MEANS TELLS AMAZING TALE OF KIDNAPING

Declares That 2 Men Tried Twice To Deliver Lindbergh's
Baby In Washington

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(A.P.)—Under oath in a federal court, Gaston B. Means yesterday said two men told him they tried twice unsuccessfully to deliver the kidnaped Lindbergh baby in Washington on Mar. 8, 1932, and that two weeks later they showed him a child represented as the ill-fated victim in Aiken, South Carolina.

This amazing tale was told as the convicted swindler, in a struggle to extricate himself from the conspiracy charges against him and Norman T. Winkler alias "The Fox," took the stand to tell in his own words what he knew of the kidnaping and what his part was in the attempt to ransom the child—an attempt in which Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, wealthy Washingtonian, gave him $104,000 which she never saw again.

It was a year ago today that the body of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's boy was found under a tangle of shrubs near his New Jersey home.

Gasps of surprise came from the packed District of Columbia supreme court room as Means unwound the story, working up to the bizarre climax.

The kidnapers he identified as "Wallington Henderson, head of the Communist third international in this country," and one "Irving Fenton" whom he said he met in Atlanta penitentiary.

After preceding contacts and negotiations, the two men returned he said, these two came to his home on the morning of Mar. 9, and they were "up in the air."

"They wanted to know," he testified, "why Mrs. McLean was not at Fairview (her country home in Maryland). They said they had understood she would be out there and that they had gone there with the Lindbergh baby, ready to deliver it to her only to find that she wasn't there."

"They said they then had driven the baby to Colonel Guggenheim's home (M. Robert Guggenheim, friend of Lindbergh) a long with the nurse and that Guggenheim (Continued On Page Four)

Man Is Killed In Orlando By Train; Local Men In Crew

ORLANDO, May 12.—(A.P.)—Apparently deflected by the noise of a passenger train drawing into the station, Rev. H. A. Jordan of Central Hill, father-in-law of Clarence Dalton of this city, was struck and instantly killed early yesterday afternoon when he stepped in front of a south-bound A. C. L. freight train 300 feet from the depot.

Rev. Jordan was walking on the pavement extending from the station between the tracks, proceeding in a northerly direction. A passenger train to his right evidently deflected him and according to E. C. Williams, fireman, who saw him, before being struck, had his hands to his ears to shut out the noise.

As the freight train, going south, was within a few feet of Rev. Jordan, he slipped or stepped from the pavement directly in front of the train. The wheels of the train did not pass over his body, he having collapsed in about a foot and a half space between the pavement and the rails.

The train was stopped, but when firemen reached the victim he was dead, they said. O. G. Rother, fireman, and M. Minarich, engineer, did not see the man, he engineer being on the right side of the locomotive.

A coroner's jury was quickly summoned by Justice of the Peace Sam Thayer; the body was viewed and an inquest called for 10 A. M. today.

Rev. Jordan was visiting his son-in-law in Orlando at the time of his death. He was about 60 years of age.

Supervisor Of Beer Sales Visits City

C. D. Baker, of Clermont, former bank official in that city but now one of Governor Sholtz's beer sales supervisors, spent Tuesday in Sanford inspecting the various establishments where beer is now being sold or where persons are planning to sell beer. Mr. Baker is said to have placed his key on local establishments, and before leaving he instructed all dealers as to what is expected of each.

One new state and county license had been issued at the County Tax collector's office this morning. J. D. Dossey was the purchaser.

Chinese Preparing To Defend Peiping

PEIPING, May 12.—(A.P.)—Chinese authorities moved swiftly today for the defense of Peiping after a second reconnaissance of the city by a Japanese plane was reported. The Japanese plane was reported to have been shot down by the Japanese army. The Japanese army is reported to be preparing to extend their attack to Peiping and Tientsin unless the Chinese ceased armed resistance. Chinese guns fired ineffectively at the plane. An official announcement said the Japanese plane again bombed a Chinese hospital near here killing 10. Heavy fighting continued at Nantienmen.

Revised Draft Of Public Construction-Industrial Control Bill Is Scanned

STOCK EXCHANGE ON RAMPAGE AS PRICES SURGE UP

Trading Nears Swift-Pace Made In Past Three Years

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(A.P.)—A revised draft of the public construction-industrial control bill was carried to the White House for final check with the President today and a last-minute determination on the taxation program. Speaker Rainey predicted $3,300,000,000 will be ready for congressional presentation next week.

The broad legislation which the Chief Executive approved in principle at a White House conference Wednesday was virtually completed last night by the President's special committee.

The bill, which covers the $3,300,000,000 construction program, including federal, state and municipal projects, "There will be some tax levy in the bill, enough to pay the interest and sinking fund requirements," Doughton said. "It has not yet been decided what taxes will be imposed. Between $250,000,000 and $350,000,000 is to be allotted for highway construction."

The plan is, it was said, to provide for amortization of the bonds over a period of 15 to 20 years.

Discussion at the capitol of the tax question centered around a sales tax described as a "re-employment tax," or a "breakfast tax" on coffee and tea.

Talk of new taxes drew immediate opposition, though, from some Democratic leaders, including Chairman Harrison of the Senate finance committee, which would consider it.

"I don't think," Congress would accept a general sales tax," he said. "I would rather cut down construction than impose new taxes."

Teeth were added to the provision of the bill to put into effect President Roosevelt's idea for a "partnership" between the government and industry for controlled production.

The government would be the "senior partner" of the firm, in that it would have power to set trade agreements (under no circumstances could it unilaterally work out agreements).

The industry control board, to approve agreements worked out by trade associations, would be composed of five members, four of them cabinet officers.

The taxation feature of the bill will necessitate its introduction and consideration first in the House where revenue legislation must originate.

Most of the final work on the bill was done yesterday by Senator Wagner (D. N. Y.), Donald Richberg, attorney for labor, and Hugh Johnson, associate of Harrison and the bill was kept on second reading.

