

Board Votes Closing Of County Home

The Board of County Commissioners today officially closed the County Home and announced that Commissioners John Alexander and Lee Gary had been appointed to make a study and propose uses to which the home could be put.

It was understood that the two commissioners would decide if the space available could be utilized for expansion of offices for various county departments. They are also to decide what disposition is to be made of the furnishings at the home.

The board authorized transfer of all foodstuffs from the home to the county jail. In addition, it was decided that present employees would complete their services as of the end of the current week and that their services would be terminated at that time. Two weeks' severance pay was okayed by the Commission for these employees.

Patients which were being cared for at the home have now been transferred to private institutions. At the time the board decided to close the home it was reported that only six patients were being served in the facility.

Resignation Of Tamm Accepted

After listening to proposals for waterfront developments for two hours, Monday, discussions were called to a halt by Mayor A. L. Wilson and the commission got on to other items on the agenda.

The resignation of Finance Director Henry Tamm was accepted "with sincere regret," and commissioners unanimously voted him a resolution of appreciation.

Dr. Vincent Roberts was re-appointed to the Civil Service board;

A beer and wine license was approved for Kenneth and Ruby Quarris at 713 W. Ninth St.;

Commissioners heard first reading of an ordinance to rezone from R-2 to R-5 an area of Seminole Park and the Town of Sanford;

In other action commissioners deadlocked several times over voting on proposals and issues, with Mayor Wilson having to make the deciding vote.

They tabled authorization of payment of Reynolds, Smith and Hill for port study contract; granted low bid to Linder Industrial Machinery of Lakeland for a pneumatic roller; tabled a request for purchase of city property west of the storm sewer; turned down an offer of property across from the city shop; voted to sell three parcels of land on the Lake Mary Road, and approved consideration of consulting services for specialized work on the water improvement program.

Scranton Puts Aside Defeat; Pledges Support Of Goldwater

'I Know How Barry Felt' In 1960, He Says

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gov. William W. Scranton, as Sen. Barry Goldwater did four years ago, turned today from a crushing defeat within his own party to do battle against the Democrats.

True to his promise, the Pennsylvania put aside the bitterness of his ill-starred campaign against Goldwater and pledged "whatever campaigning talent I may have to the job of winning Republican victories on every level this fall."

He did so in dramatic fashion, standing under the klieg lights and before a stilled Republican National Convention just as Goldwater had freed and acknowledged a foredoomed defeat at the convention in Chicago in 1960.

Scranton made it plain at the outset that he was thinking of the moment when Goldwater called on his followers to forget their disappointment and heartache and unite behind the victor of that year, Richard M. Nixon.

"Four years ago another Republican stood where I stand now and I think I know what was in his heart," Scranton said in beginning. And in concluding, he told his followers:

"Come, let us work within the Republican party, not from outside it. That is the way we can best serve our principles . . . this is the way that we can be faithful to the Republican mission as we understand it, and as we treasure it, and that, truly, is the best way possible to serve our conscience and to serve our country."

It wasn't until two hours later that Scranton made his pledge to Goldwater in person. Together with his wife, Mary, and their four children, he walked down a back stairway from his suite on the 16th floor of the Mark Hopkins Hotel to Goldwater's rooms on the 15th floor. The two men were closeted for 10 minutes. Then Scranton and his family returned without talking to newsmen.

Back With Sox

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bill Moose Skowron landed back "home" today with the Chicago White Sox. A Chicago native, Skowron was dealt to the White Sox by the Washington Senators, who passed up the $20,000 waiver price and obtained Joe Cunningham plus a player to be named later from the White Sox.

NEW ACQUAINTANCES

GREENVILLE, N. C. — (NEA) — East Carolina College, competing in the Southern Conference for the first time, will meet only three conference foes this fall.

The Pirates will face Richmond, Oct. 24; The Citadel, Oct. 31; and Furman, Nov. 7.

The body of the coral shrimp is colored red and white, while its eggs are bright blue, Marineland of Florida reports.

TWIST CONTEST winners in the five, six and seven year old group at Longwood Elementary School were Janie Fuller and Tommy Addison, top. In the Limbo, bottom photo, Jackie McGough was winner for the 10 years and older group. The dance contests were staged last Friday as part of the school's summer recreation program. (Herald Photo)

Dairymen Called On To Bring Down Costs

Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner this week challenged Florida dairymen to learn to live with competition and bring costs in line.

