Russian Press

The war-monger charge was thrown directly at Dulles. Dulles was sitting with the U. S. delegate midway in the U. N. assembly hall as the Russian chief delegate vigorously flayed nations and personalities in the basic Soviet policy statement to this session of the assembly.

Vishinsky, hitting hard at the U. S. policy supporting Greece, proposed that the assembly adopt a resolution calling on the U. S., Turkey and Greece to halt "the propaganda of a new war" which he said was being carried on by "reactionary circles."

The resolution also called for outlawing atomic and other weapons of "mass extermination" as being in the interests of "all the peace loving nations" and as the "best and only" means of preventing the spread of atomic energy.

The chief Russian delegate, No. 1 deputy to Foreign Minister Molotov, blamed the United States and Britain specifically for the slow progress on atomic energy control and arms limitation—two points advocated by Soviet Russia last year.

He labeled the Marshall plan announced yesterday as an "ill-conceived scheme to substitute and by-pass the security council."

Vishinsky sat down to the applause of the Russian group in the assembly, which had cheered him several times. The United States delegation did not applaud or make any move when the grey-haired prosecuting attorney, now a diplomat, finished.

He made these other contentions in his speech: 1. The Truman Doctrine is laid

New Orleans Hit

Near Biloxi, Miss., stout timber piers were snapped like match sticks, and roofs were torn from many homes. A tide 10 feet above normal flooded residential areas, and gigantic waves broke built 20 years ago against storm.

The steamship Empire State snapped its hawsers and reeled away from the Congress Street wharf in New Orleans, but the master succeeded in reaching mid-stream and both anchors were dropped. A destroyer-escort broke loose and rammed the Algiers Ferry.

Maisant International Airport, 14 miles west of New Orleans, reported the roof torn off its building. The field itself was under a foot of water.

The 130-foot smokestack atop the Hotel Monteleone, in the French Quarter of New Orleans, collapsed across two buildings, but no one was hurt. A banana conveyor was slammed against the causing unestimated damage.

There was no estimate of possible casualties along the Gulf Coast, but it was feared that injuries and property damage would greatly exceed the toll in Florida.

Sixty percent of the houses in the Rene housing project for negroes at New Orleans were reported destroyed in the early part of the hurricane. The houses various parts of the world and could recall anything even approaching the Deputy Foreign Minister's warmongering charges against the United States and even against individuals.

One of Vishinsky's surprising (and one would say somewhat daring) attacks was made against the American Legion which includes the millions of Americans who did so much to save Russia in the great war.

Well, what does all this add up to? Naturally a lot of folk today are looking anxiously at their war panoramas to see how they read. Well, so far as I see you are no nearer war today than we were before Vishinsky unburdened himself yesterday.

Of course, if nothing happens to stymie the world revolution for the spread of Communism, the time will come when it will break against the shores of great countries which will fight to keep it out. However, that's a matter of the rather distant future. Something may intervene.

1. The Truman Doctrine is laid down last March was the first break by the United States from the unanimity of the great powers in the U. N.

2. The Marshall economic plan for Europe was merely an extension of the Truman Doctrine to cover all Europe.

3. The United States and Britain are responsible for the lag in setting up atomic energy controls.

4. Soviet Russia will stand firmly against any attempts to disrupt the unanimity of the great powers—the veto right.

5. Official and private circles in the United States are hurling unfounded charges of war preparations against Russia.

Vishinsky was applauded as he leveled verbal assaults against what he called American war profiteers and "war-mongers." The Soviet Ukraine, Poland, and other members of the Russian group clapped loudly.

were all of frame construction, and were located in the Higgins Industrial plant and industrial Canal area.

The Navy had crash boats working in the Lake Pontchartrain shore area, evacuating residents. The naval boats were going from house to house over deeply flooded land.

A number of persons narrowly escaped injury when the roof and walls of a garage collapsed, crashing on several automobiles.

At Baton Rouge, hurricane force winds were expected by mid-afternoon. The Harding Airport already reported 40 mile gales.

Sheriff Newman Dobreton and Chief of Police Fred Parker warned citizens to go home and stay out of danger. Emergency and disaster relief crews were ordered to stand by at Baton Rouge. The National Guard was alerted.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19 (AP)—A great Gulf hurricane struck Louisiana at 6:30 A. M. today, ripping into the exposed area at the mouth of the Mississippi River with winds of 100 miles an hour.

The storm which devastated a large portion of Florida two days ago was reported early today centered 30 miles north of Burwood, La., which is near the mouth of the mighty river.

Ugly black clouds and rain were reported in the city as thousands of refugees crammed all available public buildings and other shelters. Quats up to 75 miles and steady winds of 55 miles an hour were reported.

Approximately 8,500 persons huddled in New Orleans' municipal auditorium and 20,000 were estimated to be sheltered in the city's 40 schools. Many of the refugees were French speaking fishermen and truck farmers from the flood-threatened bayou country below New Orleans.

The New Orleans health center was unroofed shortly after dawn and one of the three story brick walls caved under the pounding of hurricane winds. huge metal sign atop a department store crashed into Canal Street but no one was injured.

Near Pontchartrain Beach, a huge rooftop which stood 40 feet tall, was torn to bits by gusts of 75 miles per hour. Streets in New Orleans, lined by gigantic oaks, were green-capped to a depth of several inches by foliage and torn branches. Fallen power lines lighted the murky morning with blue-green sparks and disrupted traffic.

Gulfport, Miss., reported a rich pecan crop was taking a terrific beating with many trees blown down and others stripped of foliage and ripening nuts. Tin roofs were rolled up like tin foil.

At Biloxi, Miss., gusts up to 75 miles an hour raked that resort city and water covered the causeway leading to the inner harbor.

More than 10,000 persons were evacuated from flimsy wartime housing projects along the vulnerable Gulf Coast from Pensacola westward.

One fishing boat was missing with two persons aboard. They were listed as Salvador Barrios and his 17-year-old nephew, Russell Collins.

Mayor Delesseps S. Morrison proclaimed a state of emergency at 7:30 A. M. (CST) and ordered all persons to "remain indoors, off the streets, and keep out of the downtown area unless it is absolute necessary."

He continued: "The situation is well in hand and all agencies are functioning 100 percent in the protection of life and property."

The purpose of the proclamation, the Mayor said, was "not to alarm anyone" but simply as a precaution.

Three of the first five passes thrown by Georgia's Frank Sinkwich against TCU in the 1942 Orange Bowl classic were good for touchdowns.

THOUSANDS ARE HAPPILY PRAISING RETONGA

Grateful Letters Pour In From Lakes To Gulf. Noted Medicine Gave Her Prompt Relief After Four Years Search, States Well-Known Resident.

Happy men and women from the Great Lakes to the Gulf are telling of the relief Retonga gave them, after other years of suffering. Among the latest is Mrs. M. G. Murray, 5411 10th St., N. W., Atlanta, Ga., who happily declares: "Retonga gave me splendid relief after everything else I tried had failed. My appetite was good most of the time but just after eating my suffering began. So much gas formed in my stomach that it often pressed against my chest until I could hardly breathe."

