G.O.P. Candidate Says Smith Is Advocating State Socialism in Stand On Prohibition

Hoover's next aim is for St. Louis. He delivered a confident speech in New York today, East Safe For G.O.P.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(INS)—Back in the capital for a smashing invasion of Smith's own New York, Hoover entered the home stretch of his presidential campaign today confident of victory in November and certain that he had delivered a telling blow in the "stronghold" of his adversary.

Hoover had an early breakfast and spent an hour in conference with political leaders on board.

More than 20,000 people from the sidewalks of New York greeted the Republican nominee at Madison Square Garden last night in the greatest demonstration accorded him since he launched his campaign. Riotous applause which lasted for 15 minutes greeted Hoover as he stepped from the stage.

Eckener Given Big Ovation on Chicago Visit

Dirigible Chief Will Return To Windy City Friday On Board His "Graf Zeppelin"

Plans Swing Over Mid-West States

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—(INS)—Dirigible Chief Eckener and his guests making Zeppelin visits are on their way to Lakehurst, N. J., where they will board the Graf Zeppelin.

More than 2,500 men and women on their feet and singing the German national anthem bade "Auf Wiedersehen" to the German air hero at the Union Station here last night. They will return to Chicago Friday and will greet the city from the air as they sweep over the central west in the Graf Zeppelin.

Last night's banquet at the Stevens Hotel was the climax of a day dedicated to acclaiming the hero of the visitors and to good will between the United States and Germany. United to sponsor it were the city, county commissioners and the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Information from Lakehurst today was to the effect that thousands of Americans may have the privilege of being witnesses to the unique and historic spectacle of the world's two largest airships taking off simultaneously from the landing field here Thursday morning.

This became known today when Lieutenant-Commander C. H. Wiley, commanding officer of the navy dirigible Los Angeles, announced that midnight Wednesday had been set as the take-off for the station personnel's liberty. This means that, provided weather conditions and wind are favorable, the Los Angeles will be taken out of the hangar and moored on the stub mast some time between midnight and dawn, preparatory to a take-off at daybreak.

An agreement was broken when the United States government last Saturday honored Thomas Edison, while yet in the full enjoyment of life and capable of appreciating the congressional medal awarded him. The Bible Hotel Commission, meeting at Jacksonville, has decided to push all builders live up to the laws when constructing hotels in the future. They have found that it is cheaper to spend five money building substantially, than to save a nickel here and a dime there and have the completed structure blown down by the first hurricane that strikes in the West Indies.

The great vicinities, one of Florida's greatest and probably its most famous hotel, will not open until next year, according to an announcement by the East Coast Hotel Company. The Polkman Hotel, located on the beach, and will have to be rebuilt. The Royal Palm, another of the great hotels of the company, which is being built in Miami, also will not open until next year. It will probably be a more modern structure.

With what pride may Virginia glory to her history and influence when visiting the United States. With Virginia and the South have played such a mighty part in the formation of this country, they should share in the prosperity that is being developed in the South.

Wet Or Dry

One of the "whispers" of this campaign, which is arousing considerable interest, refers to the quantity of alcohol, if any, which Al Smith consumes in the course of a day. Chairman Raskob speaking for the sake of the wet eastern vote said recently: "Yes, Governor Smith is a drinking man. He drinks just as you and I drink. I do not know how many quarts of liquor goes down his throat in the course of a month, but I venture the guess that he drinks from four to eight cocktails a day."

But for the sake of dry Southerners, the Raleigh News and Observer successfully contradicted this statement. It quotes from no less an authority than the Hon. George Gordon Battle, one of the North Carolina Battles, now a Wall Street broker, who says: "The statement that Governor Smith takes from four to eight drinks a day has been frequently contradicted. I can state from my own knowledge that it is false. I have known him for thirty years and have never seen him under the influence of liquor and have never seen anybody who has seen him under the influence of liquor."

The News and Observer continues its argument as follows: "It is a pity that people will spread such stories as the one Mr. Battle denies or like Senator Bruce quoted in Maryland last week. Mr. Battle would not make a statement that was not true, and what he says will be accepted by fair minded men of all parties. Those who saw Governor Smith on his visit to North Carolina can bear testimony that there is no justification for retelling the stories about Governor Smith, which Mr. Battle effectively answers."

