City Panel Nixes Districting Plan

Sanford City Manager W. E. Knowles termed districting of the city for election of commissioners a "retrogressive form of government" at a City Commission work session called for the purpose of studying the new city charter. The discussion over districts came up after the Commission was notified the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce legislative and national affairs committee had approved a resolution asking the city be divided into separate districts and requiring candidates seeking Commission seats to be a resident of a specific district.

Commenting after the city manager's opinion that formation of districts would have the effect of going backward in city government, Julian Stenstrom opined, "If we're going to districts, I'm in favor of going all the way and restrict voting on a commissioner to those persons living in the candidate's district."

A. A. McClanahan disagreed and vowed, "I'll never vote for that." He explained he has an "open mind" to candidates running at-large if districting is Mayor Lee P. Moore stated, "What you're doing is allowing the taxpayers to vote only for one man who would spend their money.' Jonh Morris favored having seven commission districts instead of the present five but this was not shared by the other commissioners. Gordon Meyer opined, "I do not feel it's wise to the death sentence, I wonder change at this time." Moore stated, "I feel five is how they'd make out talking adequate to do the job."

Nervous Breakdown Is Told By Moon Walker 'Buzz' Aldrin

'Buzz" Aldrin Jr., the second astronaut on the moon, says he later spent a month undergoing psychiatric treatment in an Air Force hospital. "I was on my way to having a good old American nervous breakdown," the 42-year-old Aldrin said. "I realized it and asked for help." In an interview published in Sunday's Los Angeles Times, Aldrin said the near breakdown occurred after he left the National Aeronautics and Space Administration a year ago to command the Aerospace Research Pilot School at Edwards Air Force

"I virtually ceased to function for brief periods of time and I couldn't get

Protect Pension Program

By BILL KOSMAN

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) - A Senate panel is seeking tighter federal regulation of the nation's 34,000 private pension plans, in which 30 million workers have an interest.

The Senate Labor subcommittee, headed by Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., issued a 163-page report Sunday that was critical of the pension funds and called for major legislation to protect some $135 billion invested in them. A major problem in supervising pension plans is the fragmentation of government authority over them, the report said. The Labor Department and eight other executivebranch agencies have authority over the plans. "The subcommittee findings demonstrate beyond a reasonable doubt that the just expectations at retirement of many American workers have ailed to materialize, and they are left with financial insecurity at that twilight stage of their lives," said Williams and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, RN.Y., in releasing the study. Williams and Javits, the ranking Republican on the panel, said they hope to enact private-pension-plan reforms this

Among the deficiencies the panel said it found after examining 1,431 of the estimated 34,-000 private pension plans were: -Inadequate or nonexistent provisions covering how much money employes should get from the plans, resulting in the about the trout downstream," said the onrushing water denial of retirement benefits to Tudor said. Single Districts For City Elections

Growth in the city of Sanford is such a fact of life that it is encouraging to know that this is now becoming recognized as important enough and so deeply significant that the political impact is receiving sober, perceptive and needed study. New residential areas are being created. New families are moving into every section with a welcome rhythm of happy anticipation. We believe that this is just a small start of a stream which will increase as the years pass by.

This it is quite proper that a new city charter should be adopted which will allow the machinery of government to provide the kind of performance that is needed in the 70s and no longer try to patch-up or improve the one which has outlived its usefuliness.

It is from this standpoint that we endorse the action of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce's sub-committee on legislative and

It Is To Smile

Sometimes it's the P.S. that tells the news. This is the case with a recent letter from an old friend who lives in New Hampshire on the shores of Lake Winnapesaukee, who has been "researching" Florida for years trying to determine whether he and his should fly south. Recounting the beauties of the fall, the foliage, the newly changed area from a totally devoted summer resort to a vigorous ski resort, he tried to resurrect our old love for that lake and mountain region.

Sure we know all that. We also were well aware that all anyone needs to do to get fed-up with northern winters is to wait. Thus when his charming wife added her P.S. saying" ... now the worst snowstorm of the winter has started.." we

Oh yes! Then we stepped out into Florida's brilliant sun, a mocking bird poured out his song. We started our car and off to the office with a smugness, we thought quite proper.

The Internal Revenue Service reports it is on your I-won't-fret-my-littlepreparing a Spanish-language guide to Form 1040, the one most people use when figuring their income taxes. The IRS would do the average taxpayer a big favor if it also prepared an English-language guide to Form 1040. new city charter provide single districts for election of commissioners.

Such single districts would be based on geographical and population factors. Selection of candidates to run for the city commission would allow the voters in each of the newly determined districts to put in office that man or woman who would best be fitted to do the job.

