Butler & Fagan: 'Burying The Hatchet'

By MAX ERKILETIAN
Herald Staff Writer

A one-hour meeting between Sanford Police Captain Charles Fagan and Chief Ben Butler attended by Fagan's private attorney Newman Brock and city officials resulted in a mutual agreement to end personal differences and try to work better together.

"Essentially what the meeting was about was to discuss personal problems between the two men (Fagan and Butler)," said Vernon Mize, Sanford City Attorney. "They agreed in front of all of us to bury the hatchet and try to get along and work well together."

Attending the Wednesday meeting along with Fagan, Butler, Brock and Mize were City Manager Warren Knowles and City Commissioner John Morris, liaison commissioner for police.

"There were no written agreements," said Brock. "We all just sat around and very candidly talked about previous problems. It was the old concept of just sitting down and trying to resolve the situation."

Parties on both sides of the discussion have declined to elaborate on the specifics of the discussion. Knowles said all those present agreed any public comments about the meeting should come from Brock or Mize.

"I'd really rather not be specific about the topics discussed, because those things have been aired before and I don't want to bring them up again," commented Brock.

Brock said he did not feel Fagan's job had been in jeopardy prior to the meeting and indicated he felt Fagan's future with the police department is secure. Mize agreed that Fagan's position with the police department is secure.

"Yes, absolutely," Mize remarked when asked if Fagan's job is secure. "There are no plans afoot to my knowledge to dismiss Captain Fagan."

Mize did say Fagan's job assignment was discussed. "Fagan indicated he didn't like his assignment, but that might change, some time in the future, though there is nothing immediate I know about," said Mize.

Butler kept to his part of the agreement not to comment on the meeting other than to say, "the smoke is gone." He also indicated he was happy with the meeting and would stand behind what the city attorney says.

Fagan hired Brock, who in turn contacted Morris to arrange the meeting, according to Brock.

Mayor Lee P. Moore, who was made aware of the meeting, said he was not present.

Did Sims Look-Alike Slay Deputy? Murder Case Goes To Jury

By DENNIS FEOLA
Herald Staff Writer

Does Terry Sims have a look-alike who fired the shots that killed reserve Seminole County deputy George Pfeil?

The defense at Sims' murder trial opened its presentation by trying to prove that such a look-alike exists; and that James "B.B." Halsell and Curtis Baldree are trying to frame

'He hallucinated constantly'

Sims to protect his friend. The defense ended its presentation this morning and the case was expected to go to the jury after closing arguments this afternoon.

Halsell and Baldree have both admitted participating in the Dec. 29, 1977 robbery at the Longwood Village Pharmacy. As part of a plea bargaining agreement, Halsell and Baldree testified Wednesday that Sims killed Pfeil.

However, Bonnie McCumbers, who was living with Sims in Lake City, Fla., during December 1977 and January 1978, testified today that Sims was home with her on Dec. 28. In attempting to establish the look-alike theory, defense attorneys called Beverly Anne Robinson, the former wife of Clarence Eugene Robinson.

Halsell and Baldree have testified that Robinson planned the robbery and was sitting in a getaway car with Halsell when Pfeil was killed. Baldree also described himself as a "casual" user of drugs and he said he and Halsell had never worked together before the Longwood robbery.

Mrs. Robinson, who is being held at the Lowell State Prison for check forgery, flatly contradicted Baldree's statements. "Mr. Baldree was one of the worst drug addicts I've ever seen," she said. "He hallucinated constantly, he more often than not was in a semi-conscious state."

Mrs. Robinson went on to say that Baldree and Halsell had robbed and burglarized several drugstores together with a third man, whom she identified as Terry Wayne Gale. She said the trio would bring the drugs netted in their crimes to her Jacksonville home for her to sell.

"He resembles Mr. Sims," she said in the eight months she lived with him he insisted to describe Terry Gale. She said because of the close resemblance, associates of the pair nicknamed them "Big T and Little T."

She said to her knowledge Sims never worked with Halsell and Baldree.

Joyce Gray, who described herself as the common-law wife of Baldree, also contradicted his claim that he was a casual drug user.

She said in the eight months she lived with him he intravenously injected hard narcotics daily.

She also said she never met Sims, but was introduced to a man named Terry Gale by Halsell. Her description of Gale closely matched that of Sims.

This morning, the defense called Gail Millikin, also an inmate at Lowell State Prison and Halsell's former girlfriend. She testified that both Halsell and Baldree were addicted to hard drugs.

"He used to hallucinate, he would talk to people that weren't there, he would see things that weren't there," Miss

'He resembles

Mr. Sims'

Millikin said of Baldree.

She also testified that Baldree had accused her of armed robbery in Cobb County, Ga. She said the charges were dropped when they proved to be unfounded.

Miss Millikin also testified that she knew Terry Wayne Gale through her boyfriend.

Her description of Gale also closely matched Sims.

Miss McCumbers testified she first became aware of the Longwood robbery when she saw a news account on television. She said she and Sims were watching television together when the account came on television.

June and Robert Hart of St. Augustine said they moved in with Miss McCumbers and Terry Sims on Jan. 3, 1978. That's the same day Baldree testified he drove Sims to Georgia for treatment of a hip wound sustained in the shooting with Pfeil.

