A national survey says barbers stay at their jobs longer than practitioners of any other profession. Local barbers agree: their profession is the best. The survey said of professions requiring an advanced degree, dentists are the most stable. Not surprisingly, local dentists agree with that too.

Yancey's takes title

SANFORD — Yancey's Tractor Works of Ormond Beach won the second annual Ladies' Fence Finders Tournament Saturday at Chase Park. Yancey's opened the tournament with a 3-2 victory over the Reruns, scoring three runs in the first two innings.

Testaverde pleased with game

GREEN BAY, Wis. — Tampa Bay quarterback Vinny Testaverde said his error-free day Sunday was due to the effectiveness of his offensive line. The Bucs beat the Green Bay Packers 23-21 in the season-opener. Testaverde completed 22 of 27 passes for 205 yards and one touchdown Sunday. He threw no interceptions and was not sacked.

Packers quarterback Don Majkowski, however, threw three interceptions in completing 17 of 27 passes for 220 yards. And each interception was costly, with Tampa Bay putting points on the board with the first two and stopping a drive that could have given Green Bay the win with the third interception.

Fire rages at tire dump

DANVILLE, N.H. — Firefighters from about 20 towns battled flames reaching 30 feet into the air Monday as a stubborn fire raged at a giant tire dump, forcing the evacuation of about 50 residents near the site.

Federal Environmental Protection Agency officials were called in to deal with the environmental hazards from the thick, black, acrid smoke caused by the burning tires.

A special EPA technical assistance team was called in from New Jersey, authorities said.

The dump, owned by businessman Ernest Hunt, contains an estimated 1 million tires and has been a source of controversy since a fire raged out of control there five years ago. That fire burned for months.

Budget hearings begin

Sanford's $20.9 million budget comes under scrutiny tonight

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — City commissioners tonight will hold the first public hearing on a tentatively approved $21-million budget.

The budget, which would go into effect Oct. 1, is up 11 percent from $18.7 million last year to $20.89 million. Commissioners tentatively approved the budget in July.

The budget includes a 12-percent tax millage increase from 5.84 mills to 6.87 mills. The increase adds $1.03 per $1,000 of assessed property value to current tax rates. Current ad valorem property taxes produced $3.8 million in revenue for the city, or 18.3 percent of the total budget.

LONGWOOD — Tonight city commissioners will hold the first public hearing for the city's 1990 budget and millage rate. In July, City Administrator

Michael Abels recommended a $15.7 million budget, which included an anticipated $5 million state loan for water and sewer and capital improvements. However, the city learned it will not receive the loan during the 1990 fiscal year. See Longwood, Page 3A

American schools worth only a C-plus on principals' report card

From staff and wire reports

SANFORD — Seminole County school board chairman Ann Neiswender believes that despite a study by U.S. high school principals which says that American schools are not up to par with other industrialized nations, Seminole County schools are "above average."

Warning of consequences for the nation's future, the National Association of Secondary School Principals has issued a "report card" giving American education a C-plus, compared with an A-minus for South Korea and West Germany's B-plus.

The report differs from others that have found American young people lagging behind their foreign counterparts by examining not just student performance, but the overall commitment to education in the three societies, the NASSP said Sunday.

"I think our schools consistently demonstrate that they are excellent," Neiswender said Monday morning. "I think we would do much better than a C-plus."

The study graded the countries in 15 categories and found America rated as high as both South Korea and West Germany in just one — its commitment to compulsory schooling, an area in which all three countries received an A.

Otherwise, young Americans spend more time watching television or working at outside jobs and less time in school or doing homework, and are more likely to take drugs and live in crime-ravaged neighborhoods or single-parent families.

U.S. society, in turn, puts less emphasis on high school achievement and gives less respect to

Central Florida welcomes new medical facility

From staff and wire reports

Nearly a decade in development, the Arnold Palmer Hospital for Children and Women will open in Orlando Sept. 10 and will bring with it a higher level of health care and services to Seminole County and all of Central Florida.

"It's been a long road to make this a reality," said hospital project director Mark Jones. "The community has been behind it every step of the way and now has something it can be very proud of."

The hospital is the only one in Central Florida with an advanced neonatal intensive care unit, and in fact teaches nurses from other hospitals about the specialty. The hospital's heart-lung bypass program for infants is the only one in Florida outside Dade County. The hospital also boasts a regional treatment program for infant victims of spina bifida, a birth defect of the spine, and cancer.

The hospital's opening does not directly affect local hospitals, but will allow area doctors access to specialized treatment in the area. Previously, children who needed specialized care had to be flown to Miami, Gainesville or out-of-state. Now they can stay closer to home, according to Dr. Maritsa Patis of the Central Florida Regional Hospital.

"This won't change what we do on the local level," Patis said. However, "now children won't have to be farmed out to other areas."

The Arnold Palmer Hospital, a $38.75 million free-standing facility, is a branch of downtown's Orlando Regional Medical Center. It is comprised of a completely refurbished pre-existing eight-story tower and a newly constructed three-floor pavilion.

When it opens Sept. 10 the new hospital will expand the medical center's gynecological and pediatric service area from 60,000 square feet currently to 270,000 square feet in the Palmer complex.

Hospital officials say it is the only women's and children's hospital in the Southeast and one of only a few nationwide.

Combining the two specialties at a dedicated facility, doctors and administrators say, reduces duplication of

Chickee Court will remain Chickee Court

By SANDRA BOUCHANINE

LAKE MARY — Chickee Court, a street in the upscale Timacuan subdivision, will not be changed to Lake Dawson Court as some residents have requested. The Lake Mary commission denied the change on the recommendation of city staff Thursday night.

Timacuan, named after a Florida Indian tribe, is located off Rinehart Road. It features a golf course and other amenities, and homes range in price from $250,000 to $400,000. Two homeowners there were concerned the name Chickee "might be construed in an undesirable manner," according to a memorandum from City Planner Matt West. The name refers to the open homes built by the Seminole Indians which featured roofs with thatched palmetto leaves.

A Benjamin Outlaw, one of three homeowners presently living on the street, is not bothered by the name and wrote a letter to Mayor Dick Fess which stated that he was opposed to the change.

"Contrary to some of the comments I've heard, Chickee is an old and honorable name applied to the homes of Florida's own Seminole Indians. Such a name is consistent with other names in the Timacuan development," Outlaw wrote in a

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

GOP revolt possible in battle over child abuse

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Republican lawmakers might join Democrats in trying to force Gov. Bob Martinez to accept broader funding increases for child protection and other services during an upcoming special session.

Senate Republican Leader William "Doc" Myers of Hobe Sound has agreed to manage the child abuse issue during the Oct. 10-13 special session on abortion. He might try to force the Republican governor to back off on his vetoes of $27.5 million in programs for children and the abused this year.

If Martinez balks, Myers might try to line up enough GOP votes to help override any new vetoes.

Since Martinez took office, legislative Republicans have supported him to deny the two-thirds approval needed in both houses to override a veto.

Senate President Bob Crawford and House Leader Tom Gustafson, both Democrats, plan to meet this week to hash out strategy for the special session.

session.

Martinez originally called the special session to take up a raft of new restrictions on abortion. He expanded the call to include child abuse following the July 26 abuse death of a 3-year-old Polk County boy. He wants to make it tougher to return children to abusive parents and to provide $4.4 million to add 102 abuse investigators and foster care supervisors to the state payroll.

Some lawmakers have accused Martinez of raising the abuse issue to obscure the potential for defeat of his abortion program. They also fear the emotional abortion debate could overshadow the issue.

Martinez's commitment to the issue was also questioned in light of the programs he struck from the current year state budget.

Vetoes projects included $10.2 million to reimburse perinatal centers caring for premature babies, $3.4 million to encourage medical students to serve their residencies in poor areas and $3.9 million for a First Start program for handicapped and at-risk children from birth through age 3.

Racial gap found with contractors

UPI report

JACKSONVILLE — Only 10 of the 1,910 state-licensed contractors in Duval County are black, evidence of the lingering effects of a century of discrimination in the building trades.

The problem is of national scope, but is particularly acute in Duval County (Jacksonville), where blacks comprise 25 percent of the population but only 1 percent of the contractors licensed for lucrative government contracts.

State officials said the situation is not that different in other large Florida cities.

Car phones make drivers crime busters

MIAMI — Car telephones are turning some south Florida drivers into crime busters, and police say they are glad to have the help.

In Cooper City earlier this year, Eddy Gomez called police on his car telephone as he gave chase to two burglars he saw fleeing his neighbor's house.

"I was right on their tail, and they knew I was talking on the phone," Gomez told The Miami Herald. The two were later arrested.

In Little Havana in May, a motorist called 911 after seeing another driver about three pedestrians on a street corner. The motorist followed the gunman to Miami Beach, keeping police abreast of the chase via his mobile phone. Police arrived and arrested the man for attempted murder.

An estimated 125,000 south Florida drivers are equipped with mobile telephones, or nearly one out of every 30 drivers, and police say their tips are often useful.

"It's like having an extra set of ears and eyes on the road," said North Miami Beach Lt. Rolando Baldomero.

Physicians express unhappiness

FORT LAUDERDALE — Two out of three Broward County doctors are so unhappy with their profession that they would not recommend it for their children, a survey by the Broward County Medical Association said.

