A second try at selecting a jury to hear the trial of Club Juana operator Mike Pinter and 10 dancers on charge of indecent exposure in nude dancing at the Casselberry night club scheduled to start at 9 a.m. Wednesday has been delayed until Sept. 28. A new jury pool of 85 Seminole residents has been summoned, but some have been excused. Prosecutors and defense attorneys could not agree on a six-member panel after questioning of the last jury pool, and County Judge Harold Johnson continued the case. Obscenity charges against the defendants, earlier dismissed by Judge Johnson, were refiled by the state and dismissed again today. Defense Attorney Edward Hanlon Jr., a former Orange County Judge, has hinted that one of the dancers may demonstrate in court the nudity that took place at the club the night of May 12 when sheriff's deputies, Casselberry police, state beverage agents and state attorney's investigators raided the club. State Atty. Abbott Herring charges that Pinter, who advertised nude dancing at the night club, aided and abetted in the unlawful exposure or exhibition of sexual organs by the dancers in a vulgar or indecent manner. A repeat of last month's six-hour attempt to select an anbiased jury panel is expected. Hanlon carefully questioned prospective jurors about their church affiliations, opinions on the nude body as an art form and the rights of citizens to pay money to see shows without offending others. He repeatedly alluded to U.S. Supreme Court rulings that nudity in itself in public places isn't obscene or indecent. Assistant State Attorney Ralph Eriksson challenged a number of prospective jury members who indicated they hed frequented the Club Juana.

In Rubber, Cannery Strikes WASHINGTON (AP) - Government mediators closed in on a settlement of the California cannery strike and renewed efforts to get more than 60,000 rubber workers back on the job before their shutdown damages other segments of the economy.

As the cannery strike began its second week today, the mediators reported steady progress after overcoming a snag on money issues. Meanwhile, officials of the rubber industry were hopeful the resumption of talks today at the Federal Mediation Service will lead to a settlement of their 98-day dispute, one of the longest in the industry's history.

"There is room for compromise," United Rubber Workers President Peter Bommarito said Monday. But he added that a settlement will depend on "what attitude the companies take."

Flood Watch Continues

By The Associated Press A flash flood watch continued over portions of south Nevada this morning because of thunderstorms scattered over the Southwest. Earlier flash flood watches over portions of southern California and Arizona expired on schedule late last night because the thunderstorms decreased in intensity as expected.

Thunderstorms also continued over the central Rockies, the lower Missouri valley, from the central Great Lakes through New England and from the lower Mississippi valley to the south Atlantic coast.

Clear skies reached from the west half of the Great Lakes to the Pacific northwest this morning as well as to the northern portion of California. Partly cloudy skies remained over the southern plains, over most of Florida and through much of the Ohio valley to the northern portion of the Atlantic coast and southern New England.

Sanford police today were looking for an unidentified burglary suspect who crashed out of a warehouse-garage Monday night in a plumbing truck, careened into a nursing home fence and apparently abandoned the stolen truck in a ditch in the Midway community east of Sanford. Police gave the following account of the bizarre incident: At 10:30 p.m. a passing motorist almost collided with a pickup truck and a 15-foot wooden garage door when the vehicle was backed from the Wall Plumbing facility at 1005 Sanford Ave., and then sped east on 10th St. leaving the door partially in the street.

The stolen truck, loaded with plumbing tools and supplies bounced east for five blocks on 10th St., being graded for paving, and plowed into a chain-link fence at the rear of Sanford Nursing and Convalescent Center Inc.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Lawmaker Says He Knew Of Cuban Invasion Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) - Florida Rep. Charles E Bennett says he had advance knowledge of the Kennedy administration's ill-fated 1961 invasion of Cuba at the Bay of Pigs.

The Jacksonville Democrat said Monday he had been told of the Central Intelligence Agency's plans as a member of the House Intelligence Committee. He said he was convinced it would fail and went to register his qualms with President John F. Kennedy. Bennett told the House ethics committee he didn't feel free even now, 15 years later, to reveal what Kennedy told him, "but I can say he shared my disquietude." Bennett said he believed he had exhausted his remedies with his discussion with Kennedy and never considered making the Bay of Pigs operation public.