Speaking to what one speaker described as the largest group of producers and distributors together in 29 years, Conner said, "I hope we can preserve the dairy industry and that it will continue to contribute to the state's economy."

Conner referred to the recent Supreme Court ruling which opened the way for Florida distributors to purchase out-of-state milk, saying that it had created a crisis in the Florida milk industry.

"When we approach the milk industry, we must look in three directions — toward the consumer, the producer, and the distributor," Conner emphasized the need for a "reasonable profit for both producer and distributor and a realistic price at the consumer level."

To survive and flourish, Conner said the dairy industry must be ultra-efficient. He pointed out that milk is drastically under-promoted, perhaps because milk has always met with consumer acceptance.

Synthetics, new products, fads are helping to create competition at a retail level, the Commissioner emphasized.

He said there is a need to seek out new markets. He cited the milk success story being written in Japan, pointing out that the school lunch program there uses millions of pounds of non-fat dry milk. He said that during the next decade Japan expects a 600 percent increase in milk consumption, compared with an anticipated per capita decrease in the United States.

As far as the future of the dairy industry is concerned, Conner said that rapid changes in production techniques can be expected.

Conner called for a "united agriculture" and "sincere, conscientious industry leadership."

"Never before have we needed leadership as we do now," he said.

Social Security

Q. My wife has her own social security record and will soon be 62. I'm still working and making a good salary to support us both. Will my earnings keep her from drawing social security checks from her own record?

A. No, not if your wife draws from her own record.

Q. My daughter's husband has deserted her and my wife and I now help support her children. Since I draw social security checks, I wonder if I can draw anything for these children?

A. Sorry, but only your own, or adopted, or step children are covered by your social security record.

Q. I haven't worked under social security for the last 10 years. Are the credits I earned back then still good?

A. Yes. They're still on your record and will stay there.

Q. My son recently reached age 18, but he is still in high school. Is there any way his social security checks can be continued?

A. No. Only disabled children's checks can continue after 18.

Private School Bill Signed In Mississippi

By United Press International

Mississippi Gov. Paul Johnson signed into law Wednesday night a plan for avoiding massive public school desegregation this fall.

The law, enacted by a special session of the legislature, calls for state tuition grants for children of both races who want to attend private, segregated schools.

Similar plans have been thrown out by federal courts in Virginia and Alabama, but Mississippi officials say their proposal is different in that it allows public schools to remain open.

South Carolina also has a tuition grant plan and a third school district in the state Wednesday asked to be included in the program. The State Education Department notified 18 South Carolina school districts Wednesday they stand to lose federal funds for impacted areas if they don't present desegregation plans by this fall.

In Birmingham, Ala., Wednesday, Negroes filed legal objections to a plan to desegregate four grades in Gadsden, Huntsville and Madison County this fall. This suit said the three school systems were delaying complete integration "for the sake of delay alone."

3 Die In Plane

ANSBACH, Germany (UPI) — A Lufthansa Airlines Boeing 780B four engine jet with three crew members aboard crashed and burned today. The three men were killed.

TOKYO (UPI) — A blaze believed started by spontaneous combustion swept through 10 wooded waterfront warehouses Tuesday night and killed 19 firemen in what was called the worst fire to hit Tokyo since the American fire-bomb raids of World War II.

Mrs. G. On Top Of World

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mrs. Barry Goldwater was on top of the world today, overwhelmed to be the wife of the Republican party's presidential nominee.

Peggy Goldwater was present at the Cow Palace Wednesday night when the GOP picked her husband to be its standard bearer in the election in November. It was a time of supreme happiness and the culmination of a long struggle for the Goldwater family.

"I'm thrilled to death," Mrs. Goldwater said. "I am overwhelmed and overcome," she went on. "There are no words to express my feeling."

Wednesday night she had to get it alone without the Arizona senator, but tonight it will be a different story.

The safest way to view the vicious gross moral war probably through the portals at Marineland of Florida.

look Wednesday night in her time of glory, and obviously liked it.

While the delegates were wildly whooping it up for Goldwater, his wife threw confetti, popped noise makers, blew kisses, and waved to the cheering crowds. She also dabbed the tears from her eyes as she shared her happiness with the emotional outpouring of affection by Goldwater supporters.