The couple testified that Sims was not injured when they saw him on that day. Mrs. Hart also testified she spoke with Sims on the telephone, at his home, between Dec. 29 and New Year's Eve.

It was a happy day May 12, 1974, when Mother Ruby Wilson (right) and husband, Timothy (left), with help of the U.S. Rep. Bill Gunter, burned the $10,000 mortgage in a special Sunday afternoon service.

Mother Wilson's Husband: 'We'll Continue Her Work'

With the sudden death of Mother Ruby Wilson, founder and president of Good Samaritan Home, the question arises: who will continue her work and the future of the home?

"No one can replace Mother Wilson, we can only move forward continuing the work she has started," Mother Wilson's husband, Timothy, said today. He serves as business manager and secretary-treasurer of Good Samaritan Home, Inc.

The original Good Samaritan Home was started by Mother Wilson in 1948 and they moved the residents into the present facilities on May 3, 1972.

Wilson said he and the executive staff of the Good Samaritan Home will continue Mother Wilson's philosophy and policies of "serving all humanity who seek and need their help."

Mother Wilson also operated Reethaven Day Care Center for children of working mothers.

"In keeping with Mother's desire to serve the whole man," Wilson said, "Reethaven Day Care Center will continue to operate under the same policy of training young minds for a better society."

Who will replace Mother Wilson as pastor of the Free Will Holiness Church which she founded in the 1950's? "I will if I will have me," said Assistant Pastor Henshick Ross, a member of the Good Samaritan Home board of directors.

Other members of the Good Samaritan Home board, in addition to Brother Ross, are Charles J. Lyons, Henry McAllister, Charles Phillips, Donald MacLeod, Albert Pitt, attorney, Dr. J.C. Ringling, Mrs. Mary Smith, Clyde Long, Ernest Harrell, Mrs. Lee Backus and Mr. and Mrs. George Elliott. — JANE CASSELLBERRY

What Happened, Who Was Hurt

Three persons remain hospitalized today — one of them in intensive care — with injuries sustained in a two-car collision Wednesday which claimed the life of Mother Ruby Wilson.

Sanford police say investigation of the accident is continuing.

Bertha Burton, 79, of Winter Park, a passenger in the car driven by Mother Wilson, is in serious condition in the intensive care unit of Florida Hospital, Orlando, with head and other internal injuries, according to hospital officials. Mrs. Burton was transferred to the Orlando hospital from Seminole Memorial Hospital (SMH) in Sanford shortly after the 7:45 a.m. accident.

In SMH today are: Ronald Walker, 17, of 401 Lakeview Drive, Sanford, driver of the other car, reported in satisfactory condition with a fractured jaw and cuts to his face and leg; Todd Freeman, 16, of 605 Palmetto Ave., Sanford, also in satisfactory condition with facial injuries. Freeman was a

He's Home After 15 Years in Exile

Khomenini: 'I Beg God To Cut Hands Off Foreigners'

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — With tears of emotion in his eyes Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini returned to his homeland today after nearly 15 years of exile and pledged to drive foreigners from Iran and begin the task of forming an Islamic republic that would abolish the 2,500-year-old Persian Throne.

"I beg to God to cut the hands off all those foreign advisers and helpers in Iran," the 84-year-old holy man said. "I beg to God to cut the hands off all those foreign advisers and helpers in Iran."

His arrival brought him to direct confrontation with Prime Minister Shapour Bakhtiar who was named by the Shah and led the backing of the Iranian army. Khomeini has denounced the Bakhtiar government illegal and threatened to set up his own Islamic government — a move that could lead to civil war.

Khomeini threatened to arrest Bakhtiar unless he resigned — a move Western observers said brought Iran on the brink of civil war.

he came down the steps of the plane and Khomeini did not wave to the throngs waiting on the airport observation deck. But he reached a crowd of 1,500 religious notables waiting in the airport lounge there was a demonstration that grew throughout the day.

"Allah Akbar!" (God is great) they roared. There were chants and slogans praising him for the 14-month struggle that toppled the Shah and brought the Bakhtiar government to power.

In a brief address to the clergy, Khomeini said, "This is only the first step. Our struggle continues after deposing the main obstacle, the Shah. We are still trying to find some way to cut back — but we will not allow 10 years of tyranny. We've lost everything — our culture, our all."

However, a spokesman said the revolutionary council Khomeini threatened to meet today to begin the process of forming a government based on the tenets of Islam would not be set up for two days. In the meantime there was the possibility of some

'Ayatollah': What It Really Means

The title "Ayatollah" in the Muslim religion literally means "Sign of God." It is a title bestowed upon religious leaders who are especially revered by the people and other members of the clergy. There are about 70 Ayatollahs in Iran and Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini is considered the highest of them all.

Italy Looks To Reds For 41st New Regime

ROME (UPI)—Italy, without a government for the 40th time since the fall of fascism 36 years ago, today faced the prospect of admitting Communists to the Cabinet to lure back the support of the powerful left-wing party. Premier Giulio Andreotti's minority Christian Democratic government collapsed Wednesday and Andreotti submitted the resignation of his government to Socialist President Sandro Pertini Wednesday night. Pertini was expected to name Andreotti to attempt to fuse together a new government from Italy's fractious political parties.

