Chamber plans breakfast meeting

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce will hold its next breakfast meeting this Wednesday. The gathering will be at Heathrow County Club.

Guest speaker is Glen Howard, with I.B.M. According to Executive Director Diane Parker, "Mr. Howard is to discuss faxes without a Fax machine, how to talk to someone through your computer, and new innovations in computers."

The breakfast starts at 8 a.m., with a $2 charge per person. The meeting is open to all members of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, their guests, and persons interested in becoming a member of the Chamber.

For further information, call the Chamber office at 333-4748.

Overtaken truck causes I-4 tie up

LAKE MARY — An overturned truck caused a traffic tie up shortly after noon yesterday, on Interstate 4. The incident occurred just west of the Lake Mary interchange.

Lake Mary police handled the case. An initial report indicated the truck had overturned in the west bound lane of the highway at approximately 12:20 p.m., blocking traffic in that direction for the next several hours.

The police however, would not immediately reveal any additional information, or release the identity of the driver.

The truck is believed to have been a rental vehicle. The driver apparently did not require hospitalization. One witness reported the truck was able to drive off under its own power after being righted.

Hunter stuck in mud for 21 hours

UNIONTOWN, Pa. — If a man sinks in the mud in the forest and nobody's there to hear him scream, should he make a sound?

George Zubeck yelled. In fact, he yelled himself hoarse in his 21 hours in a sticky prison on some state game lands southeast of Pittsburgh. He was in mud up to his knees, his waist and his torso at different times in the ordeal.

Before he was rescued by a logging crew Monday, the 39-year-old turkey hunter also wriggled like a worm, managed to get a full night's sleep and talked to himself.

In an telephone interview from his hospital bed, where he was wrapped in white sheets hours after mud had caked his clothes, Zubeck said he was scouting for good hunting spots Sunday afternoon and thought he'd only get his boots dirty in the remote bog in Wharton Township, Fayette County.

Wells survives cut

By VICKI DeSormier
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The list of applicants for superintendent of Seminole County schools has been narrowed to 20 and soon will be cut to five.

Acting Supt. Richard Wells is among the finalists.

The citizen's committee to select the new superintendent for the Seminole County School District met Monday night and selected 14 nominees from the 151 applications received.

That list will be combined with a list prepared by Wayne Blanton, chairman of the Florida School Board Association and consultant to the Seminole County School District in the superintendent search, and narrowed to the top five selections during another meeting on Wednesday.

Nine of those on the committee's list were also on Blanton's list, making a total of 20.

"I'm pleased that we were able to agree on nine already," Larry Strickler, chairman of the citizens committee said Monday after the meeting. The superintendent search committee is comprised of business leaders, parents, and school district administrators. It was selected to help the board get input from a broad spectrum of the community.

The committee met for only a few hours Monday night and was quickly able to narrow their selection.

"We didn't have much trouble at all," Strickler said.

The selection committee did not use Blanton's list as a guide.

"These were our selections," Strickler said.

SANFORD — Construction of the new U.S. Highway 17-92 high-rise bridge over the St. Johns River is scheduled to begin by October.

Next Tuesday, the St. Johns River Water Management District will consider issuing two permits for the $12 million bridge project at their monthly meeting in Palatka.

Bids for the construction of the 45-foot-high bridge will be opened June 17, said Steve Homan, spokesman for the Florida Department of Transportation district office in DeLand. Following a 45-day review period, bid will be awarded. Construction typically begins within about 90 days after the award, said Homan.

Lake Mary to discuss drainage

By NICK PFERFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The big issue of paving and drainage will be one of the items to face the Lake Mary City Commission this Thursday. Not only will decisions need to be made on how to accomplish it, but how to finance it.

If the project would be approved as presently conceived, it would handle paving and drainage needs throughout the city, at a cost of slightly more than $5 million.

Lake Mary Mayor Randy Morris explained, "Paving and drainage have been coming up for discussion for the past two years." He added, "Last summer, by a three to two vote, the Commission decided not to move forward on the total plan."

Yard waste on the increase

By J. MARK BARFIELD

SANFORD — Curbside recycling efforts dipped slightly in February from January, but yard waste recycling continues to "grow."

A total of 4,675 tons — nearly 9.4 million pounds — of waste was recycled by residents and businesses, according to a report released last week by the Seminole County recycling office.

The amount of yard waste separated by residents continues to increase. In January, 1,115 tons of grass clippings and other yard trash was recycled. In February, 2,133 tons were collected from unincorporated areas and the seven cities.

Sanford increased its yard waste collection from 638 tons in January to 1,012 tons in February. Only Sanford and Altamonte Springs have their own yard

Grove reports a positive influence

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

MIDWAY — Officials with The Grove Counseling Center say the early indications are good for an experimental drug counseling program located in Midway.

"We're very excited about the program," said Larry Visser, executive director of The Grove.

Since last October, the Grove's Midway TCEP at 2300 Randall St.

has treated 40 youths in both residential and day-patient programs. Approximately 70 additional youths have attended TCEP prevention programs in elementary and middle schools, said TCEP director Joe Lipuma.

Since that time, most of the youths that have passed through the program have returned to school or gotten jobs.

"The worst kids that we have sent there," said Seminole County

Circuit Judge Leonard V. Wood.

"You can't expect miracles. If we can save a certain percentage, then we've accomplished a lot. I'm behind the program any way I can."

"It's very hard to judge success," said Lipuma. "But in most of the people that have come through here, we have tipped an interest in completing school or going to work. If you consider that a success factor, then yes, I'd say it's been successful. Now whether they are drug-free, who's to say?"

TCEP — therapeutic community enrichment program — is an experiment of the Florida Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services to provide drug counseling in the community. Visser said the idea is to treat troubled youths in their communities where they can receive support from their parents and neighbors. The Grove has received $300,000 to operate the

Lake Mary charter study gets underway

By NICK PFERFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Work toward an extensive study of the Lake Mary City Charter got underway last night. The study will continue through late May.

While some discussions started last night, much of the meeting was centered on establishing rules of procedure and methods for the study.

The committee consists of five members appointed by individual City Commissioners. They are: John McMenamy, Sheila Sawyer, Thomas Powers, William Greene and Thomas Mahoney. Additionally, the chairpersons from the three city boards were included. J. Craig Spearman of the Business Advisory Board, Lowry Rockett of Planning and Zoning, and John Hauck of the Board of Adjustment.

Rockett was elected as chairman, with McMenamy named vice chairman.

City Attorney Ned Julian was on hand to instruct the members regarding legal requirements, especially as they concerned the Sunshine Law.

Committee member Spearman commented, "We have decided to meet every Monday evening until we have finished." He added, "Each of our meetings is to be in an informal format, with citizen input allowed at every meeting."

Prior to the meeting, Mayor Randy Morris had

POLICE BRIEFS

Marijuana growers arrested

Longwood police arrested Linda Lou Syac, 41, and James Malcolm Lewis, 44, of 358 Palmetto Avenue in Longwood on Saturday. Police responding to a call about a domestic dispute, reported discovering a pot of marijuana growing in the living room, as well as some cigarettes and other drug related items. Each of the two was charged with possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of marijuana, cultivating marijuana, and domestic violence battery. The two were taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility under $3,000 bond.