The survey results, released Monday, said malpractice woes were the greatest cause of disenchantment. Of the county's 2,300 active doctors, 600 answered the survey and 83 percent of them said they had faced at least one malpractice suit.

One in five doctors and one in three surgeons in the county operate without malpractice insurance because they cannot afford the premiums, the survey said.

Other reasons the doctors cited for unhappiness were increasing regulation by the federal government and by health maintenance organizations.

Cops seek kidnapping suspect

ORLANDO — Police are looking for a gunman who abducted an Orlando man, warned him to break up with his girlfriend, and left him handcuffed to a tree.

Miguel Pedro Adorno, 26, was not injured during the kidnapping Sunday. He told police the gunman drove him around for nearly three hours before leaving him handcuffed to the tree, where he was found screaming for help.

Investigators said the gunman may have had some connection to the family of the unidentified girlfriend.

Police suspend John driver's license

WEST PALM BEACH — Police who want to strip driving privileges from men who seek to hire prostitutes say taking those licenses away is a more effective deterrent than jail time or fines.

Some 23 men were arrested last week for soliciting prostitution in a reverse sting operation, in which a woman police officer posed as a prostitute. The men also face the possible loss of their driver's licenses.

Police have begun using a law that says people convicted of trying to hire a prostitute from their car can have their driver's license suspended for a year.

"They were not happy," Lt. David Hughes told The Miami Herald. "I think it will have a good deterrent effect."

Former crack addict: others also vulnerable

United Press International

TAMPA — A former crack addict whose life was wrecked by crack cocaine says others are just as vulnerable as he was to the highly addictive drug, and police can point to the evidence.

"Man, there's a lot of Stuart's out there," said the 24-year-old man, who agreed to be interviewed by The Tampa Tribune on the condition only his first name be published. "Crack will get anyone from Richard Pryor in Hollywood to Joe Smith in the projects."

Stuart was a middle-class University of Florida criminal justice major who drank beer and smoked marijuana occasionally, until he smoked a pipe full of crack cocaine.

Within three years, he quit school and was shot at, robbed and punched by drug dealers. He ended up in The Hillsborough County Jail serving time for theft and undergoing drug treatment.

Crack, a potent, smokable form of cocaine, transcends the boundaries of society, police say.

Those who have been arrested for crack possession include welfare recipients, truck drivers, teachers and lawyers.

An elementary school bus driver was arrested when she stopped to buy some crack before heading out on her route. A financial consultant dropped his two children at the movie theater and then went into a housing project for $40 worth of crack. He lost his money and his $25,000 Cadillac.

"Crack users are young, old, male, female," said Tampa Police Major Bert Hatcher. "We've caught 'em from 16 to 50. You never know."

Stuart, who eventually was caught stealing cars from shopping centers to support his addiction, said little would have stopped what became a $300-a-day habit.

"Man, you don't even think about the penalties before you get it or when you're smoking crack," said Stuart. "You just want it."

In Hillsborough and Pinellas counties, more than 2,500 people have been arrested this year on crack charges. A statewide sweep of crack sellers and buyers in June and August by the Florida Sheriff's Association resulted in almost 3,500 arrests. Police say the statistics will keep growing.

Stuart, who may be considered one of the luckier users, has been sentenced to drug counseling, community control and probation. He has a record and a mug shot on file at the Hillsborough Sheriff's Office.

"God, when I think of what I use to do to get that stuff, it's incredible! You think about it when you come down from your high."

A 12-percent hike in garbage pickup fees is also included in the budget. The rates will rise from $9.78 to $10.95 a month. Revenue from garbage collection fees equals 5.5 percent of the total budget.

Utility rates will increase 16 percent in the new budget. Utility revenue accounts for 29.9 percent of the total projected revenue for the coming fiscal year.

The police budget increased from $3.3 million to $4 million. Money for an improved communications system, two officers to patrol Sanford Housing Authority projects and other police activities account for more than 19 percent of the total city budget.

The city cultural affairs department budget will increase over last year's recreation department budget from $473,787 to $658,006. Included in the increase is $10,000 for youth baseball uniforms and $20,000 for recreation equipment. The budget includes $468,920 for the parks department.

The decision to split the former parks and recreation department came during budget deliberations in June. The split created a new department head position and eliminated a recreation supervisor position.

Money budgeted for fire protection will increase from $1.8 million to $2.29 million. The increase accounts for financing of a third station, and relocation of the Orlando Drive station.

The next public hearing on the budget will be Sept. 25.

In other business tonight, the city commission will reconsider its decision to opt out of the Seminole County Community Development Block Grant program. The city had dropped out of the county program to pursue money through a program for small cities, but learned last month that it ranks low among eligible municipalities.

Bill Simmons, city director of engineering and planning, told commissioners in a memorandum last week he recommended rejoining the county program "expressing strong insistence that the eligible people of the City of Sanford receive reasonable benefit" from the federal grants to the county.

Simmons said Seminole County expects to receive an additional $375,000 in CDBG grants if Sanford rejoins its program. Sanford accounts for nearly 21 percent of all low- and moderate-income persons in the county.

letter last month.

The street names there do indeed retain the heritage of the native American Indians. There is for instance Timacuan Boulevard, Mohican Boulevard and Wingback Circle. And there's Chocktaw Street, Geronimo Court and Black Hawk Court.

Developer Hubert Earley said an engineering firm names the streets in the subdivision and several residents requested the change. He said another street called Spotted Cat Court was renamed Geronimo Court last year.

Although Earley said he had no preference as to what the streets were named, about Chickee Court he simply said, "I'm not wild about it."

"I'm going to start paying attention to them (what streets are called)," he added.

Under the conditions of the street renaming policy recently developed by city staff, a street can be renamed if the existing name is duplicated in the 911 master street address guide index, the change will clarify the spelling of an existing name, or the change will create a uniform name along a continuous street that has several names.

A motion was made and passed unanimously by the commission to deny the name change. The commission said they will reconsider the matter if at least 75 percent of the residents request the change when the brand new street is built out.

There are eight lots in that particular unit, and three homeowners presently live on Chickee Court. Three more homes are under construction.

School board to consider contracts

By WEND BOBROWEN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The Seminole Education Association, the Seminole County Bus Drivers Association, the SECA (clerical workers) and the NIPSCO (non-instructional personnel) have tentatively ratified new contracts with the Seminole County school district.

"We're satisfied with all these contracts," district chief negotiator Ernest Cowley said. The unions will present the new agreements to the school board during the board's meeting Wednesday.

All employees received approximately six percent more in salary plus an additional two percent in retirement and insurance benefits, according to Cowley.

The Seminole Education Association, which has some 5,500 members, received their contract in July. In addition to their previously agreed salary and benefits increases, they made the following alterations to their contract:

- Elementary teachers will be given 40 minutes of continuous planning time or the weekly equivalent.
- Elementary teachers assigned regular classroom instruction will be given 10 minutes at the beginning of every day when they cannot be given administrative duties to perform.

- If the teacher is involved in lengthy parent conferences that extend beyond the normal school day, they will be given compensatory time that can be used on student non-attendance days.
- If the board decides to shorten class periods and add more classes, teachers have the right to initiate impact bargaining within 45 days of the date of the decision.

The 350-member bus drivers union also quickly received their contract negotiations, according to Cowley.

"Their recent pickets are unrelated to this contract," Cowley said. The picketers have said they are protesting the quality of management in the transportation department. They will bring their complaints to the school board at the Sept. 13 meeting.

Among the changes in the bus driver's contract:

- A minimum of two hours of staff training will be provided in the area of special education.
- All job vacancies and promotions will be decided on the basis of seniority.

Cowley said the approximately 700 NIPSCO employees had no problems in settlement of their contract and many of the items were simple changes in language, including:

- 10-month employees may elect to receive paychecks in 26 installments (every other week for 12 months)

- Direct deposit will be made available to employees as soon as possible.
- Employees will not be required to work at a site that has been determined, by the immediate supervisor in consultation with the employee, to be unhealthy or hazardous.

The contract for the approximately 700 SECA members proved to be the most difficult to resolve, requiring the intervention of a federal mediator on several issues, but that the process ran smoothly after the mediator's arrival.

"There was no really big issue," Cowley said, "but there was some controversy over the amount of time a teaching assistant would be required to take over a class when a teacher was out before a substitute was called in."

Some of the changes in the SECA contract were:

- All school-paid job improvement classes must be related to job assignments.
- A teaching assistant can be assigned a substitute teaching assignment in an emergency situation not to exceed two hours per day.

Two arrested in beating

LONGWOOD — Two Apopka men were arrested Sunday after their neighbor said they broke into his home Saturday night, beat him with a tire iron and took $140 from his wallet.

The man, identified in Seminole County sheriff's reports as "D. Jones," told deputies the two men knocked on the door of his 1206 Gay St. home at about 8:30 p.m. Saturday. When he answered the door, Jones said one man struck him with a tire iron. Jones said the men kept beating him and the struggle moved into the home, where the deputy reported finding numerous broken dishes.

During the struggle, Jones said his wallet was taken from his pants and later discover $140 was missing from it. One of the two men went into another room where his remains lay sleeping. The roommate told deputies he awoke to find a man going through his pants pockets.

