Reports Vary On Cold Damage To Local Crops

Weather Warms Up; Big Crowd Gathers To Greet Santa, Watch Parade

SHS Band Assn. Honors Former Members At Meal

The first homecoming dinner was given by the Seminole High School Band Association in honor of the association's former members.

Past members attending were ex-president Peter Bukur, Martin Stinecifer, and Mrs. J. W. Dugan. Other members were Mrs. Wade Garner, Mrs. S. A. B. Wilkerson, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Morris, Mrs. Martin Stinecifer and Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Engobret.

Following the covered dish supper, plans for the barbecue to be held Saturday at 6:30 p. m. at the Elks grounds were discussed.

A welcome was extended to the former band parents by Andrew Bracken, SHS principal.

'Universal Credit Card' Is Caught In Use Last Night

The "universal credit card" was caught in use on Highway 17-92 last night the Sheriff's office reported this morning.

And because of it, Paul Harding, 22-year-old white youth of 12 Elm St., West Lebanon, N. H., is in the Seminole County Jail charged with petty larceny and no drivers license.

Deputy Sheriff Ed Cowan caught Harding taking gas from heavy equipment used in the 17-92 highway construction last night. The five-gallon can and piece of hose were practically new, seemingly bought for the purpose, reported the sheriff's office.

"Had the Deputy been a minute later the gasoline taker would have gotten away," Deputy Sheriff James Singletary said this morning.

Harding was taken into custody as he attempted to get away in his Ford automobile about six miles south of Sanford.

2 Teams Clinch Berth In Peanut Bowl Game

Two teams have clinched a berth in the Peanut Bowl game slated to be played in Sanford on Dec. 7 in the Sanford Memorial Baseball Park.

The team of Mrs. Sybil Ruth-room at Sanford Grammar School won the first berth in the Peanut Bowl lineup.

This morning, shortly after 11 o'clock, the Seminole of Mrs. Robert Richards room at Sanford Grammar School defeated the Black Hawks of Mrs. Alice Grants room to clinch a spot in the bowl lineup next week.

The score in this morning's game between the two sixth grade teams was 7-0.

Each team at Sanford Grammar School, said Herold Heckenbach, principal at the school, has played 18 games against their opponents.

"Old Man Weather" virtually laid a carpet of white for Santa Claus to arrive on this afternoon for the Annual Jaycee-Merchants Association Christmas Parade.

Sanford was glimmering in frost early this morning which was, at first, expected to chill parade viewers this afternoon who line the sidewalks and streets along the route of the gigantic mile-and-a-half spectacle, featuring 11 bands and a double-score of floats.

However, by mid-morning the sun had displaced the frost and temperatures rose rapidly to assure a mild and pleasant afternoon for the annual Christmas Parade festivities.

Thousands were expected to be in Sanford this afternoon soon after schools close at 2:30 to witness what Tommy McDonald, chairman of the Jaycee Christmas Parade Committee termed "Sanford's biggest and best parade in its history."

Every detail has been cleared up and everything is in readiness for the wailing of patrol car sirens to start off the gala parade at 4 o'clock.

Floats have been completed, costumes readied, and everyone anxious to join in the long lineup that will move through the downtown section for a complete hour between 4 and 5 o'clock.

Headed by a Florida Highway Patrol car and followed closely by patrol cars from Sanford Police Department and the Seminole County Sheriff's Department, both city and county commissioners will see the parade off to a good start as they become the first part of the parade.

Seen this afternoon in the huge lineup of bands and marching groups were the Stetson University band with drum majors and majorettes stepping high to music, Florida Military Academy band and marching unit, Seminole High School, Winter Park School, Leesburg High School, Boone High School of Orlando bands.

There were also bands from Crooms Academy, Sanford Junior High-Pinecrest School, Ovidio High School, Lyman High, and DeLand High School.

Twenty small floats manned by children from Seminole County Schools intermingled with larger floats entered by High Schools, Civic organizations, Churches, and business houses.

Of course, delighting children mostly was Santa Claus in his North Pole regalia as he gayly waived to children along the route. Santa arrived in all of the splendor such a noted guest deserves.

Donald Doyle, Red Cross Field Representative for Central Florida, together with Gen. Eugene V. Elder volunteer worker assigned to fund campaign work in this area will attend the meeting.

Doyle will brief the group in fund campaign techniques and procedures.

All workers already assigned, and all of those interested in Red Cross work throughout Seminole County are urged to be present for the meeting.

Groundwork for the February and March fund campaign will be laid at Friday's meeting with important information to complete a successful campaign passed on to all of those who attend, according to local officials.

Friday's meeting is the first get-together since last week's meeting at which campaign workers were named for the 1957 drive.

Social Security Service Offered

A representative of the Social Security Administration District Office in Orlando will be at the recreation bldg., Fort Mellon Park in Sanford on Friday, Dec. 7, Friday, Dec. 14, and Friday Dec. 21, between the hours of 9:30 a. m. and noon.

This service is made available to those who wish to apply for Old-Age and Survivors Insurance benefits, social security account numbers, or obtain information about the Social Security program.

Next Thursday, the Sanford Grammar School will stage a gigantic Peanut Bowl parade through downtown Sanford in which the Seminole High and Junior High School bands will play.

Two stops will be made along the route of the parade for the cheerleaders and majorettes to demonstrate their agility and poise.

Heavy Frost Falls

Estimates of damage from the cold wave which struck the Sanford vegetable growing area vary with temperatures reported from 22 to 34 and a heavy frost blanketing all of Central Florida.

Sandy Anderson, manager of the Sanford State Farmers Market said that "in my opinion the frost and 34 degree temperature in Sanford will clean out beans, cucumbers, eggplant, as a matter of fact all of our tender crop."

"The hardy crops," said Sandy Anderson, "won't be hurt." He explained these would include cabbage, celery, green onions and others.

Randall Chase at Chase and Company said "Beans and tender crops including eggplant and peppers will be hurt pretty bad."

Chase said, however, that cabbage, celery and hardy crops "are in good shape—the cold will even do them a little good."

Roby Laing with the J. C. Hutchinson & Co. said "The cold was pretty bad."

"We've had reports from the Zellwood area," Laing said, "but the temperatures weren't too uniform. Temperatures were from 22-27," he said.

"It's hard to say what the damage will be, it's a little too early to estimate. We had ice over there (Zellwood) last Friday and frost Saturday with very little damage."

Laing said, "The cold weather this morning didn't do any good."

It was also reported, said Laing, that temperatures dropped to 27-32 in the southern part of the state with a pretty heavy frost in all areas. Most tender things were hurt, he said.

H. C. Hetzel with the American Fruit Growers said that "beans were pretty well picked over but what was left was damaged by this morning's low temperatures and frost."

The temperature around the American Fruit Growers office on the West side registered 23 1/2 to 30 this morning, Hetzel reported.

"Over in this neck area of Zellwood," said Hetzel, "the temperatures dropped to a low of 22 1/2-23 and remained below 32 for a period of over 12 hours."

"The leaf crops are pretty well burned up from the cold," said Hetzel.

In most reporting areas it was too early this morning to estimate the damage suffered from the frost and low temperatures. Most growers were waiting on the sun to determine what damage might have been done.

On both the east and west sides of Sanford a heavy white frost fell and remained for long periods during calm.

Leafy plants near from the highways at 10 o'clock this morning were showing signs of wilt and damage.

Sanford Churches Are Making United Appeal For Blood

A West Coast man's leg and hip were shattered last fall by an accidental shotgun blast while hunting with his friends. Before he could leave the hospital, this man was given 34 pints of blood and three pints of blood plasma.

There was no way he could have obtained this quantity of blood except through a large-scale blood procurement program.

At the last meeting of the Seminole County Ministerial Association it was decided that a cooperative effort should be made toward establishing blood bank accounts for the churches of Sanford. While some few churches have established blood bank accounts most of these need replenishing.

After the need for a large-scale blood procurement program was graphically presented by the Rev. A. G. McElmra, a committee was appointed by the association president, the Rev. Milton A. Wyatt, to plan, publicize, and promote the United Church Blood Appeal. The Rev. David Caroffin and the Rev. Robert Spear were appointed with the Rev. McElmra who serves as chairman.

The first "Blood Donor Day" has been set for Tuesday Dec. 11 at the First Presbyterian Church in Sanford.

Storms Continue To Sween Western Pacific China Sea

MANILA (AP)—Hundreds of 3-man seamen were missing and the crew of an American freighter was reported abandoning ship today as storms continued to sweep the South China Sea and the Western Pacific.