In essence this procedure makes the Sanford city commission election get in step with the national policy of assuring that the "one manone vote" principle is in force.

Practically it would have two obvious results. One would be that the elected commissioner from a single district would have to compaign honestly as to issues and then, by action in commission decisions, abide by them. It would refine the meaning of a single vote to that of accountability. The Sanford voter who casts his vote for Mr. or Mrs. Candidate could see, by the elected officials actions, whether or not his vote counted.

What a wonderful result would be found if this means of election would stir a larger voter turn-out and show that citizen apathy can be shaken so that the responsiveness of the successful candidate could be rewarded or punished

There are, of course, other results which need to be weighed carefully before the details of the single district procedure is adopted and

A New Asia Is Now Emerging

By ARTHUR C. MILLER

COPLEY NEWS FERVICE HONG KONG - Indonesian President Subarto flies off to Australia and New Zealand to discuss regional security and defense cooperation with two countries whose troops were fighting Indonesians only a few years ago.

The Philippines' staunch anti-Communist President Ferdinand Marcos announces that from now on the Philippines wants to have trade and, eventually, diplomatic relations with the Communist nations of the world. . Japan suddenly dispatches two high-ranking diplomats to Hanoi for talks, among other things, on how to get discussions started with China on the normalization of Those are but a few of the brush strokes that are beginning to redraw the political map of Asia. There is no disputing the fact that a major change in the political outlooks and relationships of the Asian countries is

There also is no disputing the fact that the major impetus for this change has been President Nixons's move to chart a new approach in America's foreign policy, and so far as Asia is concerned, especially in its policy toward China. Other factors are at work as well. The growing Russian presence throughout the Far East is having a profound MANCHESTER, N.H. (NEA) Shrewd, able House Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills is floating a costly write-in bid in New Hampshire's March 7 presidential primary. But he is suffering from his confused involvement in a hot fight here over a proposed state income tax.

It can be disclosed now that when Mills recently came to Concord to talk about his federal revenue-sharing bill he struck two sharply different postures on the tax. He told New Hampshire legislators their state should not be penalized on revenue-sharing if it does not have such a tax. But his bill would seem in most instances to propose greater rewards to those states which make heir own income tax effort, And Mills later told Republican Gov. Walter Peterson, who is pushing an income levy, that what the governor is doing in this regard is

These conflicting postures, indeed Mills' whole emboilment in the tax affair, suggest an ineptitude which contrasts noticeably with the polished skill being lavished on the powerful chairman's sleeper campaign for the

Take a look at that campaign. For many months, a draft-Mills committee has been quietly working under leadership of Massachusetts Rep James Burke, author of a pending restrictive trade bil and Charles Ward, millionaire Arkansas bus manufac-

Their undertaking properly assumes Mills' appeal to the South. Soundings there turn up wide interest in him as a southerner free of the handicaps which hobble Gov. George Wallace on the race issue.

But the Mills camp has been eager to gain him credibility as a national candidate. That's why he gave nearly 200 speeches in 40 states in 90 days. And that's why he bustled up to New Hampshire. Mills told newsmen here his current push, including the March 7 write-in bid, reflects his developing judgment that neither frontrunner Sen. Edmund Muskie nor anyone else has a clear route to the 1972 nomination. The fact, however, is that Mills gave a strong New Hampshire signal last October. He made a speech in Laconia, and his people sounded out the territory. It was at that time he got the invitation to talk to the state legislature in mid-February on revenue-sharing-his favorite opening wedge in the campaign to win "presidential visibility."

Since early this year, the Mills men have been very busy here. Their Manchester headquarters has the whiff of money. The literature is fancy. A beautifully done halfhour television documentary film is getting steady exposure, both on the air and by request in towns where he has headquarters. Radio spots are numerous, and expensive direct mailings have been dispatched. Those politicians who know this state say he could be spending upwards of $250,000, though his aides deny it. Says Congressman Jim Burke:

During the District 5 AAAA tournament opener at Lyman High Thursday night, Mainland played a player that was not on the school's eligibility list. When the decision went to Lay, he stated that he wouldn't forfeit the game but that the player, Horace Williams, couldn't play in any proce tournament games. Now if he wasn't eligible for the second and third tourney games, I can't see how he was eligible for the first.

So if Lay is going to make decisions like this one, why don't they just throw out the rule books and install a "hot line" to his office.

