Pointing out to the commissioners the cost of keeping vacant lots in good appearance, City Manager Warren E. Knowles said that it would cost four to five thousand dollars a year to keep vacant private property mowed and cleaned.

Discussions with the City Attorney revolved about the possibility of an ordinance setting a charge of sufficient amount, and in a collectible form, or the institution of liens now authorized under the City Charter and by present City Ordinances.

Hindustan Standard Says Russian Chief Selects Wrong Time

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Hindustan Standard said Monday Russia's Communist party chief should have picked another time, place and occasion to announce the explosion of a hydrogen bomb by the Soviet Union.

Nikita S. Khrushchev, now touring India with Premier Nikolai Bulganin, announced the bomb test in a speech Saturday at Bangalore. The Standard, a leading newspaper in New Delhi and Calcutta, said Khrushchev's use of an Indian platform for the announcement was "ill chosen . . . inappropriate and embarrassing to his Indian hosts."

Russian Interest In Middle East Is Nothing New

By WILTON WYNN
CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Russian interest in the Middle East is nothing new.

Nearly 20 years ago the czars tried to expand the sphere of Russian influence southward through the old Ottoman Turkish Empire. Palestine was governed by the Moslem Turkish sultans. The big powers found it useful to maintain the shaky Ottoman Empire intact, but each sought a foothold with the Sultan's blessings.

France, Britain and Russia extended their influence by becoming "protectors" of minorities in the empire, and particularly by protecting their rights in the holy places in Palestine.

The French set the pace as far back as 1935, reaching agreement that year with the Sultan to become guardians of the holy places and protectors of Catholics in Ottoman lands.

Claiming to be spiritual heir of the Orthodox Byzantine Empire, Russia tried to counter French influence by becoming protector of Eastern Orthodox Christian communities in the Middle East. Fights between Catholic and Orthodox priests over their conflicting claims in the Holy Sepulchre and the Church of the Nativity developed into international conflicts between Russia and France, and sometimes Britain.

Orthodox communities in the Middle East. They reclaimed church property in Palestine, Lebanon and Syria which had been owned by czarist Russia.

The Russians began paying compensation for Orthodox property confiscated in Russia during the anticlerical era. And Russian financial help became almost indispensable to many impoverished Orthodox bishoprics spread through the Middle East.

This Russian help has brought an increasing number of Orthodox bishops into the pro-Russian fold. There is also a violently anti-Russian clique of Orthodox priests in Lebanon, Syria and Palestine. Many of these consider Greece the church and fight against Russian infiltration.

'Two Weeks Ago I Died' Says Man

(Editor's note: The following story was made available to the Associated Press by the Cincinnati Times-Star. It was written by News Editor Joseph Dressman, who underwent the experience).
By JOSEPH H. DRESSMAN
News Editor.

The Cincinnati Times-Star
CINCINNATI (AP) — Two weeks ago I "died."

If a stilled heart, no pulse and stopped breathing spell death, I was dead.

The brusks that "sies" me was penicillin—the old friend that had saved my life when I had pneumonia five years ago.

I am alive only because of heroic efforts of a skilled but frightened physician and of two unflinching members of the life-saving squad—plus a series of fortunate "coincidences."

In those "coincidences" I see the hand of God. My number just wasn't up. Today my gratitude surpasses that of any past Thanksgiving.

During my lunch hour on that memorable day I dropped into the Doctor's Building for "something for a cold." I knew I had acquired a sensitivity for penicillin. But, for once, Doc didn't ask if I were allergic to it. He stuck a needle into my arm and wrook out a prescription.

Coincidence No. 1: Instead of leaving his office, I sat and chatted. Otherwise, I would have died on the street.

I felt a familiar, ominous tingling in my fingers and legs.

"Doc," I asked, "did you give me penicillin?"

"You're allergic to it?" he asked.

The doctor sprang into action. An expert on allergies, he knew exactly what to do.

Coincidence No. 2: Few doctors have on hand syringes filled with adrenalin or a tank of oxygen. Mine had both.

He gave me adrenalin to stimulate heart action. He stretched me on a table in shock position—fret up. He and his receptionist started giving me oxygen as shock set in and a severe asthmatic attack began.

His receptionist called the life-saving squad. Lt. James Hunt and Billy Saxe were at the office in five minutes.

Coincidence No. 3: I instinctively pushed the oxygen mask a couple of inches from my nose. I later learned that pure oxygen would have made me a pink corpse.

For two hours, Doc, Hunt and Saxe struggled to keep life in my body.

When the doctor took my blood pressure, it was 90 and falling. For 45 minutes he could detect no pulse and no heartbeat.

Coincidence No. 4: I remained conscious throughout the ordeal. I remember every little detail.

Most of the time I was too busy fighting for breath. Three times I thought that the easiest way out would be to give up the fight. Each time, however, a voice within me urged, "Don't quit." The three men kept encouraging me, too.

Once I stopped breathing entirely, I still have sore ribs where Doc applied artificial respiration.

Eventually, the worst of the crisis passed.

Two days at Jewish Hospital, some of the time in an oxygen tent, and a week of taking it easy have restored me almost to normal.

New Policy Told By Red Yugoslavia

BELGRADE (AP) — Yugoslavia's Communist government is launching a new economic policy designed to boost living standards.

President Tito announced his regime would emphasize production of consumer goods and food and de-emphasize heavy industry.

The policy shift was in marked contrast to the situation in the Soviet bloc. There the replacement of Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov by Nikolai Bulganin last February and the move to the front of Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev was accompanied by abandonment of Malenkov's policy of more consumer goods.

"It is now important," Tito said, "to give priority to those enterprises which will yield the quickest result in improving the living standard and in balancing the Yugoslav (foreign) payments account."

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Mme. Sun Yat-sen, widow of the founder of the Chinese republic and a sister of Mme. She is one of six vice chairmen of Red China's government council and a deputy in the Red Congress.

The elapsed time-mark was five hours and 23 minutes, clipping the old record also set by Dawson, by 15 minutes. He was aided on his latest flight by a 100-mile-an-hour tail wind and reached a maximum speed of 650 miles per hour as he started his descent at Allentown, Pa.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A FACTORY WORKER in Budapest sidled up to the lady foreman and implored, "May I leave at the end of eleven hours tonight instead of twelve, Madam Director? I'd like to go to the state opera."

"You may," decided the Director. "I'm happy that our workers appreciate culture, but cut out that 'Madam Director' business. Now that we have been liberated, remember we are all comrades! By the way, what opera are attending?"

"Comrade Butterfly," said the worker.

A comely miss, concealing little in her Bikini, was confronted by an indignant officer of the law. "You ought to be ashamed," he told her. "What would your poor mother say if she could see you now?" The unperturbed miss replied, "She'd probably say, 'Bring that suit back at once!' It's hers you know."

"I set out in life," reminisced the old grad sadly, "to find that pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. Now I'm forty-seven, and all I've found is the pot!"

Christmas Arriving Bringing All Its Splendor, Excitement

This is the Christmas season. From now until the day when the star of Bethlehem first shone, boys and girls, along with their adult counterparts, will be alive with excitement in preparation for Christmas Day.

Tomorrow, the youngsters of Central Florida will be the guests of the Seminole County Jaycees and the Sanford Merchants' Association at the annual Christmas Parade during which Santa Claus will make his first and only appearance here until the morning he makes his famous ride over all of the world leaving gifts behind him in laden stockings and under well stacked Christmas Trees.

This year, the REAL Santa will make his appearance.

Even though there are pictures, lights, showcards, and other paraphernalia depicting the jolly old gent, Sanford and Seminole County will have just the ONE Santa pay a visit this year.

The spirit of Santa Claus is very much alive. For in it there exists the hopes, dreams, happiness and sometimes future of the youngsters. In glittering eyes, as Santa Claus is mentioned or depicted, one can see the effervescence of a full life. Santa Claus has a deeper meaning, of course, for there we know is the ultimate spirit of Christmas—the Nativity—unselfish giving and reverent glorification.

Santa shares unselfishly, for he visits the homes and hearths of all good boys and girls alike.

With the theme of this year's Christmas Parade 'Let's Put Christ Back Into Christmas', there is etched into the minds of our young people that Christmas Day is not merely a day for the opening of gifts, or a day of feasting and of revelry.

With the coming of the REAL Santa Claus this year, clean and fresh, a glowing face, and a joyful laugh and "hello", there is removed from the minds of children that Santa Claus is cheap and gaudy and of varying shapes and sizes.

We hope that parents everywhere will avail themselves of the opportunity to take their children to the Christmas Parade, explain the christian-like "Let's Put Christ Back Into Christmas" themes as they are carried out in the any floats.

And then point with same glee, the same

Problems Are Many

The problems confronting the people of Seminole County and the Seminole County delegation, in view of the appalling news which struck the county last week, have been tremendous.

One of the most soul-searching campaigns, to find a citizen to meet the qualifications set down by the Governor of Florida, has been going on for the most part of a week.

The Seminole County delegation, composed of Senator Douglas Stenstrom, Representative Mack N. Cleveland Jr., and J. Brailley Odham, has considered many applications for the position as Sheriff of Seminole County. They have talked to numerous people, all of them (the applicants) believing that they were best qualified for the position, and listened to recommendations from interceding citizens. Many of the citizens seeking the position for friends, acquaintances or co-workers, were outspoken in making known their views.

Each one of the delegation has spent many hours of study listening, answering hundreds upon hundreds of telephone callers, talking to newsmen from all over the State, and in the search for a person who would best qualify in view of the Governor's wishes.

We believe that the delegation came up with an outstanding recommendation. They have chosen a man who has devoted himself to public service, a man who devotes his time and effort to projects and problems placed before him until completion.

Mayor Denver Cordell did not ask for the position as Sheriff of Seminole County. He was approached by the delegation and gave much thought to the problems of the office before accepting the appointment.

There is no doubt that such a man as Mayor Cordell will make Seminole County a representative Sheriff and will discharge the duties of the office in a manner that is unmatched in the history of Seminole County.

We, like the appointee, call for the unaided cooperation of every citizen in the county in order that the new Sheriff can discharge his duties to the complete satisfaction of Seminole County's people. Mayor Cordell takes over the Sheriff's Office for an undetermined interim, and in a period of stress. He is to be commended for lending his service to a community torn apart by an unprecedented incident.

A problem has been solved, but without the calm and deliberate consideration of the Seminole County delegation, we would have been now without a recommendation for an office vacated by suspension.

It is heartwarming to know that we have citizens who will give their time and effort, regardless of the amount it takes and the problems which confront them, to make a choice for a public office and a public service.

Political Climate Getting Hotter

WASHINGTON — Palestine's tangled story involves not only the Jews and Arabs but the United States and Russia. It may, if war breaks out, set off the spark that ignites the world. This is the background:

Palestine, about New Jersey's size, has 1,600,000 people, half of whom entered there in the past 30 years. Of the total, 1 1/2 million are Jews, 70 per cent of the rest are Moslems.

From the time the Romans crushed them in 70 A. D. the Jews, until recently, did not have a majority in Palestine. Nevertheless, through the centuries they looked upon it as their homeland.

The Turks, when they jumped into World War I on Germany's side, herd not only Palestine but the surrounding Arab areas. To win the Arabs from the Turks, the French and British promised them that if the Allies won they would break up the Turkish Empire into Arab states.

Britain also—in the Balfour Declaration of 1917—said it would look with favor on the creation of a home for Jews in Palestine. The Jews at that time were only one-tenth of the population in Palestine. The Allies won and began setting up the Arab states, under French and British controls. The League of Nations also gave Britain a mandate—which meant control but not ownership—of Palestine.

Came World War II and the massacre of Jews in Germany. It stung the world's conscience—the Western world's that is. The Jews, worldwide, meanwhile, had been pushing for a nation of their own in Palestine. They could always point to that British Balfour Declaration of 1917. The British had never made good.

At war's end the British said they would quit Palestine. Jews poured in. Arabs feared Jewish immigration would swamp them. Besides, they objected to creation of a new Jewish state. But in 1947 the United Nations approved this idea: partition Palestine, letting part of it be a Jewish state, part an Arab state.

On May 14, 1948, the Jews proclaimed the independence of Israel. The next day Egypt, followed by other Arab countries, attacked Israel. The Jews, outnumbered, outfought the Arabs and, by the time an armistice was agreed on, held not only what the U. N. had intended to be Jewish Palestine but most of what had started out to be Arab Palestine.

This armistice, obtained by the U. N., was supposed to be only temporary. The U. N. thought perhaps peace could be agreed on. It hasn't been agreed on yet. Scarcely a week has passed since 1948 that some bloody clash has not occurred along the armistice line between Egypt and her four Arab neighbors: Lebanon, Syria, Jordan and Egypt.

That armistice line—besides the Arab's hatred of the Jews and their refusal to recognize Israel as a state—was one of the worst points. While that line left Israel in possession of most of what had been Arab Palestine, Jordan held a piece bordering on Jerusalem, and Egypt had a part called the Gaza Strip. The U. N. armistice also called for demilitarized zones.

Early this month fighting broke out between the Egyptians and Israelis in one of these so-called "hot spots"—on the frontier between Egypt and Israel.

Women Designing Men's Apparel

NEW YORK — Men design women's clothes. And now some women are designing men's apparel.

One maker of men's suits (H. Daroff and Sons) has hired a woman to advise retail outlets to encourage women to shop for men's clothing, with the idea that will boost sales volume.

A maker of men's hats (Frank K. Lee Co.) has hired a woman to design its new spring line on the theory that a woman would know best how a man should look—so as not to clash with his wife's fashions.

Many women have long been very vocal about telling their men what they ought to wear. Many pick out the clothes on the theory the husband's taste can't be trusted. Others go along as unpaid but loyal fashion consultants.

But a lot of men resent it and won't permit their wives to choose anything for them.

Some merchants say the wife

appurs the husband into spending more on his appearance than he would if he weren't nagged. They report 30 per cent of their sales of men's suits are made while the wife watches.

Others say that the wife just complicates sales, wastes clerk's time and upsets other and unaccompanied males who may be there shopping.

Some men, who choose their own suits, are content to let the women do the shopping for shirts, underwear, socks, pajamas and the like.

Merchants say 70 per cent of such items are bought by women.

H. Daroff and Sons also had a research organization query women shoppers on the subject of men's duds.

More than a third of the women said, "Everything is left up to me." But almost half said style was specified, though less rarely was brand and color mentioned.

The women said when they went along with their husbands they were listened to on the matter of fit, but seldom consulted about fabric, color, brand or price.

Garden Nook
By SADIE B. GUB
The Sanford Garden Club of F.F.C.C.

Among the flowering trees to be admired this month is one that is more or less rare for Central Florida. This is a Bauhinia trisandra coming into bloom on Mrs. Heeren's property to the north of her home grounds on Palmetto Ave. between 22 and 23 streets. It has beautiful rose pink flowers marked with white lines, and wide spread narrow petals.

Another closely related species, also a November bloomer, is Bauhinia purpurea with rose lilac petals, and its variety Bauhinia purpurea alba with white flowers. One of these with lilac flowers is just through blooming on the lawn of the W. L. Roche home on Laurel Ave. at 10 Street.

There are several of these summer and fall blooming "Orchid trees" that would make attractive companions to the better known spring blooming Bauhinia variegata and its white variety, B. variegata andida.

A very lovely and fragrant shrub type is Bauhinia acuminata, with wide peized white flowers in summer and fall. Then there is a pink flowered one, Bauhinia monandra, blooming in spring and fall, and also a vine type with miniature leaves and tiny lavender blooms in summer.

In addition to these and other species not so well known in this area is one that should definitely not be overlooked. This is Bauhinia gaspainii, a scrambling or semi-upright shrub with brick red flowers all summer that remind one of a red nasturtium or of a Royal Poinciana bloom. This species would be handsome trained on

Handi-Craft Booth Will Be Featured At Sorority Bazaar

Beta Sigma Phi Sorority is planning one of its biggest events of the year. A bazaar is to be held Friday from 11 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the Episcopal Parish house with a tasty snack lunch to be served from 12 noon to 1:30 p.m. Mrs. George Speer Jr. is chairman of the lunch committee.

She and her committee state that "a main size meal will be served with enough to eat for everyone." Others working with her are Mrs. E. C. Harper Jr., Mrs. Donald Bales, Mrs. Charles Betts, Mrs. A. O. Roberts and Miss Joan Saunders.

Mrs. Volie Williams Jr. and Miss Jeannette Weller, general chairmen announce that one of the outstanding things about the event is that it will be "an easy and inexpensive way to do Christmas shopping."

"Take the Handi-Craft Booth" they exclaimed. "Persons attending the bazaar will be able to buy all sorts of homemade things for Christmas gifts and stockings. Everything from needle pointings to baby things of knitted wool will be sold." Chairman of the booth is Mrs. Sam Thurmond with workers being Mrs. Rudy Sloan, Mrs. Harold Chapman and Mrs. Frank Mebane.

Make an extra sandwich when you are picking a luncheon for dad or one of your youngsters. Wrap the sandwich in waxed paper and refrigerate it. At noon, when you are ready for lunch, spread the top surface of the sandwich bread with soft butter or margarine and toast under the broiler; turn, spread other side sandwich with soft butter and toast. Almost any filling — cheese, egg or tuna salad — takes to this sandwich treatment.

You can bake pork sausage in a shallow pan in a hot (400 degrees) oven. Turn the sausage once to brown on both sides and leave it in the oven at least 20 minutes.

An avocado mixture wonderful when it is used as a dip for crisp corn chips. Mash the avocado fine and add salt and pepper to taste plus minced onion. Some cooks also like to add a dash of chili sauce.