I sometimes felt so high strung and weakened I could scarcely stand on my feet. My elimination was sluggish, and many days I felt so worn out that most of my housework had to go undone. "No one can be more thankful for the relief Retonga gave them. I relish my food without trouble, that high strung weakened feeling is relieved, and so is the sluggish elimination. Retonga is so much better and stronger that I have personally recommended Retonga to scores of my friends." Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, Vitamin B-1 deficiency and constipation. Accept no substitute. ## Storm, Not Hurricane Nearing Florida Coast

Small Craft Warned By Weather Bureau But Little Danger Is Seen For Others

MIAMI, Sept. 22 (AP)—Grady Norton, chief of the Federal Storm Warning Service here, advised Floridians at 1 P. M. today: "Don't let the storm now in the Gulf cause you too much worry. It is too close to land and moving too fast to become a hurricane."
"I frankly believe that if the center remained over the water for another 24 hours, it would increase to hurricane force. But it will not remain over water that long."
"The worst we will get from it will be nasty weather with heavy squalls and high winds of sustained velocity so far have been 40 miles an hour. When squalls come along, they kick up over 50."
"The principal danger is to small craft. After the center crosses Florida and enters the Atlantic, it possibly will jump ahead to hurricane force. If any changes in the situation occur you may have confidence that you will be advised fully and quickly."
"The sun broke through at Miami at 1 P. M. More squalls are coming, but they won't be bad."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—The American Red Cross said today it has appropriated $1,000,000 to meet "disaster relief needs" of stricken families in the Gulf States.
"The reaction of the people here is a great one," said a spokesman. "The people here are suffering from the effects of the storm. We are supporting them with our own funds and with the help of other organizations."

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 22 (AP)—A weak tropical storm with winds around 50 miles an hour in gusts is expected to pass inland on the Florida west coast in the Fort Myers-Tampa area sometime this afternoon or tonight, but the Weather Bureau emphasized today that "it will not be dangerous at all."
Chief Forecaster Grady Norton said small craft should not venture into the open sea where the winds will be at peak in gusts.
He said the disturbance, which was centered over Dry Tortugas, 60 miles from Key West, this morning was accompanied by a large area of squalls which would be felt over most of Florida. He said it was doubtful if the West Coast would feel any higher winds than other sections of the state.
The highest sustained winds in the storm so far have been 40 miles an hour with gusts up to 54 miles, Norton said. Gusts of 54 miles an hour were reported at Key West this morning. In Miami, winds reached 36 miles an hour at 8:30 A. M., with gusts slightly higher. The city was lashed frequently by rain.
Norton said the storm lost considerable intensity in passing over Cuba last night and added that it would not have opportunity to "deepen" before striking the Florida coast. He said the storm consisted of a broad area of squally weather without a well organized center and appeared to be quite weak.
"There is nothing to get alarmed about," he asserted, but warned small craft against venturing out.
However, the dismal job of tabulating casualties and property damage continued along the coast of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and extreme northwest Florida. Thirty-eight were known dead, and there was apprehension of extensive flood damage to compound the desolation stirred by the hurricane itself.
Delayed reports from Gulfport, Miss., said beach areas still were blocked off, and residents were warned away because of venomous snakes, apparently washed ashore from outlying islands. Several reptiles were killed measuring from four to six feet in length, upstate Mississippi to spray power trucks were brought from beach debris with DDT and lime.

Truman Doctrine Is Denounced By CIO Convention

Wallace Says United States Cannot Win Third World War

BOSTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—General officers of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, CIO, today denounced the Truman Administration's foreign policy as one that "gives us insecurity and points to war."
Their criticism in a formal report to a thousand delegates representing 600,000 workers at the union—one of the largest in the CIO—opened a week-long convention here.
They criticized President Truman specifically for accepting as advisers politicians whom, they said, the people had rejected repeatedly by re-electing Franklin D. Roosevelt. They also called upon Mr. Truman to return to the policies of the New Deal.
Henry A. Wallace asserted that the United States even with its wealth and atom bombs "will never win a third world war."
"The war that is being bred for us must be stopped," he declared in an address prepared for the CIO convention. Wallace said that in the event of another war "we will not have strong allies."
"The reactionary government we are supporting abroad will crumble with internal revolutions if a great war breaks out between the United States and Russia," he said.
At the same time Wallace called upon President Truman to summon a special session of Congress immediately to "enact into law a rationing and price control law with teeth in it."
Taking to task Senator Robert A. Taft (R-O.) for suggesting that the American people probably should get less extravagant, Wallace declared:
"The total program of the men in power in advice to eat less, we shall eat less, and less as inflation increases and a depression is made inevitable."
"The times call for bold action and planning to avert chaos," he said.
"The great crisis of the moment is not on the Greek border but in the American grocery stores."

Better Newspapers Cited At Seminar

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Bavillion Brown, editor, and publisher of the Providence (R. I.) Journal-Bulletin, told an opening session of the American Press Institute at Columbia University today that American newspapers are making "a notable record in self-improvement and in their own assumption of responsibility for public guidance and leadership."
The seminar is the first of six scheduled for the present academic year—the second year of the Institute. Managing editors and news editors of 27 newspapers are attending the current three-week session.
Brown, referring to what he termed the constructive editorial treatment with which American newspapers have approached current international problems, declared that "superior professional performance is the hallmark of an increasing number of our newspapers today."
He asserted that "the influence of the individual newspaper, I think, is not to be measured by circulation but by the intellectual capacity of the editors, correspondents and reporters of the individual newspaper."

Butter and Eggs Again Slump In Market

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
A threat of frost and wheat buying by millers reversed the protracted slump in grain prices at the Chicago Board of Trade today, but wheatear and egg prices continued their downward trend.
Livestock prices, which also moved lower last week, were mixed at Chicago and other markets.
The exchanges and wholesale commodities price levels, which moved generally lower last week, were watched for an indication of whether a turning point in the record high cost of living had been reached.

19 Billions Is Estimated As Europe's Need

Catastrophe Is Foreseen If Marshall Plan Aid Withdrawn

PARIS, Sept. 22 (AP)—Western Europe pledged itself to a program of self-help today and asked the United States to send it $19,330,000,000 under a four-year Marshall Plan as a means of averting economic "catastrophe."
This program, the participating 16 nations declared, could enable Europe "to make her full contribution to the welfare of the world."
The request was made in a 20,000-word document which will be dispatched to Washington after its signing here today by representatives of the 16 nations which mapped their economic wants in Russian-boycotted conferences held here for 70 days.
Only a 1,500-word summary was made public today; the text is scheduled for publication next weekend.
"The American people, through their government and their Congress, will consider this program," (Continued on Page Six)

Arab Warns Of Break With West In Palestine Row

Effort To Partition Holy Land Might Endanger Oil Rights

LONDON, Sept. 22 (AP)—An Arab office spokesman said today the Arab world has agreed to make "a complete economic and cultural break" with Europe and America if the United Nations should attempt to partition Palestine.
The spokesman, self-styled London propagandist for the Arab League, made his statement after an authoritative British Foreign Office source said Britain would accept such partition if other UN members would help carry out the project.
Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones leaves by plane for New York tonight to present Britain's views to the UN Assembly, soon to consider a majority report of its special committee on Palestine recommending division of most of the Holy Land into Arab and Jewish states.
The Arab spokesman said the league—comprising Egypt, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Trans-Jordan, Lebanon and Yemen—had agreed on the "break" with the West, should Palestine be divided, in a secret resolution adopted at a meeting at Haidan, Syria, near Damascus, in June, 1946.
Asked why he was now disclosing the gist of the resolution, the spokesman said "the main reason is to counter rumors" that the Arab states have "disagreed on the policy to be adopted if the UN disregards their arguments against partition."
Replying to a question, he said a "complete" economic break "might" mean that the Arab nations would withdraw American

