Fatalities reported on I-4

DAYTONA BEACH — Four people died in a fiery crash after the driver of a 1984 Ford pickup truck headed the wrong way on Interstate 4 and crashed head-on into a 1978 Chevrolet car, authorities said.

Earlier Thursday, a teen-ager died in an afternoon wreck on Interstate 4 about five miles from the 8 p.m. collision.

The head-on crash set the truck afire and the driver was burned almost beyond recognition, but he was later identified as Carl R. Lunetta, 33, of Deltona.

The occupants of the car also were burned but less severely.

"Reports came in at 7:37 p.m. of a pickup truck traveling west in the eastbound lanes," Florida Highway Patrol Lt. Floyd Baker said. "We believe he got on at U.S. 92 and traveled four or five miles before the collision."

The driver of the car, Anthony Lloyd, 26, of Daytona Beach and the two occupants of his car, Maudestine Jones, 79, of Daytona Beach and Heather Faulk, 23, of Miami were also killed instantly in the crash.

The crash occurred about eight miles west of Daytona Beach near the 123 mile marker.

In the earlier wreck, a Lake Wales woman was injured and her teen-age daughter killed after their car rear-ended a state Department of Transportation dump truck at about 3:40 p.m., troopers said.

Amy Elizabeth Crews, 16, died in the wreck, said Trooper Gary Howze. Her mother, Jayne Silcox Crews, 51, who was taken to West Volusia Memorial Hospital in Deland, and the three people in the truck were hospitalized in stable condition after the crash, he said.

Quayle in town for fundraiser

LONGWOOD — Vice President Dan Quayle will participate in a state Republican Party fundraiser at Alafia Golf and Country Club this afternoon.

Quayle is in central Florida to participate in a term limit meeting and will be visiting the Greater Orlando Chamber of Commerce. Shortly after noon today, Quayle will attend the $1,000 per person golf tournament at Alafia off Markham Woods Road near Lake Mary Boulevard. The course will be closed to the public.

Gardner appeals judge's decision

TALLAHASSEE — Sen. W.W. "Bud" Gardner, D-Titusville, has appealed a judge's decision that he should have reported three trips paid for by lobbyists in the mid-1980s.

Gardner, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, pleaded no contest and paid $1,975 in fines in the case but left open the possibility of appeal on the legal question.

Gardner, who filed notice of the appeal this week in Leon County Circuit Court, said he does not believe state law at the time required reporting of trips and that it is unconstitutionally vague.

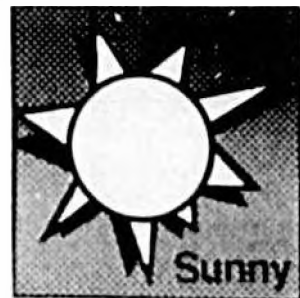

The trips were to an Auburn football game in 1985, a Bahamas fishing excursion in 1986 and a Georgia hunting outing in 1988. Gardner was one of 24 politicians charged with misuse of funds.

SANFORD — Twelve years ago, John Gardiner Jr. and his son, John Gardiner III, helped out as course volunteers at what was known then as the Red Lobster Cup Regatta.

This weekend, for the 11th year in a row, the Gardiners will be the guiding hand on the tiller of the 1991 Florida Citrus Sailfest, an event being hailed as the largest sailing regatta in the country.

Over 3,000 sailors crewing nearly 650 craft from 30 states, Canada and Europe are expected to compete in 50 different classes of boats on six courses laid out over Lake Monroe.

"My dad and I have been doing this for 11 years," said Gardiner III. "We worked on the course as volunteers in 1979-80. We ran the whole regatta in 1981 and we've been doing it ever since."

"I never thought we'd be doing it this long, but it keeps growing and we keep enjoying it."

Competitors will be able to register up until 9 a.m. Saturday. The registration fee for single-hand craft is $40, $45 for crewed entries.

The biggest change in the event is its name. Earlier in the year, Red Lobster announced it was going to start cutting back in its sponsorship of athletic events. In September, it was announced that Seminole County Tourist Development Council was stepping in as the regatta's sponsor.

"We are delighted to join forces with Seminole County," said Gardiner Jr., the regatta's executive director, in a Sept. 13 press release. "Their assistance and expertise will enable us to continue to host the largest regatta in the nation."

Once again, the Orlando Yacht Club will serve as the host club for the regatta, which is also carries the designation of being a Florida Citrus Sports Event. Other clubs helping in the organization and execution of the regatta are the Central Florida

SANFORD — The third annual "Light Up Sanford" will take place Saturday evening at 7 p.m.

This year, the celebration will take place in a new location. The Magnolia Mall on First Street will be the site of the event. The Pilot Club of Sanford will place luminaries around the area in preparation for the Christmas tree lighting ceremony.

Mayor Bettye Smith will light the city's tree which has been provided by the Sanford Historic Downtown Waterfront Association. Following the lighting, there will be a program presented by Promise, the youth group of Sanford's First Baptist Church.

Promise will be presenting a 45-minute look at the traditional Christmas celebration in contemporary terms. The show will contain music, singing, acting, dancing and sign language interpretation.

Finally, on Saturday evening, Miss St. Lucia will be crowned by Stephanie Russell, last year's festival queen.

Miss St. Lucia will be joined by the runners up in the festival parades on Dec. 14.

There will be parades on land and on Lake Monroe.

At 11 a.m. on Dec. 14, the St. Lucia Christmas parade will make its way along the waterfront on Seminole Boulevard.

The theme of the celebration is Christmas around the world and the floats will depict the different ways people in other countries celebrate the Christmas season.

Those interested in participating in the parade should call Laine Wood at 323-0206.

That evening at 8, the boat parade will hug close to the shore of Lake Monroe to show off lighted crafts. The response to calls for entrants in that parade has been low this year, but organizers hope to be able to have the nighttime celebration.

Those who are interested in entering their boat in the parade should call Arlene Smith at 322-6613.

At noon that same day, there will be an arts festival which will include strolling musicians, an

A castle of their very own

LONGWOOD — What could be better than a castle to call your own?

The third graders at Wekiva Elementary School have been reading stories about medieval castles and decided that they wanted to build one.

"We talked about building little ones, but there were little boxes left over from the boxes of gift wrap from a fundraiser," said Nancy Jardon, the school's media specialist. "We decided to build a castle big enough to walk through."