So here we have, as in any political discussion, both sides of the argument. An issue it seems arises whenever a statement can be proved beyond all question of doubt and is then successfully contradicted. We have it absolutely straight, first that Al Smith consistently drinks from four to eight cocktails a day, and second that he has never touched a drop, a perfect political issue.

The public will be unable to decide who is telling the truth, but it seems to us, after reading of the deaths of from twenty-five to one hundred persons a week in New York City alone as a result of poisoned liquor, and after observing the effect that this bootleg stuff has had upon people well known to us, if Al Smith can survive, and be sufficiently strong to run for president, while drinking from four to eight cocktails per day, he must be some man.

For The People To Remedy

Those of us who are interested in good roads and their extension as fast as the nation's needs demand, them will view with amazement the findings of an engineering commission, which recently completed a ten months' survey of highway construction throughout the United States. Wasteful road building, the commission reports, amounts to four hundred million dollars out of an annual expenditure of $2,000,000,000. The underlying cause for this huge loss, the commission declares, is found in the employment of incompetent inspectors and foremen.

At the same time, the group of engineers making the survey note that politics is also having an unwholesome effect on highway building. From our own observation we suspect the injection of politics is more widespread and of greater hindrance to efficient highway building than even this report indicates. The commission finds that politicians are forcing the appointment of unqualified inspectors and foremen to pay campaign obligations. The results of placing inefficient men in charge of expensive construction jobs are obvious when we realize that road building is one of the most highly specialized professions.

The report continues with the information that poor paving is due principally to a lack of control over the construction foundations, that are entirely too inadequate, and a failure to provide the proper remedies for poor sub-soil conditions. Lack of control over the construction, the engineers declare, will never be rectified until politics is entirely divorced from highway work. A correction of the other two evils, for the most part, would follow as a natural consequence to a change in the first.

We quite agree with the report when it suggests that the best and surest way of solving the problem is for the highway users to put their foot down emphatically on using road building for political purposes. In some states, where the corrupting influence of the evil has been so noticeably evident the people have voiced their repudiation in no uncertain manner. An annual waste of four hundred million dollars, however, demands a more concerted action on the part of the citizenry.

UNION AND GREATNESS
MIAMI HERALD

In the dedication of two Civil War battle fields at Fredericksburg, Va., President Coolidge took advantage of the opportunity to emphasize the consequences of union, the greatness of our country, and the remarkable progress in this expansion he pointed to the rapid highway made by the South, and how this vast and rich territory is at last coming into its own.

Virginia may justly be called the mother of states, for the famous sons of the commonwealth furnished the leadership for acquiring the land which makes up the continental domain of the United States. Mr. Coolidge noted these: "Washington gave us the thirteen colonies; George Rogers Clark added the Northwest; Lewis and Clark carried our jurisdiction to the Pacific; Jefferson made the Louisiana purchase; Monroe secured Florida; Sam Houston brought in the state of Texas; Winfield Scott and Zachary Taylor won the California region. Their wisdom endowed our country with an empire."

With what pride may Virginia glory to her history and influence when visiting the United States. With Virginia and the South have played such a mighty part in the formation of this country, they should share in the prosperity that is being developed in the South.

FROM A MAN WHO KEEPS HIS PROMISES

A SANE, EXPERT, NON-PARTISAN ADJUSTMENT OF THE TARIFF QUESTION
Alfred E. Holt

HOLT FOR SMITH
JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL

When Hamilton Holt takes a position on any question his reasons for doing so are generally as interesting and original as the position itself is sound. In other words...

But Dr. Holt has announced that he will vote for Governor Smith. He did it last Monday in a talk at the organization meeting of "The Hoover Club of Rollins College," invited to address this meeting he took as his subject, "Herbert Hoover, the Man." No Hooverite of purest ray could have gone further than he did in praise of Hoover, the man. He spoke of his splendid character, his genius for organization, his great and varied service to humanity. But he affirmed his intention to vote for Alfred E. Smith. His decision comes principally of the fact that, as a long standing and vital factor in the cause of world peace and international organization, finds more promise for this organization in Governor Smith and the Democratic party than in Mr. Hoover and the Republicans.

"In his speech of acceptance," Dr. Holt declared, "Mr. Hoover said he would follow out the Harding-Coolidge international policies of keeping politically aloof from the world. It seems to me, therefore, that Smith, with the backing of the Democratic party, will probably get us nearer than Mr. Hoover, with the backing of the Republican party, to that day which must sometime come when, as Victor Hugo prophesied, 'The only battlefield will be the market opening to commerce and, the mind opening to new ideas.'"

