Children Of This Nation Are Fortunate For Educational Opportunity Offered

Children are fortunate who go to school in this nation.

Little Johnny and Mary may grumble at the prospects of school starting in just a short time, but later they will realize they were leaving their vacation activities for an educational opportunity, the like of which may not be found anywhere else in the world.

Here, children are taught the three R's in an atmosphere of peace and progress.

There is noism here that teaches hatred for other nations and puts physical power and the state ahead of personal desires and opportunity for the future.

There are no sneak-cut-throat, brutal tactics taught here which advocate the state even above the family, and have little children sacrificing their parents to fearful fates, just because they happen to think out from a niche.

Here, we are urged to think, to plan, to progress, to learn, to have our own opinions and theories and to believe as we please. How alien these factors would be in much of the world. Such practices would be absolutely fantastic.

Thinking in the portion of the world

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength.—Isaiah 40:31. Living in harmony with the infinite pulse of divine love does give us strength. We are wearied by disharmony and hatred.

Anti-Red Acts Are Under Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communist party in this country is on a rocky road now, but its fate is still uncertain even though President Eisenhower yesterday signed the act outlawing it.

That's because of the court fights which are now taking place and still in the air. Two questions may stick in people's minds because of the confusing way Congress passed this legislation in its closing days this month.

Does this new law mean the Communist party must now cease to exist? And does it make it a crime now to be a Communist or a member of the Communist party? The answer to both questions is no.

The law doesn't say the party must pass out of existence, although in time that may be the effect. It says the party is now deprived of rights, privileges and immunities which other organizations enjoy.

For example, it cannot under this law have candidates on a ballot in federal elections for Congress or the presidency. But it's up to the states whether they let the party off their ballots in state elections.

Further, begins at this point on what else the party loses. The law itself doesn't say specifically. Government lawyers are still studying the possibilities the law provides for action against the party.

The first governmental move, when its lawyers have made up their minds, may be to sue. The party no doubt will fight in court then to have the new law thrown out as unconstitutional.

The party is already in court trying to get the McCarran Internal Security Act of 1950 declared unconstitutional. Under that act the government found the party to be a Moscow agent or "Communist action" group.

When such a finding is made, according to the McCarran Act, the party's officers and members must register with the government. They were excluded in the past, as expected, the party began its court fight on the McCarran Act.

The Supreme Court by next spring may give its verdict on whether the party members must register or the McCarran Act is unconstitutional. Party leaders have indicated they would never register, no matter what the verdict is.

If the court rules against them, they can be jailed and fined for not registering. Their refusal in that event would certainly kill the party. Therefore by refusing to register themselves, not a law, would end the party.

If the law overruled the party while it was fighting the law, it would mean the party would be outlawed. But there is no doubt that the party would fight the law to the bitter end.

As for the individual Communist, covered by the Red scourge is a matter to be treated with caution. Planning and progress is for the state to control. Opinions and theories are for the state to control. A person may believe his own way, but he had better act according to the dictates of the state in Communist countries.

How different the future is for the children behind the Iron Curtain. They are being taught in a Godless ideology that has no room for such matters as personal freedom, the Golden Rule and personal endeavor. Truths are warped to benefit the state. No one can surpass the Russians in inventive genius, according to them. Such abominations!

So, let us all stop and think a bit as school gets underway this year. Let's give thanks that we still have so many privileges in our educational system—and let's not let them slip away from us.

National Asset

Unexpected gifts are sometimes the most fascinating. The United States got one such nearly 130 years ago, now brought again to attention through a bill, approved by the administration, calling for a new home for the Smithsonian Institution. The present building is quite inadequate, and so crowded that important exhibits are often completely concealed.

The institution was the gift of an English scientist, James Smithson. He made his will in 1826, leaving 100,000 pounds, a large sum in those days, to the United States, for a scientific and cultural museum. The existence of this will was not formally announced till 1835, and it took Congress 11 years before it was accepted. Probably a subtle British plot was suspected.

The exhibits, as Washington visitors know, are highly varied, ranging from the original flag that inspired the "Star Spangled Banner," the first telegraph instrument, early sewing machines and automobiles, to Lindbergh's plane, "The Spirit of St. Louis."

New and adequate quarters are vitally needed. It is to be hoped that this appropriation does not come before Congress when it is in one of its economy-at-all-costs moods.

GRAND SLAM HOMER

HAL BOYLE Racing Of Cars, Horses Big Business

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—In an age when airplanes go twice the speed of sound, millions of Americans are still more thrilled by seeing how fast horses and automobiles can race around a track.

"People are interested in all kinds of speed today," said big Bill France, a kingpin of the thriving stock car racing industry. "But to get really excited over it they have to be close enough to see and feel it."

France, who stands 6-foot-4 and weighs 230 pounds, built his own racing car as a rawboned kid of 20 back in 1929. He drove in 75 races in the days when the rewards came in the form of thrills and peanut prizes.

But the sport, first popular in the South, started mushrooming across the country in 1938, and its starvation times seem over. It's big business now.

Big Bill is president of the largest organized segment of the industry—the National Assn. for Stock Car Auto Racing.

"This year there will be some 2,000 events on 100 tracks in all parts of America," he said. "Close to a million people will pay from 7 to 10 million dollars to see them."

"The big wheels in the auto business are getting interested now. Some people are even building stock car racing stables, just as they do stables of racehorses. Paul Whiteman, for example, has a two-car stable."

Some 4,000 drivers now compete regularly in stock car races on a national point rating system. Leading drivers fly by plane from one track to another.

"At least four drivers should earn $21,000 in prize money this year," France said. "And probably 20 more will do better than $15,000." The national winner, in addition to his prize and bonus money, can also count on about $20,000 more for personal appearances.

This possibility of earning up to $50,000 in a year has attracted many drivers.

The Kentucky Derby of the stock car speed field is the Labor Day race at Darlington, S.C., which pays $50,000 in prize this year and is expected to draw a gate of $150,000.

But plans are underway to build a two million dollar track at Daytona Beach, Fla., a project which France and his fellow promoters hope will enable them to put on contests that will make the AAA's annual Indianapolis Speedway classic look like a turtle race.

"The Indianapolis track was built 40 years ago," he said. "On almost any modern track now, they can use the same equipment and go up to 100 miles an hour faster."

In one race in which he participated, France's car turned over and over several times, and he had a number of ribs pulled loose. It was his only injury in 75 times at the wheel. But big Bill doesn't like to dwell on the perils of the track.

Just as horse racing is traditionally defended as a way to "improve the breed," so motor car stock racing has its moral platform, too.

"We feel," said France, "that we have given an incentive to mechanically minded kids who want a chance to make a little money and win national recognition—ard, of course, this also keeps them off the highway."

CARGO PLANE READY FOR TESTS

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—The Lockheed YC-120, first turbo-prop power cargo plane built for the Air Force, is at Edwards Air Force Base for extensive flight tests.

The four-engine ship was test flown there Monday a distance of 60 air miles.

The craft has a wingspread of 132 feet, double wheels on the nose gear and double landing gear wheels in tandem which retract into the fuselage. It can be loaded from the rear of the fuselage.

DESIGNED FOR LOGISTICS SUPPORT

Designed for logistics support, assault missions and air evacuation duties, it has T56 Allison engines capable of lifting it quickly. The plane was airborne yesterday after traveling one-third of the runway, engineers said.

TYPHOON NEARS

MARINA, P.I.—A Pacific typhoon with winds up to 145 miles an hour near the center charged toward the Philippines today from a point 700 miles east of Luzon island, the Manila Weather Bureau said.

PROTECTION FAILS

VISALIA, Calif. (AP)—To protect them from thieves, this city's theater cashiers are locked—from the outside—in their booths. But the precaution backfired for Robbie Whitfield, 17.

While she sat helplessly in her cage a man climbed into her car parked across the street and drove away, ignoring her shouts. Police still are looking for the thief.

Pyramid Sandwich Challenge To Eat, Challenge To Make

Sandwiches can be fun for the homemaker equipped with an eye for variety and skill in blending breads and fillings. Jessie Cartwright, director of the Norge Home Institute, Chicago, pointed out recently.
This month has been named Sandwich Month, and that's an invitation to experiment with a variety of breads and fillings, she continued.
For an offering that tops a "dagwood," a pyramid sandwich can't be beat, the home economist asserted.
"It's a challenge to make and something of a challenge to eat," she continued.