Algeria: Socialist Line Stays

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI)—Algeria's new president, Benjedid Chadli, has vowed to continue the strict socialist line of his legendary predecessor, Houari Boumediene. Chadli, a 49-year-old former army hero in the war of independence against France, was chosen president Wednesday by the nation's only legal party, the ruling National Liberation Front.

Pope: A Call To Unity

NASSAU, Bahamas (UPI)—Pope John Paul II, thronged by millions in Catholic Mexico and the Dominican Republic, ended his first foreign papal trip in the Protestant black Bahamas today with a call for unity to "all other Christian brothers." The pontiff—tanned, triumphant and smiling—arrived in the Bahamian capital of Nassau to the welcoming sounds of a conch shell blown much as the Jewish shofar and a calypso band for a two-hour stop in which he echoed the ecumenical message of Pope John XXIII and another traveling Pope, Paul VI.

The pope left the British Commonwealth island at 2:25 a.m. EST to return to Rome, ending a papal visit in which he opened the Third Latin American Bishops Conference and stressed that Christ was not a "political revolutionary"—a thrust at the so-called theory of liberation.

As the pontiff's Aero Mexico jetliner passed over Cuban airspace, the pope sent a message of greeting to President Fidel Castro.

"I am happy to send your excellences and all the well-wishers of the Cuban people a cordial greeting accompanied by my most warm wishes for prosperity for this dear nation whose noble virtues I sincerely appreciate," the pope said.

Loving, Caring Mother Wilson

As Mother Ruby Wilson was riding as grand marshal in the annual Sanford Christmas parade last December, she recalled later, she kept thinking to herself: "God and little poor children made this all possible; without them I wouldn't be here and this would never be happening..."

"Possible." It was a byword for Mother Wilson. It was a guiding motivation in her life's work.

Mother Wilson is gone, killed in a needless automobile accident. But her deeds will remain forever.

"Possible." The community today is sitting back to reflect on all those things Mother Wilson, with the help of her intense faith in God, made possible.

Her neighbors are remembering all the lives she touched, fostered and nurtured.

"No one was a stranger to her," observed Rev. Amos Jones, executive director of Seminole Community Action. "She was always ready to help," remembered Jack Horner, executive manager of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

"She cared about people," added Horace Orr, head of SEEDCO.

"Helping and caring"—that's how everyone will remember Mother Ruby Wilson.

She was indeed a unique individual. If you needed help, you went to her and her Good Samaritan Home.

She lived to help others—white, black, young, old—there was always food, shelter and care at her Good Samaritan Home.

Born in Sanford in 1906, even as a child she visited in homes where there was sickness or sorrow to help clean, cook or nurse.

She believed in translating faith into action. As the years passed, she gave more and more of her time and herself to this mission. And the Sanford community is all the better for it. And for her.

A complete listing of her good deeds is impossible.

Rev. Jones summed it up: "She was the Samaritan."

We can only share with her many neighbors, friends and loved ones our grief in her death and hope that her good works will continue.

"Heaven's gain is our loss," suggested County Commissioner and Seminole Community Action board member Sandra Glenn.

Amen!

The Filibuster

There is a difference between majority rule and tyranny of the majority. Negotiating the middle way between the two is not easy.

Case in point: the U.S. Senate's rules against filibustering. We think Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., is right. The rules need some fine-tuning.

A filibuster is a tactic used by a legislative minority to prevent the legislative majority from working its will. The tactic is to talk a proposal to death: by stalling until the proponents give up the effort and the legislative body moves on to other pending matters that require action.

Thus the majority will be frustrated.

The filibuster can be broken by an extraordinary majority. In the Senate, the requirement is a three-fifths majority, or 60 senators, to vote to impose closure, ending the filibuster.

Then each senator is permitted one and only one additional hour of debate. That was meant to insure an end to debate and a vote on the bill under consideration after no longer than 100 hours.

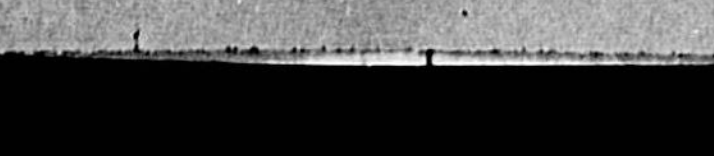

But the late Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., an expert on Senate rules, found a loophole.

Under the rules, the time taken for offering amendments and for roll calls on such amendments and quorum calls is not included in the 100-hour limitation.

Byrd proposes to make all Senate action subsequent to the closure vote, including roll calls on amendments and quorum calls, subject to the 100-hour limit.

That's fair.

Opening A Can Of Worms?

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Much as they might like to, congressional leaders are no apt to ignore the mounting political pressure for a balance-the-budget amendment to the Constitution.

Such proposals have been kicking around Capitol Hill for years, mostly under the sponsorship of conservative Republicans, but have never received serious scrutiny.

Now, with public antagonism towards big government at an all-time high, 23 states have petitioned Congress for a constitutional convention to consider a balance-the-budget amendment.

If 12 more states follow suit, such a convention—the first since the Constitution was written—might have to be held.

Many legal scholars fear that a constitutional convention, even if called for a single purpose, might open up the entire document to amendment. Since there is no precedent for such a gathering, the ground rules are anybody's guess.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chairman of the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on constitutional amendments, now plans to schedule hearings later this winter or early in the spring on the amendment of a possible constitutional convention and on the balance-the-budget amendment itself.

