Oviedo Man Arrested In Million-Dollar Theft Ring

By DAVID M. RAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

FBI agents early today arrested at least 10 persons, one of them an Oviedo contractor, in Florida and Alabama in connection with a multi-million-dollar theft ring, culminating a three-year investigation by federal, state and local law enforcement.

Arrested at his Oviedo home today and charged with conspiracy to commit interstate theft and one count of theft from an interstate shipment was Paul Leroy Cunningham, 46, of 857 Live Oak Lane, Cunningham is a private contractor in Oviedo, according to FBI agents in Orlando, was turned over to the U.S. Marshal and scheduled to appear before a federal magistrate today.

FBI agents say the number of arrests could reach 18 in at least five Florida cities and one Alabama city.

The ring, according to FBI spokesmen, was engaged in the hijacking of tractor trailers traveling between Alabama and Florida and other states.

Agents said the gang was more interested in the trucks than the cargo. The trucks were later sold either intact or broken down into parts. The thefts occurred between 1975 and 1977, involving more than $1 million in trucks, they said.

In each instance, FBI agents said, two or more armed men would overpower a truck driver and steal his rig, sometimes leaving him bound and gagged at the side of the road.

There is also a good possibility, an agent said, there is a connection between this operation and a similar operation broken up by the FBI two years ago in Lakeland.

The theft ring, according to the FBI, dealt with the theft of farm and construction machinery.

The FBI referred to its probe in that case as "igator bait."

Oviedo police today said they had little knowledge of the case except the FBI would soon be making an arrest in their city in connection with the FBI's ongoing investigation. An Oviedo police lieutenant said his department knows little about Cunningham except that he only moved into the area in the last few years and may be married.

Draft Registration: 2,600 Seminole County Youths Affected

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

"It sure would blow some of my plans," said a 19-year-old Altamonte Springs resident, contemplating the possibility of being drafted into the military.

The draft loomed a larger possibility after Congress gave final approval to a plan to renew draft registration.

The registration, which would begin in July, will require approximately 1,300 Seminole County 18-year-olds and 1,300 20-year-olds to register as early as July 21 with Uncle Sam. Four million men are expected to be affected nationwide. In 1981, some 1,300 Seminole County 18-year-olds will have to register.

"Hugh Miller, who graduated from Lyman High School and now attends Auburn University in Alabama, said he and his classmates worry that registration brings the country a step closer to the draft and a draft would mess up their plans.

"I plan to be a mechanical engineer," Miller said. "If the draft comes in two years, when I'm a junior, it could really mess up my plans."

Miller said he and his friends at school have talked about the matter a lot and have more or less decided that if the draft is reinstated, they would join ROTC.

"In ROTC you get to finish school first, even if the country's at war," he said. "And then you go in as an officer, not a private."

ROTC is the Reserve Officer's Training Corp., the on-campus officer training program that came under criticism by students during the Vietnam era, but its image has since been restored.

It would require further Congressional action to actually institute a draft of those registered.

Robert Cowan, a 20-year-old Sanford press operator, said he thinks the country can do all right with an all-volunteer army.

"It wouldn't be great, but it would be satisfactory," he said.

But Cowan said he would not try to avoid military service if drafted.

"If war is at hand, what are you supposed to do, just sit back and watch? Do we want the Russians to come in here and walk all over us?" he said.

"Canada's out," he said.

As for registering, Cowan said he doesn't mind.

"Besides, you'll be arrested if you don't," he said.

Resigned to registration, Seminole High School graduate George Cambridge, 19, said "it's going to get done one way or the other."

But as for being drafted, Cambridge said he hopes it doesn't come to that.

"I don't want to get into anybody's battles except mine," he said.

Cambridge said there is a "large possibility" that what happened during the Vietnam era draft — more blacks drafted than whites — could happen again if the draft is reinstated.

"It still could happen," he said. "With the unemployment rate among blacks, they may think it's a way of getting them out-doing something, even if they're risking their lives."

Dave Crider, 20 of Fern Park, agrees wholeheartedly with registration.

"It's a good idea," he said. "We've got to do something to get people into the armed forces, because they don't have many people joining up."

Crider — Lake Howell-High School graduate — said he would register. "The registration means there will be a draft — not for at least two years but if there is, he said he'd go.

"I'd rather stay home," he said. "I think we all feel we don't want it to happen, but if it happens we'll go. There's nothing we can do about it."

Miller said he feels objection to the draft would be less if the cause is well defined.

"In the Vietnam era many who were drafted died needlessly because the country was not fighting to win."

"We could have won very quickly," he said, but the war was drawn out for political reasons.

"In a similar situation, if we didn't do everything we could to win, I'd be sympathetic to draft evaders," Miller said.

Under Carter's plan, all young men born in 1960 will be required to fill out draft registration forms at any of the country's 34,000 post offices during the first week of the program. Those born in 1961 will be required to register the next week.

Those turning 18 will be required to register in 1981.

The maximum penalty for failing to register is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine, although the maximum has never been imposed.

Conscription

Bring Your Wife And A Spear

Conscription varies from country to country, and the laws change with time, too. For example, the following order was issued in Ethiopia in 1935 by the then-emperor, Haile Selassie:

- 1) All men and boys able to carry a spear go to Addis Ababa.
- 2) Every married man will bring his wife to cook and wash for him.
- 3) Every unmarried man will bring an unmarried woman he can find to cook and wash for him.
- 4) Women with babies, the blind and those too aged and infirm to carry a spear are excused.
- 5) Anyone who qualifies for battle and is found at home after receiving this order will be hanged.

Postal Service Training Employees How To Cope With Registration

Representatives from each of Florida's regional post offices traveled to Tampa Thursday to attend a course on how to register America's young men.

One Customer Service representative from each of the U.S. Postal Service's regional offices, including the Orlando office serving 80 local branches, nine of which are in Seminole County, began learning what they will need to know to teach local post office workers how to handle the draft registration forms.

Sanford Postmaster James Covington said this morning he and other post office employees have not been told anything yet about how the registration program will work.

"I really can't comment on it until I really find out what I have to do," he said.

In Orlando, at the main post office for the central Florida region, Retail Sales Manager Cheryl Brown said she and his men did not know how the system would work yet, either. But that problem was being remedied Thursday, he said.

On June 17, more than a week before Congress passed the bill approving President Jimmy Carter's draft registration proposal, the district post office in Tampa sent out a notice ordering one man from each regional center to report to learn how to train the people who will have to handle the registration forms.

In Washington, David McLean, head of the postal service's public information office, said he could not explain why the registration legislation became law.

"We knew there had to be some training," he said. A White House spokeswoman said she could not explain the scheduling or determine who would pay the bill for the training on a procedure not yet even approved by the president's signature.

McLean said once dates for registration are set, first 20-year-olds, then 19-year-olds would be given training, had been given the day off. But Morgan said he will be giving lessons to local postal employees on how to check out the forms, Brown said.

Sanford Boy Narrowly Escapes Death In Pool Mishap

By DAVID M. RAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

A 9-year-old Sanford boy owes his life to three people who pulled him from the bottom of a pool and got him breathing again Thursday morning, police say.

Kevin Lee Scudder, 412 Minnesota Terrace, is listed in fair condition this morning at Orlando Regional Medical Center. The youth is awake and talking and will probably be moved out of intensive care today, a hospital spokesman said.