FRIDAY SANDWICH

Ingredients required are:
1 large loaf unsliced sandwich bread
1 cup softened butter
1 sliced cold chicken
Russian dressing
1/2 head lettuce
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tomatoes, sliced
1 cucumber, pared and sliced
3 ounces cream cheese
1/2 cup chopped olives
4 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sliced anchovies
Watercress
Radish roses
Start the production by slicing the bread thin. Cut five rounds and bread varying the diameter from 4 inches for the largest round to 1 inch for the smallest. Spread the bread with softened butter and cover the largest rounds with sliced chicken and Russian dressing. Next largest slices get a coat of shredded lettuce topped with a mixture of hard-cooked eggs, mayonnaise, salt, and pepper. Mount this on the chicken round. Cover the third round with a slice of tomato, then with cucumber, and add it to the pyramid. Spread the next rounds with a mixture of cream cheese and chopped olives and the smallest slice of bread and place a rolled anchovy, fastened with a toothpick, on top. This forms the top of the pyramid which then is garnished with watercress and radish roses.
The ingredients will make eight sandwiches.
For a less ambitious project the institute has a Chicago Special sandwich.
CHICAGO SPECIAL
1 trimmed slice rye bread
1 full slice Swiss cheese
Lettuce
1 slice chicken or turkey breast
1 slice hard-cooked egg
1 slice hard-cooked egg
1 slice hard-cooked egg
2 slices crisp bacon
Place the bread in the center of a serving plate. Cover with cheese and then with lettuce. Add sliced breast of chicken and another layer of lettuce. Cover generously with dressing, and garnish with tomato topped with egg, pickle, and hot bacon.
WAFFLE SANDWICHES
Even the waffle iron can be used to help turn out sandwiches, the Norge Home Institute director states.
Combine one-half cup of cream cheese with one-half cup of ground beef. Slice bread thin and spread half the slices with softened butter and the remaining half with the ham mixture.
Put the sandwiches together, and place them two at a time in a hot waffle iron. Bake until they are browned and serve at once.
The ingredients are planned for eight sandwiches.
For another variety, Mrs. Cartwright suggested using different breads and cutting them in diamond, round, rectangle, or sick shape, or rolling the bread. Fruits and vegetables make good sandwich ingredients as well as meat, fish, cheese, and eggs.

MIAMI'S UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE STARTS THIRD YEAR

The University of Miami School of Medicine will start its third year of instruction Sept. 12 with the largest freshman class admitted to date, according to Dean Homer F. Marsh.
The class, numbering 65, is made up of 63 men and two women, all residents of Florida of seven years standing. They come from 23 counties ranging from Monroe and Dade on the south to Escambia on the northwest.
Admission of the class brings the total number of students under instruction to 122.
The class admitted in 1952 when the school first began operation will be receiving all its instruction at the bedside of patients in the Jackson Memorial Hospital. Instructors for the class will be all entirely local practicing physicians who are contributing their time to this work.
From its beginning in 1952 when the school opened with 28 students and four full-time faculty members, it has grown to have a faculty of 28 full-time members and between 40 and 100 voluntary faculty members from the 60 members of the Dade County Medical Society.
Freshmen from Seminole County include Wade H. Garner, Jr. and Doris E. Lake of Sanford and James D. Hanson of Paola.

Gatorland Extends Cordial Welcome To All Students

GAINESVILLE — Greetings of "Welcome to Gatorland" will ring out around the University of Florida from September 13-18, when approximately 3,200 freshmen enter school.
Although it will be several weeks before these new students actually move onto the campus, plans for the 1954 pre-school orientation week activities are already underway.
According to student director James Jackson from St. Petersburg, activities for the freshmen will include daily schedules centered around organization forums, open houses, a president's welcome and reception, as well as tours of the campus and registration for classes.
Under the direction of Assistant Dean of Men A. W. Boldt, Jackson and his orientation week committee have appointed over 150 upperclass student leaders to assist with the program.
Carefully screened applicants who were chosen to serve as freshmen group leaders include Gayle Dinkins of Sanford.

Egg Temperature Is Important When Cooking Or Baking

Eggs need to be kept cold to hold their fresh qualities, but, for success in cooking, homemakers often ask when to use eggs cold and when to take the chill off in advance, says Myrtle Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent. Here are some temperature tips from the U. S. Department of Agriculture:
1. A high-quality raw egg separates into white and yolk most easily when it's 50 to 60 F. An egg just out of the refrigerator is so cold that its white is viscous and clings to both shell and yolk, making separation difficult. On the other hand, when an egg warms up to 75F. or more, the yolk tends to flatten and then may break in separating, especially if the egg is not top quality. Thus, when eggs are to be separated, it pays to remove them from the refrigerator at least an hour in advance. Of course, small eggs will warm up sooner than large ones.
2. For cake-making, eggs, like other ingredients, should be at room temperature to combine well.
3. Egg whites whip more quickly and to a greater volume when the chill is off. Various studies indicate that best whipping temperature ranges from 64 to 77 F.
4. For cooking in the shell, take the chill off the egg before it goes into hot water to avoid cracking the shell. In the sudden contrast in temperatures—or, put cold eggs in cold water and bring eggs and water to simmering temperature together.
5. Hard-cooked eggs seem to separate most easily from shells when they are cold. As soon as they are cooked, cool rapidly in cold running water. Fast cooling helps prevent the unappetizing dark-colored layer around the yolk. Many homemakers have found that chilling makes eggs more firm, thus easier to slice for a garnish or to separate the yolks from the whites for stuffing.

October Wedding Being Planned By Evelyn Jones, Robert Cushing

Of wide interest in Central Florida is the announcement being made today by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jones, 616 West First St., of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Evelyn, to Robert James Cushing, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Cushing and the grandson of the late Charles F. West of this city.
Miss Jones, a native of Sanford, attended local schools, graduating from Seminole High School with the class of 1952. She later enrolled in the Orlando Junior College where she was active in many clubs and organizations and served in the capacity of cheerleader.
The bride-elect has appeared on many magazine covers and in feature stories concerning Sanford and Seminole County, has been photographed for still pictures on television and has participated in various local contests sponsored by civic organizations. Miss Jones is presently employed by The Sanford Herald where she has been a member of the advertising department for the past year.
Mr. Cushing attended schools in Marion, Ind., where he graduated from Marion High School. He later graduated from Bradley University in Peoria, Ill. where he received his degree in biology and was a member of Psi Beta Sigma fraternity. Mr. Cushing is also a member of the Florida Watchmakers Association. In 1950 the groom-elect entered the United States Army to serve a three-year tour of duty and spent 19 months in Japan and Korea. He is presently affiliated with West's Jewelry Store.

The wedding will be an event of the city and complete plans will be announced at a later date.

Students To Report To Georgia Tech On September 20

ATLANTA, Ga. — Among those accepted as freshmen students to the Georgia Institute of Technology for the 1954 fall quarter starting on Sept. 20, according to Registrar William Lawson, chairman is Marvin H. Gombel, 212 Sanford Ave. who attended Seminole High School and will major in Electrical Engineering.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Baker spent Wednesday in Daytona Beach where they visited with friends.
Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kirk and their three children returned to their home on West 24th St. after enjoying a week's visit at Daytona Beach.
Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Brown Jr. will leave Saturday for Monticello where they will attend the wedding of Mr. Brown's niece, Miss Leah Jane Brown, who will be married Saturday afternoon in the Episcopal Church in Monticello.
Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Brown of Savannah, Ga. were guests last weekend of Mr. and Mrs. James Brown.
H. B. Owens and son, Earl spent several days last week in Healdton, Ala. with his mother-in-law, Mrs. George H. Gamble and sister-in-law, Miss Betty Gamble. While there they also visited other relatives and friends.
Mrs. Earl Higginbotham and daughter, Carol Sue, are in Athens, Ga. visiting with Mr. and Mrs. George Thurman. They will also visit with other friends in Georgia.
Your hair will look prettier on special occasions if it's shampooed about two days in advance. Naturally, you'll want your hair to be shining clean when it's on special display—whether it's your wedding or merely having your picture taken—but your coiffure will look more flattering if it's had a chance to soften-up after being set.

Italy's New Look In Face Make-Up Accentuates Eyes

Whether or not the new "natural look" from Italy catches on as a cosmetic idea is anybody's guess. To achieve it, you use heavy, dark eye make-up and light, pink lipstick. This makes you look "all eyes" with very little mouth.
Women have been making eyes at themselves for generations. Egyptian ladies in Cleopatra's time painted the under-ride of the eye green, and the lid, lashes and eyebrows black. For a while that been glamorous by ancient standards, but the cosmetics would be very crude in modern eyes. An ancient eye make-up was mixed from lead sulphide, copper, iron, and soot. Not very appealing to the Modern Miss, is it?
Your attention is attracted from materials that are pure and harmless, even for the most delicate skin.
No matter what fashion you follow for eye make-up, the cosmetic industry has tools and recipes to help you. Many other industries, like the oil industry, contribute to your good fortune with products like fine white oils and waxes. They furnish a base for many cosmetics, and they're so dependable they'll stay fresh indefinitely.
Eachrow pencils, and mascara are stiffened with paraffin, which comes from oil. For shadow that flows easily into the skin, they're as much as 50 per cent white oil and 20 per cent petrolatum.
For easing the work of your eye, try applying vasoline on the upper lid before your powder. It stays in place all day without "creasing." For eye evaporation, pencil with light strokes, or if you prefer, natural. Apply mascara on the upper lashes with a slightly dampened brush. And don't forget that best cosmetic of all—a twinkler!