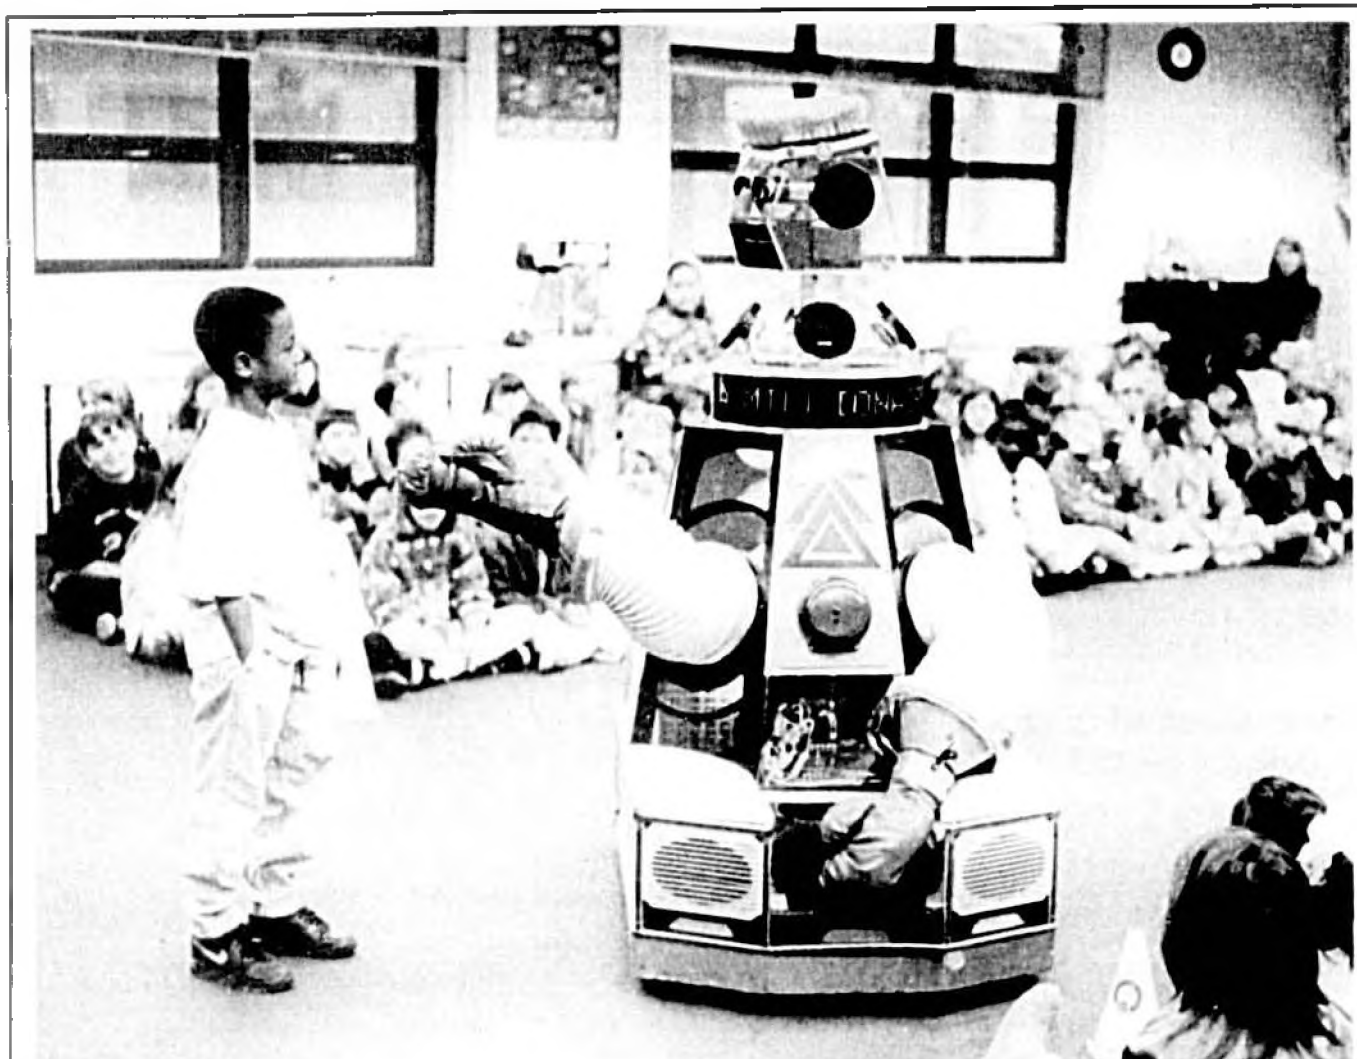

The result is a five room castle complete with a drawbridge and moat.

"There are no dragons in the moat yet," said Jardon.

Jardon said that decorating the castle was a challenge because the youngsters wanted to make it authentic yet they didn't always realize that even the finest medieval castle did not have some things we all take for granted.

Some of the kids would come in and say, for example, they wanted to make a lamp for the table in the bedroom, Jardon said. "I'd tell

State hard hit by unemployment

MIAMI — Florida paid $9.7 million in benefits to 34,000 unemployed people in a single record-setting day fueled by the recession and its primary byproduct: high unemployment.

Thursday's record for unemployment payments topped the previous mark set Aug. 15, when $8.7 million was paid to 29,000 jobless people.

"This'll probably be a record month also, only to be surpassed by next month," said Mike Switzer, director of the state Division of Unemployment Compensation. "It's only a matter of math: more claims for the newly laid off and emergency benefits."

More than 800 claims were handled at a special office set up at Miami International Airport. But 1,500 people showed up, so those who couldn't submit their applications were asked to return.

Property taxes disputed

ORLANDO — The owners of five huge commercial developments are $1 million short in their tax payments, according to the Orange County property appraiser.

Appraiser Ford Hausman is suing five of the area's biggest properties, including two Disney hotels, trying to overturn a ruling that slashed their assessed valuation of $485 million by a total of $44 million.

Instead of paying $11 million, their taxes for the year will be a total of $10 million, unless a circuit judge agrees with Hausman.

The properties are the Swan and Dolphin hotels, situated at Walt Disney World but privately owned; Orlando's tallest building, the 35-story SunBank Center; Colonial Plaza shopping mall; and the First F.A. Building.

The property owners claim that Hausman's assessments are too high, and independent appraisers have agreed.

The property owners say the sluggish economy has resulted in lower occupancy rates, lower rental incomes and smaller profits.

Resigning regulator is paid well

TALLAHASSEE — A utility regulator who resigned to run an affiliate of an electric company will pick up a $33,661 final check from the state.

Michael Wilson, who earned $90,026 as a member of the Public Service Commission, will be paid about $43 for each of the 777 hours of vacation and sick time accrued since he took the job in July 1985, according to state personnel records.

Since Wilson joined the PSC, he accumulated almost 18 weeks vacation and 30 weeks of sick leave, according to Carmen Corley, who handles personnel matters for the five-member commission.

New labels for organic food

TALLAHASSEE — A new labeling system begun will enable consumers to easily identify food produced without synthetic substances, Agriculture Commissioner Bob Crawford said.

The licensing program will certify that foods labeled "organic" are produced, processed and distributed without synthetic pesticides, synthetically compound fertilizer, synthetic growth hormones or artificial radiation.

"When consumers see this logo, they can be confident that the labeled products have been produced in Florida according to organic specifications," Crawford said Thursday.

The program will guard against fraud or misleading advertising through an inspection and analysis program.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Counties want more tax power

Associated Press

PANAMA CITY BEACH — Florida's financially strapped county governments plan to seek additional taxing authority during the 1992 legislative session that begins next month in Tallahassee.

The Florida Association of Counties unanimously passed resolutions urging lawmakers to let all counties tax utilities in unincorporated areas and permit small counties to tax residential property to raise money for operating jails.

County officials also want the Legislature to extend the deadline for enacting, through local-option referendums, sales taxes of up to 1 cent per dollar. Under existing law counties will lose that option next year.

Officials from Florida's 67 counties today will conclude their three-day legislative conference at the Marriott Bay Point resort

In this Panhandle city

They urged lawmakers to avoid the temptation to simply shift more financial responsibility to local governments during a budget-cutting special legislative session next week.

Most counties already levy all or nearly all the taxes they are allowed to by law, said James Shipman, the association's executive director.

"If they cut and it passes down to us we're not like the state government that can say, 'Well, let's get together and figure out what we are going to do and if we are going to tax,'" he said. "We are taxed out."

The group's tax proposals are aimed primarily at helping small counties that are in a financial squeeze primarily because the state's $25,000 homestead exemption keeps many homes entirely or largely off property tax rolls.

