Michelin comes to Florida

The Sunshine State is getting its own green guide - the prestigious Michelin Tourist Guide that lists places to visit in Florida.

The Michelin Tourist Guide to Florida will debut in August. Florida is only the fourth area outside of Europe to merit one. The other areas are New York City, Canada and New England.

"Florida has diverse offerings - more than just theme parks and beaches." Jim Clark, president of the Tampa-Hillsborough Convention and Visitors Bureau said Thursday. "This will show that Florida has a lot more to offer than most realize."

The 350-page guide, in the works for three years, will cost about $20 and will be printed in English and later in French and Spanish.

"Terrific," said Bill Talbert of the Greater Miami Convention and Visitors bureau. "Any vehicle to promote Florida in general and greater Miami and the beaches is certainly welcome."

Foundation to object to rules

TALLAHASSEE - The First Amendment Foundation will object to new Supreme Court rules governing public records requests for certain appeals by death row inmates, says executive director Barbara Petersen.

The high court gave interested parties 30 days to comment after the rules are published in the Florida Bar News.

'I just don't think they can do this by rule," Petersen said. "I think the Legislature has to do this by law under the (Florida) Constitution."

The rules apply only to capital cases on post-conviction appeal after the Supreme Court has ruled on initial appeals.

They set various time limits during the appeal process for submitting written requests for public records.

Some appeals have bogged down because of delays in getting public records, said Assistant Attorney General Carolyn Snurkowski. She did not believe the rules violate the Constitution.

"This is not in any way infringing on the ability of anybody to request public records," she said. "We are very supportive of any kind of rule that will put into place orderly processing of these requests."

Orlando lawyer suspended

TALLAHASSEE - An Orlando lawyer is being suspended for 90 days for sharing fees with paralegals and helping them engage in the unauthorized practice of law.

The Florida Supreme Court ordered the suspension Thursday for Roy Beach, effective in 30 days, in a 7-0 opinion. The justices also ordered him to pay $1,745.63 in costs.

The case is part of the growing controversy over how much paralegals can do without being guilty of the unlicensed practice of law.

Paralegals Kenneth and Cathy King paid Beach $75 per case to discuss their clients' legal issues, review pleadings and other documents they prepared and offer 30-minute consultations to their customers.

But one client complained to the Florida Bar that Beach refused to meet with her.

At a disciplinary hearing, Beach said Kenneth King obtained his advice and passed it on to avoid giving King's own advice to clients, which would constitute practicing law without a license. But the justices found that still was unlicensed lawyenng."

Senate passes children's helmet bill

By ADAM YEOMANS Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Supporters of a blke helmet law for children under age 16 say it would reduce deaths and severe head injuries. Some teen-agers say they don't need government telling them what to do.

"it's our responsibility if we want to or not," said 13-year-old Rebecca Baggett, of Tallahassee, who rides without a helmet. "It's our fault if we get in a wreck or something."

The Senate passed the bill 26-12 Thursday and sent it to the House, where a similar bill passed handily last year. The measure died when the two chambers couldn't agree on a Anal version.

To gain support this year. helmet backers have reduced the proposed fine from $25 to $17 and added other measures.

Gov. Lawton Chiles will sign the bill if it passes, said spokeswoman April Herrie. "We are very supportive of the bill."

Opponents said the bill represented government intrusion into people's lives.

"I think this is one of those things that we need to allow parents to decide." said Sen.

Rick Dantzler, D-Winter Haven. "This is the height of government interference telling people how they can enjoy themselves." said Sen. Ron Silver, D-North Miami Beach. "Let people have some freedom. Let some kids have some fun." Sen. Charles Williams, D-

Tallahassee, said lawmakers needed to set aside their antigovernment feelings when it comes to protecting children.

"If an adult wants to get out, not wear a helmet, and endanger themselves, that's their business," he said. "But when it comes to providing guidance and leadership and protection to our children I think sometimes we have to make some of those tough decisions."

The legislation (CS-SB 2370) would allow police to issue safety brochures and verbal warnings after the law takes effect Jan. 1, 1997.

Starting Jan. 1, 1998, the law would allow police to issue $17 citations to youths who ride on a public roadway or bike path. First-time offenders would avoid the penalty if they buy a helmet.

Under the latest bill, helmetless riders on private property would not be fined, except any part of the property used by the public to drive on.

But last year, state lawmakers inadvertently did away with that sign program. Cherveny said he couldn't afford it anyway. Once the highway sign program is re-enacted, Cherveny will have to wait at least another nine months to see if the state decides whether or not a private contractor should install signs at highway interchanges.

"This, to me, is ridiculous," Cherveny noted.

But he may not have to wait much longer if legislation to simplify the state's rulemaking process works as advertised.

AFL-CIO: OSHA helps cut worker deaths, accidents

By JOHN D. MeCLAIN Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON - The nation's worker health and safety program has been a big success during its 25 years, organized labor said today, but needs more resources to meet both current needs and those of a rapidly changing workplace.

"Since the passage of the Occupational Safety and Health Act. significant progress has been made in reducing workplace fatalities, injuries and diseases," the AFL-CIO said. The act went into effect 25 years ago Sunday.

The rate of workplace fatalities has been cut by 72 percent and the rate of workplace injuries by 23 percent," it said.

Republicans in Congress, on the other hand, want to cut OSHA's enforcement powers.