If your furniture lacks slip covers, learn to protect the upholstery and at the same time make chairs and sofas more inviting by covering them with gay colored tickle towels for the summer.
Look and put two or three light size towels, stiffly over the seat and back of each chair. They do much preparation and spare the permanent upholstery the rigors of a usual hot weather living. And, of course, the towels can be taken off as often as need to go into your washing machine with hot soapsuds.

The Navy Center's song fest will be held from 9 until 11 p. m. with Miss Charlie Morrison in charge of the activities.
Mr. Morrison is to conduct a "three-income" program consisting of a musical quiz, a regular quiz and a community sing. Prizes will be awarded to deserving contestants.

Air Academy Head Scheduled To Speak To Amvet Conference

MIAMI, Aug. 26 (AP) — American Veterans of World War II (AMVETS) swung into the second day of their 10th annual convention today and were scheduled to hear an address by Lt. Gen. Hubert R. Harmon, superintendent of the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

Harmon's subject was not announced. Meanwhile, five candidates began pushing their campaigns for the office of national commander. The election will take place at noon Sunday, final day of the convention. Candidates are William E. Cox, Boston, Mass.; Harold Koch, St. Louis; John H. Macdonald, Atlanta, Ga.; Dominick L. Strada, Greenup, Ky.; and Rufus H. West, New York, N.J.; Roy E. Pot, Wilson, Falls Church, Va.

Fred A. Seaton, assistant secretary of defense, told the delegates yesterday that national defense is this country's biggest business. He outlined a six-point list of "basic premises" governing military and foreign policy. They include:

Maintaining strong enough forces to deter aggression and to hold the line until mobilization is complete. Organizing facilities for smooth and rapid mobilization of total resources. Welding the maximum power potential of the community of free nations.

Gaining full advantage from technical, economic and inventive "know-how" to maintain weapons superiority without stockpiling obsolete armament.

Recognizing that we must be able to afford, without crippling financial strain, whatever level of preparedness we aim at. Extracting every bit of value out of every combat dollar by squeezing out waste, duplication and overstaffing, and by applying good management principles.

Seaton said new weapons are coming into use in every branch of the armed services and he paid tribute to Charles E. Wilson, secretary of defense, for "improved overall management of the Department of Defense."

PARATROOPERS LIKE JAPANESE MELONS
TOKYO, (AP)—The U.S. Army, taking issue with some Japanese farmers, said today its paratroopers did only $36 worth of damage to watermelon crops on a recent test drop—including the ones the soldiers ate. The farmers had claimed the soldiers had eaten and otherwise damaged $300 worth.

SIMONE STAEHLER, 22, displays in Paris legs that were declared "the most beautiful in Europe" by a jury of showmen on the French Riviera. She was later given a crown that, said the judges, "entitles her to have undisputed claim to the title." (International)

"Do It Yourself", He Says; So She Asks For Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Connie James, television actress and model, thinks her husband carried the do-it-yourself tag too far.

When she asked $1250 for a hair-do, he said he'd do the job himself—after he learned how, the 20-year-old actress charged Monday in a complaint for separate maintenance.

She asked her husband, Steve Ellington, 45, who writes a do-it-yourself column for 400 newspapers, to pay her $500 monthly from earnings which she estimated at $5,000 a month. His property holdings, the complaint said, are worth $100,000.

Ellington accused her of "intolerable extravagance" when she brought home a 97-cent house plant, and paid only half the check after inviting her parents to dinner, she charged.

They separated last Friday—right after the dinner party.

Judge Stenstrom

Judge Stenstrom said, "I will tender my resignation as County Judge to the Governor effective Sept. 1 in accord with judicial ethics. Serving the people of Seminole County as County Judge has been a privilege I shall always remember and appreciate."

Phillies Have Uneasy Peace After Player Manager Row

PHILADELPHIA—An uneasy peace hung over the Phillies yesterday following a battle of accusations and countercharges that had raged all night between the players and manager. The players had accused the manager of mistreatment, while the manager had accused the players of insubordination.

Field Of Amateurs In Golf Tourney is Whittled To 16

DETROIT (AP)—The field in the 54th National Amateur Golf Championship was divided between a few "haves" and a lot of "have-nots"—speaking in terms of national reputation—as the last 16 survivors set out on another double round of 18-hole matches.
And standing out head and shoulders above the rest was Frank Stranahan, who must be numbered among the "haves" in any way of reckoning. The 32-year-old Toledo spark plug has won national championships in these countries, including the coveted British Amateur twice. As has been said so often, the American title—the only important one that has been won here.

Grid Candidates Will Report Next Wednesday At Stetson

New Wednesday candidates for the 1954 Stetson Hatter football team will report to Head Coach Herbert R. McQuilian for a concentrated period of training for the opening game of the season Sept. 25 at Davidson, N. C.
Returning to Stetson this year after having been away since 1953, McQuilian is expected to bring with him the widespread play of the Southeast Conference where he has been most of the time since he left DeLand.

Micro Midgets To Race Sept. 5 At Leesburg

The Southeastern Micro Midget Championship Race is coming off Sunday, Sept. 5, at 10 a. m. on the one eighth mile track adjacent to Leesburg, Florida. The race will be held Monday at the same time. These micro midgets are the smallest man driven racing cars in competition today. These little speed demons have a wheel base of less than 40 inches, a track of less than 18 inches, and motors of no more than 18 cubic inch displacement. Yet on the straight away they can hit a speed of over 70 miles an hour. Coming into the stretch of the micro midget stand and track of one-eighth of a mile they are a sight to behold—all four wheels leaving the dirt as every driver fights to stay on the inside.

Hit Could Prove Decisive In Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The career of New Orleans pitcher Virgilio Hernandez is having his poorest season in six years of professional baseball, but the hit he got last night may have been the deciding blow of the 1954 Southern Assn. pennant battle.
Hernandez, who is batting only .227, had gone hitless 12 straight times when he stepped into a fifth inning with Atlanta's Virgil Jester. The result was a three-run homer which lifted the Pelis to an 8-5 victory and boosted their lead over the second place Crackers to 2 1/2 games.
Third place Birmingham remained nine games out of the cellar by blanking Memphis 4-0. Little Rock took a former grasp on sixth by stopping Chattanooga 7-3.

Work Is Getting Underway On New UoF Health Center

GAINESVILLE — When construction begins during the next 30 days on the first unit of the University of Florida's Medical College building, the center will become a reality.

Following the State Board of Control's decision recently to award the $278,000 contract for the medical sciences building to the Ajax Construction Company of Washington, D. C., progress toward the completion of the J. Hillis Miller Health Center is now underway.

The Medical Sciences Building, which is scheduled to be completed by the fall of 1956, will serve as the core of the entire Center since it is here that Florida's future doctors will not only learn and study, but also conduct extensive research in all phases of medicine.

Besides the basic unit, however, the complete center will also include numerous technical laboratories, a teaching hospital with 400-500 beds, and an out-patient department, all of which will eventually be used to train not only doctors, but also nurses, dentists and pharmacists.

The final plans for the medical college are the result of four years of study that began in 1950 when Jefferson M. Hamilton, University consulting architect, made his first visits to several of the nation's leading schools and centers.

Two years later he was joined by Dr. George T. Harrell, dean of the new medical college, and through a change through the years as the medical center expands to keep abreast of the latest research, practices and techniques of the profession.

Working drawings for all building of the center, which has been named for the University's late president, were prepared by Guy C. Fulmer, architect to the Board of Control, in conjunction with Hamilton, who represented the University of Florida.

Ellis and Company of St. Paul, Minnesota, who designed the Mayo Brothers Clinic, collaborated with the architects along with Ebaugh and Goethe, consulting engineers from Gainesville.

Tenn. Patsy Collins is going to Stetson University, Deland, but will take a preparatory course the first year. FRANCES LAWSON will attend the vocational school in Deland in preparation for a beautician's course. JO ANN FLIPSE has enrolled in Murray State College at Murray, Ky., where she will major in physical education. GRACE MARIE STINE, CIPHER and BEVELLY COOPER will room together at Maryville College in Maryville, Tenn., where the former will major in secondary education and the latter wants to be a physical education major.

SUE ANN RADFORD and DELOIS MILEDY will be in Orlando at the Orange Memorial Hospital in nurses' training. JOHN CARTER plans to enter Piedmont College in Demorest, Ga., where he will probably take a pre-engineering course. DICKIE MOSS says that he has his application at Emory University but may decide to go to the University of Georgia. Dickie hasn't yet chosen a major.

Those who have already completed a preliminary course will be entering the University of Miami school of medicine. They are high school graduates of several years ago. WADE H. GARNER JR., DOBBS E. LAKE and JAMES D. HANSON.