Both Mrs. Goldwater and Mrs. William W. Scranton had to suffer those inner pangs. But for the Arizona senator's wife, victory had long been sewed up and she was surrounded by family and friends.

Mary Scranton was magnificent and at times almost alone with a dignity and courage in the convention hall.

Mrs. Goldwater is going to be a very attractive secret weapon for the GOP in the forthcoming campaign. She always has been shy about politics, but she took another

Groups Pool Efforts To Aid Mentally Retarded Children

A group of lay and professional people, interested in child welfare, and in particular in the welfare of mentally retarded children have pooled their resources in an effort to provide more help for these children.

They recognized that the retarded child, far below the intelligence level of normal children, often unaccepted by them and lonely, needs professional guidance, training and an adequately supervised play and learning atmosphere.

Their first step has been the organization of a summer camping facility for the "special child," called Camp Chipola. Long a dream of Florida educators and laymen, the camp became a reality in June when it officially received its first campers.

A complete program of summer camping activities is available under the supervision of trained, experienced counselors.

The director is Mr. John F. Jacobs, BSE, University of Florida, a teacher of mentally handicapped children. Also on the staff in addition to a consulting medical doctor, is a registered nurse and Mr.

Charles M. Coaker, AB, MS who is clinical psychologist with the Child Guidance Clinic of Pinellas County, Florida.

Camp Chipola is approved, endorsed by and meets all the applicable requirements of the Florida Conference of Social Welfare; the American Camping Association; Florida State Board of Health; American Association of Crippled Children and Adults' Guide for Camping for Handicapped.

The camp is also approved by the University of Florida for graduate work in the field of special education. The latter approval was required in that cabin counselors include graduate students from the University of Florida.

Everything possible is being done, according to officials of the Camp, to make the children's summer visit wholesome and worthwhile. Supervised play programs include hiking, cookouts, nature study sessions, overnight camping, story telling, folk dancing and, for children who may: horseback riding, controlled classes in beginning and advanced swimming and other water sports will be held.

The atmosphere of the camp is natural—not clinical. Rustic cabins and a "cafeteria" or combination cafeteria-auditorium have been constructed. An old automobile with lopsided wheels has been donated to camp officials for use as a "clown car" to help entertain the youngsters.

Camp Chipola is located on 70 acres of rolling woodland in Northern Florida near Worthington. The camp site is along the white sandy banks of the Santa Fe River.

According to camp officials the camp's current operations will be limited to summer activities at the outset. Further expansion plans will include other services for children including a year-round resident school. Those desiring further information on Camp Chipola should write to the director: Mr. John F. Jacobs, Camp Chipola, Worthington, Florida.

Area Men In Service

Five U. S. Army reservists from Sanford joined 300 others at Fort Stewart, Ga., Monday to begin summer training. The unit commanded by Col. David Hanlon, will train for two weeks at Fort Stewart, then return to their home station at the Reserve Armory in Orlando.

Men from Sanford who are undergoing summer training include Capt. Jerome Lisengfelt, Capt. William Runge, Specialist James DeRose, PFC Everett Albert and PFC Joe Crane.

Richard J. Jansen, machinist's mate fireman, USN, son of Mrs. Anna E. Jansen of 412 Orange Ave. is a crew member of the Navy ballistic missile submarine, USS John Adams operating in Cape Kennedy area testing ballistic missile capabilities. The Adams is the newest of the HM subs and is equipped with the A-3 missile with a range of 2,500 miles.

Roy W. Filieger, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert B. Filieger of 214 S. Elm Ave. is undergoing active duty recruit training at the Naval Training Center in Great Lakes, Ill.

Pvt. Carl E. Stephens Jr., has completed advanced infantry training at the U. S. Army Training Center in Fort Gordon, Ga.

The 19-year-old soldier graduated from Lyman High School in 1963 and entered the Army in February 1964. His home is at 2300 Lake Rd., in Fern Park.

Pvt. David Haines, a 1963 graduate of Lyman High School has completed advanced infantry training at Fort Gordon, Ga. He is the son of Rev. Lewis D. Haines, Altamonte Springs, Florida.

Army PFC Harold D. Grice, with the 8th Infantry Division participated in Operation Northwind, a joint Army-Air Force tactical exercise held in Germany in June.