The two men then left the home. Following an investigation, deputies arrested the two men near Longwood Village on Douglas Avenue Sunday at about 8:30 p.m. Arrested were Clinton Thomas Wiggin, 1217 Gay St., Apopka and Paul Anthony Alba, 19, no known local address. Wiggin and Alba were charged with armed robbery, burglary with assault on an occupied dwelling and aggravated battery.

Alba was additionally charged with possession of cocaine. Deputies report finding Alba with the drug during his arrest. Each man was held without bond.

'Confession' brings arrests in burglaries

SANFORD — A Geneva man was arrested at the Seminole County Sheriff's Office Sunday after deputies report he confessed to two Geneva burglaries which he said he committed to raise money for crack cocaine.

Daniel Carlton Sweet, 19, 1834 Swamp Lane, was charged with armed burglary to a dwelling, forced burglary to a dwelling and two charges of grand theft. He was taken to the Seminole County jail at 3:15 p.m. Sunday where he was held on $10,000 bond.

According to sheriff's reports, Sweet, after being read his rights, made a taped confession that on Sept. 5, he broke into two Geneva homes, taking video tape recorders, cash and jewelry worth over $3,300. In one of the homes, Sweet reportedly took a handgun.

Several arrested on drug charges

- Herman Renard Thomas, 26, 1732 Blackston Ave., Sanford, was charged with sale and delivery of cocaine and possession of drug paraphernalia by agents of the City-County Investigative Bureau at about 7:30 p.m. Friday near Southwest Road and 18th Street near Sanford. CCIB agents report buying cocaine from Thomas and finding a cocaine smoking device in his clothing after he was arrested.

- Bond was set at $5,000.
- Arthur Alexander Hervey, 20, address unknown, was arrested Friday by CCIB agents near Seventh Street and Cypress Avenue near Sanford after he reportedly sold them a substance resembling cocaine. He was charged with sale of cocaine. Bond was set at $3,000.

- John Benjamin Rouse, 18, 109 Hughes Ave., Sanford, was charged with selling cocaine and possession of a concealed firearm by CCIB agents at about 6 p.m. Friday near Cypress and Seventh Street. Agents report buying crack cocaine from Rouse. As they were placing him under arrest, agents said they saw him drop a .23-caliber revolver. Bond was set at $5,000.

DUI arrests

- Kenneth Jerome Koloski, 24, 457 Sunlake Circle, #303, Lake Mary, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol Saturday at about 4 a.m. by a Florida Highway Patrol trooper who reported seeing him weaving into the median of Interstate 4 west of Longwood. Bond was set at $500.

- Austin Jackson, 65, 1404 W. Seventh St., Sanford, was charged with DUI Friday at about 5 a.m. after a Sanford policeman reported seeing him weaving from lane-to-lane on U.S. Highway 17-92. Jackson reportedly refused to take a Breath-a-lizer test. Bond was set at $500.

- John William Baker, 45, 205 Austin St., Longwood, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol by a Lake Mary policeman early this morning. The officer reported seeing Baker's car weaving on County Road 15 at about 2:45 a.m. Baker was charged with DUI and careless driving. He was held at the Seminole County jail on $500 bond.

year and the projects hinging on this loan will be delayed one year. This drops the proposed budget to $10.7 million.

There has been no proposed property tax increase and the rate will remain at 4.15 mills for every dollar of assessed property value. This rate includes 1 mill earmarked for road improvements.

The 1990 budget highlights parks and recreation and capital improvement projects. It includes salaries for two maintenance workers for the park system, $50,000 for the continual development of Candyland Park on Grant Street and $59,000 for the replacement of playground equipment and tennis court resurfacing at Small World Park.

Abels had slashed the budget by $1.3 million, eliminating some requests from department heads including three battalion chiefs in the fire department and additional manpower in the police department.

Winning Lotto ticket sold in Sarasota

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — A lottery ticket matching all six winning Lotto numbers and worth an estimated $6 million was sold in Sarasota, state lottery officials said Sunday.

The winning numbers drawn Saturday were 1, 7, 8, 16, 20 and 47.

In addition to the one grand prize winner, 173 other tickets were sold that matched five out of six winning numbers for cash prizes of $4,643.50 apiece, lottery officials said.

Next week's Lotto grand prize jackpot is estimated at $6 million.

Also scheduled for tonight is the first reading of an ordinance to increase monthly sewer rates by approximately 5 percent to $32.97 for residential and commercial customers from the existing $31.20.

Last December, the city raised water rates by 25 percent and sewer rates by 30 percent despite much opposition by the public.

Abels said this morning the proposed increase is "based on the fact that Seminole County increased rates by 7 percent."

The county increase will become effective Oct. 1 and the city's increase is proposed to begin with the first billing cycle following Oct. 1.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the commission chambers, 175 W. Warren Ave.

Nurses file $1 million suit against center

By BRAD SWANSON
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Two former nurses at a drug treatment center in Lake Mary operated by CareUnit of Orlando have sued the center for $1 million each, claiming they were harassed and ultimately forced out of their jobs after complaining that patients were being overtranquilized and told lies.

Barbara L. Goldstein, who says she was "nurse manager" at the 100-bed center, and Marlene R. Tagliaferri, who worked there as a licensed practical nurse, filed the suit in Seminole Circuit Court. They charge in the suit they were the chief critics of the center's treatment of patients. Both nurses were employed at the center, located at 1087 Sand Pond Road in Lake Mary, for about a year and a half.

Named as defendants in the suit are: the Comprehensive Care Corporation, doing business as CareUnit of Orlando; Dr. Stephen Becker, medical director and chief of staff at the center; Valerie Constantine, chief administrator; Joseph Trim, assistant administrator; Barbara McGovern, a nurse consultant; and Amoret Bridwell, an LPN.

John Massey, the new director of the treatment center, denied the allegations made in the suit but said he could not comment further.

Goldstein says she was the center's "nurse manager" in charge of hiring and firing and the management of other nurses at the center. She said she often complained about the treatment of patients, in particular the "massive" doses of tranquilizers administered to patients "to keep them from leaving."

Goldstein and Tagliaferri, who said she was for a time in charge of administering the medications, said patients were often give "15 to 25 pills of Librium or Valium two or three times a day."

Goldstein, who now works at the crisis unit of Mental Health Services of Orlando, said that amount of medication is "five to 10 times" the normal amount prescribed for patients of drug abuse treatment programs. She said as a result of the overmedication some patients slept through group therapy sessions or fell asleep over meals. One patient went into a coma and was taken to Orlando Regional Medical Center, where he was diagnosed as suffering from Librium toxicity, she said in the suit.

Other complaints Goldstein and Tagliaferri said they made to the center's management were that staff members did not tell prospective patients that their clothing and personal effects would be removed and locked up when they checked in, and that there were patients admitted with psychological and other problems that the center is not equipped to handle.

The nurses said they also complained that the estimated time prospective patients were told their rehabilitation program would take was based on their financial or insurance resources, not on the complexity of their problems.

Goldstein said in the suit she once quit her job because of what she says were improprieties at the center, "but was wooed back with promises that reforms would be made."

She says no changes were made.

Goldstein charges that about a year ago Dr. Becker told her she was suffering from a brain disease. Goldstein, 51, said although she did not undergo any physical examination and the center management did not contact her personal physician, she was placed on unpaid medical leave and the center asked the state Board of Nursing to retract her nursing license.

Goldstein said she had to hire an attorney to represent her at a hearing before the nursing board, which ultimately rejected the challenge filed by CareUnit. She said during that time she suffered a heart attack "as a result of cumulative stress" over the situation.

Death in the bush

The murder in Kenya of renowned conservationist George Adamson, 82, focuses world attention on the growing threat posed by armed poachers who use guerrilla tactics to snatch big game and rob tourists in East Africa.

Mr. Adamson, a one-time British game warden thrust into fame by his late wife's book, "Born Free," was gunned down by automatic rifle fire. Witnesses said the killers were three men in military uniforms who are believed to be poachers from neighboring Somaliland.

Kenya has suffered a spate of robberies and killings of foreigners by poachers. Gunmen ambushed and robbed a group of 19 American tourists earlier this summer, killing one woman with automatic rifle fire. Just a few days before that incident, two French tourists were shot to death in the Meru National Park. British, Dutch and West German tourists also have died at the hands of poachers, who roam in organized groups of up to 50.

These ruthless gangs sprang up in response to the rising prices for ivory on the world market. Demand for elephant tusks has pushed the price from $2.50 to $100 a pound.

As a result of unprecedented assaults by poachers and a collapse of Kenyan government efforts to outmaneuver well-armed Somali bandits, the African elephant is faced with potential extinction.

Conservationists estimate that only 620,000 elephants survive in Africa, down from 1.2 million just 10 years ago. The threat of extinction looming over these magnificent animals extends to the many species of game animals that graze or browse mainly in areas cleared in dense bush by foraging elephants.

Kenya's Wildlife Ministry, torn by corruption and political infighting, has failed miserably to control the bands of poachers. In desperation, President Daniel Arap Moi proposed a world-wide ban on the sale of ivory. There have been calls for consumers around the globe to undermine the poachers by boycotting products made from elephant ivory, thereby driving down the lucrative prices. The United States already has banned imports of elephant ivory.