Sanford Herald, Sanford, Florida - Friday, April 26, 1996 - 3A

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER AP Economics Writer

WASHINGTON - The West enjoyed the best income growth of any region of the country last year, helped by a sizable rebound in California, which finally began emerging from a prolonged slowdown. By contrast, the Plains states lagged far behind. Plunging farm incomes, reflecting bad wheat harvests, contributed to a 0.3 percent drop in per capita in-comes in South Dakota and a 0.3 percent rise in North Dakota, putting those states dead last.

For the nation as a whole, per capita incomes grew by a robust 5 percent in 1995, the best performance since a 5.5 percent rise in 1990, the Commerce Department reported Thursday.

As usual, the state with the highest per capita income was Connecticut, at $30.303 and the state at the bottom was Mississippi, with a per capita Income of $16,531.

While Louisiana had the best individual performance, an increase of 6.9 percent, Western states dominated the top 10 list, taking five spots.

Per capita incomes were up 6.6 percent in Arizona, 6.2 percent in Oregon, 6.1 percent in Utah and 6 percent in both California and New Mexico.

The 1995 performance in California represented a remarkable rebound from listless gains of 2.1 percent in 1994 and 1.1 percent in 1993. The state, hit hard by heavy cutbacks in defense industries, had been in the doldrums since the 1990-91 recession.

But analysts said the 1995 performance showed California's economy has staged a com-eback, reflecting its role as the country's biggest exporter.

"The depression times are over for California and the good times are back." said Allen Sinal, economist at Lehman Brothers in New York. "California is benefiting greatly from U.S. export growth, particularly to Asian countries."

Paul Getman, an economist at Regional Financial Associates, an economic consulting firm in West Chester, Pa., said that a number of states in the West, not just California, were benefiting from gains in exports and in foreign companies deciding to put high-tech manufacturing plants in the region.

"Because of the weaker dollar. a lot of foreign manufacturing firms are opening plants in the United States and they are choosing to do so out West because the cost of doing business there is lower than in the East," Getman said.

Injury during altercation

Rudolph Pender, of William Clark Court in Banlard; Willy B avers questions regarding an A alteration yesterday in the 700 block of E. Eighth Street. Sanford police say Pender received multiple contusions to his head and torso caused by a sharp object. Tracy Loretta Major, 28, of 1811 Lincoln Avenue, was arrested in connection with the attack and has been charged with aggravated battery.

Experts warn parents against today's more potent marijuana

AV RICHARD KEIL Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON - Marijuana is much more potent today than it used to be, say experts, who hope that parents realize this and will caution their teens against using it.

Too many parents feel un-comfortable about discussing drug-use with their teen-agers perhaps because in some cases feelings of hypocrisy make an already awkward subject tougher to talk about, a Senate panel was told Thursday.

"There's no question that parents are ambivalent, and finding it more difficult to talk about marijuana use with their kids." Joseph Califano, a former Health. Education and Welfare secretary, said after appearing before the Senate Caucus on International Narcotics Control. "But this is important, because the drug is much different today.'

Sen. Joseph Biden of Delaware, the panel's ranking Democrat, said parents need to realize that today's marijuana is far more potent than the marijuana that was pervasive on college campuses in the 1960s and 1970s.

"it's like comparing the buckshot in a shotgun shell to a laser-guided missile - they're different," Biden said. "It's much more dangerous to their children than it was to them."

The amount of the active ingredient in marijuana. THC, has grown from 1 percent to 4 per-cent over the past two decades, the National Institute on Drug Abuse. But even more troublesome, he said, is the current practice of lacing marijuana with cocaine or other drugs.

"When you factor in that people are adulterating it, the net effect is that you actually have a much more dangerous drug than there was in the 1960s and the 1970s," Leshner said.

Califano, who heads a substance abuse research center at Columbia University, also said Alan Leshner, director of released a study suggesting that the younger a child experiments with marijuana, the more likely that child will try cocaine and other harder drugs. The release of Califano's study comes amid growing concern that drug use among teen-agers is increasing.

which he was involved. According to City Manager Bill Simmons, McCauley is entitled to a hearing before an independent hearing officer or before the civil service board before it is determined if he should be fired. Should he not request the hearing, he would be terminated at the end of five working days.

"I can not just fire him out of hand," Simmons said. "He has a right to a hearing."

So far McCauley has not requested a hearing, but he has until next Thursday to do so.

McCauley was not available for comment this morning. Simmons did not want to speculate on what McCauley might choose to do in this situation.

Troubles began for the personnel director when it was discovered last October in an investigation regarding gambl-ing in the workplace that he was involved in the fantasy league during work hours.

At the time, he was suspended with pay for five days. According to Simmons, his involvement in the league on city time did not end even after the suspension. Managers in the fantasy league purchase and trade players who are currently in the NFL. They speculate on the players' performances during games and their teams' success or failure is based on the players' performance.

Simmons would not give any specific details on why Mc-Cauley was suspended except to say that "it all stemmed from the fantasy football situation."

Hattaway has area's best interest at heart

Even though it's Saturday, tomorrow is election day. Citizens are being asked to vote their choice to fill the Florida House of Representatives District 33 seat vacated by Marvin Couch.

Candidates are Democrat Jim Hattaway and Republican Tom Feeney. Feeney had served one term in the house from 1990 to 1994. Then, because of redistricting, he was unable to obtain re-election. Hattaway would be a newcomer to the legislature.

Regardless of which person is elected, both have indicated they will seek election again this fall, as the remainder of Couch's term will end this year.

The person who is chosen will go to Tallahassee to sit in on the remaining five or six days of the current legislative session. barely enough time in which to press for any legislation or initiate any law-producing action.

