Irene Dunne Stars At Ritz Sunday In Colorful Picture

Romantic, Exciting Plot Features 'High Wide, Handsome'

A romance flavored by the music of Jerome Kern, set in the colorful period of the middle West in Pennsylvania, is the theme of "High, Wide and Handsome," which comes Sunday to the Ritz Theater.

Book and lyrics were written by Oscar Hammerstein II, and the film was directed by Rouben Mamoulian.

In "High, Wide and Handsome" Irene Dunne is a young and high-spirited carnival singer while Randolph Scott is a young Pennsylvania farmer who has begun drifting for all in his farm, making the life of a hill in the country. These two, from widely different backgrounds, meet, fall in love, and marry. On their wedding day, all is discovered in Scott's past and he plunges into the development of his farm, finding but little time for his new wife.

Abandoned to an exciting and colorful life with the carnival, Miss Dunne soon finds her true existence a love, and her husband is greatly preoccupied and indifferent. Unable to reconcile herself to the dulling of the love to which she had dedicated her life, she runs off after a quarrel with Scott, and joins another carnival.

Scott, in the meantime, has been waging a war against railroad interests which threaten the independence of his group of hill farmers; and the huge influence and resources of his rivals have forced him into a position where his life is threatened.

Miss Dunne learns of her husband's (danger) and rushes back to his farm. Conflicts and hardships seem to have her love for Scott, she returns to him with her heart and is instructed to in his whole life.

"HIGH, WIDE AND HANDSOME"

Barbara Stanwyck And John Boles Play Lead At Ritz On Thursday In "Stella Dallas"

The Samuel Goldwyn production of "Stella Dallas," with Barbara Stanwyck in the title role, at the Ritz Theater Thursday and Friday, is a tense drama of a mother who sacrifices her own right to happiness for the sake of her daughter. It gives Miss Stanwyck the strongest role in her entire career and one which was coveted by every leading actress in Hollywood.

Co-starring with Miss Stanwyck is John Boles, with a distinguished supporting cast, including Anna Shirley, Alan Hale, Herbert O'Neil, Al Sherman, Billie Brown, Leonid Kinskey, and Shanon and Tim Holt, son of Jack Holt.

"Stella Dallas" is without doubt one of the most poignant and gripping stories ever to be filmed. It was originally a best-selling novel by Olive Higgins Reutsky, later a success on the Broadway stage and as a silent picture produced by Goldwyn twelve years ago, scored a sensational hit.

It brought to attention such stars as Constance Bennett, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who played his first adult role in the production, Lois Moran and Alice Joyce, Ronald Colman, whose picture career had just started, and Belle Bennett, in the characterization of the mother, was catapulted from obscurity into the star class by her performance.

In the new sound version Mr. Goldwyn has utilized every facility of his tremendous production resources in the creation of what is regarded as one of the more important pictures of the current season. Two of the land's finest writers, Sarah Mason and Victor Heerman, prepared the script, and the direction was in the hands of King Vidor, who made "Street Scene" for Mr. Goldwyn as well as a succession of other smash hits. "Stella Dallas" is released through United Artists.

PRINCIPALS IN THANKSGIVING FILM

Anne Shirley, John Boles and Barbara Stanwyck comprise this family group in the Samuel Goldwyn production, "Stella Dallas," attraction at the Ritz Theater Thursday and Friday. Tense drama develops when Barbara Stanwyck forfeits her right to her own child to insure her happiness.

DIETRICH AT RITZ IN "ANGEL"

The gorgeous Marlene Dietrich is lovelier than ever in her latest picture, "Angel," directed by Ernst Lubitsch, which appears Wednesday at the Ritz Theater.

Newspaper Film At Ritz Shows Power Of Press

"Back In Circulation" Stars Pat O'Brien And Joan Blondell

"Back In Circulation," a Warner Bros. production of the Cosmopolitan magazine story, "Angle Shooter" by Adela Rogers St. Johns and starring Pat O'Brien and Joan Blondell, is an engrossing newspaper drama, presenting a behind-the-scenes view of the ethics of news gathering and the power of the press over lives and reputations.

"Back In Circulation" is scheduled to have its first local showing Wednesday at the Ritz Theater.