Scudder's future did not look that good when his blue body was pulled from an 8-foot-deep pool at Geneva Gardens Apartments, 26th Street, Sanford, shortly after 10 a.m. Thursday, police say. But Scudder was saved because two of the three people who rescued him had taken lessons in resuscitation.

Police say Scudder had run away from the home of a babysitter living on Country Club Road earlier that morning, adding they still do not know whether slipping or diving into the pool, several blocks away.

Shortly after 10 a.m., the son of Sandy Davis, manager of the Sanford apartment complex, saw Scudder at the bottom of the pool. He called maintenance man Wavie Alloway, 408 Bay Ave., Sanford, who reached in with a "shepherd's crook" rescue pole and pulled the child from the water.

Davis ran out of her office, joined by Kathleen Williams, an employee of the company owning Geneva Gardens who manages the Hacienda Apartments in Orlando.

Alloway, who says he got his training in the Boy Scouts and Williams, who took some courses in cardiopulmonary resuscitation, got the child breathing again, say police, who credit the three apartment workers with saving Scudder's life.

Within five minutes, police and rescue units arrived, taking over the job of helping Scudder breathe.

Seminole Memorial Hospital spokeswoman said the youth was believed to have suffered brain damage during the time he was not breathing, and was transferred to the Orlando hospital's special pediatric intensive care section. He is listed in critical condition.

But today an Orlando Regional spokeswoman says Scudder is in much better condition and apparently did not suffer permanent injury in the accident.

Alloway and Williams say this was the first time they had used their life-saving training.

Williams said she had thought she was "doing everything wrong," but that Davis kept her and Alloway calm.

Lake Mary Council Silent On Kulbes' Tax Boost Plan

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Three members of the Lake Mary City Council listened intently, but made no comment of support or rejection Thursday night as City Manager Phil Kulbes said property taxes in the new fiscal year must be raised to $4.48 per $1,000 assessed valuation of real property.

Current tax rate is $2.84 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

Kulbes said earlier figures released by him indicating he would recommend a $3.50 rate were in error.

The increased taxes would be used to: pay a $17,000 down payment on a Class A jumper for the fire department; purchase a new car for the police department; hire a full-time grader operator; hire a part-time parks person; employ a building and zoning inspector and administrator; buy a new copying machine; contract for codification of city ordinances and provide a 7 percent across-the-board cost-of-living pay raise for city employees.

Kulbes said a major increase in the budget is the cost of gasoline from the current $1.12 per gallon to an anticipated $1.73.

Department breakdown for the $474,081 budget is as follows: public works $86,576; fire department, $34,526; communications, $38,184; building and zoning, $14,566; parks and summer recreation, $15,132; administration, $68,552; central services $62,964 and police $106,171.

The utilities budget totaling $138,815 includes $112,000 for water service and $26,815 for sewer service.

Kulbes said the $4.43 tax rate would bring the city $230,931 in property taxes. He also included $12,000 in anticipated revenue from federal revenue sharing.

Present for the meeting were Councilmen Burt Perinchieff, Ray Fox and Francis Mark. Absent were Councilmen Gene McDonald and Vic Olivera.

In other business, the council heard a proposal from Kulbes that the city charge a fee for sewer service of $12.45 monthly to the 177 families living in The Forest mobile home community when the city takes over operation of the sewer system there in August or September.

Several residents from The Forest questioned the rate, noting they have been paying a fee of $4 monthly while a banking institution has controlled the sewer system. Kulbes said it will cost the city $26,380 to operate the system annually.

The council informally agreed to a request from real estate broker Homer Sewell III that water connection be sought from the city of Sanford through Hidden Harbour for a 28-acre tract off Old Lake Mary Boulevard. Sewell representing developer Roy Sikes, said 23 one-acre homes are to be built on the property.

The council also informally approved an affirmative action plan.

Major Oil Spill Nears Tampa Bay Beaches

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — A 2 1/2-mile-by-4-gallon patch of heavy bunker C fuel oil from a leaking 300-foot tank barge, carried on an incoming tide and pushed by westerly winds, threatened the popular recreational beaches of Fort DeSoto Park at the mouth of Tampa Bay today as well as the residential areas of Pass-a-Grille and St. Petersburg Beach.

A Coast Guard spokesman said about 84 gallons of oil a minute were leaking from the Donar 118 and the accident was classed "a major oil spill."

The barge, containing about 85,000 barrels of oil (42 gallons per barrel), and the tug Donar Captain, headquartered at Morgan City, La., were en route from Corpus Christi, Tex., to the Florida Power & Light Co. facility at Port Manatee, near Bradenton, when the barge began taking on water shortly after 4 a.m. some 20 miles from its destination.

The Coast Guard said the skipper of the tug managed to run the barge aground on a spoil bank outside Egmont Channel about 7:15 a.m.

"He ran it aground to assure that it wouldn't sink," the spokesman said. "Otherwise nobody would have been able to do anything with it. That was the main thing, to get it aground."

"Pass-a-Grille certainly is going to get some oil and most likely much of St. Petersburg Beach will too," a Florida Marine Patrol spokesman said.

The oil slick stretched generally in a northwest-southeast line and was within 200 yards of the Fort DeSoto beaches late this morning.

ACLU Challenges Registration On Basis Of Sex Discrimination

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Civil Liberties Union's strategy to block President Carter's draft registration plan is based on the claim that Congress would never approve of women signing up for possible military duty.

Resistance to Carter's draft registration reached the courts Thursday with the ACLU challenging the plan on the basis of sex discrimination. In its class action suit filed in U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, the ACLU charged the plan to register about 4 million 19- and 20-year-old males is discriminatory because it does not include women.

But ACLU officials, who oppose the peacetime registration for conscription of both men and women, admit that if they win the suit it could boomerang and Congress might order the registration of both men and women.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Iran Executes 22 People For Drugs, Prostitution

By United Press International
Firing squads executed 22 people for drug trafficking and prostitution, bringing to nearly 30 the total put to death in the past two days.
A woman and 12 men were executed in the northeastern city of Mashhad, the Pars news agency reported.
The woman was charged with running a brothel and selling narcotics and had hidden the drugs inside her body, the agency said.
In the southern city of Ahwaz, three women and five men were shot to death on conviction of prostitution, while a man was executed for "rebellion against the Islamic Republic and other offenses," Pars said. One of the men was convicted of taking part in explosions and spying for Iraq, the agency said.

Soviet Spy Plane Crashes

TOKYO (UPI)—A Soviet bomber on a Japanese mission crashed into the Sea of Japan today, killing two of its crew members, Japanese authorities reported.
Japan's Maritime Self-Defense Force said the freighter Nemuro recovered the bodies of two crew members of the plane, identified as Lt. Col. Kazuo Okamoto and a crew member. The aircraft was not immediately known.
The Maritime Safety Agency said the Soviet bomber-reconnaissance aircraft was on a spy mission along with another "Badger" over the Sea of Japan when it crashed 62 miles north of Sado Island, which is 250 miles northwest of Tokyo.
No further details on the nature of the mission were immediately available nor was the cause of the crash immediately known.

South African Troops Dig In

By United Press International
Some 3,000 South African troops have taken up positions inside Angola with a support force of fighter planes, helicopters gunships and tanks in an invasion that has killed nearly 400 civilians, Angola has charged.
A South African military spokesman in Pretoria refused comment on the claims, but lent credence to them by acknowledging Angolan gunfire downed a South African helicopter and one crewman was killed in an ensuing ambush.
At the United Nations, the Security Council met late into the night Thursday at the urgent request of Angola, which accused South Africa of "constant raids, bombings, invasions and armed aggression."
The council adjourned, but a resolution condemning South Africa is expected to be brought to a vote today, U.N. sources said.

