Privacy For All Citizens

Because some progress is better than none, we are inclined to applaud the Carter administration's move to undo the U.S. Supreme Court's shocking decision last May in the Zurcher vs. Stanford Daily case, which threatened the civil liberties of all

At least the administration has reversed its carlier tacit endorsement of the court's ruling. Unfortunately, the proposed legislative re-medy unveiled by Attorney General Griffin Bell is lefective and deficient.

In the Standford case, a divided court (5-3) undermined free press and privacy rights guaranteed by the First and Fourth Amendments, wholding a surprise police search of private files.

Without benefit of a subpoena specifying the evidence they sought, police had rummaged through the student newspaper's files in search of photographs of a violent campus demonstration.

Clearly, the court's decision jeopardized the state of townships and news-gathering right of journalists and news-gathering organizations to protect the confidentiality of their sources of information.

And just as obviously, the decision also im-periled the Fourth Amendment right of all citizens to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and

As dissenting Justice John Paul Stevens wrote: "Countless law abiding citizens. . . may have documents in their possession that relate to an ongoing criminal investigation.

The consequences of subjecting this large a category of persons to unannounced police searches are extremely serious. . . Indeed, they are. But the Carter administration's proposed legislation would exempt from such search and seizure only the "work product" of journalists and others gathering material for public dissemination."

Ordinary citizens, including physicians and lawyers who have a special need to maintain the coefficientiality of their private files, would sensin In this respect, the Carter administration's bill mirrors the glaring oversight of legislation passed last summer by the California legislature. Thus, we find the broader bill proposed by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., superior to the administration's half-measure. Bayh's bill reaffirms the privacy rights of all citizens. We hope the Congress will agree.

It's Chinese

How that we are going to have closer relations with China, we should be able to pronounce Chinese names more correctly. And should be able to pronounce Chinese names more correctly. And a new system of spelling them in Roman characters may help. The State Council, China's equivalent to a presidential cabinet, has formally abundoned the spelling system that was started by British Enguist, Sir Thomas Wade, in 1856.

The system runders the sounds of the Chinese language into the Roman alphabet.

R fulls be some close to phonetic perfection, however, when a name like that of the present vice premier (soon to visit the U.S.) is seedled "Those" and pronounced "Dung."

U.S.) is spelled "Tong" and pronounced "Dung."

The new system, to start officially Jan. 1, makes somewhat

Puting, for instance, is pronounced Bay Jing in Mandarin Chinese and the new spelling, "Beijing," approximates that Even the new Roman spellings of Chinese proper names will leave many of us at a less for words, however. Conten will be known as Guangzhou and Hong Kong will become Klanggang. China eventually will become Zhonggun. The plan is to pract foreign language periods and books distributed in China in the new tongue.

R seems like a yest undertaking.

RONALD REAGAN Wage Price Exception

President Carter's "voluntary" wage-price guidelines" program is beginning to look like the rule that proves the exception. William Blake, the classic English poet and mystic, orice said, "If you would do good for me you must do it in the minutes perticulars." That, alsa, is about the only way the federal government is going to make its program "work" and that means more bureaucrats. And with them mandatory wageand-price controls, with the false shortages and inflation build-up they always bring. The skeptics' scenario goes this way:after several menths of fiddling and fussing, making exceptions here and there, Mr. Carter finally throws up his hands and says, "I did my best, but you all didn't do your share: now we've got to have a mandatory program in order to be fair to

Michel Finds A Friend

NEW YORK (UPI) - For those of you out there who are a little worried about him, this is to assure you Mike Michel is coming out of it nicely although it goes without saying he won't be kicking any more footballs this year.

You remember what happened the last time he did three days ago. Poor fellow flubbed it. What made it worse was that millions all over the country were watching him on TV and 49,447 others were focused on him alone at Atlanta Stadium.

With all those people staring at him and only 13 seconds left in the game, Mike Michel tried to kick a 33-yard field goal for the Philadelphia Eagles against the Atlanta Falcons and missed by

Had the kick been good, the Eagles would've won the ball game, 16-14, and gone on to meet the Rams in Los Angeles this Sunday. As it turned out, the Palcons were 14-13 winners. So, they face the Dowboys in Dellas this Saturday and the Eagles are all finished

Acting purely on instinct, Michel clutched both his ankles with his hands as if he somehow could invest some divine direction into mistakes," answers Falcons cons, who had five turnovers Coach Leeman Bennett. "I against Philadelphia, "can't know most people don't agree make that many mistakes

While he was doing that, completely oblivious to all the panlitemonium around him, linebacker Greg Brezina, walked over to his side. Brezina wanted to console the complete, devastated Eagles' punter, who had never tried a field goal for u. w before and had done it now because Nick Mike-Mayer, the learn's regular place-kicker, was on the injured reserved list.

Seeking to comfort Michel, Brezina bent over him and tried to convey the way he felt inside, attempting to explain he knew exactly how Michel felt and to soften his extreme distress

Michel nodded without saying anything. All he did was keep bear pulling victories out of a hat all season. "If tried to explain to him what I was trying to say but I wasn't sure whether he heard me be not," said Brusine.

Michel heard every word Brusine said and told me so over the phone from Philadelphia.

"What bothers me," Michel said, "is that I feel I left without really letting him know how I felt about what he did for me. I have find get for the swords ... they probably were the most comporting thing that anyone could say to me. To have done what he fid ... was a real example of a true brother, someone who took the trouble to go far beyond the meaning of the game. I believe in Jesus also."

Money-Making TV Irks Hit Producer

Television used to be in the business of preducing en-tertainment and along the way made money, but in-creasingly television is in the business of making money, with entertainment little more than a byproduct. That's the prospect that frightens Lee Rich, producers of television product in the country.
"I think what is happening is a tragedy for television producers," Rich said in an interview. "Television always was a business, but

Leona Pearson, of Longwood, learned to make biscuits with an assist from her grand-

"One day, when I was about 14, my grandmother wasn't home, and my grandfather decided be wanted biscuits. So with him telling me what to do, I made them. From then on, I've loved to cook more than anything else I'm able to do," she said.

When Leona was a young girl, she was almost lost in he crowd of 16 children at ome. "How I longed to mook! But when I was 16, I went to live with my brother and his wife. They had seven children, and just turned me loose in the kitchen! I cooked over an old wood-burning range. My sister, Rhoda Cook, and live together now and we both love to cook. Guess it was just born in us," she laughed.

With a yard full of beautiful, healthy plants and flowers, Leona feeds them also. That's right, she saves every particle of eftover food, even bones and buries them among the lowers, saying, "If God is ove. He's also beauty! Calling herself the Pied Piper of Cooking, Leona aid, "When I bake a cake or cookies, kids just start showing up. They just seem o follow their noses. never mind, because ruess I love children more than anything. I love of people too, but children are umber one with me!" Leona admits her son, Norman, is a better cook that she. "When he was in ichool, he always made irthday cakes for special

Water along Lake Mary street illustrates some of the problems of driving caused by somewhat unusually heavy rainfall for this time of year. According to the Seminole County Port Authority, rainfall from 5 p.m. Wednesday to about noon today was measured at 1.82 inches at the Port of Sanford. SCOPA officials say rainfall recorded for December 1976 was 4.3 inches; 3.13 for 1977; and 5.25 inches for December this year with three days left in the month. SCOPA's forecast? Rain ending by midnight.