A trellis but is also very effective sprawling on the lawn, if pruned after flowering to keep within bounds.

All of these Bauhinias need protection from frost while young but become hardier with age, and should do well on south side of house and sheltered from west winds. They like sun or part shade and plenty of water while blooming. While they may be propagated by seed quite readily, they might not come true to the parent tree. The writer's experience with the common spring blooming type was a white and a purple flowered tree produced from seed of the same pod and a lavender flowered one from a white tree.

Several of these Bauhinias are available at local nurseries and others may be obtained from South Florida dealers. Do try one or two of them to prolong the flowering season of this delightful tree.

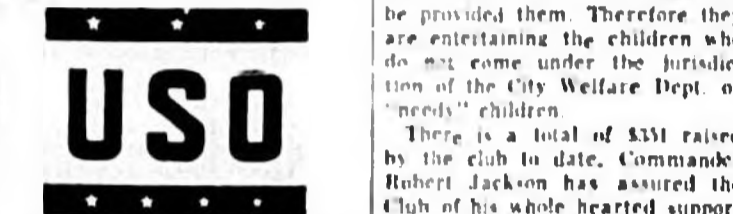

Educational Exhibits Will Be Part Of Annual Flower Show

A miniature orange grove, orchids in bloom, and six of the rarest shells in the world will be among the special exhibits at the First Christmas Show of the Sanford Garden Club in held Dec. 3 and 4 at the Mayfair Inn.

Ben Wiggins of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service will display the small scale orange grove that has been built to demonstrate the proper contour planting for groves to prevent erosion of valuable soil. There will also be a selection of free manuals and bulletins from the Department of Agriculture.

Among the 150 to 200 beautiful Florida shells that Roger Harris will have in the showcase will be some of the rarest shells in the world, including one shell that as far as Mr. Harris has been able to determine is an unknown species. Not known and valued by conchologists are the carrier shell, the golden panama, Junonia, lion's paw, and Sun Ray Tullin, all of which will be exhibited. There will also be some albino shells and some shells of common variety which are made extremely rare by their unusual coloring.

Plants on the Florida Conservation list will be in an exhibit under the direction of Mrs. John Fox, plant conservation chairman of the Sanford Garden Club. The growth and protection of these native Florida plants is necessary for the preservation of our sub-

Gala Plans Are Being Made By CPO Wives Club

The CPO Wives Club has been recently to have Mrs. Robert Jackson, Mrs. H. C. Cole and Mrs. G. K. Tilly of the Officer's Wives Club as their guests.

Plans were discussed for the forth coming Christmas party for needy children to be held Dec. 17 at the CPO Club on the base.

The Christmas Party Chairman, Mrs. Jellison, stated that out of 31 invitations sent there have been 33 acceptances with a total of 97 children.

In order to be classified as "needy" a child must have only one living parent, or be completely orphaned.

The CPO Club feels that there are many children in Sanford and surrounding areas that have both parents living, but are still in dire need of a little Christmas cheer that would otherwise not be provided them. Therefore they are entertaining the children who do not come under the jurisdiction of the City Welfare Dept. or "needy" children.

There is a total of $351 raised by the club to date. Commander Robert Jackson has assured the Club of his whole hearted support to make this Christmas party a success. A special election is planned for Dec. 6 for the election of officers. It was announced. The meeting will begin then at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Clyde Beckman and children, Patricia and John of Pensacola returned home Saturday after spending the holidays with Mrs. Beckman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Priest and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Priest.

Make your selection and use their convenient layaway plan. It's later than you think, parents... and I know just what your teenage son or daughter would "wow" over. That wonderful Admiral combination radio and phonograph with the three-speed changer. WINN'S TV has them for Christmas and on easy terms, too and have a "look-see."

Cosy perfume may come as a "bold blaze or a soft glow" for every personality. TOUCHTON'S DRUG STORE has all of the majestic fragrances complete with their accompanying moods... also listed are toilet water, dusting powder and sachet. A gift any woman can "dream" about.

HOLIDAY HILARISM! Why is a cat walking across the street related to Christmas? ... Because it has "sandy claws."

Sooners Capture Championship

The Associated Press Undefeated Oklahoma, winning at the polls in the same whirlwind fashion that it won most of its games, today captured the 1950 national college football championship and the Walter J. Hugh O'Donnell Trophy in the 30th annual Associated Press poll.

South Drafts New Head Coach, Three Players For Game

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Hard hit by bowl developments that eliminated two coaches and nine players, the South today drafted a new head coach and three players for the Blue-Gray football game here Dec. 9.

The heavy recruiting drive left the Confederate platoon shy an assistant coach and five players.

Low Coach Paul Dietzel was named head southern mentor to replace Auburn's Ralph Jordan, while Sator Bowl-bound squad includes four players previously pledged by the South.

Bowl bids also thinned the Rebel ranks of three players and a coach from Texas Tech and two Vanderbilt players.

Added to the southern squad yesterday were LSU halfbacks Lovi Johns and Vince Gonzalez. Also signed was Mingo Avery, 215-pound Clemson center.

The North, meanwhile, didn't have a single casualty due to bowl bids. The Yanks added eight players yesterday to bring their squad to 35—just one short of fighting strength.

The Blue coaching staff is also complete with Don Faurot of Missouri as head strategist and assistant Bob Davis of Colorado A&M and Murray Warmath of Minnesota.

North Carolina's George Barclay had previously accepted an assignment as an assistant Rebel coach.

Now tackle Tony Anthony's full name is Anthony Arthur Anthony.

3,381 points in the season's final AP poll of sports writers and broadcasters. It topped Michigan State by more than 200 points.

Oklahoma succeeds Ohio State, Big Ten champion for the second straight year, as winner of the national championship trophy. It is the second time the Sooners have taken the award, named in honor of the late Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, former president of Notre Dame.

They also finished first in the 1950 poll. It must be won three times to gain permanent possession. The Associated Press poll was established in 1924. Each newspaper or radio or TV station may cast one ballot, rating the teams from first to tenth. Points are awarded on the basis of 10 each first-place vote, 9 for second, etc.

In the final 1950 balloting, Oklahoma was first on 218 of the 294 ballots cast, second on 98 and third on 35. It was one of the heaviest votes in the 30-year history of the poll.

Michigan State, with 88 first-place votes, polled a second-place total of 3,294 points and Maryland with 55 firsts, received 3,024 points.

Others finishing in the top 10 were UCLA, which will meet Michigan State in the Rose Bowl, Ohio State, Texas Christian, Georgia Tech, Auburn, Notre Dame and Mississippi.

Other previous winners of the O'Donnell Trophy were Michigan, Notre Dame, Tennessee, Michigan State and Maryland.

- Oklahoma, leader of the weekly polls for four weeks preceding the final ballot, wound up its season with a 33-0 walkover against Oklahoma A&M, its 10th victory of the season and 20th in a row.
- TCU will oppose Mississippi in the Cotton Bowl, Georgia Tech will play Pittsburgh (rated 11th) in the Sugar Bowl and Auburn will play unranked Vanderbilt in the Gator Bowl.
- The leaders, with first-place votes in parentheses:
- Oklahoma (218) 3,381
 - Michigan State (88) 3,294

Statistics Crown SEC Backfield Kings

BIRMINGHAM (AP)—Final unofficial Southeastern Conference statistics crowned Auburn's Fob James, Georgia's Dick Young and Tennessee's John Majors as SEC backfield kings.

James completed the 1950 schedule with 679 yards rushing in 123 carries—an average of 5.5 yards per try. Young completed 48 of 97 pass attempts for 818 yards and eight touchdowns.

Majors, equally dangerous runner or thrower of the ball, gained a total of 1,132 yards on which 257 were on the ground and 875 by aerials.

George Volkert of Georgia Tech had a slightly better average rushing than James, but was called on much less frequently. He ran 21 times for a net gain of 263 yards, an average of 12.5 yards per attempt.

Young, Bob Hardy of Kentucky and Eagle Day of Mississippi threw eight touchdowns passes each. The most accurate passer was Tappy Vana, Georgia Tech, with a .583 completion mark; Bart Starr, Alabama, .573; Howell Tubbs, Auburn, .571; and Hardy, .547. Young and Day each had 495 yards.

The Rebels' Day followed Majors in total offense with 222 yards rushing and 724 passing for 956. Flying Fob James was third with only a yard gained passing. Hardy was fourth with only 64 yards on the ground and 777 passing for 841. M. C. Reynolds, Louisiana State, was fifth with 91 yards by air and 600 by ground for a total of 691.

Although Georgia's Young lost 156 yards on the ground, his 875 yards passing gave him a net of 719 yards that was good enough for sixth place.

Ron Quillian of Tulane moved from fourth to second place in the rushing division and took the place of Vanderbilt's Charley Horton among leaders on total offense. He had 685 yards rushing on 150 attempts for a 4.6 yard average.

Henry Kennedy and Selwyn Jones finished one-two in the Michigan AAU cross-country championships in 1948. They are Michigan State's standouts.

LIGHT LATHE
CINCINNATI (AP)—A lathe so light and safe a child can operate it has been developed here. It weighs 16 pounds, is 27 inches long, nine inches high, seven inches wide, and has a 1/35 horse power electric motor which is encased inside the lathe. It does not have gears or belts and can be stopped with the fingers without injury, according to the manufacturer. Yet it is said to possess sufficient "turn-power" job of cutting wood, plastics and aluminum.

Santa Claus will be riding in the last float in the parade, according to Chairman Gut. This place of honor has been afforded the visitor from the North Pole each year, and this year the Jaycees have gone all out to make his float one of the most beautiful in the annual parade's history.

Monument Will Be Erected To Greek Philosopher Soon
XANTHI, Greece (AP)—Greek philosopher Democritus, who fathered the atomic theory nearly 2,500 years ago, is to have a commemorative monument erected in his home town, Abdera.
Atomic scientists from all over the world will be invited to attend the unveiling next year. The University of Salonika is sponsoring the project.
Recent excavations brought to light the vestiges of Abdera, 15 miles south of the contemporary town of Xanthi, in western Thrace. Democritus was born there between 470 and 460 B. C. Tradition has it that he learned theology and astrology in his early teens from Chaldean Magi who came to Thrace in the wake of Persian King Xerxes' invading armies. Later he traveled extensively.
By the time he came back home, he had become one of the most erudite men of his generation.
He died at the age of 100.
It is said that he felt the hour of his death approaching and told his sister. The news greatly upset the old lady, because she figured his death would prevent her from attending in the Feast of the Theomorphosis, due to be celebrated that same day. So Democritus obligingly postponed his death three days.
He managed it, legend says, by applying freshly baked bread leaves over his nose and inhaling their hot fumes.
Democritus was the first philosopher to uphold the theory that "all matter is made up of atoms."

A deed for property granted the Disabled American Veterans in the city owned area south of Sanford was approved and the tracts of land given to both the Disabled American Veterans and the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be extended to make each piece of property uniform in size.
City Attorney William C. Hutchison Jr., was instructed to prepare an ordinance vacating an alley at Commercial and Elm with abutting property owners in full approval.

Errors Corrected By Furniture Firm
Due to the mass advertising in this Christmas Shopping Edition and the necessary rush required by both the advertising and mechanical departments, a few small errors slipped by undetected in first-run sections.
Caught by H. H. Grier before the final section came off the press today were the following mis-statements in his Furniture Center advertisement: The line, "full or twin size" under Sealy's Punkie Beds should read "full twin size", and the price of Pearlwick Clothes Hampers and Rook Cases should include the word "up" after their price listing of $8.95 and $6.95.

Molasses Slowness Wasn't So Funny
LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—They take a lot about the slowness of molasses in cold weather. But there wasn't anything inactive about the 2,500 gallons delivered yesterday at Brant's farm elevator here.
A blast shook the elevator building a few minutes after a tank truck, carrying the molasses, had been unloaded.
Zane Brant, a member of the firm, said the molasses, used in mixing livestock feeds, was found oozing from a concrete tank in the basement. Nearby machinery was covered with the sticky mess.
Brant said the damage would "run into thousands of dollars." He could not explain the explosion.

U. S. Congressmen Held At Gun Point In Russian Sector

BERLIN (AP)—Two American congressmen were held Sunday in the Russian sector of Berlin for more than four hours. The incident challenged some of the Allied occupation rights in this four-power city.

U.S. officials disclosed that East German Communist police detained Rep. Harold G. Stassen (R-N.Y.), Osttag's editor, Rep. Edward P. Bohlen (D-Mass.), and their escort officer, Lt. James T. McQueen, of Mullins, S.C.

The party was held at a post point in the Russian War Memorial Center in Treptow. The German police contended the visitors had violated the laws of the Communist state by using an automobile equipped with a two-way radio.

U.S. authorities said that the Russians supported this claim later in the day when the Americans' release was secured. American officials took this to mean that the laws of the East German republic now could be applied to Allied personnel entering East Berlin.

Longwood

By MRS. RUTH LAYO
Longwood Area Chamber of Commerce members enjoyed a very inspiring talk by Richard Sodero at their last meeting. Sodero brought to attention the many undeveloped possibilities that were available in this area. He also spoke of what had been accomplished at Azalea Driving Park and their future plans.

President Charles Morrison announced that the Chamber had received invitations to participate in both the Orlando and Sanford Christmas Parades. Upon discussion it was agreed to prepare a float and enter this year's parades. Linton Cox was appointed chairman for the float.

The Longwood Children's Annual Christmas Party was on the agenda and Mrs. Claude Layo was appointed chairman and will be assisted by representatives of the local churches and organizations.

The Longwood Fire Department answered a fire call at Mobley's Corner on 17-92 when one of the small homes owned by L. C. Gaudin, Orlando, became ignited by fire.

The home was occupied by Mrs. Bill Hughes and small daughter and Mr. Hughes, who is in the Navy and at present at sea aboard the Forrestal.

Cause of the fire was undetermined and all personal effects of the Hughes family were burned or damaged in the amount of $1,000. Due to the prompt arrival of the Longwood Firemen sections of the building were saved as well as two very near-by homes.

The barbecue held last Saturday in Sunnyside Park by the Longwood Volunteer Fire Department was a success. Although complete results have not yet been received, approximately 550 persons were served, and the firemen are anticipating proceeds of about $350. There were also several cash donations to help build the fund to purchase their auxiliary truck.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pyle and son have arrived in town to spend the winter. Mr. Pyle is the starter at the Ben White Raceway and Mrs. Pyle is well known as an expert equestrienne.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thompson of West Farinton, Me., returned to their home on Wilms St. last weekend to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bowles and son, Gary, spent several days with relatives in Tampa recently.

Robert Robertson, who is attending college in Jacksonville, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Robertson of Maine St.

We are sorry to report that Ross Mobley was taken to the Winter Park Memorial Hospital last Saturday afternoon and is quite ill.

Tony Hunter recently arrived home after several months in South America.

Mrs. Maude Tupper entertained the Saturday Evening Pinochle Club at her home on Maine St. last Saturday evening. Among those attending were, Mr. and Mrs. Norman G-dfrey of Pearl Lake Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wales of Fern Park; Louis Knoll, James Hollister and Mrs. Florence Sunderlin. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the card playing.

Mrs. Cassie Maiera, who on Nov. 7 drove her sister, Mrs. Evelyn Nickelson to Brookline, Mass. returned to Longwood on the 14th, covering 3,000 miles. Mrs. Maiera was accompanied by her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Harris and children of Winthrop, Me., on the return trip. The Harris' will spend the winter in Florida.

Mrs. Lucille Hunter is at present in New York City where she will spend some time.

No Harm In Tests Of Atomic Weapons

By HERMAN H. BUNDESEN, M.D.
DON'T WORRY about those Nevada atomic bomb tests. They are not ruining your health.

While there has been speculation—and that's just what it is, speculation—about whether the blasts might harm future generations, present health and safety hazards have been reduced to a minimum.

No Serious Aftermath
Gordon M. Dunning, of the Atomic Energy Commission's division of biology and medicine, reports that after five major tests no one at the site has incurred radiation exposure that may be considered hazardous.

No one was found to be injured by shock waves, nor have there been any known cases of serious eye damage from light effects. Mr. Dunning's report appeared in a recent issue of a medical journal.

To Insure Safety
Here's what the government does to insure your safety during atomic tests:

The site of the testing area is in itself a safeguard, covering an area of some 600 square miles. In addition, an Air Force gunnery range consisting of 4,000 square miles adjoins it. There are also other wide expanses of sparsely populated land around the site. One hundred full-time AEC employees and many additional part-time employees, throughout the country, carry out an extensive warning program before each test.

Other Precautions Taken
Just as important, they make repeated checks after a test.

After each blast, monitoring equipment at the site, in nearby communities and on mobile units measures the radioactive fallout. Planes track the clouds and plot the fall-out pattern on the ground. Ninety U. S. Weather Bureau stations and 10 AEC installations collect fall-out data.

The government, you see, keeps an accurate check on fall-out no matter where it occurs. That is one major reason why the Nevada tests have such an enviable safety record.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
J.E.: I have an over-abundance of freckles. Is it safe to use any of the different solutions to get rid of them?

Answer: Freckles are generally due to excessive pigmentation of spots in the skin.

There is not much that can be done to get rid of them, but avoiding the sunlight might be helpful.

You should consult a dermatologist (skin specialist) about the removal of freckles.

Jewelry Workers Cutting Prices On Real Gems

If she's worthy of diamonds, as doubtless she is, this is one Christmas you won't have to settle for anything less.

The jewelry designers, working down-scale in prices, have produced a selection of gifts replete with real gems and costing no more than $50.

