared to 20 and 21 cents a quart for whole milk. Many mothers combine it with whole milk and say their children like it."

Once upon a time milk was absolutely the main drink of children and teen-agers. But that picture is changing. The manufacturers of soft drinks are threatening to replace our good old familiar cows, it seems.

"Yet boys up to 19 years of age still make milk's best customers," Mrs. B. says.

Sack Lunches To Go
It's picnic time again, and I'll bet you'll be making lots of sandwiches. Perhaps you have to make several at once every day for your husband to take to work and for the kids to take off to summer school or summer jobs, or just to the park. Here are a few time-savers.

Sandwich Shortcuts
First, line up the bread slices in a manner that will make it easier to spread the filling on alternate slices. Spreading will be faster and more even if you use a flexible spreader. Put on the top slice and stack two or three sandwiches one on top of the other. Slice through them all at once with a sharp knife.

Sandwich Fun
Does your family get tired of the same old sandwich? Even small children need an occasional relief from their favorite peanut-butter-and-jelly.

Sandwich variety can start with bread. It is easy to get into the boring habit of using white all the time. Sample your grocery's variety breads. Use rye or pumpernickel or Roman Meal bread once in while. It will make a big flavor difference.

Delicious Cherry Conserve

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Do-it-yourself cooks may be interested in preserving some of summer's fresh sweet cherries in a conserve.
The following recipe takes very little cooking: the fruit mixture is brought to a boil, boiled 1 minute and removed from the heat. Liquid fruit pectin is added immediately and the mixture is then stirred and skimmed for 5 minutes. After that into hot jelly glasses the hot conserve goes and it is sealed with paraffin.

One word about melting paraffin. For this it's a good idea to use a small discarded saucepan set in a skillet of hot water; or lacking the saucepan you can use an empty clean tin can in a saucepan of hot water. Remember that paraffin is highly inflammable and so must be melted and kept hot over gentle heat; it should never be allowed to become so hot that it smokes. Because the paraffin will coat the container we suggest the "fried" saucepan (that can be kept for this job) or the tin can that can be thrown away.

CHERRY CONSERVE

- 3 pounds (about) ripe dark sweet cherries
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
- 4 cup freshly squeezed lemon juice
- 7 cups sugar
- 1 1/2 cups raisins, coarsely chopped
- 1 cup chopped (medium-fine) walnuts
- 1 bottle (6 ounces) liquid fruit pectin
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract

Remove from heat and, at once stir in pectin. With a metal spoon, skim off any foam. Then stir and skim alternately for 5 minutes to cook slightly and prevent floating fruit.
Stir in almond extract.
Using a 1-cup glass measure with a pouring lip as a guide, and holding pouring lid close to jar, at once pour conserve into hot jelly glasses to within 1/2 inch from the top.
As once pour hot paraffin to an 1/4 inch depth over conserve; rotate the glass so the paraffin climbs up the sides of the glass and makes an airtight seal. A single thin layer of paraffin holds a lot better than a thick layer of two thin layers. Prick any air bubbles that appear in the paraffin; bubbles cause holes to form in the paraffin as it hardens, and an imperfect seal may result.
Let stand until cool and paraffin hardens. With a damp cloth wipe off any spills on glass. Cover with metal lids. Label and store in a cool, dry, dark place.
Makes about 12 one-half pint glasses.

GOOD DINNER

- Charlotte Dornay's Chicken with Tomato Sauce
- Noodles Green Peas
- Fruit Salad Beverage

CHICKEN WITH TOMATO SAUCE

- 3 tablespoons margarine
- 3 pound broiler-fryer, cut up
- 1 tablespoon instant onion
- Pinch of garlic powder
- 1 can (16 ounce) tomatoes
- 1/2 of a 6-ounce can tomato paste

1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon oregano
1/4 teaspoon basil
1/4 teaspoon celery seed
1 bay leaf
1/4 cup dry white wine
In a large skillet over medium heat melt margarine; brown chicken on both sides, sprinkling with onion and garlic powder. Mix together all the remaining ingredients except the wine; pour over chicken; cover and simmer 30 minutes. Stir in wine; remove cover and cook gently turning several times, until tender—15 minutes longer. Remove bay leaf; skim off excess fat. Place chicken in deep serving dish and ladle sauce over it. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

"I still like to entertain a few friends on an evening," said Serge Obolensky, costume prince who has staged some of the most memorable parties on this side of the Atlantic. "And when I do, I usually cook up some specialty from my native Russia."

