Kansas Senator Sees Republicans Being Called Upon To Balance U.S. Budget

COLBY, Kans., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Senator Arthur Capper (R-Kan.), said Friday night the time was coming when it would be necessary to call a halt on huge governmental expenditures.

In an address for delivery here Capper said he admitted the truth of a statement from Donald Rieberg of the NRA that an immediate balancing of the national budget, in the face of continued relief demands, is impossible.

"I am glad to note that Mr. Rieberg—for whom I have a very high regard—says the budget should be balanced at the earliest possible moment," Capper asserted. "With that statement I am in full agreement. Personally, and for the sake of the taxpayers, I hope it can be balanced at an earlier date than Mr. Rieberg's talk indicates he believes possible."

Senator Capper said he would be the last to demand that relief expenditures should be suddenly stopped off and that "what has been done has been done" but that nothing "can evade the fact that these expenditures will have to be made good, will have to be taken care of by the taxpayers."

Pointing to a public debt which he said was now $27,000,000,000 and which he said would increase to $31,000,000,000 next year, Senator Capper said young people of today would be the ones to face

Supreme Court Keys Vote On Cut In Circuits

Voters To Decide On Number Of Judges Needed In Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The supreme court yesterday affirmed a decree of the Leon county circuit court, denying an injunction that would have prevented a vote in November on a proposed constitutional amendment to reduce the number of judicial circuits in Florida.

By a 4-2 decision, the court said it found no basis for the contention by D. B. Collier of Manatee county, that a resolution submitting the proposed amendment to the people never properly passed the state legislature last year.

Collier claimed the House journal of proceedings failed to show that the House adopted a senate amendment to the original resolution providing for the place of residence of additional judges in circuits having more than one. This amendment was incorporated into the original resolution by the senate and when the resolution was sent to the House and printed in the journal for the first time, it contained the questioned section. Thereafter, including the recorded entry of the time the resolution was adopted by the House, the journal failed to show this particular section, but the court held that this was due to a clerical error, and said the record showed the House considered the resolution as originally introduced.

Such a clerical error, the court said, constituted no violation of the constitutional procedure required in submitting amendments to the people, and "unless the courts are satisfied the constitution has been violated in the submission of a proposed amendment they should uphold it."

"The opportunity should be afforded the people, with the least amount of technical departmental obstructions consistent with the letter and spirit of the constitution, to express their desire as to a supposedly needed change in the constitution."

The payments of the bulk of the bill, he said he had a "hunch" it also would be Republicans who would be called upon to balance the budget.

Senator Capper is touring Kansas' Sixth District with Frank Carlson, Republican nominee for congress, in the next election.

FOREIGN MINISTER BARTHOLOMEW IS BORNE TO TOMB

Under somber gray skies Foreign Minister Barthou of France, assassinated with King Alexander of Yugoslavia at Marseille by a terrorist was borne to his tomb in a slow procession that included diplomatic representatives from nearly every country in the world. From the Foreign office to the Place des Invalides, the coffin and the cortege passed through a triple row of guards on either side. This picture, telephoned from Paris to London and radioed to New York, shows the flag-draped coffin as it was drawn through the streets of the French capital on a gun carriage. HUNGARIAN MINE HEADS A GREE TO PAY MORE WAGES

1200 Men Who Threatened To Die Under Ground, Quit Earth

PECS, Hungary, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Owners of the coal mine here where nearly 1200 miners are attempting mass suicide early yesterday reached an agreement with the government to grant the miners' demand of wage increases. They were gassed into action by public opinion aroused over the plight of the miners who had bandaged themselves together to die by suffocation rather than continuing trying to support themselves on wages of less than $2 a week.

The owners agreed to eliminate a wage cut, to raise the working time from two to three days per week, and to pay a bonus of $5 per head to help tide over the winter. Government and trade union officials sped to the pithead with the agreement, hoping the miners would accept.

It was feared, however, that the mental and physical condition of the men, self-entombed without food or water for nearly five days and nights, may be so far gone as to render conferences with them impossible.

In such a case it was feared a catastrophe of major proportions would be unavoidable.

Late last night they had threatened death to General Janos Esterhazy, Democratic Socialist member of the Hungarian Parliament, who sought to mediate with the miners.

"Don't come down or you won't return," the miners' armed sentries told Esterhazy, who earlier yesterday went down into the black pit to return with stories of an unbearable torture suffered by the men.

While officials of the mining company appealed to the government to dispatch additional troops to cope with an increasingly alarming situation, the miners sent out word that "we have sworn that everyone who comes down to us must remain as long as we have to stay."

Esterhazy said the things he had seen below the men tied to posts by their fellows to prevent their killing themselves, the hunger and exhaustion and mass insanity of the miners constituted the "most terrible remembrance of my life."

He said the men "are determined either to commit suicide by wrecking the (air) pumps, or to blow up the mine."