Apart from the value, any gift with a diamond in it is always flattering. For centuries, the very stone itself has been the symbol of devotion.

The less expensive items of diamond jewelry are "normal" in scale or size, neither chunky nor bizarre, and the diamonds, even though they are small, give a piece that look of quality that comes only from the genuine.

If a man is giving his wife a fabulous stone of two carats or more, he will probably have it mounted for her in a ring or pendant, where people expect to see very large gems. The more modest jewelry decked with small diamonds will probably be earrings, a pin or clip or a wristwatch.

New this Christmas are 14-karat gold, diamond-set buttons, sold in pairs, which may be adapted for earrings (with screw or peg backs) or for feminine cuff-links or studs for the lapel of a tailored suit.

A man might buy a pair of these buttons as earrings and later give a matching pair for the cuffs. Square shapes with round gold centers are the newest, twin hearts the most sentimental. The buttons sell at $75 and $100 the pair.

Button-type earrings are becoming to almost every woman and have been in good style for so long now that investing several hundred dollars in diamond ornaments of this type is safe from a fashion standpoint.

Watches have been soaring to new popularity for gifting during recent years largely because they are, in addition to being a necessary, an important fashion item in the wardrobe of both men and women.

They are expected to be in highest demand for giving this Christmas with men becoming increasingly conscious of the fashion tastes of their wives.

There are new watch bracelets for women designed to be an adornment rather than just a utilitarian means of holding the watch to the wrist from which to choose.

There are the new tiny fashion watches, designed to decorate the costume as well as tell the time. These are contributions to good grooming.

There's a tradition among married folk of all ages suggesting the exchange of watches as gifts on important occasions. This has been stimulated by creation of designs that match, while they also reflect femininity on the one hand, and masculinity on the other.

Imagination, Extra Time Will Give Door Decorations 'Air'

Makes this the merriest, brightest Yuletide ever by letting the words from the well-loved Christmas poem—"and all through the house" set the theme for your holiday decorations!

A little extra time and a lot of imagination put into your Christmas door can give your home a festive air that will delight the children, set a happy holiday mood for your guests and send your own Christmas spirit soaring.

Your Christmas tree will of course, hold the center of the stage in your holiday-bright home. Since the time for enjoying the Christmas tree comes but once a year and always seems too brief a lot of loving interest an enthusiasm into decorating it.

Family tradition will more or less determine how your tree will be trimmed, but in other phases of the Yuletide decor try excitingly new ideas.

Use the bright Christmas tree balls in dozens of imaginative ways. String them on thin wire and outline your curtain valance. Make gay curtain tie-backs from the smaller size. Tie them on ribbons and hang them at varying lengths for a dramatic splash of holiday color in your picture window.

or an ultra-modern home, make a Christmas mobile of these gleaming balls to catch and reflect the glow of the Christmas tree lights or candlelight.

Tuck these shining ornaments into a cluster of Christmas greens on your mantle and circle the base of the tall candles at each of the arrangement with them. Or heap them on a glass compote for added holiday glow.

More and more families are accenting the true meaning of Christmas with their decorations. Use the top of book shelf or table for the Nativity scene or place a lovely Madonna figurine in an arrangement of greens and candles.

There are many unusual and eye-catching ways of displaying your Christmas cards as a part of your decor. String them on a red ribbon as a swag, outline a doorway with colorful cards or fasten them to a large wreath over the fireplace. For a dramatic effect fasten them to a tree cut from bright plastic material and light them from below with a concealed lamp.

Make your Christmas feast even more memorable with a beautifully decorated table. Wide red ribbons stretched across a white tablecloth with a huge bow and evergreen sprigs in the center will make your table look like a huge, festive gift package.

Or, create a Yuletide centerpiece from your choice of evergreen sprays, cherry red candles, a tiny Christmas tree, fruits and nuts, or flowers.

So like the carol—"deck the halls" and make your home radiant with Christmas spirit.

States Florals
Christmas and plants, of course, seem to be kindred; so it is not at all amazing to find that various states have taken "Christmas" florals as their state flora.

MAKING LIKE DAD AT THE OFFICE is made possible for Juniors like these, furnishing true-to-adult life inter-com sets by Remco and phone by Steel Stamping.

Giving Of Gifts Important Part Of Holiday Season

The giving of gifts has been an important part of the holiday season ever since the Wise Men and shepherds brought gifts to the Christ Child in Bethlehem.

Gifts expressing love and good-will are given all over the world at this time, but the bearer of gifts differs from country to country.

In America, children look forward to Santa Claus, who carries his gifts in a pack on his back and is drawn in a sleigh by eight prancing reindeer. He fills the stockings, hung by the fireplace, and heaps presents under the Christmas tree.

After the Christmas Eve feast in Poland, Mother Star... who is dressed like an angel in a white robe and veil, distributes the gifts after Father Star, who is a bit to be feared, listens to the children's prayers and catechism.

In Norway, they remember the birds and animals with suet and choice sheaves of grain tied to trees and rooftops; extra fodder is provided for the cattle.

Candles shine from every window in Bavaria, to light the Kristkind on her way from home to home. She is the messenger of the Infant Jesus, and Bavarian children believe that she brings them their gifts. She wears a white robe and has golden wings.

In Holland, Dutch children wait anxiously for the arrival of St. Nicholas. Dressed in traditional bishop's robes of black, he carries a hop and wears a mitre. He brings gifts for the children which he places in the chimney shoes.

Gifts are given to the Swiss children by a radiant angel who rides in a sleigh drawn by six reindeer. English children wait for a Santa Claus, who looks very much like our own jolly elf. They also find gifts tied to a Christmas tree.

In Spain, the Three Wise Men deliver gifts as they continue their way to Bethlehem.

In old Russia, "Baboushka," carrying a staff and many toys, goes from house to house in her search for the Christ Child.

"La Befana," mystical wanderer in search of the Christ Child, delivers gifts, like the good fairy she is, to Italian children. She is represented carrying a broom and goes from house to house.

Distinctive Gifts Come From Leather

In striving to find a gift that's distinctive and sure to be welcomed by any girl on your list, visit the leather goods counter of your favorite store.

Gal Can Use Purse, Vanity Accessories

Shopping for that certain girl's gift, need not be difficult if you give thought to the many purse and vanity table accessories a gal can use.

For her purse there are many many items... such as purse-size perfume flacons complete with tiny siphon, table and travel atomizers, fold-away combs, purse-size hair brushes, pill boxes, miniature ash trays to carry in the purse, lipstick mirrors, lighters, cigarette cases, compacts, cosmetic kits for the purses, key chains and key cases and jewel cases in sizes for her bureau or her traveling bag.

Dainty accessories she'll love are—lingerie, hosiery and handkerchief cases or boxes; gaily-colored boxes to hold her supply of tissues, plastic boxes just the right size for manicure essentials and many, many others.

Flowers Associated In Christmas Tales

So many legends attendant to Christmas are associated with plants and flowers!

Here is another one you may not have known! A little Mexican wail had no gift to take to the cathedral at Christmas. As she slowly picked her way to the church a strange weed caught her eye and she gathered it to take with her.

When she knelt to place this weed upon the altar, she saw in amazement that the humble weed had blossomed as a Poinsettia—or Flora de Noche Buena (the Flower of the Nativity as it is called in Mexico).

CANDY COOKS will be happy with a gift of an accurate thermometer. This model is a combination candy, jelly and frosting temperature monitor.

MANY MERRY MILES will roll away with the aid of a leather motor car map case with pencil flashlight for night use. Give auto key chains with appropriate insignia as an extra stocking stuffer.

WRITING TWOSOME that makes a useful gift. Fountain pen, cartridge-filled. With companion pencil in beautifully matched set. By Waterman.

MORE TREE TRIMS
Here's an idea: Buy a baby Christmas tree for your own room and trim it with the prettiest cards you receive. Or, decorate it with bits of gay ribbon from your Christmas gift wrapping.

Singing Of Christmas Carols Forms Big Part Of Joyous Holiday Time

Season Is Rich In Joy, Legends, Over World

As a new Christmas season comes 'round again, it is interesting to look back on the very tradition of the holiday itself.

No other observance is so rich with myth, legend, fact and fancy called from the world over.

In the earliest days of Christianity, Christmas was not a festival at all. And, before the fifth century there was no established opinion as to when Christmas was observed on the calendar. Dates in months as various as January, March, April and May—as well as in December—were discussed as the day of Nativity in the earliest days of Christianity.

In the first two centuries after Christ's birth, it was recorded by early historians that His birth occurred on Wednesday, December 25th, also on Friday, December 25th and also attributed to various other days in the week.

In the Calendar of Philocalus (354 A.D.) it is stated that in "Year I after Christ the Lord, Jesus Christ was born on December 25th, a Friday, and 13th day of the new moon"—though in fact—December, I. A. D. I, was a Sunday.

Early chroniclers have variously associated the birth of Christ with symbolism attendant to the many anniversaries devoted to the creation of the sun.

Certain Latins as early as the year 335, transferred the birthday from January 6th to December 25th, which was then a Mithraic feast or birthday of the unacquainted sun of Philocalus.

The Syrians and Armenians of that period clung to the January 6th observance and accused the Romans of sun-worship and idolatry.

In the late third and early fourth centuries, the feast of December 25th was observed in the West from Thrace to Cadiz, while in the East—in the Byzantine empire, the January 6th date was celebrated.

In the Christian church the festival of the Nativity of Jesus Christ is so closely associated with Epiphany (the commemoration of the Baptism) that no history of Christmas is complete unless both are looked at together.

Epiphany has been celebrated in the Teutonic west as the Festival of the Magi . . . it has been called the east of the "Declaration," of the "Manifestation," of the "Appearance," or simply, Twelfth Night.

Until the fourth century, the Christmas observed near Epiphany and Easter with festivals and religious rites, and the physical bath of Christ was not widely recognized.

In fourth century Spain and Armenia, the month prior to Epiphany was a time of fasting and repentance.

It is said that the feast of Baptism, or the day of the Saviour's birth observed on January 6th, was used in separate the natural birth day from the thought that in His Baptism, the Saviour was reborn through the Holy Spirit.

Synonymous with the Epiphany observed is the blessing of the springs and rivers from which the water is stored for baptisms and hustrations.

Even this rite has its origin in the ancient Festival of the Nile where it is related that the Nile's waters were at its purest . . . also, in the neopagan festival of the Birth of Aeon where after an all night ritual of flute-playing, dancing and singing, "Kore, the Virgin gave birth to Aeon, (a sun deity).

Long before the birth of Christianity, December 25th was celebrated by the Anglos with all-night festivals and vigils as the start of the new year. It was called "modranacht" or "mother's night."

Safely Precautions Now, Will Pay Later As Yule Time Starts

You feel that Christmas is really here when you start unpacking decorations and putting up the tree. For decorating the home with traditional or original fancies makes the season as full of Christmas as a holly berry.

Safely considerations should rate high when picking your tree for, according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the tree is Christmas' greatest hazard.

They suggest: Choose a well tree and keep it outdoor until a few days before setting it up. If you have land, pick a live tree, cover the dirt with foil and plant it afterwards. Saw the butt of a cut tree slantwise and stand it in a tub of water; locate it away from a fireplace, exit or radiator; avoid untreated paper or cotton ornaments. Use electric lights with the UL Underwriters Laboratory mark . . . never use candles! Don't run electric tinsel around the base and don't use outlets or plugs under the tree.

When your tree is set up, wire the top to the molding or window frame, using something like light aluminum wire which is inconspicuous.

Don't leave tree lights on when it isn't necessary and especially when the family isn't home. Check your tree regularly to see if need be near the lights are turning brown and, if they are, move the lights to another spot.

Make Own Wreaths This 1955 Holiday

This Christmas make your own wreaths for your windows or front door.

As a base, use wire coat hangers, leaving the hook for hanging. Bend the hanger into a circle and wrap thickly with crumpled tissue paper. Tie firmly in several places with string.

On this base you can create a glittering variety of wreaths for both indoors and outdoors.

Starting at the bottom of the circle, fasten sprigs of cedar, pine or spruce in your wreath base with picture wire. Try to keep each side evenly matched. Finish the top with a big red bow of shaggy fur material, and fasten to your front door, gate, or mailbox.

For a colorful outdoor wreath use red or green shower curtain fabric. Fasten pinky bows of the material alternately with clusters of tree ornaments or gilded pine cones.

Make a big bow with long streamers to conceal the hanger and your wreath will withstand all kinds of weather.

A crisp and pretty wreath for your hall can be made of paper baking cups folded, stitched together or attached to your hanger frame. Finish at the top with a rosette of gift wrapping ribbon and a cluster of Christmas ornaments.

Try a few original ideas of your own, using materials you have around the house.

See what you can do with lace paper doilies, ropes of tinsel, red and green crepe paper. You'll have fun and a feeling of real accomplishment making your own Christmas wreaths.

These Suggestions May Help In Buying

If gift shopping for the men on your list has you somewhat baffled, consider these suggestions for happy Christmas morning surprises!

When leisure wear is being considered, one shouldn't forget lounge robes! It's sometimes hard to persuade a man that his old robe is replaceable, but smartly styled wool gift robes will be the clincher in convincing him that the old one has seen better days! A terry cloth cover-up for after his shower. Styled with a big pocket to hold all his shaving gear, it's ideal for locker room wear. It ties around his waist so you can buy with no worry about getting the right size.

If he travels a lot, check the gift ideas in bright plaid plaid travel gear. One case holds five suits and folds for carrying or hangs full length in the car for wrinkle free packing. Matching bag and overalls.

The singing of Christmas carols . . . whether a small family group gathered around the piano, a group outdoors in the stillness of the night or the resounding voices of a church choir, forms an integral part of this joyous holiday season.

It just wouldn't seem like Christmas without our favorite carols! We draw our favorites from the old beloved carols of many countries.

The time-honored European carols were brought to this country by the early settlers of America. Alesie Fiddis' "Come, All Ye Faithful" is beloved in no one in particular and was eventually translated into 119 different languages and dialects.

"Away in a Manger," Luther's hymn for children, came to us from Germany. England gave us the spirited "God Rest You, Merry Gentlemen" and from France we inherited the beautiful "O Holy Night." From Austria came "Silent Night, Holy Night."

Three Americans enriched our heritage of lovely Christmas carols by going as three, which are among the world's favorites today. In 1849 a Massachusetts Unitarian minister, Edmund H. Sears, composed "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear." Ten years later, Dr. John Henry Hopkins Jr., an Episcopalian rector from Williamsport, Pa., composed both the words and music for "We Three Kings of Bethlehem Are."

"O Little Town of Bethlehem," perhaps the best known and most beloved of all American carols, was written in 1868 by Phillips Brooks, a young Episcopalian minister of Philadelphia. A trip to the Holy Land was his inspiration for the carol.

A churchman, John Pierpont, composed the gay Christmas song, "Jingle Bells," which has been popular for almost a century. A new Christmas song that is non-religious in theme, "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas" by Irving Berlin is fast becoming a classic favorite of the season.

Today we have a rich heritage of glorious Christmas carols which make the Yuletide season lovelier and full of meaning year after year.

Outside Adornment Catches Attention

Nothing adds so much to the magic of Christmas as houses in gay with outdoor decorations that seem to call out "Merry Christmas" to every passerby.

There are so many wonderful ways to let your home express the friendly, heartwarming spirit of Christmas. With a lot of imagination and early planning, you can make your home the happiest holiday home on the block.

In planning your decorations, start with your door. It should be the focal point of interest, so gaily decorated that it bids all Yuletide callers a merry welcome.

If you favor the traditional decorations, you'll probably want a lovely Christmas wreath for your door. These are easily made by bending a wire coat hanger into a circle and wiring sprays of evergreens in it until the wreath is a complete circle of greenery. Top it with a huge red bow . . . tie pine cones into the branches . . . add color with a cluster of Christmas tree balls . . . or center it with a sparkling star made of stiff silver foil.

To lend added drama to a doorway in the traditional mood, drape a swag of evergreens over the door and highlight it with ornaments or pine cones.

For a variation of the holiday wreath, an evergreen star can also be made by fastening wire coat hangers together and firmly wiring sprays of greenery to it. Modern-mood stars can be created from painted chicken wire squeezed together in the center. The form a star of sparkling tinsel over this background. Complete the doorpiece by fastening Christmas tree balls on the outer edge of the chicken wire.

Giant make-believe candy canes, red felt Christmas stockings, Santa Claus figures, or white angle and snowflake cut-outs mounted on dark blue paper to cover the door are but a few of the attractive door decorations you can choose.

A stand-by favorite that's always beautiful is the door spray of evergreens with a cluster of ornaments, pine cones, or paper bells fastened to it. Always finish a spray with a pretty bow of gay red ribbon. Your favorite store carries a weather-proofed ribbon for outdoor use.

Let bright strings of outdoor Christmas light twinkle a greeting from your house. Twine them in the evergreens framing your doorway . . . trim your outdoor evergreen tree with them . . . fashion them around a porch or entry . . . or outline windows for a cheery effect.

Buy Your Man Lounging Robe For Christmas

"What shall I give him for Christmas? Men are so hard to shop for."

How many times have we heard and uttered these lines? One of the best selections to the gift selection problem is to give men clothing.

In sport shirts, for example, there are many new developments. Among them is the shirt-jacket, which is just right for casual winter wear—TV evening, or just at home lounging. It's made of wool flannel shirting in colorful plaids!

Floridians have come up with some interesting new notes in comfortable casual shirts—the modified "Italian" stylings, the smart wool jerseys, and colorful sheer wool prints.