Col. Obolensky who at various times in his career was married to three women, including daughters of Russia's Czar Alexander II and America's John Jacob Astor, still puts in a full day's work at his public relations firm. And he likes to indulge in an evening on the town and quaff a sociable vodka on the rocks, even though he passed the age of 80 last October.

Before embarking on a social evening, Obolensky likes to drink gelatin dissolved in hot water and lemon juice. "It takes the tiredness away," he told me as we sat in his mid-town office. "It also builds strength and makes my nails grow."

Cooking has always intrigued the colonel. He employed one of the finest chefs in his native land back in 1916 when he was a Russian prince married to Princess Yvonne of Bratskiy, daughter of Alexander II.

Later the chef came to America and cooked for Obolensky and his second wife, the late Alice Astor. In June 1971 Obolensky married a third time to Marilyn Fraser Wall.

In the years that Obolensky spent operating some of New York's finest hotels, he always placed heavy stress on the cuisine. When he was the guiding hand at the Sherry Netherland, he set up a Russian kitchen under Yousif Yousif, who had been drilled in his art by the head chef of Russia's Czar Nicholas II.

After World War II, in which he rose to the rank of colonel as the oldest combat paratrooper in the U.S. Army, Obolensky began cooking cozy dinners for small groups of friends at his homes in New York and the Hamptons. His favorite dishes include Russian borshch and hearty little appetizers called nitrochki, for which he gave me the following recipe:

1/2 lb. flour
1 cup milk
4 or butter
1 package yeast
2 eggs
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt

Soften yeast in water and heat milk to tepid, adding softened yeast. Add about 4 or flour and beat until smooth. Cover and allow to stand about 40 minutes. Mix the eggs with sugar, salt and melted butter and blend with the yeast mix. Add enough of remaining flour to make a soft dough. Knead about 12 minutes until it is smooth and elastic. Turn this into a greased bowl, grease the top also and cover with a towel. Let it rise at a temperature of about 85 degrees for about 90 minutes until it has about doubled in size.

Shape small pieces of dough into balls and roll each to about quarter inch thickness. Place a teaspoon of meat filling in the center. Fold sides of dough over the filling and roll into an oval shape. Let stand on a greased baking sheet about 15 minutes until the dough is light. Then bake in a 425 degree oven about 15 minutes. Lower to 400 degrees until brown or about 20 minutes longer. See meat filling formula below:

8 tablespoons butter
8 ounces round chopped fine
4 ounces bouillon
1 ounce cognac
2 medium onions, chopped
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt, pepper to taste
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Heat butter in a skillet, add meat and brown. Remove meat from pan and set aside. Add bouillon and brandy to the skillet and heat. In separate pan just remaining butter, add onion and cook until brown and stir in the flour. Add the liquid from the first skillet and cook until thickened. Mix all the ingredients. This should make about two dozen turnovers.

Attractive July 4th Centerpiece

By ALFRED CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

A hefty ham makes an attractive centerpiece for a Fourth of July table. Whether cooked in the oven or in a covered kettle a ham takes on added flavor from a glaze. These may be sweet or tangy when made with a cranberry, honey-orange, peach or lemon sugar-dry mustard. Cooking a ham in a covered kettle outdoors is simple. Be certain charcoal briquettes are stacked at the sides to provide space for a drip pan over every 45 to 50 minutes, they say. At 8:00-10:00 pound ham should roast for 3 minutes per pound and a larger ham requires less time per pound to cook than a smaller one. Roasting time for canned hams is to heat them throughout and allow time to take on the flavor of cloves and glaze. Smoked or cured ham must be completely cooked through in oven or covered unit and it is best to use a meat thermometer. It should read 160-175 degrees before ham is ready to serve.

CRANBERRY GLAZE
1 cup mashed jelly
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/3 cup packed dark brown sugar
HONEY-ORANGE GLAZE
1/4 cup packed dark brown sugar
1/4 cup honey
1/4 cup orange juice
PEACH GLAZE
1 cup peach preserves
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon ginger
BAKED HAM GLAZE
1/4 cup packed brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
2 teaspoons water
Glaze ingredients are mixed cold and spread on ham as directed. To prepare the ham score the fat diagonally and insert a whole clove at the center of each diamond that is formed by scoring. Cook over indirect medium heat for 30 minutes per pound. After 30 minutes baste with glaze. Baste again every 30 minutes if thick glaze is desired. With all but peach glaze garnish with pineapple rings and cherries 15 minutes before ham is done.