"There is no more hope for them," he declared. Demanding that their employers raise coal miners' wages from less than $2 to $3.50 weekly, the men early yesterday sent up request for 345 coffins, and the laconic message: "We are determined to die. Forget about us. Goodbye to the children."

TRUCK DRIVER GIVES KIDNAP CLUE

William Stoll (sitting), brother-in-law of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, society matron kidnaped in Louisville, Ky., is shown questioning James S. Scates, a truck driver, regarding a possible clue in the abduction. DR. GLENN FRANK TELLS OF DANGER TO GOVERNMENT

Wisconsin Educator Sees Need For Careful Administration

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The danger to constitutional self-government, writes Dr. Glenn Frank in his new book, "America's Hour of Decision," is "quite as great as the reactionary right as from the radical left."

"The mass mind," the noted educator says, "might go dangerously far to the right. Strained by an excess of novelty in Rooseveltian policy, it might turn in blind reaction against everything experimental and gamble a living future on dead doctrines."

"It might lodge the leadership of the nation in the hands of men who would stubbornly refuse to see that when a people emerges, as we have emerged, from an economy of scarcity into an economy of plenty, its political, social and economic arrangements must be made to fit the scale and tempo of the new order of progression."

"A national leadership of this sort," Dr. Frank added, "would, in the end, mean national suicide."

The writer, president of the University of Wisconsin, declares in a foreword that "this is no senseless partisan document."

In several instances, he reverts to the theme of an economy of plenty and finds himself in vigorous opposition to any program of crop curtailment.

"To restrict production and to raise prices as a general policy, he said, "is, to me, not liberalism but reaction, not statesmanship but surrender, not creative advance but cowardly retreat."

This was, he adds, "lies the subsidizing of inefficiency."

"To me, it is incredible," Dr. Frank writes, "that, in a world of tragically unfulfilled human need, we should now set out upon the quixotic attempt to increase welfare by destroying wealth or declining to create it."

5 Die, Many Homeless In Storm At Manila

MANILA, Philippine Islands, Oct. 16.—(AP)—At least five persons lost their lives and thousands were left homeless by a sudden tropical typhoon which twisted Manila from a well ordered city into a confusion of debris early today.

Manila was the scene of desolation as convicts, police and city workers joined to clear the streets. Eleven and one-half inches of rain fell during the 24 hours.

an important part in the sensational 12 to 0 upset victory which the University of North Carolina scored over the University of Athens last Saturday, Jackson is the varsity quarterback on the farheel team. His play led directly to the two touchdowns scored in the victory. In the second quarter, Jackson's 21 yard run placed the ball in Georgia territory, and two plays later he tossed an accurate 25 yard pass that led to the first touchdown. Jackson's recovery of a fumble on the Georgia 24 yard line in the last quarter, paved the way for the touchdown drive which followed. Murray Kanmer, another former local star, appeared at center in the game for about three minutes, press reports revealed.

DETROIT, Oct. 17.—(A.P.)—A threat to kill Edsel Ford unless he paid $5,000 was revealed by Department of Justice agents here today with the arrest and purported confession of a man who gave the name of Edward Lickwala.

Federal agents said Lickwala, 29, wrote a note to Ford demanding that he leave the money in a candy box at the rear of a Medbury Avenue house.

Agents said the dummy package was prepared and left at the designated place. They said Mrs. Claude Landerwala, who lives at the place picked up the package, and that later Lickwala was arrested.

Hauptmann Loses His Extradition Fight

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(A.P.)—Supreme Court Justice Hamner today night denied the application of Bruno Hauptmann for a writ of habeas corpus against his extradition to New Jersey to face a charge of murdering the baby son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The justice granted a stay of execution on the extradition until 4:00 P. M. Oct. 19. James M. Fawcett, chief defense counsel, had requested a delay until Oct. 22 but the court ruled this would be unreasonable.

David J. Wilentz, attorney general for New Jersey, earlier had said the prisoner would not be removed to Washington, N. J., until the defense counsel had an opportunity to appeal an adverse decision by the Bronx court.

This honor was accorded her at the trade body offices Monday morning when members of the committee met in first session of the new year.

Episcopalians Vote Women On Council

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 17.—(A.P.)—Upsetting an ancient church tradition, the house of deputies at the fifty-first triennial general Episcopal convention yesterday voted women a place in the chief administrative body of the church.

Heated debate preceded the action.

If the house of bishops concurs in the action, four members of the Episcopal women's auxiliary will be elected to augment the national council of 24 which administers the church's affairs in the interim between triennial sessions.

Opposition to the plan was expressed by the Rev. Frederick T. Fleming, rector of Trinity Church, New York, who declared:

"We have enough trouble in the national council at this time without women."

CONDITIONS IN INDUSTRY HELD MUCH IMPROVED

Eugene Black Gives Roosevelt Report On Recent Survey

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(A.P.)—President Roosevelt received a report of improved industrial conditions yesterday, coincident with an acceleration of the White House chats with business leaders.