When the clothes were brought to the police station, Montez Harris was notified, came to the station and identified the clothes as those of her missing brother, according to the police report.
Several traffic accidents were reported to police over the week end but the only injury was that of Arthur Lee Sullivan, of Longwood who had his ribs hurt as the result of a collision at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning between the Ford sedan he was driving westward on Third Street and a Pontiac sedan driven by Samuel Kinard, colored. ## British Delegate Warns Russia Of Danger Of War

FDR Adviser Says Sovietism Worse Than Czarism

Dr. Isaiah Bowman Of Johns Hopkins Addresses Students

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22 (AP)—Dr. Isaiah Bowman, president of Johns Hopkins University and No. 1 geographical adviser to the late President Roosevelt during World War 2, said today that "Communism is absolutism designed to be more ruthless and complete than Czarism. Only the label is changed."
In an address to incoming students at the University, Bowman delivered a denunciation of the Russian government, and said:
"I do not fear the USSR today. I only fear that our people will not act in time to give our strength the expression and the means that warn of aggressive, arbitrary, corrupt, and powerful a government of the folly of starting a war."
"For this reason all universities are concerned about our new military service law."
He said a universal service law was needed "if we are to distribute military risks and responsibilities fairly and at the same time get public, including congressional, support."
"Nothing in the regimes of the czars had as much of them were, but show such a high degree of organization for evil, such vicious use of power, as the regime of the Soviet Union," he said.
After the first World War, Bowman was chief territorial specialist for the American peace delegation to Paris headed by President Wilson and helped draw

Thousands Attend LaGuardia Funeral

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—New York paid final tribute today to Fiorello H. LaGuardia, three times its mayor, as more than 9,000 persons crowded the Cathedral of St. John the Divine to attend his funeral service.
Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, former Governor Herbert H. Lehman and Mayor William O'Dwyer were among the public officials who heard Bishop Charles K. Gilbert of the New York Episcopal diocese read the service for the dead over LaGuardia's tier.

Textile Workers In South Ask Raise

ATLANTA, Sept. 22 (AP)—Southern mill operators today had notice that the Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, wants a 15-cent per hour general wage boost. The demand, was served yesterday at a meeting of delegates from 100 mills who claim to represent some 125,000 CIO textile workers in the South.
The resolution declared that the additional money was needed to help southern workers meet the high cost of living and to eliminate wage differentials between this section and other regions of the country. There was no immediate reaction from mill owners to the demand, though one company, the Julliard Mills of Georgia, recently suggested the time had come to reduce, not raise, pay.

Eucharistic Congress Meets In Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP)—This city of 585,000 was decked out in flags and bunting today as its 360,000 Catholics prepared for the opening of the Buffalo Centennial Eucharistic Congress.
The Congress, first in the world since the one held in 1941 at Minneapolis-St. Paul, was scheduled to begin late in the day with a liturgical reception of St. Joseph's new cathedral for Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York. As metropolitan of the province of New York, Cardinal Spellman is the patron of the Congress.
The cardinal was expected by train from New York City along with two other princes of the church, Juan Guaberto Cardinal Guenzara, archbishop of Lima; Peru, and Carlo Carmelo Cardinal de Vasconcellos Moita, archbishop of Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Unyielding Attitude On World Problems Is Denounced In UN Meeting By McNeil

MOSCOW, Sept. 22 (AP)—Newspaper readers in the Soviet Union today were given a report that Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky had upset the plans of forces in the United States which were pictured as seeking war with the U. S. S. R. Two correspondents messaged from New York that Vishinsky's speech to the United Nations General Assembly last week "in which he named by name a group of warmongers produced the impression here of a bursting bomb."
NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Butan warned today that if the Soviet Union persisted in trying to force its own will upon the world "the unstable peace of the world will crumble" and crash with "hideous consequences."
British Minister of State Hector McNeil delivered this warning before the United Nations Assembly in a 6000-word basic policy statement for the United Kingdom.
He vigorously attacked Russia and at the same time appealed to Moscow to drop what he called to flexible and "unyielding attitude on world problems."
McNeil ridiculed the charges of Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky that there is "war-mongering" in the United States. McNeil called Vishinsky's attack "a comedy piece."
He then denied Vishinsky's charges that the Marshall Plan ended the sovereignty of any country for economic aid in Europe, threatened the Soviet Union by obstructing atomic control and paralyzed the Security Council by her 20 vetoes.
McNeil's 40-minute speech ranged over the whole field of international affairs but its central theme was Russia's uncompromising attitude and the potential "crumble and crash."
"No nation has a monopoly of truth," he asserted. "No nation is omniscient. No reasonable nation can expect a still-comes-to have her view accepted by all other nations."
McNeil said he believed this blunt warning.
"If the Soviet government considers that in all areas its power must be extended, if it thinks that in describing any international situation its description must be accepted, then I say without qualification that not only will the United Nations be destroyed, but the unstable peace of the world will crumble and crash, bringing to us all the ranging hideous consequences to which Mr. Vishinsky drew our attention."
Referring to Vishinsky's attack on the United States, McNeil said:
"When Mr. Vishinsky argued on Thursday that his government was distressed and angered at the statements of individual Americans that Russia was preparing for war and was a warmonger, I want to say this: The reply is not to imprison any individual or to suppress American or British newspapers."
"The reply is to open the doors of Russia so that the nations, the people of those nations, who have great underlying sympathy with this new emerging power, can see what is going on."
McNeil declared that Vishinsky had accused Britain of "seeking to divide Europe" because of her efforts to implement the Marshall Plan.
"This is a monstrous accusation," McNeil declared. He added that Britain had devoted her complete strength toward world cooperation but had been blocked by Russia at every turn.
"We have been thwarted and frustrated by disagreement and by a policy of non-cooperation he declared. "There is no necessity for us to be divided by political, still less by territorial, questions."
McNeil blamed the present critical world situation largely on what he called Russia's unwillingness to cooperate. As for Russia was concerned, he said, "every situation is pictured in black and white; perhaps, more correctly, in terms of black and Red."

THAT IS WHY WE NEED
COMPLETE ABSTRACTION IN ORDER TO CONTACT THE STILL SMALL VOICE WITHIN US.—Luke 17:21: The kingdom of God is within you.

Some of these politics who are shouting that a depression is coming are going to be mightily disappointed
if a long period of prosperity ensues.

If the Chicago grain markets continue to fall the way they did last week, the price of corn may soon get down to where we can afford to eat it again, and after that beef.

After the first World War there was for a time an epidemic of live goldfish eating, but we never had anything like this. In Passaic, N. J., the other day a 19-year-old girl complained of a stomach ache,
X-rays and an operation followed,
whereupon the surgeon removed from her upper intestine a six and a half inch teaspoon swallowed a month before.

An American Army journal says
that the Russian army in Europe
today is so large and well trained that it could probably overrun and conquer the entire continent in a matter of two or three days. Then they would be right where the Germans were the day before
D-Day, only without the air force and with much more extended lines
of communication and transport.

Henry Morgenthau says Henry Wallace "got away with murder"
back there in the free spending days of the New Deal when it was considered popular to spend billions of dollars paying farmers not to grow crops and to turn their plows into fertilizer. If Mr. Morgenthau had pointed this out in 1937 instead of ten years later, he might have done the country some good.

Another old time Florida newspaperman passes the scene when Willis Powell dies in Jackson, Ga.
at the age of 79. When we first came to Sanford, Powell was secretary of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce, later moved to Sarasota where he was largely responsible for converting what was then a small country town into a thriving tourist resort. In his day he was a go-getter if there ever was one.