"We've got two counties that are on the verge of financial emergencies," Shipman said. He said Wakulla and Calhoun counties, both in the Panhandle, are "at their revenue limits and find themselves in dire financial straits."

"We've got the other counties," Shipman said. "The small counties particularly, that are in the situation of being absolutely unable to raise any more revenue and the costs of such things as corrections and courts are continuing to rise."

The jail tax would apply only to counties of less than 50,000 population. It would be a flat amount of up to $100 annually on improved residential properties, regardless of value. The tax would be used only to operate jails, not build them. Businesses would not be taxed.

Cities and charter counties already have the authority to impose utility taxes.

Castor says Florida tops in readiness

By JACKIE HALLFAX
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Despite Florida's dismal record when it comes to social services, the state is doing better than most in helping young children get ready for school, Education Commissioner Betty Castor said.

"Florida is a leader in developing strategies that will enable children to come to school ready to learn," Castor said at a news conference Thursday at a day care center here.

The distinction may not be saying much: Only 42 percent of the eligible 3- and 4-year-old Florida children get the services they need through state and federal programs.

Castor is one of the 18 people on the National Task Force on School Readiness, which released its report Thursday in Washington.

"The task force ... found problems nationwide in equity and quality of current efforts to meet the needs of young children and their families," Castor said.

She pointed to the sharp escalation in measles over the 1990s as a sign that children, especially city children, were not getting the vaccinations they need to stay healthy.

Nationwide, the rate has climbed from 3,400 cases in 1988 to 26,500 two years later. Florida saw a similar increase, from 170 cases in 1988 to 603 in 1990.

However, communities across the country are taking active stands in serving young children, according to the report, which cited two Florida examples. One was Hillsborough County Children's Board and the other was the Preschool Interagency Council in Gainesville.

Florida also is the only state in the country to set aside money — $6 million — to supplement the federal Head Start program. Castor said.

The state is spending $59 million and getting $11 million in matching federal funds to provide intervention to nearly 18,000 3- and 4-year-olds in its own program. And Florida has allocated $3.2 million for its First Start program, designed to help the parents of babies and toddlers. About 1,000 families are being served in 24 counties.

them to look up some pictures of the interiors of castles in our books. "Do you see any lamps on those tables? I'd ask them."

The students have created colorful paper tapestries to hang on the walls. Tapestries were often hung in medieval castles as a form of insulation and as works of art.

Ivy is growing lushly on the exterior walls thanks to the artistic talents of the 150 third graders working on the project.

Some of the students created weapons to stock the castles' dungeon.

"They've been very creative," Jardon said.

The castle is a big sightseeing attraction at the school. The other classes at the school have been touring the castle, walking through the rooms and learning about life in the middle ages.

Jardon said that the teachers and students in several grades are currently working on a play about medieval life that they hope to present on Friday, Dec. 13.

"The castle is the perfect setting for a play," she added. The students have not yet named their fortress.

Jardon said the teachers and parents are very proud of the work the youngsters have done.

"But most of all, (the students) are very proud of their work," she said. "Every child can go through the castle and say, 'I did this and I did that.' It's pretty exciting."

Ornament Society ball Sunday

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

HEATHROW — The Seminole Ornament Society will hold its annual toys-for-kids ball this Sunday, although the rightful leadership of the four-year-old organization has yet to be resolved in Seminole County circuit court, says a group of contested board members.

Bonnie Manjura, a board member of the SOS group sponsoring the event, says about 550 people are expected to attend the ball at the Altamonte Springs Hilton and Towers at 8:30 p.m. Guests are admitted free as long as they bring a toy which will be donated to local charitable organizations. More than 750 toys have been requested by area children, Manjura said.

Anyone interested in attending can call "Santa" Arlene Walther at 333-1717.

The formal event, which will include music by the Bob Cross Orchestra, The Caroling Company and the Orlando Deanyery Boys Choir, is financed by a group of hosts that includes Manjura's business, Gilbert Manjura Marketing; former county commissioner Sid Vihlen; Sanford political strategist Eoghan Kelley; and county critic Grant McEwan.

Former hosts have included such Seminole County Republican Executive Committee stalwarts as state committeeman Jim Stelling, county commissioner Fred Streetman, Ed De-Puy and Dick Van Der Weide.

Local organizations, such as the Good Samaritan Home and Seminole County School Board, submit lists of toys sought by children, Manjura said. Last year, the ball organizers began accepting gifts for seniors as well.

Manjura said whereas in past years children requested toys and games, this year, many children have requested clothing, even a single piece of underwear.

"It shakes you up quite a bit," Manjura said. "We'd like people to bring both toys and clothing." In July last year, three board members — Stelling, current Lake Mary Mayor Randy Morris and Republican strategist Harry Hagle — voted to dissolve SOS and donate most of the $2,316 remaining in the SOS bank account to the Seminole Children's Village. The three said Manjura was trying to politicize the event.

Manjura described the situation as "Goldilocks and the Three Bears" and lead a group of what she said was the rightful SOS leadership into suing Stelling, Morris and Hagle. Manjura's SOS group claimed the three men were not the legal directors of the organization and sought a refund of the $2,316 with court expenses.

Manjura said there has been no advancement in the case since November 1990 when Seminole Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis denied a motion by Morris, Stelling and Hagle to dismiss the suit.

Stelling said the suit is still pending, but said he wishes success for the ball.

"We don't have a problem with the function," Stelling said. "We just don't like them using the name."

Dismal picture

As the Russian winter approaches, the Russian faces have grown leaner and grimmer. The August coup is over, but the winter could hold worse surprises.

At this crossroads in Russian history, the West, led by the United States, has crucial decisions to make. Either it helps the former Soviet republics toward stabler institutions, or it runs the risk of seeing them disintegrate into anarchy and civil war. And they still have many thousands of nuclear warheads.

No one knows exactly how many died in the siege of Vukovar, Croatia, but it is in the thousands. In scenes reminiscent of the Spanish Civil War, anything that moved — civilian or military — was killed. They were killed inside hospitals and executed with white flags in their hands. The fall of Vukovar opens the road for the Serbs toward Zagreb, Croatia's capital.

The same could happen in Russia. It happened before, following the October Revolution, and could happen again this winter. Faced with starvation and economic and political disintegration, Russian discontent easily could turn into rage and revolt. The West has the means to assure that it doesn't.

Saddled with our own economic burdens Americans can't afford much altruism for our former enemies. Fortunately, we don't need it. Pure self-interest can guide us in helping 280 million former Soviets toward stable institutions. It is a short-term investment that will produce long-term benefits for all.

After weeks of dithering, the Bush administration finally produced a $1.5 billion food credit recently, which will enable Russians quickly to get food on the shelves. The dithering has been over whether we should wait until Russian economic reforms are in place. They're not, but no matter. The reforms are coming, Russian President Boris Yeltsin has staked his job on it. Prices will be freed, the ruble will float, the state budget drastically cut and state property sold.

When those things happen, bank on it, the Russian economy will go into temporary free fall. Without food on the shelves, anything is possible.

The food aid is in the form of credits, which means the Russians pledge to repay it. But with a $100 billion foreign debt, a worthless currency and a broken economy, they may not be able to. It's still a good investment.

WILLIAM A. RUSHER

Once foe, Japan is admirable friend

You are probably tired of hearing where your elderly friends and relatives were on Pearl Harbor Day, so I'll make this quick: I was a sophomore at Princeton, and at about 2 p.m. was stretched out on a sofa in my room in Brown Hall, reading Thurmond Arnold's "Bottlenecks of Business," which was required for an economics course I was taking.