Eugene Black, of Atlanta, former governor of the Federal Reserve board and now liaison officer between the Administration and the bankers, came through the Southern and Middle Western states with a report of "improvement."

Black did describe what he said was hesitancy on the part of business and industry to employ available credit. Roosevelt already has taken steps to counteract this. Further moves can be expected. He definitely is seeking to have business assert more leadership and confidence.

In this connection he talked for some time yesterday with George I. Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and Jackson Reynolds, president of the First National Bank of New York.

The President also conferred with Robert L. Owen, former senator from Oklahoma and a co-author of the Federal Reserve Act. He advocated government purchase of government bonds held by the banks as a means of stimulating credit expansion.

Owen refrained from indicating Roosevelt's possible views on his suggestion.

Black emphasized "the assurance recently given by the President to business and industry, and that Roosevelt is talking and that these were appreciated."

It appeared from this statement and assurance in his series of meetings with leaders of finance and business.

Price improvements during the day on various exchanges were attributed to the new feelings resulting from the White House talks.

Roosevelt will speak next Wednesday before the American Bankers Association here and a further outline of his views and hopes for business is in prospect.

"I think there is still some hesitancy," said Black, "on the part of both capital and industry to employ credit. I think the assurance recently given by the President were properly received by industry and commerce and were appreciated by them."

"I found everywhere agricultural conditions very greatly improved; farmers are optimistic. I found business improved. I found the large industries not in as good condition as the smaller industries, probably attributable to the falling off in the orders for heavy industry products and the failure of the heavy industries to use the capital resources."

LAKE MARY IS SCENE OF UNIQUE PARTY

Trade Body Officials Entertain Men Who Recently Were De- feated For Office

Upwards of 200 men and women joined with the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce last night during its October social meeting in the Community House in that town to hear a number of talks that were features of a program presented in honor of the several candidates who were defeated in the June elections.

G. W. Spencer, Gordon Barnett, J. E. Jackson, W. D. Holdsworth, and E. H. Killbee were among those who accepted the invitation to attend this affair and each was a speaker.

The principal speaker of the evening, however, were George G. Herring of Sanford and Robert L. Glenn, also of this city.

The former spoke for the Homebased Exemption Amendment as one of the many vice-presidents of the Home Owners' League of Florida. The latter spoke in opposition to the Amendment as "Not a paid hurling as charged but a man who has been connected with the laboring men for the past 15 years."

Frank Evans of Lake Mary was introduced to the audience as master of ceremonies by R. A. Howell, president of the Lake Mary trade body, who welcomed the guests.

Mr. Evans in turn introduced various men and women who spoke on phases of Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce work during the past several years. Among these speakers were:

Mrs. R. M. Hall, who introduced 14 small girls as members of the "Brownies," a Girl Scout affiliation. Mrs. Hall told of the work being done by the girls, and they offered a song as their part of the program.

Fred Holt, director of a group of young boys known as "The Cubs," who said that the boys would soon develop their club into a much larger unit than it is at present.

Mrs. R. E. True, counselor of the Lake Mary Girl Scout troop which she introduced, and Ernest Wilson, who was made an Eagle Scout on Monday night.

Mrs. Wm. Musgrave, who spoke on the "Work of the Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary." She told of an ambitious program planned for the winter, and expressed the hope that as a result, the Auxiliary will have done much to further the social life of the community.

Growers Advised To Hold Their Citrus

WINTER HAVEN, Oct. 17.—(A.P.)—A. M. Pratt, manager of the Florida Citrus Growers Clearing House Association, yesterday said growers and shippers of the state can afford to wait another 10 days or two weeks before starting orange shipments to the markets because California has only about a three weeks supply of Valencia to place on the market.

Pratt said it was estimated California had about 200 cars of fruit to move. Weather conditions he said, have retarded proper coloring of the Florida fruit, a distinct disadvantage on a market where other fruit is well colored.

FINGER PRINTS ON RANSOM NOTE LED TO ARREST

Letter Asking Money Was Indictment Of A 11 Capitalists

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(A.P.)—Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., 22-year-old former inmate of an insane asylum, was identified as the kidnap, Justice officials said last night, by fingerprints found on the ransom letter shortly after Mrs. Stoll was abducted. The prints on the letter were rushed to Washington and found to tally with a set on file in the Department of Justice.

Robinson had been arrested in Nashville for impersonating an officer and had been committed to the state insane asylum for 30 days in 1929.

In April of this year he was arrested again for robbery. The latter charge still pending at the time of Mrs. Stoll's kidnaping.

From the beginning, J. Edgar Hoover, Department of Justice investigating chief, and his assistants, said they were dealing with someone who was mentally deranged.

Police Believe Man Who Abducted Mrs. Stoll For Ransom Is Near To Chicago

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 17.—(A.P.)—The relentless forces of the Department of Justice spread a net today for Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., 27-year-old Tennesseean, accused of the kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll.

The wealthy young society matron was brought home last night after a harrowing five days of captivity for $50,000 ransom.