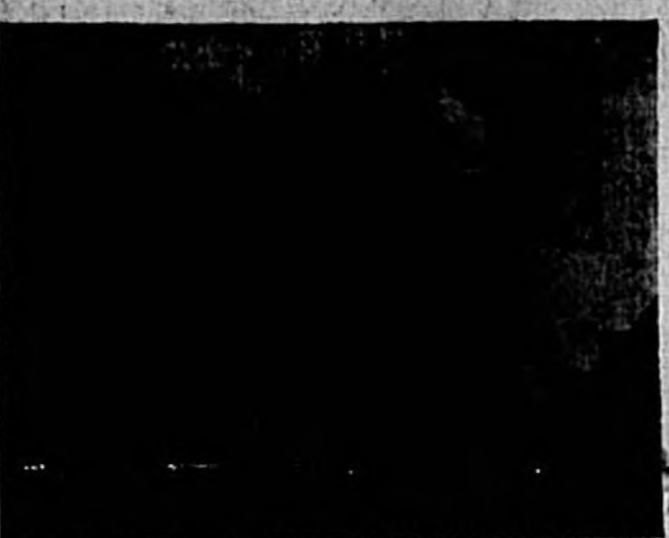

A spectacular train wreck provides a thrilling introduction to the murder mystery elements of the swiftly paced narrative that follows. The photoplay presents a new and exciting characterization by Joan Blondell, as a smart girl reporter who takes keen professional pride in her job.

The story revolves around the death, under mysterious circumstances, of a millionaire. This becomes known, through an anonymous letter, to Pat O'Brien, editor of a metropolitan tabloid newspaper.

Spelling sensational news, he assigns his star reporter to investigate. Amassing a damning amount of circumstantial evidence, the widow of the seemingly murdered man, portrayed by Margaret Lindsay, is brought to trial. Refusing to enter any defense to the charge, she is found guilty, chiefly on the strength of the stories published by the news sheets.

Amidst the melodramatic involvements of the murder, Joan Blondell, although her abilities have been the moving influence in the production, is denied woman's innocence.

Russia Alarmed In East, Withdraws From Spain Fight

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Russia, alarmed by the threat to her Far Eastern frontier as a result of Japanese victories in China, has informed the Spanish Loyalist government that she is withdrawing material support, it was reported last night.

The Loyalist regime at Barcelona has been told, it was said, that Russia's role in Spain must be liquidated because of "growing preoccupations" with events in the Far East.

Other factors which caused the reported Soviet decision, it was learned, were Moscow's dissatisfaction of the position of the Spanish Communist party, the group which Russia has been supporting in the coalition of parties which forms the Loyalist regime. Moscow was reported to feel there is no hope that the communists could gain control of the Spanish government even if the Loyalists were completely defeated.

15 Japs Seize Keystone City Without Fight

Chinese government officials reiterated their determination to resist the Japanese to the last man. Chungking, on the meandering Yangtze River west of here, is about 750 miles farther inland.

Sochow, the pivotal stronghold of China's "Hindenburg line" between here and Shanghai, fell to the Japanese after a fierce bombardment. The Japanese said the Chinese army was retreating in confusion from the city. Both ends of the "Hindenburg Line" also were turned by the advancing Japanese.

Today was the one-hundredth day of the Japanese-Chinese war. There was some division of sentiment here about the defense of the capital city. Some elements urged the Chinese army to retreat so as to spare the city from destruction. Others, including high Chinese army officials, insisted every effort should be made to defend the city.

Meanwhile Chinese reinforcements continued to come up from the west and preparations went on for a "last man" stand here. In North China, another army continued to resist the Japanese advances and to defend Tainanfu, the capital of Shantung province, the only provincial capital uncaptured in the Japanese northern conquest.

Japanese Urge Chinese Chief To Surrender

Message Is Dropped From Airplanes Asking End To War And Decrying Resistance

Japs At Shanghai Defy Foreigners

Britain, France And U. S. Hit In Move To Seize Customs

SHANGHAI, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Japan urged Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek today to surrender. The message was dropped to him by Japanese airmen making their first flight over Nanking since the government announced its transfer from the capital to Chungking about 1,000 miles farther inland.

No bombs were dropped—the only message urging cessation of the hostilities. Chinese pursuit planes attacked the Japanese fliers, nevertheless, engaging them in spectacular dogfights over Nanking. One unidentified plane was ing. One unidentified plane crashed.

The Japanese airmen apparently trying to determine the strength of the remaining Chinese air force, were taken by surprise. The mysterious message "advised" Chiang to end China's resistance and to surrender himself to the Japanese.