A Globe Wireless intercepted a message from the 8221-ton freighter Charles E. Dant, saying the captain had ordered his 44 crewmen off in Linsayen gulf, on the west coast of Luzon Island.

The U. S. Navy ship Makinung had been standing by and presumably took the men aboard.

The Dant took a bad list when the cargo of copper concentrates it was hauling from the Philippines to Tacoma, Wash., shifted in heavy seas.

Hops dwindled for hundreds of Malay and Chinese fishermen missing off the east coast of Malaya as more bad weather grounded British Air Force planes and kept royal navy ships out of the area.

A gale early Monday smashed 80 fish traps off Johore State. Built of poles driven in deep water and fitted with nets, the traps each had up to a half dozen men living in small huts on them.

Johore police said between 200 and 300 men—"maybe more or less"—were believed missing.

New Post Office Area Landscaped By Garden Club

By Mary Fowler

DeBary—"This is a happy moment," described Mrs. Theodore B. Broome, president of the De Bary Garden club as with Mrs. John M. Byrn, chairman of the beautification group and Mrs. Talman Van Arsdale of her committee, she directed the planting of two huge cocos plumosa in front of the new post office.

"Since the day that we placed a bid on the old post office building stating that those interested in forming a Garden club in DeBary would please meet with us in the civic building - and 94 women accepted - there has been most intelligent cooperation with all committees in studying how to make DeBary more beautiful."

"This year we decided on an ambitious project; that of landscaping the new post office grounds. With the help of the Florida Lake Nursery and A. D. Rountree supervising the planting, we feel our investment of $145 is going to pay off in beauty and contentment, plus the attention that it will get from Northern visitors approaching our village."

The ladies posed with shovels and other implements but gratefully handed over the heavy tools to Rountree and his assistants and watched the planting of viburnum, pyroanthus, sevarinia cuphea, pittosporum, holly canasia, podocarpus and Sursum cherries in attractive clusters around the new edifice.

Malenkov Is Said To Be In Budapest

BUDAPEST (AP)—Former Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov was reliably reported today to be in Budapest to bolster the government of Russian-installed Premier Janos Kadar.

An excellent source, who asked not to be quoted by name, said Malenkov now a deputy Soviet premier, arrived in the Hungarian capital, Nov. 23.

This source said it was Malenkov who advised Kadar to change his lenient attitude and resort to harsh measures against still striking Hungarian workers.

This was the explanation given for Kadar's two sharp speeches broadcast Sunday and Monday in which he reversed his former conciliatory attitude in conference with leaders of the workers' council of Greater Budapest.

Although Kadar has stated explicitly that he will add only "non-partisans" to his presently 100 per cent Communist government, he conferred yesterday for three hours with Bela Kovacs, secretary general of the Smallholders party.

Kovacs, who spent more than seven years in Russian prisons and is probably the only person the Hungarian peasantry would accept as their leader had been a minister of state in Imre Nagy's short-lived government at which the Russians overthrew.

What Kadar discussed with Kovacs could not be learned.

Although the Smallholders functioned for only a few days during Nagy's brief regime after being inactive during the long Communist tenure in Hungary, the party undoubtedly would be the most powerful in the country if free elections were held.

Smallholder politicians believe that Malenkov advised Kadar not to tolerate the existence of other political parties until the "Hungarian Socialist Workers party," Kadar's new Communist party is much stronger.

Over 25,000 Hear 'Prayer For Day'

More than 25,000 calls were recorded on the "Prayer For the Day" service here in Sanford, according to the Rev. Phillip Schlessmann, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer who revealed the figures this morning.

The estimate that more than 25,000 Sanford people have heard the "Prayer For the Day" is a "minimum one," said the Rev. Schlessmann and "we believe that the figure will run into thousands more had an accurate count of the number of calls made to the service since Aug. 18 been available."

The "Prayer For the Day" is a public service made available to those who feel the need for a moment away from the cares of the world.

A caller merely asks the telephone operator for 1928 and a 30-second prayer is heard without interference from outside influences.

The service is available 24 hours a day with the prayer changed on the automatic answer service once each day.

No mention of church affiliation is made on the tape recorded prayer which is voiced by the Rev. Phillip Schlessmann. "It is a public service that we are rendering," said Pastor Schlessmann, "and we hope that more and more of our friends throughout the Sanford area will take advantage of the opportunity to use it."

The automatic answering service on which the "Prayer For the Day" is recorded, is made possible through a lease with the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Value Of Adult Education Told

Frederic C. Murray, director of Adult and Vocational Education for Seminole County, spoke to members of the Pilot Club at their meeting held in the Yacht Club last night on the value and importance of Adult Education.

"A person is never too old to learn," declared Murray as he pointed out the various programs offered in the adult education field, which are designed to create intelligent and well informed citizens, regardless of age.

The Diversified Cooperative Training Program which has been instituted in the Seminole High School for the first time this year, has attracted three girls and 10 boys thus far, stated Murray. He explained that the students attend school during the morning hours and work at their chosen vocation during the afternoon for which they receive a remuneration comparable to any beginner's pay.

Pointing out that adult education is on the upgrade in Seminole County, Murray said there are now 135 white students and 20 negroes attending vocational classes while there are 125 white and 100 negro students taking adult education courses.

Among the programs being offered in adult education and vocational training, Murray listed the Railroad Training program which was attended by 88 persons this year; the Industrial Sewing Courses; the Ceramics and Art Classes; and the business education courses which are taught by Mrs. J. P. Hall. It is planned to start public speaking classes, Spanish and Telegraphy as well as home sewing and decorating courses in the future.

In closing Murray praised the people of Seminole County and said that he hoped to continue in his chosen profession "right here in Sanford, then retire here in this lovely city."

Murray was introduced by Mrs. Nancy Brock, education chairman for the club. A vice president of the Florida Adult Education Association and treasurer of the Seminole County Education, Murray, a graduate of Nebraska State Teachers College, came to Sanford in 1948 as director of Veterans Education. He served five years in the U. S. Army and was discharged as a captain.

Mrs. Sue S. Stevenson presided over the meeting last night and reminded members that Saturday, Dec. 1 is "Pilot Club Day" for manning the Salvation Army Kettles.

Mrs. Ruth Scott, a director of the Seminole County TB Association, and a former member of the Pilot Club, spoke briefly on behalf of the Tuberculosis Association and urged all members to participate in the program by "sending in your checks for the Christmas Seal; by giving blood to the blood bank and by having X-rays made when the Mobile Unit is in town."

Announcement was made of the Christmas party which will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 11 at 6:30 p. m. Members' families are invited to attend the party. Each member was reminded to bring a toy, gift wrapped, to be turned over to the Elks Club's Community Christmas Tree.

Mrs. Viola Lambertson, public affairs chairman, volunteered to attend a supper meeting of USO representatives to be held Thursday evening at Jim Spencer's Restaurant. The Pilot Club furnishes hostesses two nights monthly year round at the local USO Center with Walter L. Carter serving this year as chairman of the committee.

An appeal was read from the White Cross Services in Orlando, for used sheets to be sent to the hospitals in Africa. For a number of years the Pilot Club has participated in this project.

There were 21 members present at the dinner and program meeting. Tickets for the club's annual Hospital Benefit Card Party which will be held in the Mayfair Inn on Jan. 15 were distributed by Mrs. M. A. Swanson.

'Porky' Oliver Is In Sanford Today

"Porky" Oliver, playing pro for the Mayfair Inn around the golfing circles of the nation since last December was in Sanford today for a brief one-hour stay.

Oliver, at the Mayfair Inn Country Club and Golf Course this morning, was on his way to West Palm Beach to take part in the tournament there.

Apparently pleased with the excellent condition of the Mayfair Inn Golf Course, "Porky" Oliver posed for The Sanford Herald pictures just before leaving for the West Palm Beach tournament.

He will be back in Sanford for the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Open in December.

Man Kills Bobcat Tuesday In Swamp

A 20-pound bobcat was killed late yesterday afternoon in the Lake Monroe Swamp just off West First Street.

C. E. Lee who lives in the area said that he has been "seeing tracks" of the hefty animal and decided yesterday to follow them.

"I saw both the male and the female playing in an open field," Lee said as he displayed the bobcat tied to his bicycle handlebars.

The female was killed with one 22 rifle shot through the head at a distance of about 50 yards, Lee said.