Bayh may ask Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and members of his Senate Budget committee to participate in the hearings inasmuch as they address the pros and cons of the proposed amendment.

Most congressional budget experts believe there is no way to write a constitutional requirement for a balanced federal budget without either dangerously destabilizing the government in times of military or economic crisis or permitting so many loopholes that the amendment is meaningless.

They are hoping the Bayh hearings may drive that point home before too many more states petition Congress for a constitutional convention on the issue.

For public consumption, the fight over selection of a site for the 1980 Republican National Convention was waged in purely legislative terms—which is the way the convention for the convention could provide the best meeting facilities and hotel accommodations.

But as anyone attending last week's GOP National Committee meeting here can testify, the real battle turned on political considerations.

Mississippi's Paul was the only state eliminated for a purely non-political reason: inadequate hotel space. Miami Beach, New Orleans and Kansas City (the 1976 convention city) fell by the boards because they are located in states which have not ratified the Equal Rights Amendment. New York has no prominent local GOP officeholders (e.g. governor or mayor), and got a bad name for excessive work space-and-equipment charges to the 1978 Democratic National Convention participants.

That left Detroit and Dallas. GOP Chairman Bill Brock, who has consistently sought to broaden the party's base and demonstrate its concern for blacks, the poor, and the cities, opted for Detroit. Party conservatives, especially supporters of Ronald Reagan, fought for Dallas although mostly they wanted a nice place to drink.

After a bruising struggle, Brock and his moderate allies won. So Detroit it will be—starting July 14, 1980, which is likely to mean the Democrats walk until August, after the summer Olympic games in Moscow.

Northern Ireland Turns From Gun, Bomb

WASHINGTON—One of the unpopulated cities in the Western world is Belfast, the capital of Northern Ireland. A decade of sectarian violence between Catholics and Protestants in Ulster's six counties has claimed more than 1,000 lives and left a legacy of fear and suspicion which blankets the rugged little city that sits in the Irish Sea.

Ten years of bombings, assassinations, demonstrations and neighborhood terror have done little to clear up the continuing political tensions which grip a thousand years of Irish history. It's a sad state of affairs, especially since the spread of terror tactics in the United States.

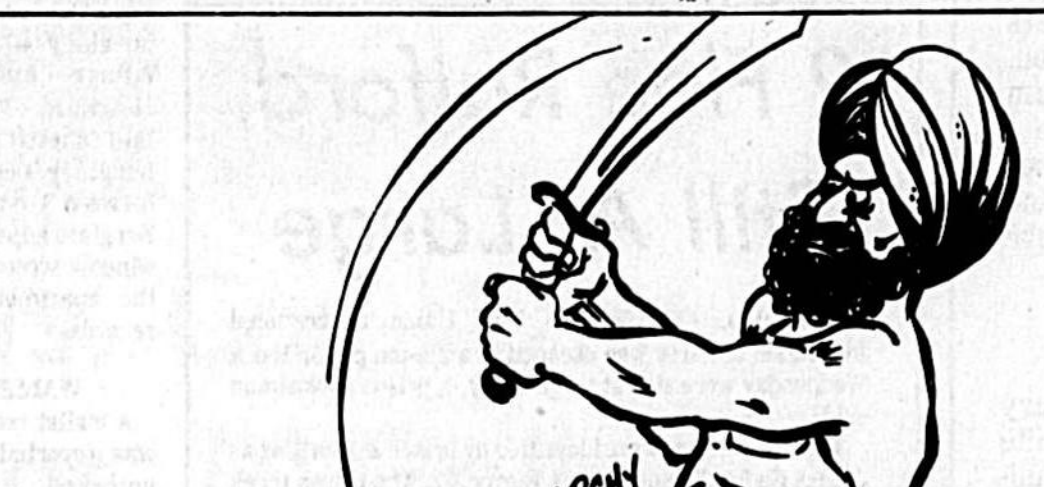

To get a glimpse view we sent our associate Jack Mitchell on a fact-finding mission to Belfast and to Dublin, capital of the Irish Republic.

During our week-long investigation, we observed the lives of all shades of political opinion, as well as other scenes which could shed light on the present situation and the future possibilities. He talked to high-ranking British and Irish officials; he looked in clandestine sessions with grim chiefs of paramilitary organizations; he questioned the ordinary citizens of Northern Ireland who pay the ultimate price for the agency that heralded its end.

Our reporter concluded that the people of Ulster, weary and heart-sick after the years of insurrectionary violence, are turning away from the guns and the bombs. The British Army and the Provisional Irish Republican Army are rapidly being pulled apart by their destructive forces among the people.

Most community leaders agreed that only a few fractions of the military apparatus with the most dangerous paramilitary organizations of the United Kingdom could be dismantled. The British Army and the Provisional Irish Republican Army are rapidly being pulled apart by their destructive forces among the people.

According to Jack Mitchell, Britain's secretary of state for Northern Ireland, every security force in the British Isles is being retrained. For its part, the I.R.A. continues to prepare...

VIEWPOINT What's In A Budget?

Credit the Carter administration with one budget-making plus: honesty.