Vietnamese Grab 2 Yanks

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI)—Vietnamese forces captured two American photographers and two international Red Cross workers searching for wounded soldiers in Cambodia's Thai-Cambodian frontier, Western diplomats said today.
News of the capture of the four men came as relief sources reported a new surge of artillery and ground fire between Vietnamese troops and Thai soldiers.

Floyd Seeks Williams' Seat

Norman Floyd Sr. submitted his "irrevocable" resignation as mayor of Altamonte Springs today to become a Democratic candidate for the county commission seat currently held by Dick Williams, R-Longwood.
Williams has said he will not run for reelection.
Floyd said his resignation will be effective Nov. 3, one day before the election.
"I feel I can do a job for the people of Seminole County," he said today. "Allegations against Floyd, charging him with wrong-doing while in office, are currently being investigated by an agency hired by the county commission."
"Obviously the investigation doesn't bother me," Floyd said today. "I would like to run for office."
Floyd said with the effective date of his resignation, the new city charter, approved by the people last November and calling for a city manager form of government, will also be effective.
He said his resignation is timed to permit his successor as mayor to be elected in the Nov. 4 city election.

Jury Indicts Man In Murder Of Woman

A Syracuse, N.Y. man will be formally charged today with the June 8 murder of an Altamonte Springs woman.
The sitting Seminole County grand jury met for about four hours Thursday before returning an indictment charging Rudolph Milton Richetts, 26, with first-degree murder.
Richetts is charged with shooting Susan M. Borda, 27, of 707 S. Wynore Road earlier this month, after forcing her to drive him through Altamonte Springs in her car.
Richetts was in Seminole visiting relatives at the time, police say.
Assistant State Attorney Don Marblestone says the 17 members of the grand jury, meeting for the first time since they were empaneled two months ago, returned the indictment at 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

ROBBERIES IN SANFORD
Sanford police say today they have added two more armed robberies to their list of crimes under investigation.
Early this morning, two young Sanford residents were robbed at gunpoint as they left Sambo's restaurant, U.S. Highway 17-92, police say.
Anthony Feury, 18, and Kathy Crandall, 16, told police they were accosted by two men, one carrying a handgun, as they left the restaurant at 1:17 a.m. The thieves took Crandall's purse, containing about $12 and assorted personal papers, police say.
Police are also investigating the armed robbery of the Lil' Champ store, 1115 Celery Ave. at 10:10 p.m. Wednesday.
Police say three men armed with handguns entered the store and took an undetermined amount of cash from the register and a purse from Sharon Meker, 20, of Sanford, a customer in the store.
Meker and clerk Leah K. Benton, 23, of Sanford were unharmed, police say.

Carter Returns, Cites Success

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Happy to be home from his rigorous summit travels, President Carter says despite some differences he found a "remarkable degree of unity" and harmony among European leaders on all major problems.
The tired-looking president was met by Vice President Walter Mondale at Andrews Air Force on his return Thursday evening from an eight-day, four-nation allied fence-mending mission in Europe.
"The best thing about the trip is coming home," he said. "We're glad to be back in the United States of America—the greatest nation by far on earth."
In brief remarks on the tarmac before flying to Camp David for a brief respite, he repeated warnings concerning Afghanistan that became the focal point of his talks with allied leaders in Italy, Yugoslavia, Spain and Portugal.
"This major threat, we all agree, must be resolved by the withdrawal of all Soviet troops—total withdrawal," he said.
"The recent token withdrawal has relatively little strategic significance unless it is permanent and is rapidly followed up by a step-by-step withdrawal of the Soviet forces," he said.
Carter made no mention of the "transitional arrangement" he has offered the Soviets in which a neutral, non-aligned Afghanistan would be established if the Soviet Union pulls out its troops.
In a response by Tass, the Russians said the proposal is "purposely vague."
White House officials do not deny that, but they maintain the Soviets have "got to make a decision to cut their losses. Then it's time to talk about details."

2 Quit Metropolitan Planning Organization
By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer
Seminole County Commissioner Sandra Glenn said this morning she really doesn't know what motivated two fellow-members of the tri-county Metropolitan Planning Organization to resign.
At a meeting Thursday, Orlando representatives Edna Brownlee and Carl Langford quit the MPO, saying they were frustrated because the organization was "powerless" and an "exercise in futility."
The two complained that the board has no authority to "force" governmental bodies to pay for projects it deems necessary as the organization that looks into transportation needs in Orange, Osceola and Seminole counties.
But Mrs. Glenn said Brownlee and Langford have known since the MPO was formed in 1977 that it is only an advisory group.
"We got into a long philosophical discussion about the role of the MPO," she said. "And came to the conclusion that it is strictly a planning organization. All we do is suggest."
Mrs. Glenn, Seminole County Commissioner Bob French and two Seminole County mayors represent Seminole County on the MPO, but Mrs. Glenn said representation is weighted in favor of Orlando and Orange counties.
Seminole County officials are miffed, she said, because the MPO recommended an increase of buses, but only in the Orlando-Orange County area and they gave Silver Star Road in Orange County first priority road improvement when it could be shown that the Interstate 4-State Road 436 area needs it more.
"They didn't even give any consideration to Seminole," she said.
The 15-member board, she said, has four members from Seminole, two from Osceola and nine from Orange County.
"Granted, Orange has more population," she said, "but there should be a better formula, based on need or something. We don't have a chance to get our programs considered."
Seminole County might be able to increase its bus routes if the municipalities would participate, she said, but due to a tight budget year the county may have trouble just maintaining the level of bus service it has now.
"Everybody says increase bus service. We'd love to, but if we don't have any money, how are we going to do it?" she asked.

Floyd said his resignation will be effective Nov. 3, one day before the election.
"I feel I can do a job for the people of Seminole County," he said today. "Allegations against Floyd, charging him with wrong-doing while in office, are currently being investigated by an agency hired by the county commission."
"Obviously the investigation doesn't bother me," Floyd said today. "I would like to run for office."
Floyd said with the effective date of his resignation, the new city charter, approved by the people last November and calling for a city manager form of government, will also be effective.
He said his resignation is timed to permit his successor as mayor to be elected in the Nov. 4 city election.

700 Auto Workers Dumped; Housing Crisis May Ease

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The purloined "Dallas" TV script that allegedly reveals who shot J.R. Ewing is back in the hands of the producers today, but they're not saying if it's the version to be used in the night-time soap opera.
Lorimar Productions claims the stolen "Whodunnit?" script was just one of several scenarios being considered, and said it neither confirms nor denies the recovered script will be the version used this fall.
A police report filed Wednesday disclosed a Los Angeles police officer had stolen the script Thursday, the Los Angeles Herald Examiner called a news conference to announce a "news source" had given it to them.
Several of the paper's editors admitted reading the script, but a Lorimar spokesman said the scene revealing the identity of J.R.'s assailant "has not been filmed yet and there's no reason why the culprit couldn't be changed around in the event there is a premature revelation of the would-be killer."
Although this week's events reek of a Hollywood publicity stunt, Herald Examiner publisher Francis Dale said: "Their (Lorimar's) lawyers are certainly serious enough about it."
Dale handed over the script to Police Chief Daryl Gates Thursday hours after the newspaper learned the script had been stolen.