But several countries in southern Africa with thriving elephant populations have refused to accept a trade ban. The ivory they recover is sold to boost conservation efforts.

Clearly there is an urgent need for concerted international action to help Kenya eradicate the marauding poachers.

Scrap this bizarre idea

An Austin, Texas, gun dealer reportedly is trying to sell the arsenal that sniper Charles Whitman used to kill 16 people from atop the University of Texas clock tower in 1966.

As if making "collectors items" out of murder weapons isn't bizarre enough, one of the people injured in the hall of bullets says he would consider buying one for a souvenir.

But another potential buyer has the only sensible reason — he wants to grind the guns into scrap metal.

Bush should change newspapers

A significant number of friends do not share my enthusiasm — or respect — for President Bush. A scholarly friend (who holds an M.A. in English literature and an M.A. in rhetoric) chuckled when I told her I was contemplating a column about the president's reading habits. "Snoopy?" Ruth inquired. Then she got carried away. "Garfield?" "Ann Landers?"

Well, all three of her suggestions are close, since they all appear in newspapers.

George Bush is ordinarily a thoughtful and intelligent person, but in his choice of newspapers, thoughtfulness flies out the window. The recent Time magazine cover story "How Bush Decides" revealed that he scans six newspapers in the evening before retiring — The New York Times, The Washington Post, The Washington Times, The Wall Street Journal, the New York Daily News and the New York Post.

The president must be a sound sleeper; together, the news in those six papers would give anybody nightmares.

But start with geographical and ideological realities. The president lives in Washington, D.C., so he reads the hometown product, The Washington Post. Besides, it has a good sports section, a thoughtful editorial page and even better comics. The Rev. Sun Myung Moon-owned Washington Times reminds me of that old RCA

When the conservative Washington Times speaks, George Bush nods his head and murmurs, "Thank you, Ronald." The New York Times is the "paper of record." Prestigious, powerful and patriarchal, the Times is like hot cereal on an ice-cold morning. Good for you, but does it taste awful?

The Wall Street Journal, the corporate world's paper, editorially reprises The Washington Times (which is somewhere to the right of Genghis Khan). There's very little general news in the Journal. But its special articles can be informative, and its editorials probably soothe the president's troubled breast.

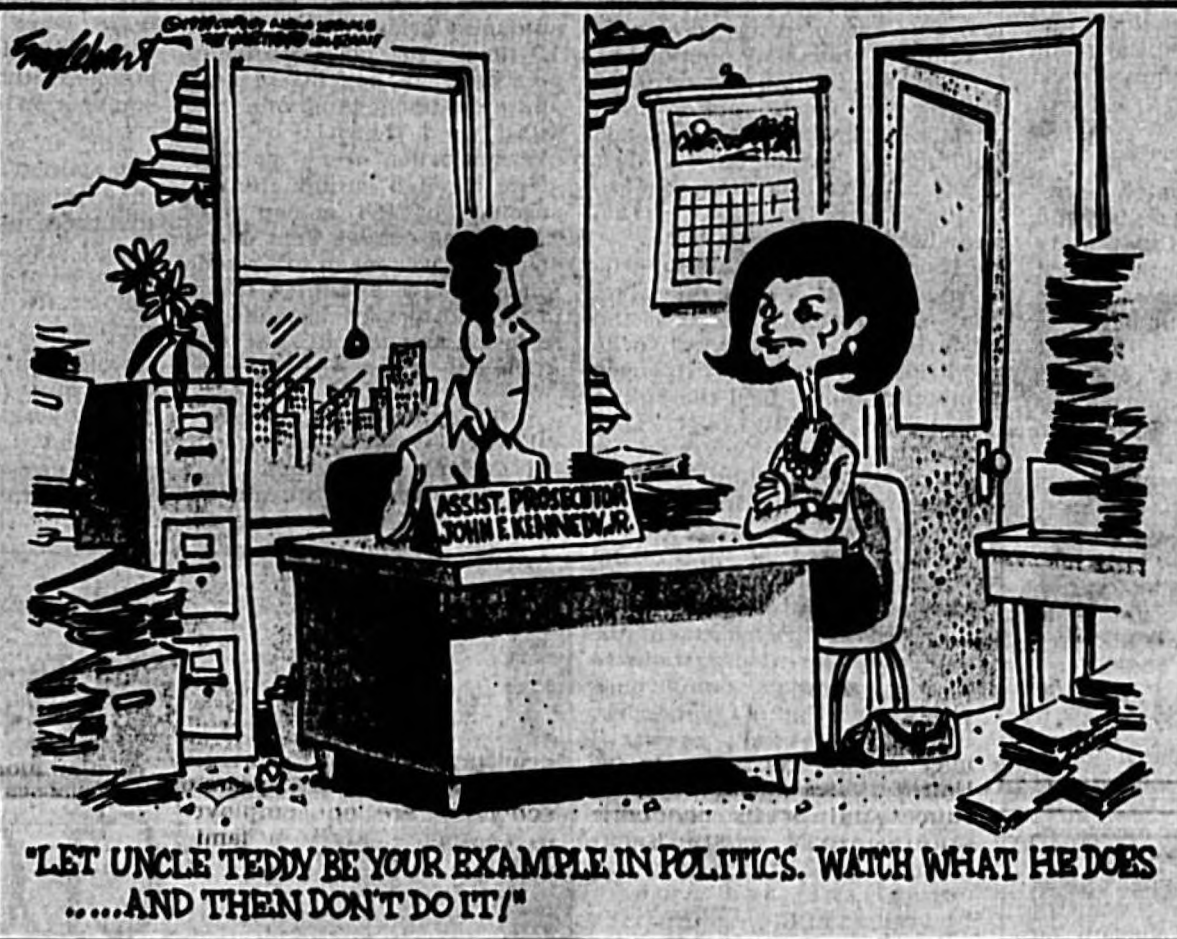

George Bush ordinarily is thoughtful and intelligent.

I draw the line at the last two newspapers — the New York Daily News and the New York Post. Obviously, our president has no shame. These two tabloids are daily exercises in juvenile, compounded by fear and nurtured by hysteria. And they ain't intelligent either. A few weeks ago on the same day, both papers had headlines in type size reserved for the collision of Mars with Saturn. "Arafat Must Die" blared the Post. "Human Chop Shop?" blathered the News. The only headline missing was "No AIDS for Elvis."

Surely, President Bush doesn't believe that the New York Daily News and the New York Post represent the "better angels of our nature." What they do represent is the worst devil of our spirit. Outside of popular gossip columns, neither paper contributes any substance to the national intelligence.

But the imperative to change President Bush's reading habits is more about geography than quality. Our New England-born, Texas-adopted president is reading six East Coast papers representing only two cities! Can you imagine the mischief Spiro Agnew could have enjoyed with Bush's Eastern Establishment press fixation?

State Department glad-hands Haiti

WASHINGTON — A coup or something worse is about to erupt in the Caribbean nation of Haiti, but the pin-striped suits at the State Department will be the last to know. A State Department delegation recently visited Haiti and gave its do-nothing president, Prosper Avril, a hearty thumbs-up.

Avril's government is in such a mess that he may not be in the presidential palace long enough to back in the adulation.

He has promised democratic elections from the time he took over in a coup last year. But there is no election in sight, and if Haiti had a Bastille, the poor and oppressed Haitians would storm it.

What Avril needed was a swift kick in the throne. What he got from the State Department envoys was chitchat. Our Haitian sources say that Deputy Assistant Secretary of State Richard Melton thanked Avril and praised him for helping bust drug runners. Is this a manifestation of a kinder, gentler State Department?

That international high-five came at the worst possible time. Members of Congress keeping track of the brewing unrest in Haiti were livid when they heard the gist of Melton's visit. The last impression they want to give Avril and the Haitian people is that the U.S. government supports a regime that has dragged the beleaguered nation to a new low.

Congress is unwilling to support Avril's bankrupt military government without a commitment for an election. A democratic government could count on $20 million in U.S. aid annually.

A source with close ties to the White House and the Haitian government told our associate Jim Lynch that Haiti has received plenty of high-level attention. Even Vice President Dan Quayle has gotten into the act. But with Colombia and Panama at the boiling point, the State Department has put Haiti on the back burner.

Assistant Secretary of State Bernard Aronson was originally supposed to make the trip to Haiti. But he sent his deputy Melton instead. A State Department spokesman defended the tone of the meeting, including the statement Melton gave to the Haitian press that the United States was "encouraged by the steps taken thus far."

What steps? The State Department spokesman paused and then noted that Avril had appointed a commission to organize an election.

True enough. After Avril was frightened by an unsuccessful coup attempt in April, he formed the election commission. Now he pays the nine commissioners $4,000 a month, and they do nothing but travel the countryside on their fat budgets. That doesn't go over well in a country where the average income is $360 a year.

Congressional sources say the Bush administration is falling for the same theatrics that blinded past U.S. presidents to the flaws of such Haitian despots as Papa Doc and Baby Doc Duvalier.

Haitians are accustomed to being taken to the cleaners by their dictators, and some think Avril is no different. Someone in the government is making a killing protecting the black market in consumer goods. An estimated 20 to 30 ships ply the waters between Miami and Haiti carrying American goods to the island and paying taxes at neither end. Thanks to the contraband, the black market is the only thriving market in Haiti.

