WIDE PROGRAM FOR REVIVING TRADE READY

Public Construction, U. S. Co-operation On Industrial Regulation Are Planned

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(A.P.)—A broad program for reviving business through public construction and federal co-operation on industrial regulation was completed today by administration advisers after submission to President Roosevelt.

Primarily designed to regulate industrial production through what the President described as a "partnership" the legislation would relax anti-trust laws to permit agreements within industry subject to governmental approval.

The Democrats assured quick disposal by the House of the administration's farm relief inflation bill by clamping on a railroads bill all points of order by which Republicans sought to delay.

Joseph Eastman, Interstate Commerce commissioner, told a Senate committee that the administration's railroad relief bill "will involve a loss of employment to railroad labor" but it is an "unshaking conclusion that employment should be preserved by retaining waste and inefficiency."

Assurance of the creation of vast new machinery to protect investors against fraudulent securities was given yesterday by the Senate. It passed without even the formality of a record vote the Fletcher bill already approved in principle by the House.

Although shaped to the same end, the House and Senate bills differ in details of particular. The measure went immediately to conference.

"So speedily has it turned over the major responsibility in the administration programs that the Senate recessed until Wednesday immediately after the vote, which came after only two hours of debate. The next big measure to be put forward on the Senate side probably will be the $2,000,000,000 small home owners bill.

As passed by the Senate the securities bill carried an important amendment by Senator Johnson, Republican, California, providing for a corporation of foreign security owners to negotiate for resumption of payments due on hundreds of millions of dollars of unfunded foreign bonds.

KEEN OPPOSITION TO RAILROAD BILL SHOWN BY LABOR

Belief Is Held That Rail Workers Would Suffer From Plan

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(A.P.)—The storm signals of a vigorous labor opposition were flying last night before the administration's emergency railroad bill just started upon its journey through Congress.

Questions put to witnesses before the House Interstate Commerce Committee served to emphasize the belief of some of its members that railroad labor would suffer under the plan, which provides for a federal "co-ordinator" to help the roads eliminate unnecessary activities and reduce their capitalization.

Secretary Roper said frankly that "the bill is not offered as a solution of all transportation problems." He asserted that its results will depend not so much upon the co-ordinator as upon the railway executives themselves.

Then Dr. Walter M. W. Spahr, the committee's expert, analyzed the measure.

Questioning during his testimony stressed the labor issue, and at one point Spahr agreed that savings under the co-ordination plan were substantial and large, while such persons in such condition, imprisoning, involving or kidnapping of such person, shall be punished by death."

The Senate's bill was promptly sent to the House where preparations were made for special consideration and quick passage. A House bill, similar in intent but giving the jury power to recommend mercy and force the judges to impose a sentence of life imprisonment, was introduced early in the session by Brown of Dade.

Jesse Brown, George Jones, Lavi Knight, Quila Mae Minnis, Vada McGill, and Henry Will Jones, all charged with disorderly conduct, were fined $5 each.

Charlie Lee Gaskin, charged with assault, was dismissed.

Curtis Silbur, charged with loitering, was dismissed.

Johnnie Brown and Fletcher Williams, charged with gambling, were fined $2 each, while Elijah Fisher, Arthur Fuller, Curtis Thompson, and Will Thomas, all charged with the same offense are scheduled to be tried next month.

Other cases which are scheduled to be tried next Monday are: Disorderly conduct charges against Roosevelt Andrews and Shelly Joseph; a drunkenness charge against Cleveland McLean; recklessness driving charges against James Hall, Jr., and Ed Stokes, white man; charges of being inmates of a disorderly house against E. L. Ford and Estelle Hill.

Abductors Foiled In Attempt To Kidnap

FREIGHTON, Illinois, May 9.—Because their wealthy victim let himself be kidnapped and the sheriff kept a step ahead of their plot, two alleged abductors were in jail today to be prosecuted for a $25,000 ransom conspiracy.

William Trevillian, vice president of the W. T. Rawleigh Company, walked from his office last evening expecting to be kidnapped. Two men seized him and took him to an abandoned farm. Two former undercover men who recently learned of the plot informed police and the capture of the two men resulted.

They gave their names as William Stubbs and Laverne Moore. Trevillian agreed to submit to the kidnapping and help trap the men.

CARDINAL DIES

ROME—Cardinal Corrèt, former auditor of the apostolic delegation at Washington, died of diabetes Sunday.

