UN bombing hits close for Sanford soldier

Henild readers following the ongoing Iraqi Diary series may be interested to know that the author, Staff Sergeant Charlie C. Carlson III, is involved in the aftermath of the bombing of the United Nations

Headquarters in Baghdad. Carlson's father, Charlie C. Carlson II, sent the following e-mall:

"The blast at the UN...

Headquarters in Baghdad today has involved the 549th MP company in the aftermath," Carlson II wrote.

"The wives at Fort Stewart were notified this were notined this morning, of the 549th MP involvement by their FRG [family support group leader] and have identified several soldiers of Charlie III's teams on CNN news. They believe they saw Charlie in the background showing a soldier something in the rubble.

"They have identified, by bumper numbers, vehicles belonging to the 1st Platoon 'Nightstalkers' and to the 3rd Platoon 'Ghostriders,' along with two vehicles of the 2nd Cavalry Regiment. CNN showed two 'Nightstalkers' hauling out a casualty on a stretcher, while others were digging through the mess.

"It appears that the 549th with the 2nd Cavalry Regiment is providing the main security and evacuation," Carlson II added. "No U.S. casualties were reported by the Ft Stewart FRG, and we assume this involved only civilian casualties. I guess we'll get some news of this from Charlie when he has a chance to email."

Mel Martinez appoints Larry Knightner to oversee housing authority improvement

By Jamle J. Anderson-Potter Staff Writer

U.S. Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Secretary Mel Martinez met with residents of the Sanford Housing Authority (SHA) Tuesday.

Tuesday.

Martinez, during his trip to Lake Monroe Terrace Apartments just off Fifth Street in Sanford, guaranteed residents that living conditions within the SHA will improve.
He has appointed Larry Knightner,
HUD receiver, to oversee the SHA and the improvement process.

"I have great confidence in him," said Martinez, who was in town to witness the demolition of the Parramore Village community Monday. "Focus will be on people's lives and on improving things immediately as well as long term."

immediately as well as long term."

Two years ago, HUD rated the SHA as a "troubled agency" due to financial, operational and structural facility issues. The authority was placed under the watchful eye of HUD's Troubled Agency Recover Center (TARC).

In mid July, after SHA failed an annual evaluation, the federal government took over the responsibility of the organization.

According to published reports, during a July 2001 inspection, 260 deficiencies were discovered throughout SHA's facilities. As of early July 2003, almost 60 percent — 152 — of those deficiencies remained.

"Sanford reported things were great," explained Martinez. "What frustrates me is that mayors – and I'm not just speaking of the mayor in Sanford, but I'm talking across the country –need to take a serious look at who they appoint to oversee the housing authority. The people they appoint need to have a clue of how to run a housing authority and have social sensitivity of the people they are dealing with.

"We definitely made the right decision [in taking over the SHA]," he added. "I think any time you see conditions like this it's a disap-

The Power of the Lonely

By Christopher Patton

He's anything but lonely when visiting home.
Sanford residents have known Hardy "Bud"
Rawls for years as the Seminole High graduate that has acted in several television shows including Nickelodeon's "Pete and Pete" and starred in hundreds of commercials such as a two-year stint as Mr. Goodwerench.
From now on, he will not just be one of the most recognizable men in Central Florida, but across the country as Ol' Lonely, the Maytag Repairman.
The appliance repairman decked out in a blue suit and cap is one of the most famous and longest running advertising symbols ever created for American television. After a sixmonth search, it was Rawls who earned the chance to become only the third Ol' Lonely in 37 years following Gordon retiring 15-year veteran Jump Gordon.

A measure to rezone 26-acres near Banana Lake from agriculture to planned unit development narrowly passed the Seminole County Commission by a 3-2 margin.

The property, owned by Carmen and Fred Edwards, is one of the few undeveloped tracts between the gated community of Heathrow and the growing Lake Mary area near Business Center Drive and International Parkway.