Shevin Calls For Crackdown

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin has called for a crackdown on abuses of shared-time contracts that give vacationers limited use of condominiums, hotel rooms or resort accommodations. He said in a letter Monday to Gov. Reubin Askew that some Florida firms engaging in shared-time plans are misrepresenting terms of their contracts with vacationers and failing to disclose all of the particulars. Shevin urged Askew to schedule Cabinet action for Aug. 3 on proposed rules regulating shared use of such condominiums and accomodations.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - Fuel adjustment charges for customers of all but one of the state's major power companies will be going down in August. The Public Service Commission approved reductions

Monday for three companies. The increase was granted to Florida Power Corp. The state's largest power company, Florida Power & Light Co., was granted a 40-cent decrease in the charge from $2.07 to $1.67.

Conviction Thrown Out

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - The 1975 extortion conviction of a Pensacola minister stemming from a civil rights demonstration has been thrown out by an appeal

But the court upheld a five year prison sentence imposed on a second minister who participated in the protest. The 1st District Court of Appeal ruled Monday that the entence handed down against the Rev. H.J. Matthews was proper because his actions as leader of the demonstration overstepped the bounds of free speech.

Union Balks At Wage Plan

MIAMI (AP) - Union leaders say their members won't put up with an Eastern Airlines proposal to give employes wage cuts in lean years in exchange for wage hikes of five to six per cent in profitable years.

Eastern President Frank Borman last week mailed employes a survey which included the proposal that workers accept the flexible wage schedule. In his survey, Borman pledged a minimum eight per cent wage increase for 1977.

Japan's Ex-Prime Minister

Arrested On Bribe Charges

TOKYO (AP) - Former Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, the rags-to-riches political maverick who resigned under a cloud 19 months ago, was arrested today on charges of being involved in the Lockheed payoff scandal. The public prosecutor said Tanaka and Toshio Enomoto, his secretary when he was prime minister, were accused of receiving $1.7 million (500 million yen) from an official of the Marubeni trading company, Lockheed's agent at the time.

The arrests stunned Japan's closely related political and business worlds. The yen dropped 55 points, from 293.55 to the dollar to 294.10. Prices also dropped on the Tokyo stock exchange, but they recovered before the market closed.

PLO In Decline: Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) - The civil war in Lebanon has forced the Palestine Liberation Organization into decline, and direct U.S. contact with the PLO over the evacuation of Americans from Beirut apparently will not reverse the downward course.

This is the assessment of top U.S. officials who have closely followed the ebb and flow of fighting, and supervised daily exchanges between American diplomats in the Lebanese capital with Palestinian commanders who

These officials say the unprecedented discussions between the United States and the PLO were entirely devoted to securing the safety of U.S. citizens and were not even remotely concerned with the Arab-Israeli dispute vening Kerald, Sanford, Fl.

CHICAGO (AP) - Mark Bernhard, 20, got engaged to his girlfriend, right on the scoreboard at Comiskey Park. The board said: "Mary Sisler, will you marry me? Love Mark." The fans at the White Sox doubleheader with the Minnesota Twins on Sunday were in suspense. "Will she or won't she," the scoreboard said. "We're laving 2-1 odds. Aw, come on, Mary."

The whole thing was cooked up by Bernhard, a student at St. Ambrose College in Davenport, Iowa, and Bill Veeck, owner of the White Sox. Veeck, the self-proclaimed hustler who will do almost anything for a laugh, was ready for a disappointment.

Waiting in reserve was the message, "Mary says no. Sorry Pal, we tried." But Veeck didn't have to use it "Mary says yes," the scoreboard said and a roar went up from the fans. It was about the only thing they had to cheer about. The Sox lost 13-8. But that was okay. When the Sox are losing,

Veeck always thinks of something. "J was shocked speechless," said Mary, 20, an education major at Clarke College in Dubuque, Iowa. "There was no question about it. I said yes immediately."

Kennedy Sister Appointed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) - Gov. Hugh Carey has appointed Jean Kennedy Smith, sister of the late President Kennedy, as chairwoman of a new state Council for Mental Hygiene Planning.

"Mrs. Smith and other members of her family have demonstrated a deep concern for the welfare of the mentally disabled," Carey said Monday in announcing the appointment of Mrs. Smith, a New York City resident who has a mentally retarded sister.

The new 15-member council will develop statewide goals for the state Department of Mental Hygiene. Its members include the commissioner of mental hygiene and 14 others appointed by the governor. Mrs. Smith's appointment is subject to Senate confirmation.