Violent Deaths Of 3 People Investigated

PLAINFIELD, New Jersey May 9.—(A.P.)—The violent death of Knight Faust, 53, and his son, James, 23, followed by the suicide of Theodore Zeller, today engaged the attention of police here. The Fausts were found shot to death in a laundry they recently took over from Zeller. Mrs. Faust said they were unable to meet financial payments on the business and frequent disputes with Zeller. Zeller shot and killed himself as he had reported the effect of the closing of 100 of the city's 200 coal yards.

KIDNAPING IS MADE CAPITAL ACT BY SENATE

House Is Expected To Concur In Action Of Upper Body In Hiking Penalty To Death

TALLAHASSEE, May 9.—The Senate, by unanimous vote, yesterday passed a bill increasing the penalties for kidnapping, or ransom from 10 to 15 years to death in the electric chair.

Prompt action on the bill, introduced on April 10 by Chowning, of New Smyrna, and reported favorably with only one minor amendment by a judiciary committee on May 4, was inspired by the Senate's desire to warn racketeers specializing in the kidnapping of children, to stay out of Florida.

"We are all familiar with the recent kidnapping of little Peggy McMath," Chowning said in moving the consideration of his bill out of regular order. "Florida invites the wealthy tourists of the nation to winter here. Yet our present statutes offer little protection against the operations of these gangs of brutal criminals. The law today punishes only by 15 years for kidnapers of children. The time has come for the Legislature to tell the gangsters who prey on the anguish of parents, rich or poor, that death in the electric chair will be their penalty if they operate in Florida and are apprehended."

The Chowning bill is brief, merely amending the present kidnapping statutes as follows:

"Whoever, without lawful authority, forcibly or secretly confines, imprisons, inveigles or kidnaps any person, with intent to hold such person for a ransom to be paid for the release of such person, or any person or persons who aids, abets or in any manner assists such persons in such confinement, imprisoning, inveigling or kidnapping of such person, shall be punished by death."

The Senate's bill was promptly sent to the House where preparations were made for special consideration and quick passage. "Then the effect of the bill is to increase the purchasing power of bondholders and decrease the purchasing power of employees," commented Representative Wellington, Republican, New Jersey.

Today, Secretary Roper and Joseph B. Eastman of the Interstate Commerce Commission will testify before the Senate Interstate Committee while the House Committee recesses. We, neady the House Committee resumes with representatives of shippers and railroads on the transaction.

Senator Cutting Proposes Spending Of Six Billion Dollars For Public Works

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(A.P.)—A proposal to spend six billion dollars on public works was held before Congress yesterday as plans moved ahead in other official quarters for a concerted attack on unemployment.

The public works bill was introduced by Senator Cutting, a New Mexico Republican who supported President Roosevelt in the same campaign. Backing him were two other senators—Democrats—Senator La Follette, Wisconsin, and Coulter, Colorado.

It was drafted for action while the administration was still pulling together its own public works program, which is expected to call for a much smaller outlay at the start.

Other developments against unemployment were:

CITY CHANGES ITS BEER ORDINANCE TACTICS IN ROW PASSED AT MEET OVER LIGHT RATE OF COMMISSION

Will Shift Burden Of Proof Of Reasonableness To Company

Over the protest of Commission or T. L. Dumas, members of the Sanford City Commission, last night agreed to a change of tactics in the local fight for lower electric light and power rates, a change that, with the City setting us what it considers reasonable rates, is intended to shift the burden of proof that the rates are reasonable to the Florida Power and Light Co.

The change of tactics was suggested in the commission by S. L. Dighton, attorney for F. L. Miller who recently won what Mr. Dighton termed "the first skirmish" in Mr. Miller's private suit for lower rates. The change was approved by City Attorney F. R. Wilson, who has been collaborating with Mr. Dighton in hearings thus far.

As a result, Mayor V. A. Spahr appointed a committee composed of F. T. Williams, W. M. Haynes, G. D. Bishop, F. L. Miller, and S. O. Shinshuler to make a study of rates to establish what it considers as just and reasonable rates and report its findings to the commission as quickly as possible.

Commissioner Dumas objected by declaring that "This move is radical and I don't approve of it entirely. I think you are obnoxious to Mr. Williams, Mr. Haynes and Mr. Bishop who comprise the committee which is interested in such a special report."