The property is sandwiched between long-time residents of Banana Lake Road, Wendell and Janice Springfield, to the north;

Lake Mary's Heathrow International Business Center to the east; Colonial Properties apartments to the south; and the singlefamily homes of Heathrow to the west. In addition, the plot of land has about 15 acres of wetlands on it as it abuts Banana and Island lakes.

For some nearby residents, as well as one commissioner, the possible disturbance of these ecologically sensitive areas was the sticking point with the proposed development of about 29 homes. However, the Springfields and John Simes, co-chair of the Heathrow Government Affairs Committee, were able successfully lobby for several development

Heathrow concessions before the board ultirezoning.

A half dozen conditions were added to the development order after comments from residents including no access allowed to Banana Lake, a wall separating it from the Springfields' property, all single-story homes facing Heathrow and a 75-foot buffer between the two developments with no wall.

According to Simes, a wall near Heathrow would destroy the 'habitat corridor' between the two lakes. Members of the Seminole

Political parties put city in bind

By Christopher Patton Managing Editor

LONGWOOD — A scheduling snafu with Longwood's year-old community center may produce a more defined rental code.

With two candidates laying claim to reservations for post-election parties at the center, the commission settled the difference Monday night by overturning the city administrator's decision and siding with the individual who reserved the building "the proper way." The commission also unanimously decided not to let a similar incident occur again by seeking to solidify the reservation policy and fee schedule into an ordinance.

According to Commissioner Butch Bundy, his wife had reserved the community center shortly after he was re-elected in November 2002. However, she did not follow rental guidelines or, as Bundy said, she wasn't instructed by city staff to pay a deposit and sign a contract.

He said he wanted to reserve the center for the can-

McKenzie's campaign manager, JoAnne Rebello, recently inquired about the Nov. 4 availability of the community center — signing the contract and paying the necessary deposit — before learning another party was "penciled in" for that same night.

"I wasn't privy to any conversation that took place between the person who wanted to rent it and the staff person responsible," said John Drago, city administrator.

"The reason for my ruling was that this particular staff person that was in charge of community building at the time had refused — I was told and I don't know how many other times —

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Teens racing to be parents should shift to slower gear

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 and ready to have a baby. My boyfriend, "Matt," is 16

..... and says he is ready, too. You should see how sweet and con-siderate he is around children.

As soon as Matt gets his car fixed, we are leaving New Jersey and not looking back. Before we go, I'd like to know what you think, Abby. Do you think I am ready to have a baby and raise

IN N.J.

DEAR A.M.: Babies are a full-time job because they are completely dependent. You and Matt would be doing your future children a huge favor if you both complete your educa-tions and become financially stable before embarking on this "project."

I have long urged women to be financially independent before having children. Matt may be a terrific young man, but what would happen to you and the baby if something were to happen to him? Before leaving New Jersey and not looking back, please read the next letter:

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 years old and have a 5-month-old daughter. I thought her father and I would be together forever, but I was wrong. I was in love with him for more than two years.

My problem is, I can't seem to find a boyfriend who is right for me. Some boys don't mind that I have a baby, but all they want to do is go out with their friends. After a long day of feeding, changing and taking care of my daughter, I want someone at home to comfort ME. Is there anything wrong with that?

LOVESICK IN NEW YORK

DEAR LOVESICK: Of course not! It's understandable. Mothers need nurturing, too. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and more mature than many teenagers my age. I have to be, since I am more than eight months pregnant. The baby's father, Rob," and I are engaged and have been ince before we conceived. Rob is also 19, but not as mature as I am. He still wants to go out with his friends, which is fine because we are both young. However, he doesn't understand that we must find free or inexpensive activities because our money needs to go toward baby things -- clothes, blankets, diaper service, etc. I think Rob neglects me emotionally because he is scared of growing up. I think he may even be in denial that I am pregnant.