Another Floridian style is the matched shirt and jacket. This consists of a short-sleeved, wool jersey shirt with a low standing collar and a long sleeved matching-patterned jacket.

Readily adaptable to more formal occasions are the in-or-out shirts that can be worn with or without a tie.

Men's wardrobes are always light on the sweater side. The new smartly-styled wool sweaters have tricky patterns this year designed to give a broad shouldered look. One new one is in fine wool with a gay Scandinavian design which forms a "V" in the center of the chest and tapers to points at the tip of the shoulders. The traditional open-V for more formal occasions is available in bright of light soft

Santa Claus Is Famous Town At Yule Season

Santa Claus, Indiana is the most famous of all towns bearing names associated with Christmas.

Except for a coincidence, the name of the town may have been any of a number of less colorful names.

Originally, the name desired was Santa Fe, but officials in Washington suggested the town be given another name, since there was already a Santa Fe in New Mexico.

On Christmas Eve, 1882, the townspeople gathered to select another name, but one name after another was rejected, until "Santa Claus" strode into the meeting to get warm. He was in costume, and with his arrival everyone knew what the name of the town would be—Santa Claus, Indiana!

wool. The tennis sweater has found new uses this year with the whole family wearing a familiar white, red and navy pullover for hikes, or just plain relaxing.

All Ages Treasure Gifts Of Jewelry At Christmas Time

Gifts from the jewelers for children range all the way from the traditional silver spoon or cup for baby's "first Christmas" to rings and watches for the teen-age group.

Silver place settings for children are graduated from the tinest sizes to almost adultized knives, forks and spoons.

Jewelry for children, too, starts at the smallest sizes. Girls of all ages cherish birthstones rings, lockets and charm bracelets. Teenagers, especially, like compacts, necklaces of imitation pearls and rhinestone jewelry for parties.

Boys appreciate junior counterparts of Dad's accessories, such as cuff links, the clasps and initialed belt buckles.

A boy's or girl's "first watch" is always a memorable gift, and one especially appropriate for Christmas.

Watches are practically a "must" for children of school age and there are many models available to meet the need for sturdy, dependable, modestly priced time pieces for the small fry.

Closet Accessories Always Welcomed By Fastidious Folk

Such delightful notions await your choice for Yuletide presents. Closet accessories and "neat-and-tidy" helpers are always welcome gifts for fastidious folk.

Matched-in-color closet ensembles can give a guy or gal much-needed space in cramped areas; a gift lift for the closet are metal or wooden shoe racks that hold from 6 to 114 pairs of shoes; and there are skirt hangers, blouse hangers, tie and belt hangers for the closet that are efficient arrangers in a minimum space.

The fastidious person will welcome sets of hangers—dainty quilted ones for the girls, and shape-conforming coat hangers with trouser bars for the men.

A full-length door mirror is a gift every family will welcome. Shoes will look better, last longer when gifted with sets of shoe trees. A personal hamper for the bedroom closet is a smart gift choice.

Surprise Friends By Making Own Christmas Cards

This year why not give your Christmas cards a truly personal touch by making them yourself? You'll find it's fun to do and that your friends will be doubly thrilled with the extra thought and time that went into your holiday greeting.

All you'll need is a pair of scissors, transparent glue, and some inexpensive materials from your favorite stationery or variety store.

It's best to keep your design simple for a smart card. Let materials with interesting textures create the desired effect. Use rough construction paper, smooth metallic paper, bits of yarn, thread, paper, lace doilies, sprigs of real evergreen and net to make your designs.

Take your folders of rough-textured construction paper and create designs on the back. You can use net, metallic, shimmering Christmas trees, colored metallic, or other Christmas motifs and make them on the front with sparkling beads or sequins or star stickers. Use "Happy Christmas" stickers for your message or write your greeting inside.

Let Hubby's Christmas Present Create Spot That Is His Alone

Every man needs (and certainly deserves) a den or a cozy corner in the house that is his alone. Let your Christmas gift this year create that favorite spot for him.

Browsing through a furniture store will give you a wealth of ideas on how to make this his best Christmas ever. See the array of handsome desks in styles that will both please him and harmonize with the decor of your home. A desk of his own is a wonderful beginning for his special corner and some other member of the family might add a smart desk lamp for his Christmas.

Or perhaps the gift of an easy chair would strike a happy note with him. There is a wonderful selection of chairs designed for oh-so-relaxing comfort. Other gift ideas are: large occasional tables, big man-sized hassocks, reading lamps, or a smart game table with matching chairs.

WORD BUILDERS
The game of anagrams, normally considered a gift for adults, is perfectly suitable and certainly stimulating to bright young grade schoolers.

CELEBRATION BANNED
The Puritan Government banned the celebration of Christmas in England in 1643 in an attempt to do away with all forms of frivolity.

TV, Radios, Record Players Also Rate High As Presents

Exploration of the greatly enhanced and much more efficient facilities for bringing the wide, wide world of entertainment into the home, becomes a must for this Christmas.

For here, among the new television and radio sets, and the new phonographs and record players, will be found inspiration for happily solving gift problems that range from a most important present to something extra to please a child. The new T-V sets rank foremost, especially when it is an all-important gift for the family that is being sought. New cabinet styling, aimed at yielding them a handsomer "furniture" look as against the mechanical look of the past, vies with improvements in viewing and tuning.

Color in Television
Color enters the T-V picture for Christmas in two ways. Yes, there will be sets to receive the new color T-V broadcasting, but color also plays an important part in T-V set decor. The range is from dark ebony, to the purity of ivory, with mahogany, bleached or natural, and walnut, light or dark and a host of new woods and finishes, in between.

Handsomely Designed
New models range from the handsomely designed consoles—with a strong trend toward low-boy styling—than can become the most important piece of furniture in the living room, to portables, "roll arounds" and table models of unique efficiency and fine decor.

THIS CHRISTMAS MAY BE JUST THE RIGHT TIME to thrill the family with a handsome new television set for the living room, while the old set is moved into a den or into the children's room. New models reflect not only advances in reception but smarter more decorative cabinetings. Shown here is the RCA Victor 21 inch deluxe Glenwood in modern low-boy styling.

These latter, with their newer and lower pricing, clear the way for introducing a second set into the home for the children or for the playroom. Tuning devices that eliminate bending, that reveal the channel, that actually make it possible to eliminate momentarily any disturbing commercial by remote wireless control, are among some of the convenience devices being built into the new sets.

The growth in popularity of the radio-clock combination with automatic controls for tuning in and tuning out specific programs at determined times, assures these models a great vogue for Christmas giving.

Phonographs and record players, which include everything from fidelity models for the music lover, down to inexpensive little sets for the kiddies to take to camp, offer a wealth of gift giving opportunity.

Grab Bag Gifts Inexpensive

There comes a day before the holidays when Junior and Sis announce they must have a few Christmas gifts to take to the school party grab bag. One inexpensive way out of the situation may be found by visiting variety stores and loading up with cork balls, bits of felt and yarn, pearls, sequins. The cork balls fit on the end of pencils and serve as little beads that may be decorated to resemble characters. Dorothy Flick designed one with long yellow hair tied in little pink ribbons with a wreath of blue flowers. Eyes are green sequins, mouth a red one, a small pearl is the nose.

Dutch twins have blue star sequin eyes and blue hats on blonde hair. Clowns, toy soldiers and even Santa Claus may be made with bits of cotton, thread and other materials.

Design a huge "Santa Boot" of red terrycloth or outing flannel. Make a Santa's head of tinsoil and fasten it near the Christmas tree to fill with gifts that would normally be placed on the floor. Or make a boot for each member of the family to hold and display gifts.

See what materials you have around the house: firm fabrics, fringes, beads and buttons, glitter sequins, and gold paint.

Make little ones and big ones, to hang from the mantel or dangle from the Christmas tree. Make them bright and gay and glittering... and you'll want to keep them from your eye.

FRONTIERSMEN, JUNIOR GRADE, WILL TAKE to the culinary arts seriously this Christmas. It is anticipated, with "chuck wagon" sets such as this equipped with cans of real Campbell's pork and beans, cook book for the cowgirl and real camper's kettle, by Ameco.

Puppet Of Childhood Expected By Misses

What is more precious to a little girl than a gift of a gay doll at Christmas time?

Precious puppet of childhood days, the doll is one of the oldest of human institutions. In ancient remains of earlier societies, dolls of clay, wood, bone and ivory, were found in children's graves.

It is known that in earlier centuries, those dolls used as playthings were connected with images of saints.

In many aborigine groups, dolls are made as the image of a deity and are considered sacred. They are entrusted to the children as part of their religious instruction.

In Japan, dolls were created as "scapegoats"—they were dressed, and fed, and generally treated as though they were alive in ward of evil from the families' children.

Among the Hindus and Mohammedans where infant marriage prevail, elaborately-dressed dolls with many belongings, are presented to the girl at marriage.

In Africa, the use of dolls as toys is complicated by the fact that they are often used for magic rites and are often kept as household fetiches.

Among the Fings of the Orange Free State, a girl is given a doll when she becomes of age, which she keeps until she has a child, then her mother gives her a second doll, which she keeps until she has a second child. These dolls, too, are considered sacred.

However, little girls today find a thrilling array of exciting dolls. Dolls that walk, say their prayers, recite verses, can have their hair waved, cry real tears or dampen their didies! It's really as much more fun this way!

And—you'll have a thrilling time when you select that wonderful doll for that youngster on your Christmas list.

Delicate Thing Called Spirit Is Often Lost

By DOROTHY V. WHIFFLE, M.D. AP Newsfeatures

That tender delicate something called Christmas Spirit is often lost by the wayside in the hustle and bustle and just plain work of Christmas. Don't let it happen in your family.

Christmas is a time when we can all show the better side of ourselves and not be embarrassed doing it. We can show our family how much we really love them. We can let our friends and relatives know that they are important to us too.

Let us hope we do this somewhat the whole year around but most of us pull away from what we call sentimentality and hide our feelings behind the shells we use to protect ourselves from hurt.

But at Christmas the barriers are down and the very best that is in us shines out.

Do try to give the children this feeling of the goodness of Christmas.

Even for little children Christmas is not a time of just receiving things. Christmas is a time of sharing. Children can get much joy from helping in the family Christmas plans.

You'll have a Christmas tree and probably you'll put up some Christmas decorations and then the little packages will accumulate under the tree.

Let the children take part in all these activities. Let them feel that each and every one of them has helped create the gay festivity of the season.

The feeling is so much more important than the perfection of the finished product.

Let the children make decorations for the tree and the house. For the very little ones a few Christmas seals pasted on a piece of colored paper on the tree. Slightly older children can string bright red cranberries or popcorn and make paper chains and lanterns. Older girls for little ones with your help can make fancy shaped Christmas cookies to be hung on the tree and given to visiting guests. The stores are full of materials to make all sorts of Christmas decorations. Use your imagination and start your children contributing to the atmosphere of your home.

Then there's the question of Christmas presents. Every family has some Christmas presents to give that are just plain duties. Much as you'd like to feel that all of Christmas was full of true love and friendship, there's no use kidding yourself about some of it just accept the fact—life's like that. But don't talk about it touch go off and get it done. It's like paying taxes—painful but necessary.

But gifts in the family are not like that. Encourage the children to give as well as receive. But don't go out and buy something for Susie to give Daddy.

As Susie feels Christmas coming, she'll enjoy planning. She'll waffle with "excitement" as she examines a piece of Christmas paper around a hunk of clay that roughly resembles a man.

And on Christmas morning when the packages are unwrapped, can't you see her beaming little face as she carries her present over to Daddy? Susie will love the expensive bicycle you have gotten for her, but she'll grow more in the image of Christ if she has the opportunity to feel the true joy of giving as well as receiving.

Christmas is work especially if you're going to have guests, but don't let the work blot out what it's all about.

Help Your Husband Keep Up With Times With Male Jewelry

Helping a man keep up with the times is one of the opportunities afforded women by Christmas time. Choice of gifts becomes easier this year with the help of accessories to be chosen from among jewelry for the male, to point up his style rightness.

Price tags need be no problem with such accessories as cuff links, preferably jeweled; belt buckles in gold or silver; tie clasps money clips, fine wallets, pen and pencil sets, cigarette cases, and the like, to choose from.

Rings, moving rapidly toward more and more popularity among men, make especially good gifts for them. There are initialed rings, emblem rings, and rings set with his birthstone from which to choose.

Your favorite jeweler can be a big help when it comes to selecting a gift for the man in your life. Tell him what you have in mind, describe your man, and he'll be able to make "on the beam" suggestions.

New Table Cover Solves Gift Problem

Having trouble with your gift list?

In a quandary about what to give that guy or gal who has everything?

If your problem pals are bridge players, your gift worries are over. For Santa has come up this year with a brand new bridge table cover that should delight the heart of any bridge fan, and help defers to become experts.

The new cover is made of white ultra-plastic listing in black type the point and honor count bidding of Green and Culbertson in front of each player. A booklet on bidding is included in the long black table which provides permanent safekeeping for the cover.

The bridge table cover was designed by a busy California hostess, Mrs. Burt Holloway, who was faced with the problem of entertaining a great number of important business men and their wives.

Noting that many guests ducked a suggestion of bridge she tried out the new covers, and found interest picked up at once. With the rules in front of them, even amateur bridge players weren't afraid to take a hand.

'Loot Boots' Make Unusual Decorations

Make your own "Loot Boots" for Christmas gifts or for your own home decoration. Use them as "wrapping" for hard-to-wrap gifts. Or, hang a big boot on your door and miniatures on your Christmas tree.

Use your own imagination in creating your "Loot Boot" designs, but, to help you, here are a few suggestions.

From bright colored felt cut a "day shoe" high-bottom shoe. Stitch front and back sides together with contrasting colored thread and finish with sturdy buttons down the side. Make a cuff of a second color for the top and, using sequins or beads, embroider your name across the cuff. Hang it on your door for a shary welcome to friends.

At your own Christmas shoe, make a cowboy boot from denim or burlap. Using gold paint, decorate it with Texas longhorns and a spur.

Design a huge "Santa Boot" of red terrycloth or outing flannel. Make a Santa's head of tinsoil and fasten it near the Christmas tree to fill with gifts that would normally be placed on the floor. Or make a boot for each member of the family to hold and display gifts.

See what materials you have around the house: firm fabrics, fringes, beads and buttons, glitter sequins, and gold paint.

Make little ones and big ones, to hang from the mantel or dangle from the Christmas tree. Make them bright and gay and glittering... and you'll want to keep them from your eye.

December Is Hotter Than June When Buying Diamonds

Maybe you didn't know it, but December is "hotter" than June. In the diamond business, that's the way it is. Diamonds are bought and sold more during the Christmas season than in any other month of the year, and many more than in June.

Christmas Eve is reckoned as one of the most popular single days in the year to buy diamonds. In the diamond business, that's the way it is. Diamonds are bought and sold more during the Christmas season than in any other month of the year, and many more than in June.

Cupid as a statistician comes up with this one: Jewellers' sales are for "engagement" purposes. Another twenty-five per cent in diamond jewelry for wives. Men and young men come in "solo" and choose about half of all the engagement rings purchased, but another big block of sales is to couples shopping together. It is interesting by the way, that couples more frequently shop together in the big cities than in the smaller communities. In case you want to do a little pre-Christmas shopping about the kind of ring you'd prefer, here are some of the new style points.

Solve Problems At Jewelry Store For Yule Gift

Whether you are on a budget or a spree as you start your Christmas shopping this year, browsing along the counters and shelves that gleam with jewelry gifts, can be a most rewarding undertaking.

For here in the brilliance and good taste of the displays are to be found a whole host of inspirations for solving almost every gift giving problem for intimate friends and relatives.

The important thing about gifts of jewelry has nothing much to do with how much they cost.

The important thing is that gifts of jewelry bespeak a desire to give someone something precious: — something of fine workmanship, combined with up-to-the-minute design and fashion, in a manner that makes the gift tomorrow's heirloom.

Generous Price Range

The Jewelry Industry Council points out that jewelry gifts represent a generous price range. You may want to give an impressive and important gift such as an exquisite piece of diamond jewelry, as a gift of a lifetime to the lady of your choice; or you may want to give a simple little silver spoon to a baby.

You may want to choose a fine watch for dad or big brother, or simple little locket for little sister.

Karat gold and stone set jewelry are making fashion headlines this year. If you are in doubt about what to give her, make it a gold bracelet or two — or three — or more, as the budget will permit. The more to jingle on her arm, the merrier.

If she doubts the sentimental side of your nature, give her a simple charm bracelet with a few charms to start her collection. On the other hand, if she already has a charm bracelet, choose some new charms to be added.

If the lady for whom you may be choosing jewelry gifts has a favorite color, she will then have a favorite precious or semi-precious stone, perhaps her own birthstone which will please her most. Stone rings, stone set necklaces, earrings are excellent fashion wise choices for Christmas giving.

Choices for Men

Jewelry for a man can suit his own personal tastes too, for there are styles that are conservative and simple and others which are rich and handsomely designed. Choose cuff links, evening studs and links, tie clip, stickpin or collar pins for the men on your gift list.

For the most important man in your life consider a ring with his birthstone, favorite lodge or military emblem, a signet or an initial model.

And also among major jewelry gifts for men is always the watch, whether it be a fine new one for cherished wear, or an inexpensive model for sports or rough and tumble wear.

Jewelry gifts to please the younger generation play an increasingly important part in the Christmas picture, reports the Jewelry Industry Council.

And since the youngsters are likely to be more sentimental than their elders choose gifts that are symbolic and that can be cherished among their keepsakes.