Many major decisions have been made for the first time by these students in planning their future. Choices are carefully considered and students will learn how to open the door when opportunity knocks. There will be many hours of hard work and plain old "sweating it out" mixed in with the excitement of college life.

In the end it will be well worth the effort because the biggest investments pay the biggest dividends. As one of the teachers at SHS says with one of his favorite old proverbs, "Obstacles are those things we see when we take our eyes off the goal." Good luck!

Exterior dimensions for the building are 211 by 134 feet, a larger area than a football field. The completed brick and steel building will offer quite a contrast to the present FSU men's gym on West Campus, a barracks-type building with tar paper walls. The latter served as an airbase gymnasium during the war years.

FSU immediate building plans also call for a $2,100,000 new library building and an $850,000 home economics building and home demonstration extension. Funds for both buildings were appropriated by the 1953 legislature. Shaw said that arrangements for the buildings are nearly complete, and that lettings will be announced soon.

The university's long-range permanent building program shows results this fall. The new ecology building was finished this summer, and now houses the entire geology department, a museum, the geography department and part of the Other members of the dental committee are Drs. W. G. McLeod of Pensacola, James H. Klock of Miami, Bernard Kehler of St. Petersburg, Larry M. Schulstad of Bradenton and Roger Williams of New Smyrna Beach.

The new FSU Demonstration School is also scheduled for use this fall. Final work has been speeded up to meet the opening-of-school deadline. With minor alterations the old school will be converted into university classrooms.

A new Westcott Auditorium in the administrative building, to replace an auditorium condemned by the State Board of Control in 1951, is also slated for use this year. Air-conditioned, and with a seating capacity of 1,800, it will be by far the largest auditorium on campus.

Speaker To Grads Says Six Factors Control Future

In a world becoming more and more complex it is good from time to time to recall to mind those things which are basic to creative living, the Rev. J. H. Noffsinger, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Gainesville, told members of the summer graduating class at Stetson University, at Stetson.

Nineteen graduates received bachelor of arts degrees, two received degrees of bachelor of science, one bachelor of music, two bachelor of science in business, two bachelor of laws, 13 master of arts and the speaker received the honorary degree of doctor of divinity—40 in all.

In addition to their diplomas, each received copies of the Declaration of Independence and the American Bill of Rights, a tradition at Stetson.

The Rev. James G. Stertz, pastor of the First Baptist Church of DeLand, gave the invocation and the Rev. Robert M. Blackburn, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church of DeLand, gave the benediction. Degrees were presented by Dr. C. Howard Hopkins, dean of the university.

Miss Ruth Archer, soprano, sang Mozart's "Ave Maria" with Miss Gabriela Molina as accompanist. Robert L. Auman, director of the glee club at DeLand High School was organist.

In an atomic age, the Rev. Mr. Noffsinger told the graduates, it is stabilizing to remember that behind the bomb is still the basic atom, behind its use is still the basic truth that what man allows himself to be, determines the use of that atom.

The speaker listed six essential things which, he says, determine what man allows himself to be:

1. Health, or the ability to live creatively in spite of ill health.
2. Need to live and to be loved, and of the two, the most essential is to love.
3. A vibrant sense of humor, especially about ourselves.
4. Need to learn to love to learn, not just go to school.
5. A worthwhile purpose for living.
6. A vital fellowship with God which actually has much to do with what we are and how we act.

"It is tragic how many persons graduate from our schools every year without ever having really come to love to learn," the speaker declared.

"George M. Trevelyan has stated a tragic truth when he wrote 'education has produced a large population able to read but unable to distinguish what is worth reading'."

The speaker concluded with a quotation from Thomas Huxley which said "perhaps the most valuable result of all education is the ability to make yourself do the thing you have to do, when it ought to be done, whether you like it or not. It is the first lesson that ought to be learned; and however early a man's training begins, it is probably the last lesson that he learns thoroughly."

An informal reception for graduates and commencement guests in Chandon Parlor followed the commencement program.

Women Can Make Smart Clothes In Their Homes

The woman who sews has learned that fashion is an investment, and that it pays the biggest dividends when it is not limited to any one season.

This year the feather weight woollens widely available at every piece-goods counter are winning top popularity for all-season outfits. The airy six and seven ounce woollens of 1954 are admirably suited to clothes that will see a woman through a summer vacation and go right on through fall, winter and spring.

With all the sewing aids now available to home seamstresses, practically any woman can turn out clothes with a custom-made look. Modern patterns carry explicit cutting and sewing directions, and practically every community offers some kind of sewing instruction, either free or at nominal cost. Here are some tips from experts, on how to select and handle fabrics:

1. If you are not sure just what fabric you want, don't hesitate to consult your sales clerk for detailed information on colors, textures, weights and care of fabrics.
2. When combining plaids or stripes and plain colors, choose the solid color to accent the most subtle tone of the plaid or stripe. Also allow a little extra for matching when working with patterned fabrics.
3. Coordinate rough-textured, tweedy fabrics, perfect for coats or jackets, with the smoother, lighter-weight woollens appropriate for dresses.
4. Always choose your pattern before you buy your fabric, and take it along with you when you shop for the fabric.

Men Risk Lives Moving Ammo In Blazing Car

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—An ammunition-laden freight car caught fire in the Frisco freight yards Tuesday night, touching off a series of spectacular explosions and spraying 105 mm. shells over a wide area.

Exploding shells hit one house, destroying it. Another was badly damaged. But only one person was reported injured.

An estimated 4,000 to 5,000 shells were in the car. Two Frisco yardmen were credited with averting a far more serious situation. The men, Gerald Summons and Sam Gaston, uncoupled the burning car from three other cars also loaded with ammunition.

A freight engine pulled those three cars and the remainder of the train out of danger. Then a switch engine pushed the flaming car west of the yards.

L. C. Garner, superintendent of the Frisco terminal here, said the shells had already started to explode when the yardmen uncoupled the car.

Persons in the area were evacuated. All streets and roads for a mile around the scene were barricaded.

The fire started about 7 p. m. By midnight the car had burned itself out.

Officials said the fire apparently was caused by a "hot box," a lubricating mechanism on a freight car which has become overheated by friction.

The ammunition came from an ordnance plant at Parsons, Kan.

Florida Will Get $212,790.33 As Cut

TALLAHASSEE — Florida will receive a total of $212,790.33 from the federal government to aid in fish and game restoration work during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935.

C. W. Pace, director of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission announced today.

Of this amount, $131,738.07 will be used for game work and $81,052.26 for fresh water fisheries activities.

The money is derived from a federal tax on sporting arms, ammunition, and fishing tackle, and is disbursed to the respective states through the provisions of the Pittman-Robertson and Dingell-Johnson Acts.

ROOSEVELT OVERHAULED BREMER TON, Wash. (AP)—

Workers were stripping seven million pounds of armor from the 45,000-ton aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt today, preparing to give the FDR a new suit of armor.

The Navy said, without giving details, that a new type anti-aircraft blitzer to be installed around the FDR's hull possibly will make less armor necessary.

EUROPE, LIKE U. S., HAS FREE COMPULSORY PUBLIC EDUCATION BUT SYSTEMS DIFFER

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Free compulsory public education is common to both the United States and Europe.

A comparison of the educational systems of the United States and Europe reveals that Americans have a greater opportunity to obtain a good secondary education, but not necessarily a better elementary or college education.

A survey of six European nations — Great Britain, Sweden, France, Russia, Italy and West Germany — would indicate a greater expansion of elementary and secondary schools in the United States than abroad.

In some European countries, an elementary education is all most children obtain. In Italy, for example, about five-sixths of the age group 6 to 14 obtain no more than five years' schooling. In Southern Italy, the average is only three.

EIGHT YEARS' schooling is usually the minimum in the United States and 12 years is the normal length of study among most American youth, especially in metropolitan centers.

However, Italian children are not limited to three or five years of schooling if their economic situation permits. They may take a three-year course in secondary education, which may in turn be followed by two more years in a scuola media.

From there, the student may enter a liceo (senior secondary school) to prepare for university or he may attend a technical school or normal school. Twenty-two of Italy's 41 institutions of higher learning are maintained by the national government.

In Sweden, where there has been compulsory education since 1842, attendance is required from age 7 until 14. Instruction in English begins, incidentally, in the fifth class.

A SWEDISH student attends seven one-year classes in elementary school, smaskola and realskola. He then goes to realskola and gymnasium, secondary schools. The gymnasium in Europe corresponds to the American high school.

In Western Germany, education has been the responsibility of the state since the Eighteenth Century. A student goes for eight or nine years to elementary school, the first four years being called Grundschule.

The gifted children then enter intermediate and secondary grade schools. The rest, nearly 90 per cent, go through a further stage of elementary school for four or more frequently, five years, known as Volksschule or Volkschule.

There are also intermediate schools, Mittelschulen, lasting six years, for children who want to become skilled craftsmen and employes in trade, industry, commerce and administration.