Byrne's Pressroom Crowded

CHICAGO (UPI)—The number of desks in the City Hall pressroom is "growing like vines in a pot of manure," reporters say, and it all apparently is a part of a city war against the Chicago Tribune.
Reporters have dubbed the 22-foot by 25-foot pressroom "the battle ground" since Mayor Jane Byrne and her husband-press secretary Jay McMullen decided to put the squeeze on the media.
McMullenas' advised reporters they can expect still more desks, saying operations will continue until the city is forced to find a new location to house the media.

Inmates Appeal For Potts

ATLANTA (UPI)—Condemned killer Jack Potts, his mind made up to fight for life, turned to another federal judge today in his effort to stay out of the electric chair next week.
A ruling was due today in Macon, 100 miles south of here, from Federal Judge Wilbur Owens on an appeal, lodged on Potts' behalf by other death row inmates.
Potts is scheduled to be electrocuted Tuesday for the kidnap and murder of auto mechanic Michael Priest.

Oakland Tanker Explodes

OAKLAND (UPI)—A sulfur-filled tanker truck overturned and exploded early today, covering southbound lanes of a major freeway with a 400-yard wall of liquid fire and sending clouds of dangerous fumes miles into the air.
A California Highway Patrol spokesman said a tanker truck with one trailer apparently split open in a crash, spilling molten, burning sulfur several hundred yards down the highway and closing all five lanes to traffic.
Also in Oakland, the mysterious white powder spill that caused a nine-hour traffic tie-up on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge turned out to be a non-toxic material used in paints. The substance that caused the worst traffic jam in the bridge's history was magnesium silicate oxide, which is used as a pigment for producing paint or glue.

Men Increase Salary Lead

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The gap between men's and women's salaries is wider today than it was 25 years ago; women in all job categories earn, on the average, 61 cents to a man's $1, an organization of local women office workers has found.
Los Angeles Working Women said Thursday that jobs traditionally considered to be "women's work"—clerical, secretarial, other office occupations—are low-paying dead-end jobs.

Ex-officer Charles Veverka—who testified under immunity in the trial of four other officers charged in the beating death of the black insurance man—did not establish "a clear legal right" to get his job back on the police force, Dade Circuit Judge Mario Goderich ruled Wednesday.

Legislature Leaders To Huddle On Bills

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—House Speaker Hyatt Brown and Senate President Phil Lewis were scheduled to huddle with Gov. Bob Graham today to try to work out a banking bill that can be quickly passed during Monday's special session.
Legislative staff put together several proposals Thursday after searching for a way to tax loan operations by big, out-of-state banks.
"I hope we get everything worked out ahead of time so we actually passing a bill will take only a few minutes," said House Commerce Chairman Lee Moffitt, D-Tampa.
Brown and Lewis say they hope to reach agreement on a banking bill with the governor and also decide whether other issues should be taken up Monday, including an election for the constitutional amendment holding the homestead exemption on city and county property taxes.
Graham expressed his banking code Wednesday because it prohibited "loan production offices" (LPO's) by out-of-state banks. The prohibition is anti-competitive, he said, and would force the state a bad reputation.

He convened a special session to begin at 11 a.m. Monday and run through midnight.
The current code expires Tuesday under the Sunset Act requiring periodic legislative review of regulatory laws and unless a replacement law is passed, Florida's state-chartered banks will become the least regulated in the country.
Brown, who insisted on the LPO ban, then bottled up the banking code administratively so Graham couldn't veto it during the regular session, was agreed to back off, as long as the facilities pay the same taxes paid by Florida banks.
"It is not clear the state has the power to tax loans made by out-of-state banks and the lawyers of the House and Senate commerce and finance and tax committees, as well as Lewis' staff, spent most of Thursday researching the matter."
"As long as the tax is applied equally to state banks as well as LPO's, we're within our power to do it," Moffitt opined.
"We're just trying to achieve a parity between state banks and the LPO's and see that no one has a disadvantage." But banks probably need the right to set LPO's, Moffitt said.

The state has rigid restrictions on branch banking, limiting branches to the home county of the parent bank or requiring an institution to buy up an existing bank in another county and turn it into a branch.
State banks would be hindered by current statutes because an LPO would be considered a branch even though it isn't a full scale banking operation.
Legislative leaders thought they had placed the homestead exemption on the Sept. 9 primary ballot, but it turns out the proposal didn't get to the secretary of state in time. They now want to put it on the Oct. 7 runoff ballot.
Constitutional amendments normally go before the voters during the next general election. But lawmakers say that would be too late for this proposal. They want the tax break to take effect on 1980 tax bills and they also believe it would prompt the voters into rejecting a controversial proposal by the county property appraisers headed for the Nov. 4 ballot.

Check Your Turkey Dinners

WASHINGTON (UPI)—About 2 million Banquet brand frozen turkey dinners may be contaminated with salmonella bacteria, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said today.
Assistant Agriculture Secretary Carol Foreman Thursday urged consumers not to use Banquet brand frozen turkey dinners, turkey pies, "Mammy's" turkey dinners and turkey and gravy in boil-in-bags without checking the package codes.
She said there is no imminent health risk posed by limited exposure to the pesticide, but further consumption should be avoided.
The department said its investigation of laboratory records found the potential chemical presence in four flocks of turkeys slaughtered and turned into turkey rolls in Milan, Mo., facility and shipped to other plants for further processing.
Dr. Paul Houston, administrator of the Agriculture Department's Food Safety Quality Service, said the department does not have recall authority. "We will have to trace the suspected products to distribution points and retail stores."
The department asked the St. Louis-based firm to voluntarily recall its products, but it did not give an immediate reply. "I hope they take a step in the positive direction," Houston said.

Release Of Boats Delayed

MIAMI (UPI)—The release of 31 boats seized during the Cuban refugee sealift has been delayed by the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals time to rule and the Carter administration time to change its mind.
U.S. District Judge Sidney Aronovitz said Thursday he was delaying his order freeing the boats for 10 days to give the government time to act on the government's appeal.
He said he also wanted to give the White House time in case it decided to change "it's whole posture" on boat seizures.
Aronovitz made it clear when he made his original ruling Wednesday he disapproved of the government's practice of seizing and holding all boats involved in the sealift in order to shut it down.
The 19 owners of the 31 boats contended they are being denied a right to make a living, despite the absence of a determination of guilt or innocence.
The vessels were among 1,025 boats seized since President Carter's May 15 order all but ending the sealift.

Let Doctor View Stomach Problems

DEAR DR. LAMB: I read your column about hiatal hernia. I was told years ago that I had this problem. I have found, as you mentioned, that I cannot wear tight clothing or light belts without suffering the urge to vomit. I have never been pregnant but had surgery 20 years ago for a fibroid tumor. Could that have caused my problem? If so, why would the symptoms not have subsided after the hysterectomy?

I also have discomfort horizontally across the abdomen below the stomach area which is burning in nature. It's also aggravated by tight clothing. Could this type of pain be associated with the "hiatal hernia" or something else, such as colitis? The burning sensation is alleviated by antacids or the attention to better bowel action. What do you think is the cause of this problem?

DEAR DR. LAMB: — You're describing symptoms and a doctor would not make a diagnosis without having adequate examinations. This would include an X-ray of your stomach to see if you have a hiatal hernia or a tendency to have a reflux of the stomach contents into the lower esophagus. Presently, you also think you have a bowel complaint so your doctor would also want to see what your colon function was like.