The spending plan as finally unveiled for 1980 is pretty much what advance word said it was going to be. There are no major surprises, none of those out-of-the-hat tricks seeming to close gaps between income and outgo such as some previous administrations developed to an accounting art in the certainty that the illusion need be maintained only as long as it took Congress to begin rewriting the budget script and the public to forget about the whole dreary business.

The administration draft does look forward to an early drop in interest rates, contrary to the expectations of business economists, which would save the government a couple of billion dollars on the cost of its borrowings. But that may be more wishful thinking than trickery. And when the subject is more than a half trillion dollars, it's not easy keeping a firm grip on reality.

For those with the stamina—a touch of masochism also helps—to follow the entire process through, it will be interesting to see what Congress comes up with in the way of a final budget next September. Congress, with its greatly expanded staff and research support of recent years, is more than ever an active partner in the budgeting process. It is perfectly capable of coming up with a document that only remotely resembles the Carter first draft.

There is no need to wait, however, to see what budget provisions are the most controversial. These have been apparent for months and the debate, both within and without Congress, is already underway on the projected increases in military expenditures and the cuts in public housing.

The latter has the liberal wing of the President's own party in a state of threatened revolt. Reductions in social security, Medicare, mass transportation subsidies, school lunch programs and the like are offset by some increases in education and other social areas, but not likely sufficiently to avoid severe strain to Democratic unity during the coming debates.

Defense, where the issue is more clear-cut and the statistics easier to grasp, is likely to draw more of the coming headlines. The administration proposes a real increase of 3 percent in defense funding above and beyond what inflation adds to the military budget—to a total of $13.8 billion for 1980. There is more involved in the increase than wish fulfillment for the Pentagon. It is a diplomatic move in that it keeps a 1977 pledge made by the NATO allies to each other to boost their real defense spending to that degree.

And it also has a domestic impact in that it should soften opposition among Senate hawk to a new Soviet-U.S. strategic arms limitation treaty (SALT) when that laboriously negotiated agreement finally comes up for ratification.

"I'm sure you haven't been overjoyed with the cleaning hand on my shirt—so ring around the collar and all that—so suppose I promise that from now on I'll bring all my shirts to Mr. Teng and Mr. Teng only!"

"Dick, you're a genius. I think you've got it. That should do it. By the way, what do they wear in China this time of year? I want to go upstairs and begin packing."

PEOPLE IN BRIEF

39-29 1/2? —It's Not Sexy Enough To Cheer Dolphins. MIAMI (UPI)—You've got to be sexy to be a cheerleader. Robert Shevin, Miami Dolphins' attorney told a federal judge in answer to a suit filed by a disgruntled man who was not given a tryout.

90 Days To Veto 'Hit List'. NEW YORK (UPI)—The White House has a new hit list: passenger trains. Just as President Carter and his lieutenants went after water projects they considered wasteful, they also are attempting to kill passenger trains they deem uneeded and too costly.

Nixon: Home To Seclusion. Richard Nixon has gone back home into seclusion after meeting with Chinese Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping for almost an hour. When he left Blair House in Washington he was carrying a large package, presumably a gift from Teng. There was no word on what the ousted president and Teng discussed, but the Chinese are known to like his hard-line views on how to handle the Soviets.

Ethel Kennedy Has A Beef. Dean Small says the Christmas dinner he catered for Ethel Kennedy was a $355 gourmet delight, but Mrs. Kennedy says it was more like a sack lunch. She refused to pay, so Small is suing her in Aspen, Colo., where it all happened. He says the order was for 20 people and consisted of a 23-pound beef roast, green beans, dip and potato chips, potatoes, French bread and cake. Sniffs Mrs. Kennedy in a written answer, "the dinner basically was canned beans, canned mushrooms and a small roast."

Mae Day At Cukor's Party. It was really director George Cukor's party, but as she does wherever she goes, Mae West swiped the show when she undulated across the room and into Cukor's arms for a welcome kiss. Cukor was being honored last week by the Friends of the USC University of Southern California Library, which was screening his latest collaboration with Katharine Hepburn—the television film "The Corn Is Green."

Cauthen (0-For-109) Bids Agent Goodbye

Sports Parade By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — The split took place last week in the Santa Anita parking lot. Both parties went to great pains trying to convince everyone it wasn't a complete breakup, not a final one, anyway. They might get together again sometime, the two of them said. No matter how you looked at it, though, The Kid and his agent were saying goodbye to each other, not hello.

take Cauthen off the horse was one of the hardest he ever had to make in his life. Along with that, Lou Wolfson, owner of Affirmed, and not Barrera, was said to have had the final word. Whatever, Cauthen has never been at a lower point in his career than he is at the moment. Since splitting with Goodman last week, he has had two different agents, Chick McLellan and Harry Hacke. Now Hacke is trying to say it's the media's fault that Cauthen isn't winning anymore.

first, I didn't want him to take all the flak, I didn't want him to bear hurt. We still have a good relationship but you can do only so much for anyone. I still think he should come to New York but he told me he likes California. Okay, then, I said to him 'You stay where you want. Good luck to you.' Goodman has served as agent for some of the top jockeys over the past 30 years, Bruniu Baeza, Bob Ussery and Johnny Ruffo among them. He considers Baeza the best jockey he ever handled, the best who ever lived, in fact, and Cauthen second best. He still has a lot of faith in The Kid.