HOUSE PASSES BILL ESTABLISHING BUDGET BOARDS IN COUNTIES OF LESS THAN 70,000

TALLAHASSEE, May 12.—(A.P.)—The Senate today gave into effect the biennial appropriations bill while the House passed a measure to establish budget commissions in counties of less than 70,000 population.

As the Senate progressed with the appropriations bill, it adopted an amendment to continue the state-owned radio station at Gainesville with an annual appropriation of $12,000. The state budget commission had recommended an appropriation of $25,000 annually until the state could lease the station to private operators.

The budget bill was amended to include Polk, Duval, Hillsborough, and Duval counties.

Speaker Tomarrell informed the House that the number of attaches, clerks, and stenographers employed by that body will be reduced Saturday from 160 to 124 in the interest of economy.

Seventeen senators introduced a bill to get up machinery for a state convention to ratify or reject repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The Senate also received a bill to give the Governor virtual dictatorial power over county officials' salaries.

A joint House and Senate committee recommending reduction of judicial circuits from 28 to 23 was introduced in the Senate.

Centralization of school control, giving the state board of education supervision of all financial and curricular affairs of high schools and financial affairs of elementary schools, passed final legislative action yesterday.

The House, with one minor exception, concurred in all Senate amendments to the House-approved bill.

Attempt was made yesterday by the Senate's citrus fruit committee to obtain final passage of a committee bill amending present citrus fruit laws by changing the maturity standards. Senator Herndon, Palm Beach, asked for more time, saying citrus growers in this section wanted the bill amended. The citrus committee objected to delay but a majority of senators rallied behind Herndon and the bill was kept on second reading.

FEDERAL JURY IS CHOSEN TO TRY MITCHELL

New York Banker Will Be Tried On Charge He Defrauded U. S. On His Income Tax

NEW YORK, May 12.—(A.P.)—A jury was selected in federal court yesterday to decide whether Charles E. Mitchell, internationally known banker, defrauded the government of $33,429.68 in income taxes in 1929 and 1930.

The jury, which was sworn, was composed of a coffee merchant, two clerks, two salaried, a traffic manager, civil engineer, contractor, garage owner, manager, architect and a dealer.

Max D. Steuer, veteran of many celebrated criminal trials, examined the veniremen for the defense.

Mitchell's extensive business and social connections caused U. S. Attorney Medalle to exercise extreme care in selecting the twelve. He had a long list of exclusive clubs and asked if any were members. He mentioned several utility and sugar companies, the National City Bank and the federal reserve bank and asked of the takers or any members of their families were connected with them, and went through a similar process with the lawyers associated with the defense.

Thornton's name came into the case when Medalle explained the government's charge to a prospective juror.

"The government claims," he said, "that the defendant twice misrepresented that he made a bonafide, genuine sale of stock for the purpose of deducting an income tax loss. He did that, the government claims, in the sale of securities to his wife and to W. D. Thornton, president of the Greene Cananea Company."

The taking of testimony probably will start Monday after selection of alternate jurors.

Mitchell yesterday retired from the board of directors of both the International Telephone and Telegraph corporations.

President Signs Huge Bill Giving Him Wide Inflationary Powers

IMPETUS GIVEN MOVE TO DRAFT SMITH AS MAYOR

Former Governor Is Stated To Be Only Lukewarm To Plan

NEW YORK, May 12.—(A.P.)—A move to draft Alfred E. Smith for mayor of America's largest city gained momentum in four quarters yesterday.

Meanwhile, the former governor himself took no move either to halt or to accelerate the clamor.

A close friend, however, explained that Democracy's 1928 presidential candidate is only lukewarm to the idea of becoming mayor; that he is interested at present in his business ventures, and that the shaving of his present income of about $100,000 a year to $25,000 a year, may not be a point to be considered.

It also stated he definitely will wait for a considerable time until the situation shapes up more clearly before making any statement; that he would be available as a candidate only under one or two sets of conditions, and that in either case he would enter the race only as a regular Tammany organization nominee.

The two situations are: if by chance New York were to set up a municipal financial angle like Chicago did, or if a powerful faction movement for some anti-Tammany leader were to develop.

But, these facts failed to halt the spreading movement.

Sticklers reading "Draft Al Smith for mayor" appeared on a vast number of automobiles.

Hundreds of volunteers, elected petitioners of the Powhatan Democratic Club of business and professional men, called on Smith to run as an independent.

Florella La Guardia's proposed future slate, headed by Smith and listing Norman Thomas, socialist presidential nominee in 1924 and 1928, for a lesser post— (Continued On Page Five)

TAX RETURNS OF ANDREW MELLON UNDER SCRUTINY

Investigation Will Be Made Of McFadden Charge Of Evasion

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(A.P.)—The income tax returns of Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury and ambassador to Great Britain, are under the scrutiny of the justice department as an aftermath of charges by Representative McFadden, Republican, Pennsylvania.

Attorney General Cummings said yesterday there would be a thorough investigation of the allegations made on the floor of the House by McFadden that while in the Hoover cabinet Mellon was guilty of "a specific tax evasion" of approximately $6,700,000.

Cummings told newspapermen that in addition to the McFadden charges, a number of letters had been received asking for the inquiry, "most of them voluntary contributions by people who believed they had some interest in the case."

"It is fair to say that the policy of the department is to investigate all cases where the complaint indicates that there is some substance to the allegations," Cummings said. "This is a serious case."

Main Body Of Measure Has To Do With Aiding Farmers To Get Increase In Prices

WASHINGTON, May 12.

—(A.P.)—President Roosevelt today signed into law a massive bill to raise farm prices, giving him extraordinary inflationary powers, and enabling the easing of the agricultural mortgage burden.

In taking over this unprecedented management over the currency, he made it clear that he was ready to use it "when, as and if it be necessary."

He urged farm mortgage creditors to abstain from foreclosing pending the operation of the newly signed mortgage refinancing bill.