The Japanese army threatened today to seize all Chinese government institutions in Greater Shanghai defying Britain, France, the United States and other powers interested in the international areas of this war-ravaged city.

The Japanese already had seized more than 30 Chinese vessels in the International Settlement, including ships of the maritime customs, and pressed into service Chinese members of their crews. The ships will transport supplies to the Japanese armies west of Shanghai now fighting their way to Nanking, Nanking, the former national capital, was virtually deserted after removal of the government to Chungking, Hankow and other cities deep in the interior. U. S. Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson and heads of other diplomatic establishments were leaving for Hankow tomorrow.

Advertise Old Goods And Help Business

The exchange of commodities is what is commonly known as business. When this exchange is rapid, business is said to be good; when it is slow, business is bad. One of the greatest handicaps to an exchange of new commodities is the difficulty of disposing of used goods.

The automobile dealer can't sell many new cars unless he finds a buyer for the customer's old car; a man in the market for a new radio or a new refrigerator can hardly be sold unless some disposition can be made of the old ones; a hunter who would like to buy a new gun hesitates because the old one will still be on his hands.

The list could be added to indefinitely, but this would gain us nothing. What is important is for people to realize that through a more rapid exchange of used goods there will follow a quickened sale of new products. Both the individual and the merchant stand to gain.

The best way to speed up the exchange of used goods and thereby keep the economic blood stream is to advertise in the classified section of The Sanford Herald. A wider use of this medium will result in more prosperity for every one.

FIGHTING IRISH BLANK CADETS BY 7 TO 0

Literally rolling across the goal line is Notre Dame's Smonich (right) after he had plunged four yards for the only Irish touchdown against Army at the Yankee Stadium in New York. Though the Ramblers from South Bend won by only 7 to 0, they so completely outclassed their rivals that the cadets were able to cross midfield only twice, and made but three first downs to Notre Dame's 10.

Final pre-campaign preparations for the annual Christmas Seal Sale which opens Thanksgiving Day are being completed by members of the Seminole County Tuberculosis and Health Association, Mrs. Volie Williams, president of the Association, revealed today.

A large part of this 54 percent is used to make tests in order to diagnose tuberculosis.

Celery Feds Prepare For Leesburg Game

Coach Leonard McLucas today started his Seminole High School Celery Feds drilling for their annual Turkey Day tilt against Coach Bob Lockett's Leesburg Jacks to be played Thursday in Leesburg on the High School Athletic Field.

McLucas' boys, who were defeated by a 20 to 7 score at the hands of St. Augustine last Friday evening, are in good condition for their next game but still the loss of Leon Lawson at right half is being felt by the eleven. Douglas Stenstrom, running mate of Lawson, played all but four minutes of the St. Augustine tilt and made a creditable showing but still did not take the place of Lawson.

Duc De Guise Seeks Crown Of Paris Kings

Foreign Powers Seen In Plot To Overthrow Government Of French Republic

PARIS, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Duc de Guise, pretender to the throne of France, issued a manifesto distributed in Paris today announcing that he had decided "to reconquer the throne of my fathers."

The 5000 word manifesto left no doubt that the pretender, now living in exile in Belgium, planned a pacific conquest. It caused intense excitement, however, among the French royalists.

The manifesto was distributed as government agents were ferreting out what appeared to be plot to overthrow the republic and had added the job of tracing the whereabouts of the Count of Paris, the Duke's son.

The Count left Versoix, Switzerland late yesterday after Swiss federal police "invited" him and group of his followers to leave the country on the ground he was carrying on political activity.

Belief that a foreign power is involved in the plots against the government by the "Cagouards" (the hooded ones), was expressed last night by Albert Riviere, minister of pensions, as police seized additional arms and ammunition from the organization's hidden stores.

Sections of the press made the same accusation and the communist newspaper L'Humanite carried headlines reading: "Orders came from Rome and Berlin."

Police continued their raids from Belgium to Marseilles. Riviere, speaking at a meeting in Paris, said: "Mr. Guise will not admit the slightest blow at their legitimate liberties. Capable of defending themselves against all internal machinations, they rise up unanimously against all foreign interference."

The Paris Solr said: "Public opinion is unanimous on this point; those abroad who do not like us have already used this affair—which they no doubt provoked—as a pretext for perfidious attacks."

Arrest of Moreau de la Meuse, an industrialist suspected of having aided the Cagouards in obtaining arms, was the chief development of the past 24 hours, but police activity continued unabated.

