

Lookouts Lose Narrow 6 To 5 Decision To Islanders

Locals Score 5 Runs In 7th To Lead By 5 To 3

Daytona Beach Nine Makes 3 Runs In Eighth To Cinch One-Point Win; Pinder Allows 8 Hits, Fans 10

By JULIAN STENSTROM

Although scoring five runs in a big seventh inning to take a two-run lead over their opponents, the Lookouts dropped their fifth straight contest to the Daytona Beach Islanders who rallied in the eighth frame to clinch a 6 to 5 victory over the Rodgers' men.

Joe Pinder was on the hill for the Lookouts and went the entire distance. It was no doubt his best performance of the year as he forced 10 of the Isles down via the strikeroth route. However, Pinder issued six free passes to the Island batsmen.

The Lookouts faced Bill Schroba, left fist ball hurler, and they nicked him for a total of 12 hits while eight scattered blows were recorded by the P's off Pinder. Schroba walked four of the lookouts and fanned an even half dozen.

Leading the hitting for the night was Win Brown who sent on three bloss in five trips to the platter. Second honors went to Pete Mihale, Joe Pinder and Lee Clark, who were credited with two bingles each. Sanders and Turecki of the visitors each connected with two hits, Sanders two in three attempts and Turecki with two in four tries.

The Lookouts spotted the Isles' a run in the initial frame when McNeese walked and took second on Sander's single to right and he scored when Neidson made an infield out.

The Islanders got another in the 2nd half of the third when McNeese walked and took third on Wozniak's single to right and scored when Neidson singled to center.

The visitors got their third tally in the fifth when Turecki singled and took third when Day singled to deep rightfield. He scored when Day lifted a 1-2 fly to Clark in centerfield.

The Lookouts gave the fans their money's worth in their portion of the rocky seventh as they scored five runs. With one out, Carlock walked and Clark singled to short rightfield advancing Carlock to second. Watts singled to right sending Clark to second and Carlock to third. Pinder grounded to Schroba who threw to second to nab Watts. Pinder was safe on first. Buggiero worked Schroba for a walk to fill the sacks and they were emptied when Brown shot out a stinging long single to right center. Clark, Pinder and Buggiero scored on the play. Mihale singled to right to score Brown.

The Isles came right back with three runs in the eighth to capture the tilt when Sanders singled and scored on Neidson's double. Neidson went to third when Steffina made an infield out. Turecki tripled to right to score Neidson and Day's single scored Turecki.

France Curls Lip In Snarl At Hostile Italy

Daladier Says Nation Will Defend Frontiers Against All Acts Of Violence

Blames II Duce For Impasse On Talks

British Hopes For 4-Power Accord Fade In Face Of Friction

Premier Edouard Daladier declared today France would defend her frontiers against all attempts at violence...

Daladier said, "France will persist in proving her close union, her calm self possession. She can do it because she is strong."

Indirectly the Premier threw the blame for the impasse in friendship talks on Italy. His declaration came as Italian efforts to break up France's alliance with Soviet Russia and attempt to gain recognition of the Soviet Republic in Spain had imposed formidable obstacles to the efforts for Franco-Italian accord.

British hopes for a four-power accord were endangered by the Franco-Italian friction. Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Britain has made the appointment of Germany one of the main points of his "realistic foreign policy."

But even Britain's partnership with France and France's attempts to make a bargain with Italy were threatened by French sympathy for the Barcelona government and the French mutual assistance pact with Soviet Russia.

In the western hemisphere Mexico's President, Cardenas sought to put down the possibility of an internal revolt similar to Spain's by demanding that General Saturnino Cedillo, free lance strong man, surrender his arms and the peasant army to the government.

In China, the important rail junction of Suchow was burning fiercely as Japanese fought the "war-to die" Chinese units in attempting to complete occupation of the city.

Holtzclaw To Give Another Program At Local Theater

Richard Holtzclaw, whose rendition of several popular ballads at the Ritz Theatre last night, met with enthusiastic response from the audience, will appear again tonight as an added attraction on the popular program which includes the film, "Women Are Like That," starring Kay Francis and Pat O'Brien.