The guys next door had tuned their radio to a football game, which was annoying but endurable. The trouble was that some announcer kept interrupting, to say something I couldn't quite catch — something about "Pearl Harbor." Finally, I got up and turned on my own radio — and the rest, as they say, is history.

That night the Princeton Senate, which was simply an extracurricular organization, convened in special session, and I had the honor, as chairman of its Foreign Relations Committee, to introduce the resolution declaring war on (we wanted to be precise) "the Empire of Nippon."

Being just five months past my 18th birthday and enrolled in the ROTC, there was no doubt what lay ahead for me. I had been a passionate "interventionist" anyway, so far as the war was concerned, so I welcomed the new development.

I had, of course, no doubt whatever that Japan's surprise strike at Pearl Harbor was the deepest sort of treachery, and totally unjustified.

Only many years later did I realize that FDR, by joining with the British, French and Dutch in a 100 percent embargo on oil shipments to Japan in July 1941, left Japan no choice but to attack or surrender. As Secretary for War Henry Stimson confided in his diary, "the question was how we should maneuver (Japan) into ... firing the first shot without allowing too much danger to ourselves."

Unfortunately Roosevelt assumed Japan would lunge southward — toward the Philippines and Indonesia (the latter being the only source of oil within Japan's reach), and was caught badly off base when she opened, instead, with an attack on Hawaii that left most of our battleships at the bottom of Pearl Harbor.

Their success has been the product of discipline and hard work.

In any case, we were in the war at last, and the ultimate outcome was a foreordained conclusion.

The postwar resurgence of Japan and the Japanese people, under the brilliant guidance of Douglas MacArthur, is one of the great stories of the 20th century. As a young lieutenant stationed at Air Force headquarters in Calcutta in 1944-45, I would cheerfully have shot any Japanese soldier who got within pistol-range. But on many visits to Japan, in the 1960s and thereafter, I came to admire the Japanese people immensely. Their success has been the product of discipline and hard work, and they have earned every bit of it.

As for the danger of a resurgent Japanese militarism, my strong impression is that the Japanese themselves are, at least subliminally, well aware of that possibility, and eager to forestall it. At times they seem almost to be pleading with us not to insist that they rearm. They would rather compete economically — and why not?

No doubt the Japanese government and people have been reluctant to allow foreign businesses to compete on equal terms in their tight little islands, but this problem is diminishing and in time will cease to matter. What the world, including the United States, really fears from Japanese competition is its sheer efficiency.

Reapportionment jeopardized

WASHINGTON — A little noticed lawsuit could result in the entire 1990 congressional reapportionment being invalidated, forcing Congress to start over again from scratch. This, in turn, could change the number of House seats in up to 21 states, throwing the 1992 elections into chaos.

The suit was filed five months ago in Montana by state officials and members of Montana's congressional delegation who were angered over the loss of one of the state's two House seats in the new reapportionment.

Under a 50-year-old formula used by Congress to determine how the 435 House seats are divided among the states, it was decided that a model congressional district should have 572,000 residents. In the 1990 Census, Montana's population dropped to just over 800,000, meaning that it does not have the population to continue to support two congressional districts.

The result was the loss of one of its two current congressional districts, with the entire state of Montana becoming the nation's largest and most widespread single congressional district.

The suit filed in federal district court in Helena alleged that the way Congress apportioned seats after the 1990 Census was unconstitutional for two reasons: The 50-year-old mathematical formula is outdated and inaccurate and results in a violation of the Voting Rights Act guarantee of one-man, one-vote; the automatic way the formula is applied — without any congressional vote — represents an unconstitutional delegation of congressional power.

The suit was met with yawns in Washington. A low-level cadre of Justice Department lawyers was sent to oppose it. They argued that the plaintiffs had no standing to bring the suit and the court no right to hear it, since congressional apportionment deals with dividing seats among all states, not within any one state.

They further argued that even if the plaintiffs did have a right to bring the suit, it was so transparently political that it should be summarily dismissed.

However, a three-judge panel headed by District Judge Charles C. Lovell has shocked Washington by not only agreeing with the state of Montana, but by issuing a permanent injunction forbidding elections to be held based on this apportionment.

District Judge James Battin joined in the opinion. Judge Diarmuid O'Scannlain of the 9th Circuit Court of Appeals, sitting as the third judge on the panel, dissented.

Lovell ruled that whatever method of assigning seats the House employs, it must result in the smallest absolute difference in the size of districts. "While arguing that proportions and percentages are the proper criteria rather than absolute numbers," Lovell wrote, "(the House) ignores the fact that each number represents a person whose voting rights are potentially impacted."

Instead of simply applying a five-decade-old formula, Lovell ruled, Congress must examine various mathematical alternatives to determine which may be the most accurate.

Given the time pressures involved, the Justice Department has decided to bypass the 9th Circuit and appeal Lovell's ruling directly to the U.S. Supreme Court. Solicitor General Kenneth Starr has asked the court for an expedited hearing, and his motion could be granted before the end of the year. If it is, and all involved in the case believe it will be, arguments may be heard by the end of January and a final ruling given by March.

Given the decision by the Montana three-judge panel, no one now is willing to bet that the Supreme Court will not agree with the lower court. Thus the question of the hour: What happens if the injunction is upheld?

The obvious answer would be for Congress to meet, examine the range of mathematical formulas that might be available, pick one that would likely yield the most accurate results (almost surely not the one that has been used the past 50 years), reapportion again based on this new formula, and then send the results to the floor for debate and passage.

However, that answer is virtually a political impossibility. The best estimate is that if the formula is changed some 21 states will either gain or lose House seats. Getting a majority to support any such measure would seem out of the question.

Some suggest the answer is for Congress to pass a law increasing its membership from 435 to 436 and give the new district to Montana. For 80 years prior to 1920, Congress upped House membership every 10 years to reflect increases in population. It legally could do so again, but no one is sure if giving Montana back its second congressional district would satisfy the injunction.

This could change the number of House seats in up to 21 states.

Air Force bent spending rules?

WASHINGTON — The Pentagon is conducting an internal probe to determine whether the Air Force ducked the spending rules with a $5 million, first-class renovation of its Pacific headquarters in Hawaii. Part of the ruse involved an attempt to number the wings of the huge headquarters as 14 separate buildings on the local real-estate records so the massive remodeling project looked like a series of smaller maintenance jobs.

The fancy footwork took place when Gen. Merrill McPeak was commander of the Pacific Air Forces from July 1988 to October 1990. McPeak is now the top dog — chief of staff of the Air Force — a job where he has continued to show his preference for form over substance. He recently ordered the design of new uniforms for the Air Force, and personally modeled the $1.5 million prototype that looked like a knockoff of an airline pilot's suit.

"I think our people ought to like the way they look in a uniform," McPeak said to justify the expense. Perhaps he feels the same way about offices.

An Air Force audit completed earlier this year concluded that the service should have asked Congress for new construction funds to finance the project. But Congress might have said no. Instead, the Air Force robbed its own operation and maintenance kitty and passed the work off as a series of smaller "maintenance" projects.

The Air Force recently sent a letter of apology to Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., the chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee. "I regret the need for this letter and the breach of trust with the committee," wrote James F. Boatright, deputy assistant secretary of the Air Force for Installations. Boatright assured Nunn that the Air Force would take steps to "prevent any future recurrence."