Portillo Needs American Help

There were no surprises when the results of the Mexican presidential election were announced. Jose Lopez Portillo, who was unopposed on the ballots, will begin his six-year term on December 1. Because of the one-sided nature of Mexico's political campaigns, Mr. Lopez Portillo did not have to define issues and his election did not receive much attentionin the U.S. press. It should have. The president elect traveled widely and talked to millions of Mexican citizens about the problems of our neighbor - which are the problems that he will face in the near future. By the standards of the Western industrial society they are monumental. Mexico's population today is 62 million. By the time that Mr. Lopez Portillo leaves office it will be 78 million; by 1980, 130 million.

Government-sponsored studies indicate that fully 37 per cent of the Mexican people live in oneroom houses, 57 per cent have no toilet facilities in their homes and the country is 2.5 million houses short of its needs. To catch up, Mexico would have to build 600,000 homes a year. It is building 80,000.

Nobody is certain what the unemployment rate is in Mexico, but the underemployed rate, representing those who will take any job to keep body and soul together, is estimated at 40 per cent of the working force. No programs in sight can create the jobs that are needed, and thousands upon thousands of Mexicans from rural areas continue to pour into cities because their situation is worse, further aggravating the situation.

These are social and political pressures that Mr. Lopez Portillo will find difficult to address, even more difficult to contain if a fuse is lighted. It also is a ripe field for exploitation by extremists in the wings, Communists and such groups as the 23rd of September gang of terrorists. Desperate people re not always rational people.

The United States cannot look at Mexico's problems dispassionately. We already are feeling a part of her agonies with our illegal alien problem. And if we think that the number of illegal aliens in the United States today is at crisis level or that the flow of drugs from Mexico is alarming, we haven't seen anything yet if the overpopulation and unemployment growth in Mexico continue at the present rate.

The ultimate answer that Mr. Lopez Portillo is seeking is economic. He must do all that he can to reduce the annual 3.5 per cent population growth and at the same time create a business climate that invites private investment, particularly from the United States.

It is in the self-interest of the United States to do all possible to assist him.

The probe of corruption allegations against executives of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and of reports of illegal burglaries by agents is an embarrassment to director Clarence

Kelley had assured congressional investigators that breakins and other illegal conduct had been discontinued long before he was named to the nation's top law enforcement post. The latest incidents almost certainly were perpetrated without Kelley's knowledge and he is reported to have ordered his own investigation to determine which FBI officials withheld information from him. Those officials should be prosecuted along with the agents who committed the misdeeds and the executives who have been involved in corrupt financial practices.

Kelley inherited an agency demoralized by Watergate revelations and a year of bumbling leadership under L. Patrick Gray. He pledged to revitalize the bureau and must weed out those who have sabotaged the effort, no matter how far or how high the investigation goes.

But more than the director's reputation is at stake. The investigations, mingling with the Watergate cloud, have undercut FBI morale and damaged its efficiency. And the public's confidence has again been shaken by the

However, just the thought that over two years ago such a plot to hijack a bus load of children was in the making is enough to bring on a body chail. Viking Mission Momentous WASHINGTON - Aside from representing the obvious - an astounding, absolutely flabbergasting triumph of U.S. technological knowhow - the landing of Viking I on the Chryst Plain of Mars after an 11-month journey of nearly a half-billion miles, has also acomplished something else.

The first photos showing the Red Planet to be a barren, tranquil place resembling nothing more hostile than the eroded lava fields of Arizona, have gone a long way toward dispelling the images conjured up by the bad press Mars has received for more than three-quarters of a

The first widely read science fiction story about Mars appears to have been "The War of the Worlds" written by H.G. Wells in 1898 and made into a movie in 1953 by Goerge Pal.

The English writer, while he viewed the future with a kind of terrified foreboding, nevertheless reveled in the detailed destruction he planned in his mind. Wells recalls in his autobiography: "I wheeled about the district marking down suitable places and people for destruction by my Martians." He once wrote to a

Olympics: Decay Never More Evident

MONTREAL (AP) - Hey, what's happening to the Olympics?

A respected Russian fencing star is caught doublewiring his blade. A Soviet coach is accused of trying to fix the diving competition. Canada boots little Taiwan out of the Games because it doesn't want to blow a fat wheat deal with Mainland China.

Some 30 nations, most of them black African, piqued at New Zealand's sports ties with segregationist South Africa, say "New Zealand goes or we go." The International Olympic Committee says New Zealand stays. So Black Africa, en masse, says "to hell with it" and goes

A 65-year-old trapshooter from Monaco is disqualified for taking amphetamines. Maybe he just had the gout. And a Canadian yachtsman is hauled in like a bank robber because he squirted some antihistamine up his nose.