Theft case believed solved

Seminole County Sheriff's deputies arrested Christopher Earl Beard, 20, of 409 W. Crystal Drive, Sanford. The arrest was made Friday, following an intensive investigation. When Beard responded to a request for an interview at the Seminole Sheriff's Department office, deputies report he admitted to the theft, March 25, of $75,000 worth of baseball cards and $1,700 cash from the home of Chris Klein, 120 Dublin Drive, Lake Mary. Deputies believe he was also connected with the theft of $200 in currency on March 18, at 107 Pine Lake Drive. He was charged with petit theft, burglary, and grand theft.

Intoxication charged

Sanford Police arrested Robbie Spivey, 31, of Cocoa Beach on Friday. Spivey was found with a friend, pushing a stalled pickup truck at 1st Street and Peralimmon Avenue. Following an investigation, police charged Spivey with disorderly intoxication.

Woman trespasser arrested

Tammy Peterson, 28, of 1212 W. 13th Street, was arrested by Sanford Police Saturday. Officers answering a call regarding a disturbance at #9, William Clark Court, said the woman refused to leave the area where she had apparently once lived. She was charged with trespassing after a warning.

Disturbance brings warrant arrest

Sanford police responded to a disturbance call Saturday, at 14th and Valencia in Sanford. The caller reported someone was in possession of a handgun. Although no gun was reported found, Darryll Eugene Privett, 29 of Oviedo, was arrested on an outstanding Volusia County warrant charging him with violation of parole following a conviction of battery to a law enforcement officer.

Vehicle stop brings drug arrest

Lake Mary Police arrested Larry Carl Miller, 1215 S. Pine Ridge Circle, Sanford on Saturday. Officers stopped his van for speeding on Rinehart Road. Police reported a check of the vehicle uncovered what was later proved to be cannabis. Miller was charged with possession of less than 20 grams of cannabis, and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Incidents reported to Sheriff

The following incidents have been reported to the Seminole County Sheriff's Department:

- A 1991 Ford, reported as stolen from James Johnson, 208 S. Sunland Drive, was located Saturday in a field south of Yankee Lake in Sanford. The car was determined by deputies to be a total loss, as it had been destroyed by a fire.
- Slightly less than $2,000 worth of tools and a 10 drawer tool box were reported taken from the residence of James A. Mason, 3525 S. Sipes Avenue Sunday.
- A 1987 Chevrolet was reported taken from Prestige Cars, 683 Highway 17-92 in Longwood sometime Saturday. The business is owned by James Heasinger of Lake Mary.
- Sheriff's deputies are investigating a report from Gregory Williams, 500 Airport Boulevard. Williams reportedly told deputies he had given a man a ride to the Midway area for $5. When he arrived at his destination, he told officers two men approached him from between two buildings, struck him several times, and drove off in his vehicle, leaving him unconscious on the ground. The car was identified as a 1984 Honda Accord. Williams was treated for his injuries and released from the Central Florida Regional Hospital.
- Charity L. Esclavon, 4025 Honey Bee Point, Sanford, reported her home had been burglarized Saturday. She told officers her mother was in the house at the time but did not see or hear anything. Only one item, a shotgun, was discovered missing.

Seminole loses VA hospital

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A last-ditch $2 million effort by Seminole County commissioners to draw a 470-bed Veteran's Administration hospital to a site straddling the Seminole-Orange County line near Oviedo failed this morning with the announcement that a VA site team had chosen a 78-acre site near Orlando Regional Airport.

"I'm a little disappointed we didn't get the Seminole-Orange site," said county commission chairman Bob Sturm. "But I'm pleased the Orange County site was chosen over Brevard County."

In a statement this morning, U.S. Rep Bill McCollum, R-Longwood, said he was pleased with the choice. McCollum had favored a site at the Orlando Naval Training Center.

"I have long been a proponent of placing the hospital in Orange County and this selection has vindicated our efforts," said

McCollum. "It's a great day for central Florida veterans."

Local site supporters had sought to entice VA interest for a 180-acre donated site near University of Central Florida split equally between Orange and Seminole Counties. In a hastily-called meeting Monday, county commissioners put up a $2 million pledge to boost an earlier $3 million Orange County pledge to the balance in favor of the University site.

More journalists due for inspection of Sanford

SANFORD — Travel writers from around the nation are expected to be touring Sanford starting this weekend. The press tour is the second of its kind this year in the local area.

As part of a promotional effort, Geiger and Associates, a public relations firm, brings groups of travel writers into Florida, offering them trips to communities that may be of interest to them.

While specific travel arrangements are still to be finalized for the group, the tentative time period for the Sanford visit is between Friday, April 3 and Tuesday, April 7.

According to Geiger's Cathy Butler, "Once again, many have specifically chosen Sanford as the area in which they feel would be of most interest to his and her readers."

When the tour was first held in January, only three of the writers selected the Sanford area. "This time," Butler said, "we have a total of ten who have selected activities in Sanford."

Among the group are travel writers who's work appears in Parents Magazine, Southern Living, Travel South, and a number of newspapers from as far away as New York, Nashville and San Antonio.

During the three days in Sanford Butler said the group will tour the Central Florida Zoo, take a luncheon cruise aboard the Grand Romance, visit Katie's Landing and Flea World.

They will also go houseboating, courtesy of Sanford Boat Rentals, take the St. Johns River nature cruise, and dine at Christo's Classics and the Lake Monroe Holiday Inn.

Some of the writers will also participate in a walking tour of the downtown Sanford area.

Grindle considers Sanford location to sell used autos

By NICK PFEIFAUPE
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission will meet this Thursday. Two of the four items on the agenda are public hearings regarding auto sales operations. The third item involves three new buildings planned for Loch Lowe Prep School.

Items scheduled on the agenda for the meeting include the following:

• Albert Chiodi, representing Arthur E. and Phyllis Grindle, is seeking a conditional use for property at 4201 Orlando Drive. The area is zoned General Commercial, GC-2. Grindle proposes to establish a used automobile sales and service.

The property is located across from the Holiday House restaurant on Highway 17-92. It is near Flea World. Other similar businesses are also in the immediate area, including Aristocrat Volkswagen auto dealers and Budget Car Sales.

Considering the adjacent uses, Jay Marder, Sanford's director of Planning and Development, is recommending approval of the request.

• Gary and Diana Mincer are requesting a conditional use for property located at 1807 S. French Avenue, also a General Commercial Zoning district. They propose to use the property for automobile and truck sales.

Mincer Motors is already in operation at 1809 French Avenue. Sanford City Planner Jay Marder indicated the conditional use is planned for expansion of the business.

Astronauts measuring star light

Associated Press

SPACE CENTER, Houston — Atlantis' astronauts today measured the energy emitted by the star nearest Earth, after taking a star turn at the Academy Awards with a videotaped salute to "Star Wars" creator George Lucas.

A Belgian instrument aboard the shuttle gauged how much radiation from the sun was reaching the atmosphere. Researchers hope to establish an accurate standard for this measurement to help analyze long-term trends in solar output and the Earth's climate.

Even slight variations in the temperature of the atmosphere caused by changes in the amount of solar radiation the Earth receives or absorbs could mean drastic climate changes, possibly including droughts and little ice ages.

Dominique Crommelynck, principal investigator for the experiment, told astronaut Dirk Frimout this morning that the instrument is returning "very good results." Both men are Belgians, and Frimout, a physicist, is the first from his country to fly in space.