But that money does nothing for the Haitian government. Employees are not paid on time. Roads are literally washing away. Inflation has soared.

Texans still sway Democrats

WASHINGTON — If you wanted to find the House Democratic leadership this weekend, the place to look is Erickadahl, Texas. You may have trouble locating the town, because it doesn't have a post office and it's not in the atlas. But out in west Texas' Jones County, about 50 miles north of Abilene, there's a place with a Lutheran church, a cotton gin and a grain elevator. That's Erickadahl.

Once a year, more than 1,000 people descend on Erickadahl for the annual Fun Day of its most celebrated native son, Rep. Charles W. Stenholm (D-Texas). This year, the crowd will include House Speaker Thomas S. Foley (D-Wash.) and House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt (D-Mo.)

It's not all fun and games. Charley Stenholm, an 11-year veteran of the House, is among other things the chairman of the Conservative Democratic Forum, better known as the Boll Weevil caucus. It has 48 members and another 15 who attend its meetings without formally affiliating. And with no Southerner in the House Democratic leadership for the first time in memory, Foley and Gephardt will go a long way to cultivate their conservative brethren from Dixie.

In the first eight months in 1989, the House Democrats presented a relatively unified picture to the world. Despite the disruption following the forced resignations of Speaker Jim Wright (D-Texas) and Majority Whip Tony Coelho (D-Calif.), there were relatively few policy issues on which Southern Democrats and Northern Democrats went off in opposite directions. Fewer than two dozen roll-calls — about one out of eight — produced the kind of regional and philosophical Democratic divisions which once were commonplace.

But those roll-calls involved some of the most troubled issues in American politics. Among them were school prayer, drug testing, housing discrimination, budget priorities (space exploration vs. housing and the environment), a minimum wage for all workers and the "prevailing wage" for employees of government contractors, aid to the contras and to El Salvador and a whole series of defense spending questions.

In the Pentagon budget battles, Northern Democrats and Southern Democrats took opposing stands on funding or slashing the Strategic Defense Initiative (Star Wars), the Stealth bomber, the MX mobile missile, the Midgetman missile, development of a successor to the Lance short-range missile and preparations for ending nuclear tests.

The defense battles recalled one of the key issues in the 1988 presidential campaign, with Northern Democrats voting to slash or end programs criticized by nominee Michael Dukakis and the Southern Democrats voting to preserve programs favored by President Bush.

Although the Southern Democrats sometimes were able to produce as few as 40 votes in opposition to the majority of the Northern Democrats, and never more than 75, they were a vital part of the "conservative coalition." Of the 23 roll-calls where the majority of Republicans and the majority of Southern Democrats lined up together against the majority of Northern Democrats, the "conservative coalition" triumphed 18 times and lost only five. That high percentage of victories enabled Bush to prevail on many issues where he otherwise would have been defeated in the House.

When Stenholm is asked if the pattern of the past few months suggests the re-emergence of the "conservative coalition" as the controlling force in the House, he says: "We haven't had that many opportunities, but you're seeing some of it." Is it being orchestrated by the White House? "We have excellent communications," Stenholm says. "George Bush is my longtime friend."

He is quick to add that he and his colleagues are not out to embarrass the new House leadership — or to kick down the Democratic barn. "They (Foley, Gephardt and new Majority Whip William H. Gray III) have been extremely receptive," Stenholm says. "It's as close a relationship as I can remember."

Gephardt, in a separate interview, argues that the situation is "a lot different from 1981," when Reagan regularly enlisted scores of Southern Democrats and took control of the House on many issues away from Speaker Tip O'Neill (D-Mass.). "We've developed a way for there to be real consultation and discussion with our more conservative members within the caucus," Gephardt says. "They're included."

But Gephardt concedes, "Since 1981, the South has continued to change. People are switching (parties) and there's a concern it's becoming more Republican. Certainly it's a more competitive situation." Just last week, another Southern district, this one in Florida, switched to the GOP in a special election.

That's why Foley and Gephardt are taking time to find their way to Erickadahl, Texas.

The "conservative coalition" triumphed 18 times and lost only five.

The State Department recently gave Haiti's do-nothing president a hearty thumbs up.

Colombians seize drug lord property

United Press International

BOGOTA, Colombia — The army seized drug lords' luxurious mansions and exotic animals — 42 properties in all — in a renewed offensive into the heart of territory controlled by Colombia's warring cocaine cartels.

Colombia's National Hard Drugs Council also approved the extradition to the United States of a second suspected cocaine trafficker, the newspaper El Espectador reported Sunday.

Gunmen bombed a liquor store and burned a vehicle in Medellin, the base of the country's major cocaine cartel, in the traffickers' continuing war against the government, Medellin police said.

The army seized 42 properties, including mansions with Italian marble baths and ranches with specially bred fighting roosters, exotic birds and thousands of head of livestock in the Magdalena Medio area, Brig. Gen. Carlos Julio Gil said.

The area of the Magdalena

River north of Bogota had been under the Medellin cartel's virtual control until a massive government crackdown sent the cocaine carts into hiding.

President Virgilio Barco declared a state of siege and launched the crackdown after the Aug. 18 assassination of the nation's leading presidential candidate by a cocaine hit squad. Barco's actions prompted a declaration of "total war" on Aug. 24 from a group linked to the powerful Medellin gang.

Newspapers Sunday published pictures of "Fantasy Island," a luxurious mansion apparently on a lake in Magdalena Medio that was seized by the army.

Hundreds of buildings, cars, airplanes, helicopters and other properties have been seized since Barco assumed emergency powers. U.S. and Colombian officials said the massive operation has deeply wounded the cartels' operations, which provide 80 percent of the cocaine smuggled into the United States.

El Espectador reported that the drugs council approved the extradition of Ana Elena Beatriz Zuniga to the United States. The report could not be confirmed Sunday.

Zuniga, arrested in the first days of the crackdown, is wanted in the United States on cocaine-related charges, and has five days to appeal the decision.

Zuniga would be the second person extradited to the United States. Alleged Medellin cartel finance chief Eduardo Martinez Romero was sent to Atlanta on Wednesday to face money-laundering charges.

A cartel-linked group called Los Extraditables has pledged at different times to kill five Americans and 10 judges for every person sent to the United States, but officials reported no deaths related to the Martinez extradition.

The Medellin area 150 miles northwest of Bogota has been struck by more than 30 bombs since the cartels' war declaration. In a campaign that began Friday, armed men with molotov cocktails also have burned 16 vehicles, most of them city-owned, including six Saturday. Hotels and other tourist-related businesses have reported a dramatic fall in business since the cocaine war began.

In the Caribbean coast resort of Cartagena, numerous tour boats and groups were canceling reservations, tourism officials said. The Cartagena Hilton reported the cancellation of 13 groups from August through December, a loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Port officials said they expected about 100 tour boat arrivals to be canceled by the end of the year, resulting in a loss of $120 million to the local tourism industry.

In Medellin, Hotel Intercontinental manager Gabriel Vargas said business had fallen by 80 percent.

"The tourism and hotel sector is paralyzed," Vargas said. "In this establishment, there have been 3,000 reservations canceled and the majority of the guests right now are foreign journalists."

Three missing in helicopter crash

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. — Three sailors were injured and three were missing in the crash Sunday of a Navy UH-1H Huey helicopter participating in joint Navy-Marine exercises off an amphibious assault ship.

The Navy said the search for the missing sailors would continue through the night.

Cmdr. Tom McCarthy, Lt. Peter Fyles, and Chief Petty Officer Rainer Strive were rescued about 11:30 a.m. by crews from the USS Peleliu about 18 miles southwest of Camp Pendleton. Marine Lt. Patrick Gibbons said.

The chopper was circling the Peleliu, which is based at Long Beach, as a safety watch for other Marine and Navy vessels and aircraft involved in the sea and shore exercises when it went down.

"The helicopter sank almost instantly," Marine Capt. Chris Gillette said. "The lookout aboard the Peleliu saw the copter go down and sent a whale boat out to look for survivors."

The crew included two pilots, a crew chief and three passengers.

The three survivors were taken to Balboa Naval Hospital in San Diego.

Town tense in wake of paper mill melo

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn. — A tense quiet returned to International Falls Sunday, a day after union sympathizers stormed a Boise Cascade construction housing site, causing more than $1 million in damage.

The National Guard had been put on stand-by alert in the town to prevent a recurrence of Saturday's unrest, but late Sunday Gov. Rudy Perpich said in St. Paul he canceled the alert based on a report by his evaluation team.

About 500 people rallied outside Boise Cascade's expansion project Saturday, and more than 150 crashed through a fence, torching trailer houses and overturning cars before being dispersed with tear gas. Thirty-one people were arrested and about a dozen people were injured slightly.

Union leaders disavowed any responsibility for the unrest.

The trouble was prompted by the use of mostly out-of-state non-union labor by BE&K of Birmingham, Ala., to build a $535 million expansion of the Boise Cascade papermill. About 150 union construction workers at the site began a wildcat strike seven weeks ago as a protest.