IN GREAT BRITAIN, primary education is furnished for pupils aged 5 to about 12. Infant schools handle those aged 3 to 5. Nursery schools take care of those aged 2 to 5.

Secondary education is provided for pupils from 12 to about 18 (for the majority up to 15 only) in grammar, modern and technical schools. Some additional education, either full or part-time, is given in "county colleges" (ages 15 to 18), technical schools, and colleges and youth service organizations.

In France, all education is strictly controlled by the central government. The compulsory school age is 6 to 14. Two separate systems are maintained — elementary and secondary—but differing from other countries in that both provide a series of continuing studies.

U. S. school children—It's a must for their European cousins, too.

For example, a pupil may receive all his education in the elementary system until he reaches the age of 22 or 23. The secondary system usually prepares a student for entrance into special schools, such as medicine and law.

UNLIKE the United States, separate schools are maintained for French boys and girls in communes (districts) with more than 500 population.

Russia has made vast strides in its educational system since World War I. School attendance is free and compulsory for all children aged 7 through 10. This is the elementary school system.

This is followed by junior secondary schools (7 through 13) and by senior secondary schools (13 through 16). Pupils completing the seven-year junior secondary school may go on to two-year or three-year vocational schools, technical schools, which provide training for a great variety of skilled work, including engineering and medicine.

A transfer may also be made to the parallel year of the 10-year senior secondary school, whose graduates are eligible for the universities and institutes of university level. All Soviet universities are maintained by the state.

about freezing sandwiches for lunches and for picnics that these suggestions are offered by Miss Wilson.

Fillings suitable for sandwiches to be frozen include: luncheon meats, left-over sliced roast beef, roast pork, baked ham, chicken, turkey, dried beef, tuna, salmon, sliced cheese, cheese spreads, yolks of hard-cooked eggs, and peanut butter. Use separately or combined with cream cheese, or creamed butter. Add sliced or chopped olives and dill or sweet pickles if desired.

For safety freeze only freshly prepared sandwiches and fillings. Avoid raw vegetables such as lettuce, celery, tomatoes and water-cress which lose crispness, color and flavor when frozen; whites of hard-cooked eggs which become tough; or fruit jellies or preserves which soak into the bread. Spread bread with softened butter or margarine, not with salad dressing or mayonnaise which soaks into the bread. Once sandwiches are thawed, use them promptly because they spoil rapidly after they have warmed up to temperatures above 45 degrees F.

Wrap each sandwich in a double thickness of heavy waxed paper or with moisture-vapor-resistant wrapping, fold tight. Freeze and store at zero F. or below. In heavy waxed paper, sandwiches keep fresh in the freezer a week; in moisture-vapor-resistant wrapping they may be stored two or three weeks. Thawing at room temperature takes about three hours.

Morning Chores May Be Lessened By Being Prepared

Sandwich-making is a chore that gets the homemaker up early in the morning or keeps her up at night in families where lunches are carried regularly to work or to school, says Myrtle Wilson, home demonstration agent. But there's a way to speed and ease that job for those with home freezers.

Save time by making up a large batch of sandwiches—enough for a week or two, wrap each one separately and put them in the freezer. Frozen sandwiches can go directly from the freezer to the lunch box and by noon will be thawed and ready to eat. So many homemakers have asked

CAP Gives Students Chance To Learn for Themselves About 'Wild Blue Yonder'

Students at Weber High, Ogden, Utah, learn principles of flight.

By Central Press
WASHINGTON—When school time rolls around this autumn some 4,000 teenagers will be looking forward to at least one of their many subjects with great enthusiasm for this subject, literally takes them out of the classroom and into the wild blue yonder.

You might even say this topic for study gives wings to their thoughts because it is the study of aviation—a field which today is more than just an industry. It is virtually a way of life.

Their study of the science of flight takes in such phases as the Path of Flight (aerial navigation), Power for Flight (aircraft engines), Weather, Air Traffic Control, Airports, Why the Airplane Flies and Vocational Opportunities in Aviation and is part of the Civil Air Patrol—High School Coordinated program. This program is a course of general aviation education based on the Civil Air Patrol Aviation Study manual presently carried in 119 high schools and three junior colleges across the nation. The course is an elective and carries one full credit for graduation.

DESIGNED by the Civil Air Patrol, which by act of the Congress is the civilian auxiliary of the United States Air Force, the CAP-High School program is being adopted by more high schools every day. Typical of the schools which have found it extremely successful are Olympus high school, Salt Lake City, Utah; Delphos St. John high school, Delphos, O.; George Washington high school, San Francisco; Longview high school, Longview, Texas; Greenfield high school, Greenfield, Mass.; and Bordenstown Military Institute, Bordenstown, N. J. In Ohio alone, 43 high schools carry the course. At the end of the spring semester this year 4,395 young men and women were enrolled in the program.

ALTHOUGH the nation-wide aerial program of the Civil Air Patrol has some 45,000 teenagers engaged in an intensive study of aviation and many of these cadets are enrolled in the CAP-High School Coordinated program, membership in CAP is not required of a student who wishes to enroll in the course. They are, however, encouraged to become members of CAP if there is a squadron in their community.

Together with the purely academic portion of the course most schools provide field trips to nearby commercial airports. Air Force bases, aircraft plants and other aviation installations. These are arranged through the co-operation of Civil Air Patrol units in the locality, which closely support those schools carrying the course.

If the program continues the growth it has displayed during three short years tens of thousands of American high school students of this and future generations will be provided with aviation education right in their public schools through the courtesy of the Civil Air Patrol and the United States Air Force.

SCHEME BACKFIRES ON PRACTICAL JOKER
NEW YORK—Patrick Hastings, 29, thought it would be a wonderful joke to handcuff his friend Pvt. James Speer to his bride at a few hours, Joan, and then mail the keys to Alaska.

So he bought a pair of heavy-duty handcuffs for $15 and took them along to the wedding reception at a Brooklyn hotel.

But Speer and his new wife ducked out early, and there were the handcuffs, sitting in their box.

Vaughn Monroe's Wife Keeps Busy While He Is Away

When singer Vaughn Monroe is on the road his wife beats the blues at home by keeping busy. Vaughn Monroe has advice for other wives married to traveling husbands.

"Don't become bored or sorry for yourself. Develop a hobby or some sort of interest. If you are busy in the daytime you will be willing to come home in the evening to your knitting or record collection."

She feels if a husband wants his wife's company on out-of-town trips, it's fine for the spouse to tag along. But if he doesn't—that's the end of the argument.

To keep busy Mrs. Monroe manages a 10-room house near Boston, two daughters and a 40-acre restaurant.

Her duties at The Meadows, a Boston showplace restaurant she has run for the last year, include checking finances, buying food and supplies, planning menus and special events, and advertising.

Mrs. Monroe, 42, has a master's degree in business but admits she had two strikes against her when she took over as the restaurant's director—she was a woman and the owner's wife. But now, she says:

"I think I've proven I know a little about the business. It took until last month, but now I have the confidence of the organization."

Since she tackled The Meadows, Mrs. Monroe has changed both the content and format of the menus to please the women diners, the trotted out ponies, pony carts and lollypops for the junior patrons.

She feels strongly that children in a show business family should not suffer from their parents' activities and insists that Candace, 12 and Christina, 9 get proper schooling and affection.

Candy and Christie would much prefer their father was a businessman who came home every night. When he is home, Vaughn spends the time horseshoe riding or playing golf with the girls. When away, he calls every night.

Velvet Slippers Aren't So Good For Watching TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 For my birthday a while back a well-meaning and probably desperate relative gifted me hand-socks with a pair of black velvet hand-soled, open-toed foot coverings ornamented with gold kid in the box accompanying them was a little slip of paper identifying them as "television shoes."

This, concededly is an age of specialization, and I think I have as many pairs of specialized foot coverings (I dislike the word shoe in this connection because it seems so specific) as the next person. I have dressy slippers for dressy dresses. I have several pairs of street shoes from the kind you have to take a taxi to the kind you can walk almost comfortably in. I have garden shoes which range from the kind you dig and weed in to the kind in which you stroll prettily and cut flowers. I have slippers for dance in and others to shuffle from bath to dressing table in.

But until my birthday I had no television shoes. As a matter of fact I had been watching television in whatever clothes I happened to have on without thinking too much about the propriety of my costume.

In my time I say this with shame—I have watched television in the garment I wear to the office. I've watched it in comfortable old bathrobe and slippers. In the summer I've watched it in shorts and halter. As far as foot coverings are concerned I've watched it in dress shoes and street shoes. My very favorite way to watch television is in no shoes at all.

It think it is very nice to have black velvet, gold-trimmed slippers for television watching, but there are difficulties.

In the first place, black velvet slippers require a special black velvet television viewing zone. I don't look so good in black velvet, so I'll also have to get a pretty heavy makeup and some light touch powder around the neck. By the time I get all these things together and set up I won't be able to relax with Les and Lucy.