SALT SCOO

If your memory stretches back far enough, you must recall something called a "depression plant." It also was known as a coal plant, coal coral or kitchen coral. But it is better known as a salt flower. They were, and still are, pariahs to grow. Children especially like to watch them grow. To make one, here is all you need:

1 object under 1/2 inch long
1 object under 1/2 inch wide
1 piece of coal, brick or soap
1 large household bluing
1 large water
1 cup ammonia

Mix the ingredients and pour over the object in a wide dish. When the object is saturated, add colored ink, fabric dye or food coloring for effect. To see how it grows, suspend (Do not use nails.) Wash dish edges with iodine to prevent the flower from growing over the side. Mix and add another recipe in continuous growth. Keep flower moist. How does it grow? The solution is absorbed by the object, then evaporation upon reaching the top, leaving the salt behind. The bluing is a key, as it causes salt to crystallize out on the corners and edges of other irregular-shaped crystals rather than on the sides of cubic crystals. For a brief explanation of "How the Salt Flower Grows," just write me in care of "Salt Flower."

Hastily Prepared Dinners

By ALIEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

What homemaker has not been caught with a lean refrigerator when unexpected guests drop in? A quick, different and tasty meal is simple to prepare from frozen fish sticks in an enriched homestyle breading and crescent rolls. From this combination come attractive looking Fish in Blanket or Fish in Breadbasket, depending upon how the dough is folded. From canned soup mix a filling Beef and Green Pea Bouillion that children and adults will enjoy with the fish snacks.

BEEF AND GREEN PEA BOUILLION
1 can (1 1/4 ounces) condensed pea soup
1 can (1 1/4 ounces) condensed beef bouillon
1 1/2 cups milk
Chopped parsley
Combine all ingredients except parsley, Beat. Heat. Garnish with parsley. Serve hot or cold.

FISH IN BLANKET OR BREADBASKET
1 package frozen crescent rolls
Melted butter
4 slices American cheese
1 (1 pound) package enriched fish sticks
Blanket: Remove crescent roll dough from package and separate into 8 triangles. Spread out and brush with melted butter. Cut cheese slices into 1/2-inch strips. Place one fish stick at end of triangle; place one or two strips of cheese on top and cover with another fish stick. Roll buttered dough around fish sandwich. Bake in preheated 400-degree oven for 16 minutes. Serve hot with Just Right Sauce.

Breadbasket: Remove crescent roll dough from package and separate into 8 triangles. Use melted butter for inside of eight-cup muffin tin. Arrange dough in muffin tins, pressing dough against sides and bottom. Let triangle points protrude over edge of muffin cup, to form handles for baskets. Cut slightly thawed fish stick in half. Arrange four or eight pieces in cup on top of dough. Circle with cheese strips. Place on baking sheet and bake in preheated 400-degree oven for 16 minutes. Serve with Just Right Sauce.

1 package brown gravy and sauce mix
1/2 cup chopped onions
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup catsup
Prepare gravy as package label directs, using 1/2-cup water. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer 5 minutes.

Oatmeal Quick Bread

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Quick breads are great to take to a picnic or serve at breakfast on the patio. And if you are in the market for a new recipe you may want to choose this nutritious one featuring oatmeal, raisins and applesauce. Sliced and spread with butter or cream cheese it will taste good as an accompaniment to good tea or coffee or milk.

OATMEAL QUICK BREAD
Topping, see below
1/4 cup sifted flour
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup quick-cooking oats
1/2 cup raisins
1/4 cup canned sweetened applesauce
1/2 cup melted (not olive) oil
3 large eggs
1/4 cup milk

Prepare Topping and set aside. Grease and flour a loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches). Into a large mixing bowl sift together the flour, sugar, salt, baking powder, baking soda, cinnamon and nutmeg. Stir in milk and raisins. Into a small mixing bowl turn the applesauce, oil, eggs and milk; with a fork beat well to combine.