On orders from Paris, a villa at Caen was searched this morning and a machine gun and 24 pistols were found.

Vegetable Crops In Seminole Hurt By Cold Weather

Celery, Cabbage And Citrus Escape In Plunge Of Mercury

The coldest weather of the season gripped Sanford and Seminole County over the week-end and sent shivers down the spines of localities.

The mercury dropped to 39 Saturday night but a low of 35 degrees was recorded by G. P. Paxton local meteorologist, the following night.

Fall crops such as beans, squash and tomatoes were reported, a total loss but small celery, cabbage and other similar crops were apparently undamaged by the cold blasts from the northwest.

The citrus, too, the Herald was reliably informed, escaped any appreciable damage. However, grove owners were in readiness to start smudge pots in their groves if plunging temperatures went too low.

Thermometers dropped to 23 degrees in extreme north Florida but first reports indicated only minor damage to truck crops and little or no damage to oranges, grapefruit and tangerines in that section.

State marketing officials said, however, that several days may be needed to determine crop losses. The weather bureau forecast was fair and slightly warmer for tonight and increasing cloudiness and warmer for Tuesday.

Defendants Post Bonds Of $1,500

Jarrell Indicted For Operating Lottery; Kinlaw For Selling

Joseph W. Jarrell and Stinson Kinlaw were indicted by the Seminole County Grand Jury today in connection with the lottery racket which has been under investigation by the body for the past week. The Grand Jury is still in session and it was emphasized today that it has only partly completed its work, indicating that other indictments may be expected to follow.

Jarrell was indicted on six counts for operating a lottery for money while Kinlaw's indictment was based on the sale and transmission of lottery tickets for money. The penalty for conviction of the first offense avoided by law consists of a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $5,000, or imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten; and for conviction of the latter offense, a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $2,000, or imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than five.

In submitting its report, the Grand Jury said that there are many places of legitimate business in Seminole County where the sale of lottery tickets is permitted on their premises and "that the sale of these lottery tickets is now being conducted so publicly and extensively as to contaminate not only the entire City of Sanford but the entire County of Seminole as well."

The Grand Jury urged law enforcement officers of Sanford and Seminole to make every effort possible "to ascertain and (Continued on page three)

First Dividend In 5 Years Declared By Power Company

The Florida Power & Light Company today declared a dividend of $1.75 per share of its $7.00 preferred stock payable December 21st to stock holders of record as of the close of business on December 15.

Bryan C. Hanks, President of the Company, stated that the substantial increase in business in the area served by the company and recent freedom from hurricane losses have made this dividend possible.

Mr. Hanks expressed pleasure that the company could pay this dividend to its preferred stock holders of whom several thousand live in Florida, and to whom no dividends have been paid for the last five years. He said that if business continues good in Florida and if the Miami Rate Case is disposed of, as has been indicated recently by Miami officials it is hoped that the company may be able to determine a more definite dividend policy than circumstances in the past have permitted.

Celery Feds Commended

We wonder how many Herald readers noticed the letter of commendation in Saturday night's paper from the principal of the Bolles school in Jacksonville who praised the Celery Feds and their coaches for their sportsmanship in a recent game.

"We only hope," wrote T. R. Hyde, head master of the Bolles school, several days after the game, "that all of the teams we play will be as gentlemanly, and show as fine a spirit as your boys have shown. We certainly wish to congratulate you on this condition."

That is a splendid tribute to the local football team. Coming from the head master of the school, and after a game in which his outfit was on the little end of the score, it is particularly significant.

Football players, real heroes in the eyes of most undergraduates, and many other persons as well, should try to think of themselves as ambassadors of goodwill whenever they are entertaining a visiting team, or are themselves being entertained in some other city.

It is of course a fine thing to have a winning team. Everyone likes to see the local boys come out on top, but of infinitely more importance, it seems to us, is the establishment of a reputation for a high type of sportsmanship.

As Grantland Rice once said, the thing that counts is not whether you won or lost, but how you played the game.

School Funds

A recent report from the Florida Industrial Commission reveals that the State of Florida now has on deposit with the Treasurer of the United States the tidy little sum of $2,125,000. This money is invested in government bonds, and presumably will be returned to Florida after 1942, when, as, and if any unemployment develops in this state.