The $543,000,000 independent office supply bill that nearly halves present veteran costs and grants the President extensive new powers to reduce government outlays was passed by the House today and sent to the Senate.

President Roosevelt held out last night an offer of a job to unemployed ex-servicemen and had one of his chief lieutenants discuss with Democratic leaders the possibility of action on the cash bonus issue at the present session of Congress.

Permission to enroll 25,000 unemployed veterans in the forest conservation corps was granted by the President in an order which will permit enlistment of the former soldiers "as rapidly as possible."

The President's move came while groups were converging on the city to demand cash payment of the adjusted service certificates. One of the principal arguments of the bonus proponents has been that veterans cannot obtain work.

Just as a right wing group of veterans marched down into the city from an overnight stay on Capitol Hill, Lewis W. Douglas, director of the budget, began a conference with Democratic members of the House Ways and Means Committee over the question of bonus payment. The budget chief, who was instrumental in drafting regulations to slash some $100,000,000 from veterans' benefits sought to gauge sentiment. (Continued on Page Five)

TRADING NEARS SWIFT-PACE MADE IN PAST THREE YEARS

NEW YORK, May 12.—(A.P.)—The stock exchange and Chicago wheat pit went on a frenzied page of bullishness yesterday, marking up scores of prices in the highest in a year and a half.

The stock market surged up $1 to $5 a share for many leading issues, with trading coming close to the swiftest pace of the past three years.

With the government crop report pointing to the smallest wheat harvest since 1904, that staple surged up about 3 cents a bushel in Chicago, reaching the best levels since 1931, and closing with net gains of 2-5/8 to 2-7/8 cents.

The bond market, and other staple markets, also joined the upward procession. Trading in bonds was the largest since September, 1931, with rail bonds scoring many advances of $10 to $40 per bond of $1,000 face value.

Cotton futures in New York surged up $1.50 to $1.70, to the best level since last September, and cattle prices at Chicago also touched the best prices since that month.

Wool futures advanced 2 to 3-1/2 cents a pound, raw silk 6 to 8 cents, crude rubber 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents, silver futures, 10 to 25 of a cent a pound, raw hides, 25 to 30 of a cent, and raw sugar, 1 to 1 1/2 of a cent a pound.

The final acceptance of Congress of the farm relief-inflation bill, together with continued reports of expanding business, and the prospect of a short wheat crop, fanned the speculative flames in financial markets generally.

While Wall Street watched closely the developments in Washington, particularly those designed to expand employment and end cut-throat competition, and to coordinate the railroad services to end competitive waste, it was most keenly interested in the increasing evidence of expanding business, together with stepping up of commerce purchasing power for farm products. The increase in farm purchasing power since March, as indicated by advancing markets, has been estimated as high as $1,000,000,000.

Bill Affecting City Limits Introduced By 2 Local Solons

The Associated Press Today Advised The Herald That Representatives C. W. Entminger Today Had Introduced House Bill No. 1035 Redefining The Boundaries Of The City Of Sanford And House Bill No. 1036 Providing For A New Fence Law For Seminole County.

The Associated Press today advised the Herald that Representatives C. W. Entminger today had introduced House Bill No. 1035 redefining the boundaries of the City of Sanford and House Bill No. 1036 providing for a new fence law for Seminole County.

Under the terms of the first bill, the city limits will be reduced by nearly five square miles. Farm and residential property with a 1932 assessed valuation of over $400,000 is included in the part that will be excluded if the Legislature approves the bill.

The new city limits will be as follows, under the terms of the bill: On the West, the line will start at a point in Lake Monroe to run directly south along the center of Grapeville Avenue to a point between 12th and 13 Streets. Here the boundary turns eastward for about four blocks to Jerry Street. The line turns southward through a portion of the Lockhart subdivision to Hughey Street, thence eastward along Hughey Street to a section line just east of Olive Avenue in Pinhurst.

The line turns southward for two blocks to 22nd Street, and eastward five blocks to Mulhawk Avenue. Turning southward for the last time, the line runs along Mulhawk Avenue through Dreamworld to what would be an extension of Woodruff Street, here it turns eastward to the West Side of Mulhollow Avenue. Thence southward to Geneva Avenue, eastward to the old city limits line which runs along the eastern boundary of Bel-Air and Buena Vista subdivisions. The line runs northward to Eighth Street where it goes westward about 60 feet to run northward through Fort Mellon and Marvania subdivisions just east of Summerlin Avenue.

'Lindbergh Law' Is Invoked To Send Up Gang Of Kidnapers

PEORIA, Ill., May 12.—(A.P.)—The so-called "Lindbergh law" was invoked yesterday to bring sentences to six reputed members of an Illinois-Louisiana kidnap gang convicted of complicity in the abduction of Adolphus Hough, East Moline, and civil defendant, Spring Valley.

It took a federal jury but five hours to convict them.

Three of those convicted—Mike Tataros, Davonport, Iowa, Frank Bellino and Joe Vasalonia, were given the maximum sentences, 12 years each in the federal penitentiary and $5,000 fines by Judge Louis Fitzlarry.

Wesley E. Fritchett, Chicago, was sentenced to serve 22 years and fined $5,000; Arthur Cleveland, alias Home Lee, Davonport, and Carl (Johnny) Miller, brother of Frank, Chicago, each was sentenced to serve ten years.

Hough and DeLoope were abducted in separate kidnapings last winter and freed after ransom payments totaling about $20,000 in cash and jewelry. Government witnesses identified the defendants as participants.

Roundup of the men convicted followed a long investigation.

Double Slaying In Cellar Puzzling To Police And Doctors

NEW YORK, May 12.—(A.P.)—Discovery yesterday that Edward Hildes, aged and wealthy real estate man, left $200,000 to the secretary who was slain with him in a sub-cellar office Wednesday, added fresh problems for detectives already stumped by the bizarre double killing.

Now, in addition to hunting a motive for the crime and attempting to track down the slayers, authorities must answer this question: "Who died first, Hildes or his secretary, Lee Weinstein?"