Robinson, a former inmate of lunatic asylums, is named by federal agents as the man who entered the Stoll home last Wednesday, slugged Mrs. Stoll with an iron pipe, and carried her off to his Indianapolis apartment where she remained until yesterday afternoon.

Federal operatives are confident that they will get their man.

Meanwhile, the entire Chicago police force plunged into a search for Robinson who was said by federal agents to be driving toward that city.

Investigators also were looking for the $50,000 ransom fund paid by Mrs. Stoll's husband for her release.

Investigators are holding Robinson's wife who they picked up the $50,000 ransom package from her father-in-law, the intermediary in Nashville. Mrs. Robinson was captured as she accompanied Mrs. Stoll from Indianapolis to Louisville yesterday in company with Reverend E. Arnold Clegg and his wife, a cousin of Perry V. Stoll. Mrs. Stoll was put to bed as soon as she arrived home last night.

Harold Nathan, Department of Justice investigator said the charges of conspiracy to violate the Lindbergh law probably would be pressed against Mrs. Robinson.

Nathan said that Robinson, a college man, had formerly been employed by the Fort O'Brien Mining Company.

At Indianapolis, Sam Hochman, proprietor of a delicatessen, said Robinson had been a frequent customer in the last few days.

Ernest Wilson Of Lake Mary Becomes Eagle Scout During Solemn Ceremony

Impressive ceremonies that are credited with having advanced Boy Scout work in this county to a new high level were staged in the Lake Mary Community House on Monday night before a large audience.

The program, presented as a part of the October Court of Honor, was centered about the awarding of Scouting's highest honor—the Eagle Scout badge—and certificates to Ernest Wilson of Troop No. 58 at Lake Mary.

Southeastern Scout Commissioner Earl Lehmann made the presentation in a solemn service in which he congratulated the youth, to be presented the badge and certificate.

Lake Mary Troop Scoutmaster W. F. Thorne and young Wilson's parents stood at his side as a Guard of Honor during the presentation, while at the conclusion of the ceremony, every Scout in the room came to attention and offered a salute.

Frank Evans of Lake Mary, a member of the Troop Committee, opened the Court with a welcome on behalf of the citizens of that town. The Court itself was presided over by Judge J. G. Sharon.

The Sales Tax Rate

Arguments in favor of the Homestead Exemption Amendment need to be based on the assumption that the home could be exempted from taxation without the necessity of levying a sales tax or resorting to other sources of revenue.

So now they say, the sales tax is coming anyway. They insist that the next session of the Legislature will enact some kind of a sales tax measure regardless of whether the Homestead Exemption Amendment passes.

But if it should be necessary to levy a sales tax in order to raise more money for the public, officials to open roads, schools, or unemployment relief, it is an absolutely certain fact that the rate of taxation will be a great deal higher if the home is exempted from taxation than if they are not.

Mr. Evans then made a short talk in which he reviewed the work of the trade body since its organization in 1922. He credited the Chamber of Commerce with having brought paved streets, electric lights, and telephone service into the community despite difficulties.

Just how this difference in tax rate will affect you is not hard to figure. If you are a working man, making $25 a week, you probably spend every cent you make on the things you buy, all of which would be subject to the sales tax.

If you are a farmer and spend $3,000 a year for fertilizer a two percent sales tax on this purchase would extract $60 from you, while a ten percent sales tax would extract $300.

When one stops to consider that he may have to pay a ten percent tax on everything he buys if the homesteaders are exempted from taxation, it is very doubtful if anyone, even the homesteaders, will benefit from the passage of the amendment.

Citrus Prospects

A twenty-five percent increase in the 1934-35 Florida citrus crop has been forecast by government estimates, according to the Miami Daily News which says that the total crop is expected to reach 26,000,000 boxes this season as compared with 21,000,000 last season.

"It is axiomatic," the Miami paper continues, "that a large crop does not mean a large profit. Too frequently it has meant glutted markets and ruinous prices. But the demonstration of the value of market control given last season cannot have been entirely wasted.

"With all the interruptions suffered in efforts to promote orderly marketing last year, the price averages were above those of the preceding season and marked a definite turn upward after a decline that had continued since 1929-31 while growers quarreled among themselves.

CHURCH LOYALTY

I go to church on Sunday to worship God. Every other day I worship at my own home, but on Sunday I go to God's house. Not because it is any better to worship at church but because I feel closer to God there.

At the church, which is a meeting place for the people to pray, we have common prayer. Here the people come together for themselves and for others.

"We should not try to beautify our surroundings," Mrs. Evans said to the women who were short talk, "when there are such a wonderful example."

Mr. Evans then made a short talk in which he reviewed the work of the trade body since its organization in 1922. He credited the Chamber of Commerce with having brought paved streets, electric lights, and telephone service into the community despite difficulties.

Introduced as the first defeated candidate was Mr. Barnett of Fern Park. He told of the "valuable" experience he had gained during the campaign, and said that "if ever I saw from my resolve never to enter politics I am again, I would like to speak in Lake Mary first."