Mr. Holtzclaw, who has made an outstanding success of a singing career which has won acclaim from famous critics, is making his first public appearance in Sanford as a singer since he scaled the heights of fame.

Mr. Holtzclaw is a Sanford man, a former student of Seminole High School and Louisiana State University, and is the son of Mrs. Emma Holtzclaw of 215 Elm Avenue. Press notices of his performance in Atlanta and New Orleans and other large cities have been extremely laudatory in character and it is generally understood that his second album will not stir a storm at the Metropolitan Opera Company.

WANT POLL TAX BACK

JACKSONVILLE. (AP)—Mrs. E. M. Johnson, wife of the Deval County Democratic Executive Committee, urged yesterday the establishment of poll taxes as a requisite for voting. A resolution asking the money formerly raised by the poll tax, abolished by the 1901 Constitution, be used for public schools, was adopted.

Visiting Yachtsman Says Canal To East Coast Will Benefit Sanford Section

To make a vacation cruise on Florida's rivers and lakes is the lifetime desire of many northerners yet Dr. and Mrs. F. F. Read of Baltimore, Md., are now in Florida on their fourth such trip. In an interview this morning at the foot of the Municipal Pier where their 44-foot power boat is now docked, Dr. Read and his wife declared that they are not even going to make the trip north this summer, having decided to stay through the summer.

Several days ago they docked at the pier for a short visit in Sanford and three days ago they left for a trip up the river. They went as far as the bridge this side of Lake Harney, Dr. Read said, adding that the water was very low and that his boat which draws a draft of three and one-fourth feet frequently scraped bottom but was never in serious difficulty. The water the other side of Lake Jessup was appreciably lower than that on this side, he said.

On the return trip, Dr. Read declared, the water seemed to have fallen even lower than giving evidence to reports that the river is dangerously low.

Without being asked Dr. and Mrs. Read broached the subject of a canal from here to Indian River. Both were certain that such a canal would be of great value, especially to those who might undertake to come from the north to Sanford from New Smyrna. They declared that to reach Sanford from New Smyrna they had to follow the coastal canal to Jacksonville and then down the St. Johns. Both agreed that such a canal would have great possibilities in attracting tourists who travel by boat.

Earlier the couple visited Key West where they spent two months and later Dry Tortugas where they stayed one week. Dr. Read declared that "it was not his provisions we'd have to eat all summer."

Dr. and Mrs. Read are having tonight in their boat, the "Star Line S", for a trip up the Wekiva River. They said they hope to visit Silver Springs later if they can make it in their boat.

They were also going to visit the Florida Keys and the Bahamas. Dr. Read said that he had had a very good time on his trip and that he was sure that a canal would be of great value to the Sanford section.

Local Medical Group Hears Neal Tell Of Ensol Treatments

Outlining the development of ensol as a treatment of cancer, Dr. T. A. Neal of Orlando cited local physicians at their regular monthly meeting of the Seminole County Medical Society Tuesday night.

Neal stated, developed a process for a serum which will attack cancer through developing a resistance. The ensol treatment of cancer calls for a daily injection of the serum which causes the patient to feel very little reaction.

Dr. Neal exhibited a patient that had been newly cured after taking the treatment for two years and cited numerous other cases where patients had been treated with satisfactory results.

While advocating the continuation of present methods of treating the malady, namely surgery, radium and therapy, the Orlando specialist declared that the use of ensol is a valuable adjunct in fighting the disease.

At their meeting the doctors made plans for a boat trip on the St. Johns River in place of their regular meeting.

They were also going to visit the Florida Keys and the Bahamas. Dr. Read said that he had had a very good time on his trip and that he was sure that a canal would be of great value to the Sanford section.

Senate Returns Rail Aid Proposal To Banking Group

Threat Of Wage Cut Impairs Chance Of Getting U. S. Help

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The Senate returned to the Banking Committee today the Administration's proposal to embargo financial aid to railroads.

The legislation was recommended by the Finance Committee of the Senate and the Banking Committee of the House, which previously had recommended an embargo on the aid.