On Monday, Lucas, who received an honorary Oscar on Monday night, was hailed by the orbiting crew members "an explorer in his own right." The astronauts flipped through the weightlessness of the shuttle cabin an Oscar they took aboard.

"The imagination and ingenuity that have turned dreams into the reality of space flight are no different than those which turn ideas and inspiration into motion pictures," commander Charles Bolden Jr. said.

Veto showdown

A showdown is looming between President Bush and spendthrift Democrats in Congress over the line-item veto.

The Senate recently rejected a measure sponsored by conservative Republicans that would formally accede to the chief executive more control over spending. In response, the White House is hinting that Mr. Bush may unilaterally exercise a line-item veto and let the issue be resolved once and for all by the Supreme Court.

Constitutional scholars are divided on whether the president already possesses line-item veto authority. In fact, Attorney General William Barr testified at his Senate confirmation hearing that he found "no basis for an inherent line-item veto in the Constitution."

Others, like Rep. Tom Campbell, R-Calif., a former Stanford law professor, disagree. They cite the "presentment" clause of the Constitution, which requires that every individual bill passed by Congress be presented to the president for his approval or rejection.

Congress circumvents this constitutional requirement by folding various unrelated measures into omnibus spending bills, in effect forcing the president to approve on an indiscriminate basis both worthy spending items and wasteful ones.

This abrogation of constitutional checks and balances was dramatized by Ronald Reagan six years ago when he held up a 43-pound, 3,296-page omnibus bill that had been presented to him by Congress. He either had to sign it or plunge the federal government into chaos by vetoing it.

Is this good government? That is the question President Bush should raise as he stumps for the line-item veto.

Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W. Va., the intractable chairman of the Appropriations Committee, promises the mother of all battles if the president pushes too hard for the veto. "One man's pork is another man's job," says Byrd, who has carved out $1.5 billion worth of pork for his home state during the last three years.

But the line-item veto is a winning political issue for Mr. Bush. Polls consistently show that more than two-thirds of the American people support this authority for the president. Surveys also show that many Americans are irate about Washington's profligate spending and runaway debt.

After all, why should taxpayers pick up the tab for such questionable spending as $1.7 million to alter genetically Africanized honey bees or $2 million to develop and stimulate sales of native Hawaiian handicrafts? Why should they be shaken down for even $100,000 toward prickly pear and mesquite research or $200,000 for research into oil from the joboba plant or $75,000 for dairy goat research?

To members of Congress who control the public purse, these may seem trifling sums when measured against a $1.5 trillion federal budget and a $400 billion deficit. But, in the immortal words of late Republican Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, "A billion here, a billion there, and pretty soon you're talking about real money."

A fresh report by the Independent General Accounting Office bears this out. It calculates that if a line-item veto had been in place between 1984 and 1989, the president could have saved taxpayers $70 billion and reduced the deficit by 6.7 percent. That hardly amounts to loose change.

Whether a Republican or a Democrat is in the White House, the president should have a line-item veto. Mr. Bush should make a constitutional stand for this executive authority. Then, the question of what it should take to override the veto could be addressed.

Influential economist merits tribute

By 1944 it was clear that the Allies, so-called, were going to win the war. And it seemed equally clear that when the world's nations were reorganized after the war, practically all of the important ones would adopt socialist principles as their formula for managing economic affairs.

Some countries — notably the Soviet Union — would combine economic socialism with political dictatorship. Most, including especially the nations of Western Europe, would march forward under the banner of democratic socialism. A stubborn few, such as the United States, might hold back for a while, preferring to preserve the forms of free enterprise even while taking on many of the politically determined, centrally controlled and redistributionist characteristics of the more advanced socialist societies. Such was the conventional wisdom.

Then, in that year 1944, a small book was published in Britain and the United States, written by one Friedrich A. von Hayek (though he preferred, in later years, to omit the "von"), an Austrian-born economist then living in London. It was an attack on the basic assumptions and consequences of socialism.

Hayek was not the first in the field, as he readily admitted in a bibliographical note. Indeed, he stood on the shoulders of giants — above all, as he acknowledged, on those of Ludwig von Mises, whose great work "Socialism" had first been published in 1922. But unto everything there is a season, and Hayek's little book, called "The Road to Serfdom," resonated loudly in the years immediately following the end of World War II.

Despite its modest size, its importance was recognized from the start. "This is no mere sortie from the castle," warned one reviewer. "This is a full-scale attack, with horse, foot, and artillery." Thirty years later, together with Hayek's subsequent writings in the same and related fields, it was to win him the Nobel Prize for Economics, and just last November he was awarded America's highest civilian honor, the Medal of Freedom. On March 23, Friedrich

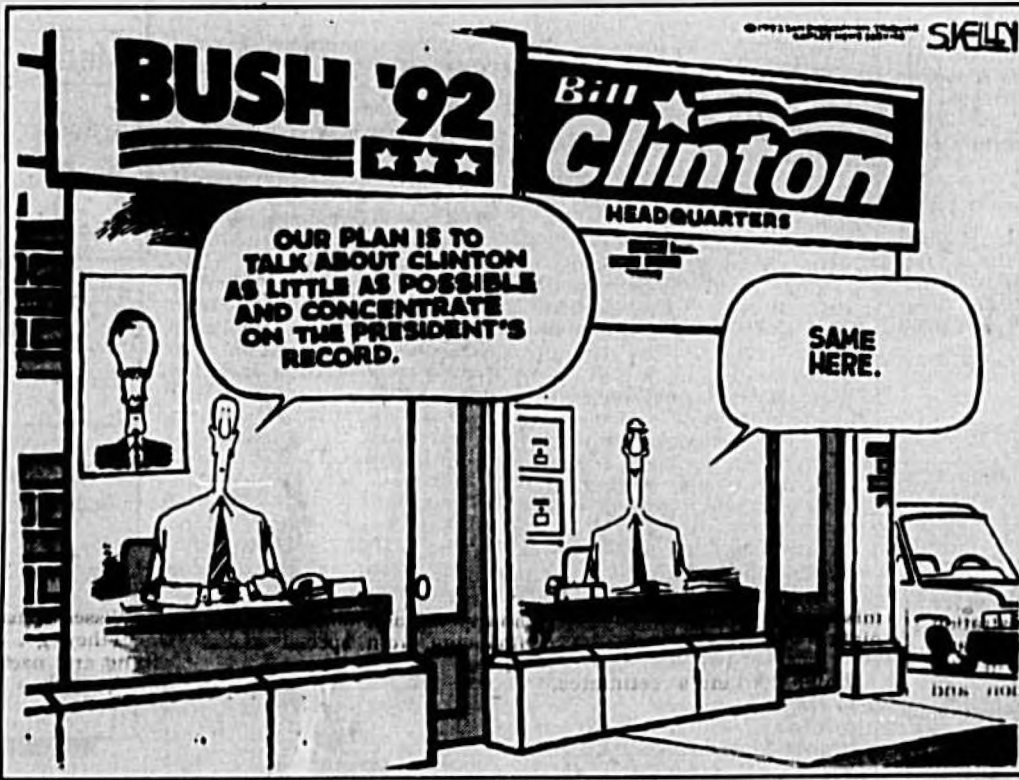

Hayek's little book, called 'The Road to Serfdom,' resonated loudly.

Hayek died at the age of 92.