An American discus thrower wins a gold medal, then announces, "I won this medal for myself - not the United States." He proceeds to rap the U.S. Olympic Committee. Some of his less successful teammates take their defeats with a "So what?" attitude - not what the late Vince Lombardi would have ordered. Remember?

"Winning isn't everything, it's the only thing."

Shot putter George Woods said, "The Olympics don't seem the same any more." Al Feuerbach, who also tosses the iron ball, called the Games "insane" and said they were just a big carnival staged for the news media. Kathy Schmidt, a javelin thrower, commented, "I'd rather be competing in an all-comers meet at UCLA." An air of disenchantment and disillusionment sweeping the time-honored Games. The erosion of principles - permitted if not promulgated by the sacrosanct IOC - is being followed by a deterioration of spirit.

What's happened? Before the women's javelin competition, Miss Schmid walked over to introduce herself to Ruth Fuchs of East Germany, the ultimate winner, to congratulate the husky blonde on her world record.

"I'm Kathy Schmidt of the United States ...... That's as far as she got. Miss Fuchs gave her a stare that penetrated like a stiletto, wheeled and walked away. Shirley Babashoff, the California water whiz who brought along an extra bag to hold all the medals she was supposed to win in swimming, was completely overshadowed by Kornelia Ender and her East German teammates.

Afterward, Shirley, her pique showing, commented that she didn't envy her conquerors and that she would hate to look like all those muscled German girls, anyway. This attitude wasn't exactly what Baron Pierre de Coubertin had in mind when he conceived the idea of resurrecting the Olympic Games in 1896.

How much more decay in the foundations of the great spectacle before the massive columns start tumbling. leaving the Games looking like a hillside in ancient Greece, where they were born?

How many more principles can be compromised by the weak-kneed IOC? How much more doping, political squabbling and flagrant cheating can the Games endure? How much more money must be spent, how much must the event be hyped by commercialism to keep the Games floating on an unrealistic cloud?

Are the Games really facing - as some high-placed Olympic chiefs predict - possible early destruction? If not, where is there a soul as strong as that of de Coubertin or the late Avery Brundage to apply the brakes? Some of the competitors' disenchantment is understandable. The Games are too big, too expensive, too politically diseased. They have become hassles for everybody - the organizers, the athletes, the press. They are not fun any more.

Give Feuerbach points ca one of his arguments. The Games have become a giant television enterprise - a world-wide spectacular in which millions of dollars change hands.

The competitors' rationale - the rationale apparently of Feuerbach, discus champ Mac Wilkins and Kathy Schmidt, among others: "Why should we go through all this turmoil on a $5 per diem so that TV can sell more automobiles and razor blades?" The gold medal has lost some of its lustre. Some call the Olympics "just an oversized track meet." There has been a definite decline in the old patriotic fervor. Americans are bothered because the Russians and East Germans are state-subsidized and are technical pros.

They resent losing medals to the East Germans, who turn out champions on an assembly line the way we turn out Fords and Chevrolets. Yet nothing is ever said about the development o

The United States could gain medal from its equestrian team in Grand Prix jumping, but seemed unlikely to finish higher than second in any of the five yachting classes that are due to end today. The Russians are well-placed in a couple of those events. Russia also figures to gain ground in team saber fencing, superheavyweight weightlifting and light-heavyweight judo. Americans are not expected to score in any of those events. Track and field athletes have an idle day.

It is in that sport, along with its boxers, that America's slim hopes rest. The boxers have nine men alive with the competition moving into the quarter-finals, but Cuba and Russia also are strong. The prospects in track and field aren't overwhelming.

School Board, SEA Talks Produce Little Agreement

Bargaining teams for the Seminole Education Association (SEA) and the Seminole County School Board 'met' for nearly 3½ hours Tuesday, but little was accomplished in the way of contractual agreement. The two groups actually met across the table for only a little more than an hour. Over two hours were spent in 'caucus.'

It worked like this: SEA chief negotiator Steve Rosenthal, a social studies teacher at Sanford Middle School, offered his group's proposals to Ernie Cowley, chief negotiator for the school board. After a brief discussion of the items, all dealing with compensation and expenses SEA feels its teachers need for the 1976-77 school year, members of the school board team went into private 'caucus.' They went out at 2:06 p.m. and didn't return to the table until 3:24 - 78 minutes later.