Deadball Dunk Stirs Thompson

By United Press International Oral Roberts won its first road game of the year Wednesday night, upsetting 10th-rated Georgetown, 75-74, and Hoyu Coach John Thompson was not pleased.

In fact, he was furious. Thompson stomped, yelled, paced and pouted over a deadball dunk shot by ORU's Robert Griffin with 17 seconds left and the Titans ahead, 74-72. Griffin apparently thought he had stolen the ball cleanly from Georgetown's John Duren and gone in for the basket but the official had called a foul and Thompson felt a technical for the deadball dunk was in order.

"That guy was just afraid to make the call," said Thompson, referring to official John Bonder, who did not call the foul. "It's just a rule. It's that simple."

The rulebook does show such a rule but it's a provision for officials not to call a technical foul if there's "reasonable doubt" the player didn't hear the whistle.

However, Bonder didn't cite that rule in his official explanation, as relayed by a Georgetown official. "He didn't dunk a dead ball — he laid it in," he said. But Griffin admitted he had dunked the ball but said he had not heard the whistle.

Duren sank both free throws on the play to tie the score but ORU's Calvin Garrett, who finished with 22 points, sank one of two foul shots with seven seconds left as the Titans raised their record to 11-9 and won their first road game in eight tries. Craig Shelton paced the Hoyas with a career-high 26 points.

In other games involving top teams, fourth-rated Duke topped Wake Forest 79-40, and Texas A&M trounced Southern Methodist 92-56.

Night Bikers Can't Be Seen By Drivers

DEAR ABBY: MISERABLE IN OHIO was miserable with good reason. He had struck a 12-year-old boy on a bicycle and wrote to express his anguish as he waited six hours for the lad to come out of surgery.
He said: "I wasn't going very fast, but it was night and the poor kid was wearing dark clothes and there wasn't a light anywhere on his bike. I didn't even see him until I hit him. I was told that his chances for survival were slim. You can't help me — or the boy — but if you print this, maybe parents will see it and make sure their kids have the proper lights on their bikes so accidents like this can be avoided."
Abby, you are to be commended for printing that letter, but I submit this as a follow-up: "DEAR MISERABLE: Since your letter appeared in my column last October, hundreds more pedestrians and bicyclists have been struck and killed or injured by motorists — mostly at night because the drivers couldn't see them in time to stop.
This is senseless and needless because there are many reflective materials on the market today to make people more visible at night.
Maybe I'm just an old fool to

Dear Abby

feel as I do, and should quit caring how I look. I'd like your opinion.
GRACE
DEAR GRACE: Your friend can speak only for herself. She certainly doesn't speak for any of the older folks I know.
Don't ever stop caring how you look, dear. Pride in one's appearance is the hallmark of self-respect.
DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a guy who seldom leaves his teeth and hates to shower.
VAL
DEAR VAL: Nothing
Are you the lonely face in the crowd? Friends make you a winner, and Abby tells you how to win them in her booklet, "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to Abby: 132 Laasy Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

DEAR J.K.G.: Thanks for an illuminating letter.
DEAR ABBY: I went shopping for a dress but couldn't find anything I wanted to buy.
I told my friend about it, and she said, "Oh when you get our age, nobody looks at you or cares how you look anyway."
Abby, is that the way most people feel about us old folks? We are both in our 70s, but I always notice how people are dressed regardless of how old they are.
Maybe I'm just an old fool to

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH YOUNG

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Young of Lake View, Ohio, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with open house at the home of their niece, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Barnes, in Longwood.
Kenneth Young and Pauline Cummins were married Jan. 23, 1929, at Bellefontaine, Ohio. "In these 50 years, we have travelled a happy, but sometimes rocky, road to trust, respect and understanding of each other. We have reached this plateau with the guidance of our Heavenly Father," Mrs. Young said.
A beautifully decorated cake, made by Mrs. Barnes, was a highlight of the event.
The Youngs spend several months each winter in Florida. Young, a mechanic, owns a small garage in Ohio and still works parttime.

Area Engagement

Gatchel - Baron

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Stewart Gatchel of 2320 Cordova Drive, Sanford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Gail Elizabeth, to Dr. Marc Baron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Baron, 3661 N. 52nd St., Hollywood, Fla.
Born in Sanford, the bride-elect is a 1968 graduate of Seminole High School. She received a B.A. degree in sociology from Florida State University in 1972, where she was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Garnet Key and Alpha Kappa Delta.
Miss Gatchel received her M. Ed. degree from University of Central Florida in 1974. She is a guidance counselor at Sterling Park Elementary School.
Her fiancé, who was born in New Rochelle, N.Y., is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Hoffman of New Rochelle, and Mrs. Fanny Berenber, 360 Westchester Ave., Port Chester, N.Y.
He is a 1967 graduate of White Plains (New York) High School. He was graduated from Duke University with a B.A. in anthropology in 1971. He received his M.A. in school psychology from Syracuse University in 1975, and his M.At. from Manhattanville College in 1975. He was awarded a Ph.D. in school psychology from Syracuse University in 1977. Dr. Baron is employed as a school psychologist by Seminole County School Board.
The wedding will be an event of March 4 at Altamonte Springs.