Selecting the person for whom to vote is, of course, up to the individual voter. Some will vote based on party affiliation. Others will study what each candidate stands for or has pledged, and vote accordingly. Still others, unfortunately, will pick a name and cast a ballot, not really knowing the person or what he stands for, but merely exercising their right to vote.

It should be noted that there are considerably more Republicans than Democrats in Dist. 33.

The district involves 32 out of 133 precincts in Seminole County, 13 precincts in Orange County, and six in Volusia County. Thus, the way Seminole County votes will easily be the determining factor in selecting the winner.

The way we see it, residents of the district in Seminole County would be the main stomping grounds for whoever is chosen to represent them.

In observing the candidates in their public appearances and studying their campaign literature, we believe the citizens of Seminole County would be best served with the election of Hattaway.

WILLIAM RASPBERRY

he movement to save America partner in community undertakings. The Less than a month from now, at a news con-ference at the National Press Club, Bobby William Austin will announce the movement to save America.

The W.K. Kellogg Foundation executive won't call it anything as grandiose as that, of course, Officially, the May 14 conference will announce the launching of the African American Men and Boys Initiative. But listen to Austin, and it becomes clear what he has in mind is the healing-yes, the salvation-of a nation.

He will begin with the part of the society most in need of healing-young black males-and he will attempt to do it by enlisting one of the least recruited elements of the society: organized middle-class black men.

"It's really quite amazing that this group has so seldom had a voice at the table," said Austin, a former Washingtonian back home for a few days from Kellogg's Battle Creek headquarters. "They've always been asked to back up some-body else's agenda. But these people are the strength of the black community. And I believe they are ready to step into the vacuum."

Some disclaimers may be in order. First, Austin would deny ownership of the movement-or even of the ideas that he hopes will sustain it. "I'm not inventing anything." he says. "Kellogg has always been an enthusiastic foundation already has spent some $11 million on this project alone."

As for the ideas, they have come principally from people already working in programs to rescue young black males. What Austin has done over the past four years is to bring them together to tru to figure out which approaches work best (and how to support or replicate them) and to start building a more mine, not Austin's. But I think the grander term is justified. The Civil Rights Movement of the 1950s and '60s was a movement to combat American apartheid--the official race-based denial of opportunity. This battle against the external enemies of black progress was largely successful. It is time now for a full-scale movement against the internal enemies of our progress.

That movement, like the earlier one, can be expected to draw support from all creeds and colors, but it will have to be led by blacks themselves. Austin said his meetings with leaders of organizations already involved in rescue work produced an almost conservative reluctance to draw heavily upon government leadership and financing. "The consensus was, we ought to start this one ourselves-with our leadership and our money--before looking to others to help," he said.

The question of where to start produced a more controversial answer: with boys. It was obvious to all concerned that the probledms facing black Americans--particularly the pro-blems of inner-city youth-affect girls and women as well as boys and men. But Austin says his meetings produced an agreement that since black males seem to be at the vanguard of the trends that are destroying black America, it makes sense to begin by transforming black males.

WASHINGTON -- Rep. Henry Hyde, R-III., had good reason to mutter the other day over the year-long delay by the U.S. Senate in passing a crucial piece of legislation.

"Watching the Senate work is like watch-ing ham cure," he groused to an aide.

Hyde was upset about the Senate's failure to pase the Violent Criminal Incarceration Act, which passed the House in February 1995 and which contained a uniformly popular provision to curtail frivolous prisoner lawsults.

Idiotic and wasteful suits filed by inmates have become the rule rather than the exception in federal courts ...nationwide. Dosenerof experte interviewed by our associate Dale Van Atta agreed that more than 90 percent of the thousands of suits prisoners file are without merit.

Both men are attorneys. Hattaway however, has been operating from an office in downtown Sanford, and has been a resident for almost his entire life. As such, we believe he is more attuned to the needs of the area, and the desires of the individuals. It must be said that one person, attending the legislature for less than a week, cannot hope to fulfill all campaign promises or bring about a new life for the citizens of District 33. Neither of the candidates can, nor should we expect them to. But, as each has said, this is a prelude to possibly the next election, when the winner must prove to be dedicated to the service of his constituents.

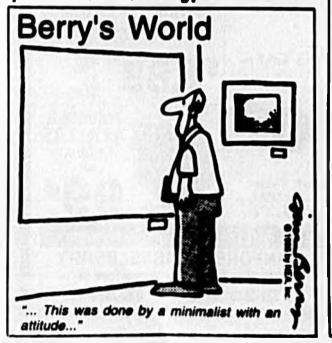

Both men agree that there needs to be improvements in the educational system and an increase in fighting crime, and changes in taxation. Their methods of approach however, are occasionally different.

Feency says now is not the time to send an inexperienced man to Tallahamee. We must wonder if it was time when he first gained the position.

We can't accept that as a reason. It's not the past but the present with which we must be concerned.

Vote for the person of your choice tomorrow. We believe Jim Hattaway should be that person. But regardless of the way you vote, let's show the rest of the state that we care about our representation, and let us have a goodly turnout.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. at all District 33 voting places.

"I hate feminism."

Recently, I confessed this heresy to my ed-itor. Maybe it's just a lack of sleep, but ever since I started working part-time after maternity leave, I've fantasized about returning to my true vocation: holding, kissing and adoring my 6-month-old son. I think of the nursing mom I met at Nord-strom, near tears as she contemplated returning to work. "I thought I'd be ready after three months," she said. And the busi-nesswoman, 39, who wrote me that she has always wanted a baby but now has to have a hysterectomy. "I always figured I had the luxury of time," she wrote. "But I'm out of time." There's a homemaker friend who is raising two kids beautifully but who can't stop thinking she "should" be working.