Italy has notified the United States how much money it will have to have to be good. It is one billion dollars, we believe. Otherwise she'll sign up with Russia.
Well, as far as we are concerned,
Russia can have her. If she isn't any more help to Russia in the next war than she was to Germany
in the last one, she'll be a liability.
As the French used to say, it's easier to send a couple of armies down there to conquer her than
to send five armies to defend her.

The nation lost one of its most energetic, honest and colorful political figures when Fiorello La Guardia succumbed to a pancreas condition Saturday morning. Born of Italian parents in New York's lower east side, he was a perfect example of the opportunities which America's system of democracy and free enterprise affords anyone who is willing to struggle. A rough and tumble fighter, he rose to become mayor of New York, director general of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, and a successful radio
commentator and newspaper columnist.
His unselfish devotion to the people and his untiring and energetic efforts to promote public welfare contribute to a great extent to the falling health which culminated in his death," said Mayor
William O'Dwyer.

Unknown Soldier II

An unknown soldier of World War II will rest beside the original American unknown soldier, according to a War Department announcement. All that will be known is that he served in America's armed forces and lost his life and identity in the second world war. Thus thousands of Americans will have the chance to believe it may be their own friend or kin who lies in the new grave at Arlington National Cemetery — and one of them will be right.

There are points on which the unknown soldier as an institution can be criticized. Suspend over the name of Unknown Soldier II may not be merciful to those Americans who have already suffered severely. As a fantastic lottery in a kind of hope and sentiment that might better be forgotten
the shrine may be regarded by some as not in the best of taste.

On the other hand, the first unknown soldier has become a symbol of a faith and a passion which needs renewing.
Ceremonies at his tomb have become dedications to the ideal of peace. That ideal must not be allowed to become the object of merely routine observance. That it should be revived and refreshed in dramatic fashion when Unknown Soldier II is interred is unquestionably to be desired.

Laboratory Marvels

This fall more engineering students will enter the nation's technical colleges than ever before. And engineering firms continue to cry for more. Last June, it was said, there were two jobs waiting for every graduate of the country's leading engineering schools and 25 for each with an advanced degree.

Contrary to curricula of undergraduate days before,
engineering students now learn first-hand familiarity with giant and complicated machinery while studying textbook theory. Laboratories of most technical institutions resemble machine shops or modern factories.

The war developed American scientific and technical skills, needs and interests to an amazing degree. Peacetime sees a continuation of such progress. It all promises a mechanical wonder-world of the future that few can imagine.
Even students beginning this school year may have little conception of what miracles their training may uncover.

Darby And Joan Clubs

Irene Sterbenz writes from London that one of the brightest ideas of the Women's Voluntary Services there concerns recreation and social life for people over 60. Many of these persons lost relatives, friends and homes in the war, and would be at loose ends without the Darby and Joan Clubs which have been formed in all parts of London, meeting wherever a place can be found.

Three or four times a week, from after lunch till after tea, men and women from 60 to 90 get together for bridge, dominios, and talkfests. Those who are not inclined toward these pursuits may just sit and watch or think; no one is urged to do anything. Everyone has tea, which costs tuppence, with a penny extra if you want a tart.

These clubs are as valuable in their way as are canteens for the young. Being too old to prance about does not necessarily mean that desire for social fellowship is gone.
Similar clubs have proved successful in social settlements in this country, but there is still room for many more in cities, towns and smaller communities.

RUSSIA CAN'T FIGHT

TAMPA TRIBUNE

Under the verbose veneer of Andrei Vishinsky's declamatory
distribute at the United Nations General Assembly Thursday—his denunciation of American and British foreign policies, his naming of nine Americans as "war mongers" and his assertions that his country is right in its international course—we see unmistakably
the frank admission that Russia has no idea or intention of provoking or starting a war, because it is entirely unprepared to fight.

That, we are sure, was the main purpose of the Vishinsky speech—a declaration that Russia is unable to go to war, whatsoever the motive or provocation, although that declaration was thinly veiled in a bombastic arraignment and disparagement of other powers, seeking to place them in the attitude of wanting
and promoting another war.
His language was aggression, but his meaning was submission.

All through the speech—in marked contrast to the calm yet firm address of Secretary Marshall—ran the plea that other nations refrain from war propaganda and preparation, while his country is utterly unable to enter an armed conflict. Vishinsky couched this plea in blatant bravado,
but it was there, nonetheless.
His apparent heroics were, in truth, but "sound and fury," which did not deafen the ears of the world to the confession of Soviet weakness.

The keynote of the comment on the speech is in the statements of El Khoury, of Syria, and Zuloaga,
of Venezuela. El Khoury said:
"The most important thing was the assurance that Russia had no intention of starting a war. This is especially important now in the midst of all the talk about the possibilities of a third world war. If the United States gave the same kind of assurance it would go a long way toward relieving the anxiety of the world." Zuloaga said: "Notwithstanding the aggressiveness

in which the speech was delivered, there runs through it a clear feeling that Russia does not want war."

Confirmation is given this interpretation
by a report made the same day by Ernest Ropes, who heads the Russian section of the Department of Commerce. Ropes, who knows Russia thoroughly,
said that country will not have the industrial capacity to make war against the United States for at least 25 years. "They haven't got the stuff," he said, "and won't have it for at least 25 years, we don't need to worry about Russia as a potential enemy." Ropes, of course, is talking only about "industrial capacity"—but there is no doubt that his conclusions apply also to war armament and material.

It is clear that Russia can't fight now or at any time in the near future, for the simple reason that it hasn't the things to fight with. All it has is men—and men,
no matter how numerous or efficient,
can't go to war without arms
and supplies.

receiver in the matter of yards
gained is Fred Walters of Mississippi
State, who engaged two foes

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

We shall be wise not to overlook
French Foreign Minister Bidault's declaration before the U. N. Assembly that his delegation
"deems it futile and dangerous to conceal the magnitude and seriousness of the crisis" growing out of the Russo-American clash, which is threatening the
"very life" of the peace organization,
and that it is only honest
to say one doesn't see how the opposing views can be reconciled.

And why can't they be reconciled?
Having given us something to ponder, M. Bidault sidestepped that issue—a delicate matter for discussion by the Foreign Minister of a country which is precariously situated in the no-man's land between the two dominant powers. However, we can fill in the gaps which he skipped.
The real key to the situation is a fact upon which this columnist has been insisting because of its supreme importance, and it is this:

Russia's generation-old program
of world revolution for the establishment of totalitarian Communism
finally is in full swing.
Not for one moment should we forget that, for the insidious ram-have penetrated every country
ifications of the great offensive on the globe. Its greatest success has been in eastern Europe where a big new Red empire has been built out of weak countries
by strong arm methods in a short time, but already it has a grip on other war-torn nations like Italy.

This world revolution can't be reconciled with any other views.
It can be stopped only if, and when it comes up against an immovable barrier. Smart words of wisdom won't turn the trick.
Neither will harsh language.
What sort of barrier is needed?
Does it mean war? Well, it could mean that, but it strikes me there are other possible ways of halting the Russian tide. One encouraging point is that Russia doesn't want war—while she could fight a strong defensive war, she is not ready for one of major aggression.