Garden Club Clinic Open To The Public

Even though the winter months with their chills and sometimes even below freezing temperatures are here with us, the members of the Garden Club of Sanford are busier than ever with their activities.
In addition to maintaining a club building, which is located at the entrance to Sunland Estates on U.S. 17-92, the membership which is made up from seven different circles, are active in many other circles.
Each month a different circle is in charge of maintenance of the building, and another in charge of the grounds, keeping it in readiness for the many activities scheduled there, including rentals to the public.
Another circle each month is in charge of writing a column entitled "Garden Gate" for The Evening Herald regarding garden duties for the current month or sharing its knowledge of growing plants in this area.
The purpose of the garden club is "to promote such knowledge and love of gardening as will result in a more beautiful community," and to this purpose a garden in the Sanford area, which is particularly well cared for by the residents themselves, with 75 percent of the actual work being done by the resident, is chosen each month for the award "Garden of the Month."
The award for the month of December was awarded to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Strickland (USN Ret.) located in Loch Arbor at 406 West Crystal Drive.
Each month one of the circles is in charge of the program of Garden Therapy, which in-

Couple Repeat Vows

Cathy Seachrist and Allen Rench were married Jan. 19, at 7 p.m., at the Messiah Lutheran Church, Casselberry.
The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emery Avrett, Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Thelma Rench of Sanford.
Joanne Coggon attended the bride as bridesmaid. The bride's daughter, Renee Seachrist, was the flower girl.
Johnny Williams served the bridegroom as best man. Usher was Dayle Linsley. Jason Seachrist, son of the bride, was the ring bearer.
A reception was held at the church social hall following the ceremony.
After a wedding trip to Alabama, the couple are making their home in Sanford.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Friday, February 2, 1979

YOUR BIRTHDAY February 2, 1979
The types of changes you've been wanting to make in your basic lifestyle are likely to be brought about this coming year. That which held you back formerly is no longer existent.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Members of your family may find you a shade too opinionated today. This could cause some rumbles on the home front. Respect their views if you want them to respect yours. Find out which signs you are compatible with by sending for your copy of the all-new Astro-Graph Letter for 1979. Mail $1 for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 480, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Co-workers who will resent you today if you try to con them into doing your work. Production should be your purpose, not flowery prattle.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Things in general will come easily for you today. That could work to your disadvantage. You might take an opportunity for granted and fail to exploit it properly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
You know what needs doing today, but you may have problems in getting your initiative into high gear. Be lively, not lethargic.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
It's best to let others boast of your accomplishments today, rather than tooting your own horn. If you've done something worthy they'll mention it, so relax.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Even though you'll be money-conscious today, you're still likely to spend beyond your means for things which aren't necessities—and feel guilty in the process.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
In competitive situations it will take more than your charm and good looks to get by today. If you coast, your competition will glide past you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Normally you make cautious assessments before you involve yourself. Today, however, you may ignore this procedure and do something impulsively.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Take care today not to labor under the illusion that an influential contact is prepared to pull off all types of miracles for you. Unfortunately, he can't.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
An associate may not feel the same urgency that you do today regarding a collective objective. If it means that much to you, go it alone.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Instead of being your usual industrious self, you're more prone to rationalizing and postponing things today. Neglected tasks will plague you later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Don't attempt to manage something for another today where you feel inept. You could cause all concerned unnecessary problems.

Your Food Intake Can Keep You Thin

DEAR DR. LAMB—Is it always true that consuming more food than is necessary for the upkeep of your body causes overweight? I am a small eater and I have a medium-large frame. I am 5 feet 6 but I don't seem to be able to lose any weight. I don't drink beer and I eat very little bread, potatoes or peanut butter. What else can I do?

DEAR READER—You need to learn to evaluate properly how many calories are in the foods you eat. I see you avoid starches, sweets and, apparently, alcohol.

The other major source of calories in the diet is fat. There are nine calories for every gram of fat as opposed to only four calories for every gram of carbohydrate or protein. If you want to limit your calories, I suggest you limit your fat.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet, to give you some basic information on how to plan a balanced diet that is limited in calories. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

This diet will give you between 1,200 and 1,300 calories a day. I don't like to see people go on a diet that is much more restricted than this one unless they are under careful medical supervision. A person shouldn't stay on a strict diet more than two to six weeks, depending upon how severe it is. Such diets may cause serious problems. Yes, it's always true that your body acts like a checking account. If you deposit more than you can use, the balance will accumulate. The balance in this instance isn't quite so attractive because it's deposited as fat.

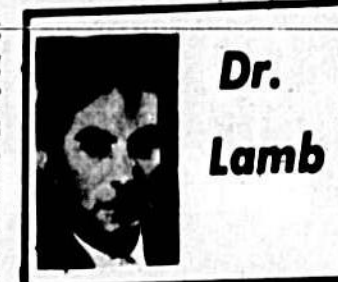

The other side of the basic balance system is how many calories you are using. I might ask if your lifestyle permits you to use enough calories.

If you are not physically active, you might try to gradually develop a physical fitness program—even if that is walking an hour a day. You can divide such a walk into two parts if you don't want to walk too much at a time. You can decrease your balance (fat tissue) by spending more calories.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Just what is meant by "passing sounds"? What is the purpose for it? My doctor has done this three times and I don't know why. He said the opening to my uterus should be opened. I am 60 years old and have had some uterine bleeding. I am taking hormones.