"The Road to Serfdom" is a wonderfully lucid and simple book. In prose mercifully free from economic or other academic jargon, Hayek explains how socialism, though promising mankind greater freedom, actually reduces the scope of freedom. He shows why substituting "planning" for competition not only hobbles democracy but subverts the rule of law and the primacy of truth, turning leaders into avid nationalists and ultimately, and inevitably, into warmongers.

In the immediate postwar era Hayek's influence was simply enormous. His analysis provided the intellectual foundation for the development of the United States, Germany, Japan and a score of other nations as spectacular examples of the success of free enterprise, and also fully explained the lackluster performance of both democratic and totalitarian socialist states.

For a time in the 1950s and 1960s Keynesian economics, with its emphasis on governmental stimulation of the economy, seemed to draw ahead in the competition for men's minds. But by the 1980s Hayek's views were dominant again in the great nations of the free world. How wonderful it is that he lived on to witness their total vindication in the collapse and extinction of the Soviet Union last year.

Clinton brought us Spirit of '76?

Suddenly, the Democratic run for the presidency is as simple as ABC.

The Democrats have this front-runner, who until recently was just an obscure Southern governor, but his big wins in the South and Illinois made him seem to be a shoo-in, even though many are saying he did it with his winning smile and his all-things-to-all-people ways.

That's why the big talkers are in the back rooms, whispering their ABCs — "Anybody But Carter." That's what they called the movement they forged late into the primaries of 1976. It was the Spirit of '76, the year when Jimmy Carter won the nomination, but he won ugly.

Remember the Ugliness of '76: Carter got clobbered in New York, finishing fourth; he won in Pennsylvania, but he'd lose more than he'd win the rest of the year because new opponents would materialize. Sen. Frank Church of Idaho entered belatedly — and beat Carter in Nebraska. Then the "ABC" Movement's warhorses from big labor and old politics pushed Hubert Humphrey, but when he was reluctant, they found a stalking horse, actually a mere colt; on April 28, 1976, they coaxed a young Californian into making his first out-of-state trip in the 18 months he'd been elected governor — Jerry Brown went to Maryland and beat Carter.

Church won in Montana. Brown won in Rhode Island. But Carter kept amassing a loser's share of delegates. Finally, on the last Tuesday of the primary season: Humphrey/Brown, a bizarre joint slate, won in New Jersey and Brown won big in his home state. (Don't bet on Brown doing that now that his home folk know him so much better.) But Carter won in Ohio.

And that's how the nomination of '76 was won by a Southerner who'd been little-noticed as a governor, then much-noticed and probed as a presidential candidate.

These days, Clinton takes comfort from what he sees as the bottom line lesson of 1976: a Southern ex-governor proved he could hold on despite adversity and win by sheer grits. But this may be the only case of Southern comfort that neither ages nor travels well.

Consider the uneven burdens of baggage. To note that Clinton is carrying more baggage in '92 than Carter did in '76 is like noting that a steamer trunk is heavier baggage than a knapsack. America thought it was a big deal when Carter confided in a Playboy Magazine interview that he'd lusted, but only in his heart — this may be the one pursuit in which Clinton has set his sights lower than Carter did.

We learned in 1976 that a new candidate — or new candidates — can jump into the race very late and do very well. So we may yet see uncommitted or write-in efforts for any new face — Jay Rockefeller, Sam Nunn, Al Gore, Lloyd Bentsen, Bill Bradley.

Never mind that none had the gumption to run earlier. If this is to be an ABC movement — anybody but Clinton — old rules will be bent to fit new exigencies. We may learn that it is possible for one who has dropped out to resuscitate his suspended campaign — read here "Paul Tsongas," an early winner who shouldn't have dropped out. He could have announced he was flat broke and so he'd campaign without paid ads, just interviews, speeches and debates carried in the electronic and print media. This might have proven a revitalizing elixir for his anti-pol message, enough to have won Connecticut and — who knows? — even New York.

Carter would lose more than he'd win the rest of the year.

ROBERT WAGMAN

Public's money used by bank

WASHINGTON — One refrain being repeated on Capitol Hill in connection with "Rubergate" — the House check-killing scandal — is that no public money was involved. However, longtime House employees who have been willing to talk on a "no-names" basis and auditors from the General Accounting Office paint a different picture.

Some House members used the "bank" as most people use a checking account in a commercial bank: making other deposits in addition to the automatic deposit of their monthly salaries, and then writing checks against the accounts for all their needs.

About a quarter of the members simply used the bank as it was originally intended — as a payroll-disbursing office, immediately transferring their pay each month to some other financial institution.

This means that, while on the first day of every month the bank contained the combined payroll of the entire House, this was almost immediately drawn down by those members who transferred their salaries. Then, as each month went on, other members would clear significant numbers of checks, and the balance on hand in the bank overall dwindled rapidly.

According to two former employees of the bank, occasionally, during the last 10 days of the month, the total of checks on hand to be paid would be greater than the remaining total deposits in the bank. When this happened, checks were cleared by using taxpayer dollars. Since many were overdraft checks, taxpayer dollars were used to cover the float.

Essentially, checks were cleared through the same central account through which the House clears all the tens of thousands of checks it writes each month to pay employees and bills. Computers keep various accounts separate, but actually it's all one pool of money.

According to one GAO source who worked on the bank audit: "Unlike a commercial bank, they did not do a reconciliation each night. Based on the sloppiness of their record keeping, I doubt it is possible to reconstruct the total bank on a day-by-day basis. But it would seem to me, based on the way cash flowed in and out of the bank, with relatively few deposits in the second half of each month ... that the total float exceeded total deposits at some point. How often, I'm sure, is impossible to know."

Campaign cash? The U.S. Attorney for the District of Columbia has begun a criminal investigation into the House banking scandal. Sources say he is particularly interested in two areas: whether tax laws or federal campaign finance laws were violated.

Under some tax-law theories, members writing themselves interest-free loans should have declared some of the gain as income. An opinion from the House Counsel has said this is not the case. But the U.S. Attorney wants to make sure.

It is also clear that some, and perhaps many, of the check-bouncers wrote loans to their re-election campaigns. This would seem to be a violation of campaign-financing laws.

Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Texas, and former Reps. Jim Bates, D-Calif., and Doug Walgren, D-Pa., have already admitted doing this.

But from the very large number of checks bounced during the March-May 1990 primary season and in October 1990, just before the congressional elections, it appears that many more members may have done the same thing. GOP buzz

Patrick Buchanan is a hurried challenge at the GOP that has insiders buzzing — and not a few party leaders very worried.

In a campaign appearance in Michigan, Buchanan threatened to bolt the GOP and start a new conservative party in time for the 1996 presidential election, if George Bush and the GOP do not adopt a platform featuring "a return to small government and family values."

The threat is far from empty, and the people it scares most are mainline conservatives like Housing Secretary Jack Kemp, former drug czar William Bennett and Rep. Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., who all see themselves as potential presidential nominees in 1996.

Should Buchanan bolt and build a party on the right, it could drain the core of support that Kemp, Bennett or Gingrich would count on in their bid to win the 1996 nomination.

The three have already gone all out to discredit Buchanan this time around, not because — as they say publicly — out of loyalty to George Bush. The three, and Vice President Quayle also, fear if Buchanan is too successful he will become the national spokesman for the conservative movement and the front-runner for conservative votes in 1996.

Taxpayer dollars were used to cover the float.

'Silence' shows Oscar memory

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Academy members have long memories after all.