"More than likely the male is around," said Lee, "and I'll get him before long."

Lee explained that he was using a bolt action rifle which wasn't quite quick enough to get both of the animals as they played in the openway.

"I've seen only three bobcats in my life," he said, "and this is one of them."

CHAPTER 22

DIRK TOOK Val back to the "Caraway" bungalow. It was a low brick structure a little way out of the town on a curve of the bay. Both Jane and her husband gave Val a warm welcome and she felt immediately at home. As they drank cocktails out on the covered veranda, Jane explained the fact that Dirk should be flying back to England soon.

"You haven't even started to gather material for your book," she went on. "And John is so busy on his travels that he can't do the illustrations. He has a number already done. We'll show them to you after supper."

"Anything fresh from England today, Dirk?" John asked. "I don't want to be busy, but I noticed there was a cable waiting for you."

Dirk took a crumpled telegram from his pocket and passed it across to him. John nodded and said, "Oh, so Mrs. Featherstone's relatives have decided to drop the case. They were trying to prove undue influence, weren't they?"

"They were," Dirk agreed. "But I think they know they haven't a leg to stand on. They would have had to prove undue influence by me at the actual moment Aunt May signed her last will, and at that time I was out of the picture getting material for my book."

Jane laughed and clapped her hands. "Then all the money is yours unconditionally, Dirk? I'm so happy for you."

"Thank you, Jane." But he wasn't looking at Jane; he was looking across at Val. He said earnestly, "You'll have to trust me to do what I think best about the money, Val."

"What is all this?" Jane looked from one to the other of them in startled surprise.

"Nothing," Dirk said quietly. "It's just something Val and I know about." He caught her gaze and added slowly, "It's something you'll have to leave me to work out, Val. You have your own problem."

Val got up at noon after a restless sleep. When she asked about Cystina she learned that she had been moved to her own home, accompanied by a private nurse. Later that afternoon she went down to the airport with the Charways to say goodbye to Dirk.

He drew her aside for a moment before he boarded the plane. "I'll write to you directly I know how to get a shipping up at home—all the time I'll be waiting for you, praying you'll come, darling."

And then an official was shouting, "All aboard," and he took her in his arms and gave her a quick, tight hug. Then he was running up the gangway in the brilliant afternoon sunshine, the airplane doors were slammed shut, the gangway was wheeled away, and the plane rose in the air. Val stood beside Jane and John and waved until the glint of the silver wings in the sunlight looked no bigger than twin stars in the distance. She waved but a faint bright speck heading toward the Blue Mountains.

Val saw little of Bruce during the following days. She glimpsed from the gossip which was as life in the hospital as it had been on shipboard that Bruce was spending a great deal of time at the Feltons' bungalow and rumor had it that the handsome doctor had not only saved Cystina's life but that he was definitely interested. She was his patient, of course, but his visits to the professor's bungalow were very frequent.

Some little time after Dirk had left she met Bruce in the foyer of the hospital. They were alone for the moment. The nurse at the reception desk had gone to lunch.

"Hello, Val. I've been trying to see you for several days." He seemed embarrassed.

"You had only to ask for me," she pointed out quietly.

"That's just what I don't want to do, Val," he said in a deep, worried voice. "I tried to explain the situation the other day. Matron Cameron is hipped on the subject of the doctors and nurses were maintaining a strictly professional relationship. That's why I wish you would think over the suggestion I made the other day," he went on urgently. "The post of assistant matron at the hospital in Mandeville, I could drive up and see you often. Professor Feltton knows both the matron and the resident surgeon and would recommend you highly. And apart from everything else, the pay would be better. You agree it might be a good idea?"

"Yes, it might be a good idea for me to go away from here," she said finally.

He put his hands on her shoulders. "You understand just why I want you to go, Val? We'd be able to see each other easier, in pleasant circumstances." His dark eyes searched her face again. "You do understand that?"

"Yes." Her voice strengthened as she asked, "How is Miss Feltton?"

"Fine. She's already lying out on the Riviera, but of course," he added rather hastily, "she isn't well enough to see visitors."

Her candid blue eyes looked up into his face. "I'd be just a visitor?"

He looked uneasily away from her. "You mean, because you've assisted at the operation? Of course," he smiled, "that would make you more than an ordinary visitor. I'll speak to Cystina today. I'm sure she'll be glad to see you."

The receptionist had finished her lunch and had come back to her desk. Bruce moved away from Val. "You've had your lunch, Val?"

"No, but I promised to look in at the Feltons' for lunch, just to see how Cystina is, you know."

"Yes, I know, Bruce."

"Well, goodbye for the moment, Val."

"Goodbye, Bruce."

She turned quickly away, walked down the corridor and into her own room. She didn't want any lunch.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE KIND OF KID I liked to have on a team I was managing," recalled Leo Durocher, "reported late one fall after the pennant race was settled. To test his metal I put him in to pitch with the score tied in the eighth inning, the bases full, and Stan Musial at bat. 'Take it in stride, son,' I told him, 'and get the ball over the plate. Any questions?'"

"The kid kicks away a pebble or two on the mound slowly and says, 'Just one thing, Mr. Durocher, I got the hiccups. Can you do something to frighten me?'"

Here's the perfect buffet supper dish for the holiday season — Lamb Curry. Or, to be different, serve it as an appetizer with the hot drinks of the season. It may be made ahead — the day before, or weeks before thanks to your freezer, to be heated, then kept hot in your pre-Christmas gift food warmer.

LAMB CURRY
(Yield: about 2 quarts)

1/2 cup butter	1 quart lamb broth or chicken stock made by dissolving 4 "chicken bouillon cubes in 1 quart of boiling water
1/2 cup chopped onion	1 medium banana, sliced (optional)
1/4 cup chopped celery	1/2 cup chutney
1 apple, peeled, sliced thin	4 cups cubed (3/4-inch cubes or pieces) boiled lamb shoulder
2 teaspoons curry powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons flour

Melt butter in large skillet or saucepan. Add garlic, onion and celery. Cook slowly, until onion is lightly browned. Add apple, curry powder, salt, and flour. Mix well and cook a few minutes. Add stock gradually, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened. Add banana, chutney, and lamb. Mix well; serve hot over steamed rice or pilaf.

To use up a small amount of leftover roast lamb, you'll like this Quick Curry Sauce. Add 1/3 cup seedless raisins to 1/2 cup water and bring to a boil. Simmer about 5 minutes to plump raisins. Stir in 1 can condensed cream of chicken soup and 1/2 to 1 teaspoon curry powder. Add lamb and heat thoroughly. Makes 1 1/2 cups sauce.

Do Christmas Shopping With Your Friends, Neighbors In Local Stores

There are 22 more shopping days until Christmas!

Within that time the Merchants of Sanford will be serving their friends and neighbors from shelf upon shelf of merchandise, packed to the very top, selected from the very choice items at the top of Santa's gift list.

It is reported that during the short period of time known as the Christmas shopping season as much as 25 per cent of the year's sales will be rung up.

So, it stands to reason that the Christmas season is an important one for the local businessman. Important, for it is with the profit he makes in this particular season of the year that he will add necessary improvements to his store, expand into larger and more varied fields of merchandise, employ additional personnel, and to buy from his fellow merchants more and better equipment to operate his business.

To the citizens of Sanford and Seminole County this is a real challenge. For without the support of those who earn their livelihood here, of those who would like to see the city grow additional thousands of those who would like to see their community prosper, the merchant would be the owner of an empty shell rather than a house of plenty.

And yet, there are those who would call a loyal citizen "narrow-minded" for refusing to buy merchandise from anyone but a local merchant.

There are people in Sanford, numbers of them who are faithful to the merchants and businessmen here, who refuse to go in any store, wherever it may be, located outside of their home community to buy merchandise for Christmas giving, and daily necessities.

It must be realized that those of us who have businesses in Sanford and Seminole County depend upon Sanford and Seminole County people for customers. Those customers are neighbors, friends, acquaintances—maybe not right next door to you, but so close that we speak regularly.

The only exclusive franchise these very loyal citizens recognize is the exclusive franchise of shopping with local merchants—and only with them—regardless of what may be purchased.

Let's look around us, find our neighbors and friends among the merchants of Sanford and Seminole County and shop with them. Give each one that voice of assurance that "here we live, here we will shop, and it is here that growth and progress will be predominant in the months ahead."