Joint War Declared On Labor Racketeers

CHICAGO, May 9.—(A.P.)—A war to the finish on Chicago labor racketeers was declared jointly today by Mayor Edward Kelly and State Attorney Thomas C. Murphy, following a conference with leaders of organized labor. While refusing to reveal details of the meeting, the mayor said that action was one that needed to be taken now.

The mayor said that the situation was one that needed to be taken now. The session was called following a strike of the outlaw coal miners union which had reported the effect of the closing of 100 of the city's 200 coal yards.

HOUSE OKS Tariff Agreement BILL TO FREE With U.S. Seen As HOMES OF TAX Near By MacDonald

Amendment Proposes To Exempt Home-steads To Value Of $5,000 From Taxes

TALLAHASSEE, May 9.—(A.P.)—The House today approved an amendment to exempt homes and buildings to the value of $5,000 from taxation.

Should the Senate approve the measure, it will be submitted to a general election in November next year. Repeated efforts were made to kill the measure and lower its exemption figure.

The Senate failed to a lack of three-fifths vote to amend the bill, but the Senate voted to approve the amendment to exempt homes and buildings to the value of $5,000 from taxation.

The Senate failed to a lack of three-fifths vote to approve the amendment to exempt homes and buildings to the value of $5,000 from taxation.

Without exception each exempted class of shipping concerns expressed opposition for a variety of reasons, particularly those having to do with the proportional taxation which might affect the entire shipping industry.

With only four dissenting votes, the Senate yesterday passed a bill reducing salaries of state officers and officers of courts approved by a vote of 29 to 4.

Those who opposed it were President Putch and Senators Anderson of Greenville, Bell, of Gainesville, and Hodges, of Tallahassee. The five senators out of the chamber at the time of the roll call were Getzen of Bushnell, Groom, of Key West, Hibben, of Polk, Pierce, and Stewart, of Fernandina.

The salary bill, which now goes to the House for consideration, reduces the annual pay of the governor from $10,000 to $7,500 and the six cabinet officers from $6,000 to $5,000 each.

Concern spread over Washington last night as a demand on war debts might undo what had already been accomplished to clear away the cause of friction between nations prior to the London economic conference.

It was reported in London that the French cabinet had voted unanimously against paying the defaulted $12,000,000 U.S. government interest without amending the June 15 payment of $10,000 would be postponed. From London, however, came indications that the British might ask postponement as the price of joining in the tariff truce suggested by President Roosevelt.

In spite of the general apprehension caused by these events, the President continued cheerful and confident as he faced what may prove the gravest crisis of his administration to date.

From Capitol Hill he had written that the French cabinet had voted unanimously against paying the defaulted $12,000,000 U.S. government interest without amending the June 15 payment of $10,000 would be postponed. From London, however, came indications that the British might ask postponement as the price of joining in the tariff truce suggested by President Roosevelt.

The London and Paris governments contracted sharply with the world of accord with which the President's recent conversations with British prime minister, Ramsay Macdonald, and the former French premier, Édouard Herriot, concluded.

The opinion was freely expressed here that French and British insistence won't make the President's task all the harder if he should go through with a plan he was known to be considering.

Prime Minister Sees Every Prospect Of Reaching Truce To Await Huge Party

LONDON, May 9.—(A.P.)—Prime Minister Macdonald announced in the House of Commons today that there was every prospect of reaching an agreement between Britain and the United States as to the advisability of an immediate tariff truce.

Macdonald said a truce would not prevent the continuation of work which Britain has now begun or was developing in accordance with announcements already made in the House.

This refers to work before the Commons evidently was an omission to British trade negotiations recently made or announced pending.

Macdonald also touched on the war debt issue saying "One aim must be a permanent settlement. He declared the June 15 due date of the next installment would be an awkward hurdle.

An Awful Fix

The sorry plight of over-bonded cities and counties in Florida was revealed yesterday in figures laid before members of the Legislature which show that out of 181 cities in Florida with bond obligations, 149 are at present in default. The report further showed that the par value of all bonds outstanding in Florida is $508,160,364. This together with interest to maturity amounting to $346,045,194, makes a total public debt of $854,205,558.

That this condition can no longer be regarded as peculiar to Florida is indicated by a recent article in the Literary Digest which states that "cities and counties have been going broke almost as fast as grocers and hotel keepers." It says that in the entire United States there are some 895 local government units in default on their bonds, including one state government, 172 counties, 309 cities and towns, 136 school districts, and 277 other special assessment and taxing districts.