J. E. Jackson of Sanford was the second speaker. He thanked Mr. Evans for the invitation, commented on the "fine community spirit existing here," and after a humorous reference to the reason he was defeated, he discussed the Homestead Exemption Amendment which he said "I am sure will pass."

G. W. Spencer declared that he was "pleased to be present at this most unusual meeting," and said that "about the only reason why I was defeated is that I was it votes shy."

The big opening at the store of N. F. Young & Co., commencing yesterday, was one of the most affairs of the kind that the people of Sanford have attended this season.

John B. Hamilton has returned to his home in Geneva from a two month stay in Washington, D. C. where he was employed as private secretary to Mr. C. C. Smith, Florida Governor.

25,000 indicated against the levy of Alhambra Springs by E. L. Herring, its former mayor.

E. L. Herring of Geneva claimed that he was defeated for the County Commission because his opponent had used "questionable" tactics. He said that the Ocala Cypress Co. had it in for me because I wouldn't obey an illegal bill when I was County Commissioner, and that "I didn't have a chance to win against that kind of opposition."

Mr. Evans interrupted the program to introduce C. W. Smith, an aged Civil War veteran who resides at Lake Mary during the winter, as the Senior Vice-Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Proceeding the debate staged between Mr. Herring and Mr. Glenn, Harry M. Papworth of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce was introduced as a speaker who congratulated Mr. Evans "for the wonderful service that you have consistently rendered Lake Mary."

He explained that the committee which prepared the list of those to be invited endeavored to bring in the party all of those whom it visited as a member of the party which recently crashed along the St. Johns River.

Mr. Herring began his discussion of the Homestead Exemption Amendment which he expounded by referring to the "consistency" of the heads of the Home Owners' League who are "fighting the battle for you people."

He said that State Senator Wm. C. Hodges of Tallahassee, head of the League, had introduced an exemption act 20 years ago and that he had consistently fought for its adoption. He also credited John S. Taylor of Largo, as "Another great leader who has consistently fought in behalf of the common people of our state, and said that Mr. Taylor also is one of the many distinguished members of the League."

Answering the question "Who are the beneficiaries on the other side of this argument?" Mr. Herring said that they are "Men controlled by the Bondholders' Protective Committee and Associations."

Mr. Herring referred to the several "scarecrow" arguments which these "hirelings of vested interests have been using to frighten you people" with the statement that "as fast as one failed they set up a new one."

He first mentioned what he termed "a first 'scarecrow' sent over the state—the charge that the bondholders' Committee are in favor of the amendment."

"The money for this fight against your interests," he said, "is coming out of the pockets of the bondholders and they are the ones who are again trying to saddle a burden upon you—people whose shoulders are already breaking under the load."

Mr. Herring argued that if "You people have voted to exempt our hospitals, our churches, and our orphan's homes from taxation for the public good, how in God's name can you argue that you wouldn't be helping the public good by taking the tax load off the little fellow who has his home as his only bulwark in his old age?"

To prove his point that "the big boys are putting up the money for the fight against your interests," Mr. Herring said that five of the state's privately owned electric companies are paying $2,000,000 when their own taxes on an assessed valuation of $100,000,000.

He also said that 23 of the state's largest mercantile establishments are paying taxes on a valuation of a little more than a million dollars when they admit taxable assets valued at over $12,000,000.

In discussing the various groups which have taken sides for or against the Amendment, Mr. Herring declared that "Only recently the State Federation of Labor voted itself in favor of the Amendment."

In discussing the various groups which have taken sides for or against the Amendment, Mr. Herring declared that "Only recently the State Federation of Labor voted itself in favor of the Amendment."

"I don't believe that you'll vote against your own interests," Mr. Herring said in conclusion, "for nothing could bring more happiness, prosperity, and true contentment."

As he opened his remarks in answer to Mr. Herring, Mr. Glenn said "Frankly, I am rather disappointed that Mr. Herring has offered you nothing constructive as to why you should vote for the Amendment."

"Let me say at the outset," he said, "that I am not a field hireling of the vested interests he referred to a moment ago. I have represented the people for the past 15 years as chairman of a railroad Brotherhood, an office which finds me in close contact with the working people every day of the year."

Stating that it is most unfortunate that those in favor of the Amendment can't speak without casting imputations of all kinds against the people who happen to disagree with them, Mr. Glenn said "My friend Herring didn't tell you about Alhambra, Inc., which is the rich duPont interests. They have been the biggest bond racketeers in the state for years. That's the group that wants this Amendment passed."

Mr. Glenn stated that "the proponents of the Amendment will lead you to believe that you'll be exempt from everything if the Amendment passes, but let me ask you that you read the Amendment. Under its wording, the bondholders are amply protected. Mark my words, this thing isn't to help you, it's for the big man, for anyone who is able to own a home in the $5000 valuation class is well able to pay taxes upon it."