The maneuver utilized the combined fighting strength of the Army and Air Force units stationed in Europe to accomplish the largest single-day air drop of combat troops since WWII.

PFC Grice is the son of Mrs. Thelma Bell of 718 W. First St. in Sanford.

If you were in the military service during the period from October 1, 1949 to December 23, 1963 and had your orders changed or modified while you were on leave or en route to a new station, you may now be reimbursed.

Basis for the claim is a new law, Public Law 88-238 which entitles you to travel reimbursement from your old duty station to the new station, even though you may have traveled hundreds of miles in the wrong direction unaware of a change.

Melvin T. Dixon, director of the Florida Department of Veterans Affairs at P. O. Box 1437, St. Petersburg, Florida is the person to contact if you think you are eligible for any reimbursement.

Deadline for filing your claim is December 22, 1964.

A SCRAMBLE for coins pitched to the bottom of the swimming pool at the Carl Lommel home in Longwood was enjoyed by the young people attending a recent splash party and covered dish supper for the Volunteer Fire Department and Ladies Auxiliary and their families.

Post Holiday Outing Held For Firemen

By Donna Estes

The Longwood Volunteer Fire Department and Ladies Auxiliary, and their families, enjoyed a splash party and covered dish supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lommel last Saturday afternoon and evening.

The outing, sponsored by the auxiliary, was planned as an "entertainment" for all those who worked so hard in planning and staging the recent Fourth of July Fiesta.

The guests swam in the Lommel pool, played volleyball and keep-away, and many of the young people enjoyed square dancing.

Ike Says 1952 Roll Call Dull

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says he "never will quite understand" politicians. And he recalls being "bored to pieces" by the convention roll call which made him the Republican presidential nominee in 1952.

The guests swam in the Lommel pool, played volleyball and keep-away, and many of the young people enjoyed square dancing.

Foods served for the supper were baked ham, macaroni and cheese, potato and green bean casserole, macaroni salad, potato salad, kidney bean salad, baked beans, jello salad, ham casserole, hot dogs, pickled beets and onions, apple pie, pecan pie, cupcakes, punch and coffee.

Eisenhower shared with television viewers Wednesday memories of his first-ballot conquest of Sen. Robert A. Taft for the GOP nomination at Chicago 12 years ago. Talking about the roll call vote, he said:

"This bored me to pieces. I just couldn't have had any less interest, and particularly when they got to polling the delegations by name."

The 72-year-old general said he had little trouble switching from positions of military command to responsibilities of civilian leadership.

"What I didn't know anything about," he said, "was . . . the maneuverings among political parties and political factions within the same party. For this I just had to depend upon people more knowledgeable than myself."

The former Chief Executive did his reminiscing in an interview televised by the American Broadcasting Co.

He was asked if he had little stomach for politics and replied:

"Well, not politics as such. It was politicians that sort of bothered me . . . because I never, I guess, will quite understand them."

Those attending, other than Mr. and Mrs. Lommel and their children, Barbara, Janice and Carla, were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Esclavon, Elizabeth, Larry, Luckie, Freddie, Ricky and Gene; Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Snow, Mr. and Mrs. Orland Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Eaton, Cindy and Debbie; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Willis, Bruce, Keith and Billy; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bradshaw, Gerry and Albert; Pat Swenson, Patrick Shea, Gina Balanski, Ronnie Kennedy, David Shea, John Krull, and Donald Carier.

The doors will open at 7:30 p.m. and dancing will be the order of the night until 11 p.m. The dance will be open to all Junior and Senior High students with recreation cards.

Vacation Dance Friday Night

The Sanford Recreation Department will present a special Vacation Dance, Friday night at the Sanford Recreation Center. Music will be featured by the "Blue Charades" and the "Checkmates" in a "Battle of Bands."

Mrs. Raymond Lundquist Hostess To Bridal Coffee Feting Miss Kay Ivey

MRS. RAYMOND LUNDQUIST, left, was hostess at her lovely Loch Arbor home to a recent bridal coffee reception in honor of Miss Kay Ivey, July bride-elect of Ronald Lindsey, Mrs. Lundquist serves refreshing strawberry punch to Mrs. Edwin L. Lindsey, Ronald's mother, Miss Ivey, bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. John Ivey.