Wagner and his supporters in the interest of railroads, proposed to embargo financial aid to railroads because of the threat of a wage cut in the industry.

The New York and the Senate Banking Committee today returned the legislation to the Banking Committee of the House, which previously had recommended an embargo on the aid.

Admiral Gifford reported to railroad wage cuts, and that the proposed embargo would be a "stunning" blow to the industry.

These proposals, reported and administered officially, determined not to give financial support to the railroads unless they had down on their proposal to raise wages to present.

TAMPA, May 19 (AP)—Twelve-man jury was seated in circuit court here today to try Paul Fred Hunter, 52-year-old German, on an indictment charging him with the first degree murder of his wife, Marie Larsen, 40.

He also has been indicted for the slaying of two daughters, Edith Ann, 3, and Nina Nancy, 8. Detective Chief W. D. Baah said Hunter confessed immediately after being arrested May 7 that he chloroformed two children and drowned his wife in a bathtub after unsuccessfully trying to kill her by chloroform and opening a vein.

Hunter pleaded guilty last week but the court rejected his plea and ordered that he be tried by jury. A lunacy commission this week adjudged him sane.

How Advertising Helps

That "It pays to advertise" is not a slogan selfishly devised by us or other newspapermen to mislead businessmen into spending money with the newspapers. It is a consensus of opinion developed throughout the years by businessmen themselves who had the wisdom and foresight to stock their shelves with goods and then let the public know what they had to sell.

Such a one was B. H. Kroger who 56 years ago went into business in Cincinnati, Ohio, with nothing more pretentious than a market basket and a few dollars worth of groceries. Going from house to house he carried his stock of goods directly to the housekeeper showed her every morning exactly what he had to sell. But as time went on his customers became more numerous and finally it became impossible for him to make his rounds in a single day.

So he built a small store and stocked its shelves with groceries and asked his customers to come and buy. But that was not enough, his stock was changing every day, even as his customers' desires changed every day. It was impossible for him to contact them all personally to keep them posted on changing prices and changing vegetables and meats. It was then that he hit upon the idea of newspaper advertising.

All this is told by Albert H. Morrill, present head of the Kroger Grocery and Baking Company, in a recent article in Editor & Publisher. He tells how at first Kroger advertised only one store in only one newspaper; today the concern he built advertises for 4,043 stores throughout the middlewest in more than one thousand newspapers having more than 12,000,000 subscribers.

"Newspapers get the lion's share of our advertising dollars for just one reason—they produce results," Mr.
Morrill says. "Last year we spent 62 percent of our advertising appropriation for newspaper space. And we spent it with the positive knowledge that newspapers provide the best means of telling our story to the buying public. In 1937 we spent three times as much money with newspapers as we did with our next most important medium."

What Mr. Kroger has done, and what his successor, Mr. Morrill, has continued, in their business, you can do in yours. You can make your business grow and prosper and become a city-wide if not a nation-wide institution.
But you will have to advertise. You will have to let the people know you want their business and what you have to sell. Advertising can't do it all, of course. But it's a very necessary help.

The Mexican Trouble

The trouble in Mexico is explained by the Miami Herald as being an old trick which heads of state often use to take the people's minds off other difficulties. President Cardenas, according to the Herald "staged" the "revolt" by General Cedillo to keep the people from thinking too much about the expropriation of oil and the severance of diplomatic relations with Great Britain.

"General Cedillo, whom Cardenas charged with plot-ting rebellion, flatly declares that the president is trying to drive him into revolt to distract public attention from pressing troubles over the expropriation of foreign-owned oil properties," the Miami paper says.

"The general's interpretation is well supported in the circumstances. There is an increasing realization in Mexico of the dangerous situation in which the country has become financially involved as a result of the expropriation program.

"Strangely enough, the Cardenas government is depending on foreign financing to see it through the "Mexicanization of industry." But the people are being rudely awakened to the truth that foreign capital is not going to flow into the country to be used expressly to drive out foreign investments already established.

"The government's financial plight is beginning to pinch the masses. A trumped-up revolt would readily distract their attention from blundering foreign policies by creating fear of a domestic war.