Weinstein is one of the principal beneficiaries in the will of the eccentric New Jersey resident, who was reputed to be worth $2,000,000.

In the event of the secretary's earlier death, the money was to be added to the residue of the estate, which is to be divided between grand-nieces and grand-nephews.

Autopsies disclosed Hildes had been killed, shortly after he arrived in his dank, gloomy office far below the ground level, by 32 blows on the head.

Weinstein had been sent sprawling to his death by seven bullets. But just as a detective found clues to a motive for the sub-cellar slaying, so did medical examiners find no answer to the puzzling question of who died first.

REFORM BILL TO CURB BANKERS IS O. K.'D BY SENATE

Measure Provides For Separation Of Two Kinds Of Operations

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—An administration supported banking reform bill, including a provision which would require private bankers to abandon either their business in deposits or in securities, was approved Tuesday by a Senate banking sub-committee after weeks of negotiation and compromise with the White House and Capitol Hill.

The far-reaching legislation was endorsed unanimously after the sub-committee had obtained final approval from President Roosevelt.

At the last minute the committee added the important article banking amendment. It would affect such houses as J. P. Morgan & Co. The amendment would require that such banks, if they decided to retain their deposit business, must subject themselves to federal examination and publish reports of their condition.

The remainder of the bill, virtually retains provisions designed to curb the use of federal reserve credit in speculation and to insure deposits in federal reserve member banks through a gigantic $2,000,000,000 corporation.

Operation of the deposit insurance fund would be postponed until July 1, 1934, to permit examination of the 4000 banks expected to participate in it.

Deposits of $10,000 and less would be fully guaranteed; deposits from $10,000 to $50,000 would be safeguarded by 75 percent insurance, and larger deposits insured 50 percent.

The fund would be capitalized from the federal treasury; about the same from the reserves of federal reserve banks and subscriptions representing one-half of one percent of the deposit liabilities of member banks.

In addition, the corporation would have a borrowing power of twice its capitalization. Although at first its total resources

U. S. SEEKING WAY TO HELP CUBA IN ITS DIFFICULTIES

Economic Assistance, Not Intervention, Is Administration Aim

WASHINGTON, May 11.—What watches the rising tide of political terrorism in Cuba with the closest interest, the Administration is quietly feeling its way toward a new Cuban policy which it hopes will furnish a solid foundation for the pacification and economic restoration of the island without American intervention.

The mainstay of the new policy, which has been under discussion for several months, is the allotment to Cuba of a definite quantity of the sugar needed for American consumption. This allotment would be made as part of a comprehensive scheme for controlling the production of sugar in this country and its insular possessions, with the equalizing of supply and demand and a moderate rise in the price of sugar and its main objectives.

The stabilizing of Cuban finances, which rests almost entirely upon sugar, is regarded as necessary to the return of Cuba to more nearly normal political conditions. Although no member of the Administration can say as much, for obvious reasons, it is tacitly admitted by well informed persons that the partial inclusion of Cuba in the American "closed sugar area" would be made contingent upon arrangements for an early free election in Cuba.

The Administration's desire to avoid intervention in Cuba, if it is possible, is attributable partly to the cost, but preponderantly to its hope of maintaining and improving friendly relationships between the country and Latin America as a whole.

A disruption in Cuba which would bring the question of intervention to a head would be most unwelcome at this time, when the Administration is conducting conversations preliminary to the world economic conference. Some of the results which the Administration hopes to achieve, particularly in the way of tariff agreements, and the controlled production of such commodities as wheat, copper and oil, will demand warm co-operation with Latin America.

Although President Roosevelt has not taken official cognizance of the fact, persons close to him have been discussing the possibilities of controlling sugar production with representatives of all the leading sugar interests. In Atlanta, declared Mr. Steele was named chairman of the tenth world dry forces.

Valuable Data On Wild Life Brought From Dixie Swamps

CHARLESTON, S. C.—Valuable wild life specimens and a wealth of zoological data resulting from the island, have been brought back from alligator-infested Camberland Island, just off the northern coast of Georgia, by an expedition sponsored by the Christian Museum.

The party consisted of H. Jermain Slocum, field representative of the museum; Alexander Sprunt, Jr., honorary curator of ornithology; Peter Gething, assistant in ornithology; and Herbert Ravenel Sess, writer of nature stories.

One of the remarkable things mentioned by the party was the sight of a glossy ibis, never before seen so far north. They also saw a giant flock of pelicans, headed by a huge white pelican with black-tipped wings. It was the second time on record that a white pelican had been seen on the Atlantic seaboard.

With the permission of its residents, the group studied the island, primarily to determine if its wild life offered materially from that of the mainland. With the exception of a different species of salamander, it was found that while tendencies away from the

Survey Discloses Effects Of Slump On School System

WASHINGTON—Surveying the effects of the present economic crisis, on America's city schools, the federal office of education has discovered the following facts of budget cutting, it was announced recently.

Teacher salary budgets have been lowered in some cities as much as 40 percent of last year's budgets.

In more than 60 percent of the cities reporting there is an increased number of pupils per teacher in elementary schools, junior high schools and senior high schools.

Teachers decreased 2.4 percent, although enrollment increased 1.3 percent.

Ninety-one cities planned for a shorter school term.

Textbook purchases decreased 18.8 percent or by about $5,487,177. Cities bought 12.6 percent fewer elementary school books, 31.2 percent fewer junior high school books and 20.7 percent fewer senior high school books.

Capital outlay decreased 57.6 percent in two years.

Because of inadequate school building facilities, 107,000 pupils are attending school part time.

Because of lack of classroom space in regular school buildings, 59,000 pupils are housed in portable or temporary buildings.

In about 25 percent of the cities reporting, repair of existing buildings has been postponed.

The office of education points out that since the school exists for imparting knowledge to the pupils, the curriculum is generally the last thing to be touched, but adds that more than half the cities reporting have eliminated or curtailed some school activities or services.