Cubans chained to monument

WASHINGTON — Five Cubans protesting the "violation of human rights" by the government of Fidel Castro chained themselves Sunday to a rail inside the top of the Washington Monument for about a half hour, U.S. Park Police said.

Officer John Nawrot said four men and one woman handcuffed themselves at about 12:30 p.m. to the rail at the 500-foot level of the monument — the highest point of the popular tourist attraction.

The monument was closed to the public for about 30 minutes until the protesters agreed to leave the monument voluntarily and talk with police, Nawrot said.

In a statement issued later, the five said they belonged to the Cuban Movement 30th of November "Frank Pais." They said they chained themselves inside the monument to condemn what they called the 1962 massacre of hundreds of young Cubans by the Castro dictatorship.

Typhoon Sarah kills 17 in Philippines

MANILA, Philippines — Typhoon Sarah swirled toward Taiwan Monday after a destructive sweep across the northern Philippines that left at least 17 people dead and more than 6,300 homeless, officials said.

Sarah gained strength as it moved toward southern Taiwan with peak winds of 80 mph. In a midday bulletin, the Manila weather bureau located the typhoon in the Bashi Channel 120 miles north-northeast of the northern town of Basco, moving northwest at 9 mph.

The Red Cross reported a storm-related electrocution in Aringay town in La Union province, bringing to 17 the overall death toll from Sarah's weekend sweep. Most of the fatalities were caused by floods and landslides.

The social welfare department said the typhoon destroyed more than 360 houses in the Ilocos region on the northwestern section of the main Luzon island. More than 6,300 people were left homeless.

Floods in Pangasinan province widened after the National Power Corp. opened four spillways at the Binga dam Sunday when the water level reached alarming levels, officials said. Residents in towns along the Agno River in Pangasinan were alerted to evacuate their homes.

Shelling kills nine in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Feuding Christian and Moslem forces pounded Beirut with big guns, killing nine people and wounding 30 in heavy overnight fighting that continued to sputter after dawn along the front lines.

Christian troops and Syrian-backed Moslem militias fought sporadic battles with small mortars and rockets along the 3-mile-long "green line" that divides the city and on other fronts outside Beirut, police said.

The limited violence came after hours of fighting with large-caliber guns and rocket launchers that raged from late Sunday until daybreak Monday.

Syrian and Moslem artillerymen fired dozens of shells and rockets in the direction of Christian ports north of Beirut and around the presidential palace of Christian strongman Gen. Michel Aoun.

The Christians retaliated, blasting Syrian-manned cannons in west Beirut and in the mountains east and southeast of Beirut, police said. At least 10 populated areas in east and west Beirut were heavily damaged by mortar and rockets hits, police said.

Military cargo plane crashes off Cuba

MEXICO CITY — A Cuban military cargo plane crashed off the Caribbean island and killed seven of eight crewmen aboard in the second deadly air crash in Cuba in a week, the Cuban news agency said Sunday.

Prensa Latina, monitored in Mexico City, quoted the Cuban daily Juventud Rebelde as saying Sunday that a Cuban Revolutionary Air Force AN-26 crashed at 9:28 p.m. Friday, 2 miles north of Baracoa Beach, which is 11 miles west of Havana on the island's northwestern coast.

"As soon as the incident was (discovered), joint troops from the Revolutionary Armed Forces, the Revolutionary War Navy and the Border Patrol began a search for (the plane's) crew members," Prensa Latina said.

Eight crewmen were aboard the training flight when the craft went down, killing seven, the dispatch said.

services and costs while increasing care quality and the chance of survival for seriously ill or injured patients.

"One of the biggest changes is the overall environmental feeling," said Kathy Albert, director of pediatric nursing.

"The whole hospital is equipped for children," she said, "right down to the rocking chairs in pre-op so parents can hold their children and comfort them before surgery."

Making the whole family part of the healing process is an integral part of the hospital's philosophy.

There will be very relaxed visiting hours and space for parents who want to spend the night to be near their children in the 148-bed pediatric units. Pre-surgical tours will familiarize the family with what the young patient will experience.

Patient floors are divided by age groups — toddler, young children and adolescent — to provide for their special needs and the recuperative environment appropriate to each age group. Teens will not share TV rooms with 7-year-olds, for example.

teachers, while American popular culture features fewer educational TV programs and more commercials, the report said.

"Taken alone, each separate factor in this report card may be of limited significance. Together, however, they tell a powerful tale, one not conducive to the United States maintaining its educational or its economic leadership," wrote Scott Thompson, NASSP executive director and the study's author.

"Nations, as do people, usually drift into deficits, including educational deficits," he warned. "These deficits are unplanned, but they are real."

Thompson said it was "unmanageable" to compare all industrialized countries with America, so he used South Korea as an example of an emerging Asian economy and West Germany as a representative of an advanced European country.

The "report card" was based on academic studies as well as interviews with officials at the South Korean and West German embassies.

Overall, the United States received one A, three Bs, nine Cs and two Ds. The report gave South Korea 11 As, three Bs and one C, and West Germany five As, nine Bs and one C.

America's Ds were for prevalence of illegal drugs, compared with a B for South Korea and a C for West Germany, and job hours worked per week by students, compared with As for the other two countries.

"In South Korea, students simply do not hold jobs while attending school, their time and energies being directed toward learning," the report said. "In West Germany, despite a heated economy and labor shortages, students through all 13 years of schooling are not employed except informally in a family business."

The biggest difference between South Korea and the United States was in popular culture and home factors, with the Asian nation receiving all As and America receiving mainly Cs. The report noted that 71 percent of South Korea's students say they consistently watch science programs on television.

West Germany was given credit for achievement incentives by employers, earning an A to America's C. High school grades are the major factor in who gets better jobs in West Germany, the report said, while high school marks are requested by only 14 percent to 15 percent of U.S. employers.

While Nelawender was not familiar with the specifics of the study and did not want to comment on American schools, she said she felt Seminole County schools would earn higher marks.

IN BRIEF

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Mazzilli delivers for Blue Jays

Despite his affinity for delivering the crucial hit, Lee Mazzilli's most critical contribution to the Blue Jays may be his ability to exude confidence.

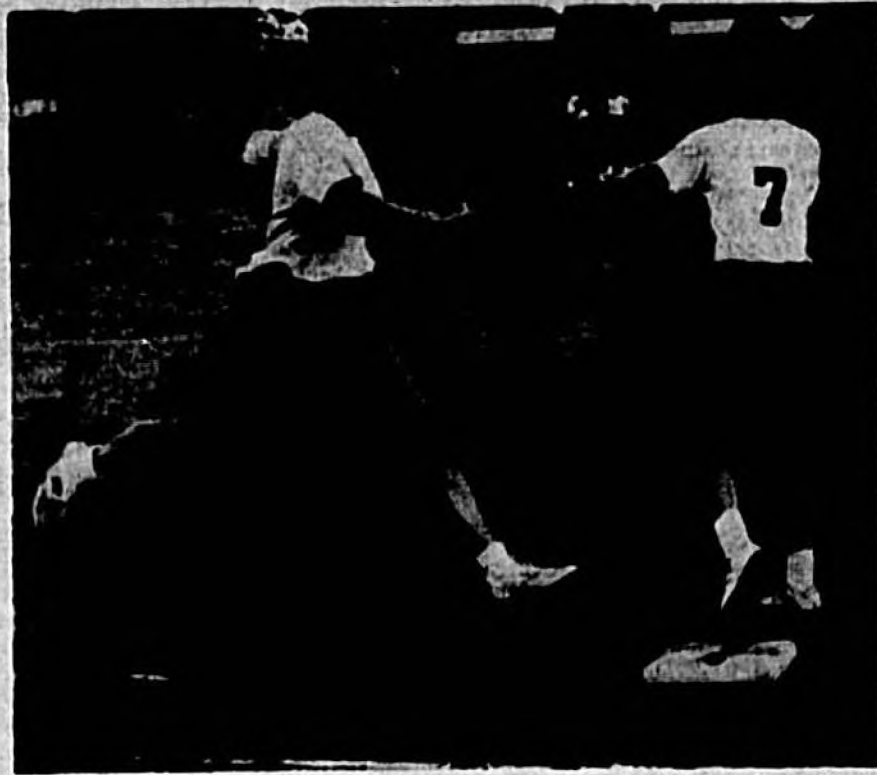

After listening to Mazzilli's post-game comments following his game-winning hit which lifted Toronto to a 5-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians, one could argue that the veteran's mere presence in the Toronto clubhouse has had more of an impact on the team's climb to the division lead in the AL East than his performance on the field.

"You can't predict success, but you expect it," Mazzilli said Sunday after delivering his 10th-inning, pinch-hit single. "When you go out there every day, you expect to win. Every time I go in (to pinch hit) I expect to succeed."

Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland dropped New York 6-2, Minnesota slammed Kansas City 8-2, Milwaukee beat Seattle 7-1, Texas blasted Baltimore 8-1, California clipped Boston 2-1 in 14 innings, and Detroit nipped Chicago 6-5.

Yancey's takes title

Jackie Bingham (running) drove in a pair of runs for the DSC Marketing Cobras as they eliminated Sanford's Movie Adventure Reruns in the third game of the Ladies' Fence Finders softball tournament. The Cobras were eliminated in the fifth game by eventual second-place finisher Lite Athletic.