"The Silence of the Lambs" dominated the 64th annual Academy Awards with five trophies Monday night, including best picture, even though it was released early in 1991 and was already available in videocassette by voting time.

The movie's showing may help convince studios they don't need to crowd all their Oscar hopefuls into the theaters in December.

In fact, "Silence" was the first Oscar winner for best picture to be available on video as well as cable at the time of the ceremonies.

Maybe this is what helped it win over heavy campaigns for late-year nominees "Bugy," "Beauty and the Beast," "The Prince of Tides" and "JFK."

Clients of The Flying Emeryboard Salon and Students of the Academy with instructress Ms. Sylvia Keyes.

Claw Your Way To The Top

The Flying Emeryboard Nail Academy, 2479-B Park Avenue, Sanford, was established in May of 1991, and is owned and operated by Kode Blue, Inc.

The academy recently graduated two students who are now employed in the field of Nail Technology.

There are currently six students enrolled in the academy. The course is from eight to ten weeks, and day and evening classes are available for convenience. This summer, The Academy will be offering a six week short program, to Sanford residents, starting in June. After completing all course requirements, each student is eligible to apply for state licensing as a professional Nail Technologist.

Ms. Sylvia Keyes is CEO and instructress of the Flying Emeryboard Nail Academy. She received her training in Fort Lauderdale at Atlantic Vocational College, and is a licensed cosmetologist. She received her training in nails at the Gloria Phillips Institute of Nail Technology.

Ms. Keyes, with 10 years of dedication to the industry, instructs the students in manicuring, pedicuring and the application of artificial fingernails. The academy offers advance classes in Nail Art Design and Airwave Nail Technology.

The Flying Emeryboard has two salon locations in Sanford, The Nail Academy on Park Avenue, and the Home Showcase Building at Flea World. Both salons offer a variety of services including manicures and pedicures and artificial nails of acrylic, gel and nail wrapping. Hands speak volumes about how a woman takes care of herself. Make sure yours are saying the right thing about you. For further information call (407) 321-2366.

GARAGE SALE GUIDELINES

- Advertise what people want! Children's clothing, dishes, collectibles, tools, books and antiques are the most popular items.
- Make it convenient to shop at your garage sale! Be sure there is adequate parking space. Post signs with directions to parking areas. Make arrangements with neighbors.
- Make it easy to pay! Have plenty of change and a system for handling. Make sure one person is on duty at all times at a cash/credit location, preferably with a calculator or adding machine.
- Provide prices. Do not make every person ask, "how much is this?" Prices make for quick, effective sales or a good place for customers to start bargaining.
- Get an early start. Set up displays the evening before, if possible.
- Departmentalize. Separate the inexpensive items from the more costly ones. Group furniture, clothing, toys, lawn equipment and other items with similar merchandise.
- Specialize. Establish one area for "Under $5" another for "Under $1". Consider having a batch of items that are FREE with purchase of $7. Remember the youngsters, too. Encourage the use of small, low-priced items that are appropriate for this purpose.
- Time your sale carefully! Have it at a time when most people are at home and unconcerned with special events.
- Get the job done! Offered incorporate your sale with a neighbor for more variety and greater impact.
- Be specific! When advertising your sale in the newspaper, list individual items. Don't simply say, "several things available." Each time you list an item, you're broadening the list of potential customers.
- Be generous! If you have items left over, give them to a charitable organization. If you see that some items are not moving well during the sale, mark them down during the last hours. Remember, the price reason for holding the sale is to turn your unwanted items into cash!

Ron, Arnold and Ken, standing in front of their mother's pictures, respectively, the inspirations for their restaurant.

It's "Ma's Kitchen" But Pa's Cookin'

There was a time that a man in the kitchen was unheard of. To some women today, that is still a frightening thought. Wouldn't they be surprised to find three men running a home-style restaurant in Lake Mary, named of all things, Ma's Kitchen. Ma's Kitchen is the creation of three retired gentlemen, who came to Lake Mary, some eleven years ago, from north of the Mason-Dixon Line. After various part-time jobs (no one works full-time after officially retiring and moving to Florida) which included landscaping and managing a convenience store, the three got together and opened the restaurant in April of last year. When asked why they would take on such a task as running a restaurant, the answers vary: "something different" or "something to do", but all three seem dedicated to the idea of bringing home cooking to the Lake Mary/Sanford area. Home cooking means "scratch cooking" to many people and that's just what you'll get at Ma's Kitchen. Real mashed potatoes, real home fries, real low, pot roast and even the liver and onions your mom always tried to get you to eat. For lunch, there's "Hot Dogs" and "Hangaburgers", fresh soup and platters of egg, tuna or chicken salad. And breakfast is pretty much the standard fare of eggs and toast and bacon and coffee, all hot and hardy to help you start your day off right. Two pages of the four-page menu are dedicated to the many breakfast choices. If you look hard enough, you'll even find "grits" as one of the side orders. But the pride and joy of owners Ronald Lulinski, Ken Dever and Arnold Daven are the desserts. "Secret family recipe" peanut butter pie, banana pudding, rice pudding and other goodies. Now, when was the last time you saw rice pudding on anybody's menu. If you time your visit right, you might even see Arnold sit down to a late lunch of the special of the day. Yes, they eat their own cooking. Ron, Ken and Arnold are helped out in the kitchen by Scott and Gary, and in the dining room by Wilma. If you're a fan of TV sitcoms, you might find a resemblance between Wilma and her television diner waitress counterpart, "Flo". Wilma even played the part at Halloween, big earrings, bright handkerchief, popping gum and all. Speaking of the dining room, the owners took this decorating opportunity to experiment with the current rage in country decorating, sponge painting. The attractive results of the two-tone pink and two-tone gray walls are accented by plants and other country paraphernalia, including "Ma" and "Pa" dolls and a miniature rocking chair. There is even "Pa's Study" and "Ma's Cellar", cleverly disguising the office and the storage room. But the crowning glory of the rooms are the three pictures hung on the back wall, one of each of the owner's mothers. Ma's Kitchen, as would be expected, serves breakfast, lunch and dinner, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., six days a week. The pa's do close at 3 p.m. on Monday and only serve breakfast on Sunday, from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. Take-out orders are available by phone at 333-2001. Beer and wine are served, and there is a 10% senior citizens discount. Ma's Kitchen is located in the Lake Mary Centre, 3817 Lake Emma Road, behind Burger King, but not far from "home".

NATIONAL BRIEFS

Executed spy turns up on U.S. poster

WASHINGTON Ethel Rosenberg's State Department poster girl? Mrs. Rosenberg, who was executed with her husband in 1953 after their conviction on spy charges, became a symbol of women featured on a poster displayed at the State Department as part of National Women's History Month. The Rosenbergs were charged with having passed atomic secrets to the Soviet Union during World War II. State Department press officer LeRoy Gandy said the department has ordered posters from the National Women's History Project for the past several years and was unaware that this year's poster included Mrs. Rosenberg. He noted that the exhibit is being discontinued next because women's history month ends on the last day of March, the official end of the inclusion of Mrs. Rosenberg on the poster is a regrettable oversight.