Burning at the tip of the breastbone or in the pit of the stomach is sometimes associated with hiatal hernia when the acid digestive juice and contents in the stomach leak backward into the lower esophagus. The acid from the stomach can cause ulcers in the lower esophagus just the same as it can cause ulcers in the first part of the intestine (duodenum). If heartburn or irritation of the lower esophagus is caused by backward leaking of acid material

For Saturday, June 28, 1980

YOUR BIRTHDAY June 28, 1980 — Your prospects for the coming year are promising, but what you hope to achieve may not come too quickly. Be patient and persistent. Don't lose track of your established goals.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — This is one of those days when it may seem like everything you want to do is opposed by others. Back off rather than doing battle. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph, Box 480, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10101. Be sure to specify birth date.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You may have a few new duties and responsibilities than usual to contend with today. Don't make them more difficult by having a wrong attitude.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Misunderstandings could arise today with friends over finances. Try to keep them out of your monetary affairs and don't get involved in theirs. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Be reasonable regarding goals you set today. If you aim for targets beyond your capabilities and then fall short, you could become very frustrated.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) — Don't read meanings that aren't there into things others say today. You're more sensitive than usual and could overreact foglally. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) — Make a point to live within your means today. Don't take on any long-term financial obligations. They may prove to be too much for you to handle.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Important one-to-one relationships must be managed with extreme tact today. This is a very shaky area for you. Things could easily go awry.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) — Situations where you share responsibilities under the rug today. This could cause problems for all concerned. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) — Don't try to mix business and pleasure today. Wait for a better time if you have a proposition you want to discuss with another.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Be very careful today how you go about fulfilling your ambitions. There's a possibility you could step on some toes and alienate allies.

TAURUS (April 20-May 19) — Others will not be best willing to help you today if you issue commands instead of gentle requests. Subdue impulses to be dictatorial.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — This is not a good day to take financial gambles or to invest in questionable enterprises. Manage your resources with wisdom and prudence to avoid losses.

Special Lawn Care Needed In Summer

Gardening is a year-round job and though June encourages lazy summer days, the ardent gardener must be on his toes with current gardening chores. With the approach of summer days, many gardening problems will call for immediate attention.

A good green summer lawn somehow makes the June summer days seem a little cooler, yet it takes effort to have a good healthy summer lawn. Water lawns thoroughly when needed. Lawn grasses require one inch of water or two times per week during dry periods.

June and the summer season are important times to provide extra care for azaleas and camellias, while they are establishing flower buds for next season's blooms. During the summer, a lack of water and plant food or insects and diseases may limit next season's production.

Baygon, Diazinon, or Durban. Water the lawn grass before and after application. It seems chinch bugs get the same and often unjustly for everything. Be sure the damage is not due to any other cause. If you have any doubts about the cause of damage, check with your garden center or call our office at 322-3233.

Summer annuals always provide quick and easy color during the hot, summer days. Fast growing and colorful annuals will continue to provide beauty if given proper care. Feed established annuals with a complete fertilizer, such as commercial 6-6-6 or 8-8-8, applying one-half cup per square yard of bed area. Remove faded blooms from annuals and cut blooms for indoors often so as to encourage more blooms. Water annuals well during hot, dry periods and control major annual pests to insure good production.

June insects and diseases may include the following: Southern wilt or crown rot on ajuga will cause a wilting of the plant foliage and death of the plant. There is no good control, other than good watering practices. Water at ground level and do not sprinkle the foliage of the plant. Wet foliage will encourage the spread of the disease to healthy plants. Also drenching with Terracolor helps prevent this disease. Remove infested plants to prevent spread of this serious disease.

Mildew, a common summer disease which causes a white powdery cast on the plant foliage and a twisting of foliage, usually occurs on common plants such as craps myrtle, roses, Japanese magnolia and annuals. Control mildew with good watering practices. Water at ground level and do not sprinkle the foliage of the plant. Wet foliage will encourage the spread of the disease to healthy plants. Also drenching with Terracolor helps prevent this disease. Remove infested plants to prevent spread of this serious disease.

Surprise Farewell Fete For Nancy

Nancy Booth was completely surprised by a going away party planned in her honor by several of her friends last Sunday afternoon at the Sweetwater Oaks home of Joe and Julie Baggett.

It was a tremendous challenge for Betty Eastman, the party's chief engineer. T. Brennan, second in planning command, Husband John, and son, Johnny, to try to surprise Nancy with themselves, including diet, clothing, hair and make-up, and other factors which make a lot of difference in how well you do with the problem.

Longwood-Winter Springs Area Chamber of Commerce held its regular luncheon meeting at Quality Inn North. There were approximately 40 members and guests attending.

Dr. Richard Chambers, professor of History from Central Florida Bible College in Orlando gave an amusing history of the Olympics, which began with the Greeks, before the time of Christ. Hap Arnold, councilman from Winter Springs, presented Dr. G. Pete Coran, DMD with the Beautification Award for June.

The group presented Nancy with her "going away wardrobe": a three-piece pant suit, two-piece pant suit, and a lounge robe. Among the many guests attending were Dick and Wanda Fischer, Orange County Commissioner who is running for Congress in the Fifth Congressional District, and two of his political aides, Joe Singleton and Mike Chubbly; Joe and Joan Kloppenborg, Rod and Joyce Cullen, and Richard and Corinne Russo.

Nancy and her son Johnny will leave Sunday for Boston, where Nancy will undergo medical treatment. She and Johnny will also visit many of their relatives who live throughout the New England area. All of her friends wish her a "Bon voyage and safe return."

George and Myra Gimber had their daughter, Mrs. Elaine Nilnik and her son, Alan, visiting at their Sweetwater Oaks home last week.

Stella Linden has returned from her second trip to Florida Hospital-North this year for major surgery. She is doing very well now, and plans to take it easy until she regains her strength.

Best wishes to George Gimber, also Bill Daucher, Larry Burgess, Meta Porter and all my other readers with Birthdays.

Congratulations and very best wishes to Richard Swann, president of the Longwood-Winter Springs Area Chamber of Commerce, and his wife, Patty, who celebrated their 11th wedding anniversary this week.

Is It Against Her Religion?

DEAR ABBY: I am a healthy, sociable, easy-to-get-along-with 59-year-old widower whose wife died eight months ago. I am a Catholic but haven't been to church in years and do not want to talk to a priest.

I am seeing a very attractive woman who is 58, never married and is still a virgin. She is apparently normal in all respects, enjoys kissing and very heavy petting, but refuses to go all the way for religious reasons. She insists that her religion (also Catholic) does not allow her to complete the sex act without marriage, for to do so would be committing adultery. I know she is not holding out as a means of getting a husband. I tried to explain that adultery is engaging in sex with a partner other than one's legal spouse, so as long as neither of us is married she wouldn't be committing adultery. However, I can't seem to get through to her. I am not the type to pick up girls at bars; neither would I go to a house of prostitution. I was married for 36 years and am a one-woman man. I don't want to marry yet, and perhaps I may never marry again, but I don't want to end my sex life while I am still able to enjoy it.

Is there anything in the Catholic religion that prohibits voluntary sex between unmarried adults? I know she is not holding out as a means of getting a husband. I tried to explain that injunctions against fornication. Read, for instance, the seventh chapter of 1 Corinthians.

I know you are happy for the couple, but you're having doubts about the baby's "real" or biological mother. I am that girl's mother.

It has been an agonizing ordeal for her as well as for us — her family. I made sure she ate properly, took her vitamins and iron and was cared for by the best doctors in our area.