Georgia Dries Take Action To Prevent Vote On Beer Issue

ATLANTA, Ga.—As a part of the state-wide movement to organize each county and each city ward churches of Atlanta met recently and composed a resolution requesting Governor Eugene Talmadge not to call the extra legislative session, which he has been urged by the wets to do to consider the beer question.

The resolution signed by Comer Davis and the Rev. W. J. DeBenedictis, pastor of the Capitol

View Methodist Church, and by Judge T. O. Hathcock, a leading jurist and judge of the municipal court, all of Atlanta, reads as follows:

"We, the members of the churches in the tenth ward, do request Your Excellency not to call an extra session of the Legislature to enact beer or wine legislation for the reason: That the Georgia Legislature was recently in session for 10 days and failed to pass a beer bill, although the same was presented, and we see no reason for this extra expense to be placed on the state at this time."

From the Spalding County Ministerial Association there also came a telegram to Governor Talmadge, urging the Governor not to call an extra legislative session now. In their campaign against the introduction of liquor in Georgia, the dry forces have organized 60 counties, and are sending the names of the voters opposed to beer to members of the Georgia Legislature, the Rev. E. E. Steele, pastor of the O'Connell City Baptist Church of

"Believe me, I know a low price when I see one!"

I'm buying my tires NOW!

Right now Goodyear is concentrating on two main lines of tires.

This saves money for the factory that builds them—for the dealer who sells them—and for the car owner who buys them.

If you want to know how real these savings are—and how much they mean to you—just check up on today's price of the size you need, and at the same time take a careful look at the finest quality that ever honored the Goodyear name.

This stepping up of quality, this stepping down of price leads the way to a better deal for everyone—and that's what we all want now.

Best of all—it means that everyone can afford new Goodyear Tires, especially if you buy now while prices are still low.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

GOD'S RESPONSE. If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land. — 2 Chronicles 7:14.

What this world needs, says a famous economist, is stable money. You know, something with a kick in it.

Everyone is asking Uncle Sam for relief, but the first thing we know the old boy is going to need some relief himself.

President Roosevelt is prepared to treat the bonus marchers more courteously than before, but not going to do all the treating.

Henry Ford is convinced that this is the time to burst out with some new advertising and get the business. And Henry Ford is no fool!

Of course, all of us in a way are glad to see prices start going up, but we wish it had just waited until our farmers have something to sell again.

Maybe one reason President Roosevelt thinks this is just like a war is because during the war we had a dollar a year men, and we have now.

It takes all kinds of people to make up a world, including, we suppose, the driver who signals a turn to the left and then swings to the right.

The President says we cannot bullyho ourselves out of the depression. Well, we know a couple of young magazine editors who are trying mighty hard to.

How would it be to send all the delegates to the London Economic Conference in that Italian stamship which has a new device designed to stabilize its roll?

They say that the late President of Peru left an estate of only thirty dollars. At that he was better off than if he had a trunk full of Peruvian bonds.

We're all for this constitutional amendment to free small homes from taxation. With such a law as that the time might come again when it would be cheaper to own a house than to pay rent.

The new ambassador to England insists that he positively will not wear knee pants no matter what may be the custom over there. He's just one of these old-fashioned long drawers boys.

The publisher of the Orlando papers is wet in the morning and dry in the afternoon. Tampa Tribune: It should be just the other way around. (Gee, should never drink before breakfast.)

The new beer doesn't seem to be going over so big in some of the suburbs. These young bucks who have been brought up right in the middle of the corn fields, drinking beer is just like necking a lamp post.

With all the fighting that's been going on during the past fifty years over the Chaco district, we suppose now that Paraguay and Bolivia have actually declared war, someone is liable to get hurt.

Speaking of inflation a friend of mine asks us this one: "If it is true that foreign goods are sold at higher prices, and if it is true that the proposed inflationary measures will raise prices of American made products, is it not equally true that foreign importers will be better off than ever to undersell American producers in American markets?" We'll have to leave that one for Will Rogers.

Skidding Through

One of the gravest dangers of the highways is generally recognized as skidding. A wet pavement may usually be regarded as the cause, but many a street is slippery without being wet and many a car skids on a corner which isn't slippery. Anyone who has ever been through a prolonged skid knows full well the utter feeling of helplessness which one has when brakes will no longer bring a car to a stop.

But the Literary Digest quotes the Washington Feature Service as saying that a skid, aside from being comparatively easy to overcome, can sometimes be made a very useful adjunct of conservative driving. Bacers, it is said, almost invariably resort to skidding purposely on turns in order to take them at higher speeds, and the story is told of one driver who deliberately skidded around another driver in a successful attempt to avoid a collision.

We have seen inebricated drivers make practical use of skidding between intersections when they wished to go in the opposite direction and the street was too narrow to turn around in the more conventional manner, and we have heard of the skid being used by youngsters as thrill stimulants, much as the whip is used at the carnivals, but we believe that for all practical purposes the average reader is more interested in how to come out of a skid than in how to get into one.

For this reason we quote from the Washington Feature Service which cautions drivers always to turn the steering wheel "in the direction of the skid". In other words if you begin skidding to the right, turn your wheels to the right. If the car begins to skid to the left, turn the wheels to the left. Equally as important is the admonition to release the brakes, if you have them on, or not to apply them at all if you have not already done so.

The impulse is almost irresistible when an automobile starts slipping to turn away from the skid. If you are skidding to the right, and you see a big tree coming, or a big ditch into which you are likely to overturn, human nature almost compels you to turn to the left in order to avoid these obstacles. The turn to the left, however, only further accentuates the skid and you are more likely than ever to turn over.

It is the same way with the brakes. A car begins to skid, for whatever reason, and the first thing you know you are about to crash into another car or hit a lamp post. You slam on the brakes! The car swings around three or four times and finally stops bottoms up. If you forget the brakes, forget the danger of hitting various and sundry obstacles and concentrate your efforts on straightening out your car, the chances are you will at least survive your experience.