Mrs. Raymond Lundquist were cleverly arranged to form miniature bridal bouquets. Two hanging baskets of white carnations with pink satin streamers attached were suspended from the archway, leading to the round punch table, centered in front of a picture window overlooking the flower garden. The punch table was covered in pastel pink net over satin with frilly ruffles cascading to the floor. Sweetheart roses edged the circular table, and the refreshing strawberry punch, in a crystal bowl, was surrounded by sweetheart roses.

A square table, identical to the punch table, in the pink net covering, was edged in pink satin ribbon with nose-gays at the corners. Coffee was poured from elegant antique silver service flanked by crystal candelabra holding tall pink tapers. Both tables were simply lovely, and reflected an enchanting bridal atmosphere. Dainty tea sandwiches, toasted nuts, miniature candles and cakes were offered from silver and crystal service.

Kay received the guests in a stunning blue and yellow original print frock, featuring a full skirt and low cut bodice, and wearing the carnation corsage, presented to her by Mrs. Lundquist, at her waistline.

Mrs. John Ivey, Kay's mother, received in a smart white crepe sheath belted in satin, and Mrs. Edwin Lindsey, mother of the future bridegroom was attired in a stunning brocade sheath.

Mrs. Lundquist received the guests in a chic red linen, featuring peek-a-boo fastenings.

Mrs. Lee Swartz, Mrs. Benjie Austin, Mrs. Kay Shoemaker and Mrs. John Fitzpatrick capably assisted Mrs. Lundquist in serving the 85 guests who called during the appointed hours.

Between Us Fans

By BOB SUDYK
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Back in the days when the Roman Coliseum played to packed houses, sports—if you are the type to think of them this way—were a little one-sided. Match a skinny lion with one Christian and you are going to end up with a fat lion.

But even in those days the fans got a kick out of watching lions. They may be the earliest ancestors of the Mets' present-day new breed.

One day, however, the Christians got fed up. They issued notice: "We have had it . . . We're tired of being considered hors d'oeuvres . . . We're fighting mad and we're gonna teach those lions a lesson, yes sir!" From then on the Christians began eating hot peppers and garlic and the lions began eating barb.

This, friends, was the background for the Mets' new breed, Shea Stadium and the 1964 All-Star game.

Senior Al Lopez, the brave colts who commands the White Sox legion, was found guilty by American League president Joe Cronin. The smiling senior captained the AL stars against the awesome lions of the National League. Al, a good Christian, said he was going to win it.

The Nationals managed a burp in reply.

"It would do us a lot of good to puncture the talk about how much stronger the National League is supposed to be," said Al, who has lost three All-Star games and two World Series to the NL lions.

Cleveland Indian Leon Wagner scoffed at the National: "I'm tired of reading about how good those guys are . . . Teams in the same place in the standings in either league would be evenly matched . . . I'll compare Sandy Koufax and Whitey Ford, Willie Mays and Mickey Mantle . . . Billy Pierce and Don Larsen couldn't get anybody out here any more but they did it over there."

Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins and All-Star several times agreed with Wagner: "All of a sudden all the talent is over there . . . Just give us three years, we have some great talent . . . Sure we'd like to knock them off in the All-Star game."

Harmon's best — three for four—wasn't enough to bail out the AL.

With this attitude sweeping the league, the All-Star game was for blood—on paper. Whitey Ford said he was itching for another chance at Koufax. Whitey didn't even get a chance to pitch. A Yankee player said he had never seen such a feeling of determination going into the glamor game.

Now the lions have won again and we don't know any more E.B. — Before Shea Stadium.

Yanks Blank Baltimore To Take American Loop Lead

Clubs To Battle Again Tonight

By Fred Down
UPI Sports Writer
The New York Yankees occupy first place in the American League because in a critical moment Yogi Berra called the tune, Whitey Ford played it and Boog Powell danced to it.

The moment of crisis came in the ninth inning of the Yankees' 2-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday when Powell stepped to the plate with Jackie Brandt on base and two out. A homer would have tied the score and Ford feared that he might feed the gopher pitch to Powell because an aching right hip was preventing him from throwing his sharp-breaking curve.

The 35-year-old Ford asked Berra to choose between letting him pitch sliders or calling in Steve Hamilton to pitch to Powell. Berra chose to let Ford handle the job with sliders and Whitey responded by getting Powell to hit into a game-ending infield out.