Prep Baseball

There have been some fair crowds at the first two Seminole High home baseball games, but they could sure stand to be better. The Tribe is off to an excellant start and it looks like they might have one of the best prep squads

Lyman also has a strong team, but unfortunately the two don't battle during the regular season. The fields at both Seminoles and Lyman are looking good and I can't say too much about the work the SJC Raiders put into the field at the Seminole Little League Park.

The largest and most competitive lineup of southern stock car racing talent ever assembled will be attempting to snap the "Allison stronghold" on Alabama International Motor Speedway when the second annual Winston 500 NASCAR Grand National battle gets the starting flag, season and the NASCAR superstars will be out to break the win streak when the upcoming 500-miler gets the green flag. Donnie Allison won last spring's Winston 500 classic and brother Bobby Allison captured the Talladega 500 last fall. The two 500-mile battles here last year established a standard of competition that will be difficult to top. The Winston 500 set a record with 46 lead changes and the Talladega 500 followed in the fall with a record-breaking 53 Bobby Allison, who is driving the Cocoa Cola Chevrolet prepared by Junior Johnson this year, is expected to be one of the early entrants for the May event. The Hueytown athlete announced at the beginning of the current season that he will be making a run for the Winston Cup national championship. Other early entries are expected to be filed by STP teammates Richard Petty and Buddy Baker. Baker finished third in the Winston 500 last year behind the Allison brothers.

Top Golfers Entered

The 18 leading money winners on last year's Ladies Professional Golf Association tour have entered the Sears Women's World Classic of St. Lucie, March 24 through 26. Leading the list is Kathy Whitworth, last year's leading money winner with $41,000. She is followed by Sandra Haynie, Jane Blalock and Sandra Palmer.

Only Japan's Chako Higuchi and Shirley Englehorn, who currently is sidelined following surgery, are missing from the list of 64 top golfers based on last year's official earnings list. Although not playing, Miss Englehorn will serve as the tournament's official hostess.

The defending Sears Classic champion, Ruth Jessen, also has entered the $35,000 event, which this year features both match and medal play. Jessen, firing 72s for her final two round, captured last year's event on the Sinner's Course of the St. Lucie Hilton Country Club Resort and took home a record $10,000 winner's check. This year the winner will receive $12,000 of an $85,000 purse.

Sponsors of the three-day event, Sears, Roebuck and Co. and the General Development Corporation, indicate that first round match pairings will be announced in mid-March. The tournament's format features two rounds of match play two professionals competing against each other on a hole-tohole basis — and a final round of the traditional medal play.

'Discover Wet'

March 12, 1972, will be the kickoff date for Johnson's 1972 spring promotion in thousands of Johnson dealers' showrooms around the country. Again this year, the theme will be tied to the NBC telecast of a water sports special: ED McMAHON AND HIS FRIENDS ... DISCOVER WET AT CYPRESS GARDENS, co-spensored by Johnson Motors and the Champion Spark Plug Company (March 12, 5-6 p.m., EST). Interested viewers - both boaters and non-boaters will be reminded (during the one-hour nationwide telecast) to visit their nearest Johnson dealer to take part in his "Discover Wet" promotion. The Johnson marketing communications department is readying sophisticated display materials to decorate dealer showroom, as well as placing print advertisements to promote the television special and the promotion itself. Last year's "Greatest Show On Water" promotion - also built around a one-hour network TV special - was very well received by Johnson dealers. Their answers to a survey following the promotion indicated large numbers of prospective boaters visited dealer showrooms as a result of the national telecast, the promotion and the advertising and publicity campaign.

Ed McMahon again will be featured in the Johnson showrooms, encouraging boaters to come in and look at what's new in boating products for 1972.

Father of 20-year-old objects to name 'Dad'

DEAR ABBY: My parents were recently divorced. I live with my mother, but I see my Dad occasionally. I made a date to play tennis with him on Sunday at a club he recently joined. When we met he asked me not to call him "Dad" because he didn't want anyone to know he has a 20-year-old daughter. I was hurt. He is my father. Should I call him "Dad" anyway?

DEAR DAUGHTER: Certainly. And if you're in a playful mood, just for fun, call him "Grandpa." He's old enough

DEAR ABBY: I must make a decision soon and I don't know what to do.

I am in love with, and want to marry, a man of considerable means and position. I am 36 and have never been married. He is 44 and divorced. His ex-wife has remarried, and she is no problem. But he has a 20-year-old daughter who lives with him, and she's the problem.

The daughter never got along with her mother. [That's why she's living with her father.] She is an only child, and while I don't know this for a fact, I think she's slightly

She has never had a date in her life, and the reason is obvious. She has a bad complexion from eating sweets continually. She is terribly overweight, very lazy, and very,

She "works" for her father ["filing" at his office] when she feels like it, which isn't very often. She's usually a home, eating and watching television.