The Navy Cut

The Navy League's criticism of the Roosevelt Administration's $55,000,000 cut in the Navy Department budget for the next fiscal year is in line with the avowed purpose of the organization, that is, to arouse public interest and solicit co-operation in all matters tending to increase the efficiency of the navy.

Any other course than the one taken recently in deepening the drastic curtailments would not be consistent with the Navy League. It is obvious that further reductions in personnel, the abandonment of navy yards, the reduction of ships on a one-third basis will not help the efficiency of our fleet, but will, in fact, seriously challenge its claim to first rank rating.

The wisdom of the planned economies is disputed in some quarters on the ground that the retirement of one-third of the fleet at rotating intervals will be more expensive than saving. It is pointed out that the cost of placing a ship back in fighting order after it has been laid up for some time is often greater than if the boat had been in continuous operation. Deterioration on an idle boat is a problem well known to every owner of a skiff.

There is always to be considered the recognized fact that in case of war the cost of unpreparedness can be measured anywhere from complete disaster to abnormal expenditures in a hurried effort to build up naval strength. And it might be added here that at no time in our history has there been such a perfect mixture of all the latent possibilities for another great international conflict. In every corner of the globe people, if not actually gripping at each other's throats, are manifestly restless, nerves are unsteady, and the atmosphere is charged with that peculiar tension which preceded the Sarajevo incident in 1914.

It is significant that the deplorable plight of all nations can be attributed in a large way to the very thing which we now find ourselves advocating as a safeguard, and it is significant that one nation, at least, has taken the lead in cutting arms and navy expenditures to relieve the public burden thereby obviating a large cause of our difficulties.

It must be said for the Administration in its periant effort to balance the federal budget and place the fiscal affairs of the government on a sound basis that no matter what its course there will be much to argue on either side of every contemplated curtailment. Perhaps, if other countries saw the need for economy as Mr. Roosevelt sees it, there would be no reason for the lurking suspicion that we can't afford to save too much on our navy.

CUBA'S PROSPERITY. Its economic soundness, its entire national outlook depend upon one commodity chiefly, cane sugar. And the rise of 100 per cent in the price of the raw product is a harbinger of hope to the island population whose big market collapsed after the World War. From being the "sugar barrel" of the world, with a foreign trade of $725,000,000 in 1924, Cuba became merely one of many big producing countries, with exports dropping to $122,000,000 in 1932. At the present time, proposals are being made that Cuba be allowed free entry of 2,000,000 tons of sugar into United States in return for tariff concessions on certain manufactured products. Another proposal is that all American tariffs on Cuban sugar be lowered in exchange for lowering of Cuban tariffs. Of course, domestic producers do not look with favor upon any extension of the market for Cuban sugar in this country, but the Administration apparently aims to take into consideration the need of fostering foreign trade consistent with adequate protection for home producers.—Christian Science Monitor.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

There is no place where the ideals of the people are so firmly fixed and so highly set as are the ideals of the people of the south, declared the secretary of the state, William Jennings Bryan, today in an address before the Southern Society of Washington. His speech throughout was glowing and laudatory of the men of that section who had taken part in the formation and affairs of the nation.

Five acres of celery in the Sanford Celery Delta, netted one greener this past season $7,350, an average of $1,470 per acre. And this amount was received from 2.5 a. b. Sanford, delivers at an average of two dollars per crate

LATIN AMERICAN TRADE

J. M. Carson, of Miami, one of Florida's authentic voices, speaking before the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce recently, told his hearers that imports and exports of Florida pass from and to the countries of Latin America reached, in 1932, the amazing total of two billion pounds of merchandise. This trade directly affected seven states in this state—Tampa, Jacksonville, Panama City, Key West, Miami, Panama City, Fort Pierce. It is a commerce, Mr. Carson said, that applies to the entire state.

He quoted figures of air and water transportation for passengers and commodities. Total passenger by air out of Miami for 1932, more than 13,000, for the first three months of 1933, more than 2,000; total express shipments by air out of Miami last year, 13,000 pounds. These shipments embraced a wide variety, from automobile parts and bicycles to socks for the President.

The speaker deprecated the "national mistake made by the people of Florida when they compelled their representatives in Congress to vote for the Hawley-Smoot tariff because it carried some slight protection for citrus fruits and winter vegetables but, on the contrary, by paralyzing the buying power of the American people, reduced them. If it were not so serious it would be amusing to reflect that the citizens of a state which has more seaports than any three states in the Union, which has more seaports engaged in the handling of Latin-American trade than any other state, should insist, for the sake of a useless tariff upon certain of its products, that its representatives should help in strangling the commerce which is carried, to and from its shores upon the highways of the sea."

Mr. Carson urged that we should meet our southern neighbors upon the ground of true sympathy with them and we should try to have a real appreciation of their conditions and of their problems. We should realize that they have their history and traditions of which they are as proud as we are of ours, that they have their own customs and their own national life, which means as much to them as ours means to us. The better we know our Latin neighbors, the better we shall like them, and the more friendly will our relations become.

This friendship, if carefully cultivated in the spirit of international good will, to the great advantage before us will be the greatest commercial asset which the state of Florida shall have. Ten or 20 years from now, we shall look back upon the beginning of the Democratic New Deal as the beginning of a commercial prosperity, which seems to us now almost unbelievable.

Tampa is particularly and vitally interested in the development of Latin-American trade. So far we have done little of a practical value to aid that development. We should be working at it all the time. The recent Pan-American Day observance here was characterized by a great deal of talk, but there has not been one definite and worthwhile result.

Tampa should have an active, diligent, tireless body engaged exclusively upon this one phase of our future growth.

There are countless opportunities for promoting better feelings, closer relations, which must mean more commerce, more business.

A vast rich Trade Empire is at our very doors. Are we to ignore it or cultivate it?

for the entire crop. In crates and cartons there were 14 solid cars, each containing 350 crates, a total of 4,900 crates.