Feminism-which offered so much opportunity with so little mention of the downside-seemed to blame. My editor seemed the perfect person to straighten me out.

A month ago, she told me how nuts I am for dreaming about full-time mommydom. "You have a great job," she scolded. When her babies, now 16 and 13, were born, she added, "I couldn't wait to go back to work."

But when I called to tell her I loathe feminism, the same woman blurted, "Me too."

'Maybe I'm having a bad day." she began. "But I feel like women today have to be absolutely perfect in everything. ... You have to be great at work, great at home, work out and be fit. ... Look at the (expletive) women's magazines!"

So much for my editor being helpful. The next call was even worse--to my police reporter pal. Avis, who is working part-time while raising her con, Zechary, 3 1/3.

"Girl. I hate some things about feminism. too." Avis said. "It was supposed to give us opportunities to do anything.

"But I know a really nice woman who is so hung up on being equal that she won't offer you food at her house because her husband wouldn't do it! Making breakfast is belittling!"

Another friend reacted to Avia' part-time arrangement with a pitying. "Awww." "She had no clue why I could enjoy being here with my son." Avis said. "I've heard women say about breast-feeding that they didn't want to do anything for their children their husbands couldn't do. It should be empowering to know you can nourish a child!"

I phoned Retha, a journalist who as a teenager marched for women's rights.

"I have a problem with feminists," Retha began. "Back when I was covering welfare. there was this unique proposal that even if you were married, you could still get AFDC for a couple of years if your husband was in job training. ... (Feminists) argued that it told poor women on welfare that they 'have to' have a man. They said women should be allowed to raise children alone. ... I was like, 'Wait-don't men play a role in the family? ... With a man in the picture, aren't women less likely to be in horrible poverty?" ... But they couldn't concede that.

"Plus, feminists were wrong when they said men and women are basically alike. ... I always ask. 'If you were stuck on Gilligan's Island.

who would you want with you? Mary Ann?' Give me the professor, the captain--hell, even Gilligan. ... With a man, I'd survive until I found another boat.

The only friend who seemed astonished at my new-found antipathy toward feminism was, well a man. David couldn't believe that I'd trade writing for anything as mundane as baby-raising. "But think of the creativity that millions of women once expended on their kids that they now use up at work," I told him. "Most women would choose to stay home longer but can't afford to."

The only friend who seemed astonished at

my new-found

toward feminism was,

well a man.

David was stunned enough to mention my views to his fifty-ish sister, a linguist. Her response: "If I had been able, I would have stayed home with my son."

Finally, I turned to every woman's last resort: mom. When I asked her feelings about going back to work in the '60's, my mother smiled.

"I was glad." she said. "I'd been home with kids for 15 years." Fifteen years. It sounded awfully ... long. For all our frustration with feminism's flip side, few women would relinquish the good the movement has wrought-independence, appreciation of women's varied capabilities, increasing financial parity.

But a couple of rooms away. I hear my baby crying. The sitter has rocked, wrapped and cooed to him, but he still wants me. And I want him. Surely there's a reason-cosmic and binding and beyond ideology-for that wanting. A reason worth respecting and encouraging.

I go back to my editor. "Name one thing." I challenge her, "that makes the balancing act that I and so many women are doing make sense.'

"Your mortgage," she said. Forget feminiam. I hate editors.

Some prisoners we've found even had the gall to sue for having their civil rights violated due to their own prison escapes.

Watching the Senate work is like watching ham cure. 関

For instance, inmates in Arkanses and Colorado filed suit demanding to appear before a disciplinary board and a parole panel for hearings they had missed because they had escaped from prison. Escapees in Massachusetts and New York such because they found some of their property missing after they were captured and seturned to prison.

There are those who sue the system for allowing them to escape. Missouri prisoner Jeffrey Hodges demanded damages claiming the Buchanan County jail made it too easy for him to escape. He did, but broke his leg in the process, which wouldn't have happened if they hadn't tempted him into it.

The same goes for Florida burglar James Hanson Phillips. He was put on an outside work crew, and the temptation to escape was too great. He took the chance, and wound up hiding out with a group of drug addicts who beat him severely. So Phillips is suing Florida for not stopping him from escaping and getting hurt.

At least Robert Lee Brock was a bit more inventive. He is a prisoner at a Chesapeake. Va., state facility, serving 23 years for breaking and entering and grand larceny. In a handwritten, seven-page lawsuit filed last year, Brock sued himself for violating his own civil rights by getting arrested.

As the defendant, he confessed: "I partook of alcoholic beverages in 1993, July 1, as a result I caused myself to violate my religious beliefs. This was done by my going out and getting arrested."

As the plaintiff, Brock demanded $5 million in damages.

Again, as the defendant, Brock demurred. "I want to pay myself 5 million dollars but ask the state to pay it in my behalf since I can't work and am a ward of the state.'

The suit was read by a judge and, in a written opinion, dismissed as frivolous. It was a brilliant innovation in victim politics: If no one clse has victimized you, try victimizing yourself.

Hyde has a healthy sense of humor, but he ian't amused that this key piece of legislation is still wallowing in the Senate. Not incidentally, the wording is close to a model federal law unanimously approved by the attorneys general of all 50 states ... Republicans and Democrats.

A bit exasperated, the affable Hyde observes: "I came here 21 years ago thinking I could change the world. Now my only ambition is to leave the world with dignity!"

is interested in the chance. Whatley noted that anyone under the age of 13 who makes the trip must be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

Tajiri Arts is an academic and performing arts school, Whatley said. The students work in a very structured environment and learn a variety of skills that are designed to help them in school as well as in life in general, she noted.