In this case, Congress should follow the Reagan axiom of "trust, but verify." As we have reported in the past, the Air Force has juggled the books before, devising ways to build new golf courses and bowling alleys and skeet-shooting ranges with "maintenance" funds after Congress ordered a cutoff in construction funds for new recreational facilities.

Our associate Jim Lynch has learned that when the auditors landed at Hickam Air Force Base in Hawaii, they discovered the extent of the secret renovation scheme at the three-story headquarters building with 10 wings. A simple, 50-year-old building was being turned into digs the likes of which the average soldier never sees: carpets, wallpaper, wooden baseboards and oak chair railings around the walls.

And, instead of putting the work out for a construction bid by civilian contractors, the Air Force shipped 500 of its own handymen — from Osan Air Force Base in Korea to Hawaii on "temporary duty." Officially, the mission was called a "training project."

The Air Force claimed it was just trying to save money, but in doing so it may have "unfairly competed with private commercial sources," the auditors said. And then there is the little problem of justifying how the project contributed to the training of the unit for its "wartime mission."

Since seeing the audit, the House Armed Services Committee has demanded a full accounting by the Air Force of its creative financing.

Nobody in the Air Force is rushing forward to take responsibility. But top brass had to be aware of the paperwork gyrations to make the project look like many small maintenance jobs. McPeak was not available for comment.

The House Armed Services Committee has demanded a full accounting.

Pleas made, trial set in beatings

By J. MARK SANFORD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A trial date has been set for the 19-year-old Sanford youth accused of murdering James Sims June 4 this year as he rode his bicycle past a group of youths following the "fun" beating of Leonard Sutton an hour earlier.

Antonwan Denard Bell Jr. will appear before Seminole Circuit Judge Newman Brock Jan. 14 to stand trial for charges for the murder of James Sims, 44, of Sanford on June 4. Although Sanford police say several other youths were present, Bell was the only person to be prosecuted.

Sanford police say Sims rode his bicycle on Cypress Avenue by a group of youths at about 10:30 p.m. Bell extended his arm and knocked Sims to the ground where his head hit the pavement. Sims died two weeks later without regaining consciousness. Police say Bell removed Sims' wallet and took a bottle of wine from him.

Bell is also scheduled to stand trial Jan. 29 for the beating and robbery of Leonard Sutton, 44, on hour earlier at the corner of 10th Street and Locust Avenue. Sutton was severely beaten and robbed of $7 in cash and $24 in food stamps.

Wednesday, Brock sentenced three other Sanford youths in the Sutton beating. Hubert Embry Jr., 19, and Rodney Hooks, 18, were each sentenced to five years probation for the beating. Both had not contested the charges in a plea entered Oct. 15, according to court records. State prosecutors had dropped robbery charges against them.

Brock sentenced a third youth, Anthony Duval Jr., 18, to two years house arrest and three years probation for the beating and an unrelated Sanford auto burglary that occurred in March.

Still to be tried for the beating is Samuel Ayers, 19. Ayers entered a plea of guilty to robbery charges and did not contest the aggravated assault charge. His sentencing is scheduled for Jan. 3 before Brock. A 16-year-old youth has not contested the battery charges and his sentencing is scheduled for Jan. 29 before Brock. Prosecutors dropped robbery charges.

The aggravated battery charges against a 17-year-old youth police say was involved in the beating is still pending.

Bush gears up for election

WASHINGTON — President Bush's new campaign team is going right to work mapping strategy for holding the White House. Bush predicts he'll win even if the economy doesn't improve, but one campaign worker says they're still bracing for "a dog fight."

Bush on Thursday named Transportation Secretary Samuel Skinner as his chief of staff, replacing the combative John Sununu. At the same time, the president filled the top ranks of his re-election campaign.

He gave the key jobs to a squad of political veterans who had worked in his last campaign, led by Commerce Secretary Bob Mosbacher, Bush's chief 1988 fund-raiser.

Anderson OK; Steen wants justice

WIESBADEN, Germany — Terry Anderson's brutal ordeal is behind him and doctors say he withstood it well. But ex-hostage Alann Steen is calling for the kidnapers to be brought to justice, and President Bush says the hostage chapter isn't over.

Anderson, looking fit and bouyant, was given a nearly clean bill of health Thursday, and has more tests today. The 44-year-old journalist also plans to give a news conference, where new details of his captivity will likely emerge.

It is already known that Anderson, the longest-held Western hostage in Lebanon and last to be freed on Wednesday, spent much of the last seven years in chains, often cold and poorly fed.

Quayle aide investigated

WASHINGTON — A House committee is investigating a top vice presidential aide for his role in adopting a revised air pollution regulation that could benefit an electric utility in which he owns stock.

This is the second time in recent weeks that Allan B. Hubbard's official duties have been scrutinized for possible conflicts with his outside business interests.

Hubbard acknowledged he chaired an Oct. 16 White House meeting at which a regulation on acid rain emissions, not yet final, was changed. Other government officials who were there said he participated in the decision.

Rep. Henry A. Waxman, D-Calif., who scheduled hearings on Hubbard's role next Tuesday, was accused by a Quayle spokesman of conducting a "witch hunt."

Woman completes rape-trial testimony

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — The woman who says William Kennedy Smith turned from a nice guy to a monster who assaulted her ended nearly 10 hours of testimony by defiantly telling Smith's attorney: "Your client raped me."

The words were spoken clearly and with confidence, in sharp contrast to earlier moments of uncontrollable weeping as the 30-year-old woman underwent an intense cross-examination from defense attorney Roy Black that included questions about intimate sexual details.

Unemployment rate same but many jobs cut

By KAREN BALL
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON — The nation's unemployment rate remained at 6.8 percent in November even though employers cut nearly a quarter-million jobs, the government reported today.

The jobless rate held at October's level, the Labor Department said, but another survey by the agency showed that payrolls tumbled by 241,000 jobs, the bleakest one-month plunge since this spring, when recession-induced layoffs took 258,000 jobs in both February and March.

The Labor Department said part of November's huge job loss was caused by updated seasonal adjustments, but estimated payrolls would have fallen by 170,000 jobs even without that adjustment.

Most analysts had predicted job losses of only 35,000, while the gloomiest predictions estimated a 75,000 loss. The mass layoffs in November hit a range of industries, particularly construction and manufacturing. In addition, hiring in department stores and other retail establishments was far short of seasonal expectations, resulting in a huge employment decline after seasonal adjustment, the Labor Department said.

The jobs report can show different numbers — the unemployment rate holding steady while jobs plunge — because they are derived from different surveys. The survey of business establishments, from which the payroll figures are derived, is considered a better barometer of economic activity.

The household survey showed that America's jobless totaled 6.5 million in November, down about 80,000 from October's total of 6.6 million.

However, the labor force shrank by nearly 300,000, meaning many people may have just abandoned the job hunt. The number of people holding jobs fell by 209,000, the household survey showed.

"The November statistics ... show some deterioration in the labor market," said Janet Norwood, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. "For the third month in a row, there was an increase in the proportion of industries that lost jobs."

Construction jobs fell by 95,000, as ongoing weakness in the industry was compounded by severe weather in some regions, the Labor Department said.

Factory payrolls were down by 33,000, marking the third straight decline in a sector that originally was thought to be rebounding from the recession. Manufacturing jobs have fallen by 100,000 since August, the agency said.

Retail trade employment was down 110,000, after seasonal adjustment, to reflect the poor Christmas hiring.