Nick Johns, the Greek, who conducts the small fruit stand near the Star Theater, was belly cut Friday afternoon by Tom Dickens. The dispute arose over a matter of changing money and Dickens jerked out his knife and started carving Johns with the result that the doctors had to sew him up.

Less Hard Liquor Being Drunk Says Sing Sing Doctor

MACON, Ga., May 11.—(AP)—Less hard liquor has been drunk in New York state since beer was legalized, says Dr. Amos O. Squire, chief physician at Sing Sing prison.

"One man in a position to know told me that in the first two weeks of the legal sale of beer, liquor sales decreased more than 75 percent," he told newspaper men here.

Dr. Squire said the question remained whether New York state would go back to liquor, "but at present it is not drinking as much. It does seem that whiskey has largely been substituted by beer."

He was asked if beer is intoxicating.

"A man would drown in 32 beer before he could get drunk," he replied.

Dr. Squire came to Macon from Columbus, Ga., where he addressed the annual convention of the 49th district of Rotary International.

Gainesville May Be Next Legion Convention City

HAVANA, May 12.—(AP)—A report current here last night indicated that the committee chosen to reconvene the 1934 convention of the Florida American Legion Department will agree on Gainesville.

The Florida Legion is holding its annual convention here. The committee's report will be presented at today's final business session.

The report said Gainesville had a one vote margin in the preliminary vote. South Jacksonville and Jacksonville also sought the convention.

The state delegates are expected to convene here on May 15. A national vice commander, say a powerful minority had deliberately favored steady, persistent propaganda against the Legion, by labeling veterans and Legionnaires as "Treasury robbers and goldbugs." These charges, he said, were "absolutely false."

Chile Continuing Its Social Grants Despite Other Cuts

SANTIAGO, Chile.—Public opinion here applauds the courage of the government to continue the social grants to casual workers at a time when it has forced reductions in the army and navy and every other public expenditure. The monthly stipend of approximately 100,000 pesos which Chile spends in this way goes to what is known as the Beneficencia, or the service of public charity.

The Beneficencia was created in the early days of the Republic and had its origin in the fortunate cooperation of the state and society. This fact serves to explain the special character of the primary organization, in which faculties of charity and philanthropy predominated entirely.

Up to 1885, social relief organizations were governed by social organizations, established by each department at different times, as the various social groups came into existence. In 1917, in order to bring all the social relief under one rule, the government founded the Consejo Superior de Beneficencia Publica and placed it with the special task of securing unity of action and by drawing up a plan for the better organization and development of the services as a whole.

In December, 1927, a new organization was given by the social welfare system. In order to make the centralization more effective, a central board was created, under the authority of the President of the Republic, to administer and finance the services. The board is composed as follows: The Minister of Social Welfare, president; the Director General of Sanitary Services, two members of the Council of Social Protection, and the chief state educational officer.

MENUS

Salads are brought to the attention of the house-keepers of Sanford today by Miss Mabel Wilson and Mrs. Gladys Adams Smith, home economics teachers at Seminole High School. Six different varieties of tasty salads, and a recipe for mayonnaise, are included in their offering, and all may be made by purchasing ingredients from local advertisers in today's Herald.

SALADS
GOLDEN GLOW SALAD

1 pkg. lemon or orange jello.
1 c. boiling water.
1 c. canned pineapple juice.
1 T. vinegar. 1-2 t. salt.
1 c. canned pineapple diced and drained.
1 c. raw carrots, grated. 1-3 cup pecan meats finely cut.
Dissolve jello in boiling water. Add pineapple juice, vinegar and salt. Chill. When slightly thickened, add pineapple, carrots and nuts. Turn into individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Garnish with mayonnaise. Serves 6. One cup shredded cabbage may be added if desired.

TART TOMATO SALAD
1 package lemon jello.
1 pint-canned tomatoes, strained
1-2 t. lemon juice.
1 t. worcestershire sauce.
1-2 cup celery, diced.
1-2 cup sweet pickles diced or 1-2 cup india relish. Dash salt.
Dissolve jello in boiling tomato juice. Add lemon juice, salt and worcestershire sauce. Chill. When slightly thickened fold in celery and pickle. Turn into molds. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Garnish with mayonnaise. Serves 8.

STUFFED TOMATO SALAD
6 medium sized tomatoes, peeled.
2 cups cucumbers, diced.
1-8 t. salt. 1-3 cup mayonnaise.
Remove thin slice from stem of each tomato and take out seeds and part of pulp. Sprinkle inside with salt. Invert and chill 30 minutes. Add salt to mayonnaise. Add to cucumbers and toss lightly together. Pile lightly in tomatoes and sprinkle top with paprika. Serve

OF COURSE, GUS - IMPROPERLY AS THE "DARKIES" CONTINUE. I FIND MYSELF, FOR ONE, CONSISTENTLY ENTERTAINED AND EDITED BY THEM OVER AND OVER THE SILENT VARIETY. THESE ARE STILL LONG CAPS OF SILENCE WHICH KILLIVE THE PALMS AND VICE VERSA. ALTHOUGH I THOUGHT THIS WAS MY PERFORMANCE LAST EVE IN "HEAVEN'S ABOVE" TO SPEAK IN THE LANGUAGE OF THE CURT - "WELL, HOT STUFF!"

TUNA FISH SALAD
1 small can white tuna fish.
4 small apples. 1 head lettuce.
1-2 cups, diced celery.
2 T. lemon juice.
Shred tuna fish with fork after pouring off the oil. Add to diced apples, lemon juice and diced celery. Chill. Add mayonnaise before serving. Garnish with strip of pickles.

BUTTERFLY SALAD
6 slices canned pineapple. 6 dates. Raisins. Green pepper. Filimento. Cut each slice of pineapple in two. Arrange on lettuce. Use a date to form the body of the butterfly. The slices of pineapple are used to make the wings. Remaining bits of red and green pepper are used to make spots on the butterfly. Thin strips of green pepper are used to form the feelers. The butterfly is feeding on a spoonful of mayonnaise.