Classes run from October through May and are held at the Little Red School House, 519 Palmetto Ave., Sanford.

Whatley said the school offers classes in acting. auditioning techniques, dance, plano, etiquette, self esteem, speech, sign language, story telling and employment skills.

There is also tutoring available in English and math as well as for the SAT.

Accoring to Whatley, all classes are included in the $160 annual tuition. There is an additional $50 registration fee.

During the summer, there are plans for the third annual Opera Camp with the Orlando Opera. There is an additional charge to participate in that event.

The trip to New York is also a separate charge. Whatley said the $400 fee includes round trip bus transporation, hotels, meals, tickets to both Stomp and Phantom of the Opera, visits to the Apollo Theatre and the Alvin Ailey Dance Theatre, and participation in a Shakespeare workshop at the New World Globe Theatre. Admission to the Statue of Liberty, the Empire State Building and various museums is also included in the price.

The school has had several fund-raisers and some local businesses have offered sponsorships for the program in an effort to keep the cost down.

The Tajiri Arts performers will be making a presentation this weekend at the National Education Association convention in Orlando where Whatley will receive the NEA human relations/civil rights award for her work in the community.

Anyone interested in the trip or in classes at Tajiri Arts should call the school at 322-8008.

Others don't have it so 'lucky.'

Rising gasoline prices, surpassing $2 a gallon at one California station Wednesday, are causing oil embargo flashbacks and driving some motorists into car pools, buses and trains.

Analysts blame the higher prices on a supply squeeze caused by a combination of factors, new cleaner fuel requirements and a harsh winter that prompted refiners to produce more heating oil and less gasoline.

The prospect for relief didn't get any better Wednesday, when

But for the last few years Metts' volunteerism has centered on the Temporary Food Assistance Program (TFAP) and Self Help And Resource Exchange (SHARE) programs that provide free and low cost food to both the needy and to those who volunteer their time to help others.

TFAP provides canned food and some meats to low and very low income families who meet certain financial criteria. Metts has arranged for that program to be combined with the Farm Share program so that participants get "cosmetically im-perfect" though fresh and perfectly edible fruits and vegetables from farms around the Self-serve prices ranged from $1.53 a gallon in Los Angeles to $1.65 in Santa Barbara. Selfserve premium was selling for $1.89 in Santa Barbara, where one Chevron station set its full-service price at $2.23.

Expectations that the United Nations was about to lift the embargo on Iraqi crude added to the problem. Expecting prices to drop when Iraqi oil hit the market, many refiners put off purchases of crude oil, said Gary Hovis, an analyst with Argus Research in New York. As the talks dragged on, many were forced to go ahead and buy more expensive crude.

Adam Oates had two goals and two assists for Boston, which still trails the best-of-7 Eastern Conference quarterfinal 3-1. Florida can clinch it at home Saturday night.

With the score 1-1, Jon Rohloff scored on a power play at 5:07 of the second period. Rick Tocchet made the score 3-1 at 5:49 and Cam Stewart connected at 10:54.

Florida threatened when Ray Sheppard cut the lead to 4-2 just 1:58 into the final period, but Oates regained the momentum for the Bruins with a shorthanded breakaway goal at 5:35. Panthers coach Doug MacLean, apparently thinking Oates was offside, was ejected when he argued.

Ontes assisted on the final goal, by Shawn McEachern at 16:26.

Flyers take series lead

PHILADELPHIA - John LeClair scored his fourth goal of the playoffs and the physical Philadelphia Flyers rolled over the Tampa Bay Lightning 4-1 in a penalty-filled game Thuraday night. LeClair's power-play goal followed scores by Mikael Renberg, Pat Falloon and Shjon Podein.

The victory gave Philadelphia a 3-2 lead in the best-of-7 playoff series. The Flyers can advance to the Eastern Conference semifinals with a win Saturday at Tampa Bay.

Fiyers goaltender Ron Hextall narrowly missed a third career postsesson shutout when John Cullen beat him with 2:01 left. Hextail finished with 23 saves.

Marlins end losing streak

PITTSBURGH - Quilvio Veras' three-run homer backed Al Letter's shutout pitching for 7 2-3 innings, and the Florida Marine ended a seven-game losing streak in Pittaburgh by beating the Pirates 4-1 Thursday.

Letter (4-1) joined Atlanta's John Smoltz and San Diego's Joey Hamilton as the NL's only four-game winners.

Leiter gave up four hits, shook off seven walks and struck out five.

The Pirates broke the shutout on Al Martin's RBI double with two outs in the ninth off Robb Nen.

BITHLO – Michael Williams overcame a flat tire early and avoided a multi-car wreck late to win the Modified feature Friday night at Orlando SpeedWorld.

Williams, running third, headed to the pits with a flat left front on Lap 4 and made it back for the restart, thanks to the blown motor of Lakeland's Eddie Martin, who was running second. A lap later, Dave Savicki, running third, spun safely out of Turn 4. He'd seen nothing yet. Ross Eldridge and Eddie Shedd got tangled in Turn 3 on Lap 6 as Cape Coral's Doug Moff tried to blow by on the low side. On Lap 17,

Joe Middleton's car hooked up with Jim Woodard's mount and planted Savicki into the Turn 3 wall. With just eight of 17 starter's left for the restart with three laps to go, Williams bolted to the front and held off Orlando's Jeff Hadley and Moff for the Tommy Patterson Memorial Warmup victory. Ormond Beach's Conrad Grenier posted his eighth Mini Stock victory of the year at SpeedWorld. Brian Bellaw of Altamonte Springs pushed his machine past Osteen's Richard Newton on the last lap for the runner-up spot, floowed by Merritt Island's Ronnie Watson and Fern Park's David Carlson.