Health services continued to be the only industry able to sustain strong growth, adding 36,000 jobs. But that was partly offset by a 19,000 loss in business services.

The average manufacturing work week was flat in November, holding at 40.9 hours. Factory overtime increased slightly, from 3.7 hours to 3.8 hours. Analysts say that could be a sign that employers are asking their current workers for more work rather than adding staff.

Labor costs, often blamed for worsening the nation's inflation problems, increased. The average hourly worker earned $10.44 an hour in November rather than the $10.40 an hour they earned in October.

By holding steady in November, the nation's unemployment rate remained 1.3 percentage point higher than it was when the recession started in July 1980, when it was 5.3 percent.

Tribe runs afoul of Bucs

Seminole falls to Mainland in battle of state-ranked teams

By DEAN SMITH Herald Sports Writer

DAYTONA BEACH — When two powers meet in basketball, a lot of the time, the difference comes down to which team keeps its star player out of foul trouble.

Such was the case Thursday night as Seminole's Nikl Washington got into early foul trouble and eventually fouled out as the host Mainland Buccaneers tripped the Tribe 63-56 in a double overtime girls' basketball contest.

"We really came back well," said Seminole coach John McNamara. "The girls handled themselves well when the breaks went against them. I hate to lose but there were a lot of positives in this game. We got to play a lot of different girls in tough circumstances."

The loss was the first after three victories for Seminole, which was ranked fifth in the first Class 3A state poll. The Tribe will host Orlando-Bishop Moore next Thursday at Bill Felming Memorial Gymnasium. Mainland, ranked No. 10 in the state's Class 4A poll, improved to 2-0.

Washington was forced to the bench early in the first quarter after picking up two quick fouls.

Lisa Maslunis contributed 13 points, five steals and four assists while Karen Morris added 12 points, four rebounds and three steals. Melissa Mau chipped in with eight points, seven rebounds, six steals and four assists. Lashawn Merrick had a team-high five assists.

Seven pins pave way to Lyman win

From Staff Reports

ORLANDO — Seven pins and a pair of forfeits paved the way for the Lyman Greyhounds to hang a 58-20 defeat on the host Bishop Moore Hornets Friday night in a high school wrestling dual meet.

Lyman also won big in the junior varsity match, 54-18.

Ironically (from a Lyman standpoint), the best match of the night was one that wasn't won by the Greyhounds. Bishop Moore's Jason Purcell scoring a 4-0 decision over Vinni Samero at 135 pounds.

"Samero and Purcell is something of a grudge match," said Lyman coach Rick Tribit. "It was one of those classic battles, a real good match. Both kids wrestled real hard over the summer and are in really good shape this season."

Like any close match, there was some controversy. Tribit thought Samero had scored a takedown (worth two points) that the official didn't award. Tribit also thought Samero didn't deserve the two points he was penalized for supposedly stalling.

As a family, the Sameros were 1-1 Thursday night. Nicky Samero opening the dual meet with a pin in 1:53 at the 103-pound weight class for the Greyhounds.

Other Lyman winners by pin were Richard Aikay (125 pounds), Willie Campos (130), Shawn Whitaker (140), Jim Glammo (152), Nelson Diaz (189) and Ladaryl Fenney (220). John Altizer (112) won by a major decision (14-6) for the Greyhounds, who also picked up forfeit wins at 160 and 171.

Now 2-0 in dual meet competition, Lyman will host Dr. Phillips next Tuesday night before hosting its annual Christmas tournament next weekend.

Sophomore's goal lifts Lions over Tribe

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Sophomore Josh Ikor scored the game's only goal to boost Oviedo to a 1-0 win over Seminole in a Seminole Athletic Conference boys' soccer match at Seminole's Thomas E. Whigham Stadium.

Oviedo, which also won the junior varsity match, evens its record at 2-2, 1-0 in the SAC. Seminole opens its season 0-1.

With Tribe goalkeeper Jon Williams saving everything the Lions sent his way, Seminole was less than 13 minutes from a scoreless tie when Ikor knocked home a corner kick from David Underwood with 12:43 to play.

Rob Guggenheim had little trouble making the lead stand up, making two saves on the four shots attempted by Seminole. Williams finished with 15 saves on Oviedo's 20 shots on goal. Each team had three corner kicks.

"They dominated most of the game, no ifs, ands or buts," said Seminole coach Carlos Merlino. "I'm real proud of my guys in terms of their defensive work. A 0-0 tie would have been very nice for our program."

"One thing that teams who place us will know is that Jon Williams is an outstanding goalkeeper. They'll have a tough time getting shots by him."

Oviedo coach Dave Jeckanoakl had much the same to say about his goalie, Guggenheim.

"His presence is overwhelming," said Jeckanoakl, who moved Guggenheim from midfield to goalkeeper after the Lions lost their two games in the Goldenrod Rotary Tournament last weekend. "His presence back there has made all the difference."

Jeckanoakl also praised the play of defender Noel Reid.

According to Merlino, Williams and the rest of the defense did an outstanding job of repelling the Oviedo attack and keeping Seminole

Buchholz the next obstacle for Patriots

By ROBERT STOCK Herald Correspondent

GAINESVILLE — Throughout this season, the Lake Brantley Patriots have overcome numerous obstacles in making the state playoffs, including the Lake Mary Rams and a court battle with the Florida High School Activities Association.

But tonight, the Patriots may face their biggest challenge to date as they take on the No. 3 state-ranked Gainesville-Buchholz Bobcats for the 5A-Section I championship.

Not only did the Bobcats (10-1) capture the State 4A title last year, but they have won 10 games in a row, including a 24-13 thrashing of fifth-ranked Niceville last week.

To make matters worse, Buchholz — which has won four straight state playoff games on the road — finally return to Citizens Field, where they have won 11 consecutive contests.

"We'll be able to prepare a little better," said George Dean, Buchholz' second-year coach. "If our fans get into it (the game), it'll (the crowd) be a pretty big advantage."

However, the Patriots (10-1) don't plan on ending their dream of a state title, although Brantley head coach Fred Almon knows it will be a tough challenge.

"Buchholz is a very fine football team," Almon said. "[But] we've got a fine football team and we're going up there to win. I intend to win."

Coach Fred Almon and the Lake Brantley Patriots take on third-ranked Gainesville-Buchholz for the 5A-Section I championship tonight.

The last time Dean and Almon were on the same field together was in 1983, when they were teammates on a Tampa-Robinson team that finished second in the state, losing 18-14 to Coral Gables in Florida's first official championship game. Dean was a junior at the time while Almon was a sophomore.

Lake Brantley's main advantage in this game is their wishbone offense. Even though the Bobcats play strong team defense (they held Niceville to 24 rushing yards on 24 attempts), they have not faced a wishbone team this year — especially one with the talent of David Sprinkle, who has rushed for 1,393 yards on 202 carries and 11 touchdowns this season.

"The key to stopping the wishbone is to play assignment football and play physical up front," Dean said. "It cuts down on end plays."

Patriot quarterback Rob Seymour (82 carries for 493 yards), still nursing an injured throwing hand, will look to get the running game started early in the contest. Behind Sprinkle, Lake Brantley also lines up with Joe Pagen and Joe Petno at running back, the duo having combined for 766 yards on just 103 carries. Petno has also thrown three touchdown passes.

The Patriots' large offensive line, featuring 6-foot, 6-inch, 285-pound guard Chuck Evans, will try to control the swarming Bobcat defense.

Buchholz' weakest point is their pass defense. But considering the Patriots have thrown just six passes in their last four games, it probably won't be a factor.