That being the case, the most effective barrier would be rehabilitation of the European democracies so that they could defend themselves against Communist aggression, instead of being shot like sitting birds. And that, of course, is the significance of the Marshall plan, although Moscow charges that the program is imperialistic and calculated to give America control of Europe.
The big question is whether the rehabilitation plan can work fast enough to save all but desperate situation. Most of Europe is struggling in the economic morass. Key countries like Britain and France are so hard hit that they are unable to bolster their smaller neighbors. That's why so much dependence is being placed on America.

Such a condition of weakness
provides the best possible field
for the operations of Communism.
A prime example is Italy which is so hard hit that she is fighting for her life. Into that situation Communism is throwing every ounce of strength in the way of forming strikes and disorders to make the position of the right-of-center government untenable.
The Reds, led by Russian trained Italian Communist Palmiro Togliatti,
are even talking revolution
openly.

If rehabilitation can't be achieved
in time to form an effective barrier against aggressive Communism, then the Red arm will menace to the Orient and the would create a new and terrible overrun the rest of Europe. That Western Hemisphere.

The position is critical but not hopeless and I believe we are entitled to expect that the economic crisis can be overcome.

Two of the nation's leading bowl football powers—Tennessee and Georgia—first crashed the New Year's scene in the Orange Bowl, the former in 1939, the latter in 1942.

Communism Hit

the new European boundary lines.
At that time he was president of the American Geographical Society.

In all directions—Bosphorus,
Baltic, Arctic, Far East, Persian Gulf—the USSR is pushing out for ports and what is thought to give security to such ports, namely,
the complete police control of one after the other of the smaller states that stand in the way.

"Indeed the push toward such ports is now but a detail of a larger push, the spread of Communism by every means, fair and foul, conceived by a handful of men anxious to protect themselves by imposing their evil
system on the whole world.

Bowman said that Russia "cautiously accepted" an invitation to the Dumbarton Oaks international conference for peace in 1944 because the Soviets "had quite other designs for the post-war world, plans involving military and police domination rather than peaceful democratic cooperation."

During the war, he said, "their agents swarmed with increasing vigor in every troubled area to make more trouble and discredit
their military allies, confusing both the issues and the voters in the process. We tempered and adjusted and compromised, hoping that the friendship we consistently offered would dispel their suspicion one day. They consistently deny in deeds every profession of Democracy and cooperation that they make in words."

He said every step taken by Russia in the past three years shows that she will not accept the judgment of a majority of nations on her acts.

"This means that she will not let go of the veto in the Security Council" of the United Nations.

He said there was a rising sentiment in the United States to maintain the nation's military strength.

"When we are strong enough not to fear the USSR, or any other power, we should be able to think and act coolly and resolutely."

Seminole Hi By BOBBY PARK

All the boys and girls up at school were pleasantly surprised three times this week when it was pleasantly announced that there would not be any school that day. Five "no-school" days straight is quite a holiday but I guess we'll have to make it up. We only hope they don't take them out of any of our other holidays.

Didn't have room last week to list the Glee Club and Band of flowers but here they are now.

Glee Club: Herby, Stenstrom, pres.; Des, McEllan, vice pres.; Jane Chapman, sec. and treas.; Bobby Pullin, business manager; Leland Radd, business manager; Joanne Williams, business manager; and Lillian Moran, librarian.

Band: Joe Wright, capt.; Donna Lou Harper, 1st Lieutenant; Francis Latta, 2nd, Lieutenant; Jimmy Powell, Sgt.; Eugene Kendall, Sgt.; June McGill, Sgt.; Rudolph Smith, Sgt.; Penrose Hutchison, Corp.; Francis Cobb, Corp.; Alan Hetzel, Corp. and Donald Futrell, Corp.

Having a bad foot I wasn't able to go to the Shipwreck Dance at the Tourist Center, put on by the Glee Club Friday night but I was talking to J. D. Fite and he said there was a large attendance with everyone having a good time.

There was a good juke and Miss Whittle chaperoned it with the Glee Club taking in $28.76.

There are about 1,700 colleges and universities in the United States.

Orange Bowl To Be Complete For Jan. 1 Classic

MIAMI, Sept. 22.—Hints on construction miracles from the enlargement of Miami's Orange Bowl stadium. Excavation of foundations wasn't started until June. Erection of steel for the double-deck addition didn't begin until late September. Ypt come January 1 the curtain will go up on a new 60,000-seat Orange Bowl for the Florida New Year's football classic. The City of Miami is using the benefit of prefabricated concrete for the 22,500 seat Orange Bowl enlargement in a brand new technique in stadium construction. The idea was developed by the city engineering department to circumvent the steel shortage, reduce the cost of the stadium to a minimum—and most important of all, to get the job done for the 1948 Orange Bowl classic. By use of prefabricated concrete slabs and joists the enlargement, which includes double decks on both sides of the present steel stands, will be ready in mid-December at a cost of only $1,297,000. City Architect Art Darleau, who drew the plans for the country's first prefabricated concrete stadium project, estimated the cost to be at least $39,000 less than a similar steel structure, and about half what it would cost if it were built with poured concrete. Maintenance cost of the new section of the bowl will be practically nil, whereas it cost the City $24,000 merely to paint the steel

Montgomery Trims Gadsden For South-eastern Championship

GADSDEN, Ala., Sept. 22.—(AP) A two-run rally in the ninth inning to trim Gadsden, 2-1, for the Southeastern League playoff championship Sunday. Montgomery, which finished third in the regular season, won the final series, four games to three. Gadsden was the second-place finisher. The deciding duel was a pitching battle in which Joe Demoran proved more effective in the clinches than Gadsden's Jimmy McClure and reliever Manus Demoran gave the Pilots seven runs but yielded only a run in the seventh. McClure allowed four hits in eight innings but went out in favor of Manus in the ninth when the Rebels got only five hits in all. Montgomery 000 000 602—2 5 0 Gadsden 000 000 100—1 7 1 Demoran and Stevens; McClure, Manus (9) and Radakovich. sections of the stadium last year. Another desirable feature of the concrete decking in the new section is elimination of noise which would have resulted from reverberations between two steel decks. Concrete joists and slabs, ranging in size from 2'x2' to 2'x5 1/2', now are being poured at Maul Industries, Inc., in nearby Ojus to be used in the bowl structure. Wire mesh is used inside the slabs, while reinforcing steel rods are used in the beams. Additional steel rods will be welded between the vertical beams, tying them together in such a way as to provide a continuous steel structure throughout the new section of the stadium. Slabs in the concrete deck will be sealed together to prevent rainwater from leaking through. Prefabricated concrete has been used to a considerable extent in home construction and in factory construction, but this is the first time, to the knowledge of the Miami Engineering Department, that the idea has been attempted in stadium construction. The City of Miami engineers already have received numerous inquiries about the process from other cities, and are now in the process of securing a patent on the idea.

Gators Well Set For Tiff With Miss. On Saturday

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 22.—Nine lettermen and two freshmen will probably be in the University of Florida's opening lineup when Coach Ray (Bear) Wolf launches his second Gator football campaign against Mississippi's Rebels in Jacksonville Saturday night with an 8 o'clock kickoff. New faces in the Gator lineup are fullback Alex Gardiner, a 190 pound line plow from McDonald, Ohio, and hulking John Natyshak, 280-pound tackle from Youngstown, Ohio. Old horses in new dress, the Gators will sport a bright new orange jersey with large numbers this fall, are ends Tommy Bishop and Bill Turner, tackle Cliff Sutton, guards Paul Mortellaro and Frank Dempsey, center, Jimmy Kynes, quarterback Doug Bolden, and halfbacks Hal Griffin and B. J. Forbes. A last minute shift could send Charles Hunsinger, the 185 pound Harrisburg, Illinois, power-sprinter in at Bobby Forbes' right halfback post, but barring unforeseen accidents, the other ten spots are pretty solidly manned at the moment. Bill Turner won a first string right end position this past week in the shuffling around which moved him from the left line flank to the right one. Dewell Rushing, going from right end to left end, will be the chief reliever in the wing department. Two Orange Bowlers were in the starting lineup of the College All-Star team which shut out the Chicago Bears, 16-0, recently in Chicago. They are Weldon Humble of Rice's 1947 Orange Bowl team and Tom Burke, who was named with George Tech for the 1948 classic.