It is interesting to note that Florida has $2,125,000 on deposit with the federal treasury, especially in view of the fact that the State Comptroller has just announced a great shortage in the school fund, and reveals that school teachers won't get their December pay checks unless the individual counties are able to raise the money through means of their own.

And so while Florida taxpayers struggle under the burden of exorbitant taxes, we still haven't enough cash on hand to pay our school teachers next month, although we have on deposit with the federal government $2,125,000 with which to provide unemployment relief, some day, if, as, and when.

The Chance You Take

Most parents seeing boys gamble, will either take punitive action or shake their heads and ease the situation by comment to the effect that gambling is an instinct, that instincts are a part of human nature, that you can't change human nature.

He went to police headquarters, secured a confiscated gambling device, and had it set up in the mathematics room of his school. Then he arranged with the mathematics instructor to work up a problem involving the law of mathematical probability.

They learned, for example, that a player hits the "jack pot" once in 4,000 times. At a nickel a "throw," that meant it would cost $200 to win $5. They learned also that the next highest "payoff" was once in 2,000 plays, and made it cost $100 to win $1.

Probably Dr. Gulick smiled a bit—to himself. Perhaps he made a few notes for a book on boy psychology. But anyway, it is reported that gambling isn't so popular in his school as once it was.—Rotarian Magazine.

"TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY"

Disappointment awaited those who attended the annual convention of the Florida State Press Association at Tallahassee last week who went expecting it to be "just another convention."

President Bob Sikes, Simon Leacock and other politicians in their own blizzard by ruling "no politics" and making it stick. Instead, newspaper men, untroubled by oratorical sophistry, talked newspapers and newspaper problems—then, hearts content.

Gilbert Freeman and his able co-workers staged a glorious reception dinner with skits and stunts that ribbed political blizzards from the Supreme Court and the governor on down again.

They, from an atmosphere of hilarious mirth, Clayton Rand, a country boy from Alabama, speaking as a newspaperman to another, held his audience enthralled as he painted a word picture of current American problems and pointed out the place publishers hold in relation to their solution.

His talk was the outstanding event of the convention and the constructive and inspirational thoughts he advanced should provide Florida editors with editorial ideas for a long time to come.

Praising the national administration for its action in bringing some semblance of order out of chaos in 1932, he contended that the government should have stopped there.

Termining "American Business" large and small, the fountain head and corruption upon which the nation as a whole must stand or fall, he pointed out that business, having lost both prestige and power, was easily made the scapegoat for every social ill and economic evil.

Business was forced to mark time in a chaotic world while the federal government, with its easy access to borrowed millions, invaded the precincts of private enterprise and punished business for its sins of commission as well as omission.

Now it is a strange anomaly, not in keeping with the American tradition, that the fear of millions of American business men today is no longer the fear of the mob, the thief or the foreign foe, but fear of government itself.

It knows about burglary—the Gary Coopers and Hal Roach of the jewelry store, can give fresh first-hand information; Mae West is the colony's leading authority on the hold-up (receiving end); but the major fear in these parts, in the crime line, remains the kidnaper.

More than 20 screen celebrities have received threatening letters or phone calls in the past year. In every case police guards have been assigned, and usually—when extortion was attempted through the mails—the federal men have stepped in.

These precautions may explain why there have been no actual kidnappings. In fact, as police statisticians point out in their 1936-37 report, there have been no kidnappings for ransom in the entire Los Angeles community in the period.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

WASHINGTON—Without much talk about it, the treasury is giving study to the problem of reducing income tax rates in the higher brackets, revising the capital gains tax and modifying as well the tax schedule in the 1938 undistributed profits tax.

A primary reason is the complaint reaching treasury executives increasing force, that the man of large means cannot operate in the market because he is fenced in so effectively by taxes that he prefers to sit tight. It has been called a "capital strike."

When the rich man stays out of the market, does little speculating to earn fat profits and otherwise pulls his neck under his shirt, his outlay for taxes is less. And further, his capital is idle, or partly so. The result is that the long train of new business that fresh capital starts when invested in industry is absent. And that means more taxes the government doesn't get, and less recovery for the country.

To one treasury official we posed this proposition: Take a rich man. His earnings already are so high that if he makes any more money it will fall in the 75 percent bracket of the income tax law. In other words, 75 percent of his next earnings will go to the government.

During the summer—before the recent market drop—there comes to that rich man an opportunity to invest in securities to expand a certain business. If successful, the expansion promises in a few years to pay good dividends and the securities will increase in value. If it is a flop, he loses his money.