All children like rings. A silver cup pleases the very young. Little girls like lockets. Spoons are for babies. Little boys — and girls too — are thrilled by real watches that tell time, and they can be had at little cost.

For Fine Silver

The Jewelry store also is headquarters for the fine silver that furnishes inspiration for important gift giving to the hostess, to the young bride, and to the close friends worthy of something very special.

Gifts of silver, in fact, range the budget-to-sprees Christmas types of giving, for among them at the least costly end are bon bon dishes, for example, and at the upper end, the complete and handsome sets of silver.

Sweaters Have Tricky Patterns

Men's wardrobes are always light on the sweater side. This fact revealed by a recent clothing survey, points the way to more successful gift giving for this Christmas.

Sweaters for giving this season have tricky patterns designed to give a broad shouldered look. A new design is the crew-neck sweater, a lot like the turtle neck which provides a wireless model, somewhat less "warm-looking" than the ordinary turtle neck.

The traditional open-V neck sweater for more formal occasions is being shown in soft wool of bright or light shades.

The tennis sweater has found new uses this year with the whole family wearing the familiar white, red and navy pullover for skiing, biking and just plain relaxing.

Christmas Comes To Newlyweds As Budget Permits

Christmas comes to newlyweds with many wonderful gifts to help furnish their homes. So many of today's young couples are furnishing their homes and apartments gradually — as the budget permits that Santa has free rein in presenting them with furniture and accessories for every room.

Gifts to delight young-marrieds range from a dining room set (bought cooperatively by several of their friends) to one or two distinctive throw pillows (given by their next-door neighbor).

Elaborate gifts from close relatives may take the surprising turn of a television set, draperies and slipcovers of even carpeting for their new home. Convertible sofas and cabinet-desk combinations are available in smart new space-saving designs for a small house or apartment.

Of course, there are a myriad of necessities and luxuries that the recently married need and that mean no strain on the Christmas budget. Stationery, for instance, is a necessary luxury that will delight the bride with her own "Mrs." engraved upon it. A handsome box of note and letter papers in various sizes will please her on Christmas morning and long after.

An entire "wardrobe" of papers for both Mr. and Mrs. makes a nice combination gift. Books for the new bookcases are in order, too. A gift to both of them: an excellent cook book or one on home decoration.

A pair of bookends will fill a need or, in a similar vein, a small reading lamp. The newlyweds will silently thank you for a reading gift on many quiet at-home evenings.

A collection of spices is another "gift built-for-two" — especially if the couple likes to delve into exotic cookery. These are available in pretty gift boxes with sauces and dressings. Particularly appealing for decorative as well as culinary tastes are the attractive spice shelves with tiny drawers all filled with the makings of savory dishes.

For the bathroom of their new home, newlyweds will love gifts of distinctive towel rings, wall shelves and shower curtain sets that are available in smart modern designs.

There are, in fact wonderfully unique gifts for every phase of living that will contribute to the beauty and comfort of married life. Wise Santas will seek them out.

Parents Particular In Picking Kid's Toys For Christmas

Parents want toys with good play value, safety and educational features, that are well built, durable and reasonably priced, reports the Toy Manufacturers Association of the U.S.A., Inc. as the result of a survey conducted last Christmas.

And as a result of the survey, states Sam G. Goss, president of the manufacturer's group, "we have been able this year to gauge the desire of parents better than ever before."

Parents make their contribution to their children's happiness at Christmas time by the care they use in selection of playthings for their youngsters, he pointed out.

It is at this point that the early shopper has the best opportunity to choose correctly the toys best suited to the needs of the individual child.

Many manufacturers have come to the aid of parents by labeling toys according to age groups. All that remains for the parents to do is to get to the stores early enough to be able to make thoughtful and unhurried selections.

FOR A PARTICULAR MAN
A man who is particular about good grooming will appreciate gifts of toiletries, such as after shaving lotions, colognes, shaving soap, toilet waters, talcum powders etc. Many come in gift combinations, specially packaged for Yuletide.

Gift Characteristics Are 'Interesting'

The curtain will be raised here soon on the most fabulous Christmas in all history.

With the formal arrival of good Old St. Nick, whose eyes gleam this year with a merry, modern glint, and whose bag is filled to overflowing with myriad glorious surprises, a brilliant exposition of gifts goes on display in the city's stores.

Chief characteristics of the gifts giving picture for this wonderful year of peace and plenty, take their cue from the expanding interests in every member of the family in more gracious living, in more productive and pleasant use of leisure time, and from a world filled with opportunity for gaiety and entertainment.

Toysland Plays Grown-Up
Even Toysland — that wonderful universe of make believe for the children — moves more than ever this year, toward making it possible for youngsters to engage in their most popular of all pastimes which is playing at being grown-up.

While Davy Crockett is admittedly the man of the year in playland, the trend toward furnishing children with instructive toys that help them — "make-like mother" and "do as dad does" is vastly accelerated, obviously in response to youthful demand.

Visits to toysland this season will not only bring joyous anticipatory delight from children;

People Looking Ahead

As the curtain rises on the 1955 pre-Christmas shopping season, many foresighted men and women already are looking ahead to Christmas, 1956.

To make sure that they will have ample cash on hand for generous gifting, without touching their regular savings or running up burdensome bills, they are joining 1956 Christmas Clubs, now open for enrollments at the banks.

The Christmas Club idea, which is growing in popularity with each passing year, is as simple as A. B. C. and is readily adaptable to any person's plans, purposes and pocketbook.

Each Christmas Club member decides for himself how much he will put aside each week in his Club account, and enrolls accordingly. Ideally, this is an amount which easily can be budgeted out of earnings.

His weekly deposits, over a year's time, build up to a pre-fixed figure for which he receives a check from the bank in ample time for his 1956 gift shopping.

Thus, the Christmas Clubber knows in advance exactly how much money he'll have for holiday spending — and exactly when it's coming from.

they will equally intrigue parents who make sure their youngsters visit Santa early and often.

The scope of the gift giving picture for grown-ups ranges widely from the frivolous to the practical, all touched with the magic of modern design which lends glamour to even the most prosaic of practical items.

Yes, even kitchen gadgetry enters the picture in a big way as a source of stocking stuffers for women.

Fashion In Picture
Wearables for both men and women, and children too, rank high in the Christmas gift giving picture this year as fashion endows them with new attraction.

The growth of family life in this country puts new emphasis on gifts for the home, and the designers of home furnishings and furniture have met the challenge.

Appliances too have felt the touch of the skilled designer adding new beauty to their importance as labor saving devices for the modern home. While mother is the candidate for these important gifts, there are equally interesting ones for today's "do-it-yourself" dad from among the hand and power tools handsomely packaged for Christmas giving this year.

Television and radio sets, and fine new photographs, offered in newly styled cabinetry and with improved mechanisms, offer a wide range of major and also budget gift giving.

Hobbies Rate High
Folk's hobbies furnish limitless opportunities for presents that will please. The sports world is full of them. New advances in photography will be featured for the rank amateur as well as the more serious picture makers.

Never was the gift giving picture broader, or more enticing than it is this year, now that the practical as well as the frivolous, has been subjected to new beauty of design.

Everything indicates that more people are going to give more gifts, and more are going to get more gifts this year than ever before.

The Complete Program
The 1955 Christmas gift program for the family will not be complete unless every member gets at the least, something bright and new to wear, something gay with which to play, and something big and important for everyone so share.

HAPPY THE HANDYMAN
who gets an all-in-one power tool like this on Christmas morning. It's practically a complete power workshop in one compact unit.

SHE'S GETTING A BELT. Leather belts make a wonderful gift for any woman, suggests Leather Industries of America.

LEATHER JACKETS are gift-of answer to present problems. Shown, jacket of soft grain leather.

REMEMBER PETS
A rubber boona for Fido, some catnip for Tabby, should be under the tree for family pets. Don't leave them out of the fun.

PHONES THAT WORK
Inter-room communication is actually possible with toy phone system available for giving to children this year.

HANDYMAN'S GIFT
For that handyman who does your odd jobs, there's no doubt money would be most appreciated at Christmas time. But why not dress up the gift by putting it in an inexpensive, Yule wrapped wallet?

Wisconsin has 6,266 miles of railroad.

HANDICRAFT KITS
Kits designed to help children develop skill in weaving, sewing, fashioning wax into artistic shapes and other handicrafts, are plentiful in toysland this year.

GIVE VACUUM BOTTLES
A set of vacuum bottles in a carrying case is suggested as a gift for the motorist who likes to get an early start.

'Do-It-Yourself' Gifts Are Popular

Gifts for "do-it-yourselfers" loom large on the Christmas scene, this year. More and more men are joining the ranks of amateur handymen, till it now seems as if "every family has one."

Manufacturers have kept pace with this burgeoning movement by improving old tools and developing new ones—all with a view to making do-it-yourself projects easier, quicker, safer and a lot more fun.

Generally speaking, do-it-yourselfers come in three varieties: (1) the man who is just getting started (2) the "midstreamer" who has pretty well mastered the use of hand tools; (3) the "advanced" type who has graduated to power tools, and is still looking about for new fields to conquer.

Taking these different "varieties" in order, here are some practical gift suggestions.

First thing the beginner needs is a good set of basic hand tools. These include: (1) cross-cut saw; (2) wood chisel; (3) wood file; (4) awl for marking lines on wood or metal; (5) putty knife; (6) snips for metal cutting; (7) keyhole saw; (8) auger bits; (9) C-clamp; (10) try square; (11) whetstone; (12) claw hammer; (13) level; (14) light and heavy screw drivers; (15) brace; (16) slip-joint pliers; (17) bench plane; (18) tape measure; (19) adjustable wrench; (20) pipe wrench; (21) hatchet and (22) hacksaw.

Each member of the family may give one or more of the needed tools. Or all may get together on the complete set, in a handy metal chest or with a pegboard that designates a space for every tool.

For the "midstreamer" who already has about everything he needs in the way of hand tools, the next step up calls for power tools to broaden the scope of his activities.

A good start would be a portable electric drill bit including attachments for drilling holes, buffing, polishing, grinding, sanding, mixing paints etc.

These kits make the handyman's work about the house a thousand times easier, because he can take them to the spot where he is working... even out to the garage to polish the family car.

Another popular item is the portable power saw. It comes in light-weight but sturdy models, specially designed for the small builder, handyman and workshop hobbyist.

One of the most important developments in the do-it-yourself power tool field is the multi-purpose tool. Combining all basic operations into one unit, this tool can be used as a saw, disc sander, lathe, vertical drill press and horizontal drill.

It is especially practical where space is at a premium and a compact working set-up is essential.

Now we come to the "advanced type" of do-it-yourselfer, who already has what looks to you like a pretty complete line-up of power tools. He never has all the power tools he wants. As his skill increases, his horizons widen and his interest begins to soar in specialized professional-type power tools, such as lathe, radial saw, arbor saw, drill press, band saw, jointer, shaper, sander and grinder.

To successfully gift the "advanced type" do-it-yourselfer it is necessary (1) to know what tools he already has, and (2) to learn just what he needs and wants.

If you are in doubt about the matter most any hardware lumber or electric appliance dealer can help you make a wise selection, if you let him know what tools are on hand and the type of work toward which your do-it-yourself is trending.

FOR A MUSICAL CHRISTMAS THIS YEAR, radios and record players offer gift ideas for every member of the family. There are high fidelity phonographs for all, a new "slid-o-matic" attachment for sister, portable radios with non breakable case for junior, and modern style table radios for mother. These models from RCA represent just a portion of the many from which to choose.

More Subtle Lighting Effects Are In View

It used to be that the Yule spirit, when expressed through outdoor lighting of the home, shone from simple arrangements of varicolored brilliant gem like bulbs strung over shrubbery, doorways and along the edges of the roofs.

But trends are moving forward toward newer and more subtle effects as the increasing number of householders in this country, proud of their ingenuity, vie with each other in brightening the Christmas picture presented by their homes after dark.

One of the new trends is to supplement exterior decorations with various forms of floodlighting and spotlighting. Weather-proofed, 150 watt lamps have been developed for the purpose. Through use of filter caps, various moods and effects can be obtained to add charm to the outdoor Christmas scene.

For example, an ingenious householder can arrange his lights so that the shadow of a waving Santa can be cast upon an otherwise uninteresting garage door.

New also for this Christmas, is the ever commendable desire to brighten the season with effects different from last year, is the addition of a new color in bulbs. General Electric has brought out a "holiday pink" lamp, which is added to the red, green, blue, orange and white comprising the

Dolls Almost Human

The most exciting thing about many of the dolls that Santa Claus is featuring for Christmas giving this year, is that they can do just about everything that little girls can do.

They can sit, kneel, walk, drink, and cry. They can have their noses blown and they can survive countless baths and permanent waves.

And they can do even more, as Mrs. Alyce McKeeth, wife of a Grandview, Idaho, farmer has demonstrated in a manner that shows little girls how to have a lot more fun with them.

The new dolls, Mrs. McKeeth has discovered, also can play with each other. Thus they actually make it possible for "little mothers" to have "families" of their own, which they can "rear" during their play, learn why, on occasion, their own mothers have to be severe with them.

Mrs. McKeeth's contribution to the greater enjoyment little girls get out of their new dolls developed out of the fact that about a year ago she took up amateur photography. As she became more skilled at her hobby she was fascinated by the lifelike dolls in the stores.

She wrote to manufacturers of dolls for permission to photograph some of them in true to life poses. Ideal sent her samples of some of the newest. Among them were Posie, a 24 inch doll who got her name because of her ability to assume many natural poses. Another was Betsy Wetsy, a baby doll made for "action."

Mrs. McKeeth started "playing" with the dolls, making costumes for them and posing them in various attitudes "playing with each other." Her husband helped by designing and building doll furniture built to scale. In time she was ready to make her pictures.

Then she sent them to Ideal with a request for comment that was quick in coming. Her pictures caused a sensation in the offices of the doll manufacturer.

Whether dolls simulate "sister" washing or feeding a "baby brother," or two girls getting ready to go to bed, this year's crop of dolls are reported to be the most exciting in doll-making history.

And dolls will continue to get better, according to Benjamin F. Michtom of Ideal. Small Vinyl records now can be inserted in some to make them "talk." New skin for dolls feels real. Pinch one doll and she'll pucker her lips for a butterfly kiss.

Soon, according to Mr. Michtom, there may be electronic tape records inside plastic dolls so that they will be able to "hear" when dropped.

WINNING GIFT COMBINATION for Dad is a red and white checked shirt with matching handkerchief and smart black tie, figured in red. He is wearing another of his Christmas gifts; a cardinal red jacket with golden "good luck" emblem embroidered on breast pocket. All by Arrow.

Fashion Accessories Are Always Welcome

Always welcome, Christmas gifts chosen from among the many fashion accessories means many a change of costume and brightening of the wardrobe for the girl who is lucky enough to find them under her tree.

Colorful scarves, tie-on-collars, handbags, hankies, are among the many accessories all girls want more of, that have a special merit insofar as the gift giver is concerned. In none of these instances is it necessary for the gift giver to know the size.

It's all a matter of taste in choosing and you can't go wrong if your choices are from among plush little evening bags or luxurious little fur pieces, neither of which need strain the gift budget. You can be sure they will get a grand reception because they are glamorous and opulent.

Belts, hats, evening shrugs and gloves are sure fire hits. Here it is wise to know size, which can be learned easily by some deft questioning.

Choose a belt with jewel trim or of intricate cut, for good gifting.

Choose a head-hugging cap in knit or suede for smart winter.

ter warmth, with Santa's approval. Give her a jeweled or embroidered shrug or a stole for pretty coverage in a festive holiday mood. A glove duet including one pair of colorful knits and another of tailored leather, will warm the heart as well as the hands.

FASHION IN HIS POCKET You can add the crowning touch of style to a man's outfits with a set of colored-keyed woven handkerchiefs. Match colors with his shirt colors.

JUST WHAT DAD NEEDS for Christmas: leather wallet, capacious but not bulky, and leather trimmed elasticized belt in the newest color: coffee.

D. Crockett Is Man Of Year

In Toyland the man of the year is a Tennessean who died 119 years ago defending the Republic of Texas.

The tall hunter came to life again early this year when the younger generation sat before their television screens and watched his adventures with Indians, bears, regular soldiers and frontiersmen.

The Toy Manufacturers of the U. S. A., have been busy ever since making rifles and fringed jackets, coonkin caps and flintlock pistols, model frontier forts, guitars, dolls and games bearing the name of Davy Crockett.

The new hero has taken his place in the hearts of America's youngsters. They don't love their familiar Western favorites any the less, they've just added the newcomer to the legendary band.

Ready For Christmas Frontier life, whether in Tennessee, Texas, Oklahoma or Wyoming fascinates today's boys and girls. Once they've made the acquaintance of a hero of the past, nothing will do but that they copy his clothes, tote his guns, read books and play games about him.

Girls must have dolls that look like him.

This Christmas parents will make their selections for the young woodsman or cowboy from the most interesting collection of high quality games, dolls, clothes and non-ethal guns ever presented.

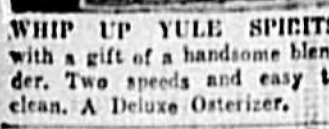

And of course the junior frontier has to have its Indians. For the young brave there are very authentic war bonnets, suits with two-color Indian designs, rubber tomahawks, bow and arrow sets.

The young squaw, decked out in her fringed costume, can sit in her wigwam and make moccasins and beaded belts from craft kits.

Both cowboys and Indians have guns and Santa has plenty of safe, authentic looking rifles, pistols and revolvers. He has forts from which mock battles can be waged and frontier stage coaches which youngsters can put together.