People Act Like Pelicans When Hurricane Hits

Pelicans Have Big Mouths But Keep Them Shut In Blow

By ELLIOTT CHAZE
GULFPORT, Miss., Sept. 22 (AP)—Pelicans and people act pretty much alike in a hurricane. They both get excited and do the wrong thing. They both get killed. But somehow the pelicans manage to be a little more dignified about it.

With hurricane winds sailing in roofs around the premises, knocking out power lines and converting Main Street of Gulfport in an expensive imitation of an artillery barrage, both the pelicans and the people had a tough time of it.

By mid-afternoon, things were so noisy and confused that the two groups were walking the same sidewalk and hiding behind the same shelter.

The pelicans had given up the idea of flying.

Shortly after what would have been lunch, if the restaurant people could have got around to cooking it, I spotted what appeared to be the last two air minded pelicans in town.

They were flying into the wind, doing it badly, but solemnly. The result was that the pelicans flew backwards, sort of tipped out on their tails.

They looked like two grave, big nosed little men rowing a boat. Only there wasn't a boat. One of them landed uncomfortably. One landed fatally. The survivor carefully checked his equipment and soon found another friend.

The two of them fought their way from the beach to a downtown position from which they studied in head-shaking silence the drifts of powdered plaster glass and earning scraps of sheet metal.

But most of the downtown appeared fairly happy. They looked as though their feet hurt, but you could see they were sold on the idea of walking.

They wore their rain darkened brown feathers with deep ease and they didn't yell "Boy what a blow," or "Never saw the like of it."

And most admirable of all, they didn't discuss the wind velocity, but rather seemed to accept it as a routine element of hurricane. The beach pelicans were different.

They refused to accept a new mode of travel after years of coasting where they pleased. On the result, last free Gulf breezes.

So they died, most of them victims of hasty landings. Their brown bodies littered the beaches. The wounded walked around tiredly among the dead, then sat down beside them and waited for wind-borne death.

As with the people it was different. At any rate, it was different with many of the people. They had a great deal to say about the hurricane, and most of them neither walked nor flew. They sat.

Hotel lobbies were crammed with them and their voices.

"Simply don't understand this hotel." A very fat one. "They got no water. They got no electricity. They got no radio. Just when you need a radio most they don't have it. And as I was telling Emily, even if I don't have radio I got to have shaving water."

A very thin representative of the people, looked at the plump representative: "You don't need a shave."

Crash outside among wind velocity.

The hotel a many-story structure, began shimmying like a ten-cent fishing pole.

So there you have it, the hurricane, the people and the pelicans. And the moral, if there is one available, is that although a pelican has an awfully big mouth, he knows when to keep it shut.

and determine whether the means can be found of supplying Europe's needs," the summary said. "If nothing is done, a catastrophe will develop as stocks become exhausted."

The report outlined a four-point self-help program "aimed at putting Europe on its feet by the end of 1951."

1. A strong production effort by each country.
2. The creation of internal financial stability.
3. Maximum cooperation among the 16 countries.
4. A solution of the American trade deficit with the American continent, particularly by exports.

As part of the production effort, the conference envisaged:

1. Grain production on a pre-war basis, with increases above the pre-war standard in potatoes, sugar, oil and fat.
2. Coal production above the 1938 level and one third higher in 1947 tonnage.
3. Electrical generating at 106 percent, oil refining at 256 percent and steel at 120 percent in terms of 1938 production.
4. Inland transport facilities to carry one-fourth more than in 1938.

to quit the Arab world.

The British Foreign Office source said last night cabinet ministers agreed in a meeting Saturday that Britain no longer could bear the burden of keeping almost 100,000 troops in the Holy Land, which she administers by mandate. He mentioned two conditions Creach Jones "must put before the Assembly."

5. Restoration of pre-war merchant fleets by 1951.

The 16 nations expressed belief Europe could produce most of the machinery and other capital equipment needed for the expansion program outlined, and added:

"The various countries have undertaken to use all their efforts to develop their national production in order to achieve these targets."

The report estimated that $3,000,000,000 would be needed in efforts to stabilize the money of certain countries, left unnamed.

"The quick success of stabilization will, to a very large extent, depend on adequate foreign assistance being available," the conference said.

The report set at $2,400,000,000 western Europe's prospective dollar deficit for 1948-51. From this it subtracted $3,110,000,000 for machinery and capital equipment which, the report "assumed" would be financed by the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

"Given favorable conditions," the report said, Western Europe would "have a four-year trade surplus of $2,510,000,000 outside the Western Hemisphere. It was made plain, however, that this figure was tentative and that the real need was considered to be $19,300,000,000 from America plus capital equipment."

Robert Marjolin, chairman of the Conference Coordinating Committee, said any surplus accruing for trade outside the Western Hemisphere could be used either to reduce demands on the United States or to help troubled countries build up their stocks of gold free currency as a cushion against the end of the American aid program.

The conference said:

"It will be impossible to right the problem unless market conditions in the American continent allow both Europe and other parts of the world to sell goods there in increasing quantities."

"But these undertakings can be successfully carried out only with assurance of a continued flow of goods from the American continent. If that flow should cease, the results would be calamitous."

"Europe's dollar resources are running low. One country after another has already been forced by lack of dollars to cut down vital imports of food and raw materials from the American continent. If nothing is done, catastrophe will develop as stocks become exhausted. If too little is done, if it is done too late, it will be impossible to provide the momentum needed to get the program underway. Life in Europe will become increasingly unstable. Uncertain industries will grind to a gradual halt for lack of materials. The fuel and food supply of Europe will diminish and begin to disappear."

The report promised "progressive relaxation" of import restrictions and mentioned the proposed customs union. It said that even under the outlined program food consumption in many countries in 1951 would be less than pre-war, and food and clothing rationing would continue.

The population of Colon, Republic of Panama, consists principally of descendants of laborers imported from the British West Indies during various periods of construction on the Panama Canal.

Market Director Reveals Need For More Food Crops

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 22, (Special)—"Events of the last week have given new emphasis to the importance of food production and to the Florida plan in providing fruits and vegetables for the rest of the country, and to an important extent, for the rest of the world," said William L. Wilson, Director of State Markets, here today. "It is still too early for us to know the full extent of the hurricane which swept across Florida at the mid-week. We do know however that acres of planted crops were hurt. This disaster to Florida, so far as vegetable production goes, should be offset by late plantings."

"Florida production is part of the world picture --- and in fact, a very important part. The world, today --- and I speak particularly of Europe since those nations have been our traditional outlets for food products throughout our history --- is facing a winter of starvation. W. M. Kiplinger, recognized as one of our ablest commentators on business and economics sounded a grim warning along the line just a few days ago. He emphasized that 'Horror stories of food shortages are coming through' and that they are genuine. There just isn't enough food available to feed Europeans, even meagerly," he said.