Abby, I have prayed about this and believe that Rob and I are meant to be together. I know he loves me, but sometimes I wonder if we met too soon in

Do you think we should take a short break from each other? I can't ask my family because they don't like Rob, and Rob's parents don't like me. Any sugges-

IN THE MIDWEST

DEAR E.W.: Before "taking a break" from your boyfriend, consult a lawyer regarding child support and custody issues. A short break could become a long one if the father of this child is deeply enough into denial. Please don't walt. You're already eight months along. Make that call today.

Iraqi Diary: Ambushes are too routine UCF scientists' research

Editor's note: Staff Sergeant Charlie C. Carlson III, son of Sanford historian Charlie C. Carlson II, is currently deployed in Baghdad, Iraq as part of the 549th Military Police Company. Carlson is providing a journal of his experiences in Iraq.

June 15, 2003 Last night we went out patrolling in Saddam City. The 307th MPs control the Al Thaura Police Station in Saddam City. They sent my patrol with the Iraqi Police Force [IPF] to arrest a guy for domestic violence.

Having limited seating we put the non-English speaking complainant (one of the subject's brothers who tied the subject up and told the police) in my vehicle which was in the lead. The IPF was in the last two trucks with our interpreter in the second truck with an empty seat for our subject.

The complainant directed us to his house which was a one-way narrow alley. We stopped and set-up security because at night everyone likes to come outside. The alley was five or less feet on each side of the HUMVEE and that is too much of a squeeze. I went in with SGT Mann, SPC Guillory, two IPF, the complainant and my interpreter.

The door of the house was right off the alley, a very narrow doorway with only a curtain for a door. We went inside and got the subject and as we are walking to the door to go out, gunfire erupted and my security yelled loudly "Shots fired at 12 p'clock.

This door was the only way to get out. Some of the rounds started clipping the edge of the door, we were trapped while trying to contain this guy we had in custody. You know how you run to a car in the rain? Well we ran out of the house with bullets zinging through the air. As our vehicles moved up, we threw the subject into the second truck.

To get out of there, of the right toward the gunfire. We made it out and headed

SGT Mann won't let me ride in his truck because his truck gets shot at every time I am in it. Before I go on a mission as the Nightstalker patrol leader, I always ask whose vehicle has not been shot, or shot at, so I can "share the wealth" and ride with them.

I can't even guess at how many times I've been shot at while patrolling the worse parts of Baghdad at night and pulling bad guys, usually Baath party members, out of their homes and getting out of there before their buddies decided to retaliate. I hear AK-47 gunfire every single day both on and off patrol.

We had one WIA [Wounded in Action] and CPL Ponce was shot in the chest but he had his vest with armor plates on and was just knocked down. The plate still has the bullet in it. I don't know how many times I've come close to taking a round.

I have my patrol to pull cars over on the streets so we can search them. Usually the cars have tinted windows, sometimes very expensive cars, but in bad areas of the city. I'm just an average guy in an "unaverage" environment. I'm not gung-ho or any-thing, just scared like everybody else if they'd admit it. This is why I deserve more Atlanta canned Cokes.

I want to get another Coke, but I want to save them and savor them. Bottled Cokes bottled in Atlanta are the best. My Cokes have "CCC" and a number on the top of each can. I already had #1 Coke and really want the other ones, such as #2, #3, #4, #5 and #6 but then I won't have any good Cokes left.

Is there anyone still watching us on the news? Does the President ever say anything on the news about us? Seems like we've been abandoned over here. Do they say anything about all the KIAs over here?

June 20, 2003 What is squalor? I think I'm living in it. I'm fed up with no showers, trying to sleep in this heat, sweating all night, in a greasy machine shop of an old cigarette factory. I'm a bit more hardened, but getting fired of sporadic gunfire at night. If I don't hear it then I think something is wrong. It is like a bad dream become reality.