There are no "narrow-minded" people among those who shop exclusively with the merchants of their own hometown. They recognize and can add up the profits that have been made by shopping in Sanford—for they've saved on gasoline, wear and tear on tires and car, parking costs, shoe leather, and the general condition of the nerves. Not to include, perhaps, the hours of time consumed in travel, meals, and walking.

And let's not forget that extra pleasure one will get when shopping with friends and neighbors—and the "Merry Christmas" greeting between good friends who have added to one another's prosperity and good will.

Is America Slipping?

America is the greatest country in the world, the freest of all nations, the richest and most advanced. Each of us, according to his or her choice, can get worked up over quiz contests, Elvis Presley, Marilyn Monroe, the bowling championships, a million-dollar movie, the 1957 model cars, or whatever you wish. But with all due respect to entertainment, leisure, comfort, the greatness of America and its citizenry it is far from inappropriate to state, and keep repeating, that unless Americans learn more about their children can perish.

The growing lack of concern for education, the declining curiosity which seems to coincide with television, the disinclination of many to learn, is a danger. A modern society can retain a position of leadership and dominance only by the use of knowledge. A modern nation can retain its democratic freedoms only if its citizenry is informed and relatively well educated.

Technical and scientific knowledge, engineering knowledge and skill, a greater sense of history—these are but a part of what is involved in our development, our maintenance of our present world position and perhaps, in the last analysis, our survival.

Sports and entertainment need not be scorned, but a sense of balance and perspective must be retained. The strength of a nation depends significantly upon the knowledge, the education and the skill of its citizens.

Is America doing enough to keep up, to continue developing? Or is America slipping into complacency?

This is one of the most important questions we can ask ourselves and think about at the present time.

The average person spends from 11 to 14 hours of his waking hours daily in total darkness, scientists say. This includes not only night hours, but the time spent in blinking. We wonder if they figured in the time the average person spends with his eyes closed to his own faults.

It seems you just about finish the last of the Thanksgiving turkey hash when it's time to pick out the bird for Christmas.

PART THAT WENT OVER THE FENCE LAST

Businessmen Becoming Cautious

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Most trade and manufacturing concerns are flying high. But caution is coming back into the thinking of a growing number of businessmen today.

It showed up first in the stock market. Daily ups and downs there have been attributed to war scares as they wax and wane. The return to a cold war basis—with the possibility of even worse—has played a large part in the planning of both stock traders and industrialists.

But there is a group in Wall Street—even if a minority as far as sounding off is concerned—who have been wondering about the high price of stocks and the high speed of industry as it climbed to new heights.

In the market the worry has been over the debated question of whether stock prices have risen faster than earnings and so are now anticipating what industry will be doing well into the future.

In industry the worry is whether another leveling off period may be ahead. Earlier this year industry paused after a headlong upward rush and leveled off for a while after the end of the steel strike, it shot upward again.

Industrial production apparently climbed to a new high in November. Department store sales are running a bit ahead of a year ago. Personal incomes, on average, are at a new high. In many places employment is at a record high. Few, if any, see any marked backing down from these heady heights.

But some are beginning to preach caution. Before they left for Hollywood, Fla., for their annual convention, a number of members of the Investment Bankers Assn. of America were advising their clients to take a cautious approach to common stocks and were praising the virtues of bonds and to exempt securities.

The uncertainties they see in the outlook include the touchy affairs in the Mid East and in eastern Europe where others than ourselves have already upset trade routes, piled up problems of getting oil and dollars on the western Europeans—a crisis that some 1,200 American exporters, importers and financiers are worrying with at the convention sponsored by the National Foreign Trade Council here this week.

The uncertainties here at home include the yet to be tested willingness of motorists to buy as many of the new cars as Detroit thinks they should. There is also the general question of higher prices and the consumer's willingness of ability to pay.

The National Assn. of Purchasing Agents say that so far there is no sign that war scares have influenced the buying of its members. But it says they are much more cautious now about buying far ahead—both because of the increased prices and the easy avail-

Mid-East Never Runs Out Of Trouble

By ED CREECH

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—The Middle East is short of many things, but it never runs out of trouble. As if the Suez affair weren't bad enough, a Syrian crisis now is brewing on the edge of it. Could be a bad ome, too, and another threat to world peace.

The main reason: Russia unquestionably has gained a foothold in the ancient Syrian desert land. Some American authorities are concerned that Syria may be sucked all the way into the Communist orbit.

Syria has been accepting arms from Russia. Also, all but unopposed in the favor over Suez, pro-Soviet officers have seized control of Syria's 80,000-man army. It would surprise nobody if the army seized formal control of the government.

Now add these facts: 1. Syria would be the obvious staging area for the "volunteers" Russia still says she is ready to throw against the British, French and Israeli forces which have not yet withdrawn from the Suez area.

2. Moscow radio charged yesterday that Syria's well-heeled neighbor Iraq has been trying to flood Syria with arms for use in a revolt against the government. With a perfectly straight face, Russia denounced "subversive activities" of this kind as "criminal."

3. Iraq followed through within hours with a request to the United States for "more defensive arms" including planes and anti-aircraft guns. This country has been sending munitions to oil-rich Iraq but the amounts never have been disclosed.

There are other factors aplenty, but these alone show the stored-up lightning in the situation—with the United States already involved.

They indicate, too, the extent to which the camel's nose is in the tent, to use an old desert saying. In other words, how far Russian penetration of the Middle East is proceeding.

Trouble is nothing new to Syria, which has known little else since the days of the conquering Greeks 2,000 years ago.

But trouble is the last thing the Missouri-sized country needs right now.

She's in bad shape economically as a result of the crisis over Suez—and part of this trouble is home-grown.

With no interference from the authorities, three stations on the pipeline running across Syria from Iraq to the Mediterranean have been blown up—a prize example of cutting off one's nose to spite Britain's face. Syria lost millions of dollars in badly needed revenue—she gets a rake-off on oil flowing through the lines. She also cut off a major source of her own fuel.

A glance at the map will show you Syria's strategic importance. Turkey—which only Monday accused the Syrians of fomenting trouble with neighboring countries—lies to the north. Iraq, Jordan and Israel form a rim on the east and south. Lebanon fits in like a jigaw puzzle on the west, leaving Syria with a short but vital stretch of Mediterranean seacoast between Lebanon and Turkey.

A handler operating base for the Russians would be hard to imagine. It would be equally hard to imagine Turkey and Iraq, which could crush Syria like a nut in a cracker, standing by idly while such a thing happened—to say nothing of the reaction of the United States and Britain.

Salvador Dali Is Using New Method Called Bulletism

NEW YORK (AP)—Painter Salvador Dali, whose artistic technique heretofore has been unlike anything in this world, or out of it, has a new method now—"bulletism."

While the new technique still is something out of this world, the 31-year-old Spanish artist feels that it is appropriate "now that everything is in bullets."

He uses a forerunner of the musket, a 16th Century device known as the arquebus, to produce his pictures. Instead of painting pictures, it seems, he shoots them.

Dali, arriving on the liner United States, gave ship news reporters the details of the method. Their heads are still spinning.

At best they could understand it, the idea is this: Dali makes holes in lead pellets and inserts pieces of lithographic pencils in the holes.

Then he places the pellets in his arquebus and fires them at a stone lithographic plate, "creating a violent, most explosive and tremendous force on the stone."

He said it also creates "lines of force or tension—in every direction—fast, violent and clean." As the mustachioed artist explained, he laboriously welded his 20-pound, five-foot arquebus to make his points. Reporters scurried to keep his point in the other direction from them.

Dali, asserting "that he is 'bursting with electricity'" over the scheme, said he got the idea last summer while shooting in his back yard at Port Lligat, Spain. The result, he said, was "no more pencils—bullets from now on."

Home Troubles May Harm Child's Eyes

By NEWMAN M. BROWNE, M.D.

UNHAPPY home life may even develop before the child is 8. Once there is a harmful effect upon the eyesight of some children.

In a study of some 600 cross-eyed youngsters, the Meter Vision Institute reports, it was estimated that as high as 25 per cent of the cases might have been caused by emotional disturbances.

Emotional disturbances may be present in a child's life when the parents are established by the parents, the children's vision usually improved rapidly.

Doesn't Strike Suddenly? A cross-eyed condition resulting from lack of coordination between the eye muscles usually doesn't appear suddenly. Generally it's likely to sneak up on a youngster so gradually that it goes unnoticed for quite a while.

In the early stages, a child's eyes may be perfectly straight when looking up or at distant objects. They are apt to be out of line only when he looks down to read or does other close-range tasks. For this reason, you've got to watch your child's vision very carefully.