Osteen's Bobby Sears, the Limited Late Model points leader at both SpeedWorld and New Smyrna

Speedway, led the parade of Limited Lates, ahead of Orlando's Mike Todd and Melbourne's David Carison.

Orlando's Ricky Wood passed Sid Stites of Merritt Island on Lap 7 and cruised to the Late Model win. Cocoa's Billy Pratt and Odeana's Bruce Everett were the only other machine's running at the end.

Melbourne's Dwayne Waddell celebrated his 32nd birthday by winning the Bomber feature, trailed by Mike Peppler of Winter Sorings and Fred Peters of Winter Garde Kenny Wilson bounced off the wall in Turn 4 and took the checkered flag without a right front wheel in the Run-A-Bout feature, with Harry Topliff and Ray Powell in tow.

SANFORD - The Braves finally put a good game together to win their first Sanford Recreation Deparment Babe Ruth Baseball League victory, while the Longwood-Blue Jays were very rude to their Sanford-Marlins hosts Thursday in Senior Babe Ruth Baseball League action.

The Braves won their first game in six starts, scoring seven runs in the second inning and going on to whip the Expos (1-6) 12-1 at Zinn Beck Field. The game was a completion of a contest that started on April 15th but had to be suspended because of rain.

Pacing the Braves were Justin Cooper (home run). Gee Babe Ruth, Page 23

Symons rolls to Tommy Patterson Memorial win

By This Mores Special to the Heraid

BAMSULA - Jerry Symons drove his No. 66 lefthander chassis to a victory Saturday in the second annual Tommy Patterson Memorial Modified race at New Smyrna Speedway.

Bymons turned 19 and 20 second laps around the half-mile banked oval theoushout the 100-lap in his new Modified, which was built a mile down State Road 415 by Wayne Graham.

"I lost my ride not too long ago, and my next door neighbor is a good man." Symons explained. "I just looked over the fence and said 'Hey, do you want to build a race car?', and he said 'Sure, why not.' This lefthanded chasis is a really good car. It never slowed down."

It was extra special for Symons to win the Memorial - honoring a fellow racer who died of Lou Gehrig's disease - in front of his hometown fans.

Randy Hecker finished second in the race, followed by Doug Moff, Rob Portelo, David Rogers and Guy Hellyer. Tommy Patterson's brother Wally drove his No. 47 car to an 11th place finish.

Osteen's Bobby Sears avoided a couple of sensational two-car crashes to win the Limited Late Model Feature, ahead of Bill Morris and Mark Childress.

In the Sportsman Feature, Barbara Pierce passed Chuck Vola on lap 9 and pulled away to win. Johnson finished accord, followed by Vola.

Rick Clouser held off Butch Pierce to win the bomber division. Conrad Grenier recovered from a spin on lap 10 to win the mini stock race.

Beware of sun's ultraviolet rays

Summertime finds many of us basking in the warmth of the sun. Unfortunately, the sun's ultraviolet (UV) rays can be dangerous. Too much sun results in painful sunburn and premature aging of the skin. It also can lead to more serious health problems, including cataracts, immune system suppression, and melanoma, a life-threatening form of skin cancer.

Melanoma is one of the fastest growing forms of cancer in the United States. New melanoma cases in the U.S. have more than doubled over the past two decades, with an estimated 6,900 American deaths from the disease in 1994.

You can protect yourself from excessive sun exposure and reduce your chances of experiencing sun-related health problems later by taking simple precautions:

Wear sunglasses that block 99-100 percent of the sun's UV FRVS.

Wear a hat, preferably one with a wide brim, that offers good sun protection to your eyes, cars, face and the back of your neck.

Protect your body with tightly-woven, loose-fitting clothing if you will be in the sun for a prolonged period.

• Use a sunscreen with a Sun Protection Factor (SPF) of at least 15 to block harmful UV radiation. Reapply every two hours when working, playing, or exercising outdoors.

Avoid mid-day sun-between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.--as much as possible.

 Avoid tanning parlors and sunlamps which can damage the skin and unprotected eyes.

Check the UV Index if it is available for your area. The Index is a daily forecast of UV exposure and the degree of caution you should take when engaging in outdoor activities. Developed by the National Weather Service and the Environmental Protection Agency. the Index considers cloud cover and other local conditiona that will affect the amount of UV radiation in a particular locale. The UV Index is included in newspaper, radio, and television weather reports in many cities across the country.

Young children, the elderly, and those with health problems are more susceptible than others to the effects of high temperatures. But heat can affect all of us. In fact, a heat emergencysuch as heat exhaustion or heat stroke--can happen to anyone exposed to extreme heat for a prolonged period of time.

During a heat wave, keep yourself and your family healthy. Stay indoors as much as possible. If you do not have an air conditioner, stay on the lowest floor, out of the sunshine. Slow down and limit your activities. Do strenuous activity during the coolest part of the day, in the early morning hours.

Wear lightweight, light-colored clothing to reflect away some of the sun's energy. Drink plenty of water often, even if you do not feel thirsty. Avoid alcoholic beverages or caffeinated drinks. because they can make the heat's effect on your body worse. Eat small meals, but eat more frequently. Avoid foods that are high in protein, which can increase metabolic heat. Do not take sait tablets unless your doctor instructs you to do so.

Above all, learn the signs of heat exhaustion and heat stroke and get medical help immediately in these emergency situations.