I was asked by a soldier from another unit that is living in "luxury" at one of Saddam's old palace compounds, about our living conditions in this godforsaken Iraqi factory. I tried to explain it to him, I don't think he got the picture, though. When you live in "luxury" squalor is a far cry from reality. Why is it that you seldom see politicians' sons and daughters in a mess like this. I'm firmly convinced that you can start a war without a good reason if you have a good promotion campaign.

We got shot up again last night on patrol, no casualties, but there's no use in telling about it, same old stuff, its become almost routine. Now the word is that when we get back to the states we'll be deployed to Afghanistan or Bosnia. It's hard to keep up with the rumors anymore. We

The result is people could live longer with fewer age-related health problems.

Beverly Rzigalinski, assistant professor in the Department of Molecular Biology and Microbiology and at the Biomolecular Sciences Center, and Sudipta Seal, associate engineering pro-fessor at the Advanced Materials Processing and Analysis Center and the Department of Mechanical, Materials and Aerospace Engineering, will receive $1.4 million from the National Institute of Health, National Institute on Aging to study the reasons behind the reaction and possible future applications.

Rzigalinski has spent the bulk of her career on NIH-funded research form the National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke studying now brain cells "talk" to each other, most recently focusing on the microglia—a specialized cell that responds to brain injury and initiates the response to either repair or destroy the damaged neuron. Seal creates nanostructure materials and recently developed a process for engineering particles on a nanoscale—so they might have more efficient industrial applications.

Because of the current flurry of publicity that anti-oxidants have received for their potential anti-aging properties, Rzigalinski decided to explore introducing the miniaturized particles to the brain cells of rats

"In culture, rat brain cells usually live about three weeks," Rzigalinski said. "The cells exposed to the engineering nanoparticles lived three to four times longer." longer.

To confirm the results, Rzigalinski, the grant's principal investigators, repeated the process multiple times and found that cells exposed to a single dose of engineered nano-oxide particles routinely outlived the untreated cells by threeto four-fold, with the longest living cell lasting 123 days.

Rzigalinski then explored the quality of the aged neurons and found they were signaling or "talking" to each other in the same manner as their youthful counterparts. "This shows there is a potential not just to extend the life span but to preserve function.

Seal has worked on developing oxide particles for high temperature production since his undergraduate days. In 200, as he took over the coordination of UCF's nanetechnology initiative, he and a student developed ultrafine nanosized powders and solutions. The parti-cles, less than 10 nanometers (about 30 atoms across) in size, opened the door for biological studies in collaboration with Rzigalinski. When a university research administrator aware of the work of Rzigalinski and Seal and introduced the two, the possibilities immediately began form-

A regenerative nanoparticle, such as the one developed by Rzigalinski and Sea, offers promise of negating the problems of damage to cells and could be helpful in treatment of certain age-related disorders—such as Alzheimer's dis-ease—as well as arthritis and other jointrelated problems.

Most recently, the Rzigalinski lab has found that the nanoparticles have potent anti-inflammatory properties. The investigators plan to explore the possibility of creating a coating from the particles that could be used for vascular and orthopedic implants, stents and other devices that are prone to inflammatory reactions.

Initial tests show that the nanoparticle anti-oxidants regenerate once they penetrate the cell—meaning one does could conceivably continue its therapeutic effects indefinitely.

Rzigalinski introduced the collaboration to her colleagues at the NATURE biotechnology symposium in Miami ear-lier this year. She has also submitted an abstract on the project to the National and International Neurotrama Society bna Symposium, Neuroscience.

Vial Desai, director of AMPAC, said that nanomaterials are currently considered highly strategic for important applications ranging from homeland security to just plan good health.

"It is so good to be able to build bridges for an interdisciplinary effort through competent and dynamic researchers at UCF," Desai said.

Jump and the late Jesse White, Jump, a former "WKRP" actor and Maytag Repairman since 1988, will retire his role at the end of this year as the old reliable character that is often depicted waiting an eternity for a service call that never seems to come.