Make a well in the center of the dry ingredients; pour applesauce mixture into the well. With a wooden spoon stir only until dry ingredients are thoroughly moistened. Pour batter into prepared pan; sprinkle topping over it. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean - 35 to 40 minutes. Cool tea bread in pan placed on wire rack for about 10 minutes. With a small metal spatula loosen edges; turn out on rack; turn right side up. Top will be flat but there may be a very small crack in it. Cool completely. Wrap tightly in transparent plastic wrap and store in a tightly covered tin box for 6 hours or overnight to facilitate slicing.

TOPIPING: In a small mixing bowl stir together 2 tablespoons firmly packed light brown sugar, 2 tablespoons finely chopped pecans and 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon.

STREAMLINED BACON AND EGGS
1/2 pound sliced bacon, at room temperature
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
8 large eggs
Salt and pepper to taste
1 or 2 tablespoons butter

Arrange bacon on a rack in a large shallow roasting or broiling pan. If necessary, fat edge of 1 strip of bacon may overlap lean of next strip. Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Place bacon on first or second rack from top of oven and bake, without turning, until crisp - about 10 to 15 minutes. Meanwhile dice cheese using a sharp knife dipped in hot water for each cut. Beat eggs slightly adding salt and pepper. In a 10-inch skillet over moderate heat, melt butter; add eggs; scramble to desired doneness; at end of cooking, fold in the diced cheese. Place eggs in center of serving platter and surround with bacon. Makes 4 servings.

FAMILY DINNER
Business Smoked Pork Shoulder Butt
Beans
Shad Beans
Fruit and Vegetable Dish
Coffee Jelly Beverage

FRUIT AND VEGETABLE DISH
Pantryshelf fruit is used here. 2 tablespoons butter
1 small onion, peeled and minced
1 large green pepper, seeded and cut into thin strips
1/4 cup thin celery crescents
2 tablespoons American-type soy sauce

In a 10-inch skillet over moderately low heat melt the butter. Add the remaining ingredients and mix well. Cover skillet and stir several times as mixture heats. Makes 6 servings.

Indicted Officers Remain On Job

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Gov. Reubin Askew has decided to allow the Sarasota County Commission — indicted on charges of conducting public business in private — to remain in office pending a trial next month.

Askew announced Wednesday he would not suspend the five commissioners accused of violating Florida's Government in the Sunshine Law. However, Askew urged them to act only on necessary matters between now and their scheduled July 7 court date.

The five were indicted last Thursday for allegedly meeting behind closed doors on May 3 at the home of Commissioner Irving Snyder. At the time, the indictments charged, they discussed the resignation of the Sarasota County administrator and the reappointment of a planning board member.

The Sunshine Law requires all public business to be conducted in the open and prohibits closed-door sessions except for semi-judicial meetings.

"With the prospect for an early disposition of this case, I believe the best course is to reserve any decision on suspensions pending outcome of the trial," said Askew.

While gubernatorial suspension of officials who have been indicted is usually considered traditional, Askew said "the overriding consideration is the need for Sarasota County to have the benefit of the orderly process of government during this short period before the trial."

Askew's office did not indicate what he might do if the trial is postponed to a later date.

Along with Snyder, Commissioners Kenneth Brumback, Daniel Howe, Larry Rhodes, and John Sata Jr. were all indicted for Sunshine violations.

WEATHER — Yesterday's high 89, low 71 with .61 of an inch of rain. Partly cloudy through Friday with chance of thundershowers. Highs near 90 and the low tonight in the 70s. Pleasant summer weather spread over most of the nation today with only scattered showers along the Gulf Coast, Great Lakes and Northern Plains marring warm temperatures and fair skies.

Before you get all excited about these proposed changes in the Social Security Act, remember they go into effect only after you and I have dipped into our take-home pay quite handsomely in order to pay for this "service."

As an example, the most that is withheld from an employee this year is $405.80 and by 1977 the maximum would be at least $754.80.

Along those same lines, do you realize that for some moderate or low income families this additional tax could be a burden comparable to, or even greater than, the income tax.

You talk about things going up... that's an increase of 86 per cent in the payroll tax over the next six years.

Makes you sorta wonder just how much comfort you and I can afford, eh, neighbor?

This brings to mind the case of Edward Keryto, 50, of Grand Rapids, Michigan.