In order to raise capital to invest in these new securities, the rich man must sell some stocks he sought several months earlier. They have increased handsomely in value. If he sells them, 75 percent of this increase will go to the government. Moreover, so "thin" is the buying power in the market that if he offers a large block of stock the price will sag and the receipts will be diminished.

Will he nevertheless sell this block of safe stock, turn over to the government 75 percent of the gain in its value, sustain a further loss on the stock market, and then risk the remainder in a speculative business that may or may not pay out at all?

And the treasury official replied that the rich man probably would keep his money in the sound stocks. He assured that treasury officials do not say directly what will be done about it. But that practical situation, albeit in modified form in most instances, is what some treasury officials suspect occurred.

These city statisticians, assembled by Mrs. Rhoads Cross, official statistician, would seem to blow down another Hollywood legend—that Hollywood is the mecca of missing small-town girls. The statistics have no department devoted to those lured here by movie glamour, unless these would come under "adventure-seekers."

In this category, among 644 juvenile girls, were listed only 14. Among older women rounded up here the big cause for landing in Los Angeles or Hollywood was "mental imbalance"—which might or might not have some connection with the movie.

"It's just a myth," Mrs. Cross says, "about girls being lured here by the movies. There has been too much publicity about the facility of coming to Hollywood and trying to break in."

The recognition of this problem is in part what is prompting treasury consideration of modifications of the capital gains tax and the high income tax brackets. Other factors are inviting them also to look critically at the corporate undistributed profits tax.

They may not act sweepingly in all fields, but odds are good around here that something affecting these matters will be recommended to congress.

Commission Opens Park To Business

Three To Two Vote Is Seen As Virtually Rescinding Previous Filling Station Bar

Avenue Opened South To Tenth

WPA Projects Talked Include Beautification Of Lake Front

The City Commissioners voted 3 to 2 in favor of opening Park Avenue to business development as far south as Tenth Street in their regular meeting in the City Hall last night, probably ending a controversy of several months in which residents bitterly opposed the intrusion of business into the residential district.

The controversy started when the Sinclair Oil Company asked permission of the Commissioners to erect a filling station at the corner of Park Avenue and Eighth Street. The permit was refused but later the question arose of whether or not the City should "as a matter of policy" open the street for business development of any kind and in view of the Board's action last night it is expected that they will rescind their previous action regarding the filling station.

The reconsideration of the matter at the meeting last night was the result of the appearance of Henry Watson, who told the Board that the property had been sold and that the plans of the City Commission would be carried out immediately.

After a motion was made to open Park Avenue to business, A. W. Lee, M. J. Lodge, and W. E. Dupree voted affirmatively but Mayor Edward Higgins and Commissioner W. A. Laffler, who previously stated their opposition to the move, voted no.

Discussion of proposed WPA projects occupied a large part of the meeting during which City Engineer Fred T. Williams tendered estimates on the construction of a trailer camp west of Cloud Branch with a boat basin, improvement to Park Avenue from Tenth to Twenty-third Streets, to Union Avenue and also to a portion of Oak Ave.

Supper was served by members of the Women's Guild.

Mr. Meisch described the rapidly diminishing supply of game and fish in Florida and attributed the decline to the greed of certain hunters and fishermen who disregard the laws of the State and the unscrupulousness of certain politicians who have to do with the enactment of such legislation or with its enforcement later.

Senate Goes To Work On Farm Plans

Administration Leaders Abandon Hope Of Getting Wage-Hour Bill To Floor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. — (AP) — The Senate went to work on long-range farm legislation today after side-tracking the anti-lynching bill. As it did so, Administration leaders—trying to push forward with the President's program on another front—abandoned hope of getting the wages and hours bill from the House Rules Committee.

The committee has refused since last summer to let the House consider the labor measure. During the day the House sub-committee agreed tentatively to complete the revision of the corporate tax system. It would provide abandonment of the undistributed profits and levies on corporations with incomes of $25,000 or less and with modifications on incomes greater than that.

The farm bill providing for surplus crop control was called up in the Senate as soon as Senator Wagner, New York Democrat, withdrew his motion to take up the anti-lynching legislation. The latter measure has had the Senate tied up in a filibuster.

After the House met Chairman O'Connor, New York Democrat of the House Rules Committee announced that his group had refused to let the wage-hour measure come out to the floor.