Of course, there are some other penalties. I've already discovered that if you are wearing black velvet slippers, you are not the person designated to cut out and refill the birds' feeding stations or close the garage door. A husband don't have to go to the cellar to replenish the firewood. You don't even have to fuss around in the kitchen. When you are so elegantly decked out to look at television, you look, by golly, at television.

On the other hand, I know that if I acquire a black velvet television viewing zone, I will find my present television set pretty inadequate for my own splendor. If television demands so much from me, I will immediately require a much more impressive television set—a 21-inch screen on an Empire cabinet model which holds a high fidelity record player. And, of course, that will just lead into the continual buying of record albums—you can't get by with only the Pines of Rome.

And if we get a new big television set, we'll have to reorganize the whole living room and that means we'll have to get some new furniture. And, you know, I know what that would entail. Undoubtedly we'll end up making a special room in the cellar to hold the big set.

So I'm putting my black velvet gold-trimmed television shoes back in their box. I am going back to watching wheelchairs on the 12 1/2-inch screen in or out of whatever shoes I happen to have on at the moment.

The few that succeed in watching it if you're not in a television viewing zone, a lot of living and don't want to be bothered to do the same.

A Message to All Students From Secretary Overta Hobby

By OYSTA CUIP HOBBY
 United States Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare
 Written Exclusively for Central Press and This Newspaper

YOU'RE GLAD and you're sorry to start the school year, aren't you? Have you stopped to think how you can get the most satisfaction from school this year? Let me suggest two things that can make a difference in what you get out of school and how you feel about it.

Remember that this year is just as important as any year in your life. It is the most important for you can't change what you've already lived, but what you do this year will affect all the rest of your life. Each day counts, doesn't it? So make each one one that you can be proud of. Think of what that will mean to look back on at the end of the year!

Make your days balanced ones. Include hard work and fun and service to others in your plans right along. See each meeting with friends in the halls, each hour in class, each extra-class activity, each lesson you prepare as a chance to make others happy, yourself more understanding and effective, your school a better place for you and for others.

Don't brood over failures or disappointments. Consider them as important as successes in helping you learn what you can do well. Your point of view—all do much in making this year what you want it to be. You can make it a chore or a challenge. Make it a challenge to help you enjoy and profit from each day, to help you love the truth, appreciate beauty and live joyfully.

Auto's Presence Brings Inquiry

JACKSONVILLE—Dr. Daniel K. Kirk, city councilman, has written the city commission that he saw a city auto at KeyStone Heights.

He said a canoe was strapped on top and unless official duties were involved the car was being used illegally.

If there was no illegality, Dr. Kirk said he wants to know why the city would be using a canoe 40 miles away in adjoining Clay County.

RECORD ENROLLMENT FLOOD TO REACH OUR HIGH SCHOOLS SOME DAY, PTA HEAD WARNS

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Correspondent

CHICAGO—The president of the eight million members of the National Parent-Teachers association, Mrs. Newton P. Leonard of Providence, R. I., hails the approaching opening of a new school year at the national PTA headquarters here.

However, Mrs. Leonard asks sobering questions about whether hopeful youngsters starting off to school this autumn for the first time, holding their parents' hands, will find adequate high schools waiting for them in a few years, and how many high school students will stick until they graduate.

"We know that the record enrollments which have overwhelmed our elementary schools will soon reach our high schools," Mrs. Leonard says. "Glancing into the future of the children now in elementary schools, we ask:

"Will there be high schools adequate for their needs when they reach high school age? Or will the secondary schools be so overcrowded and understaffed that more youth will drop out than at present?" Mrs. Leonard wonders.

"TODAY'S teen-agers will assume their full responsibilities as adults within a few short years. They will have to share in solving perplexing problems in the community, the nation, and the world. To do this they must have the best education we can provide for them.

"As we watch them growing to maturity, we might ask ourselves these four practical questions:

"1—How many youth now in high school will complete their courses? 2—How many will drop out? 3—What can we do to help young people appreciate the value of a high school education? 4—How can we help them understand that for their future responsibilities they will need informed, disciplined minds and skill in human relations?"

"Sometimes parents lose interest in their schools when their children reach high school age. They feel that the high school student doesn't need his parents' support as the younger child does. They often feel, too, that the adolescent, with his growing desire for independence, resents his parents' coming to the school.

"It's true, of course, that the adolescent wants to be independent. However, it is also true that he needs and wants his parents' support and interest. He welcomes with enthusiasm an adult organization in which he and his fellow students can work with their parents and teachers on school, community, and teenage problems.

"Such an organization is the high school PTA in which students actively participate. In it youngsters mature by thinking, working, and sharing responsibilities with adults.

"It is our task as parents and teachers to strengthen existing high school PTAs and to stress the importance of home-school cooperation at the high school level.

"Together with other citizens we can help our teen-agers stay in school and start planning now for the additional high school facilities that will be needed in the near future."

HOLLYWOOD'S PROFESSIONAL MOST GLAMOROUS SCHOOL

Half of Student Body Appears on Radio, Television, in Movies or Night Clubs

By CECIL BROAD
Central Press Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—No school can boast as glamorous a student body as the Hollywood Professional School. About half of its 400 students are movie, radio or television actors and actresses or night club performers—like Molly Bee and Jimmy Boyd.

Every morning at 8:30 when the first bell rings, they take their places with the other students to whom HPS is merely another private school with high standards. To the professional student, however, the school offers the only opportunity to maintain a full academic schedule without disrupting show business careers.

"Other schools," explains friendly Mrs. Bertha Keller Mann, executive director of HPS, "require the students to adapt themselves to the rigid school schedule. Here, the school adapts itself to the students."

Actually, HPS—the academic wing of the more than 30-year-old Hollywood Conservatory of Music and Art—follows the standard California curriculum and schedule, with the exception of physical education classes. Moreover, it maintains such a high standard that it is accredited to the University of California and its graduates may go to any college in the country.

Where HPS differs from other schools is the service it gives its students for the $25 a month tuition. When students are absent from class because of their professional work, the school sees to it that tutors keep them abreast of the class.

ON THEIR RETURN, provision is made for the student to have a double class day in order to catch up if necessary. Tutors accompany them if they are on tour—like the tutor who went with Jimmy Boyd when the freckle-faced young singing star went to Las Vegas for a night club engagement.

Students who will be away for long periods take examinations on the honor system, mailing their papers back to the school for grading. There's no avoiding report cards, however. They go out regularly, just as in every school in the country.

The professional student doesn't have to worry about keeping up with his class, Mrs. Mann declared. "Professional students win most of our awards every year and they are always in the top bracket of the class."

One of the professional students who's always near the head of his classes is Mrs. Mann's son, Joel, who has been seen on many national television shows.

MRS. MANN, a specialist in educational testing, became interested in the school several years ago. She came to HPS to work out a special three-day project—and remained.

Last year, her husband, Dr. Maurice Mann, for years a hat company executive, joined the school as president.

Classes are small, enabling the faculty of 42 teachers to give virtually individual attention to the pupils. The school takes students through every phase of education in preparation for college and many of the teachers are specialists in their various fields.

FIVE STUDENTS are former school principals from eastern communities who came to California to retire and couldn't resist the urge to go back to teaching.

SITUATED on busy Hollywood boulevard, about two miles from the nearest movie or television studio, Hollywood Professional School has no glamorous exterior. The plain brick building could be one of the many office structures in the area.

Inside, HPS boasts the latest in laboratory equipment and the best in educational facilities—and a few miles away from the school proper are the HPS grounds where a stable and swimming pool are at the disposal of the students.

Tourists have never heard of it, but they've heard of its graduates. Betty Grable is one. So is Donald O'Connor. And Cyd Charisse, Karen Sharpe, Debra Paget and Piper Laurie.

TALENT SCOUTS drop in constantly in the hope of discovering a new face, but they must be careful not to interfere with school work. HPS de-emphasizes the professional side of a student's activities and there is nothing in the curriculum, except dancing and drama, that has anything to do with the amusement industry.

The new school steadfastly declines, despite urgings, to operate any kind of placement service.

Once, however, the schools was responsible for a casting. Molly Bee, the teenage singer, had mentioned that her own television program was coming to an end. When Pinky Lee called to find out if HPS could recommend a girl for his television program, Mrs. Mann suggested Molly. "My," comments Mrs. Mann, "hasn't that worked out fine!"

Charlie Jones Looks Forward To Back Position

GAINESVILLE—Charlie Jones is a determined young man who is looking ahead to a varsity half-back post this season with Florida's Gators.

Standing only five feet seven inches, Jones is substantially filled out at 170 pounds. He is a rough enough customer for college football.

Coming to Florida as a freshman last season, he brought with him a record of having scored 135 points during his senior year at Clermont. He got 35 of them in one game.

This determination that is expected to carry him to a varsity post is seen in his hard-driving runs. Once in the open, he defies opposing tackles to bring him down.