"The over-all picture resulting from this storm, as I see it, is not nearly so bad as it would appear at first glance. Growers are accustomed to coping with weather hazards. Florida growers, and fall vegetable growers in particular, are acquainted with these hazards. They are part of the general production picture. In fact, they have a lot to do with holding down production, and making it possible for the planter who produces crops year after year to get better prices for their vegetables."

WEST PALM BEACH, Sept. 22

(AP)—Flood waters from the northern part of the Everglades flowed across Conner's highway today and threatened to enter the farming communities of Pahokee and Belle Glade.

Already swollen by abnormal summer rains, drainage waters whipped by the great Atlantic hurricanes were reported trickling over a small dike near Canal Point east of Lake Okechobee, and washing out chunks of Conner's Highway, main link between the lake area and the coastal city of West Palm Beach.

Talph J. Blank, southeastern disaster chairman of the Red Cross, said that thus far only a threatening condition exists, but that seepage had reached within a mile of Belle Glade by midnight last night.

One hundred cars of the Florida East Coast Railroad were readied at Fort Pierce to move inland to pick up evacuees if needed.

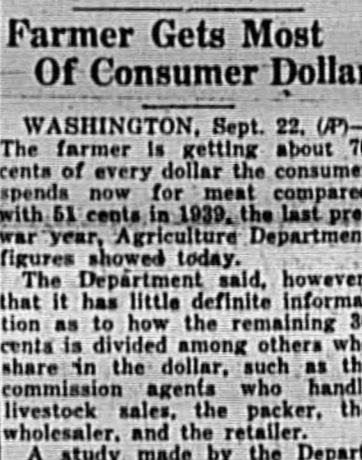

W. H. Hill, Red Cross chapter chairman of Palm Beach county, said that Governor Millard Caldwell had authorized 10,000 sandbags, draglines and other heavy dirt-lifting equipment to be used in an effort to stem the flow caused by a break in a small dike near Canal Point.

Farmer Gets Most Of Consumer Dollar

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22, (AP)—The farmer is getting about 70 cents of every dollar the consumer spends now for meat compared with 51 cents in 1939, the last pre-war year, Agriculture Department figures showed today.

The Department said, however, that it has little definite information as to how the remaining 30 cents is divided among others who share in the dollar, such as the commission agents who handle livestock sales, the packer, the wholesaler, and the retailer.

A study made by the Department on Marketing margins for livestock and meats in 1939 showed the following division:

Farmer 51 cents, commission agent 43 cents, the packer 14.9 cents, the wholesaler 5.8 cents and the retailer 24 cents.

Department officials told a reporter the split of the 30 cents left now after the farmer gets his share is believed to be roughly the same as in 1939, although the retailer and the packer may get slightly larger portions because of increased labor costs.

On that assumption, they said that the division may be roughly as follows:

Farmer 70 cents, the commission agent 20 cents, the packer 10 cents, the wholesaler 3 cents and the retailer 15 cents. In this breakdown, transportation costs come out of shares of the commission agents and wholesalers.

Officials said the margin between the farmer's share and the retail price normally narrows as prices of livestock and meat advance, and widen as these prices decline. This, they explained, is because marketing and distribution costs tend to remain fixed.

They emphasized, however, that smaller shares are being received now by packer and distributor, not indicate that their returns from meat have declined. They are handling a much larger volume of meat and livestock than in 1939.

ported to be a "show me" one. Cabinet luncheons are fairly frequent events. But this one took on the appearance of particular significance because of other meetings scheduled both before and after it.

A cabinet food committee agreed early today on future food exports they will recommend to President Truman.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson announced the agreement to reporters, but declined to give any details. The committee meets with the President at 2 P. M. (EST).

The food committee meeting was the first of a series of top administration conferences, including a cabinet luncheon, on the general problem of how the United States can help Europe meet emergency needs this winter.

Savannah Forges Ahead Of Augusta In Sally Playoff

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 22, (AP)—The Savannah Indians are back ahead of the Augusta Tigers, 2-1, in the South Atlantic League's playoff finals as a result of Lou Brissie's great pitching.

Strike-out artist Brissie mastered the Tigers with a four-hitter to give Savannah a 3-0 victory Sunday. He out-tossed Augusta starter Embree and reliever Henry Camp, who teamed with a nine-hit pitching performance. Embree was lifted in the seventh when the Tribe got its last run.

Whitehair Insists Russia Preparing New Aggressions

Communism Scored And Danger Of War Stressed At Meeting Of Veterans

Francis P. Whitehair, former candidate for governor and a commander in the United States Navy who served in the Pacific during the recent war, told 150 members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and their guests at a supper at the Mayfair Inn last night that "Hitler and Mussolini are gone, but the Russian bear is hungry and is preparing for new wars of aggression. We must pick up again where we left off. We must finish the job."

"We were fat, decadent and indifferent in 1941," he said, "God forbid that we will ever again be. I would rather that I and my family would die tomorrow than to live under a system of Communism," he said in an address on "Three World Governments" in which he contrasted Democracy with Fascism and Communism and explained that the latter two are very much alike except that Communism is Fascism in the extreme.

Mr. Whitehair was introduced by Senator L. F. Boyle, a former classmate at Stetson University. The meeting was presided over by Comdr. F. D. Scott who welcomed the visitors and distinguished guests. J. A. Wright had charge of the program and made the introduction. Rev. J. E. McKinley pronounced the invocation. John Lewis assisted with the program.

Declaring the time to be a political one in his appearance in Sanford at this time, Mr. Whitehair praised the American system of Democracy and free enterprise which he said was the best government in the world. "The opportunity to talk over the radio and say what we think without fear of arrest or reprisal he said, "is a thing we will fight for as long as there is an American."

Whitehair pointed out that he temporarily surrendered his rights as a private citizen in 1942 to serve in Uncle Sam's Navy which he described as a "winning team," adding that as long as we keep Democracy alive in America, we shall never know defeat.

"Americans are not stupid people," he said, "they are thinking people, slow to act, willing to take a lot, but fun is fun and enough is enough. We don't like anyone push us around too long."

"We knew that Hitler was prompted by delusions of grandeur and was determined to move forward until he had conquered the world. We knew that he attempted to negotiate a separate peace with England in 1941, to enable Germany after the downfall of France to become the dominant power in Europe. We knew that Hitler hated Russia and wanted to exterminate the Slavic people in order to accomplish his purpose."

Bevin Hails Work Of Committee On European Aid

Communists Alone Deny Dollar Attack; Greek Army Upped

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Robert H. Garner, vice president of the World Bank, said today that American investors will have to put up whatever funds the bank lends to the 16 European nations seeking aid under the Marshall Plan. The European group "assumed" a statement yesterday that the bank and "other credit operations" would furnish them with $3,110,000,000 of the $22,440,000,000 they estimate they will need from the United States and elsewhere through 1953. Garner told a news conference the bank now has only $50,000,000 available for lending, and the only way it can get further funds in the foreseeable future is to raise them in this country by issuing bonds for investors.

LONDON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin returned from Paris today and hailed the report of the 16-nation committee for European recovery as "a great piece of work."

The 20,000-word report, signed yesterday, embodies a request from the 16 western European nations for $19,300,000,000 in American aid under the Marshall Plan to carry them through the next five years.

A British member left Paris by air early today to deliver the report to U. S. Secretary of State Marshall, who advanced the proposal of self-help plus United States aid in a speech at Harvard June 5.