AVOCADO WITH TOMATO DRESSING
Halv, fresh avocado, peeled and seeded. Peel and wash fresh tomato and pass through potato ricer. Season with tobacco. Fill each half of avocado with dressing. Serve.

BASE FOR MAYONNAISE DRESSING
(This is used to increase the amount of mayonnaise per cup of oil).
3 T. corn starch. 1-4 c. cold water.
1 t. salt. 3-4 c. boiling water.
Mix the cornstarch with the cold water until smooth. Add the boiling water and salt. Cook until smooth and thick. Cool, and fold into the finished mayonnaise.

MAYONNAISE
1-2 t. mustard. 1 t. salt.
1 t. powdered sugar. Few grains of cayenne. 1 egg yolk.
1 cup vegetable oil.
Put the egg yolk, dry ingredients, and acid in a deep bowl; then add 1-2 c. of oil. With a rotary beater beat the mixture hard for several minutes until it thickens and begins to hold its shape. Add another half cup of oil and beat hard again for a minute or two; then add the remainder of the oil and beat hard for several minutes until the mixture is stiff and smooth. If a base is used, beat it into the finished mayonnaise at this stage. The base must be cold before adding. Put the dressing in a glass jar with a good top and set in the ice box until ready to serve. This method depends upon the thorough beating to make it successful. If mayonnaise curdles during the making it is a simple matter to remedy. Begin with another egg yolk and use the curdled mixture the same as oil. Beat constantly and add mixture very slowly as first.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—The White House announced that economies to be effected through reduction of payments to veterans for service connected disabilities would be reviewed with a view to making the cuts less severe.
A statement issued by Stephen Early, secretary to the President, said:
"As a result of conferences between the President, the national commander of the American Legion, Louis Johnson, and the director of the budget, the following conclusions have been reached:
"As a result of the application of the veterans' regulations, it now seems that the cut is compenation of service-connected World War veterans with specific injuries had been deeper than was originally intended. The regulations and schedules in this respect will, therefore, be reviewed so as to effect more equitable levels of payment. Careful study also will be made of the other regulations and their effects.

"By reason of the burden incident to re-rating and in order that undue hardship will not be imposed upon veterans in their application for adjustment of their cases, regional offices of the veterans' administration will not be closed as has been reported, except where it has been clearly demonstrated that regional facilities are not necessary.

"It is not contemplated that government hospitals will be closed pending a careful, thorough survey of the entire hospital situation. This, of necessity, will require considerable time.

"These conclusions are in line with the President's original statement that the regulations and schedules would be drafted so as to effect the most humane possible treatment of veterans purely disabled in war service."

Impetuous Given Move To Draft Smith As Mayor

 was received with mixed reactions in political circles.
 The New York Young Democrat Club passed, over Tammany opposition, a resolution urging Smith to assume the leadership not merely of the Democratic Party in New York City, but likewise of the great masses of right-thinking citizens of all parties who now grope for guidance.
 Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, and prominent in Republican councils, urged last night the bipartisan nomination of Smith.
 Addressing the regular monthly meeting of the Republican county committee, Dr. Butler declared the city was on the verge of bankruptcy and that "Nobody has a greater grasp of problems" than the former governor. Dr. Butler also took occasion to call for support of President Roosevelt.
 Speaking of the municipal situation, he declared:
 "Why not make the election in November unanimous? Why shouldn't the Republican organization with its 450,000 vote say New York: 'We do not care whether he is a sachem of Tammany Hall or not. We would like to join the rest of you in voting for Governor Smith as mayor.'
 "There is a man Tammany Hall would not dare oppose. Nobody has a greater grasp of the problems facing the city than he, and if I have a chance to vote for him I should like to do so."

 ment in the House toward payment of bonus certificates to all veterans and to those who are unemployed.
 It also developed that President Roosevelt has discussed the question with Democratic leaders in Congress, but no conclusion was reached in either conference. One argument which has advanced by bonus payment advocates in Congress has been that this method should be one used in spreading new currency which might be issued under the inflation bill.
 There was no indication, however, the administration has changed its opposition to payment of the bonus at this time, and the conference were regarded as simply a survey of the situation preparatory possibly to moves by the President for heading off any concerted movement in Congress to raise the issue.
 One part of the bonus army settled comfortably into a routine of food and shelter provided by the government while the opposing group for control of this year's movement wandered through the city.
 At Fort Hunt, across the Potomac River in Virginia, about 550 adherents, to the leadership of the veterans' national liaison committee, were housed in army tents in waiting for the opening of their convention Saturday.

 Mellon and has to be treated as a very fair man."
 The usual procedure is for the department of investigation of the treasury to conduct preliminary inquiries into complaints, but the attorney general indicated he would handle the Mellon case through a special investigator.
 In making his charges last week McFadden read a letter from David A. Olson, former investigator for the Senate stock market committee, asserting that in 1931 Mellon sold stock in the Western Public Service company and the Pittsburgh Coal Company showing a loss of $6,700,000 "which loss was deducted from income tax purposes."
 The Pittsburgh Coal Company stock, Olson's letter added, was repurchased by the Consolidated Company, "which company is owned 100 percent by Mr. Mellon and his family."

Olson said all the stock was repurchased 31 days after the presumed sale and that the loss deducted on the income tax return is not a proper deduction.
 McFadden said the offense recited was "more serious by the fact that Mr. Mellon, as secretary of the treasury at the time of the transactions, was in a position where he could pass upon the integrity of his own tax returns through his subordinates, David Burnett, the commissioner of internal revenue."
 Attorney General Cummings said he had also been inquiring for several weeks through the bureau of investigation into allegations of tax evasions by Japanese steamship companies.
 Olson, acting as "a citizen of the United States," has filed in the District of Columbia supreme court action charging Mellon and his successor as head of the treasury, Ogden L. Mills, with permitting foreign shipping interests to evade tax payments.