Unless you take prompt corrective measures, the eye might, in some cases, even become permanently crossed. Even worse, the turning eye may be suppressed until it loses its vision through disuse.

Before It's Too Late! Generally crossed eyes will develop before the child is 8. Once detected, the child needs the help of a competent vision specialist. This specialist might advise occlusion, corrective glasses, visual exercises, an operation, or a combination of some of these remedies.

Conclusion means that one eye is covered up so that the other eye—the squinting eye—is forced into more activity. Occlusion can be total, shutting out all light, or partial, allowing some light to enter the eye.

Length of Time An eye doesn't have to be occluded constantly. It can be done for a week, a month or even longer. It also can be done intermittently for an hour or so at a time.

Spectacles with special lenses are available for this. Sometimes tie-on patches or pads of cotton placed over the closed eyelid and fastened with adhesive tape, can be used.

QUESTION AND ANSWER Q. T. I have been told I have polyps of the rectum. What would you advise? A. Answer: Polyps of the rectum usually should be removed. Polyps may become cancerous if allowed to go untreated for a long period of time. Better see your doctor.

LAFF-A-DAY

"It seems silly now, but it all started with this petty little argument..."

Old West Myths Slowly Exploding

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One by one the myths about the old Wild West are being exploded.

It has been shown pretty convincingly, for example, that the ordinary oldtime cowboy, far from being deadly in a gun fight, was usually lucky if he could hit the side of a wall in a saloon brawl.

Most revolver fights between cowboys shed more ammunition than blood.

But one belief the Western fiction fan has stubbornly clung to that the average Indian was a lousy shot compared to the average U. S. cavalry trooper.

Alas, it turns out this is a false, too. It seems that, gun for gun, the noble redskin of the plains was usually more than a match for his blue-clad soldier foe. And if there had been more Indians with more guns we might all be speaking Sioux today and living in low-cost teepee projects instead of mortgaged homes.

Proof that the Indian was no slouch as a marksman—when he could get a rifle—is given in the current issue of "Guns" magazine by Stanley Vestal, a University of Oklahoma professor and noted Western authority.

He quotes a report to the secretary of war made by Gen. George Crook in 1876:

"I have seen our friendly Indians, riding at full speed, shoot and kill a wolf, also on the run; while it is a rare thing that our troops can hit an Indian on horseback, though the soldier may be on his feet at the time."

Vestal also compiled a box score of 12 major engagements in which a total of 10,336 Indians fought 5,219 whites. The results: Indians 88 killed, 26 wounded; Whites 333 dead, 102 wounded; Other than the astonishingly low number of casualties on either side," Vestal said, the bat-les "reveal an important trait of the Sioux campaigns.

"The Indians, like Napoleon, fought as a rule only when they had the advantage of numbers. The Sioux killed about five times as many white soldiers as they lost Indians killed, and wounded approximately four times as many Whites.

"They did this with hardly half enough guns to go around under the best conditions, and with no cannon at all."

It has often been claimed that the reason a force of 1,000 Indians was able to wipe out 304 cavalry troopers in Custer's last stand in the battle of the Little Big Horn in 1876 was that renegades had supplied them all with repeating rifles.

"A fantastic yarn," said Vestal. "After the greatest effort, they had about half of Sitting Bull's warriors were able to obtain weapons. Of these, many had old flintlocks, condemned muskets, muzzle-loaders, smooth bores."

Army ordnance reports bear Vestal out. When the Indians later surrendered their weapons, 100 of the 284 long guns they turned in were old-fashioned muzzle-loaders and the rest were generally inferior to rifles carried by the U. S. cavalry.

Pointing out that every Indian had to arm himself at his own expense—they had no ordnance department—Vestal said it cost 20 buffalo robes or several horses to buy even a breach-loading rifle.

"Only rich Indians could afford repeaters, and rich Indians were no more numerous per capita than rich white men are."

Ammunition was so expensive that Indians with rifles conserved it for battle, and continued to hunt the buffalo with lance and bow and arrow.

Vestal said the Indian threat ended when the cavalry came up with rapid-fire Gatling guns and Hotchkiss cannon.

"The warriors could not face artillery, and a good thing, too," he said. "Man to man, too often the Indians matched the whites' firepower superiority with brains, cunning and straight shooting, and won. With the few guns they had, the Indians could shoot well."

In two world wars and in Korea thousands of American Indians also proved that, if anything, they could fight better on foot than their forefathers had on horseback.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

OLD JUDGE ELKINS was owner and editor of the Frogville Gazette for 32 years, and most of that time, he insisted, he had lost money both in circulation and advertising. Outside job printing, he added, isn't what it used to be, either. "Where do any profits come from?" he was asked. The Judge winked and said, "Every issue we make at least ten funny typographical errors—and tell 'em to them smart-alecky city magazines."

The cashier of a small-town movie drive-in was counting up the day's receipts when she suddenly saw a gun pointing at her through the wicket, and a gruff voice ringing in her ear: "Lady, that was the worst picture of the year, so I'll ask you to give me everybody's money back."

Warning signs proposed for the zoo in Central Park: "Keep your distance from the cages! Feeding yourself to the animals is strictly forbidden."

On The BOOKSHELF

By SARA KING

On the shelf and ready for circulation: "Autumn Comes Early" by Howard Breslin takes place in the summer of 1955, in a small Connecticut town. Deborah Clifford, the town librarian, falls in love with Johnny Leo, a professional baseball player, and is about to discard the premature spinstership that has been thrust upon her. Then, on the heels of Hurricane Diane, the flood strikes, bringing tragedy and confusion and unexpected heroism and cowardice—and in the midst of disaster Deborah faces her own moment of decision; life with Johnny in a new town or staying behind to help rebuild the stricken community.

"Written On Water" by Vicki Baum is about Glenn Hammers, son of a wealthy San Francisco family and Tracey Cowles, an American oil heiress. They meet in a low Mexican bar where Tracey is slumming with her husband Prince Barany. Full of action and quick paced, exciting and a wonderful combination of adventure and romance.

"Tribes That Lost Its Head" by Nicholas Monsarrat (The cruel Sea) takes place on an island off the southwest coast of Africa where primitive natives have long been living under British rule. The young native chief, fresh from Oxford, is used by an irresponsible newspaperman in search of a sensational story to shake the complacency of local British administrators. But the distorted news story gets out of hand, stirring the fires of nationalism among a savage group of natives, and a violent and bloody revolt breaks out. An outstanding novel, based on deep understanding of one of the most serious problems of our time. There's a poignant love story woven in this superb book.

"Summer Brings Gifts" by Ann Ritter is a story of an affectionate family in a secure and untroubled world. Summer in Fedella, Colo., in 1913 was an eventful time for the Galbraith family. For Mary it brought a decision on love vs. career; for Howard, an opportunity to take charge of his own life; for 10-year old Susan, magic and mischief. And for their mother, Emily, expecting a baby, this summer was one of wonder and worry. Literary Guild selection for December.

"Bride of the River" by Laura Harris is a story of antebellum New Orleans. Mary Marie had known only luxury, but when she married riverman Levi Blaisdell and went to live in the North, she had to learn the harsh reality of her new life. This is a story of a girl's hard road to maturity in a time of national upheaval.

Two new Garden Club books: "How To Make Cut Flowers Last" by Victoria Kasperki and "Party Decorations For Christmas and Other Occasions."

Two new nonfiction: Bennett Cerf's "Life of the Party" (by the way we have Fred Allen's book "Much Ado About Me" on order) and the new Burns Mantle "Best Plays of 1954-55" among which are "The Bad Seed" and "Bus Stop" and "Cat On a Hot Tin Roof."

We're all fixed up for Book week which starts today for the rest of the week. For a week the children's room has been bare of all trimmings but today we put up all new book covers and streamers and about 200 new children's and teen age books. It looks so bright and the children don't know which book to take, they all look so new and fresh. One little girl had to go get her mother to help her decide because there were too many good ones to choose.

On order: "Compulsion by Meyer Levin"; "Wildfire at Midnight" by Mary Stewart; "Profiles in Courage" by John Kennedy; "White Dove" by Helen Harney; "Marble Orchard" by Margaret Boylen; "Wind In the Forest" by Ingils Fletcher.

Bought another copy of "Don't Go Near the Water", so it should go much faster. Still tops on the best sellers list. "Nun's Story" is tops on non-fiction list.