U.S. says 43 nations trade unfairly

WASHINGTON The Bush administration has listed 43 nations with unfair trade practices that hurt American companies and jobs. The nations, which include Argentina, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Cuba, and 38 others, are named in the administration's first annual trade report, Foreign Trade Barriers. The release of the 267-page report Monday was the first step in a process that could lead to retaliatory tariff adjustments, if the nations fail to correct the alleged trade barriers. Japan, alleged barriers took up 100 pages in the report, ranging from that country's ban on rice imports to impediments that keep American cars and airplanes out of the country.

He kicks off a drive to give insects more respect

By CHARLENE SMITH
Associated Press Writer

N. Y. — "Somebody's taking disrespect from Highty, insects not done right enough respect!" Like most people, the 37-year-old N.Y. State University entomologist, Highty, has a pet peeve. "Somebody's taking disrespect from Highty, insects not done right enough respect!"

But not many people can appreciate the second nature of insect behavior. At a time of high technological achievement, Highty is a devotee of the insect world and its potential impact on humans.

For example, some major pests are insect diseases like malaria, contributed by the disease of ancient civilizations, including the Roman empire.

Also, millions of people die every year from malaria, killed by mosquitoes, which often resist pesticides. In an experiment, Highty and his group have found that the work.

SDI may be losing favor with the military

By ROBERT BURNS

WASHINGTON — "The project is competing with the armed services for shares of the shrinking defense budget. While the services are being forced to cancel weapons projects, lay off soldiers and scale back missions, the civilian-led SDI got a 10 percent budget boost this year and could gain an additional 40 percent in 1993.

SDI is causing thoughtful rethinking in some military circles for two reasons:

The missile killer project is competing with the armed services for shares of the shrinking defense budget. While the services are being forced to cancel weapons projects, lay off soldiers and scale back missions, the civilian-led SDI got a 10 percent budget boost this year and could gain an additional 40 percent in 1993.

As the project moves closer to actually building a system for shooting down ballistic missiles, debate is growing within the military over how to put it together and who would control it. The services and SDI advocates have a different view.

Unlike nearly all other major weapons research projects, SDI is not run by any of the uniformed services. It is a project of an obscure agency known as the Strategic Defense Initiative Organization, within the office of the secretary of defense.

Furthermore, the SDI effort is headed by a civilian, Dr. Paul T. Papp, the most prominent military representative in the effort to build a missile shield.

As a result of this tension, some SDI fans are starting to worry about the budget battle. The defense budget for the year 1990 and 1991 is $140 billion, and 1992 when spending was starting to slip.

Economy improves once again

By JOHN D. McCLAIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON The government's chief economic forecasting gauge rose .08 percent in February, the second straight advance and the latest suggestion the emerging recovery would continue.

The Commerce Department said today the February gain, together with a revised 1.0 percent increase a month earlier, marked the last back-to-back advance since a string of six gains ending last July. The January index first was estimated to have risen .09 percent.

The improvement was broad-based, with seven of the 11 forward-looking indicators contributing to the increase. It was in line with most forecasts.

The Commerce report said the seven indicators contributing to the increase were a longer average workweek, a growing money supply, an increase in building permits, rising prices for raw materials, suggesting increased demand, an improvement in consumer confidence, rising orders for consumer goods, and slower delivery times indicating increased orders.

The four negative contributors were fewer unfilled factory orders, falling stock prices, a decrease in orders for new plants and equipment, and rising first-time claims for unemployment insurance.

The various changes left the index at 147.6 percent of its 1982 base of 100. The index had risen 1.1 percent from September to the high February, compared to .7 percent the previous six months.

Recent signs of a growing economy have included rising automobile and other retail sales, and activity in the housing sector that traditionally leads the recovery.

Still, the Bush administration, many congressmen, and not a few economists worry whether the current rebound might falter later this year, like a similar revival did last summer. The economy was growing at a barely perceptible .04 percent during the final three months of 1983.

Greenspan and other members of the Federal Open Market Committee, the Fed's monetary policy-making panel, were sure to be watching the index. The FOMC was expected to begin one of its eight interest rate meetings to set policy.

Private analysts said they believed the FOMC would keep short-term rates at their current level despite calls from the Bush administration to reduce the further they go.

The index's advance is the lowest economic condition since its nine-month recession high fallen .02 percent to 149.8 November and December. Three consecutive declines in the index since 1982 have led to a recession.

Despite the recession, performance of the Bush administration's economic and government officials has been mixed, the FOMC will be most likely to be the most likely.

In fact, some of the nation's leading economists say the recession is not over. They urged further interest rate cuts and $50 billion in additional federal aid to avert a second recession.

It's more harmful than you think.

There's a good chance your hard-earned money is vanishing into thin air. Floating through unsealed windows. Escaping into a poorly insulated attic. Being swallowed up by an inefficient central air conditioner.

The fact is, many Florida homes are just not energy efficient.

Unsealed windows can drive up your cooling costs. Insufficient ceiling insulation can cost you hundreds of dollars each year. An outdated air conditioner may actually double the cost of cooling your home.

But FPL can help. Simply call 1-800-DEAL-FPL (342-5375) and fill out the attached coupon to arrange for a free, no-obligation Home Energy Survey.

An FPL representative will come over and determine just how efficient your home is.

You'll learn about the energy savings you can realize by improving your home's energy efficiency, and how FPL can even help pay for them.

FPL's $150 toward the installation of window tinting (and up to $300) for adding ceiling insulation is the recommended level.

Plus, FPL can pay up to $588 for replacement or additional central air conditioning with a new qualifying dual-duct gas-cooled system. Or even an approved FPL contractor.

In all, you could get up to $1,000 from FPL to make your home more energy efficient. And continue to reap savings each and every summer.

The sooner you call for a free Home Energy Survey, the sooner you'll start gaining. So arrange for yours call today 1-800-DEAL-FPL (342-5375) or send the attached coupon.

We'll help you hold on to your money. Because the benefits of energy efficiency and maintenance don't disappear.

Act now and start saving before the summer. FPL may help you pay:

- Up to $150 for installing window tinting.
- Up to $300 for additional ceiling insulation.
- Up to $588 toward a high-efficiency central cooling and heating system.

The survey is free and there's no obligation.

IN BRIEF

LOCALLY

"Mice" whip Step Sisters

CASSELBERRY — The Parkly McGee "Mice" completed the first round of the Women's Class C Spring League at Red Bug Park with a 6-3 victory over the Step Sisters Monday night.

The win gave the "Mice" a perfect 5-0 record. Connie Thomas pitched another great game, giving up eight hits and walking none. But, three hits came in the last inning. Those hits, coupled with a couple of errors, helped the "Sisters" end the shutout.

The winners collected 16 hits, led by Terri Mann (4-for-4, two RBI), Mary Beth McCullough (3 hits, including a triple), Debbie Leigh (3 hits) and Jill Janowiak (2 hits, including a double). The Mice next take on Pizza Hut at 8:30 p.m.

Tribe cages Panthers

The Seminole High School varsity softball team showed no ill effects from an 10-day layoff as they whipped visiting Eustis 15-6 at the Fort Mellon Park Softball Field. Designated hitter Kristy Kirkpatrick (No. 6, above) and second baseman Val Wilks (No. 8, below) were two of the big hitters in a 19-hit Tribe attack. Kirkpatrick was 2-for-4 and drove in two runs while Wilks was 1-for-3, scored three runs and drove in one.

SANFORD — Games are won by defense and pitching, right? Not in this sport.