As a member of the B team last year, Jones gave a fine account of himself, particularly in the baby Gators' game with the Miami Hurricane reserves.

In addition to his speed, he is a constant threat as a pass receiver as well as a running back.

Costing $48,000 each, the luxuriously appointed buses ride on cushions of air instead of metal springs. They have a complete, year-round air conditioning system; extra large picture windows; tinted to reduce heat and glare; power steering; extra leg-room due to increased overall length; toilet and lavatory facilities and a giant "lazy susan" baggage compartment.

Tampa Star Scraps For Uoff Grid Post

(Editor's Note: Sophomores will play an important role in Florida football fortunes during the 1954 season. This is one in a series of stories on the outstanding sophomore prospects. Of a 70-man Gator varsity squad, 35 are second year men.)

GAINESVILLE—A fine potential ability and a keen determination to make good are the forces driving Tampa's Billy Shields as he fights for a varsity halfback post with Florida's Gators this season.

Coming to Florida as a freshman last season, Shields brought with him a fine high school record of achievement at Plant, under Coach Frank Lorenzo in football and Angelo Williams in track (Lorenzo and Williams were outstanding athletes at Florida).

Shields' accomplishments included the setting of a new city record in scoring. He bettered the record of Rick Casares, former Florida star, by scoring 100 points. Casares had 95.

Billy was named to All-South and All-State teams and was named All-City (Tampa) captain. In high school he also ran the 100 yard dash in ten seconds flat on five occasions, and the 220 in 22.4 seconds.

Billy stands five feet 10, weighs 172 pounds. He earned a freshman numeral playing with the Gators "B" and freshman teams last season.

DELIGHTFULLY FEMININE, this imported cotton pima blouse called "Torero" by Macabore Classics comes straight from the arenas of Spain into the fashion-wise wardrobe of today's modern miss and missus. Rippling rows of ruffles and sparkling thimblestone buttons run down the front making it pretty enough for party-wear and smart enough for less formal wear. Neat upturned cuffs put the finishing touch to the slim and comfortable blouse. Completely washable in a host of exciting colors.

all the necessary data in "Clapper in The Salt Marsh," a factual article dealing with opening phase of Florida's brand new hunting season.

"Hunting Rules and Regulations" covers all other news of hunts due to start during September and October in Florida. This includes regulations governing archery hunts, special bear and panther hunts, the doe season plus the new ruling on alligators.

Announcement of the new Junior Conservation Essay Contest for all Florida school children in grades five through 12 and the hundreds of prizes to be awarded are also in the September issue of the Florida magazine for all sportsmen.

Noted sportswriter Joe Brooks tells of tarpon fishing with Ted Williams in "Big League Tarpon" and "Shellock's Are Heidin'" deals with one of Florida's mightiest panfishes.

To round out a well balanced schedule of hunting and fishing reading, there is "You Have To Be Smarter Than The Fish" (Grandpa And The Tag-Along) (trophy deer hunting), "Who Said 'Poor Fish,'" and "It Helps If You're A Little Crazy."

Another new department that will prove beneficial to the sportsman is "Florida Wildlife Field Tests and Tells." With the addition of this interesting and informative section, Florida Wildlife now presents nine regular monthly departments for all sportsmen hunting and fishing in Fabulous Florida.

Lebanese Plan New River Project With Own Funds

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Little Lebanon is going to work on a 100-million-dollar river development project — biggest in its history — with an economic aid grants from foreign governments.

U.S. Point Four technicians conducted a three-year survey of the Litani River hydroelectric project, which is expected to double per capita consumption of electricity in Lebanon and irrigate more than 50,000 acres by the time it is finished in 25 years.

But when American officials handed the survey report to the Lebanese government, they felt reached. For actually building the system, Lebanon must bear the burden itself. The United States plans no direct government grants.

Lebanon's Parliament has set up a semi-autonomous company to begin financing. The company will seek funds from Lebanese government, Lebanese private investors, foreign private investors and such leading agencies as the World Bank.

Some foreign experts here believe the whole project could pay for itself if built in stages, one phase paying for the next.

Safety Info On Fires Sent To Schools

NEW YORK — The National Board of Fire Underwriters announced today the publication of a new 21-page pamphlet on fire-safe school buildings to educational institutions throughout the country.

The board said it was giving the widest distribution possible to this publication which presents in brief form the essential elements of fire-safe school buildings and makes recommendations for obtaining fire safety in new buildings and in existing ones.

The pamphlet points out that on an average of once every hour during the working day—3,400 times a year—fire breaks out in some school. Over a period of years, 827 deaths have occurred in 60 of the more than 100,000 schools. Only last spring, the National Board pointed out, fire in an upstate New York school took the lives of 17 children, seriously injured 17 others.

In addition, 11 school fires last year resulted in losses of $250,000 per school. The structures destroyed included elementary schools, high schools and university buildings.

The pamphlet deals with fire-safe building construction, that is, the limited use of combustible material, fire separation between buildings by fire-resisting walls, and adequate exit facilities. It points out that fire extinguishers are needed in large-area buildings by fire-resisting walls, and adequate exit facilities. It points out that fire extinguishers are needed in large-area buildings by fire-resisting walls, and adequate exit facilities.

Heating and ventilating equipment, electric wiring and appliances, gas piping and waste-pipe handling arrangements all require proper safeguards for their fire hazards.

Included with the pamphlet is an inspection blank which suggests that inspections are to be made monthly by the building custodian and a member of the faculty, and quarterly by them accompanied by a member of the fire department.

The blank, properly filled out, is to be filed with the board of education or school commissioners.

The National Board holds that many existing school buildings can be improved and made reasonably safe. Others have hazards which could be corrected only with such large cost as to make correction impracticable. When that is found to be the case, the National Board said, the use of such buildings should be discontinued immediately.

"The building may have been used for many years, but that is no proof that fire may not strike tomorrow with tragic loss of life," it was declared.

The National Board added that school fire safety requires more than a building of fire-resistive construction. Fire extinguishing facilities, means for guarding against fire hazards, and regular fire exit drills, above all, it requires the continuing administrative attention to maintenance of all these features.

Hyacinth Control Division Moves

C. W. Pace, Director of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission announced today that headquarters of the State's Hyacinth Control Division moved to Lakeland in an effort to cut down operating costs.

The unit consisting of an aerial crew and two boat crews was formerly based at Williston. At present there are over 140 lakes being maintained, following control operations by the hyacinth group.

"By moving to Lakeland," Pace said, "we will give the unit a more central location. However, one boat crew unit assigned to the North Florida hyacinth control division will continue to operate out of the Williston office."

Pace also announced that with the additional duties assigned to Don R. Luehly, supervisor of the project, since his promotion to the position of chief, fish management, operations for the hyacinth control division at Lakeland would be administered by Dean G. Perera, former pilot of the group. Any inquiries regarding Hyacinth Control work should now be addressed to Box 521, Lakeland.

Strolling In Sanford

A car being driven by a blind-folded woman is being planned as one of the highlights of a stage show coming to the Ritz Theatre on Sept. 1, according to Herbert Koller, theater manager. The woman, advertised as "Kazara, Lady with X-Ray Eyes," is a member of Brondell's Temple of Mystery, out of Lakeland. The auto stunt is to be staged the afternoon of Sept. 4, starting from the theater, while the stage show will be at night.

Dial Boyle, women's president Duke University, and daughter of Mrs. Lloyd F. Boyle, Sanford, was among student leaders from more than 100 colleges and universities throughout the U. S. at this week's completed four-day workshop on campus government problems at the fourth annual Student Body Presidents Conference, sponsored by the S. National Student Association, at Iowa State College, Ames, Ia.

The other night Charlie Dawson, County agent, was seen out in front of his house with a rifle. When asked about it yesterday afternoon, Charlie said he is bothered with a bunch of pigeons. He's about to go coo-roo with their coming, he says. So, now he is bumping them off one at a time. "One of these days there won't be any more pigeons there," he said in parting.

W. A. Morrison, president of Strickland Morrison, Inc., has been reappointed as chairman of the National Automobile Dealers Association in Seminole County, according to Charles C. Freed, president of the organization. Morrison was singled out for this honor in appreciation of his efforts, both locally and state-wide, in the half of automobile dealers and the motoring public, according to the association. As an NADA chairman, the association continued, Morrison provides close liaison between NADA in Washington, D. C., and Seminole County's new car and truck dealers. He coordinates local dealer action for programs and activities developed by the NADA or by his state automobile dealers association. Morrison has been in the automobile business for 32 years, and he has a Ford dealership at First St. and Sanford Ave.

New Finance Minister Takes Office In Brazil

Tough Job Faces Eugenio Gulin; Says First Concern Is Coffee Situation

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Eugenio Gulin, head of the Brazilian Institute of Economics, was sworn in as Brazil's new finance minister last night to steer the nation through its serious economic crisis. The 68-year-old economist said his first concern would be the coffee situation. Declining exports of this main Brazilian product have caused a severe foreign exchange shortage.