Collegiate Echoes

By GRACE M. STINCHFIELD

This past weekend proved to be a gay time of homecoming for college students lucky enough to be in the old home town for the Thanksgiving holidays. Those arriving on Wednesday began their holiday fun by attending the Sanford-Deland football game that night where they enjoyed seeing all old acquaintances. Parties and such held afterwards gave all a chance to talk over old times with old friends. Then on Thursday each spent "turkey day" in the Thanksgiving tradition of his family. The remainder of the holidays were spent in much the same way with students "living it up" with friends they hadn't seen for several months, and also taking a few moments of rest in preparation for the long grind of studies ahead. Following church services Sunday goodbyes were said by most, and students returned to the college campus ready to buckle down again after this little breather of fun and relaxation.

Home from FSU for the holidays were Nancy Rountree, Elizabeth Woodruff, Mike Whelchel and James Davis who visited their parents Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Rountree, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Whelchel and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davis, respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wright were glad to have their daughters, Peggy and Mary Ann home for Thanksgiving from FSU.

Margaret Morrison returned Sunday to Stetson after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Morrison, for the long weekend. She had as her guests on Thanksgiving Day, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Looman, also students at Stetson.

Curtis Hughes Jr. left Sunday to resume his studies at Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga. after spending the holidays with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Hughes. While he was here he had as his houseguests Bill Leonard, of Providence, R. I., and Lance Warner of Springfield, Mass., both of whom are students at Piedmont.

Bobby and Ernie Morris were home this weekend from Uoff visiting their parents Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Morris.

Stetson freshman Jim Hawkins, Joyce Millam, Harriett Redding, Betty Varnum, and Jimmy Kelder, returned to campus Sunday evening after a weekend of fun at home visiting their parents Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Millam, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Redding, Mr. and Mrs. Varnum, and Mr. and Mrs. John Kelder Sr., respectively.

Others home from Stetson were Mary Lou Copeland, visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Copeland, and Grace Marie Stinecoper, visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stinecoper.

Holidaying with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Speer were Mary Rose Speer, freshman at Agnes Scott, and Tommy Speer, senior at U of F.

U of F had its share of those home also. Those in Sanford from their well known school were Wesley Giles, Stanley Katz, Colleen Engbreton, and Sara Jacobson who were visiting with their parents Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Giles, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Katz, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Engbreton, and Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Jacobson, respectively.

400 Fans Brave Winter Cold Last Night To See Jr High Teams Battle

Nearly 400 fans paid $1.00 to brave winter's chill last night in Memorial Stadium and watch the junior high football teams battle in a 9-0 standstill in a great defensive battle between two evenly matched teams. The game was highlighted by a 90 yard touchdown dash by Mike Roberts for the White team in the final stanza, but the play was nullified by an offside penalty.

The Orange team kept the ball in the White backyard most of the game, but the Whites were able to make substantial gains against the tough Orange defense during the first half.

Bobby Barbour and Bob Stewart, along with John Taylor were a constant threat against the Whites. In the first quarter Stewart and Barbour sparked a drive that carried to the White 15 yard line, before the White defense halted the Orange eleven and held for downs.

The second quarter found the Orange squad unable to move the ball against the stiffened White offense, and were forced to punt. The Whites returned a White fumble on the kickoff return at the White 30, and the Orange were on the move again. Barbour and Dillard again sparked the Orange, and they moved to the 12 yard line of the Whites before they had to surrender the ball on downs.

A White fumble was again capitalized on by the Orange as Don Robinson pounced on a McKibben bobble on the White 30, and the Orange were threatening again. Barbour and Taylor again sparked the Oranges and plowed through the outstanding White defense to the four yard line, where the Whites made a brilliant goal line stand and took the ball over on downs as the half ended.

The Orange went on the move again early in the third period behind the spurring of Barbour and Taylor. The White defense held strongly at the 20 yard line, and on a fourth down field goal fake, with tackle Charles Fox in the punting position, the Orange faked on a razzle-dazzle power play and Fox carried the pigskin to the White 10 yard line. But the outstanding line play of the White defense, spurred by Terry Gross and Jimmy Williams, allowed only five more yards for the drive and regained possession of the ball on their five yard line.

The determined White defense moved the ball five yards on the first play, and then on the next play Roberts cracked through the middle of the line cut to the right the touchdown that was nullified by an offside penalty.

A round of punts later and the Orange were again deep in the White territory, but Roberts chilled the final drive by stepping into an Orange pass and making the interception return to his own 27 yard line.

All through the first half the Whites were fighting with their backs to their own goal, and they did a magnificent job. The Whites showed superiority in the defensive game, and slightly edged the Orange in the offensive game. But in the second half the Orange team fired up and their defensive unit began consistently dropping the Whites for losses.

During the first quarter the chilled crowd were silent, but as the game progressed the fans warmed to the outstanding play of the teams and began cheering sides, and by the final whistle the cheering from the stands marked the game as a great success.

Co-Captains for the White team were Buddy Kirk and Alex McKibben. Bobby Barbour and Glynn Hodges were the co-captains for the Orange.

Although some splendid racing performances have been turned in on the trim quarter-mile track, the handsome new Club House rates top honors to date.

Reception has been tremendous for the beautiful glass-enclosed structure. When cold weather rolled in last week, the track didn't suffer as it has in the past, for the Club House provided heated comfort for hundreds of fans.

Hey Benny ranks as the track's top star to date, winning all four of his starts against powerful opposition. Her man Burkhardt's ace was a top performer here last season.

Several special events are up and coming on the Sanford-Oviedo track's busy calendar, including Scholarship Night on Dec. 8 and the second annual Charity Night on Dec. 20.

Seminole Coach's New Strategy Paying Off

The Sanford Seminoles came alive yesterday in a spirited scrimmage that lasted until dark and indicated that the new strategy of Bill Fleming is paying off.

Jay Hebert's Visit Here This Weekend Canceled

Jay Hebert, Sanford playing pro for the Mayfair Inn Country Club, will be unable to come to Sanford for the coming weekend as had been anticipated, Frank Mebane Jr. announced today.

Hebert was scheduled to arrive in Sanford on Thursday and conduct an exhibition and clinic at the Country Club Friday but the plans had to be cancelled so that Hebert could go on into the PGA Open in Palm Beach next week.

The tall, slim, and well tanned Hebert carries a Sanford sticker on his luggage and represents Sanford in all tournaments of the PGA circuit.

After the Palm Beach PGA Open Hebert will go to Cuba and represent Sanford in the Havana Open during the next week, and is expected to return to Sanford on December 10.

Jay's brother, Loren, who won the Pro-Am last year with the miraculous personal score of 65 and a team score of 62, will join Jay in Sanford on the 10th, and the brothers will both compete in the Second Annual Mayfair Inn $15,000 PGA Open, Dec. 13 through 16th.

Motorcade Will Escort Seminoles To Game Friday

The motorcade will be part of the homecoming festivities and will follow the football bus to the Stadium. The cars will be assembled and will leave at 6:45 p. m.

The motorcade will form at the high school and will leave with a police escort when the football bus leaves for the playing field.

All participants in the motorcade will be assured a parking place and a good seat for the game.

All interested parties are invited by the school to turn out and be in this motorcade to give the football players a big entrance for the game.

Be sure and plan to fill your car, join in the motorcade, and cheer the Seminoles on to victory this Friday night.

COTTON BOWL SELECTION TO BE MADE SATURDAY

DALLAS—Four teams—Navy, Tennessee, Georgia Tech and Syracuse—will furnish the visiting team in the Cotton Bowl and the selection will be made Saturday.

President Bob Cullum said today that the field to provide Texas Christian's opponent in the Jan. 1 football game here had been narrowed to these and that Pittsburgh which had been a contender, had been dropped because of a late game.

In its early stages when tuberculosis is easiest to cure, tuberculosis may have no warning symptoms. A chest X-ray can detect early TB.

Pulmonary tuberculosis, TB of the lungs, causes about 90 per cent of TB deaths, but the germs can attack all parts of the body.

En-lai In India On Goodwill Visit

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Chou En-lai, Premier and foreign minister of Red China, arrived here today for a 12-day goodwill visit and talks on world politics with Prime Minister Nehru.

The visit may turn out to be an effort by Chou to turn Nehru into a middle man in stalemated negotiations between the United States and Red China.

Nehru is flying to Washington for talks with President Eisenhower on Dec. 16. Authoritative sources said Chou will make a second visit to India and will talk with Nehru when he returns.