"We're going to try and go right at them," Almon said. "We just do what the defense gives us."

Since giving up 28 points in their opening game loss to defending Class 5A state champion Ft. Walton Beach Choctawhatchee, the Bobcats have allowed no more than 14 points in any matchup, including three shutouts.

Defensively Lake Brantley will face a major challenge in stopping 5-foot, 9-inch, 163-pound Junior Tyrone Baker, who has rammed for 1,915 yards on 278 carries and 19 touchdowns. Last week Baker totaled 251 yards on 39 attempts against Niceville.

Despite the fact that the Bobcats rarely pass, sophomore quarterback Travis McGriff, the son of former University of Florida receiver Lee McGriff, is deceptively effective. His main target is senior flanker Cory Quaintance, who has caught 16 passes for 359 yards. He has also rushed for 490 yards on 44 carries and scored 13 touchdowns.

"I don't think you can shut it (the Buchholz offense) down, you can really only slow it up," Almon said. "We're going to try

Lee's Cabinet clinches tie for championship in Thursday softball league

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — It was blowout night in the Sanford Recreation Department Thursday Night Men's Fall Slowpitch Softball League at Chase Park.

None of the three games went the distance as Grace Apostolic Temple forfeited to First Baptist, Shrusberry Pub whitewashed Holy Cross Lutheran of Lake Mary 13-0 in six innings and Lee's Cabinets clobbered the Raiders 18-5 in five innings.

Lee's leads the league with a 9-1 record. They are followed by First Baptist and Shrusberry Pub (both 6-3), Grace Apostolic (5-5), Raiders (4-6), Holy Cross (2-7) and Texaco Star Lube (0-9).

Scott Post had three RBI and the Shrusberry Pub defense held Holy Cross to only three hits in winning their sixth game of the season.

Contributing to the 18 hit Shrusberry Pub offense were Terry Brady (three doubles), Chris Doyle (triple, double, single), Phil Castle (triple, single), Jonney Haddock (double, single), Post and Mike Heleskan (two singles each), Robert Albritton (triple) and Joe Thomas, Al Paone and Dwain

She remained on the bench until there were three minutes left in the first half and Seminole down by 14 points, 30-16. The Tribe rallied behind Washington and Kayla Alexander to cut the lead to 10, 30-20, by halftime.

With Washington dominating both ends of the court, Seminole caught fire in the third quarter and outscored the Buccaneers 15-8 to cut the lead to three, 38-35, entering the final eight minutes.

The hometeam regrouped to score the first five points of the fourth quarter to lead 43-35 with 4:20 left, but a steal by Chandrika Newkirk led to a layup by Tennisha Eason and a Washington rebound and full-court pass to Kayla Alexander for another layup cut the lead back to four, 43-39, with 4:02 left.

After the teams traded buckets, Mainland appeared to secure the win when a pair of free throws by Missy Young and a jumper by Carmen Sanders gave the Buccaneers a 49-41 lead with 1:52 to go.

However, the Tribe's defensive pressure and missed free throw opportunities by Mainland allowed Seminole to tie the game.

Newkirk scored on a beautiful baseline drive and Alexander converted a three-point play and a layup to cut the lead to 49-48 with 0:40 to play. Mainland's scorer Josh Kohn, Evans stepped forward and scored 21 points to lead the Silver Hawks to a 66-63 victory.

In Thursday's other contests, Mainland beat Jones 59-57 in a consolation game before Edgewater topped host Winter Park, 75-67.

Two of Evans' points came after being fouled with three seconds left to play and Lake Howell clinging to a one-point lead.

"We were up by four when Willie Ryals hit a three-pointer for them to cut the lead to 64-63 with three seconds left," said Lake Howell coach Steve Kohn. "They fouled Milak on the in-"Defensively, we played real well," Merlino said. "Stopper Daniel White sweeper Jimmy Johnson and defenders Ben Brown and Jason Walraven played an outstanding. White marked Rob Mentus for us and did an excellent job on him."

Oviedo plays at home on Saturday against West Orange while Seminole is off until next Tuesday, when the Tribe will host Lake Mary.

A double standard for minors and sex?

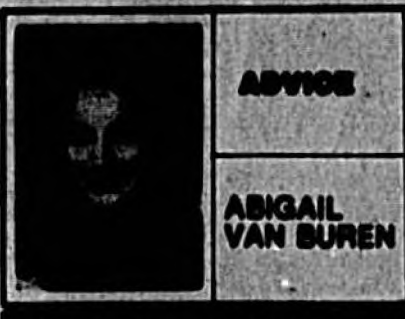

DEAR ABBY: The following story is fictitious: A man in his late 20s goes to bed with a 14-year-old girl. He gets caught, is arrested, and goes to prison for a few years where he is subject to all kinds of dangers in prison because of his crime.

The following story is real: A married woman in her late 20s goes to bed with a 14-year-old boy. They are having an affair. The boy and this woman do their frolicking when her husband is at work during his graveyard shift. This boy is some kind of "hero" to his friends, and even to some adults! Why?

This is a double standard in its ugliest fashion. If an underage girl has sex with an adult male, then it is a case of, "Poor girl, he must have taken advantage of her."

When an underage boy has sex with an adult woman, it turns into, "What a stud,atta boy—learn early!"

heard of a case where a woman went to prison for having sex with underage boys. Isn't it a crime? I am not saying that one is right and the other is not. They're both wrong. Why, however, do women get away with this awful crime?

FRESNO FRANK:

DEAR FRESNO FRANK: Women "get away" with it if the parents of the underage boy are unwilling to charge the woman with having sex with a minor. But regardless of who takes advantage of a minor of either sex—that person is guilty of statutory rape.

ASK GOD FIRST

Thomas Carlyle once said, "The eternal stars shine out as soon as it is dark enough."
This observation appears to be, unfortunately, true of man. It seems that many of us, in time of trouble, try to solve our problems every way but the right way. It is true that we must attempt to help ourselves and use our own available resources; yet, first of all, we need to go to God.
Psalm 34:18 assures us, saying, "Many are the afflictions of the righteous; but the Lord delivers him out of them all."
You do not have to wait until life is dark, until your troubles seem insurmountable. Praise God in His house this week as you look to Him for guidance. When trouble threatens, ask God first.

Mayor proclaims next week as Castle Brewer week in Sanford

By KELLEY MITCHELL
Herald Religion Editor

SANFORD — He was a minister, educator and community leader in Sanford for 47 years and served as Pastor of St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church in Sanford until July 1936. Who is he?

The Reverend Castle Brewer. Sanford Mayor Bettye D. Smith has proclaimed the week of Dec. 8-14 as Castle Brewer Week in honor of the Rev. Brewer's influence and contributions to the growth of the community.

In celebration of this event, St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church, on the corner of Ninth Street and Pine Avenue, will hold two special services.

At the 11 a.m. service, Mayor Bettye Smith, City Commissioners Bob Thomas, Phyllis Richardson, executive director of the Sanford Housing Authority and all the resident of Castle Brewer Court, named after the honoree, have been invited to share in the morning worship.

"The service will be dedicated to youngsters pursuing education," according to the Rev.

"We want to encourage and provide incentives to all young people to continue their education."

-Rev. Amos Jones

Amos Jones, pastor of the church. "We want to encourage and provide incentives to all young people to continue their education."

"And we also want to encourage adults to give these young people a helping hand because there are so many negative influences out there that they are exposed to."