In connection with the "ample protection" which he said the bondholders have, Mr. Glenn pointed out that in Sanford, the bondholders are given 15 mills in the county and state, the bondholders gain 27 mills of the 65 1/2 mill levy. "Over 42 mills out of about 66 mills goes to the bondholders," Mr. Glenn pointed out.

Mr. Glenn also pointed out that the Federal constitution prohibits the passage of any bill that might impair the right of contracts, and that "Even if the thing does pass, it won't relieve us of our present load, because we'll have to find out some other way to raise the funds needed."

In referring to the statement that Texas has a homestead exemption, Mr. Glenn said "Texas has a homestead exemption, but it's not the same as ours. In Texas, the homestead is exempt from taxation, but in Florida, the homestead is exempt from taxation only if a sales tax is levied on everything else."

Mr. Glenn also pointed out that the Federal constitution prohibits the passage of any bill that might impair the right of contracts, and that "Even if the thing does pass, it won't relieve us of our present load, because we'll have to find out some other way to raise the funds needed."

Out-of-the-way countries are adopting telephones more and more. The Fiji Islands now have 909, Alabama 1121, Belgian Congo 142, Iceland 473, and Nigeria 2900.

"In my opinion," he said, "a sales tax would do no good unless we do as the Alhambra gang wants us to—give 60 percent of the tax to the bondholders and I don't know how many of us want to do that."

Quoting Department of Commerce figures covering retail sales in Florida over a certain period, Mr. Glenn said that in order to make up for the loss to Florida if the Amendment passes, it will be necessary to levy a 10 percent sales tax.

In his own case, Mr. Glenn said, "I have figured out that under the Amendment I would be exempt from about 900 of the $143 state, county, and city taxes I am required to pay each year, and that a 10 percent sales tax on the money I would have to spend to take care of myself and family would cost me $120 per year. So, instead of paying $143 a year in taxes, I would be paying around $200."

As he replied to Mr. Herring's statement that the state federation of labor had voted in favor of the Amendment, Mr. Glenn said that "Labor has positively taken no action one way or the other in the (Continued On Page 4)

Wallace Okeys New Marketing Pact For Citrus

Under the new agreement which supplants the old marketing pact, terminated in August, the basis of allotment to shippers will be the quantity of fruit controlled by the shippers of his current performance, depending on which rating is higher. The current performance will be determined by taking the shippers performance during the two previous seasons, adjusting it to the current crop and multiplying by the percentage of the crop remaining to be shipped prior to the proration period.

The agreement said its purpose was to "establish and maintain such balances between the production and consumption of agricultural commodities and such marketing conditions therefor as will establish prices to farmers at a level that will give agricultural commodities a purchasing power with respect to articles that farmers buy."

Members of the control committee are subject to removal at any time by the secretary of agriculture "with or without cause." They serve without compensation, but will receive expenses.

The control committee will supervise enforcement of the proration agreements and other work under the control plan, and money to cover necessary expenses will be raised by a schedule of fees on fruit shipped.

All fruit shipped under the agreement must bear certificates of grading and inspection according to standards fixed by the United States Department of Agriculture. This is in addition to the state department of agriculture inspection service.

The control committee is empowered to direct the quantity of fruit each grower will produce during a season. Authority to revise any estimate of the production by an individual grower will rest with the committee.

The proration of shipments is deemed to be necessary during any particular period, the committee is authorized to make such orders, publishing notices of its called meeting in newspapers of general circulation, and withholding any order of proration from effectiveness for 24 hours. The aggregate total to Florida of proration shipments must not exceed the allotment made to Florida under the national stabilization plan.

Production and shipping allotments under the proration plan will be based upon the average production and shipment during the last two years.

Governor Warns State Against Raising Prices

(Continued From Page 1) which will open its convention here next week, the Governor served notice that the state itself will deal harshly with those charged with even a threat of profiteering. There can be no unreasonable prices for rents and foodstuffs, and if there is, he said, there will be methods for dealing roughly with that sort of racketeering.

"Florida is now at a point which, if properly taken," the Governor said, "will place this state years ahead in recovery and prosperity. The eyes of America are turned toward Miami and the American Legion convention.

"Miamians now have the opportunity to sell their community and their state to millions of people who ordinarily would not be reached.

"I want to caution against abnormally high prices. If rents and foodstuffs are increased beyond reason, Florida's advancement will be retarded 10 years. We all know this season will bring huge crowds to Florida. But just as certain as all apartments and homes will be filled this winter, they will not again be rented if our guests are made victims of unfair prices.

"We must not look just one season ahead. We must keep our eyes to the future. We must watch next season and the season after and the one after that. We can, this winter, insure the success of those seasons. Let us do that.

"Let us use reason in our treatment of visitors. Let us have them want to come again. They will, if they are made to feel welcome, rather than resentful at high prices.

"This word of caution I believe is the most important problem confronting Miami and south Florida today. I mean it, most sincerely. It is vital to your welfare, to the state's welfare—and it is in your hands."