This arrangement would permit Nehru to convey Washington's reaction to any proposals Chou may have to make concerning the months-long talks between the American and Red Chinese ambassadors in Geneva.

Nehru was instrumental in getting these talks started, but they have bogged down over such issues as 10 Americans still held prisoner in Red China and Washington's insistence on guarantees against aggression in the Formosa area.

A barrage of flowers almost buried Chou as he climbed down from the plane. Nehru was on hand to extend a personal welcome. He rode with Chou on a six-mile parade from the airport to the presidential palace.

Radio TV Highlights

NEW YORK (AP)—If any honors are to be offered the leading dramatist on television this year let's not forget an Irish-born chap who had much to say and said it with mordant wit. He was born just 100 years ago and his name is George Bernard Shaw.

A goodly number of his works have appeared on the home screen in the past 12 months. As adapted for and interpreted in the TV medium all have been absorbing entertainment. Most recently came "Man and Superman" Sunday evening on "Hallmark Hall of Fame" NBC-TV.

To praise this beautifully produced and delightfully played comedy of substance is rather, at this date, to gild the lily. As another first-rate television drama adapted for a moment the medium's fast spin through the mannered Edwardian era which was directed with extraordinary television craftsmanship by George Schaefer.

With deepest bows to all involved in this production, including Joseph Schrank, who adapted the play for television, let's consider for a moment the medium's happy discovery of George Bernard Shaw.

In his prime as a playwright Shaw was sometimes considered ahead of his time. These many years later, when his work is viewed with interest by millions at home, he is most timely. Some of the social problems he pondered appear to be resolved, but the majority are not.

Shaw, in the words of St. John Ervine, hated "hypocrisy and pretentious respectability and irrational social cleavages and stupefying poverty and every kind of organized priestcraft, whether of the law or of the church or of medicine or of politics." His hatred of shibboleths pours from his plays in wry laughter.

If he were alive, and in his prime as a playwright today, using today's society as illustrative of what he was saying, no drama of his would lighten the home screen. The sponsors wouldn't heart of it. "Just look what this fellow says," they'd cry. "His social rebels must be Communists, and the way he attacks the most respected members of society, and the way he carries on about the predatory qualities of women!"

More than half of those who die from tuberculosis are men over 40.

Groups Pushing Plans To Make Highways Safer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two important groups are pushing plans to make Florida's highways safer.

Directors of the Florida Peace Officers Assn.—meeting at St. Augustine—drew up a set of proposals to be made to the Legislature's Interim Committee on Traffic Safety which closed a series of state meetings at Tallahassee today following a session at Pensacola.

Among proposals of the peace officers, some initiated by that group and other endorsements by the officers of suggestions of others:

Two license plates on each car. Drivers tests every four years and annual vehicle inspection.

Reduce the juvenile age to 16 to conform with the age for licensing drivers so that those between 16 and 17 can be dealt with in courts as adults for traffic violations.

Enact laws for movement of bicycles on highways.

Give the Department of Public Safety authority to set up speed zones and be in charge of traffic controlling devices now handled by the State Road Department.

Set speed limits of 60-65 miles an hour in daytime and 50-55 at night. Current limits—set by law—are 60 in daytime and 50 at night.

Issue drivers licenses every two years on applicants' birthday anniversaries.

Authorize use of radar and electrical devices to apprehend speeders and chemical tests for evidence of drunken driving.

Give Florida Highway Patrol enough money and personnel to police rural highways.

At the traffic committee meeting in Pensacola, D. Paul Cochran, a member of the Safety Committee at Pensacola Naval Air Station, proposed that drivers be given merits for certain periods of safe driving and demerits would have his drivers license suspended.

Cochran said such a plan had worked effectively at the air station for two years.

A driver incentive program was recommended by Ernest Priest who is in charge of driver education for Escambia County schools.

Under Priest's plan, students who complete driver education courses and are at least 18 years old would be eligible to apply for driver licenses. Those failing to take or complete the course would have to wait until they were 18.

Other proposals were maximum and minimum speed limits; compulsory automobile testing; and compulsory jail sentences for persons convicted of driving while intoxicated.

Commenting on the jail for drinking drivers, plan, Col. Frank Stears, base commander at Eglin Air Force Base, said that of 12 fatalities involving base personnel during the past year "only one was without influence of liquor."

DENNIS RYAN, 56, Lauriston, Long Island, N.Y., gets a helping hand from Rockette Carol Harbich, Newark, N.J., on his last day of work at New York's Radio City Music Hall. Ryan, who helped prepare the Music Hall stage for its opening in 1932, can look back on a career of 64 years in show business that included work with such luminaries as Pavlova, Buffalo Bill, Gertrude Lawrence and Anna Held.

Frances Langford Back In Business

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Her many fans will be happy to know that Frances Langford is back in the business again.

Many a former GI will remember sitting in a South Pacific jungle and listening to a luscious-haired charmer sing sentimental ballads in her throaty voice. To them, Frances Langford was their tangible connection with home.

Now the wartime sweetheart of the GI's is coming back to show business after a year's absence. She dropped out after her marriage to Ralph Evinrude, the outboard motor king.

Why has she come back? "Because I've been singing most of my life," she explained. "I'd be sort of lost without it." Her husband is very much in favor. "When you stop working, that's when you begin to stop living," he reasoned.

Frances, who began singing for a Tampa radio station at 15 for $3 a week, will do some TV guest spots and is negotiating a film show of her own. She will cut an album for Capitol. And MGM is talking about filming her life story.

"Only one thing worries me," she said. "Do they have to show everything?" She was assured that the subject of a film can with couches, a bar and TV set usually determine what is depicted.

The more pleasure-loving in the audience will wonder that Frances wants to go back to work at all. The Evinrudes have elegant homes in Milwaukee and Florida. And when they travel, they go in style.

They fly about the country in a DC3 that has all the comforts of home—and then some. The cabin is designed like a living room, complete with six speakers so the sound can be audible in any part of the cabin.

"We can usually follow a network show right across the country," Evinrude said. "When one channel fades out, we can turn to another in the next town and keep watching the same show."

"Once we were right at the climax of an exciting movie," Frances added. "The picture started to fade, so Ralph told the pilot to go back and circle until the movie was over."

2 Die In Explosion Of Flaming Wreck

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP)—Two persons were killed this morning in an explosion of the flaming wreckage at a railroad crossing where two trainmen and a truck driver lost their lives last night.

State police said the explosion occurred in one of the diesel locomotives of the freight train which had been derailed when a gasoline truck ran into it yesterday afternoon.

Seven others were injured in today's explosion, one critically.

Today's dead were identified as a Chesterton funeral home as Otto Koehn, 50, and George Marquardt, 56. Police said they were killed by the explosion as they were trying to get the bodies of the two trainmen out of the still-burning diesel engine.

Put Potatoes On Menu For Increased Energy

By HERMAN H. DUNN, M.D.

NUTRITIONISTS agree with you economy-minded housewives—potatoes are a good food buy. Most of you homemakers are well aware that potatoes are filling. They are a cheap way of satisfying those greedy appetites of your family.

But the lowly spud also is a good energy food. And it need not be fattening.

Buying and Storing
Here are some tips to follow when buying and storing potatoes. Don't buy those which have a greenish color on the skins. They usually have a very bitter taste. Late crop potatoes, incidentally, will keep better than others. For best results, store them in temperatures ranging between 40 and 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

And remember: potatoes that are cracked or bruised should be the first ones used.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
S. R.: My daughter, who is an epileptic, is about to be married. Is this disease hereditary?
Answer: This disease apparently is not hereditary in most instances.

Additional Calories
Milk, cream and sometimes fat are added to mashed and whipped potatoes. It makes them more tasty, but it also adds calories. The fat used in preparing fried and browned potatoes means additional calories, too.

On the other hand, a medium-sized boiled or baked potato, served without fat, contains only about 100 calories. Adding butter or gravy, of course, boosts the calorie total.

High On List
United States Department of Agriculture nutritionists rate potatoes high on the list of energy-giving foods.

From only one medium-sized potato, cooked plain, you can obtain a quarter of your daily vitamin C needs, some of the B vitamins, some iron, and other valuable minerals.

If you have a problem keeping your weight down, I suggest you eat baked or boiled potatoes instead of mashed, whipped, fried or hash-browned spuds.

First 'Blood Donor Day' Set Dec. 11 At Sanford Church

Written for The Sanford Herald

Every time you donate a pint of blood in a blood bank you increase your own chances of those of your family of coming through an accident or unexpected illness.