How to raise an irresponsible child

DEAR MARY: A friend of mine recently shared an article with me that has a lot to say to all of us who are parents. I have no idea who the author is, but I think we can all learn some good lessons from it. In another column, we'll explore some of the ideas further.

The following advice is guaranteed to produce a child who is trresponsible, likely to need professional help later in life, and in general, who has the potential to become a burden on the family, the community and society.

1. Be their lawyer: Have a ready defense for all of their poor behavior.

2. Be their banker: Always have funds available when they want it.

S. Be their insurance company: They have the fun, you pay the price. They get the traffic ticket, you pay the growing premiums.

4. Be their agent: Represent them; negotiate with the school, the team, and society in general. They deserve the very best, and it's your job to get it for them. use your personal influence to get them what they want.

them when they break, give roles you can play. them the solution without explaining the steps involved or the real cause of the problem. 6. Be their butler: you are preparing them for life in a luxury hotel, and they certainly deserve the best. They should never have to clean up after themselves, pick up their things, or wait for a meal.

7. Be their Fairy Godmother: Wave your wand and make the shrinking checking account grow so that they can have instant gratification; they should not ever have to wait for what you can provide.

8. Be their doormat: Let them take out their frustrations on you. This teaches them humility by watchng your reaction to their anger and emotions. This

5. Be their mechanic: Fix is one of the most important

9. Be their apologist: Whatever they do wrong, give them a good excuse for it. This works well with the school since bad grades and behavior can be blamed on poor teachers, bad schools, etc.

10. Be their administrative assistant: Be their secretary and project director; intervene and help them get that "A" at all costs.

11. Do not teach them a Belief System: Let them wait until they are 21 and make up their own mind about morals, behavior, ethics, etc.

to help others Advice led abuse victim OD TIUSRID I

DEAR ABBY: While I was going through some old papers, I came across a letter you wrote to me in 1984. At the time, I was 16 and suffering from the effects of several years of sexual abuse by my stepfather. I was suicidal and in one of me sound advice: "Confide in a trusted adult and call the Child Abuse Hotline."

ADVICE

My problem: Whenever Jill and I make plans to go to dinner at a friend's house, Suzie expects to be right there between us. This was few times) (irst has become a problem. Suzie was supposed to stay with her mother during Easter vacation, but within 36 hours she was standing at my doorstep ready to come home. (She used to love going to her mother's.)

DEAR DADT Your problem stems from the extended period when it was you and Busie and no one else. And you are expect-ing your child to reason like an adult, while she is fighting for her most precious possession — her daddy.

I can't recall if I ever thanked you, Abby, so I'm thanking you now for sending a ray of hope into my prison of pain and confusion. I did get help and learned that there are more good, caring people in the world than villains. I'm now working on my master's degree in teaching. I work with homeless and abused children. My career goal is to be an international English teacher in Asia or Africa.

I dream of becoming an advocate for abused children because there are many in situations far worse than mine when I sought your help.

Although I wish I had never been abused, I have emerged stronger, more self-confident and more motivated than I might have been had my childhood been easier. Many people have helped me. Although I can't repay them indi-vidually, I can do my best to pase on the love and care I received.

Thanks again for caring, Abby. Many of us need guidance when we're stumbling in the dark. Bign me ...

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old woman married to a man 15 years my senior. I have never been happi-er than I am in this marriage. Alec and I were both married before. He has three grown children, and I love them very much. Two of his children are married and have their own problems. Now for our problem: One (whom Fil call Sonny) lives with us. He is 25 years old and very lazy. He refuses to do anything around the house to help. including cleaning his room, bathroom, or even picking up after him-self. He can't hold a job. Every time he finds one, he quits. He parties all night and sits around all day watch-

My husband agrees that Sonny is lazy, but says there is nothing he can do about it. I'm at the end of my rope. I love my husband very much, but Sonny has become a big problem in our marriage. Your thoughts, please.

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Sonny is clearly taking advantage of you both, but nothing will change until his father puts his foot down and quits being a root down and quits being a softy. As long as he's allowed to, Bonny will stay home and watch tolevision all day. Your husband is doing his son as favor by tol-crating his shiftless behavior. It's high time Bonny get a job and found a place of his own. Tell Alec for Beauty's asks that he alsould have tough.

I have set down with my daughter and told her I love her very much, and she'll always be important to me - but Jill and I need and want some time to ourselves. It hasn't worked. If I exclude Suzie she cries, calls us names and throws a fit. It has reached the point where we have to sneak around and lie in order to be alone.

How long must we endure this? I plan on spending my life with Jill. So far, she's been very understand-ing. What should I do? SUZIE'S DAD

You have two choices: Be firm with your daughter and assort yourselves as adults who need time and space for yourselves and refuse to be swayed by the tantrums. Bishops confirm 2250 at Arena

By SUSAN WENNER Herald Staff Writer

ORLANDO - Approximately 2250 candidates from fifty different parishes throughout Central Florida recently received the sacrament of confirmation last Sunday, April 21 at the Orlando Arena.

Seventeen bishops from across the United States confirmed the candidates. This celebration. which was attended by 17,000 people, was the largest gathering of Catholics in the 27 year history of the Diocese of Orlando.

Bishop Norbert Dorsey, Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Orlando, called the celebration the "start of our preparation for the Third Millenium."

Individuals specially selected from parishes across the diocese were designated to read scripture. At "imposition of Hands," all bishops and "vested" priests raised their hands over the community of confirmation candidates to bless them.