Mr. Herring interrupted the argument at this point to ask whether or not it is true that at a recent meeting in Miami, labor had endorsed the Amendment?

Mr. Glenn replied that the action taken at Miami was the action of a local group. "There has been no state action by the four big railroad brotherhoods or by the State Federation of Labor."

As he concluded, Mr. Glenn asked that "You people take my receipts for the past few years and find out how much you'll have to pay under a sales tax. If you give it careful thought, I'll guarantee that you'll find that you'll be paying more in the long run. If you aren't able to pay your taxes today, you certainly won't be able to pay them if the Amendment is passed."

As he opened a short rebuttal of Mr. Glenn's argument, Mr. Herring said "Friends, you've just heard a fair example of the arguments being put up to defeat this Amendment. As another example, I call your attention to the fact that the Amendment doesn't say exemption on the basis of up to $5000 of its assessed value, but up to $5000 of its value."

"Still another example of these unfair tactics," he said, "is the claim that it will cost the state about $15,000,000 in taxes if the Amendment is passed. I have figures to show you that the actual loss in revenue will be around $5,000,000."

Mr. Herring also asked "How can the bondholders be against this amendment when they tried so hard to keep it off the ballot?"

"I deny that there is any impairment of the Constitutional protection given to contracts," he said, "for it is in the power of the people to establish a new source of revenue to replace that which they have voted away. And I say that a sales tax is the fairest and most equitable way to raise taxes of any kind I know."

Before the meeting had concluded with E. H. Kilbee of Geneva speaking for and H. D. Durant of Lake Mary speaking against the sales tax, Mr. Evans had presented G. W. Spencer with a small pig for his having won a one-minute story telling contest.

Mr. Spencer auctioned off the pig "for the benefit of the Lake

With the statement that "As you folks prosper in Sanford so will we in Orlando," W. M. Mr. Glenn confined most of his remarks to Central Florida which he "termed this rich, inland empire" that is "the golden spot in our universe, the backbone of the entire state."

A musical feature of the program was offered by Mrs. J. L. Ingley, vocalist, with Mrs. Arthur Branan as her accompanist. Kiwanian Julius Dingfelder also reported briefly on the Florida District Convention held at Tampa this week and attended by Kiwanians W. S. Coleman and Fred R. Wilson as well.

Mr. Glenn also called attention to the fact that a shipment of 1000 new Blue Eagle emblems had just been received. They are intended for display by consumers, he said. Methods for their distribution were taken under consideration. It also was decided

Aromatic Turkish tobacco

On the sunny slopes of Smyrna . . . in the fertile fields of Macedonia . . . from the shores of the Black Sea . . . that's where the best kinds grow . . . the kinds used in making Chesterfields.

THERE are about as many kinds of Turkish tobacco as there are kinds of apples—but they all have a spicy aroma and flavor which seems to "season" a cigarette better than any other kind that grows.

The right Turkish is costly—but it adds something to Chesterfield's milder better taste.

When you go on your next cruise, stop at Sanford and visit our tobacco factory. We shall

U. S. MOVES TO COLLECT BACK TAXES

100 Big Firms Warned That They Must Pay; Holdings Of Wealthy Persons Affected

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—As part of a broad move to close revenue law loopholes, the treasury has disclosed yesterday to have notified around 100 corporations that they owe the government scores of millions of dollars in deficient taxes.

A tax deficiency of $17,199,797 was shown to have been assessed against Fisher and Co., of Detroit, holding concern for investments in the automobile industry.

Aiding particularly to such alleged illegal transfer of profits to surplus to avoid surtax payments by stockholders, the treasury has levied on around five score other companies penalties of 50 percent of net income for 4 1/2 years concerned.

Nearly 50 of the companies have replied, denying the allegations and in many instances challenging the constitutionality of the penalty provision, contending it is an executive usurpation of judicial power.

EMERGENCY COSTS PASS BILLION MARK

Half Of Sum Roosevelt Said Enough For Year Has Been Used, Most Of It For Idle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—Federal Emergency expenditures surged past the billion dollar point yesterday, with the big outflow of winter relief just ahead.

The extraordinary spending totaled $1,015,443,339 for the first three and one-half months of the fiscal year, by comparison with President Roosevelt's estimate that something over $2,000,000,000 would cover the entire 12 months' period.

Actually, moreover, the aggregate emergency outlays for the year to date were $1,151,715,721, from which was deducted $155,963,651 in repayment of loans by the Reconstruction Corporation and $10,308,531 in profits on securities realized by the Deposit Insurance Corporation.

The biggest single outlay was, of course, that for relief—$444,443,739. By comparison, $340,742,149 was expended throughout the entire last fiscal year for this purpose, aside from $16,157,892 spent through the now defunct Civil Works Administration.

For the current year, officials are now thoroughly resigned to emergency spending running far above original estimates. They have not yet said, however, just how high they expect them to run. That will depend largely upon the emergency needs of the coming winter.