We all knew from the beginning that giving up the baby for adoption was the right decision, but as the time drew closer to delivery, our selflessness got in the way and we wanted to keep the baby

For a teen-ager, my daughter showed remarkable maturity and unselfish love for this child to have given it a mother and father through adoption.

This is my first grandchild, and I will not be able to spoil it, but you can, so please love it enough for both of us.

Back Injury Forces O'Leary

To Retire From Alouettes

MONTREAL (UPI) — Montreal Alouettes' running back John O'Leary Thursday announced his retirement from football because of a back injury aggravated over successive seasons.

The three-year veteran from the University of Nebraska was told by doctors that his condition, a protruding disc, made it impossible for him to continue his Canadian Football League career. Since 1977, O'Leary, 25, has missed only one game in regular season play with the Alouettes and has played in three Grey Cup games.

Scales Signs With Knicks

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Knicks Thursday signed their second-round draft pick, DeWayne Scales of LSU, to a multi-year contract.

Scales, 4-foot-6, will report immediately to the Knicks' team in the Southern California Basketball League.

Sanderson Shuns Nerve, Beats Phils 1-0

By United Press International
Scott Sanderson has a lot of nerve. In fact, for about 10 minutes Thursday night he wished he hadn't.

"The trainer told me I momentarily pinched a nerve," the Montreal right-hander said after he rebounded from a pregame accident to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies, 1-0, on a two-hitter. "It was a freakytype thing."

The incident occurred on Sanderson's last pitch of his pregame warmup in the bullpen. He landed in a hole, losing his balance and the feeling in his left leg. The limb stayed numb until midway through his warmups on the mound and trainer Ron McClain said a pinched nerve created the numbness.

"We watched him from the very first pitch but it was okay," Montreal Manager Dick Williams said. "We were ready to alert someone if we had to."

The way the game turned out, Williams may ask Sanderson to stumble before every start. Backed by Andre Dawson's RBI single, he threw just 94 pitches and went to three balls on only two batters. The Phillies grew so frustrated trying to hit him Mike Schmidt attempted a steal of home in the seventh.

"I thought it was a good time to try it," Schmidt said. "He was taking a big windup and I just felt it was an ideal time." The Expos reached Randy Lerch, 2-0, for the game's only run in the fifth. Chris Speier led off with a single, was sacrificed to second by Sanderson and scored when Dawson punched a single into right. The throw from Bake McBride to the plate appeared to beat Speier, but he slid into catcher Bob Boone and dislodged the ball.

In other games, New York beat Chicago, 4-3, and San Francisco defeated San Diego, 2-1.

In the American League, it was Baltimore 4, Toronto 1; Seattle 8, Texas 4; and Chicago 5, California 2.

New York rallied for a pair of runs in the seventh on RBI singles from Joel Youngblood and John Stearns. Ed Glynn, 2-1, was the winner and Dick Tidrow, 2-1, took the loss.

Giants 1, Padres 1
Jack Clark and Darrell Evans each drove in a run in the fourth against Steve Mura, 1-3, and Ed Wilson allowed seven hits over 8 1-3 innings. Wilson, 6-7, lost a bid for his third shutout of the year when pinch-hitter Von Joshua homered in the eighth.

Classic May Need 3rd Week

Rain Drowns Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Rain drowns the 94th edition of the world's top tennis championship for the third time in four days Thursday, possibly forcing the tournament into a third week.

The last time this happened was in 1963 when the men's singles final had to be held over.

For the 34,642 fans who came to watch tennis it was a day for chucks. But for former Israeli army Sgt. Shlomo Glickstein it meant a temporary escape from the executioner's block.

Glickstein's scheduled second-round meeting with four-time champion Bjorn Borg was one of 75 matches which failed to surface Thursday. And in four days of this wet Wimbledon only 118 matches have been completed.

Glickstein had earned his unexpected date with Borg by forcing former world top 10-ranking player Raul Ramirez of Mexico in a five-setter Wednesday — an event which led a reporter from the Jerusalem Post to leap from his seat exclaiming: "But we waited 2,000 years for this day."

But Glickstein, while pleased with his victory, viewed the coming match against the great Swede with much alarm: "It's a dream which will turn into a nightmare. I feel I am going to the scaffold."

In between the rain and hail, 21 matches managed to beat the weather and three former champions made their way to the third round.

Third-seeded Jimmy Connors, the 27-year-old Illinois left-hander who won the title in 1974, took just 72 minutes to crush fellow-American Sherwood Stewart, 6-0, 6-2, 6-1, as he hustled along the path he hopes will end Borg's four-in-arow sequence.

The odds are against me, everyone tells me," Connors said in assessing his chance of recapturing the game's most prized possession. "The way I look at it, every time I go out I have a chance to win, otherwise there'd be no point in my going out."

Showing just as keen an appetite for success was 36-year-old New Yorker Billie Jean King, six-times women's singles champion, with a record 20 Wimbledon titles under her belt.

Fifth-seeded King defeated fellow-American Anne Smith, 6-3, 7-6, and shot down any thoughts of retirement by saying: "I'll go on playing as long as I still like it, as long as I want to play, and as long as I'm gaining something from it."

Greene Blanks Lake Mary

Rotary Club's Jeff Greene blanked Lake Mary on four hits Thursday night as the Casselberry club posted a 3-0 victory in Pony League Top Team action at the Seminole Pony complex.

Rotary mastered only three hits itself off right-hander Bill Pashe. The three however, came in a productive third inning when they scored all their runs.

Right fielder Steve McCormick, second sacker Greene, and catcher Pashe, Troy Quackenbush had the three hits, while McCormick, Brandon and Kendall Miller, Bill Lang tallied the runs.

Lang also had a hand in the pitching-victory for the Rotarians. The right handed hurler came on in relief of Greene after two straight hits in the seventh inning and snuffed out the Lake Mary uprising.

Tony Cox batted out two of the four Lake Mary hits. First baseman Mike Henley and catcher Greg Hill each had one.

Little Major All Stars Begin Sub-District

Three local little major leagues will send their best players into action Saturday night when the Florida Little Major League District IV sub-district tournament opens at Fort Mellon Park in Sanford.

All-star teams from the Sanford Little American League, Sanford Little National League, Paola and Tavara will compete in the double-elimination tournament. The winner of the sub-district tournament will advance to the district tournament in Clermont.

The Sanford Americans will play Paola at 6 p.m. Saturday in the tournament opener, while the Sanford Nationals will host Tavara at 8 p.m.

The two losing teams will play at 6 p.m. Monday, while the two winning teams square off at 8 p.m. Monday. There will be single games at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, with a seventh game, if needed, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Paola will likely send Shawn Briel to the mound Saturday to face Brian Ashcraft of the Sanford Americans.

Briel posted a 6-0 record for Sunshine TV, which won the Paola championship with a perfect 18-0 record.

Ashcraft was the workhorse of the Atlantic Bank team that won the Sanford Little American League title with a 17-3 record.

Stone Stifles Blue Jays 4-1

By United Press International
Steve Stone used to be just another starter on the Baltimore Orioles' staff. Now he is THE starter.

Stone won his eighth straight game — and fourth straight complete game — Thursday night while the Orioles were beating the Toronto Blue Jays, 4-1. The right-hander, now 10-3, has a 3.25 ERA after going winless in his first 12 starts. When Toronto's Lloyd Moseby homered in the fifth inning, it broke Stone's streak of 34 consecutive homeless innings.

"I'm not surprised at my success," Stone said. "I have a club which is playing exceptionally well behind me."