No one ever expects a traffic accident to happen to him, but one occurs every 23 seconds in this country, and YOU may be seriously hurt in one going home TODAY.

When the ambulance gets you to the hospital, the doctor may find that you need whole blood - fast - to replace blood you may have lost and to bring you out of shock.

Your wife or husband or other members of your family may undergo an emergency operation and lose a lot of blood. Whole blood must be readily available to replace the blood that may be lost both during and after the operation.

It is a comforting thought to know that in most American communities you or any member of your family can get the life-saving blood needed, and quickly, too, because millions of individuals like yourself have deposited blood IN ADVANCE in blood banks.

Your pastor or minister has been brought close to actual cases where families needing blood have had to send out frantic pleas for donors. Realizing these needs and preparing for them is the intelligent and most satisfying solution.

It is with this thought in mind that the churches of Sanford are sponsoring a UNITED CHURCH BLOOD APPEAL. The first 'Blood Donor Day' is to be held at the First Presbyterian Church in Sanford, Tuesday, Dec. 11.

Lutheran Advent Services Begin Dec. 5

Advent Services at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will begin next Wednesday evening at 7:30, said Rev. Phillip Schlessmann, pastor of the local congregation.

A film, "The Unfinished Task," will be shown at the service Wednesday evening Dec. 5. "It is a picture you'll never forget," Pastor Schlessmann said of the film. Explaining, he said, it is the dramatic story of the clash of two worlds - the world of John W. Bradford, successful businessman, who, despite his active church membership, worships at the shrine of material success, and

The world of his son, Jim, who turns his back on a "complacent and comfortable Christianity" and, over his father's violent protest, decides to go "all out for Christ."

On Dec. 12, the Boy's Choir of Trinity Lutheran Church, Hollyhill, accompanied by their own organist, will be featured at the midweek service. Rev. A. J. Schulz, Pastor of the Hollyhill church will conduct the service.

The Dec. 19 service will have Rev. Schlessmann in the pulpit for an Advent Season sermon and message.

All services will begin at 7:30 p. m.

SHS Homecoming Sponsors Named By Football Team

Homecoming sponsors for the annual Homecoming Game and Celebration have been named by the members of Seminole High School's football squad.

Sharing honors for the annual occasion are: Bobbie Crutchfield, Carol Nutt, Dottie Metts, and Sylvia Price.

Escorts for the young ladies who will have top honors Friday night during the Homecoming Game between the Sanford Seminoles and Lakeview High of Winter Garden are: Donald Matineux, Billie Kirehoffer, Billy Bishop and Al Stanley.

The quartet of young ladies, named by the football squad, will also attend the annual Homecoming.

"MAN OF YEAR" NAMED
ALTANTA (AP) - The Southern Seedmen's Assn. named Dr. Fred Hull of the University of Florida as its "man of the year" at the annual convention yesterday for hybrid corn varieties he developed to suit the Southern climate.

David Lowe Thrilled By Visit

One of the most heartwarming incidents growing out of the Christmas Parade yesterday was the visit of Santa Claus to David Lowe who is confined to Seminole Memorial Hospital and could not get to see all of the gayness and excitement of the big event that comes but once a year.

Santa Claus, after the parade, took time out to go by and pay a very special visit to David Lowe whom he knew could not be along the sidelines waiting for his arrival.

David was very, very excited and even though he is able to walk about the hospital some, was sitting in his wheel chair so that his talk with Santa might be just a little bit more "personal like."

The young 6½ year old lad, who has recuperated wonderfully and is very cheerful, told Santa Claus "All I want for Christmas is a bright red bicycle."

But thinking a little bit he said "Can I just touch your whiskers?"

Of course Santa gave David permission to place his hands on his long flowing white beard so that he might stroke it carefully and tenderly.

Just before Santa left he asked David if there were any more questions he would like to ask about the North Pole, and his visits, or how he made so many toys for all of the children. But the youngster in all of his excitement was so thrilled over the visit that he just "forgot to ask some very important questions."

After Santa paid his visit, David remembered that there were several questions he would like to ask—and one particular question was "How could he be all over the world at one time to make all of the boys and girls so happy?"

Throughout the afternoon and early evening—questions little David Lowe would have like to ask came back to him—one after the other.

As a matter of fact, there was nothing he could talk about but Santa Claus and what a wonderful man he is. The thrills of the visit kept registering on David's face until finally he fell asleep about it.

CofC Members Given Rundown On PGA Open

The Mayfair Inn's Country Club golf pro gave Chamber of Commerce members a rundown of the coming Mayfair Inn $15,000 PGA Open which will be held Dec. 11-16.

Mario Carfagno, who brought with him Garry Granta his assistant, said that "the qualifying rounds will be held on Dec. 11."

"There will be no Pro-Am this year," Carfagno told the Chamber of Commerce members at their Coffee Club session this morning at Mrs. Appleby's Restaurant.

"Instead," he said "there will be a clinic in which Jay Herbert, Porky Oliver, Mike Souchak, and others will appear."

Asked about some of the top players that will be in Sanford for the forthcoming PGA tournament, Carfagno said that Al Balding, the defending champion will be here for the event, as well as Sammy Sneed, Doug Ford, and many others.

"They will come to Sanford for the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Open from Havana where they will be participating in a tournament from Dec. 8 to 11," Carfagno said.

"We are expecting Dan Thompson to be in Sanford for this year's tournament," Mario Carfagno told the Chamber of Commerce members.

"The tickets are on sale now," he said, "and I am sure that all of you will want to see the events of each day."

Carfagno, in explaining the tournament procedure said that players qualifying here would automatically qualify for the California tournament.

Chamber of Commerce Manager John Krider said that, in an attempt to combine the numerous drives and campaigns into one United Appeal.

"With the approval of the Chamber's executive committee," he said "we will take the lead in such a drive next year."

Weather
Mostly sunny today high 63-70; cool again tonight, low 40-48; Friday fair and cooler.

11 Bands, 37 Floats Appear

More than 10,000 people jammed Sanford Streets yesterday to witness what has been acclaimed as the "biggest and finest Christmas Parade ever seen in this city."

Crowds began forming early yesterday as schools let out at 2:30 to allow all Seminole County children an opportunity to see the parade and to see Santa Claus.

Eleven bands and 37 floats, along with marching units and groups formed about 3:30 beginning on First St. at Sanford Ave. to stretch from the downtown intersection out to Mellonville Ave. and back toward the city again.

The parade was estimated to have been a mile and a half long. For one solid hour the parade moved west on First St. to Oak Ave. then south to Fourth St., east to Sanford Ave. and then north to Second St. where it disbanded.

The huge crowds applauded, laughed, cheered, and waved as unit by unit moved along the streets.

Children lined the streets all the way and in many places on First St. they were in to 15 deep. At no place along the 14-block route did the parade participants miss onlookers and crowds to offer their applause and admiration.

Both city and county officials headed the huge parade and each unit passed in review before the Judges' platform on First St. at Magnolia Ave. The judges were Postmaster Joel Field, Mrs. Aris Jane Lundquist, and Representative Gordon V. Frederick.

As a result of the Judges' decisions the trophies and prizes were awarded to the following participants who entered floats: Sanford Junior High School won

First Equipment Installed In New 'Phone Building

The first equipment for the projected toll free, metropolitan telephone service was installed in the new building of the Winter Park Telephone Company, New York and Welbourne Avenues, last week, company officials announced yesterday.

The equipment already installed includes a Main Distribution Frame, which will provide connection for 14,000 local telephone numbers with 3,500 existing central office lines.

Each line can serve, if necessary, up to eight telephone numbers.

The cables terminating in this Main Distribution Frame will be brought into the new building this week, and the actual work of splicing the cables and connecting them to the frame will begin immediately.

A Trunk Intermediate Distribution Frame, which will connect local telephones with points served by other telephone companies, will be installed at the same time, a company spokesman said.

The Main Distribution Frame is being installed in the company's new premises at Winter Park Telephone Company Central Office employees, who over a period of nine months have been working for training purposes, in Seymour, Indiana, where a similar installation was being made by the North Electric Company for the Indiana Telephone Corporation.

Four of these men, now thoroughly familiar with the equipment they are handling, are Traffic Manager A. E. Ludescher, Central Office Supervisor, John Burch, and Central Office Switchmen Ernest Young Jr., and Ralph Stevens.

Installation of this Main Distribution Frame will be completed by Dec. 15.