Dr. Holt is a dry. He is also a veteran of many battles with Tammany Hall. But he doesn't find in either circumstance a cause to oppose Governor Smith.

Lake Mary Meet Hoover Raps Smith Of Democrats In Big Meeting Held Well Attended In Madison Square

The campaign draws to a close and the local Democrat will see the Republican party unmasked in its efforts to suppress Democracy, the only party friendly to the South.

Judge Sharn went into a discussion of the Democratic party, linking it with the Republican party and declaring that a return of the G. O. P. to power would likely result in the enactment of the measure, described as a "humiliation of the South" because of the Republican party and a direct violation of the constitutional principle of state sovereignty.

The Judge stated that he would like to see the Democrats, whether they wanted to or not, to see their public offices filled by those who are able to purchase them of Republican negro leaders in the southern states.

Mr. Enteninger declared prohibition, religion and Tammany Hall are false issues injected into the minds of the Republic. He suggested that the Republic is no longer driven taken a stand in the prohibition question and that of Governor Smith for what he said was a definite statement: "I will see a strict enforcement of the dry laws."

The speaker paid his respects to Gilbert Stockton and Senator F. W. Waybright, both of Jacksonville, declaring that such men, when in the presence of a loyal Democrat, "should hang their heads in shame."

Mr. Niles called upon Democratic women to unite against an effort which he said is being put forth to have them line up negro support for the Republican party.

He carried charges that the Republican appeal for votes has been based upon a campaign against Smith and not for Hoover. He declared that all G. O. P. literature distributed locally was of an anti-Smith nature, none of it undertaking to show why Hoover should be elected.

Benson Springs

On Thursday evening the principal students and teachers of the Benson Springs School entertained the Benson Parents at the school building and in the Community house which adjoins the school. Each classroom was decorated with flowers. The children were on hand to show their parents and friends about the building and point out their interesting handiwork.

The teachers of the first and second grades entertained with short programs in their respective rooms. Everyone then adjourned to the Community House where Mr. Henderson, the principal, welcomed the friends and spoke briefly of what he aimed to accomplish for the school this coming year, and emphasized that all must help in this program in order to make it a success. Dr. Fowler responded for the board and spoke of the system of public school education and how it produced the highest type of democracy and good citizenship.

It was voted to reorganize the Parent-Teachers Association and a nominating committee was appointed to bring in nominations at the next meeting on Oct. 23. After some games and refreshments, the entertainment broke up.

Interest in athletic affairs is reviving in the school. On last Tuesday the boys' baseball team met and defeated the Lake Helen boys 13 - 2. Friday the Benson Springs team defeated the Osteen team. The girls' basketball team of Lake Helen has challenged the girls' team of Benson Springs to a basketball game in the near future.

Sanford's Good-Will Motorcade passed through Benson Springs late Thursday afternoon and distributed free tickets to the Vita phone in Sanford. As it was late many did not make the stop in Benson Springs, but it is hoped inasmuch as this village is such a near neighbor to Sanford that there will be other opportunities to get together.

All Jolson Starred In Milane Picture "The Jazz Singer"

When "The Jazz Singer," which Warner Bros. are presenting at the Milane Theatre with Al Jolson in the leading role, was being filmed, certain of the spectacular features included a picture of both the interior and exterior of the Winter Garden, where Mr. Jolson had achieved his great successes in musical comedy. It became necessary to obtain cordons of police to keep the great crowds in order at each assembly.

At another time when Orchard Street, located in the very heart of the New York City, was being photographed, the director of "The Jazz Singer," Alan Crossland, with the camera men, was concealed within a canvas-topped truck. Holes were cut in the sides and end of the canvas through which the scenes in this famous locality were photographed. If the people who surged in solid masses had known they were being "snapped" a riot would have been the result.

A period of four months was required for the actual making of "The Jazz Singer," May McAvoy, thirty star of the screen, was the only woman chosen for the part of Della. In the last number of the play, where Jole and Della were instrumental in helping Al Jolson to achieve his success and bring happiness to both of them.