It is apparent, they say, that relief expenditures must exceed those for the equivalent months of last year.

In addition, Mr. Roosevelt yesterday announced that a housing program would be undertaken soon. It would be financed, in part at least, by federal loans.

As justification for the extent of the year's expenditures, Administration officials point to the fact that such outlays last year for relief totaled $1,000,000,000 below estimates. Secretary Morgenthau, himself, brought this out in the only speech he has made since taking office. The money is available for expenditure now.

Emergency outlays for the year to date compared in the corresponding period of the last fiscal year, in which the major nucleus of the Roosevelt Recovery program were just becoming operative.

All expenditures to date total $1,828,399,679, while a year ago they were $1,129,421,152. The deficit now stands at $707,033,182, as compared with $273,982,602 for the same three and a half months last year.

Since the present fiscal year began on July 1 the public debt has increased from $27,054,141,414 to $27,890,106,402. A year ago it was $27,054,141,414. (Continued On Page Four)

HULL SCORES BOOSTING OF TARIFFS

Secretary Decries Nations That Raise Barriers On Eve Of Dealings With U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—Secretary Hull lashed in diplomatic language yesterday at unnamed nations in holding in the "unfathomable practice" of raising their tariff barriers just before entering international negotiations to lower them.

Bringing the case down to the net work of reciprocal trade agreements now being formed by the United States, Hull asserted such seeking of bargaining advantages would imperil any negotiations with this country.

Immediately after he spoke there was official word in other quarters that many foreign nations have, in a sense, banded together in a series of trade facts to the exclusion and detriment of the United States.

Secretary Hull, in denouncing the artificial raising of tariff barriers, termed the practice equivalent to "padding the price" of an article and then cutting it to make a sale. It would result, he said, only in harm to world trade and the probable failure of any negotiations seeking to dredge out the world's clogged trade channels.

More than usual significance immediately was attached to a speech in Chicago last night by George N. Puck, special foreign trade adviser to President Roosevelt.

Before a group of business men, Puck explained some of the trade restrictions being faced by the United States in its trade expansion program. He said he possessed a record of 140 "exclusive commercial agreements and later trade agreements."

"This practice is not limited to the smaller nations," he said. "These mutually exclusive contracts have a common characteristic of leaving the United States entirely out of consideration. They have covered even such one-point or trade-to-trade nations as the international traffic in tourists."

Secretary Hull, in addition to lifting of price padding, assailed the practice of customs seeking ways to increase their exports and reduce their imports as contrary to the spirit of a program designed to reduce trade barriers in all possible ways. A world program, he stated, cannot succeed in the face of such practices.

While Hull refrained from repeating among any nation, officials developing the trade program pointed out that Germany's restrictive import policy and recent denunciation of its unconditional treaty with this country.

Unofficial fingers were directed also toward France's decision to boost some tariff rates, and warnings that several other nations contemplated tariff increases or quota restrictions.

Special Grand Jury To Probe Kidnaping Of Mrs. Alice Stoll

Federal Attorney To Ask Death Penalty For Insane Abductor If He Is Caught

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—A special grand jury to inquire into the kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll today was ordered impaneled Saturday by Federal District Judge Charles I. Dawson.

The order was issued on a motion of United States District Attorney Thomas J. Sparks who announced yesterday that he would demand the death penalty for Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., 27, discharged lunatic sought as the man who abducted the young society matron and held her six days for $50,000 ransom.

Meanwhile, federal officers pushed a search for Robinson at Hopkinsville, Ky., a $10 note bearing a serial number listed as one of those paid in the ransom, turned up today.

Robinson's wife, Frances, accused of complicity, crouched in the Jefferson county jail lacking $50,000 bail.

A warrant charging that Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., helped his namesake son to kidnap the Louisville society matron from her home was on its way to Nashville, Tenn. The older man is held there. Sparks planned to demand the same bond for him.

Earl J. Connelly of the Department of Justice today announced that the typewriter found in the Indianapolis apartment house where Mrs. Stoll was held captive was the one used to type out the note demanding the ransom.

"I know of no crime more serious," Sparks told U. S. Commissioner Eugene M. Dalley, "than a crime of this character."

Mrs. Robinson, a woman in her early thirties, set with her face averted from the court, haggard and worn from nearly 24 hours of suspense and grilling since she was caught. Her face wore a morose expression, but at times she flared in anger. She wore a grey wool suit with white waist, and a close-fitting black hat. She carried a black purse and a small manila paper sack in which were a few personal belongings.

"I only ask that I have a decent attorney," she cried at the commissioner, who asked if she had anything to say. "I have none," her voice rose to a high pitch, "and I demand one!"

"And another thing, I would like to get in touch with Mrs. Stoll right away—right away." Mrs. Stoll had told her family the woman had befriended her in the Indianapolis apartment house where she had spent six days of captivity.

"That woman saved my life," the Rev. E. Arnold Clegg, Indianapolis pastor, who helped the kidnap victim home, quoted Mrs. Stoll as saying.
