The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spirit-ual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor elvilization can survive. There every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's soke. (3) For the soke of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church Itself, though "it has been a long time . . . " these words will stretch across the miles and the fibres of this friendship

If you were never to write a letter you would lose touch with people who mean a great deal to you. By the same token, if you never were to go to church, you would fall to keep the fabric of your faith woven tight and strong. True, you might still believe firmly in God, but the affirmation and continued growth of this faith requires worship in His presence and in His house.

Thinking about a friend isn't the same thing as writing a letter to him - wanting to be in that person's presence. Believing in God isn't the same as professing that belief by attending church regularly.

leaver, much neaver, at home, however is the use of alarming and horrendous statistics disclosing the mounting rate of crime and what is becoming a serious over-taxing of the machinery to cope with this menace—call it what

It is obvious that the citizens can do little with the formaics involved in the former instance. But in the latter there is every opportun-stance. But in the latter there is every opportunity for Americans with a conscience to play a basic and challenging role.

Decades of research, inquiry and expert analysis have been devoted to the age-long contest between those who would be law-abiding and those who would live outside the law. In fact it cartesely could be deducted that some of the simple useds have been swamped with the lengthy reports absuming from such studies.

Perhaps the most useful attack on mounting crime can be staged in our homes. For it is there that the early training is given, not only by precept but more importantly by example.

But this is also the most difficult for it demands action on the part of every individual, mands action on the part of every individual, the acceptance and the demonstration within the family circle that observance of the law is not only right, but pays high dividends. And these are enjoyed not only by the persons adopting this attitude, but create the kind of climate which discourages lawlessness.