He spent seven years, working on building his own house (just working on it as time permitted over the weekends) and finally demolished it in protest when the assessed value of his home jumped $6,800 in one year.

Rather than pay what he felt was an unjust tax, he razed the building and said he would make his home in an apartment.

Blackburn Gambling Case Conflict Reported By Polk

Sheriff John Polk said today he does not know what time periods were said to be violated in the decision by Circuit Judge Tom Waddell that led to the jurist's decision to throw out all state evidence gathered by wiretapping a Mafia old gambling case against reputed associate Harlan Blackburn and his associates, Clyde Lee and Matthew Smith.

Sheriff Polk admitted wiretapping the accused's telephones but said a court order had been obtained and signed by then Circuit Judge E. Thom Rumberger which authorized the tapping.

"We have been working with Orange County authorities and Orlando police," Polk disclosed.

The sheriff added he had not had time to check in order to determine where the court order was violated but stressed he had the utmost respect for Judge Waddell and "if he says there was a reason for throwing out the evidence, I am sure he is correct."

Orange County solicitor Rom Powell, saying the case rested on the wiretap evidence, told newsmen, "We won't go to trial Monday." He said he had 30 days to appeal but probably would drop the case.

Over three days of hearings on the admissibility of the wiretap evidence, Waddell ruled it out because he said the tapes had not been placed immediately under a court seal and had been held by an unauthorized person.

The prosecutor noted that Blackburn and Lee are appealing five-year prison sentences on other gambling convictions and Smith a two-year sentence for possession of firearms by a convicted felon. Lee also faces other felony charges in Volusia County, he added.

Lee was recently released from a hospital after recovering from wounds received June 11 when six shots were fired into a telephone booth he was using on Interstate Highway 4. All the bullets struck him in the shoulders and chest. No arrests have been made.

Rape Hearing Set

Arraignment has been set for June 29 in the case of James Leonard, charged with the rape of a 16-year-old girl on May 6.

A county grand jury returned an indictment on June 15 against Leonard.

The defendant is alleged to have defended the young girl by holding a knife to her throat, while her parents were sleeping in an adjoining bedroom. The victim told authorities that she was awakened by a young man who tapped her on the shoulder.

In another arraignment, Wallace Ogilby, charged with two counts of grand larceny and buying, receiving, or aiding in the concealment of stolen property, entered a "not guilty" plea to both counts. Trial is set for July 26.

Set for arraignment on June 29 are the following defendants: Steven Kierstead, charged with grand larceny, entered a guilty plea to the lesser offense of B&E with intent to commit a misdemeanor; Steven Rowland, charged with grand larceny and John Cauley, charged with grand larceny.

Charges were nolle prossed against Gary Thomas, charged with two counts of sale and possession of a central nervous system stimulant in three cases. In a fourth case, in which Thomas was charged on two counts of sale and possession of narcotics, the charge of sale of narcotics was nolle prossed and Thomas entered a guilty plea to possession of narcotics. He was remanded to custody and a pre-sentence investigation ordered by the court.

Butler Armstrong, charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony, grand larceny, entered a guilty plea to the lesser offense of B&E with intent to commit a misdemeanor; petty larceny and is under PSI. Also entering a guilty plea to petty larceny was Stephen

Zoo Fund Campaign Ways, Means Eyed

Members of the board of directors of the Seminole Zoological Society met for luncheon with Capt. Bernard Brender, former commanding officer of the Orlando Naval Air Station, to discuss effective ways to organize a fund raising campaign.

This was deemed necessary because the group has until Sept. 1 to prove to the Sanford City Commission that it can keep the zoo open without benefit of commission budget allocations.

The commission has stated that it will close the zoo on Oct. 1 unless some responsible action is assumed and presented before that date.

Captain Brender has promised that he will campaign and assist in Orlando and South Seminole in whatever way he can fit into this schedule. Attending this luncheon meeting were: School Supt. John Angel, Valerie Colbert, secretary of the society; Ruth Swinney, president of SISTER; Dorothy Powell, chairman of a benefit dance at the Civic Center on July 3 and board members Carmen Gager, Dr. Maria Perez and Viola Kastner; Ruth Boggs executive secretary, who mans the society office in room 419 in the Sanford Atlantic Bank, and President George Edwards.