"It's an incredible honor," Rawls said. "It's an icon - an opportunity of a lifetime."

Born in Jacksonville, Rawls moved to the naval town of Sanford in 1955. He attended elementary, junior and high schools in the area. After a stint in the Navy as an electrician, he enrolled into Seminole Community College and auditioned for a college play at the urging of a friend.

From SCC, Rawls pursued acting and theater at Florida Atlantic University in Boca Raton and then earned a master's degree at the University of California in Los Angeles. In 1978, he journeyed to New York City and has since appeared in movies, the theater and more than 300 commercials. Rawls was in New York playing a redneck sheriff part in a play entitled "Lesson Before Dying" when he found out he had become the next Ol' Lonely. It took some time for it to set in, including a month of Maytag training.

I'll tell you, I've never been so excited about something," said Rawls who rents an apartment in NYC, but also owns a home in Sanford. Suspending all his other acting ventures, Rawls is actually embarking on a role that is anything but lonely. The Maytag spokesperson attends dozens of trade shows and promotional events a year and is featured on just about every advertising medium imaginable from life-size cutouts to new television spots periodically. The first round of commercials probably air early next year. Next week's TV Guide is featuring the new repairman and a nationally televised morning show is to run a piece in the future about the Sanford man in blue, Rawls said. "We are not asking to get any of the applicants' land, we just want to share the boundary and not have our neighborhood destroyed," Simes said noting that Heathrow also has no access to Banana Lake.

On the other side of the lake from Heathrow are about 15 suburban estates with lots larger than an acre. Most of the homes have been in the community for 40 years. Earlier this year as the proposed development won approval from the county to be transmitted to the state for consideration, the commission favored a concern of the residents not to have the development traffic dump onto to rural Banana Lake Road. A 252-unit apartment structure for Colonial Realty was approved, but the Edwards initiated proceedings which resulted in an agreement that restricted development rights on a 200-foot strip of land between the Edwards' property and the apartments. A little more than one acre of that buffer is now being considered for development along with the Edwards' property.

Almost perfect

Patriots crowned World champs

By Dean Smith Sports Editor

The Altamonte Patriots were not perfect at the World Series.

But they came awfully

The Patriots bounced back from their first loss in the postseason to defeat three-time defending champion Tri-County, Texas, 5-2, to claim the Babe Ruth 16-and-under girls' softball World Series title in Louisville, Kentucky this past Saturday.

Not only was this the first World Championship for an Altamonte Springs team, it was also the first Babe Ruth World Series title, ever, for a Florida team.

Altamonte Springs had ried a perfect 18-0 postseason record into the championship game, but Tri-County blanked the Patriots 5-0 in the afternoon to force the deciding game in the double-elimination tournament at the University of Louisville's Ulmer Stadium.

The Patriots finished the *all-star season by winning 19 of its final 20 games in a stretch that took them through district, state and regional tournaments en route to the World Series.

Altamonte Springs, which only had three hits in the loss, quickly bounced back, taking a 1-0 lead in the top of the first on an RBI groundout by Sanford's Ashley Tabor after a Lake Brantley's Nikki Hall had reached on three-base error.

The Patriots increased the lead to 3-0 in the fourth inning as Hall opened the inning by singling through the right side. Tabor followed with a single down the leftfield line. One out the bottom of the fourth

Defense shines in first UCF scrimmage

Special to the Harald

The defense got the best of the offense Saturday as the UCF football team held its first scrimmage of fall camp.

The 100-play scrimmage saw the offense score just three field goals and one touchdown.

"Overall, I thought the kids came out here and did fairly well," UCF head coach Mike Kruczek said after the scrimmage. "We obviously have a long way to get better and to get to where we want to get to. I think these kids will come out here and continue to work hard and improve."

The lone touchdown was scored on a 75-yard run by tailback Alex Haynes as the first team offense faced the second added a 23-yard field goal.