SANFORD — Yancey's Tractor Works of Ormond Beach won the second annual Ladies' Fence Finders Tournament with a perfect 3-0 record Saturday at Chase Park.

The other teams participating in the tournament were the Movie Adventure Reruns of Sanford, the DSC Marketing Cobras of Orlando, and the Buttleman's Sporting Goods-Lite Athletic ladies' softball team of Port Orange.

It was a well-played tournament with only two walks (one intentional) and very few errors.

Yancey's opened the tournament with a 3-2 victory over the Reruns, scoring three runs in the first two innings and making them stand up. Cindy Thompson led off the bottom of the first with a single and scored on Shellie Lewis' double. Lewis later scored on a Cindy Corrado ground out to make the score 2-0 Yancey's. Bev Suttle led off inning two with a triple and scored on Darlene Robinson and the score was 3-0.

The Reruns scored both of their runs in the seventh. Robin Kinnaird singled, went to third on Nora Lissy's double and scored on a Lisa Hartman ground out. Lissy scored on a Tammy Tulp ground out.

Thompson and Lewis led the way for Yancey's with three hits each and Suttle had two hits.

Game No. 2 saw Lite Athletic post a 6-5, 10-inning victory over the Cobras. Consecutive singles by Traci Gino, Tammy Winkler, Theresa Tyson and Denise King scored the winning run for Lite.

Toni Robinette paced the Lite attack with a single, double and a triple. Gino also had three hits while Mado Perrott and King had two hits each. King also drove in two runs. Sherry Batts paced the Cobras with three hits and two RBI. Tiffany King and Carol Hadley had two hits each.

The Cobras came back to win game three and eliminate the Reruns with a 4-0 victory. Batts was the only player in the game with two hits. Jackie Bingham drove in two runs for the Cobras. The Reruns had only three hits.

Game four was the winners' bracket final. Yancey's scoring four runs in the bottom of the first inning and holding on for a 4-1 victory over Lite Athletic. Thompson was the only Yancey player to come up with two hits in

Chile forfeits match with Brazil

ZURICH, Switzerland — Chile forfeited its World soccer Cup qualifying match against Brazil by leaving the field in mid-game, world soccer's governing body ruled Sunday.

The 2-0 forfeit victory awarded by FIFA means Brazil is virtually sure of a place in the 1990 World Cup finals in Italy. FIFA's World Cup Organizing Committee, which decided the case, said there would be no appeal.

Chile quit the match, played Sept. 3, trailing by one goal, saying goalkeeper Roberto Rojas was injured by a firework thrown by a spectator. Brazil later claimed Rojas was uninjured.

West German Hermann Neuberger chaired the Organizing Committee meeting Sunday, which was called especially to hear the case.

AUTO RACING

Wallace coasts by Bodine

RICHMOND, Va. — Rusty Wallace gambled to win the Richmond 400 on Sunday, coasting across the finish line to take the checkered flag after running out of gasoline on the final lap of the NASCAR event.

Wallace, who started the race in sixth position, took his final pit stop with 173 laps to go and hung on to beat Winston Cup points leader Dale Earnhardt. Geoff Bodine finished third, followed by Ricky Rudd and Harry Gant.

The race was slowed by 14 caution flags, 10 of which happened in the first 150 laps of the 300-mile, 400-lap event.

Wallace, who ran an average speed of 88.380 mph, was chased by Bodine for the final 85 laps. But Bodine took a pit stop with three laps remaining, giving Wallace the breathing room he needed to win.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Cubs pull away from East field

The Chicago Cubs took a giant step forward in their quest for a championship when Manager Don Zimmer acted on a hunch and pencilled in rookie pitcher Steve Wilson in place of scheduled starter Greg Maddux against St. Louis.

Wilson went out and nailed the Cardinals with ten strikeouts over five innings to pace an 18-strikeout performance by the Cub pitching staff and hand the Cardinals a 4-1 loss that pushed them 2 1/2 games behind the Cubs.

The red-hot Cardinals came into town for the three-game series looking to topple the Cubs from their perch, and when St. Louis rallied from a 7-1 deficit to win the first game it looked like the jinx that has haunted the Cubs over the years had returned.

But the Cubs rallied for a dramatic victory Saturday, and sent the Cardinals packing in the series finale.

Elsewhere in the NL, Philadelphia stopped Montreal 4-2, Pittsburgh topped New York 4-1, Cincinnati edged Atlanta 5-4, San Francisco beat Houston 5-3 and Los Angeles outslugged San Diego 14-8.

County shines at Astronaut

By MARK BLYTHE

TITUSVILLE — Seminole County cross country teams showed their strength Saturday in the Annual Astronaut Invitational held at Dunn Air Park in Titusville.

Lake Brantley, Lyman and Lake Mary all placed in the top 10 in the boys race with Lake Howell, Lake Brantley, Lake Mary and Lyman placing in the girls meet.

Brantley's boys came up with a strong effort, led by senior Matt Jewell's second place finish at 16:07. Brantley placed fourth overall with 173 points, finishing as the county's top representative.

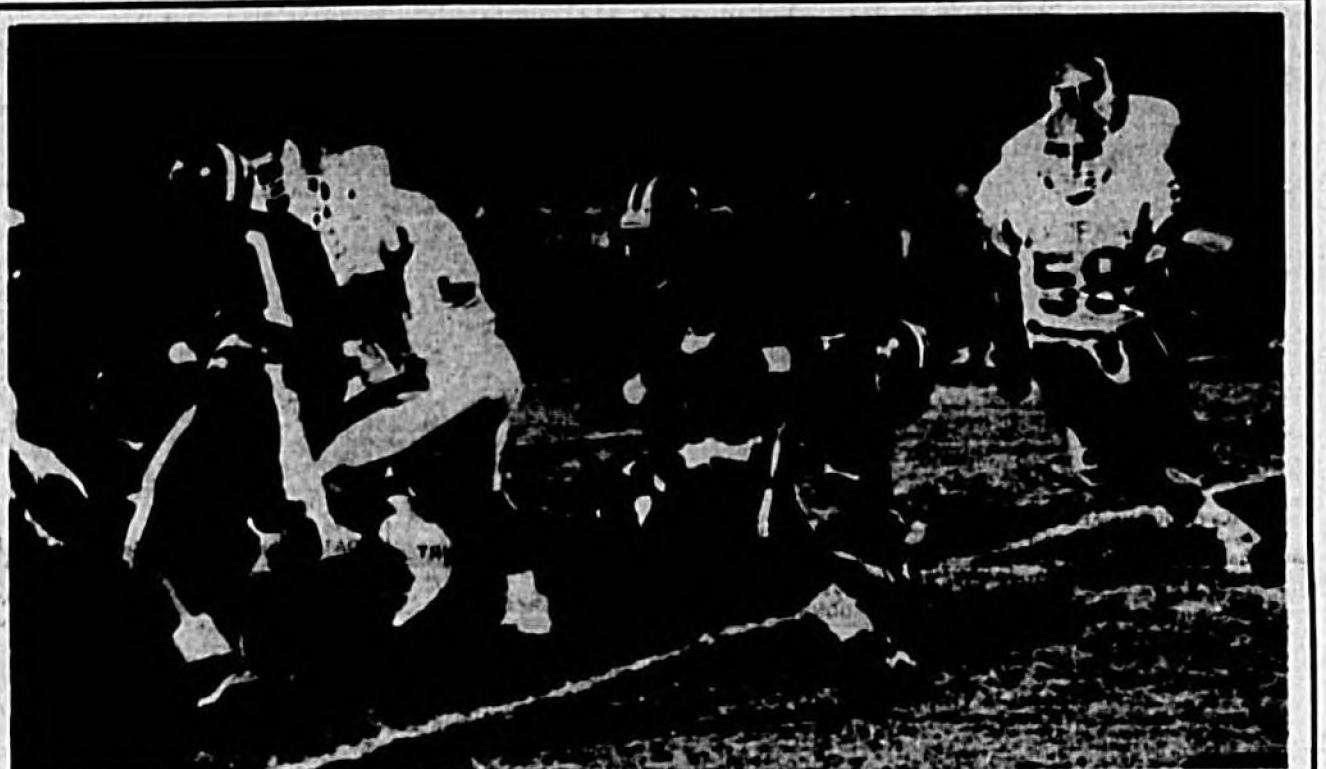

"The team is working real hard," Lake Brantley coach Charlie Harris said. "We need to work on getting our fourth, fifth and sixth runners closer to the front. We have some kids out of shape right now and I think they'll do much better later in the season."

Darrin Tugman was next for the Patriots, placing 11th at 16:39 with John Feola crossing at 17:19 in 33rd place. Mike Capelli took 62nd place at 18:15 as Craig Streetman rounded out the Brantley top five in 66th place at 18:24.

"Our top three are doing real well at this time," Harris said. "I just hope we can close the gap with our other runners."

Lyman was fifth in the boys race with 187 points behind individual

DeLAND — The Wolves of Deltona High School won their first varsity contest ever Saturday night, beating the No. 4-ranked team in Class 2A, Sarasota Cardinal Mooney, 23-17 before 2,019 fans at Speck Martin Stadium.