The Seminole High School girls varsity softball team showed no effects of a 10-day layoff as it used 19 hits to wallop the visiting Eustis High School Panthers 15-6 Monday afternoon at the Fort Mellon Park Softball Field.

"I've been trying to get them to learn that softball games are won at the plate," said Seminole head coach Greg Register. "You can give up 10 runs as long as you score 11, because you win by scoring. We hit the ball better today."

Seminole, now 11-10 on the season, had scored 36 runs in its previous five games.

Contributing to the Tribe attack were Nakla Riggins (4-for-5, two runs scored), Carey Dryden (3-for-4, three runs scored, two RBI), Rita Frison (3-for-4, one run scored, two RBI), Latreac Turner (2-for-4, two runs scored), Kristy Kirkpatrick (2-for-4, two RBI) and Tina Rathbun (2-for-4, one run scored).

Also contributing were Val Wilks (1-for-3, two runs scored, one RBI), Lisa Richards (1-for-5, two runs scored, three RBI), Jill Jasewic (1-for-3, two runs scored) and Kim Fossellus (one walk).

Jasewic was the winning pitcher scattering 12 hits and overcoming seven errors by her defense to improve her record to 11-10.

The Panthers fell to 4-7 with the loss.

Eustis grabbed a one run lead in the top of the first inning when Bree Grimstead singled home Rhonda Hohenstein.

But the home team came right back in the bottom of the first inning with Frison's two-run single.

Raines, Harriett lead Expos to rout of A's

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Ned "Red Man" Raines and Steve Harriett combined to drive in nine runs as the Korg U.S.A. Expos continued its hot offense with a 21-4 slaughter of the First Union A's in Sanford Recreation Department Little Major League baseball action at Roy Holler Field Monday evening.

Ned Raines drove in five runs and Harriett four as the defending National Division Champions posted their third straight victory without a defeat. In their three wins the Expos have outscored their opponents 51-13 while collecting 41 hits. Monday's game was the second consecutive three-inning rout for the Expos.

Alex Jacott was the winning pitcher, allowing just three hits and four walks while striking out six in his three innings of work.

The winners got off to a slow start, scoring three runs in the first inning on just one hit. But four walks and eight stolen bases allowed the runs to score.

But the Expos got things cranked up in the second inning, sending 13 batters to the plate, collecting seven hits and scoring eight runs. Harriett had the big blow of the inning, blasting a three-run home run. Harriett, Ned Raines and Mike Robinson also had doubles in the big inning.

The A's came back with two runs in the bottom of the second inning, with Warren Hooks' RBI single being the big hit.

The Expos tacked three runs onto their total in the third inning. The only RBI of the inning was collected by Mike Evans with a single. The other runs scored on a stolen base and an error.

The A's final runs came in the bottom of the third frame on an RBI single by Chris Parra and an error.

The game ended in the top of the fourth when

Seminole High grad finds stardom in potato country

From Staff Reports

MOSCOW, IDAHO — What's a Sanford kid doing in potato country?

Playing basketball. Former Seminole High School basketball star Andre Whitney made a big splash in his first season playing at the University of Idaho, just missing leading his team into the NCAA Tournament.

After setting out a year to finish getting his Associates in Arts degree from Pensacola Junior College the former Junior College All-American went to Big Sky Country and became a starter after just seven games of the season.

The Vandals finished the season with an 18-14 overall record 10-6 in the Big Sky Conference, good enough for a third-place tie with Weber State. Idaho finished behind nationally ranked Montana and Nevada in the conference.

Whitney, a 6-foot, 1-inch junior point guard, ended his junior year in style, scoring 23 points and coming up with six steals as the Vandals "knocked off" Boise State 75-56 in the quarterfinals of the Big Sky Conference Coors Light Basketball Tournament held in Missoula, Mont.

The win was the seventh in nine games for Idaho. But the season came to a crushing halt just two victories short of reaching the NCAA Tournament as the Vandals lost to eventual champion Montana 69-52. Montana finished the season with a 27-4 record, including a first round loss in the NCAA's to Florida State. One of the champs losses was to Idaho during the regular season.

Whitney started 21 of the 30 games he played in this season and led the team in assists (89) and average of 3.0 per game) and steals (35, 1.2 per game) while finishing fourth in scoring with a 8.4 points per game average. He also averaged 2.6 rebounds per contest. All while playing just 26.6 of the 40 minutes of the game.

The Sanford native hit double figures in scoring 11 times this season while shooting 44.8 percent from the floor and 38.5 percent on three-point attempts, second best on the team. He also was one of the best free throw shooters on the team, converting 70.7 percent of his charity tosses.

Local fans may get to see Whitney in the "Big Show" next year as the Vandals return 11 of the 13 people on the team this year, including all five starters.

Andre Whitney (No. 10 in his high school days) had a big year in his initial season at the University of Idaho this year. After becoming a starter seven games into the season the ex-Tribe star led the team in assists and steals.

Anyone having any information on the whereabouts of the classmates, please call Buffy Atkins-Walker, 321-5938, or Shelly MacAteere-White, 323-8730.

Oil painting class starts this week

The Leisure Time Program at Seminole High School announces the following class will start this week:

Oil and Acrylic Painting, on Thursdays, April 2 through April 23, from 11:15 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. Cost: $35 per person.

Fashions herald Easter season

'Bunnies on Parade' to benefit scholarship fund

By DOMS DIETRICH
Herald Columnist

"Bunnies on Parade" is coming to Sanford Wednesday, April 8. The annual fashion show and luncheon is sponsored by the Sanford Woman's Club for a scholarship to a deserving woman who is returning to the classroom.

The event will get under way at 11:30 a.m. when patrons will be served punch upon arriving at the clubhouse, 309 S. Oak Ave. A life-sized bunny will circulate throughout the crowd carrying a basket filled with colorful plastic eggs containing door prizes. Playboy-type bunnies will serve the luncheon to the guests as Jean Nettis plays background piano music. Entertainment will be provided by several choristers from Mary High School under the direction of Alice Ann Nilsen.

The luncheon menu includes:

Creamy Cheese Chicken Lasagna, Glazed Carrots, Molded Spring Salad, Fresh Strawberry Tarts, Coffee and Iced Tea.

Mistress of ceremonies for the fashion show will be the lovely Lisa Malle of Lisa Malle Image, Modeling and Acting, Orlando. Fashions will include a variety of spring fashions and accessories from Ro-Jay and Don Knight's Shoe Store. Models will be members of the Sanford Woman's Club, Sanford Junior Women's Club and Heathrow Women's Club.

Chairman of the event is DeLores Lash assisted by Jean Clontz and Mary Anne Cleveland.

Tickets are available through any woman's club member. Donation to the event is $12 per person. Seating is limited. No tickets will be sold at the door except through advance reservations by calling Lash, 323-1142. Men are welcome.

Ambulance employees honored for services

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

Two Atlantic Ambulance employees were presented awards earlier this month. The honors were for "Outstanding emergency medical services to the community."

Seminole County Atlantic Ambulance Manager, Walt Elmam presented the awards to Karl Simon, 33, a paramedic with Sanford, and Stuart Strickland, 35, an emergency medical technician, of DeLand.

According to the citation, they "were chosen for their exemplary service, dedication, initiative, and enthusiasm for their work to the citizens of Seminole County," Elmam said. "They show true teamwork with each emergency call they receive which results in excellent patient care."

Both men also work full-time for the Seminole County Fire Department.