The offense looked out of sync at times by committing four turnovers including three on botched quarterback-center exchanges.

The running backs performed well led by Haynes and Gabby Torres. Torres carried the ball nine times for 49 yards while Keith Williams had a 43yard run before leaving the game with a lower body injury. I reshman fullback Evandall Williams ron extremely hard, carrying the ball four times for 34 yards. Lake Howell redshirt freshman receiver Brandon Marshall caught two passes for 26 yards.

On defense, Royel Hamilton recorded the only interception off the day as he picked off a pass by Ryan Schneider. Schneider ended the scrimmage 10 of 16 for 108 yards. The defense also sacked Schneider four times (the quarterbacks were not allowed to be hit) including one by Paul Carrington. The 6-foot-6 defensive end also accounted for a tackle-for-loss and a pass deflec-

Antoine Poe, Gerren Bray, Brent Bolar and Mike Lynche each had a sack also.

On the injury front, wide receiver Mike Walker re-aggravated an upper body injury and is listed as questionable for the Virginia Tech game. Ashkinaz also sustained a lower body injury and is also questionable for Virginia Tech. Second-string quarter-back for Rivera left the scrimmage early with a lower body injury and is questionable for Virginia Tech. Keith Williams is the only player listed as doubtful after Saturday's scrimmage for the season-opener.

Sponsors of Hard Hat Open get double exposure

On that day Realty Executives Orlando presents the inaugural Hard Hat Open, Habitat for Humanity in Seminole County's uniquely sponsored golf tournament in support of one house for a family in need. That family is Rhonda DePaul and her two children.

The event will be a four-person scramble held at the Legacy Club at Alaqua Lakes, a premier 18-hole golf course located in Heathrow. Presenter and lead sponsor sponsor the event along with them, with the hook of dual sponsorship opportunity.

Not only will sponsoring companies be fea-tured at the golf tournament itself, but they will also receive exposure for their benevolence throughout the four months it takes to build the house.

In a unique twist, John Sabol, owner and president of Realty Executives Orlando, is even challenging area businesses to sponsor the event by donating building supplies and services along with the traditional cash contributions.

"As realtors here in Orlando we help people into new homes everyday," said Sabol.

Realty Executives Orlando is currently seek- "But we can't take the roof nv t our heads ing other businesses and organizations to for granted when we see the conditions some families are forced to live in right here in Orlando, because they have no money to qualify for a mortgage.

Bennett picked up her teammate as she stole third and scored on a throwing error by the catcher.

Central Florida Christian Academy's Anna Maria Jordan (5-0 in the World Series) hurled a complete game, scattering nine hits, striking out five and walking one, while allowing two earned runs.

Unbeaten Hannah Sulik (4-0) was outstanding in handing the Patriots their first loss in the early game, allowing only singles to Hall (first inning), Tabor (fourth inning) and Wain (seventh inning) while walking no one and striking out five.

Wain (2-1) was the toughluck loser for Altamonte Springs, hurling shutout ball until the fifth inning when Texas scored a pair of unearned runs on two errors. Wain left after giving up the two unearned runs on Just four hits. Tri-County scored three insurance runs Championship Game. Following the final game, Jordan, who struck out 33 in 36 innings of work, was named the Most Most named Outstanding Player for the tournament and was also a member of the All-World Series Tournament Team.

Lake Brantley's Jessie Sadlowsky was named the Outstanding Outfielder and member of the All-World Series Team after playing flawlessly (1,000-percent) in centerfield.

Wain was named the World Series Utility Player and a member of the All-Tournament Defensive Team after allowing no earned runs in 18 innings of pitch-ing, batted 333, third best on the team, and had a .980 fielding percentage while playing second base.

Hall was also named to the All-Tournament Team after batting 344, second best on the team, received recognition for her play at third base three times and also received the "wow' award.