Once bargaining talks resumed, Cowley's team offered a counter-proposal and the two groups hashed this over for 11 minutes before SEA went into caucus at 3:35. They returned at 4:16 - 41 minutes later - with a counter-counter proposal. After about 24 minutes of heated debate over cost-of-living demands made by SEA, the two groups decided to call it a day, agreeing to return for another bargaining session on Thursday. Even this triggered a minor debate. Rosenthal and his group proposed that negotiations resume today, but Cowley said that was impossible, since he had to attend some meetings that were imperative to future bargaining sessions.

Rosenthal also wanted to set a definite meeting for Friday as well, but Cowley said they'd discuss that at Thursday's meeting. "But we need to know whether we're going to meet on Friday so we can do some planning," Rosenthal said. "You should have thought of that 60 days ago, Steve." (Contined On Page 2-A) which calls for more than $52 million, about the same amount as last year and based on the same $8,100 base starting salaries teachers received in 1975-76. The budget is also based on a property tax millage rate of 8.46 mills, a drop from 8.6 last year. That means Seminole landowners will pay $8.46 for each $1,000 of assessed property evaluation.

"It's a "hold-the-line" budget, according to Superintendent William P. Layer, who said that the 1976-77 figures "meet all the state requirements and while it won't allow us to slip backwards, it isn't sufficient enough to move too far forward."

Also on the agenda for tonight will be a report from Layer on the proposed purchase of Sanford Naval Academy property at the corner of Celery and Mellonville avenues in Sanford.

Seminole Memorial Hospital will apply for funds from a new deral public works program to construct a $1-million dollar new Hospital administrator Bob Besserer has been given the okay from hospital trustees to pursue construction of a new wing. And he said he plans to pursue the federal dollars as one means of financing the addition.

Besserer said he plans today to contact county grant coordinator Shelley Cox to find out the details required in application steps and for additional information about available funds. leasibility and location study in anticipation of applying for federal funds to construct a new 250-inmate, $3.85-million jail. If federal funds could be acquired, the new jail could be constructed without a special two-year property tax, which would require a referendum. Ad Hoc Committeeman Bo Simpson asked commissioners to begin a study so the county will be ready when federal guidelines explaining how to apply for the funds are released Aug. 22. Mrs. Cox, who has been in contact with Washington, told commissioners that the federal funds could be used to finance 100 per cent of any project approved by the federal government. The ad hoc committee recommendation that the county begin construction of a new jail by June 1978 was included in a committee report which called for immediate construction of a 54inmate addition to relieve overcrowding at the jail in Sanford. The drainage project," he said, "and that would be bucking an A-1 addition is scheduled for completion in November.

Commissioners have discussed locating the jail on countyowned property at Five Points. But Commission Chairman city hall project, since the city is pretty much committed to Michael Hattaway said Tuesday he wasn't ready to make any commissioners.

Sanford Proposals Include City Hall

> By JACQUELINE DOWD Herald Staff Writer

Sanford will probably apply for federal help on two projects under the public works bill which became law last week. The new city hall construction, planned for this fall, could win federal funds in the $3.95 billion job-creating program, said City Manager Warren Knowles. A proposed drainage improvement program which has already been turned down by city voters twice s also eligible for funding. The public works program was passed by Congress over President Gerald Ford's veto last week.

Sanford city commissioners have had an eye on the bill since February, when they called a special meeting to discuss the possibility of landing federal funds for a local project. Knowles was directed then to get Sanford's application work underway. The program has since been trimmed from $6.5 billion to $3.95 billion, but local officials still hope Sanford will get some of the Design work on Sanford's new city hall is already underway, and commissioners are expecting Wayne Heasley, chief architect of Watson and Co., to present them with a schematic plan at the Aug. 9 commission meeting. If work proceeds on schedule, ommissioners hope to break ground for the $1.5 million building in the fall - just in time for the public works program.

The drainage improvement plan was first drawn up in 1968. Cost estimates were $3.7 million then, and Knowles figures more than $6 million would be needed now. Two separate attempts to finance the drainage project have been turned down by city

Knowles thinks Sanford's chances for federal funds are better on the city hall project. "We'd be bucking sewer plants with the priority.

Any amount of money Sanford can get could be applied to the building it. A bond issue was authorized this week. But since city commendation concerning location of a new jail or ad- commissioners have no definite plans to begin work on the ministration complex, which is also under consideration by drainage project, a relatively small sum - like $100,000 wouldn't help much.