CURE FOR CANCER IS POSSIBLE, SAYS FAMOUS DOCTOR

Growth Is Prevented By Use Of Pepsin, Says Dr. Glassner

VIENNA, Oct. 23. —(INS)—Cancer is no longer incurable. It is not a contagious disease. The disease, or rather the disposition to it, is hereditary, though it may also be acquired. The cause of cancer is an abnormality of the digestive organs for more precisely of the stomach, which fact explains why the most civilized nations, and aged persons are leading the cancer statistics. The "civilized" irrational nourishment, and the old or old (hour-out) glands of the stomach are the underlying causes of liver and cancer.

These are the most important conclusions drawn from the discovery of the Viennese Professor Karl Glassner, that the lack of pepsin promotes, while sufficient injections of pepsin prevent the development of ulcers and cancerous tumors.

Pepsin's Usefulness
Pepsin is an essential constituent of the gastric juice, and its specific task is (so it was believed until now) to aid digestion. Professor Glassner has proved, however, that the pepsin-producing glands of the stomach have also a second important function, as they deliver a certain part of their secretion (called hormone) directly into the blood circulation. This hormone, circulation through the arteries and veins of the entire body, has a controlling effect on the growth of certain tissues, in a similar way as, for instance, the one of the pancreas regulates the sugar supply of the organism.

"I like the comparison with the pancreas," said to me Professor Glassner, talking about his recent scientific publications in his Vienna home, "as it is well-known that a few years ago American scientists succeeded in preparing an extract from the pancreas, which they named 'Insulin,' and which cured thousands of victims of diabetes simply by replacing the hormone which their sick glands could not supply."

"My method is a similar one. I administer to my cancer and liver patients, whose stomach glands fail to produce the necessary quantity of their specific hormone, a pepsin extract from calf's liver, and the result is that the tumor ceases to grow or to spread, which is naturally followed by a general improvement. In several cases I had an opportunity to observe my patients for two or three years, and I can state that my treatment proved to be a long and lasting cure."

Animal Experiments
"I started by experiments on animals, later I experimented on my own body, only after having unobtainable results, did I introduce my new treatment in my hospital. There I have treated, about 120 patients, (as a majority of fact a considerable part of them had cancer of the stomach) with fine results."

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 23. —(INS)—Business was moderate in spot here today, with prices steady. Sales totaled 7,000 bales, receipts amounted to 24,000 bales, of which were 12,000 American.

Industrial Stocks Seek Lower Level in Monday Trading

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. —(INS)—Stocks settled down to a generally lower level of prices today in a profit taking and liquidating movement which wiped out most of the early gains as well as a portion of last week's spectacular advances.

The day's developments in finance and industry were both favorable. Industrial and commercial centers reported further expansion of important lines of manufacturing industry and the oil market advanced after opening at a 12 cent mark.

From that standstill there was their first special stimulus for local investors of stocks, which the commission houses, which have been emphasizing the need for speculation, now well their appeal for profit taking and the tightening of leads of margin stock in view of the wide advance in prices in recent weeks.

The steel stocks and the motor, with a few of the high-priced specialties, were offered in large volume around the noon period. The market gave ground gradually, price levels in many of the market favorites receiving the support of buying demand from the "barge buyers" who have been ready to purchase a point or two below the previous closing prices.

Many New Records Have Been Set By Mail Plane Pilots

CHICAGO, Oct. 22. —(INS)—Slashing train schedules to tatters, air mail pilots have been hanging up some speedy records recently, according to a survey of the National Air Transport Association.

Pilot James Ray flew from Atlanta, Ga., to Miami, Fla., 622 miles in five hours and 35 minutes, an average of 112 miles an hour, cutting 18 hours from the train time.

Earl Ward on the Cleveland-New York run negotiated that hop of 304 miles in two hours and 14 minutes. His average speed, aided by a strong wind, was 174.4 miles per hour.

A tri-motored, 12-passenger plane between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago made the trip in two hours and 45 minutes, averaging 125 miles an hour, contrasted with train schedule of 12 hours.

Out on the Pacific Coast mail pilots have flown from Portland to San Francisco, which takes 20 hours by train, in four hours when they had favorable winds, while a three-engine, 14-passenger plane operated by an air mail company from Los Angeles to San Francisco makes that non-stop flight in three hours, a journey that requires 48 hours by train.

NEW YORK COTTON

Johns Hopkins medical students must now take a course in cooking, and whatever the effect of the new requirement on their professional success, it will make them more matrimonially.