Music In Picture There was music on yesterday's frontier and there is music on today's. Even the smallest Indian can have a tom-tom or rattle. And the young cowboy, after a hard day of ropin' and brandin' can while away the evening—until mother calls—playing his guitar.

Who says America's frontier days are in the past? Certainly not the younger generation.

EFFICIENT MEAL MAKER would be the gift of an electric reaster-oven that can do everything. By Westinghouse.

PRACTICAL GIFT in aid of hair care, a steam heated electric hair dryer. It's Oster's Airjet.

DESIGNED TO HELP A LADY with leg grooming is this electric shaver, in gift package using Lame metallic yarn. Remington-Duchess Shaver.

Thoughtful Guests Those Who Bring Gift For Hostesses

Thoughtful guests at a Christmas dinner or party will arrive bearing gifts for the lady of the house. This is not only a pleasant and courteous thing to do, but it's also extremely easy. Stores everywhere are brimming with a host of gifts for the hostess.

Since the giver knows in advance that the gift she likes to entertain, the selection can be guided by this knowledge. High on the list of desirable hostess gifts are items that help to enhance hospitality the year around.

She'll welcome gifts to use in kitchen, living or dining room when she welcomes guests. Canape trays, fruit and cheese knives, snack trays and relish dishes are among the many possibilities in this category.

Unusual Gift Amuses

An amusing gift for the hostess who likes the unusual is a wooden dachshund with holes in its back which serve as holders for looth-picks. Olives, anchovies wrapped in bacon, tiny frankfurters and other cocktail delicacies can be placed on the picks, and the up-curling tail of the dachshund makes a handy holder for pretzels.

Glasses come in racks that make an attractive display. One such set consists of a brass-finished rack with eight frosted glasses, decorated with coin dots, and four matching dip bowls.

Individual carafes mounted on a wrought iron base above a candle keep the coffee warm and please the hostess. Also available are large or serving-size casseroles with their own candle-warmers.

For a very special hostess, a silver chafing dish is valued greatly and used often.

Another extra-special present at a comparatively low cost, is a barbecue. Portable charcoal barbecues may be purchased in a convenient size for indoor as well as outdoor cooking.

Other areas of the home, as well as the living and dining rooms, spark gifted ideas for the hostess. Towels for the kitchen are now so glamorous she'll hope for help with the dishes so she can show them off. Typical is a set of glass towels with vivid designs created by famous American painters.

Designs Are Varied

Corkscrews and bottle openers come in a variety of unique designs that make good conversation pieces as well as serving a useful purpose.

Sets of matched kitchen knives, steak knives, carving knives or a carving board are other gift suggestions.

Inexpensive kitchen gifts can be glamorized with a little time and imagination. For example, containers for frozen food can be packed with anything from cookies to cartons of gourmet cheeses, and dressed up with unusual wrappings.

If the choice is a boudoir gift, variety is offered. She'll appreciate a dressing table set with a sparkling array of cut-glass bottles or attractive drawers arranged in plastic or quilted satin, to hold her cosmetics, gloves or hose.

PRESENT WITH A BRILLIANT FUTURE would be a fashionable cocktail jacket hinting of parties to come. Here's one of midnight black suede accented by lots of glitter. It's treated to resist stains.

Trend Is Focusing On Gifts For Home

Gift giving that takes its inspiration from the immense satisfaction folks are deriving out of their new dedication to more gracious living, are rising to a new peak of importance for this Christmas.

The trend sharply focuses attention on things for the home, which, though they may be designated for the special pleasure of mom, or dad, or one of the children, are really shared by the whole family.

These things embrace the broad categories provisionally termed furniture home furnishings, major appliances and even housewares, among which will be found the simple and inexpensive gadgets which also play important roles in making the home more livable.

Santa's a Family Man

The trend revolves itself out of the fact that Christmas is a family affair, this year, more than ever before, and Santa, being a family man, is lending his help toward making it increasingly so.

Countless numbers of families this year will pool their Christmas thinking and their Christmas funds, with a view to making gifts from the family to the family—complete new living room suites, for example, or perhaps just a new sofa, or even a piano or one of the new home organs.

Countless numbers of husbands and wives, will join to give gifts of new bedroom furniture to children who have out-grown their infancy. Countless families will merge their plans for dad into purchase of a handsome new comfortable chair, and their plans for mother into acquisition for her of that new cocktail table, or serving cart which she has cherished for so long.

Lamps, end tables, bookcases, desks, all fall into the range of giving gifts inspired by thoughts of the home.

One rule that should prevail in choosing furniture and furnishings for gift giving is basic of course, on the principle that the choice must blend with the decor of the home. Women know this well. Men choosing on their own, will get the guidance they need from the home decoration experts in the stores where they will shop.

New Color And Beauty

This principle prevails also with respect to major appliances for the kitchen, and even the gadgetry for mother who presides over these areas of the home, no doubt has worked out a color scheme that she will want to preserve.

Fortunately the designers of even the most prosaic things for the home have endowed them with new color and beauty from which appropriate choices may be made.

The range of gifts for the home, or for the individual to use in the home, is broad. Thinking in terms of individual members of the family inspiration comes quickly.

Dad might like a "bar" cart, adaptable for use outdoors as well as indoors.

Highly decorative chairs of various convenient sizes, with and without swivels, designed for comfortable viewing of television, offers gift choices for any member of the family.

A table type sewing cabinet with provision for a sewing machine would make a good gift for mother. Stack tables, end tables and hassocks, are always welcome gifts for women.

YOU CAN'T MISS

If in doubt about what to give a man, a gift certificate on his favorite men's wear, shoe, sporting goods, "do-it-yourself" or hobby store will give him exactly what he wants at exactly what you want to spend.

Creative Toys Taking Spotlight This Season

Toyland Resembles Supermart

This Christmas Toyland will resemble a supermarket with counters piled high with real miniatures of famous brands of canned and packaged foods and home maintenance aids.

Fun with food toys are a dominant trend in the new showings of how-to-do-it kits. Boys as well as girls are fascinated by chef activities involving full scale meal preparation, from soup to dessert with emphasis on well balanced nutritious menus, according to Toy Guidance Council.

Encouraged by letters from parents reporting improved eating habits evidenced by small fry who acquire chef skills, toy designers this season have come up with a bevy of new culinary adventures, slanted to the playroom set, including casserole cookery, meat sauces, bean soup combinations, as well as baking with mixes, short cut candy making and gelatin dessert projects.

Newest in the fun with food category is a how-to-do-it kit catering to junior frontiersmen. This Campbell Kids Chuck Wagon Set includes cans of real pork and beans, spaghetti and condensed soups, a campfire style pot and a set of outdoor eating equipment.

There's a record of cowboy songs to provide appropriate home on the range atmosphere. A cartoon style cookbook featuring Wild West recipes accompanies the kit. Paw Wow Chow, for example, is an easy-do combination of spaghetti.

Dad's espousal of backyard barbecue responsibilities has inspired a junior chef barbecue version of cardboard with 22 pieces of equipment, including chef's hat and apron, outdoor cooking utensils and a collection of chops, hot dogs and hamburgers (stard-board).

Miniature brands of famous brand cookie, cake and dessert kits, are featured in the toyland supermarket.

Parents will be glad to hear that the young generation of rooking hobbyists find equal glamour in lacking cleaning up chores.

Favorite new cleaning toys include a Plac-Vac with a battery powered motor that catches crumbs efficiently and an electric broom. Famous brand detergents are included in dish washing sets. Laundering devices, too, are getting a featured spot in the toys to help home maintenance sector.

TOY TRAIN FANS

Research by toy train makers reveals that if a lad continues his interest in trains to the age of 18, he's a fan for life.

Toys that develop creative skills and provide basic training for dozens of peacetime careers as well as all phases of home maintenance take the spotlight in Santa's record breaking billion dollar toy pack this year, according to Mel Freud, president of the Toy Guidance Council.

Frontier life takes the lead in imaginative play with both cow-boys and cowboys' enthusiasm for Wild West regalia sparking more than $50,000,000 in sales, Mr. Freud estimates.

High incidence of famous American brand names in kits featuring real food and household products and equipment is another major trend that argues well for free enterprise.

Toyland, 1955 style, provides record breaking play values, too, keyed to developing juvenile aptitudes and encouraging creative achievements, Mr. Freud said.

Prices are about the same as last year with many classic favorites redesigned to provide extra facets for creative purposeful play. New how-to-do projects featured among toys chosen as outstanding in their class by panels of educators, relatives, wholesalers and consumers are community planning construction kits geared to the ability of every age group from toddler up, Toy Guidance Council reports.

Girls Show Enthusiasm

Girls show as much enthusiasm as boys for assembling model civic centers, including schools, bus stations, police stations, post offices, etc. A plastic block building set with prefabricated windows and doors that open and shut, transparent jalousie blinds are typical of the authentic detail that's featured in 1955's playroom style housing developments.

New in the handicraft category that yields useful dividends in household gifts is a rhinestone setting kit with tools and instructions for decorating fabrics with jeweled effects inspired by the up to the minute fashion.

The latest in career training for junior entrepreneurs include supermarkets complete with checkout set tips, miniature models equipment for business and a soda fountain in operation with real mixer and famous brand stock.

Junior grade garage mechanics can try their hand on changing a dent on a miniature car. Even the fire engine has joined the line changing repair category arising under the Christmas tree this year with a ratchet jack. A moving truck has a dolly with retractable wheels.

Newest thrill for highway engineers is an aerial sand loader which scoops up sand, conveys it to a hopper from which it is loaded on a dump truck.

Insulated Stoves

For playroom chefs there are fiberglass insulated stoves, real barbecue equipment and a variety of kits stocked with famous brands of soup, pork and beans, spaghetti, mixes, etc.

Electronics have made possible an intriguing new switchboard that gives the operator a chance to manipulate four truck lines, and an air raid siren, too. There's a loud speaker truck and an electronic Junior Pilot Trainer with a radio beam that follows the basic training real pilots undergo.

The junior contingent will be able to play every instrument in the band. Miracles of modern plastics have made possible true tone replicas of everything from the big golden tuba to the guitar. New thrills is a deluxe piano accordion with 32 hand tuned brass reeds.

Two bulwarks of traditional play, the top and the Irish Mail, have yielded this year to the influence of jet propulsion. The Saturna Gyro-scope Top, Toy Guidance Council reports, is made of super impact plastic. The 1955 model top is precision built with ball bearings and "fluid sand" weighted rotor.

This Top of Tomorrow will spin or bounce at any angle, even on the point of a pencil.

The new jet ride "Irish Mail" provides increased leverage for young rulers. It's streamlined for speed and boasts an adjustable basket seat and heavy duty pneumatic tires.

Sportscars Popular

Sportscars are riding a wave of popularity in the nation's playrooms as well as on the highways. A favorite for how-to-do play in the educator approved toys for 1955 is a Jaguar sportscar kit with precision parts for building a true scale 17 1/2 inch model with steerable front wheel and pneumatic tires. Toy Guidance Council reports.

GIVE HIM A BELT

Belts for business and sports wear make very acceptable gifts. Fine leathers, either solid or braided, colorful elastic and silk are included among the new belts, some of which can be bought with initial buckles.

FOR MEN WHO CARVE

When your man carries the Sunday dinner, he'll appreciate a new carving set or having one of the new electric knife sharpeners to keep his favorite blade.

ALL HANDS APPLAUD a gift of gloves. Shown above, hand-sewn "shortie" with double cuff, in doeskin-like fabric.

Super-Sheer Nylons Make Sure-Winner Gift For 'Missus'

Smart Santas will get a toe-hold on Christmas cheer when they give stockings to the fair sex.

A box of super-sheer nylons combines flattery with luxury in making a sure-winner gift.

Be sure, of course, to take height into consideration and choose short, medium or long lengths in your lady's size. If you know her shoe size, the sales-lady's chart will determine her stocking size.

For the gifter who likes novelty and the unexpected, there is a raft of hosiery news. Knee-length stocking, for instance, are gaining popularity in all quarters and will please younger women in any of the argyle, striped or textured patterns you choose.

Stretch stockings solve the size problem with small, medium and large models that eliminate the necessity of more precise knowledge.

FISH FINDERS, specially designed for fishermen, are thermometer guides to where they are biting.

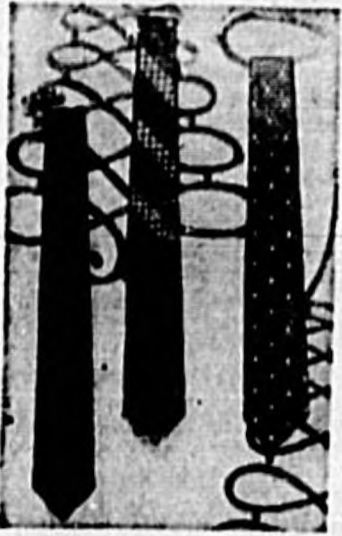

CHRISTMAS IS INDEED A FAMILY AFFAIR, with wide-eyed youngsters smiling their happiness at what mother and dad and Santa have wrought for them. Here's a picture of happiness that can be duplicated in every home, and made permanent on film for a cherished record in later years.

Some Men Like Do-It-Yourself Duds

Do-It-Yourself Duds offer interesting gift possibilities for the home handyman. They are usually made of durable, washable denim or twill specially designed to put a man at ease for after hours work.

In addition to being the type of clothes that will save wear and tear on his sports apparel, they're so fashionably tailored they serve a dozen other leisure wear needs. They include pants, shirts, jackets, even shorts, caps and overalls.

TIE-UP CHRISTMAS for a man with neckwear he'll be proud to wear, like these three beauties: widely spaced designs, stripes, geometric patterns. By Van Heusen.

GOOD TIME FOR TWO IS ASSURED when Christmas gifts are matching watches. It's the perfect way to gift a couple or for a couple to gift each other, how here are new designs done in brilliant yellow gold, "Viscount" for him and "Viscountess" for her by Hamilton.

FOR DAD, MANY GIFTS from every member of the family and a new robe he'll proudly don for leisurely luxury. By Rabbo.

Good Christmas Gift Is Sleepwear

Sleepwear that's both warm and glamorous is newly available for Christmas gifting. In winter-weight fabrics such as rayon challis, dress length and short gowns, knicker pajamas and short robes have been styled for added femininity as well as softness and comfort.

Ruffle yokes, shirred bodices satin sashes and satin piping at necklines are among the glamour touches that have been added to winter warmers. Whatever style or fabric is chosen, cozy sleepwear is sure to be warmly appreciated gift.

MUSIC AND MAKE-UP wherever she goes is made possible with this vanity portable gift radio. By Philco.

FOOT COMFORT, BEAUTY FOR ALL this Christmas finds Santa recommending casuals as well as slippers. Grouping upper left, for the kiddies includes slippers, scuffs, moccasins by Honeybug. Lower left, casuals for dad by Flossheim and slippers by Daniel Green. Right grouping, "at home luxury" for mother, pumps, scuffs, moccasins reflecting newest fashion influences; by Sandler, and Daniel Green.

HOME GIFTS PRACTICAL Gifts planned to make the home more livable, whether given to the family or the individual, are practical gifts that go on giving for a long long time.

COLORFUL GIFTS Leather chairs or sofas, beautiful gifts for the home, are now available in more than 400 different colors.

Present Of Beauty Remains Long Time

A gift of beauty is a joy that remains long after the tinsel and wrapping paper have been stored away. Meaningful beauty gifts contribute to a way of life and a way of looking.

Take, for example, the basic cosmetics. A beautifully wrapped gift of lipstick, rouge, face powder, foundation and eye make-up in a fashion shade keyed to your giftee's coloring is sure to make her prettier than ever.

The perfectly matched set will encourage her to take pride in tasteful application and to be well-groomed always.

A complete fragrance wardrobe is another way to make Christmas just the beginning of a lovelier life.

Select the fragrance most appropriate for the lady's personality and activities and give her a set that might include perfume, cologne, dusting powder, sachets, bath oil and scented soap.

Any of all of these prettily packaged gifts will not only embellish her dressing table, but will carry out her fragrance "type" through all her activities.

Look Ahead To Christmas

Look ahead to Christmas-time! Good friends, good will, good cheer. With gifts for all, both great and small, Holly wreaths to deck the hall. And many a carefree Christmas call. To greet your near and dear.

Look ahead to Christmas-time. When Santa mounts his sleigh. To keep his date, in every state. A flurry as he won't be late. While the children of all ages wait. To meet the gala day.

Look ahead to Christmas-time. With promises to keep: The tree to trim on every limb. Stockings to fill up to the brim. While the children sweetly dream of him. Who visits while they sleep.

Look ahead to Christmas-time. With laughter in the air: The church bells ring all echoing. The carollers who blithely sing. . . and the heart is home, remembering Christmas, a family affair. —R. A. R.

FUTURE HOME BUILDER The future home builder may get his inspiration for a career from assembling a house or even a village from among the wooden or plastic house-building sets in Santa's pack for this year.

SCATTERED PLEASURE A group of gaily colored and interestingly shaped scattered rice make a happy and useful gift for the lady of the house.

MAKE APPOINTMENTS EARLY with your favorite portrait photographer for the most intimate gift of all to loved ones — a picture of yourself.

YES, DOLLS CAN NOW PLAY WITH EACH OTHER, as Mrs. Alyce L. McKeith, amateur photographer and wife of an Idaho farmer, proves with pictures. Shown above, "Popie" is giving "Betsey Wetsy" a bath. Both are Ideal dolls.

'Play His Game' When Picking Man's Present

Gadgets Can Help Make Big Success

Christmas comes into the kitchen this year with a wealth of handy, practical, colorfully designed and inexpensive gadgets that can help make a huge success of minor gift giving to feminine friends and relatives.