The victory raised Ford's season record to 13-2 and his seventh shutout tied his own club record for one season. Also, the 41st shutout of his career surpassed the mark he previously shared with Red Ruffing.

Joe Pappone drove in both New York runs with a single in the second inning as the Yankees rolled to their sixth straight victory since the All-Star break and dealt the Orioles their fourth straight setback.

The Boston Red Sox routed the Chicago White Sox, 11-2, the Minnesota Twins downed the Washington Senators 6-0, the Kansas City Athletics beat the Cleveland Indians 5-3 and 3-2 and the Los Angeles Angels swept a doubleheader from the Detroit Tigers 4-1 and 1-0.

In the National League, Milwaukee defeated San Francisco 6-2, Los Angeles routed St. Louis 13-3, Cincinnati nipped Houston 3-1, Pittsburgh topped Philadelphia 3-0 and Chicago edged New York 3-2.

Dick Stuart hit his 19th and 20th homers of the season and lifted his RBI total to 73 with six runs batted in to pave the way for Boston's Arnold Earley to win his first game of the season.

Carl Yastrzemski weighed in with three hits in the 14-hit Boston attack.

Jim Grant pitched "an old time shutout"—allowing 13 hits but pitching out of numerous jams—for the Twins, whose 11-hit attack was spiced with homers by Jimmie Hall, Rich Rollins and Jim Snyder, John Kennedy had four hits for the Senators.

Homers by Bill Bryan and Rocky Colavito backed Ted Dowdell's five-hit pitching in the nightcap after West Stock scored his 12th straight win over two seasons with 2½ innings of shutout relief pitching in the Kansas City sweep of the Indians.

Lou Clinton and Felix Torres homered to give the Angels their margin of victory in their first game and then Dean Chance pitched a five-hitter as Los Angeles completed the sweep of the two-night doubleheader. Bob Perry's eight-inning homer gave the Angels the only run of the nightcap.

Kingswood And Bankers Grab Softball Wins

The Kingswood Builders "bult" on their winning streak Wednesday night when they extended their number of consecutive victories to 17 as the result of a 10 to 1 victory over Wilson Maier.

Lelloy Estridge captured his 13th game in as many decisions and allowed the Furnituremen only four singles over the seven-inning route.

Kingswood's Butch Cook registered three hits, Don Harvey teamed up with Danny Underwood and Esteridge to post two apiece. Underwood, Cook and Don Carter had homers as Kingswood posted its 26th victory in 27 games.

Pat Nicks of Florida State's Bankers uncorked a game-winning bases loaded triple in the sixth frame to lead his club to a 7 to 6 squeaker over McRaney's Painters.

Noles and Robert Murrice each had two hits to lead the Bankers. Larry Watson was the only McRaney player to manage as many as two hits.

McRaney threatened in the last inning but two runs was all they could muster. Don Hunter picked up the win in a fine performance for the Bankers.

YOU CAN scare up wildlife from the water that you'd never find from a land approach to habitat.

3-Wildlife

By BILL MCCORMICK
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
No matter where you boat, the chances are you can scare up all kinds of wildlife from the water that you couldn't even get close to by land. Because they are not as often bothered by man, creatures that live near the water are usually less wary of humans than those that live less secluded lives.

There are birds around the water that never are seen far over land. Terns usually breed on sand dunes and coots nest in rushes on the margin of, or in, the water. Nothing can afford more pleasure to a wildlife lover than observing some of the diving birds as they fly over the water and suddenly dart down through the waves to scoop up a tasty morsel of fish.

Wading birds, which stay near or in the water, are fun to discover and amusing to watch. They can be beautiful or grotesque—and sometimes both.

No matter how desecrated a beach may look, you can be assured it is teeming with fantastic creatures, ranging in size from fiddler to king crabs.

Reptiles or mammals may be observed from your craft, depending on where you do your boating. A boatman lucky enough to spot otters, especially if they are at play, has scored a wildlife jackpot. There is one river in Florida which abounds in wildlife, including monkeys. It is said that in the thick woods—almost jungle—that line the river's shores, such exotic creatures as lions and tigers are to be found.

This is true. The monkeys and other forms of wildlife not usually found running loose in North America were sick animals, released to recover naturally by wise veterinarians attached to a circus which wintered nearby. Not every boatman can be fortunate enough to spot monkeys, tigers and lions, but he can find plenty of interest if he goes looking for wildlife. NEXT: Sightseeing.