The Digest agrees with most Sanford citizens that there ought to be some way of composing local government indebtedness which happens to get beyond the actual capacity of the community to pay, and it refers to proposals which have already been laid before the Congress to facilitate cessions and bankruptcies among cities and counties whose bonds are in default. Such measures, the Digest quotes from a financial writer in the Herald Tribune, are likely to be held unconstitutional for the following reason:

The bill lacks one of the essential features of the law of bankruptcy in that the property of the debtor is not distributed among the creditors. On the contrary, by the terms of the bill it is intended only to scale down the debt of the taxing district and to substitute for the outstanding obligations a new set of obligations which will remain indebtedness the taxing district. The district is not discharged from its obligations, but its indebtedness continues, though reduced in amount. The bill is held to be an attempt to force a composition, adjustment, and refunding of the obligations of the taxing district under the sanction of the courts of the United States without the unanimous consent of the creditors.

And the opinion of a law firm specializing in such matters, the Digest explains, is quoted to the effect "that the Congress of the United States has no power under the Constitution to enact the proposed amendment to the bankruptcy law for the reason that such a law would be an unlawful interference with the rights of states to administer their own affairs through their legislative, executive, and judicial departments in their own manner through their own agencies."

As we get it all debtors in the United States are entitled to relief from the federal government—except cities and counties. If anyone tries to help them, it's unconstitutional.

A Big Asset

Inquisitiveness has always been a characteristic of youth and it was due to this quality in part that an Erie Railroad express train with 500 passengers aboard barely escaped a serious wreck recently.

Six orphan boys, ranging in age from 11 to 15, preferred looking out the window of their orphan home at the rain to listening to the radio one rainy day. As they gazed at the downpour they noticed some railroad ties floating into the grounds and suspecting that they had come from the railroad tracks, the boys told the matron who gave permission to investigate.

The discovery was soon made that a gully about 10 feet deep had undermined the rails. As the youths were making their examination, they heard the sound of the approaching express, and using coats as improvised flags, they waved the train down. It stopped just short of the washout.

Their action, whereby many lives were probably saved, is in contrast to the careless observation of some people. The story is told of a college professor who made an experiment with his class to see how observant and inquisitive they were. The pedagogue placed his finger into a very unsavory chemical mixture and apparently tasted it. Some of the class followed suit with very unpleasant results. They were then informed that success in chemistry depended upon observation and inquisitiveness and that they should have observed that he did not place the same finger in his mouth that he applied to the mixture.

What is true of chemistry is equally true of every phase of endeavor. The man who gets ahead is the one who observes closely and who is interested enough to investigate.

FOUR KINDS OF INFLATION
MIAMI DAILY NEWS

The word inflation covers a multitude of things.

One man inflates a dirigible airship. In the fall we inflate footballs. On circus day we inflate toy balloons. Easily inflated persons are subject to inflation of the ego. The commonest of all inflations is that applied to automobile tires.

There there is money inflation.

There is more than one way to inflate money. We might mention three: 1. Cut up one gold dollar into two, or one and a half, or what you like. Hard-up Americans used to do that. They called it coin clipping. 2. Dilute gold with silver, doubling or trebling the metal money base. Print paper money, government promises to pay, and circulate them as money.

Each of these is a different way to inflate the money supply—make more dollars, each less valuable.

Get this cheaper money into circulation and prices rise; debts are easier to pay; we get the feeling, illusory or not, of prosperity.

This is credit inflation, also. Credit inflation gives some such result as money inflation. It makes high prices. While it lasts it sends business singing on its way. It was credit inflation we had in 1928-29 when everybody could buy anything he wanted—clothing, automobiles, radios—on credit. Many people insist that it isn't the inflation and inflation of money which makes or mars us; it is the credit inflation or deflation of credit.

When credit was inflated, in 1928, so that people could buy more goods than their pay checks could cover, factories could sell more goods than if credit had not been so easy. That was the "new era," the two-car garage time. Then the credit bubble was popped and manufacturers had to lay off while the people paid for things already consumed. That was depression.

Then, just as the inflation of credit had kept production above credit, another form of inflation, credit inflation employed to make jobs the President is also to be authorized to employ. . . . Is the country in danger, as Ogden Mills and Senator Frost so passionately insist, from these several inflations? No, if we know when to stop. Yes, if we don't know when to stop. . . . Even the inflation of an automobile tire, carried too far, may produce an explosion, blow out an eye. It's all a matter of judgment.