Gulin promised also to do his best to stabilize prices and curb state expenses in an effort to halt growing inflation.

ERNEST HOUSHOLDER
Ernest Housholder, previous Seminole County judge for six years, has been appointed by Acting Gov. Charles Johns to succeed Judge Douglas Stenstrom Sept. 1. Judge Stenstrom has resigned to be a candidate for senator in the 37th senatorial district. The office was made vacant by the death of Sen. Lloyd F. Boyle.

Judge Housholder, in elaborating on the appointment, said the County board of commissioners has approved his bond and that his acceptance and oath of office have been mailed to the Secretary of State. He expects to get his commission prior to Sept. 1, he said.

He continued that he "will be ready to assume the duties and responsibilities of the office on Wednesday" and that he is "happy to again have the privilege of serving the people of his county as their County Judge." He said he hoped for "their approval of this appointment and their cooperation."

The new judge is a long-time resident of Seminole County where he has practiced law since entering the bar. He was served Sanford mayor and was senator from this district in 1941 and 1943.

He was a candidate this spring for judge of the ninth judicial district, but was not successful. However, he received good backing in this county.

The appointee says he feels like he "is returning to his home at the Court House" and that "his office will be maintained for the people's benefit."

SERVICES HELD FOR JET ACE
GEORGE AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — Funeral services for Capt. Joseph McConnell Jr., 32, the nation's leading jet ace killed in a crash Wednesday, will be held Saturday.

ARMED BANDITS ROB BANK
EUREKA, Mo. — A pair of armed bandits, entering just before closing time, robbed the Farmers and Merchants Bank here of about $15,500 yesterday after locking six persons in a vault and slugging a customer with a gun.

Homeowners Tell Senate Committee Of Bilking Action

NEW YORK (AP)—Several homeowners have told a Senate committee these were bilked by salesmen who used fast patter and promises of commissions to sell them home improvement jobs financed through the Federal Housing Administration.

Witnesses appearing yesterday before the Banking and Currency Committee told of inferior products going into repair jobs, and how they were talked into signing contracts, or completing, before the work had even started.

The committee, with Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.) sitting as a lone member, is probing windfall profits made by builders working through FHA and any other abuses of the federal housing law.

They were talked into home improvements in the first place, the witnesses testified, by slick salesmen—called "dynamiters" in the trade—who worked this way.

The "dynamiter" would show up uninvited and persuade the homeowner to buy a new paint job or new siding, or a garage, or obtain an FHA loan to pay for it. The price averaged around $700 or $800.

Inserting a constant refrain that "I won't cost you a cent," the salesman said the homeowner's new, improved job would save a "dynamite" in the neighborhood and would mean a $50 commission for every similar job sold to his neighbors.

One witness, Raymond Hobson of Queens, said he bought a $1,000 roofing, siding and paint job from a "Haild Deland."

Hobson, who said he was promised commissions if the neighbors contracted for similar work, said his own job was never finished and he never got satisfaction out of the company. "And I never got a dime out of any sales," he added.

Louis Mainano of Hazleton, Pa., said Harry Long, an agent for the Keystone Home Improvement Co., sold him a $747 contract for asbestos siding.

The siding, Mainano said, was held in place by flimsy aluminum channels and the first high wind blew quantities of it off the house.

When he complained to the company, he said, "they sent me back smart remarks about selling my home or car to make me go."

France's Top Consultative Body Advises Rejection Of EDC

Christian Leaders Turn To Discussion Of Ages-Old Task

EVANSTON, Ill.—Christian leaders today turned to a discussion of their great, centuries-old, unfinished task—carrying the Gospel to millions of non-Christians.

Delegates to the Assembly of the World Council of Churches gathered here to hear a report by the Committee on Evangelism.

Delegates of the report have heard many suggestions for increasing the number of Christians, who still are a minority in the world as a whole.

Among the ideas placed before them were these: Messages and methods should be directed more to workers, particularly in Asia and other areas where the Communists are trying to recruit them.

Evangelism, including writers of widely circulated copy, should play a larger part in spreading the faith.

Effective use should be made of the media of mass communication—radio, television, newspapers, magazines, books—in this effort of competition for access to the minds of men.

The delegates realize Christian evangelists face a challenging task. They have been told that, despite their gains, the earth's total population is growing faster than the Christian population.

Evangelism is one of the sub-themes of the meeting of representatives of 163 denominations from 48 countries.

The main theme is "Christ—the Hope of the World."

Boost In Teachers' Salaries Will Be Sought, Bailey Says

MIAMI (AP)—Legislators will be asked at their session next year to increase teachers' salaries, Thomas D. Bailey, Bay County Commissioner, told a press conference here today. He said he would like to see a 10 percent increase in salaries for all teachers in the state.

He said the Legislature will be asked to increase salaries and the amount of state aid at a local level.

He said the construction program had progressed but he still increased the amount of state aid to 100 million dollars to be spent on the program.

Merely to educate our citizens is not enough, he stated. Bad government is our chief enemy. More civil government results from the maturity of the citizenry.

So in addition to your great job of educating our children, we have the challenge of preparing them to be good citizens.

Collins To Invite Solons To Meets

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Gov. Sumner L. Winters today invited members of the House and Senate appropriations committees to sit in on the pre-legislative budget commission sessions starting in January.

The legislative committees sat in on the budget meetings in 1953 for the first time and State Budget Director H. C. Smith said this helped speed up action on the biennial appropriations bill.

In previous years, the commission acted on the budget request, then the legislative appropriations committees went over them again.

While the sessions won't get under way until after the new administration goes into office early in January, work on the budgets already is getting started.

The budget director's office is preparing request forms which will go out to the 93 state offices and agencies Sept. 15. The state offices are required to return them by Nov. 15.

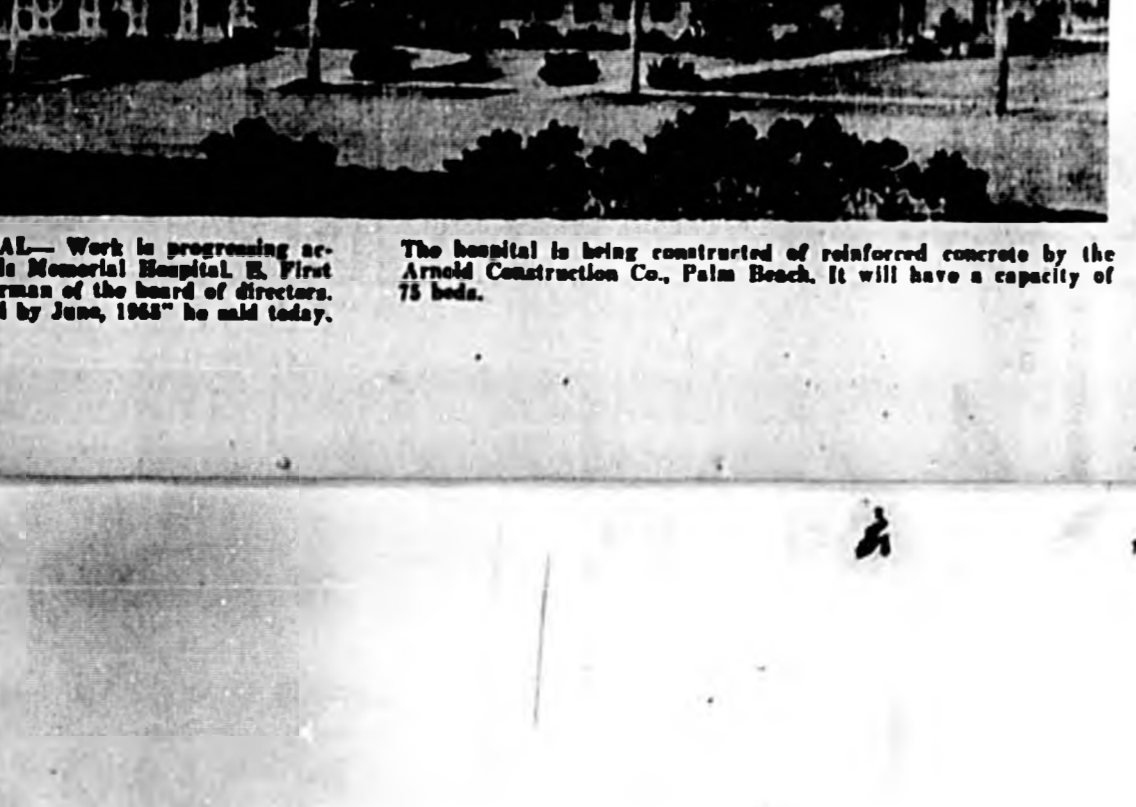

Smith said the new forms are more condensed and will provide a better comparative analysis of current and requested appropriations.