A shopping expedition to any housewares department proves the glamor of such once humble necessities as can openers and potato slicers. Nowadays, these and other cooking tools have become colorful and streamlined, lending a decorative note to the kitchen.

With a wide array of low-priced gadgets to choose from the "kitchen gift" need be limited only by the giver's imagination. One idea is to select several items, such as a plate scraper, wooden spoon, cheese cutter or cake server, and wrap them separately in stocking stuffers.

Kitchen gadgets can also be used as a kitchen bonus when wrapping packages. In addition to the gift in the package, tie a ceramic-handled fruit knife, a gleaming metal nut cracker or a shining aluminum ice cream scoop into the bow as a wrapping ornament.

For the ambitious Santa who wants to make a real production of a gift of kitchen tools, package a group. Here, all the gadgets go into a basket and the basket itself is useful, because it's a dish drainer.

Other unusual ways to package a large assortment of gadget gifts is to place them in a new plastic or metal wastebasket for the kitchen, or wrap them in a plastic tablecloth.

Before selecting kitchen gifts, it pays to do a little research on the giftee's kitchen needs and color scheme.

Choosing Gifts For 'Her' Will Be Easy Task

What every woman knows and every man will quickly discover, is that choosing intimately personal gifts for "her" this Christmas is going to be the easiest and most enjoyable task in years.

Santa and the folks of the fashion world have completed an alliance that makes it possible to select a kitchen apron on the one hand and a cocktail jacket on the other, and be sure that they will both bring squeals of delight from the woman who receives them.

GLAMOROUS GIFTS
Now every gift for her personal pleasure can be laden with glamor and be immensely practical, too.

As a matter of fact, one gift for her isn't enough. The wise man at Christmas will make her Yuletide perfect with many presents. Some of them can be small and inexpensive.

A brightly "jeweled" collar, for example, has the festive frivolity that's dear to her feminine heart, yet the cost is little and the usefulness great. She'll wear the collar — and other gifts such as a filmy scarf, a lacy handkerchief, a pretty belt — to make those quick costume changes that add variety to her wardrobe.

Gifts Have Sparkle
Bright Christmas packaging lends a very special air to cosmetics gifts. In line with fashion's preference for the golden touch, there's glitter and sparkle in the manufacturers' packaging of many cosmetic items this year. All Santa needs is a clue to her color preferences in make-up, and cosmetic gifts are certain to be as festive as they are welcome.

In these days of TV-viewing and home entertaining, any woman will appreciate gifts that help her to be a more attractive hostess. Glamorous robes, hatless aprons, tunic tops and tapered trousers, evening sweaters and colorful skirts, in tulle, velvet, satin and other opulent fabrics, are among the many possibilities.

For the young girl and the young-hearted woman fashion has a wealth of gifted ideas. There are storm coats, lined in fur or fleece, party skirts, sporty plaid shirts, pointed gloves and, to wear with little skirts or Bermuda shorts, knee-high socks adorned with "jewel" trim or brightly-colored pompons.

Now the shelves are supplied with boxes — for storage, flat-folded clothes and hats. Many are covered with quilted fabric, others with smooth plastic. A goodly number of covered hangers to match and one or two extra-wide suit hangers take care of clothing.

On the closet floor go metal racks for shoes unless Santa chooses a shoe bag to hang from door or wall.

"Play his game," when it comes to choosing something for the man, is sure the advice for successful Christmas giving. And you can bank on it that every man has his game, whether as a participant or as an agent if somewhat solitary fan.

That fellow who lives, breathes and shouts about baseball without hardly ever swinging a bat himself, for example, also falls into that category of the males called sportsmen, just as surely as does the golfer, the fisherman or the tennis enthusiast.

And don't think for a minute that he wouldn't be pleased with, say a book on the History of Baseball, or a pair of field glasses with which to catch a close-up view of a crucial play.

Always Something Better
True, it is much easier to find a gift for the participant sportsman chiefly because there is always some new gadget being developed to help his game — as in the instance of the golf bag carts which save him a lot of energy when no caddy is available and particularly because no matter what equipment he may now possess, more or better things are always what he wants.

A new set of matched clubs for the golfer, a handsome new and lighter weight, pleated bag, are wonderful gifts for the linkerman. Sweaters, sports shirts, shirts, caps, also are welcome always. And a dozen gaily packaged golf balls will send him into raptures on Christmas day.

CHRISTMAS EVE IS THE MOST POPULAR TIME to slip the diamond on her finger. Statisticians confirm what every woman knows, shown here, the dream diamond of every lovely lady: a two-carat round brilliant with tapered baguettes on either side.

Reach out among your candidates for Christmas gifts this year and you can hardly miss touching a fisherman. This sport has grown tremendously in popularity. Even women have taken it up in greater and greater numbers.

For the angler there are all sorts of new gadgets and gear among which there are the new fresh and salt water spinning reels. New rods, lures and flies flow into the market constantly. Tackle boxes, creels, landing nets, wading boots, fishing jackets, hats and other items sports good store folk will suggest, swell the opportunities for appropriate gifts.

Hunt for the Hunter
The hunter will welcome a new hunting jacket, a shell and game vest, cap, pair of boots, a gun cleaning outfit, hunting knife or several boxes of his favorite shells, as well as all sorts of camping gear, from a compass to a sleeping bag and from a tent to a portable cook stove.

For the winter sports enthusiast, there are skis, snow shoes, skates, goggles, ski suits and boots and all manner of warm tags.

Water sports have gained rapidly in popularity lately with particular emphasis on water skiing and "skin diving." For the latter, there are goggles, masks, fins, spears and even underwater breathing apparatus.

On the indoor side, bowling claims more adherents than any other sport. And what bowler wouldn't like to have his own individual bowling ball, complete with carrying case? There are one and two-handed shoes and shirts that do their part to boost scores.

Think of the Girls
Don't neglect the distaff side of the sports scene in choosing Christmas gifts. Women are becoming active sports participants in ever-increasing numbers. They play golf and tennis, they ski fish and bowl, even go along on hunting expeditions. Many are becoming active sports participants in ever-increasing numbers. LUXURY IS THE GIFT FOR THE MAN who receives a handsome new lounge robe like this on Christmas morning. Made of soft wool flannel in dark green with gold piping, it provides warm, smart looking attire for relaxing at home on a wintry evening.

This Year's Christmas Games Will Include Little Ones Too

This Christmas the four to six year old contingent will be counted in on the fun of playing games, along with their elder brothers and sisters.

There's a strong trend in games that adapt competitive family fun over board games to fit the limitations of the kindergarten crowd, catering to the recreational needs of the increasing number of families with three and four children.

Annie Oakley, for example, makes competitive family fun out of Wild West adventures, slanted to a four to 12 age group. Candyland, another favorite for family fun that gives the kindergarten crowd a chance to play instead of kibitzing, bases moves on color. Chuggedy Chug, an ingenious new board game, keys competition to maneuvering locomotives to a round house which revolves just like the real ones.

New game offerings give a big assist to the school set, too. Typical of the trend to make acquisition of knowledge a by-product of competitive fun is Go to the Head of the Class, a quiz game played at three levels of difficulty, so that all the family participates in brain teasing competition.

There's a strong revival of interest noted in high finance games. Easy Money, for example, bases competition on sharp speculative practices in trading real estate. There are new games based on stock market gyrations and one that ties into the uranium seeking fever, providing players with miniature geiger counters. Family concern with current events is catered to with new-ester Swayze's board game based on international time clocks and keyed to the news of the hour.

Traffic safety has inspired a number of new games. Drive-Yourself, for example, bases play on a moving highway, provides players with a real steering wheel which maneuvers a car, a horn and a set of proper road rules.

All kinds of real life situations are in top favor for board game fun. There's a Campbell Kids Shopping Game, for example, that involves the problems of parking and filling the grocery list.

GIVE GADGET BAG
Advanced amateur photographers are frequently as anxious to acquire a new gadget bag as the average woman is anxious to acquire a new handbag. This is a Christmas gift suggestion.

CASTLE OF CARDS
Blotted packs of cards have come into vogue to make a reality of the castle of legend. Only the one built from these cards is a little more difficult to topple.

Men's Changing Fashions Offers Good Opportunity

Changing fashions in men's wear make wonderful opportunities for bringing that man of yours up to date style wise, this Christmas, with the gift of a new coat for casual wear. These include short length outer garments for winter warmth or driving comfort, extremely light weight leisure jackets for lounging about, as well as the traditional sports coat.

Newest style in sports coats is the garment with natural shoulder and modified, raglan sleeve. It has charcoal brown and black stripes and a brown velvet half-collar, four-button closing and slant pockets.

Another coat that is growing rapidly in favor is the blazer, now recalled from its gay nineties days, modernized and set back on the road to popularity. A new version in navy wool flannel with lighter blue piping.

The haching jacket, worn by heronmen for many years, has been adapted for sport coat wearers, retaining the slanted pockets and double vents.

In other wear, men like the new short length coat usually called "suburban coat." A cross between a topcoat and a sport coat, the suburban combines, the reliable warmth of wool with a convenient length that comes to slightly below the hips.

Other short outer coats are the "utility" and the mackinaw. The utility coat can be anywhere from waist to hip length. It's made of lightweight, but warm wool fabrics and is especially suited to driving or spectator sports.

Another new short coat is the wool fleece spectator coat, a single-breasted coat with patch pockets and tabbed sleeves.

FITTED FOR GIVING
Nylon stockings make an unusual as well as a popular present when the choice is the new stretch nylon. Available in dress sheers or daytime casuals, these stretch to "custom fit" any leg size.

Experts say that between 1 and 2 per cent of the population is mentally retarded.

Drab Closet Can Be Changed To Clothing Palace

Santa waves a magic wand and presto! He changes a humdrum closet into a magic sleeve of enchantment.

How does he perform this marvelous feat? With the aid of gift of beautiful closet accessories, calculated to transform the most uninteresting of rooms into a delight to the eye and a mighty handy place to hang one's clothes.

A complete change from drab closet to clothing palace requires new usage of shelves, hanging racks and floor space. When Santa wants to go "whole hog", he brings accessories for top to bottom dressing up.

"Pick a color, almost any color" is a start for Mr. Claus. For a man's closet, he'll take neutrals or sport patterns. The lady may get a flowered design or soft solid colors and the children get their favorite nursery patterns.

Now the shelves are supplied with boxes — for storage, flat-folded clothes and hats. Many are covered with quilted fabric, others with smooth plastic. A goodly number of covered hangers to match and one or two extra-wide suit hangers take care of clothing.

On the closet floor go metal racks for shoes unless Santa chooses a shoe bag to hang from door or wall.

DECORATED TO HIS TASTE this tree bearing a gift bounty in furnishings and accessories: wool jersey tie, socks, muffler (at left) in plaid and (at right) in handwoven brocade.

THERE'S ELEGANCE ON HAND for Christmas when gloves are the gift selection. Leather gloves that are easily washable bring added joy this season. Above, jeweled pull-on in Launder Leather glove kid with leather piping.

Why Not Buy Him Hat For Present

Since the average man needs a new hat months before he'll actually go out and buy one for himself, there's a wonderful opportunity to surprise him at Christmas time with a useful and fashionable gift.

New hats for men follow the dominant trends in men's clothing. They come in smaller shapes and darker tones. The narrower brims and tapered crowns now so fashionable, are more becoming to most men than any style in recent years.

If there is any doubt about size, color or style, the gift giver need risk taking no chances. Gift certificates for the man's hat, available in all stores, will do the trick.

Hat gift certificates in many instances actually furnish the giver an opportunity to give two gifts in one. Usually the miniature hat box or hat that serves over the long term as dresser boxes, ash trays or other useful accessories. And in addition, they're usually small enough so that they may be hung on a Christmas tree.

FOR THE BRIDE

Breakfast sets of table and chairs are good gift choices especially for the newlyweds.

"DRIVE-UR-SELF" is an exciting new traffic safety game that makes competitive fun of practicing how to handle an automobile, says Toy Guidance Council. By Northwestern.

MAKING LIKE MOTHER AT HOME is now possible for little sister with complete practice cooking sets that will keep her fascinated. This one is fitted with real Betty Crocker mixers, frostings and biscuit powder, in addition to utensils, by Ideal.

Gift Shop Early

To make this the merriest Christmas ever for everybody—including yourself—do your gift shopping EARLY!

Whether your Christmas list is long or short, whether you intend to spend much or little, the sooner you start your shopping, the better your chances of getting those gifts that will win "just-what-I-wanted" grins on Christmas morning.

The thought and care you devote to achieving the "perfect match" of present with person values far beyond its price. Such happy selections are never the product of last-minute catch-as-catch-can shopping. They take time.

Right now, this very minute, you can start your Christmas gift shopping in a way that will save you much time and effort.

By carefully scanning this special section, you can actually preview the whole exciting world of gifts—practical and sentimental—glamorous and useful—simple and lavish—that await your selection.

Then tomorrow, bright and early, fare forth to the stores to see their exciting displays of gifts. You can choose now from selections that are at their very peak.

Lay-away plans offered by many stores make it possible for you to do a lot of early gift shopping on very little cash. You can pick a gift, put a small deposit on it, and the store will hold it for you "til just before Christmas."

"Lay away a gift a day" is a good rule to follow, whether you take advantage of the stores' "lay-away" plans or tuck your gifts away in a secret hiding place of your own, at home.

Either way, you'll be able to sit back and smile at the milling crowds that will jam the stores later on.

Your shopping will all have been done, wisely and well. Your foresight will be richly rewarded by the satisfying knowledge that no one is forgotten, everyone is remembered with a gift that reflects the thoughtfulness of a careful, unhurried selection.

The Panama Canal runs north and south instead of east and west as is often popularly supposed.

"LET'S PLAY SAFE" is a game made up of traffic markers that tells its own gift story. It's by XX-Acto. The passing hydraulic dump truck is a Buddy L.

Personalized Gifts Will Make Merry Christmas For Her

The most thoughtful gifts of all are those that are "hers alone." Initialed or monogrammed gifts offer that "extra something" and show how much Santa wanted to please her.

So many types of gifts can be personalized. Leather belts and handbags take handsome metal initials. Even gloves may have an embroidered name or initial. Woolen gloves offer a monogram-it-yourself opportunity. Leather and fabric gloves often wear tabs for a pendant letter.

Collars, sweaters, and blouses take embroidered or applied monograms in a discreet corner or on a pocket flap.

Costume jewelry, sport hats, lingerie—so many fashions!—offer a vast field for individualized gifting. And furs, especially, should be personalized for protection as well as pleasure.

Be sure to order your monogramming several weeks in advance of Christmas. Make it a personally merry Christmas for all the ladies on your roster.

Please Don't Forget Shut-Ins Christmas

Don't forget the shut-ins at Christmas time. For the friend or relative confined to the hospital or at home, flowers for the Yule are a must. Doctors proclaim them great morale boosters.

A plant, particularly a poinsettia, which the invalid may be able to take care of and observe from day to day, would be a good seasonal choice. Floral arrangements are acceptable in the sick room and are in good taste.

MORE ATTRACTIVE GIFTS
Gilded pine cones, a spray of mistletoe or bright Christmas tree balls added to gift wrappings make packages look more attractive.

FOR MORE SPACE
Storage units, now handsomely enough designed to take a place in living rooms, offer gift opportunities this Christmas.

Buying Slippers Is Christmas Tradition Here

Buying slippers for Dad or Mother, or the children, or a friend, is a time-honored Christmas tradition, but this year smart shoppers are going a step further by including a pair of fashionably new casuals among their gifts.

The reasons are clear. For the first time in nearly a generation, men's footwear has been radically restyled, with the result that casual shoes most assuredly enter the gift category. This applies to boys, too.

And as for the feminine side of the family, it is even simpler to find the gay and glamorous "at home" shoes that will bring squeals of pleasure from the girls.

Soft suede in delicate colors, smooth and crushed grain leathers, glittering silver and gold leathers, all have been worked into luxurious glamor shoes for wear while hostessing, viewing T-V or just lounging around.

Although normally you might never think of buying father a pair of shoes as a gift, the new loafers will strike you as perfect as a present for him. So will the new low cut, one and two eyelet models done in leathers soft to the touch, available in myriad colors such as bamboo, smoke, and of course black.

CHRISTMAS IS IN THE BAG! Handsome suede and smooth leather handbags in shape for the Santa-season are grouped here. Suede pouch and calf classic by Rosenfeld; buckled-strap pouch and slim leather bag with "fake" buttons by Coronet. Suggested by Leather Industries of America.

There are literally hundreds of different styles of leather bedroom slippers to choose gifts from for all members of the family. They range from soft leather scuffs and mules for Mother and the teen-agers to the more conventional leather opera slippers for Dad. Or the warm-as-toast slippers lined in genuine wool shearing for all members of the family.

Shearing, if you don't know is the soft underwool of the sheep or lamb, which has been left on the leather as it is tanned, and results in the warmest, most comfortable cold weather footwear this side of the North Pole.

Get Dad Lounging Robe In Colors

What would Christmas be without a gift of a new lounging robe for dad? Chances are, with his old one frayed and worn from long and happy use, he's surely counting on someone giving him a robe this year.

Smartly styled new chesterfield models are being shown in wool for this Christmas, some in bound-stitch checks with half collar of velvet, which is in harmony with new men's wear styling. Others are in solid colors with contrasting welting.

MATCHES FOR HOSTESS
Monogrammed pads of matches for the hostess to use at her parties, would be a welcome gift. Order them early from your favorite smoke shop or department store.