DEAR READER—You can think of a sound as a rod; different sounds are made from different substances. They are used literally to dilate openings such as your doctor has done in your case. They may be used to dilate the opening in the esophagus if it becomes constricted. They're often used if there is a stricture of the urethra in both men and women.

There is no way I would know what is causing your uterine bleeding, but you have done the right thing in seeing your doctor. I would like to take this occasion to tell all women who have an unexplained bleeding, particularly between periods or after they have completed the menopause, to see their physician immediately. Sometimes this can be an early sign of cancer. Never ignore unexplained bleeding.

WIN AT BRIDGE

but that bid was invented by 28-year-old Oswald Jacoby some six months later.

Hynes could not force with two hearts. He would have had to jump to three or four, so he elected to cue bid two spades. Sam should probably have bid just three clubs. But even at 69 (his current age) Sam is a most aggressive bidder, so he tried three hearts.

Eddie, who always looked for something brilliant, decided that seven hearts would be the most brilliant bid at his disposal. He bid it. Sam didn't think it was brilliant when he saw the dummy and realized that it would take a lot of luck to bring home all the tricks.

He won the spade, cashed dummy's king of clubs, drew trumps with two leads and cashed his ace of clubs in the hope that something really good would happen in that suit. But West showed out.

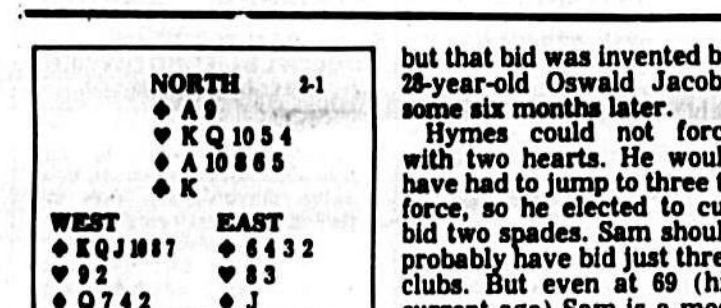

Now he needed real luck in diamonds. He cashed his king, noted the fall of the jack from East, finessed against the queen and everything had come up roses.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

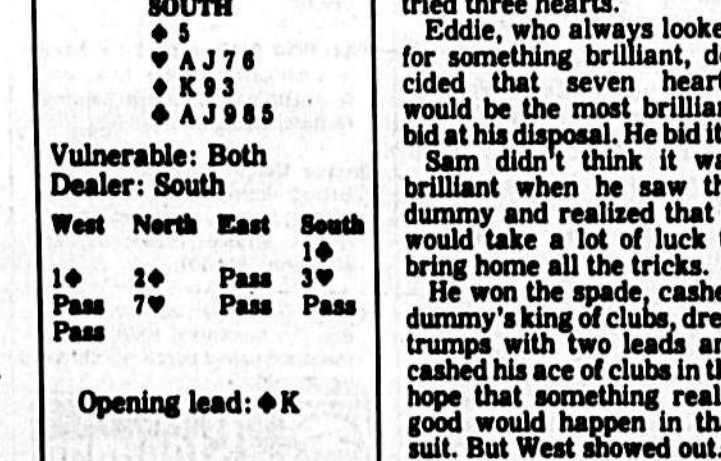

Sam Fry (life master number 10) was Sam Fry Jr. back in 1931. His partner the late Edward Hynes Jr., became life master number 23. Their bidding of today's hand is indicative of how experts had to use imagination back in 1932.

Sam's opening club bid was normal and sound then as it is now. West might have made a weak jump overall.

Crash And Flame --Cyclist, 16, Killed

His demolished motorcycle, shoes and socks remain in street as rescue workers tend to 16-year-old John W. Decker II, 147 Wilbur Ave., Lake Mary, after he was thrown from his bike in a collision at West 25th Street and Old Lake Mary Road Thursday afternoon. The cycle burst into flames. Police said Decker's motorcycle collided with a car driven by James Bell, 62, of 1281 Lincoln Court, Sanford.

Bell's car then hit Dantele, 41, of 1703 according to police. Memorial Hospital called Bell and Mrs. Dan victim, a student at the son of Joanne teacher at Seminole the late John W. Decker.

SALT Tension, Our National Interest...

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Chief SALT negotiator Paul Warnke said Thursday that rejection of the treaty would heighten world tension while approval would lessen the danger of nuclear war.

"SALT II is the best that we can do now, and if we don't grab the opportunity, we can never do better," he told a State Department briefing attended by about 200 persons. "The failure of SALT would be a tragic setback for our national interest."

Warnke said Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev may come to the United States within four or five weeks to formally sign the final proposed agreement, which will be subject to Senate approval.

Some of the civic and government leaders gathered for the conference voiced their claim about the treaty, but Warnke insisted it is in the nation's interest.

Harold G. Gordon of the conservative U. Industrial Council, for example, charged that the U.S. negotiators may have underestimated the Soviet Union's determination to "win a nuclear exchange."

But Warnke said, "We will do what is necessary, with or without SALT, to maintain a balance of forces between us and the Soviet Union."

"Trust is not an issue, but rather self-interest," he said, quoting the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur.