"It is an old trick. Hitler and Mussolini have used it to advantage. Cardenas is in a position where the subterfuge might serve him well until he can find a way out of the financial crisis which he has inflicted on Mexico."

WHEN AMERICANS began to boycott "Made in Japan" goods, the Japanese renamed one of their towns "USA." They stamp a big "Made in USA" on products made there—toothbrushes, for example—and put the required "Japan" in tiny letters, thus fooling the casual shopper.—Business Week.

TURNABOUT FISH STORY
"You should have seen the one I got away from!"

That's the way Herbert Ponting, a member of the Scott Antarctic Expedition, teased his listeners when starting a recount of his thrilling escape from eight enraged killer whales.

Ponting was attempting to photograph the whales from the ice's edge, when suddenly the whales dove beneath him, then rose to smash the yard-thick floe and hurl him into the water.

"As the whales rose from under the ice," he tells, "there was a loud booming sound. The instant they had cleared the ice with rapid swings of their flukes they made such a commotion in the water that the floe on which I stood drifted near firm ice where I could leap to safety.

"The ship was not a hundred yards away, and Captain Scott and all my shipmates were watching, transfixed with horror, expecting to see me fall into the open jaws of one of the eight furries that were now pushing their heads out of the sea to get me.

"As I leaped to safety, I saw a huge, black head rise out of the sea where a moment before I had stood. It rested on the ice-edge, looking at me with little glistering eyes to see what had become of me.

"One after another the sinister heads shot up through the cracks to a height of seven or eight feet, all showing fearful teeth. But I was safe, and ran until I was out of all further danger."

FOUCAULT'S PENDULUM...
A cannon ball tied to the end of a long wire and set oscillating will serve as a good illustration of the rotation of the Earth upon its axis.

The man who discovered this was Jean Bernard Leon Foucault, French scientist, who first demonstrated the experiment publicly in 1851. The "Foucault's Pendulum Experiment" hence was named for him.

If a pendulum were set swinging in one plane, at either the north or south pole, as the earth rotated beneath it, the pendulum would remain swinging in its original direction. The same phenomena would be observed, in diminishing intensity, at all latitudes, except at the equator. To the observer, the pendulum would appear to change its direction of oscillation with each successive swing.

Walking Into Trouble

In its interesting analysis of the how, why and where of automobile accidents in 1937, The Travelers Insurance Company has published some revealing figures relating to pedestrian deaths. With fatalities and injuries to pedestrians rising at an alarming rate, the figures are worth the attention of every individual.

Nearly 25 per cent of the deaths, the figures indicate, resulted from the obviously unsafe habit many walkers have of crossing in the middle of the block.

Of the 27.5 per cent or a total of 4,450 pedestrians killed while crossing at intersections, only 250 most death while crossing so they should with the signal. No less than 1,100 died when they attempted to cross against the signal light or the officer's signal. The remainder were killed while crossing diagonally in the intersection or while crossing at intersections where there was no signal.

Other leading causes of pedestrian deaths, in order of their importance were: walking on rural highways, children playing in the street, coming into the street from behind a parked car, men at work in the roadway, and hitching rides.

Miami Merchants Protest Taxes On Gross Receipts

Mass Meeting Planned To Seek Relief In Payment Of Levy

MIAMI, May 19. (AP)—Merchants mapped a campaign for relief from the gross receipts tax yesterday while State officials emphasized their determination to collect it by refusing to let delinquent firms and individuals furnish State supplies.

The merchants called a protest meeting this night in Bayfront Park to discuss the matter. They were unable to meet demands for payment of the one-half of one percent levy without business.

The meeting was called after State Senator Frank J. C. Smith addressed a political rally, calling for a special session of the Legislature to repeal the tax and make up the difference in State revenue by increasing the take from the racetracks.

The cabinet of Tallahassee adopted the policy of withholding the State trade from delinquents in connection with the signing of bills for farm loans $200 worth of food to State institutions for June. Ninety-one of the 35 companies who filed bills were found not to have paid the tax and on the motion of State Comptroller Lee their bills were thrown out.