Deltona took its only lead of the night with 12 seconds left in the game when, on third down and 6, quarterback Tony Neimesh found Gary Greene open for a 21-yard touchdown pass to give the Wolves the victory.

The Wolves are now off for a week before traveling to John Courier Field to take on the Oviedo Lions Sept. 22 at 8:00 p.m.

"I'm tired of reading in the paper that Deltona beat

Testaverde credits line in opening win

United Press International

GREEN BAY, Wis. — Tampa Bay quarterback Vinny Testaverde says good protection from the offensive line gave him time to throw in a 23-21 season-opening win over the Green Bay Packers.

Testaverde, who remained free of both interceptions and sacks, completed 22 of 27 passes for 205 yards and one touchdown Sunday to help lift Tampa Bay to victory.

"What that shows is that the offensive line did a great job of protecting me," he said. "I think I only got hit two or three times all game."

Packers quarterback Don Majkowski, however, threw three interceptions in completing 17 of 27 passes for 220 yards. And each interception was costly, with Tampa Bay putting points on the board with the first two and stopping a drive that could have given Green Bay the win with the third interception.

"I didn't make a very intelligent decision at the end and it probably cost us the ballgame," Majkowski said of the fourth quarter interception by William Robinson.

The turnover stopped a Packers drive that had reached Tampa Bay's 18-yard line with less than 6 minutes to play and Green Bay trailing by only 2 points.

"I could not be more proud of these young men," Tampa Bay coach Ray Perkins said. "They fought the entire 60 minutes, especially when things got tight in the second half. Overall, we played near mistake-free football and you can't ask for more than that, especially out of the blocks."

Perkins also praised Testaverde for making things happen in the game.

"Aside from a couple shaky tosses early on, he was very smooth," Perkins said.

Kelly's dive caps Bills' rally past Dolphins

United Press International

MIAMI — When Jim Kelly found nobody open, he took the only route left to him as the clock ran out.

Kelly's 2-yard dive as time expired Sunday capped a furious rally and gave the Buffalo Bills a 27-24 victory over the Miami Dolphins.

"It was a pass play to the fullback (Ronnie Harmon), but when I saw the linebacker break outside, I saw the opening and I went for it," Kelly said. "It's never over until the final whistle, and we knew we could come back on them."

The Bills trailed 24-13 with just three minutes left in the game, but pulled within four points when Flip Johnson scored on a 26-yard pass from Kelly with 2:50 left.

Then Buffalo's Nate Odomes intercepted a Dan Marino pass with 1:44 to go, and the Bills drove 51 yards for Kelly's touchdown.

Marino said he never before had thrown an interception that turned into a loss.

"Everything was perfect until the end," Marino said. "It was the first time I have thrown an interception in a critical situation. This is the toughest loss for me. I was in shock."

Odomes said the Bills were in a man-to-man defense, and receiver Mark Duper lined up on his side.

"It was a struggle on the line with me and him. He got off to the inside and I got a good trail on him," Odomes said. "When he broke, I saw the ball and managed to cut in front of him and make the play."

Becker beats Lendl in Open

United Press International

NEW YORK — A week after a lucky net cord saved him from second round extinction, Boris Becker reigns as the new U.S. Open champion and is on the threshold of claiming the No. 1 ranking.

Becker became the first West German man ever to capture the U.S. national championship when he dealt Ivan Lendl another devastating loss Sunday, 7-6 (7-2), 6-1, 3-6, 7-6 (7-4). Lendl, who tied a record by appearing in his eighth consecutive Open final, has won the title three times, but now has been the runner-up five times.

"He's been there eight times, so the desire is different than the first time," observed Becker, whose best previous showing in the Open was a semifinal berth. "He knows he'll probably be back there next year, so maybe my desire was just a little bit more today."

Although Becker has won Wimbledon three times, he had yet to capture any other Grand Slam title.

Five jayvee teams and didn't beat a varsity team. We just beat the fourth ranked team in the state," an ecstatic Deltona coach Bob Wallace told his team after the game.

The Wolves fell behind 14-0 as penalties and their own nervousness got the best of them.

"We got called for some late hits early and the referee's told us the kids were being a little too aggressive," said Wallace. "I want them to be aggressive, not dirty or making illegal tackles, but hitting someone hard."

The first Mooney score came on a Robby Robertson 20-yard touchdown pass to Bobby Sherwood. Robertson kicked the extra point and Saraola led 7-0 with 2:11 left in the first quarter. The Wolves fumbled on their next possession and the Cougars capped off a 65-yard drive with Robertson carrying the football in from the five. Robertson again converted the PAT and it was 14-0 with 9:52 left in the half.

But the Wolves came right back a minute-and-a-half later to get on the scoreboard. Quarterback Neimeah connected with Greene on a 65-yard scoring pass to cut the lead to 14-6. A Robertson 39-yard field goal made the score 17-6 Cardinal Mooney at halftime.

'Miracle cures' lack scientific investigation

DEAR DR. GOTT: I vacation in Arizona. Recently, a friend took me to a meeting where he stated miracles would happen. They claim the blind can see, the lame can walk, hypertensives can go off their medication, all because of KM-Matol. I understand this "medicine" is widely used in California, Nebraska and Arizona. The cost is $1 per day. Now, I'm being pressured by my friends to make the investment.

Yesterday, I met a man from Calgary, Alberta, who claims he gets $3,000 a month from his company as a "rake-off" from people selling this product. What's your opinion?

DEAR READER: This is a scam, a get-rich-quick scheme. As medical treatment, it's absolute baloney.

I am constantly amazed at how gullible people are. Folks of above-average intelligence line up to spend money on the darndest quack cures. Don't you think doctors would break down doors to get KM-Matol if it had even a fraction of the benefits its proponents claim?

When a drug or other medical therapy shows promise, it is tested by the scientific community to determine its value and potential side effects. If, through investigation, it appears useful, it is released.

This is not the case with "miracle cures" that are sold as antidotes to almost everything. No scientific testing takes place. The product is promoted by money-grubbers who hope to reap huge profits, at the expense of an unsuspecting public, before the "cure" is found out to be a sham.

Be very skeptical about any treatment that purports to cure blindness, lameness and hypertension. Say "no" to your friends' suggestions; save your money and follow your doctor's advice about health issues. I'm the last person to claim that traditional medicine is perfect but, right now, it's the best system available.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Fads II—Herbs and Other Supplements." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
"Everything's hunky-dory, partner!" South exclaimed with delight when he saw the dummy. He took the ace of diamonds and played a spade to dummy's jack. The happy glow faded when East showed out of trumps. But declarer did not give up. He ruffed a diamond, played a club to the queen and ruffed another diamond. If West followed and declarer could cash two more clubs and three hearts, the slam could be made. Unfortunately West overruffed. It was very unlucky that the defenders' diamonds were divided 7-2, but South should still have done better. For West to be deprived of his second trump trick, he must hold at least three clubs and three hearts. So it cannot do any harm to play hearts before ruffing the third diamond. After getting the bad news at trick two, declarer should ruff one diamond and then play K-Q-J of hearts, overtaking with the ace in dummy. Because East showed out after two rounds, it is perfectly safe to ruff the fourth heart low. Next comes the A-K and a club to the queen in dummy. Once again West must follow to all three clubs. West is now left with A-10-8 of trumps.

The last diamond is played from dummy, and declarer ruffs with the king. West can overruff, but he will then be forced to lead away from his 10-8 of trumps and the slam will be made. Nor does it help for West to undertruff South's king, since declarer will simply lead up to the Q-4 of spades to make the contract.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osoi
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Sept. 12, 1989

Your priorities and interests could undergo some significant changes in the year ahead. Things of a material nature will be relegated to second place as your esthetic tastes come more and more to the fore.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Pursuit of personal ambitions and objectives could occupy your attention so completely today you might inadvertently do things that are contrary to the interests of your co-workers and create ill-will. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Participation in pleasurable diversions might be uppermost in your mind today and when you do get involved in life's more serious aspects, your efforts may lack impetus and quality.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There might be some minor domestic disruptions around your house today. It will be up to you to make sure no one makes mountains out of molehills, including yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) As long as you have able bodied co-workers with lots of vitality, you'll match their efforts today, but when left on your own, you might not be as industrious.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Today, you might be a trifle stingy with people who behave generously toward you. Ironically, favored-person status could go to those undeserving of your largesse.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Early in the day you shouldn't have any difficulty making quick decisions. As time ticks on, however, you may find yourself beset with doubts when you weigh and balance judgments.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you're the purveyor of important news to companions today, make doubly sure you have your facts in order. Without a script, you might miss or confuse pertinent information.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's been said, "We earn our enemies, but we do not always deserve our friends." Today a well-meaning pal might do something that complicates things for you financially.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be guarded today so that you don't appear overly materialistic to people with whom you'll be involved. Keep in mind, an individual without compassion is like a house without windows.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your demeanor will be commanding today and your leadership qualities will be quite evident. Don't, however, expect everyone to snap to whenever you issue a directive.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Listen attentively to tips passed onto you by friends today that could make or save you money. However, don't rush into anything before double checking it with a second source.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Even though you might not be totally in accord with your peer group today, it's best that you dissent in silence. Nothing will be gained by making waves.

by Leonard Starr