John Lowenstein singled in two runs in support of Stone's victory as Baltimore continued its home domination of Toronto, beating the Blue Jays for the 12th consecutive time in Memorial Stadium.

The Orioles scored three runs on five singles off loser Jim Clancy, 6-4, in the first inning. Eddie Murray doubled off Tom Buskey in the fourth and scored on Lowenstein's second single.

Stone struck out nine while he was tying Tommy John of the New York Yankees for the most victories in the league.

Mariners 8, Rangers 4
Mario Mendez and Larry Cox, the last two men in the batting order, combined for five of Seattle's 14 hits and teamed to drive in six runs to pace the Mariners.

White Sox 5, Angels 2
Steve Trout won his first game since May 26 and Chet Lemon doubled in two runs to lift Chicago.

Few Try To Halt Thieves

By the Editors of Psychology Today
Experimenters posing as thieves recently tried 214 times to break into cars parked on busy public streets in New York City.

What did passers-by do? Pass by. They did the same thing in other cities.

Two sociologists from Fordham University, Harold Takooshian and Herzel Bodinger, conducted their field research in five New York City neighborhoods. People questioned the mock thieves less than 3 percent of the time.

Attempts to intervene did not increase even when the subject was a shabbily dressed 14-year-old or a scruffy man trying to reach a woman's purse, or when the "thieves" tried to break into two adjacent cars simultaneously.

What might passers-by have done? In Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Fort Lauderdale, Fla., observers questioned 20 percent of the mock thieves with such phrases as "Does that car belong to you?" or "Is that your camera?"

The safest place of all seemed to be Phoenix, Ariz., where 25 percent of the suspects were questioned.

The comparisons with New York City are weak, since only about 10 attempts each were made in the other cities. For the record, however, no one at all intervened in Baltimore; Buffalo, N.Y.; Toledo, Ohio; Miami and Ottawa.

To allay the mock thieves' fears that they might be arrested, the researchers provided each with the registration of cars they were to try to enter. The precaution proved unnecessary.

At one point, a passer-by tapped the suspect's arm, said, "Hey, baby, this is my schtick," opened the car door and then asked for a tip. In a few cases, police officers, assuming the "thieves" had locked themselves out, helped them break into the cars without asking for identification.

The odds of being a subject of study in a research project are going up.

Paul Muchinsky, an industrial psychologist at Iowa State University, recently analyzed studies of human subjects that had been published in the Journal of Applied Psychology at five-year intervals over the past 20 years.

Among other things, he found that the average annual number of people included in studies had nearly tripled between 1957 and 1978 from 353 to 2,224.

That growth, faster than the growth of the U. S. population, is one more consequence of computers.

Thirty years ago, psychologists analyzed their data mainly with desk-top adding machines. Now, those who can afford time on high-speed computers find they can typically do calculations in 20 seconds that once would have taken 11 months — and can include many more responses.

Many Stories In Circulation

Nobody Knows Who Named Oscars

DEAR DICK: Will you please once more tell us where the Oscar got its name. I know, but when I told my children they refused to believe me. The Uncle Oscar to whom the girl referred was also my Uncle Oscar from Pasadena, Calif. N. STANLEY TAYLOR, Joplin, Mo.

There is no real agreement about where the name, Oscar, came from. The one story you refer to, about somebody saying "That little statue looks like my Uncle Oscar," has never been substantiated. The academy itself says several stories have been suggested, including one that credits Bette Davis with dreaming up the name, but none of them is universally accepted.

DEAR DICK: My husband and I have argued about this for a month, so please settle it. We have a $100 bet on it. Who played Carrie's mother in the movie, "Carrie"? He says it was Shelley Winters, but I say it wasn't. DOROTHY SMITH, Fort Dix, N.J.

You win, you rich lady, you. It was Piper Laurie. DEAR DICK: My husband and I have argued about this for a month, so please settle it. We have a $100 bet on it. Who played Carrie's mother in the movie, "Carrie"? He says it was Shelley Winters, but I say it wasn't. DOROTHY SMITH, Fort Dix, N.J.

Dick Kleiner

Cantinflas, whose real name is Mario Moreno, is still alive. He was born in either 1911 or 1917, depending on what reference work you believe. I do not know of any biography of him published in the United States, but there may have been one in Mexico.

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me if Willie Aames, of "Eight is Enough," used to be in the old series, "Apple's Way." I say he was but my friend says he wasn't. RUTHIE M. MAXS, Amherst, Va.

"The Music Man" and I say Robert Preston did. G.G. VANCE, Portland, Mo.

It was Preston all the way, on both Broadway and in the film.

DEAR DICK: Is the John Derek who played the role of Joshua in Cecil B. DeMille's "The Ten Commandments" the same Derek who is Br Derek's husband? MATT HYER, Nampa, Idaho.

The very same.

DEAR DICK: Around Christmas time, I saw "The Orphan Train" on TV. Is the girl that played J.P. on that same girl that plays Maxx on the new TV series, "Me and Maxx"? S. Kalamazoo, Mich.

The very same. Her name is Melissa Michaelsen.

DEAR DICK: Can you tell me who played George C. Scott's wife in the movie where they were stranded out on an island with only their son? I say it was his true wife, Trish VanDevere, and my husband says it was Sherree North. Who is right? ELLEN, Vancouver, Wash.

It's a good week for wives being right. Scott's wife played Scott's wife in that film, which was called "The Savage Is Loose."

DEAR DICK: Can you please tell me who the three stars were that James Mason played the husband, and I'm sure it was an Italian actor. SALLY R. ADOLPH, Tucson, Ariz.

You're both wrong. It was a French actor, Charles Boyer, who was joined by Jack Lemmon and Catherine Deneuve.

Waste Water Contributed To Fish Kill

By DIANE PETRYK
 Herald Staff Writer

Florida Department of Environmental Regulation officials said Friday the discharge of treated waste water from sewage treatment plants was a cause in the recent fish kill in Seminole County in which 10 million fish died.

The kill might have been predicted if the DER had enough monitoring manpower, one official said, but there is probably little that could have been done to prevent it.

The officials were careful to point out that it is impossible to know how much of an effect the treatment plants had. They also said there were other factors involved.

"But there was a contributory factor from the sewage treatment plants," said Edward Davenport, DER domestic wastewater engineer.

Davenport explained that the treated wastewater adds phosphorus and nitrogen (nutrients) to the water.

Experts blamed added nutrients in the water for the fish kill. The fish died from lack of oxygen.

Davenport said increased nutrients caused algae in the water to multiply. But algae also need sunlight to grow. In this case they got just that for a few days before the fish started turning up dead.

But on the first cloudy day after the so-called "algae bloom," the algae died, and their photosynthesis systems turned off without the sun, Davenport said.

"When algae die, they use up oxygen," the engineer said, adding lack of dissolved oxygen in the water caused the fish to suffocate.

Seminole County sewage treatment plants are permitted to discharge treated effluent into bodies of water.

The other 34 sewage treatment plants in the county use the percolation pond method, in which sewage is fed into ponds where solid waste percolates into the ground. The earth acts as a filter and before the treated water reaches a natural body of water it has been cleaned.

Three of the six plants that are permitted to discharge treated effluent directly into bodies of water, discharge into areas that run into the St. Johns River, where the fish were killed. The others are located upstream from the kill and could not have had an effect.