Casselberry In Twin Wins Over Altamonte Nine

The Casselberry club in the Seminole Senior League, replacing a 6 to 6 tie in a previous contest for the first half title, posted an 8 to 6 victory over Altamonte Springs at Cooper Field in Casselberry's Recreation Park.

Going into the seventh frame, Altamonte Springs was able to get Williams and Newell aboard but Casselberry's hurler, Brent Helms, whiffed the next two hitters to retire the side.

In the final stanza, Ronnie Skeen got aboard and Rick Miller broke up the affair with a homer.

In another affair, Casselberry took a 6 to 0 decision from Altamonte Springs with Helms going the distance to pick up the victory.

Brezhnev Now In Position To Succeed Nikita

MOSCOW (UPI) — The rise of Leonid I. Brezhnev in the Communist party marks the apparent end of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's second search for a successor, diplomatic observers said today.

Brezhnev, once in semi-disgrace, resigned the Soviet presidency Wednesday to devote his full time to serving as Khrushchev's chief deputy in running the all-powerful party.

Observers said the move meant the 57-year-old son of a steel worker has clinched the crown prince role that puts him in line to assume Khrushchev's political supremacy when the premier decides to step down or dies.

Khrushchev has shown no signs of slowing down, but he has reached the age of 70 and obviously is anxious to prepare a smooth succession that would avert a power struggle. In the Soviet Union the power is held by the Communist party which controls all facets of Soviet life, including the government headed by the premier. The presidency is largely a ceremonial and protocol post with little real power.

Brezhnev is second to Khrushchev in the party hierarchy. By assuming more of Khrushchev's party chores, he will acquire more political stature.

Dynatronics Reports Profit For Fiscal Year

Parker Painter Jr., president of Dynatronics, Inc., Seminole County based electronics firm announced to company stockholders Tuesday that business for the firm to date in the new fiscal year totals $3,808,000-$450,000 of which has been booked in the past 30 days.

In his annual report, Painter stated that the company had come from a loss position in the previous year to a modest profit position for the year concluded March 29, 1964 on a volume of $4,298,000. The surge of business in the new fiscal year represents a 35 per cent increase over the same period a year ago and Painter declared "is just $500,000 short of the company's net sales for the entire year just ended."

Painter noted a shift in the nature of the company's operation during the year from one primarily of custom engineering and research and development contracts in support of the nation's space programs, to one of "a product-oriented systems engineering company."

Two additional diversification moves were initiated during the year, both aimed at removing the company from total dependence upon U.S.

Government contracts, according to the report. One was an international sales effort, which already has accounted for more than $1 million in business for the current year.

The other was formation of a Commercial Products Division, which catalogs a complete line of components required by the background music industry.

The Dynatronics president expressed optimism for the current year and projected a gross contracts volume of approximately $5 million, accompanied by a substantial increase in profits and a modest increase in employment level for the firm.

Wrecker Lives Up To Its Name

A wrecker lived up to its name literally, Thursday about 9:15 p. m. when a cable broke, with the result that the wrecker landed on top of the car it was attempting to pull out of Lake Monroe.

Near the Lake Monroe Inn on Seminole Boulevard (which borders Lake Monroe) the tow chain broke and the first car, skidding on the wet pavement, plunged into the lake.

Company To Be Employed For Project

Sanford City Commissioners, meeting in a study session Thursday night, voted to go ahead and employ marine engineers to make a preliminary planning study of the proposed waterfront development plan.

The long-range, comprehensive plan, which covers the entire waterfront area on Lake Monroe, from Park Ave. east to Meltonville Ave. was presented to the commissioners Monday by a group of Sanford bankers and three other businessmen.

T. E. Tucker, president of Florida State Bank, George Touhy, executive vice president of First Federal, Howard Hodges, president of Sanford Atlantic Bank and John Burton IV, architect, financed a pictorial development plan for the waterfront area, and printed a brochure outlining the proposal and objectives.

After discussion, studying of engineering maps of Lake Monroe and review of the proposals made by the bankers group, City Commissioners instructed City Manager W. E. Knowles to contact the Florida Engineering Society for the names of marine engineering firms which will be invited here for interviews.

Commissioners said that they would interview the engineers, place before them the proposal and outline what they wished the study to show, requesting that the engineers present preliminary outlines of the costs and studies that would be made.