Atlantic Ambulance serves Seminole County, and provides emergency medical services in conjunction with the City and County Fire Departments.

Keep us Informed

Do you operate a business in the Sanford-Lake Mary area? Chances are, several times a year you will have an item of general interest about your business. For example: have you hired somebody new; have you promoted somebody? has your business received a distinction; have you opened a new location?

Let us know and we'll tell our readers about it on the Business page each Sunday. No business is too small or too big for consideration.

Submit the information: who? what? where? why? when? to the Business Desk, Sanford Herald, 300 N. French Ave., Sanford 32771.

Please keep the information as brief as possible. Submissions should be typed and contain the daytime telephone number of a contact who can answer any additional questions. The deadline is the Wednesday prior to the Sunday of publication. No fee is charged.

Think before you drink

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to the letter from Linda Wooten of Orange Park, Fla., whose son collapsed and died after drinking 23 shots of liquor, one after the other. She said her son did it on a dare from his college friends. He was 21.

This was probably the young man's first time away from home, but not the first time he drank liquor. In Florida, the legal age for drinking is 21, but that doesn't mean all college kids obey the law.

Blaming the bartender who served her son that many drinks misses the mark. A bartender is just a guy, working for $5 an hour to pay his bills and make money for his employer. He works late hours doing what he's paid to do — serve drinks. He is not a baby sitter.

If the young man's mother is looking for someone to blame for her son's death, she can blame his "friends," herself and her son. His friends were old enough to know that they had no business challenging someone to the height of stupidity. And his mother should have taught her son to be responsible for his own decisions and actions. The son, however, must accept the brunt of the blame. He accepted the challenge to drink himself "under the table."

Everyone must accept responsibility for his or her choices and actions, but it's only human nature to want to blame others for our mistakes and misfortunes.

BARBARA E. FAULKNER
DEAR BARBARA: You are right, of course. Read on for a coincidence that is stranger than fiction.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to let you know that on Feb. 23, your article about the 21-year-old college student who died of alcohol poisoning was published in the Port Arthur News.

Abby, the same day that article appeared a memorial service was held for Scott, my 15-year-old son, who died from the very same thing. I could not believe the timing!

More than 700 people attended Scott's memorial service, and approximately half of them were teenagers. The minister who officiated at the service read the article you had in your column about Larry Kenneth Wooten, the 21-year-old college student who drank 23 shots of straight liquor on a dare from friends. It cost him his life.

I hope and pray that the kids who attended Scott's memorial service will have learned a lesson. If just one of them is saved because of my son's death and the article you wrote about it, perhaps some good was accomplished.

I can't help wondering if perhaps Scott might have been spared if that article had come out sooner. But questions like that are useless now.

What is done is now history, and we must look ahead to the future.

SANDRA K. BURNISTER,
PORT ARTHUR, TEXAS
DEAR ABBY: My heart goes out to you on the loss of

Remove polyps to avoid cancer risk

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 35-year-old female diagnosed with Peutz-Jeghers syndrome. I've recently had 14 polyps removed from my small intestine, all of which were benign. My doctor tells me this syndrome produces a higher incidence of certain types of cancer. Can you fill in the blanks?

DEAR READER: Peutz-Jeghers syndrome is an uncommon, inherited tendency to polyps (benign growths) in the intestine. This is one form of a larger diagnostic category called familial polyposis, marked by multiple polyps in the colon and rectum. In Peutz-Jeghers syndrome, additional polyps are also found in the stomach and small intestine. Patients with this congenital disorder often exhibit areas of bluish black discoloration in and around the mouth.

Although these polyps are benign, they can become pre-malignant and, over time, turn into cancer. Therefore, they must be removed at frequent intervals.

As you can imagine, this is a daunting task, which may not be practical if the polyps involve large areas of intestine or grow back quickly once removed. This is the reason some specialists advise surgical removal of the entire colon. Of course, this is a major therapeutic decision because the patient is left with an ileostomy: The lower end of the small intestine is connected to an opening in the abdominal wall and waste is collected in a bag. For some patients, this is an unfortunate trade-off: The ileostomy is the price for reducing the high risk of cancer.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Almost every evening about a half hour after eating, my breasts swell to an uncomfortable degree. (I'm a 78-year-old female.) This has been occurring for almost six months. I've been taking Phazyme, as recommended by a local D.O. with little or no relief. Please comment.

DEAR READER: This sequence is most unusual; I am at a loss to explain it. But I can reassure you that your breast swelling is not caused by Phazyme, a harmless anti-gas compound (simethicone).

I have never heard of women's breasts swelling after eating. However, if you are eating a lot of salt with your evening meal, I suppose it could cause fluid retention and a sensation of breast fullness. Cut out dietary salt and see what happens. If the condition doesn't improve, revisit your doctor for further advice.

MEDICINE
PETER GOTT, M.D.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder
After declarer has gone down in a makable contract, how often have you heard him say, "How could I have possibly known?" Probably many times. But usually he could have found the right answer if only he had drawn the correct conclusions from the bidding (or lack of it) and play.

See if you would make a top detective on today's hand. Cover the East-West cards. Against your four-spade contract, West leads the club seven; three, ace, two. Back comes the diamond three: five, ace, jack. West returns the diamond two, which East ruffs with the spade two. East leads back the club five: king, four, eight. How do you continue?

Usually in tournament circles. Usually the bid shows a good six-card suit but not enough points for a normal response. After a club to the ace, a diamond ruff and a club exit, South promptly cashed the spade ace. West's discard resulted in much walling but — surprisingly — no reproachful grief from South. What did he overlook?

East was known to have started with a singleton diamond and only four clubs. To have opened one club, he must have begun with 4-4-1-4 distribution. Therefore, West had to have a spade void. South should have cashed the heart ace, ruffed a heart in the dummy and led a low spade, finessing the 10 if East played low.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
April 1, 1992
Considerable emphasis is likely to be placed on personal relationships in the year ahead. This will prove to be a smart move, because friends will be able to help you in the material world as well as the social realm.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Even though you may feel quite anxious about something you want others to do for you today, as long as you're not too pushy, you'll get results. Let them set the schedule. Aries, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Aries' Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you are in need of assistance today regarding something rather complex, don't suffer in silence. You have several friends who'll do their best to make things go smoothly for you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be hopeful when involved in competitive developments today; the odds tend to favor you. Concentrate on success, not the negative factors.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) You might be a tad slow getting out of the starting gate today, but once you get rolling, you'll pick up momentum. A noteworthy achievement is probable.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Some special knowledge you possess should be shared today — but only with those who are capable of comprehending it. Your bright ideas aren't apt to take root with everyone.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you are shopping for something special today, take ample time before making a decision. It's to your benefit to be a comparison shopper.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) One of your greatest assets is your ability to work harmoniously with a partner. If you have a competent ally in your endeavors today, success is likely.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your best ideas today are likely to come out of discussions with those who work in the trenches rather than with those who live in an ivory tower.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is a good day to catch up on the little things you promised to do for a friend but haven't had a chance to get around to yet.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your powers of observation could be quite astute today, but even more importantly, you might be able to utilize what you see and hear to your advantage.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In business dealings today, try to get down to brass tacks as quickly and effectively as possible. There will be plenty of time for chitchat after you close the deal.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You might be rather fortunate materially today, yet it won't be the result of luck. It will happen because you'll use your head to get what you want.