FOR TEEN AGER
A dressing table for sister is a natural gift for the gal who has grown into her teens.

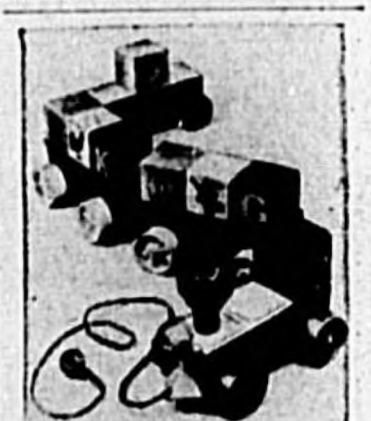

Boom In Interest Of Indoor Sports Leads To Ideas

There's a boom in family interest in all types of indoor versions of outdoor sports which makes way for more interesting gift ideas. Ice hockey gets a realistic board game version in a new Poosh-M-Up Ice Hockey game which permits parlor sportsmen to manipulate players and pucks in a highly realistic manner.

Sluggo, a new baseball bagatelle game gives players control of batting.

Basket is a new table version of basketball that captures much of the thrill and excitement of the original game. Miniature billiard tables with folding legs are enjoying a wave of popularity. There's a parlor version of duck hunting played with rubber tipped darts.

"BLOX CARS" CARRYING the ABC's make up this train with engine and caboose, for toddlers who love to pull things about. Called Kocomotive, it is by Kusan.

UNDISPUTED MAN-OF-THE-YEAR IN PLAYLAND, Davy Crockett inspires regalia and equipment that promises to be among Santa's most favored gifts for little girls as well as boys, says the American Toy Manufacturers Association. Getting That Special Gift Is Easier With Know-How

Like everything else, successfully gifting a man is easy when you know how. Mostly it's a matter of knowing your man; knowing what his tastes and needs are in the way of wearables, what his interests are in hobbies and sports what will best promote his comfort and convenience in his day-to-day living.

First of all, your problem is greatly simplified by the fact that there are so many things that a man never has enough of. A man can always use more shirts (both business and sports), slacks, handkerchiefs, neckties, socks, shoes. The smoker always welcomes cartons of his favorite cigarettes, boxes of cigars, new pipes to add to his collection; the golfer always needs more golf balls; the tennis enthusiast, more tennis balls; the camera fan additional supplies of negatives and printing paper, and so on, down the line.

These "sure thing staples" are, of course, only the beginning of the happy possibilities that present themselves, as you prepare to gift the men in your life.

Start with Wardrobe

A good place to start is with a man's wardrobe. It is hard to go wrong when you "give a man a gift he can wear," especially if you take his tastes into careful consideration and have an up-to-date knowledge of what's new and what's right in men's wearables. Men are fashion-minded today (more so than most of them will admit), so it's important to have your selections right on the beam, style-wise.

In sportswear, one of the most popular new ideas is the "shirt jacket," just the thing for "after hours" relaxation, indoors or out. It is made of bright, patterned wool shirting flannel and cut in a casual jacket style, with square bottom similar to a sport shirt.

Another recent entry on the casual scene that is winning high favor is the suburban coat. This mid-length coat of warm, heavy wool tweed or fleece with wool interlining is perfect for throwing on over leisure tugs. It is cut single breasted and has generous lower pockets. Most men find the suburban the ideal "extra coat."

Slacks the trim slim styles (18-inch knee, 18-inch cuff) are the thing, this year. Flannels and wools in charcoal tones of gray, tan and green will be the pre-Christmas "best sellers."

Invest in Sweaters

In sweaters, the newest thing is the low turtle neck or crew neck. However the traditional V-neck pull-overs and cardigans will still rate warm Christmas favorites.

Surface interest distinguishes new sport coats, with tweeds

FASHION PREDICTS A WHITE CHRISTMAS, with snowy-white furs appearing under many a Christmas tree. Among the new blonde furs are beaver, sheared opossum and muskrat, in everything from coats to muffs. Beaver jacket above suggested by Associated Fur Manufacturers, Inc.

From Tree Directly To Table

From under the tree direct to the top of the festive Christmas buffet or dinner table is the route many of Santa's most welcome presents will be taking this year.

For every woman, be she Miss or Mrs. has a warm spot in her heart for gifts of fine china, linens, glassware and table ornaments.

The opportunity for selecting a gift that will really click here, ranges from a single item through complete china and silver services, and includes such ornamental items as candle holders, and bowls for floral arrangements.

In most instances, gifts for the table will go to join a "family" of already-chosen colors and patterns, and the new addition should be chosen to fit in with the existing tableware.

When the lady is Miss Bride-to-Be or Mrs. Newlywed, information about her tableware patterns will be easy to get, and an additional place setting of china or silverware, or a set of crystal goblets, will solve gift shopping problems in a hurry.

The established homemaker has different needs, and these should be considered in selecting her gift. She probably wants replacement pieces to make a treasured set of dishes, glasses or silver complete once more.

Another most-likely-to-succeed gift is a set of pottery or stainless steel flatware for family and informal dining.

Gifts to cover the table go from the formal to the informal. Lace tablecloths, linen luncheon cloths with matching napkins (monogramming makes the gift more personal) and place mats are just a few of the possibilities.

Home fashion today endorses the use of colored tablecloths even for formal dining, so a pretty pastel cloth with an embroidered or embossed pattern makes a good gift choice for the modern homemaker.

If she's an enthusiastic do-it-yourselfer, she'll appreciate a gift that will help her make her own table accessories. One suggestion is a small loom, materials and instructions for making placemats of straw.

SURE TO BE A SHINING SUCCESS is the gift of an all-purpose coat for rain or shine wear. Shoppers will find a wide selection of all-weather coats that are attractive in appearance as well as water-resistant and wind-proof. Many have button or zip-on linings.

Exciting Toys Made To Travel

For the bathroom admiral and the playroom pilot, there are exciting new toys that travel through water and fly through the air, with which to thrill them at Christmas.

Seagoing craft range from wood and plastic toys for the youngest members of the family to model outboard and inboard motors powered by special fuels, for the grammar school set, according to Toy Manufacturers of the U. S. A.

There are airplanes which can be pushed by hand. There are planes which will fly on rubber band power. Accurate scale models of civilian and military planes may be assembled from kits.

And for the older boys, who dream of the day when they can take a ship aloft, there is even a remote control plane set with which they may practice takeoffs and landings.

DESK TOPPERS

A survey of a man's desk (at office or in lounge) may reveal the need for a calendar clock, memorandum book, picture frame, desk lighter, work organizer or maybe a complete matched set of accessories.

FOR NEW PARENTS

Bath warmers for the parents of new born babies, will be welcomed as thoughtful, useful gifts.

Williams' Resignation Goes Into Effect Today

Dr. Bayne Driscoll To Speak Sunday At Christian Church

Dr. Bayne E. Driscoll, Stillwater, Okla., an expert in comprehensive evangelism who heads the current simultaneous evangelistic crusade sponsored by Florida Christian Churches, is expected to preach at the First Christian Church here Sunday night.

The three months campaign will come to a climax on Decision Day, Dec. 11. The goal of the local church is 51 new members by that date; and 22 of them have already been received. Men's, women's and couple's teams have made many friendly calls in recent weeks. Dec. 4 has been designated as Kick-off Sunday. A commitment service will be held in the sanctuary at the Sunday School hour for classes from the Junior age up. An instruction meeting for teams of callers will be conducted at 3 p. m. by Pastor Perry L. Boone.

Three nights of evangelistic visitation are scheduled for Monday through Wednesday, Dec. 5-7, at 6:30 p. m. The six teams will be divided into two groups with a major over each: Mrs. Harry Falk heading the youth division; and Mrs. Oscar T. Pearson heading the adult division. The callers will be served supper at the church by CWF groups, as follows: Monday, Group One, Mrs. J. W. Knight, chairman; Tuesday, Group Two, Mrs. B. H. Williams, chairman; and Wednesday, Group Three, Mrs. Lester Tharp, chairman. Callers needing baby-sitters will be aided by Shirley Morgan, Sylvia Pearson, Sarah Alice Niblack and Beverly Evans. Volunteer typists in connection with the campaign include Mrs. Chandler Vail, Donald F. Tucker and Mrs. P. C. Cain. Impressive baptismal services are slated for the nights of Dec. 4 and 11.

Last week the electrical wiring of the sanctuary was altered so as to enable it to carry a heavier load with safety.

On Monday, Dec. 12, the annual congregational meeting will be held. Reports will be heard and new officers for tenures of one and two years will be elected. The new members who have come into the church will be honored.

A special event is set for Sunday, Dec. 18, when the choir, under the direction of Jay M. Walter, will present a Christmas Cantata, "Chimes of the Holy Night" (Holmes), accompanied at the organ by Mrs. N. V. Farmer.

A Christmas play "Star of Hope" will be given on Monday night, Dec. 19, followed by a "wish" gifts for the King" service. At the close a Christmas party will be given for the children of the Sunday School. The party committee is composed of Mrs. G. A. Niblack, Mrs. Barrow Hinson Jr., and Mrs. W. H. Young.

Raymond Mills, missionary to Paraguay, South America, will show pictures of his work in that field, Friday, Dec. 20, at a district meeting sponsored by the local Christian Women's Fellowship. Woman's Day will be observed Sunday, Jan. 1, with Mrs. Raymond Mills as the guest speaker.

Public Education Committee Meets

The Public Education Committee of the Seminole County Unit, American Cancer Society, Florida Division, Inc., met last night at the home of Mrs. Julius Dinglefelder, with Andrew J. Bracken, chairman, presiding.

Extensive plans were drawn up for a year-round, county-wide education program. Participating were: Dallas Loop, vice-chairman in charge of mens organizing; Mrs. Roy F. Mann, womens organizations; Mrs. George Touhy, church groups; Miss Myrtle Wilson, county communities; Mrs. L. L. Hamrick, SNAAS activities; R. T. Milwee, county schools; and Andrew J. Bracken, City schools.

The first two programs will be conducted Thursday at 11:30 a. m. at the Longwood Civic Center and at 1:30 p. m. at the Lake Barry Woman's Club according to Miss Wilson. Seminole County Home Demonstration Agent.

Peanut Bowl Game Support Is Urged; Bazaar Announced

By CHARLIE MORRISON
Sanford Rotarians, at their weekly meeting Monday noon at the Yacht Club, heard an excellent, inspirational talk by a young past district governor of Rotary International, an appeal for support of the Peanut Bowl game to be played Friday night and a poem from the pen (fictitiously from the typewriter) of an unknown author.

Young Mac Selvidge, sixth grade pupil of the Sanford Grammar school, made a stirring appeal for Rotary support of the football game to be played Friday night at Memorial Stadium in what Mac termed the Peanut Bowl affair. The youngster made a splendid presentation and was accorded an ovation by his listeners. A bevy of cute teenage cheer leaders gave a sample of the school spirit that will be in evidence at the stadium Friday night.

President William (Bill) Bush Jr. read the following communication: "Dear Mr. Bush— We know men aren't interested in bazaars but we have planned a nice lunch and would like to have you fellows come and eat with us. So, please read this at your next meeting, (signed) Phyllis Chapman, president, Beta Sigma Phi." So President Bill read:—

Ye Will! We have a wonderful Hear Ye! Hear Ye! And listen tale to tell! Beta Sigma Phi is planning some fun. Having a Bazaar, inviting everyone. We'll have all sorts of nice things to sell. Now, don't step readings, there's more to tell. From 12:00 to 1:30, a lunch will be sold. With lots and lots of good food, we're told. We want you to come and join us there. You'll see your friends there, everywhere. We promise you'll have the time of your life. And you'll most likely see something nice for your wife. There'll be plants, and hand-work and jewelry and such: A big variety, that won't cost very much. Palatial Parish House is the place to go, December 2nd. We have so much to show. From 11:00 to 6:30, almost all day. If you come out for lunch, we think you'll stay. We promise good food, a treat just for you. So please come and join us, and bring your friends too! Kenneth E. Wacker of Winter Park, past president of the Royal (Continued on Page Eight)

All members of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce are urged to attend the Coffee Club. A short program of not more than half an hour has been planned.

Governor Collins' Eligibility Still Under Advisement

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Judge Hugh M. Taylor of the Leon County Circuit Court has under advisement the question of Gov. Collins' eligibility to seek re-election next year, but it is problematical whether he will answer at this time.

Although he heard attorneys argue the question for three hours yesterday, he withheld a decision on whether he could give an answer in view of Collins' failure to indicate whether he will run again.

Judge Taylor said he would hand down his decision "perhaps" Friday, but more probably Monday. He indicated that his opinion will answer the eligibility question. Lawyers made it plain any ruling he makes will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

The question before Judge Taylor is whether Collins is eligible to run for re-election.

Arthur Jordan, a Bellary Garage operator was called to the scene to apply artificial respiration until a pulmonologist arrived from the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station. However, all attempts to revive the youngster failed and Dr. George Prinson, of DeBary, pronounced the small child dead.

'Unexpected' Babes Create Big Problem

ALABAMA, Ga. (AP)—Quadruplets all in fair health, were born yesterday to a 35-year-old farm wife who already had six children at home.

The mother, Mrs. E. E. Nelson, asked an age-old and bewildered question: "What in the world am I going to do with them?"

The father had an observation of his own: "I am completely overcome by this thing. Where are we going to put all of them?"

The Nelsons, who live at Box 3, Douglas, were expecting only a single child.

Jet Fighter Plane Crashes In Alaska

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—A jet fighter plane crashed on takeoff into a row of houses yesterday, killing an estimated 11 to 14 people, possibly more.

At least eight were injured.

Boaring along a few feet above the ground at an estimated 150 miles an hour, the F4U plowed into the first of six eight-unit buildings used to house Eielson Air Force Base personnel and their families. The apartment unit was virtually demolished as the plane exploded. Parts of it, its furnishings and the plane spewed over the two-block area onto the other five houses.

The tremendous impact sent apartment fuel tanks hurtling through the air, feeding the fires which had broken out in all the buildings.

Among the victims was the pilot, Lt. Alfred F. Founders, 28, Monticello, Miss.

FALSE ALARM
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Laura Johnson, 34, dropped her keys yesterday and put the Fire Department to work. The keys skittered through a hole in the floor, she reached for the keys and her arm stuck. A company of firemen was called. When they arrived, she already had pulled her arm free.

The child was last seen playing at the water's edge with his puppy about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and at 4:30, when the child was missed, a search party was formed to locate the tot.

Citizens Greet Candidate Southern Tour Pleases Adlai

Adlai Stevenson invites the citizens of Sanford and Seminole County to get the real test of popularity in the Sunshine State.

Making stops along the way for a handshaking tour of downtown Sanford and other localities, Stevenson is greeted with a barrage of autograph seekers and well wishes.

True politicians take their census of popularity from the little traveled byways where the vast majority of voters hold primarily the same opinion and are swayed by down-to-earth talk by the candidate.

In Sanford yesterday, Adlai Stevenson, an avowed candidate for the Democratic Presidential Nomination, handshaked and greeted his way through a surging crowd of hundreds of people who turned out in wintry cold weather to say "hello" and shake the hand of the person they believe will be the next president.

"You people here really like politics, don't you?" he remarked as more people filed by for the handshakes and broad smile.

"I've never met such wonderful people," he remarked, as many recalled bygone days in Missouri, Ohio and other states where acquaintances of family or friends were in common.

To meet the presidential candidate was J. Brantley Odham, heading a delegation of citizens who turned out for the 20-minute stay at Sanford's busiest intersection.

Volle A. Williams Jr., stepping on to meet Stevenson, said, "I want you to know that I was your campaign manager here."

Others greeting Stevenson were: W. H. "Bill" Stempel, State Democratic Committeeman; and Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith, State Democratic Committeeman. Also Senator Douglas Stenstrom, Representative Mack N. Cleveland Jr., Mayor Denver Cordell, M. B. "T. Bone" Smith, Commissioner F. D. Scott, Mrs. Gertrude Dinglefelder, and W. R. Williams who recalled in Stevenson that he voted for the presidential candidate's grandfather.

Hundreds of citizens filed by to greet Stevenson, all of them cheerfully warmed by the friendly greetings of the Democratic contender for the presidential nomination.

When asked if his southern tour has been successful, Stevenson replied, "It's been so successful I've been wondering if I should leave."

S-D Day Is Hoped To Cut Down Traffic Accidents Of Highways

Nearly 60,000 Americans were killed on highways in the first 10 months of this year, a seven per cent increase over the same period in 1954.

Six traffic fatalities have occurred in Seminole County within one month to go to complete the year and keep the fatalities from climbing to a higher percentage.

Local officials, law enforcement officers, and civic organizations, who are supporting the safe-driving measures, join with the National Safety Council in hopes that the high traffic death toll will drive home to all motorists the necessity of driving carefully tomorrow, Safe Driving Day, and every day.

The Council released its tabulation of traffic deaths for October and the first 10 months of 1955 today as underlines the need for S-D Day, a 24-hour period sponsored by President Eisenhower's Committee for Traffic Safety when Americans are asked to make an extra effort to drive and walk safely.

Throughout Seminole County, following the marking of the day in Florida as S-D Day by proclamation by Governor Leroy Collins, citizens, communities and organizations have joined in to make the day an especially safe one for "the other motorist."

The Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station, in approval of the day set aside for a challenge to motorists to show that they can drive without accidents on the highways, has joined in heartily in promoting the event.

The Council said there was slight consolation in the fact that travel is increasing even more in December. Deaths per 100 million miles of travel dropped to six for the first time since the peak of 10.5 a few years ago.