The youth department of the church recently went door to door at Castle Brewer Court to hand deliver an invitation to each resident of the public housing unit.

At the 6 p.m. service, the Carter Tabernacle Methodist Church of Orlando will provide music for the evening. Again the program will have a major emphasis on education.

The Rev. Brewer, a native of Society Hill, S.C., accepted a call from the St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church and came to Sanford in December of 1884. During the first 18 years of his leadership, a new church and parsonage was built.

Growth in the membership was evident, and the building of community relations impacted the development of a Sunday School that had men and women classes that remained active throughout his years of service.

The church was known nationally for its strong and active support of Foreign Missions. The church supported a missionary, Miss Josephine Stroughton, who made Sanford her headquarters.

Also, scholarship aid was given to Daniel Malakabu, a native of West Africa. This continued until he completed his medical training at Meharry Medical School, in Nashville, Tenn. The Rev. Brewer combined his ministry to promote activities that were of help to members of his congregation, reaching out to people where ever he was needed. He commuted to Lakeland weekly to teach at the Florida Seminary — a class for ministers and laymen.

He conducted religious emphasis week at Florida Memorial, Live Oak, and Florida Normal, St. Augustine, and was often a guest lecturer at Benedict School of Religion and Morehouse College.

In 1950, the executive director of the Sanford Housing Authority, George H. Williams, Jr., asked permission of the Brewer family, in recognition of Rev. Brewer's contributions to the community, to name a new public housing facility in the Goldboro community "Castle Brewer Courts."

The Rev. Brewer combined his ministry to promote activities that were not only of help to his congregation, but also reached out to people far beyond his community.

African Methodist Episcopal International conference to be held in the area in 1992

The 44th Quadrennial Session of the General Conference African Methodist Episcopal Church will convene in Orlando on July 7-14 at the Orange County Convention Center, Orlando.

The Rev. Philip R. Cousin, presiding bishop of the 11th African Methodist Episcopal District, is the chairman of the conference, which is expected to draw well over 20,000 people from all over the world.

"This is the second time a Florida city has hosted the conference and we plan to make it an event worth remembering," said Bishop Cousin, who is also nationally recognized for his work as past president of the 40 million member National Council of Churches. "We have an outstanding group of clergy as well as church members worldwide who are prominent citizens in their individual communities. Orlando is fortunate to have so many fine people in its city at one time," Bishop Cousin said.

"How to cope with issues like the spread of AIDS, the tragedy of homelessness and the growing problem of black-on-black crime will be among the many topics of discussion that will dominate the conference," according to Vinton Anderson, conference program co-chairman, presiding bishop of the 5th A.M.E. District, and president of the 360 million member World Council of Churches.

The conference is expected to attract nationally-known figures such as the Rev. Jesse Jackson, NAACP Executive Director Ben Hooks, Florida Governor Lawton Chiles and many political candidates.

Thelma Jackson was named director of corporate planning for the conference.

Kirk, Patti to perform
"Together again...for the very first time," written by Kirk and Patti Lytle, both of Sanford, will be presented at the Restoration Community Church, 5615 N. County Road 427, Sanford, in the Seventh-day Adventist Church facility, on Sunday at 10 a.m. The program is an entertaining, inspirational walk through the "Hall of Faith." It captures the personalities of ordinary people who accomplished extraordinary things during the 20 centuries of Christianity.

Patient should get results of all tests

DEAR DR. GOTT: In your practice, do you routinely give negative test results to your patients, or just results that are outside normal ranges? I find it disconcerting to pay for a test, then hear nothing from the doctor.

DEAR READER: I routinely report ALL test results, positive and negative, to patients. I do this because I believe patients deserve the courtesy of a follow-up, not simply a telephone call if something is amiss. I know that many doctors report only abnormal (positive) findings. This is pretty standard policy because it is easier for busy practitioners. But I don't agree with it. Since patients are paying for the tests (and worry about the outcome), they should be informed of the results.

There's also a practical consideration. Not hearing about your test may mean that it was OK — or that the lab lost it and never reported it to the doctor. This glitch was brought home to me early in my practice when I thought I was being smart and "modern" to give only positive results. I'd done a Pap test on a woman and told her I would report any abnormality. I took the slide to the lab ... and promptly forgot about it. Three weeks later, the patient called back to check on the results. I didn't have them; the lab had mislaid the slide. It taught me not to assume that the test had reached the lab.

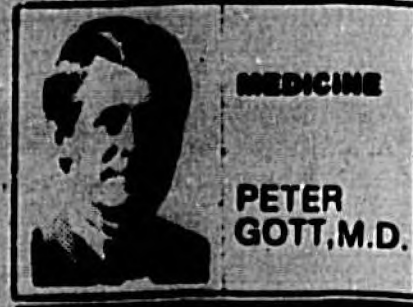

Therefore, I now report results and, I tell patients, if they don't hear from me within a week, call and bug me. It works. And, as you say, it's less disconcerting for patients.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please discuss diabetic neuropathy in your column.

DEAR READER: Diabetes usually accelerates arteriosclerosis, the age-related blockages in the arteries. The process may affect oxygen supply to nerves, notably in the legs and feet, leading to nerve malfunction (neuropathy); numbness, tingling, pain and weakness.

This complication of diabetes is very difficult to treat. Nerve symptoms may respond to better control of the diabetes. But the neuropathy often worsens, despite aggressive therapy. Recently, a new product, called Capsacin, shows promise in reducing the pain of diabetic neuropathy.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

It is often said that behind every successful man stands his wife, operating the rudder. I wonder if Ely Culbertson would have agreed with that. Ely is generally credited with making bridge internationally popular, but he definitely benefited from having a helpmate who was an excellent player. His wife, Josephine, was known as "the modern miracle — the woman who can play on even terms with the best men."

Today's deal comes from the celebrated match in 1935 between the Culbertsons and their archrivals, Dorothy and P. Hal Sims. Hal always boasted that his bidding system was better than the Culbertsons'. But this match suggested otherwise, the Culbertsons winning by 16,130 total points.

Nowadays the auction would have been different. North would not be strong enough for a reverse. Some would open one diamond, planning to rebid two clubs; others would rebid one no-trump or two clubs. Hal Sims might have passed over three no-trump, but he wanted his honor points.

Josephine Culbertson found a brave and brilliant lead (though if it had conceded the contract, no doubt other adjectives would have been selected). She led the spade four. Sims played low from the dummy and Ely won with the 10. Back came a club to West's ace. Now Josephine calmly placed the spade five on the table.

It is said that Sims, who claimed never to have misguessed a two-way finesse for a queen, glared at Josephine for a full minute. But eventually he called for the jack and lost the first four tricks.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Ouel
YOUR BIRTHDAY
 Dec. 7, 1991

You're likely to make a major change in direction in the year ahead that will turn out to be extremely worthwhile. Be patient, because your new course may not be evident to you immediately.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're likely to be lucky today — if you don't attempt to do things in a severely structured fashion. Leave room for friendly influences to operate. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your hopes and expectations have good chances of being fulfilled at this time, provided they're based upon practicality and not wishful thinking.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're now in a very fortuitous achievement cycle, and what you set your mind to can be done. The secret to your success lies in your ability to believe in yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Something for which you've been hoping might be denied you at this time, but it could turn out to be a blessing in disguise, although you may not realize this until later.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Ideas you're presently espousing are winning you the respect of your contemporaries, although this might not be totally apparent to you yet.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Any agreements you negotiate at this time have good probabilities for producing mutual benefits for all parties involved, provided they're predicated upon fairness.