In the Roman Catholic Church, confirmation is considered to be one of the seven tion, and eucharist. sacraments instituted by Jesus Christ. The sacraments of in- along with their parents, sibl-

LAKE MARY - Getting a new church building up and running takes a lot of faith, a lot of money and a lot of sweat. Members of Grace Christian Church have been working up quite a sweat getting the building ready to open.

Last Friday and Saturday, members of all ages came and planted trees and laid sod. The sod was the hardest part because it really does get heavier the more you pick it up.

The sod at the top of the pallet is exposed to the sun, so it's drier and lighter. But the further down you go, the more water there is.

There were a lot of people moaning and creaking during church service Sunday morning due to the added labor the previous day.

Much of the work completed at Grace has been done by volunteers. Larry Oglesby has been

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

ORLANDO - Gospel choirs and groups are invited to participate in the First Annual Oriando Gospel FamFest, the premier gospel extravaganza in the state of Florida. Interested choirs are encouraged to sign-up and compete for a prize package of over $3,000.

The Orlando Gospel FamFest is the brainchild of Valecia Brooks, currect Ms. Black Florida Metroplex and President of EyeRise Productions, an Orlando based event planning and promotions company.

"This event is patterned after the highly successful McDonald's Gospelfest held annually in Los Angeles, California which has raised thousands of dollars for designated charities," said Brooks. She goes on to say,"we plan to bring togehter Florida's best amateur gospel choirs in a friendly competition to raise funds for local charitable causes."

Orlando Gospel Famfest competition begins with a two-month the-county search for the best amateur gospel choirs in Orange, Seminole, Volusia. Brevard, Flagler, Hillsborough. Duval, Polk, Osceola and Lake Counties.

For more information and to register for the Orlando Gospel Famfest 96, contact EyeRise Productions, Orlando, Florida at (407)684-8755.

the painting foreman. Edna Fortner, Mitch Fortner, Dave Weinrich, Jan Fuller and Marion Fuller are just a few of the many volunteers who have put in an outstanding number of hours on the project.

Members of Grace Christian Church had originally hoped to be in their new building by Easter, but several delays have changed that date to May 5. They will definitely be in the building for Vacation Bible School.

This year, for the last time, members will run their VBS program every Sunday from 10 to 11:30 a.m. The theme will be Camp Courageous.

The camping themed VBS will include one overnighter. Next year. a week long VBS will be scheduled.

Grace Christian Church is currently meeting at Wilson Elementary School. The new building is conveniently located right next door.

Baptist choir tours

Youth and choir directors from First Baptist Church, 519 Park Ave., prepared to leave for their choir tour. Pausing a moment for a brief photo, the young people were then on their way.

Is juice infection antidote?

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have MS and am very prone to bladder infections. I've had four in the past seven months. How much cranberry juice taken daily will help my condition?

DEAR READER: Patients with chronic neurological disorders, such as multiple scierosis, often have a tendency to develop recurring urinary infections. The precise reasons for this are not understood. Such infections cause fever, painful and frequent urination, and blood in the urine. Unless treated appropriately, they can spread to the kidneys, which may be life-threatening.

For years, medical studies have demonstrated that ingredients in cranberry juice exert a mild anti-bacterial effect in the urine; however, the benefits are far less than can be obtained by prescription antibiotics.

If your family physician agrees that cranberry juice is suitable for your condition, three 8-ounce glasses of the beverage a day should suffice. On the other hand, he may favor administering antibiotics when you have an infection - or on a permanent schedule to prevent infection.

Ask your doctor about this or request a referral to a urologist for specific advice.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Bladder and Urinary Tract Infections." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I want to take my niece to a musical, but she has scizures and claims she can't attend the show because of strobe lighting. Would laser lights used in a production have the same impact?

DEAR READER: The uncontrollable bursts of abnormal electrical activity in the brain that characterize epilepsy can, indeed, be triggered by flickering lights — the so-called "strobe effect." Thus, your niece is probably correct that she should avoid situations in which she might be subjected to strobe lighting.

I'm not sure if the laser lights so common now in stage productions would produce a strobe effect. They could if they are pulsed at certain frequencies. On the other hand, lasers that do not pulsate are safe.

Lauggest that you telephone the theater to inquire about the nature of their laser lighting. Then, armed with this information, check with your niece's neurologist. This is a situation in which you should take the advice of a specialist.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Epilepsy: The Failing Sickness." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long. self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to men-

DEAR DR. GOTT: My wife has macular degeneration. I recently read an article on a product known as Ocuvite that presumably slows the condition. Do you know of this and does it work?

DEAR READER: This common eye disease of the elderly, which progressively affects vision, is associated with a malfunction of the retina. In many instances, the cause is elusive. Laser therapy, to retard scarring of the retina (a hallmark of the disease), often helps to salvage the progressive visu-Ocuvite is a non-prescription vitamin/mineral preparation. To my knowledge, it is not suitable therapy for macular degeneration.

For starters, here's a question from a game show: What is the maximum speed of a New York City subway train?

In this deal, the final contract needed a very lucky lie of the cards, but only one declarer found the right track home. How would you play in four spades against the diamond-king lead?

The auction was hair-raising, racing into the stratosphere. North, with such great distribution, didn't want to pass on the first round. Yet, as he was too weak for three clubs, he compromised with a bid of two hearts. (Double would have been for penalties.) With his useful-looking heart bonors, South thought he was worth three spades. Finally, North, taking the view that his partner was unlikely to win exactly

"Sorry, partner. I underbid badly," said North, tongue firmly in cheek. A New York subway train can do about 40 mph, but a game-show contestant thought it could manage 500 mph.