The three implicated are the Seminole County Club Heights plant, which discharges into Lake Jessup via Soldier Creek; the Casselberry plant, which discharges into Lake Jessup through Cree Creek; and the Maitland plant in Seminole County, which discharges into Lake Jessup via Lake Howell and Howell Creek. Lake Jessup connects with the St. Johns River where the fish kill occurred at Lemon Bluff.

The discharge of treated effluent from these three plants is more than 2 million gallons per day.

In addition, Davenport pointed out that the area received effluent from Orange County via the 12 million gallons-per-day Orlando plant on Bennett Road and some private plants.

Nixon Foe Douglas Dead At 79

NEW YORK (UPI) — Helen Gahagan Douglas, the former actress and congresswoman whose political career ended in a clash with a young congressman named Richard Nixon, died today after a long bout with cancer. She was 79.

A family spokesman said Mrs. Douglas died at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Medical Center at 3:35 a.m.

The spokeswoman, Nan Stevens, said Mrs. Douglas' husband, actor Melvyn Douglas, was at her side when she died, as were the couple's son Peter and daughter Mary.

Mrs. Douglas was a rising political star until she ran for office against Richard Nixon.

With a career in the movies and on the Broadway stage behind her, she had served five years in Congress when she sought a seat in the U.S. Senate in 1950. She won the Democratic Party nomination and opposed the Republican nominee, Nixon, then a Congressman from California, in the general election.

Nixon charged that Rep. Douglas had voted on numerous occasions with Rep. Vito Marcantonio (D-N.Y.), a left-leaning activist from New York whose views were considered pro-Communist. Nixon hammered on the theme that Rep. Douglas had "pink" leanings, which she denied. She lost the election and Nixon was on his way to the White House as vice president only two years later.

Thus Mrs. Douglas became a martyr in the eyes of American liberals.

'Crock' And 'Suzie Q'

Amateur Radio Buffs Prepare For Local Club's Exercise

By DONNA ESTES
 Herald Staff Writer

"CQ, CQ, CQ. This is Crock N4BHL. Home is Sanford, Fla. I will be standing by waiting a call."

With these words, Edward "Crock" Hall and his wife, Lydia, known as Suzie Q on Amateur radio, begin conversations with persons from all of the 50 states in the union.

"CQ" means I want to talk to anyone listening. Actually I do more listening than talking and can pretty well tell whether the person talking is the type I want to talk to. When he signs off, I go on the air and call him. At the end of each 10 minutes the operator must announce his call sign and then I call him back," Hall said.

A member of the Lake Monroe Amateur Radio Society for the past three years, Hall and many of the 92 members of the club, will be participating in a field day being held nationally among amateur operators for the purpose of exercising the expertise of the various amateurs in the area.

The exercise which was to be held at the Sanford Airport during the 24-hour period ending at 2 p.m. Sunday, was to acquaint amateur operators with the requirements for emergencies. The radios are operated strictly on individual power.

The amateur operators assist the Seminole County Amateur Network, according to Hall, with weather emergencies such as hurricanes and tornadoes.

"We have roll call every Tuesday and Thursday at 8 p.m. The Lake Monroe Amateur Radio Society cooperates with the Seminole Amateur Network to learn what has to be done in relation to each other and what the what in case of emergencies," he said.

Hall will do amateur net each Saturday for breakfast to discuss the emergency network and its activities.

Hurricanes: Here's Everything You Ever Wanted To Know

Humor has it that weather experts are predicting a violent hurricane season, but Seminole County Civil Defense Director Chuck Swanson said there is no scientific way to predict what will happen.

Swanson and his staff are currently in the process of speaking with homeowners groups to disseminate information on what to do in the event of a hurricane watch or warning.

Last year 600 persons were reported killed as Hurricane David smashed into the Dominican Republic, but no deaths in Seminole County were caused by the storm.

Property damage due to the storm ran into the tens of thousands of dollars.

Hurricane Donna in 1960 left $1 million in citrus crop damage in Seminole and caused more than $500,000 property damage. Nearly 750 homes were damaged. The storm left 11 dead in Florida and 164 dead before it dissipated.

Because of the possibility of death and destruction from hurricanes, the Seminole County Public Safety Department is advising that all residents enter hurricane season prepared.

The department recommends that tanks, tools, batteries, newspapers, food and other equipment be kept on hand June through November.

The department also recommends:

- When you hear the first tropical storm advisory, listen for future messages. This will prepare you for a hurricane emergency well in advance of the issuance of watches and warnings.
- When your area is covered by a hurricane watch, continue normal activities but stay tuned to radio and television for all National Weather Service advisories. Remember, hurricane watches means possible danger within 24 hours. A hurricane warning means the danger has materialized.
- Listen only to government and weather officials and ignore rumors, the county further advises.
- Plan your time before the storm arrives and avoid the last minute hurry which may leave you marooned or unprepared.
- Keep calm.
- Leave low-lying areas that may be swept by high tides or storm waves.
- If you have a boat, moor it securely before the storm arrives or evacuate it to a designated safe area. When your boat is moored leave it and don't return once the wind and waves are up.
- Board up windows or protect them with storm shutters or tape. Danger to small windows is mainly from wind driven debris. Larner windows may be secured by wind pressure.
- Secure outdoor objects that might be blown away or uprooted garbage cans, garden tools, toys, signs, porch furniture and other items may become destructive missiles in hurricane winds. Anchor them or store them inside before the storm strikes.
- Store drinking water in clean bathtubs, jugs, bottles and other containers because the water supply may be contaminated by flooding or other damage.
- Check your battery powered equipment. Your radio may be your only link with the world outside the hurricane. Emergency cooking facilities, lights, and flashlights will be essential if utilities are interrupted.
- Mobile homes are extremely susceptible to high winds. If you live in one, leave it for more substantial shelter.
- Keep your car fueled. Service stations may be inoperable for several days after the storm strikes, due to flooding or interrupted electrical power.
- Stay at home, if it is sturdy and on high ground. If it is not, move to a designated shelter and stay there until the storm is over.
- Avoid the use of sterno or similar heating fuels for cooking unless your cooking area is well ventilated.
- Maintain a ready supply of masking or air-conditioning duct tape for taping windows. This will minimize flying glass if a window is broken. Remember, it's the debris picked up by the high winds that do the damage. Windows should be taped in a criss-cross manner with open squares approximately 10 to 12 inches on a side.
- Have towels or other absorbent materials available for soaking up water. Rolled-up towels are effective along sliding glass doors to minimize leaking.
- Have medical supplies such as bandages, gauze and compresses available because there may be an interruption of emergency services due to inoperable telephone lines or impassable roads.
- Clear plastic available in rolls from hardware stores may be helpful for covering holes in the roof or windows or covering furniture to minimize water damage in the event of leaks or broken windows.
- If possible, obtain scraps of wood or sections of plywood suitable for boarding up windows. As an alternative, cardboard boxes may be effective protection when used in place of 2-by-3 boards.
- Maintain an inventory of perishable goods. If you have a large freezer, dry ice, if available, can be effective in preventing spoilage of frozen foods. Try to organize and plan meals so refrigerators and freezers are only opened when absolutely necessary to retain interior coolness.
- Do not attempt to go out in the storm. You should never attempt to climb a roof to remove tree branches or limbs. You may be able to fix the winds and rain but you are no match for flying debris such as branches and parts of aluminum patio roofs.
- Avoid going out or attempting to go out in your automobile following the storm. Roadways may be impassable due to fallen trees and flooding.
- You should be careful not to be fooled by the eye of the hurricane. Despite a lull in the wind, high winds may return from the opposite direction as the eye of the hurricane passes.