Commissioners also decided to request the City Manager to inform the Snow-Todd group that they are not interested in their marina proposal at this time.

Kiwanians found the doors of the Civic Center "barricaded" after lunch Wednesday, when members of the South Seminole-North Orlando Kiwanis Club stacked up boxes of candy and soap which they had been unsuccessful in selling, vowing that no one could get out without buying one or the other or both.

Last week, Kiwanians had to buy up articles left over from their own recent auction, which had gotten shoved back and not produced when the public auction was held. Everybody went home with a can of bug spray, floor wax or furniture polish.

Those interested in discussing social security questions with the governmental agency might mark your calendars now. A representative will be at the Commission Chamber at City Hall between 9:30 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. on Aug. 6, 12, 19 and 26.

The Clock Watchers urged persons interested in the possible formation of a Humane Society to look for a letter in the Letters to the Editor Tuesday, but the letter failed to make that edition. However, it is in today, so please look again.

Sunshine committee chairman of the Kiwanis Club, Mayor A. D. Wilson, reading the list of club members or their families who are ill reported that Bob Jackson (RAD, ret.) was stung by a wasp between the patio and the car-pool! Kiwanians agreed that was a bad place to be stung.

So glad to see Don McAllister (Fishing and Hunting) in our office the other day, to bring us a story on the tremendous progress of Dynamics, Inc.

Don expressed great interest in the proposals to develop the Sanford waterfront and offered to do anything he could to promote it via his program. Don has always been a booster for greater use and enjoyment of the waterfront and we welcome his support.

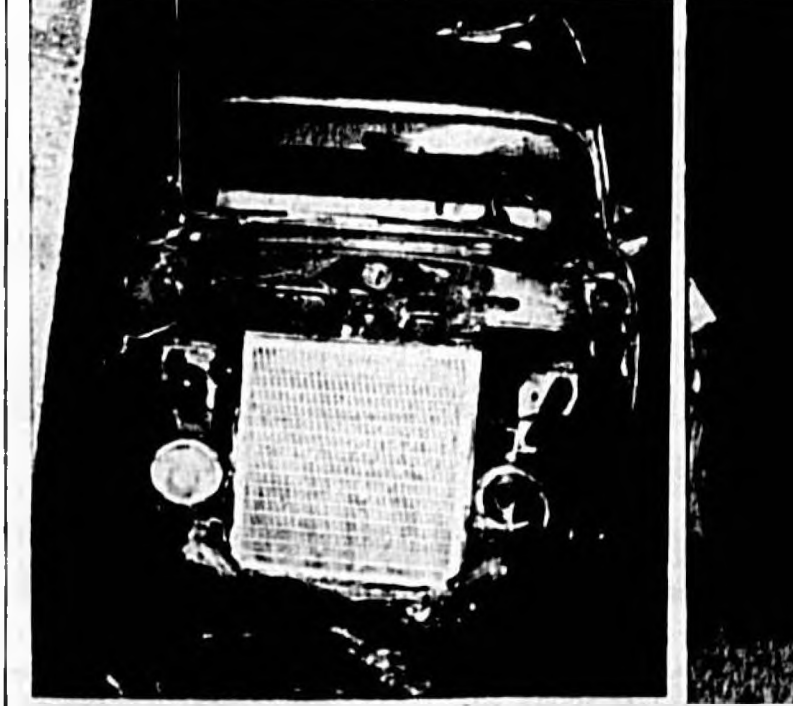

Sanford is due a parade Saturday morning. And a band concert, too, as the Marching Seminoles promote sale of movie tickets to raise money for band trips. The movie is "The Patsy" starring Jerry Lewis. It starts Sunday.

The recent Kiwanis supper and auction netted the club $1,144 the projects committee reported Wednesday. The money will be applied toward the Scholarship Fund and helping needy children, the primary philanthropic work of Kiwanians.

In 1920 the Winter Park Telephone Company, the utility which also serves south Seminole County, had 250 phones in service. In 1940 it had 3,000. The number jumped to 10,000 in 1956, 20,000 in 1960 and 25,000 in 1962. The company has just installed its 30,000th telephone—at the new Iveys in Winter Park Mall—a growth of 5,000 phones over the past two years. By the way, the 30,000th telephone was a gold one.