She likes me, but I don't think I could stand having her live with us for the rest of her life, and I'm afraid that would be the deal.

Well, Abby, what do you say? BETWIXT AND BETWEEN

DEAR B AND B: If you are considering marrying a man, you should be able to discuss the matter of his "problem daughter" with him. [Does he know what her potential is? Why is she permitted to vegetate?] If she is "slightly retarded," surely she could be doing more with her life. If you don't love this man enough to want to help him with his problem, and his daughter is his problem, don't marry him.

DEAR ABBY: In hiring a secretary I bear in mind that a good secretary is one who is a good "keeper of secrets," as the word "secretary" implies.

I receive all kinds of mail from people all over the world, and I never know what will be contained in those letters. However, I expect no raised eyebrows, censuring, or personal comments from my secretary regarding the contents of my mail. And certainly none regarding my replies.

When I dictate to my secretary, my thoughts are transmitted to her as mechanically as to the typewriter itself. This doesn't mean that I consider my secretary to be less than a human being with personal feelings. However, whatever her personal feelings might be, they should never interfere with her job.

If I should ever feel the need of a censor or editor, would hire someone else who is qualified in that field.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A new surge of energy that is now being generated from within is fine for making sure you have everything in good order. You can put in motion changes that can bring more efficiency into you daily existence. Think about a better diet to give continuing good vitality. Don't neglect your ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Tensions may build up over changes that may be necessary to put your life on a better basis. But don't let these bother you. Study the situation well. Show that you have wisdom. TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Ideal time to look into better forms of recreation for the future. You have a special talent but it needs to be perfected and the bugs removed before you make any headway. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A good day to entertain new friends at home and get the benefit of their ideas. Find out what you should do to make family happier. Make sure you pay those important bills. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A discussion with others can bring the right results now, especially where business matters are concerned. A greater swareness of facts and figures is important at this time. LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Try to cut down on expenses so you can build a comfortable reserve that will come in handy for any possible emergencies. Before making a change in property think the matter over well. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Contact persons with much experience for the data you need to handle own affairs better. Invitations extended to you should be accepted. Converse with an informative person.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Out. 22) You want to make some changes, but first study the situation well. Be sure you know what you are doing. Try a new tact where mate is concerned and get better results. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't be forceful with a good associate who has a personal problem and is not acting quite right. A group affair is all right to attend, but make no unwise comments. Be a good mixer SAGITTAP.IUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A civic affair you are handling could have you puzzled but a little study clears it up fine. A person who is critical of your work should be sypided now, Keep poised.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get all the facts where an annoying condition is concerned. If you put yourself in the other person's shoes, you will know what to do. You need to use your willpower at this time. AOUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have many obligations to handle but are doing little about them, so get down to business Closest tie may mag somewhat. Take this with a grain of salt. Use that smile.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get the data you need before taking any action whatsoever today. One who opposes you is in an irritable mood, so steer clear of this person. Take care of your obligations. Be wise. IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those young people who can work well at own job and wants to succeed in a positive way, but is inclined to make changes when things get a bit hard. With the colorful prints used in so many plastic curtains, one's closet can take on a very gay look and the different patterns will help one to recognize the type clothing that was put in each bag.

I thought that with the President casting a veto to the Child Welfare (nursery) Bill, it would be a dead forgotten issue. · Not so, what with at least one Democratic presidential candidate, Senator Humphrey, using it as a political weapon; and now that Mr. Nixon has had a firsthand observation of the Chinese "factory nursery" operation, it would appear that still another reminder of its apparent ills should be offered

The wire dispatch which I read on the President's visit to a nursery had a staff of 59 teachers looking after 300 preschool children every day. (And we complain when the teacherpupil ratio reaches 30 or so! If my math is correct, this is wasn't any Feb. 29 that year. The reason we have Leap Year, anyway, is that a true year-one revolution of the earth around the sun-is 3651/4 days long. Adding an extra day in February every fourth year takes care of the extra one fourth day.

Only the World Almanac notes that a true solar year isn't precisely 36514 days. It's actually 11 minutes and 14 seconds less than 3651/4 days. By the time a few centuries roll by, that's quite a few extra minutes. No one worried about it too much because no one knew about it until 730 A.D. when the Venerable Bede, an Anglo-Saxon monk, told the world.

But no one did anything until 1582 when Pope Gregory XIII was told that all those minutes had produced a 10-day surplus.

The Pope solved the problem be declaring the day following Oct. 4, 1582 would be called Oct. 15,