Bulgarian Executed For Political Acts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—The United States today denounced Bulgaria's execution of Nikola Petkov, leader of the opposition to the Communist-supported Bulgarian government.

The State Department in a formal statement said that "in the court of world opinion" Bulgaria's Communist-dominated government "has shown itself wanting with respect to elementary principles of justice and the rights of man."

Petkov was hanged in Sofia's central prison early today on charges of plotting against the Bulgarian government.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—The Congress Party's working committee was summoned to meet today for the first time since India achieved freedom, and a party spokesman said the session might have far-reaching effects on the future of both India and the Moslem Dominion of Pakistan.

Tornadoes Add To Florida Woe From Storms

Houses Are Smashed In Jacksonville; 25 Boats Missing; Thin Dike Holding

Wetherman B. F. Whitner recorded the lowest barometric reading of the year here shortly before noon when a reading of 29.52 was made. At 6:15 this morning it was 29.55 and at 8:45 was 29.51. During the hurricane last week the lowest reading was 29.77. Storms always seek a low pressure area, he declared, and if there is a lower pressure area than here, the present storm in the Gulf will take that direction. Rain-fall last night, accompanied by noisy gusts of wind, totalled 3.1 inches, he reported. The rain started yesterday afternoon and continued intermittently through the night.

Crooms Academy in Goldboro was closed today on account of high water in Thirtieth Street and Roosevelt Avenue which prevented school children and teachers from entering the building. The school will re-open tomorrow if there are no more heavy rains.

MIAMI, Sept. 23 (AP)—Three tornadoes were reported over Florida as offshoots of a tropical storm which was centered at noon today "close to shore" between St. Petersburg and Clearwater on the Florida West Coast.

The Coast Guard combed Florida waters for 25 small freighters and banana boats reported missing or overdue. Six of them, some wrecked, have been located.

The Weather Bureau in a noon bulletin said the storm was moving very slowly northward about eight miles an hour after a blocking action by an area of high pressure over the Atlantic states.

A small, short-lived tornado hit Jacksonville's southside today, taking off a few scattered roofs and uprooting big oak trees in a half-mile wide path. Telephone and power lines were downed over an area two miles long. Another tornado dipped into eastern Marion county in the vicinity of Lytle early this morning, badly damaging at least two homes, leveling trees, blocking roads and knocking out large sections of power and communication lines. Three houses were destroyed.

Press, Radio Praised For Hurricane News

A. E. Shinholer, chairman of the Seminole County Red Cross, expressed appreciation for the assistance given to local Red Cross workers by The Herald, The Orlando Sentinel and Radio Station WTRR during the recent hurricane preparation period. He also expressed thanks for the services offered voluntarily by local citizens.

"The newspapers and radio were joint in their work of publishing information," he pointed out. "The result of combined efforts from all sources enabled us to be well prepared to meet any disaster which might have occurred from the hurricane," he said.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—The Navy undertook today to block a loophole in its regulations which has permitted many sailors and WAVES to collect an extra $100 musterling out pay for simply traveling through Canada or Mexico en route to new stations in this country.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—The Navy holds that such travel constitutes service outside the continental limits of the United States. Under the law, members of the armed services receive $200 upon discharge if their service was entirely in this country, $300 if they served abroad.

Appeal Made To Save Peace By Trygve Lie

East-West Differences Are Said To Be Breeding Fear And Hate Throughout World

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, made a direct appeal to the bitterly quarreling big powers today to reconcile the East-West differences which he said were breeding fear and hate throughout the world.

Addressing the General Assembly at the close of its week-long general debate phase, Lie made no direct reference either to Secretary of State Marshall or Russia's Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, but it was clear that his appeal was aimed at them.

"The indispensable condition for peace," Lie told the 55 national delegations, "is that nations with different social systems and different interests shall strive to live and work together side by side, in peace."

"This must find expression in political negotiations which show a willingness to compromise. Without such a will, without cooperation and agreement, let me emphasize that no mechanism for the maintenance of international peace and security, however perfect, can be effective."

Lie said the big power differences had not yet reached the stage where they threatened the existence of the world.

They knew that freedom can best be defended, not on their own terms, but at any point where ruthless aggression enslaves free and independent peoples," Stassen declared.

ENROUTE WITH TAFT TO SEATTLE, Sept. 23 (AP)—A sharply worded debate with Democratic officials at long range continued a new defense of the Taft-Hartley law by Senator Taft (R., Ohio).

The Ohio senator told a reporter he plans to answer in a Gearhart, Ore., speech later this week an assertion by Gael Sullivan, Democratic National Committee director, that the next Republican Congress will do nothing about social welfare legislation.

This will provide a new chapter in a continuing transcontinental battle of words between Taft and Democratic opponents since the Ohioan began a western speaking tour 10 days ago.

Traveling toward Seattle and a major speech on the labor law there tonight, Taft accused Senator Lucas (D., Ill.) and O. Mahoney (D., N.Y.) in a statement.

Russia Launches New Attack Against U. S. Foreign Policy

Taft Denies GOP Is Lacking In Social Ideas

Senator Will Make Speech Tonight On Labor Legislation

CLEVELAND, Sept. 23 (AP)—Labor is the "chief beneficiary" of the Taft-Hartley Act and "an organized industrial peace" by any means, Robert H. Stassen, general counsel of the National Labor Relations board, asserted today. Denham, vested with unprecedented legal powers under the new labor law, told the American Bar Association that unions will hurt themselves unless they take fullest advantage of its protection.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—The House today passed a bill to amend the United States Code to give the War Relocation Authority the same powers as the War Relocation Administration to defend "the individual freedom of men."

Air Force Pilot Prefers Robot To His Own Flying Prowess

BRIZE NORTON, England, Sept. 23 (AP)—Capt. Thomas J. Wells, U. S. Army Air Forces pilot, expressed preference for the "mechanical brain" over his own flying prowess today after crossing the Atlantic in a C-54 skyliner controlled entirely by robot.

"I would rather land with the automatic flight controller in hand weather than being the ship in myself, on instruments," Wells said. "The automatic flight controller is much more sensitive and quicker to respond than any human brain this English village yes man brains and hands."

The plane landed at an RAF base today, 12 hours and 10 minutes after it took off from Stephenville, Newfoundland, Sunday night.

"The brain did all the work," said Col. James Gillespie of San Antonio, Texas, chief of the U. S. Air Forces all-weather flying division, who sat with Wells in the pilot's compartment.

SANTA ANA, Calif., Sept. 23 (AP)—The state launched another attack today on the story of Louise Overell and Bud Gollum about dynamite that blew up her parents' ranch in Newport Harbor March 15.

The 18-year-old heiress and her lover admitted last week that they bought 50 pounds of blasting powder but claimed they did so at the request of her father, Walter E. Overell, Los Angeles lawyer, who with Mrs. Overell died before or during the explosion.

Eugene Williams, prosecuting the young couple on charges of murder, said he would recall Louise's uncle, Fred Jungquist, a brother of Mrs. Overell, Jungquist reportedly told Mrs. Mary Pritchett, housekeeper at the Overell mansion in Flamingo, Pasadena suburb, to search a garage for dynamite on Mar. 29.

A Santa Ana private investigator, last witness for the defense, testified last week that he found a box of dynamite in a garage at the Overell home on Mar. 30, took it to the Mojave desert, and buried for almost six months.

The defense contends that the explosion about the Overell yacht, the Mary E., was premature as caused by Overell himself. Considerable testimony was offered by the defense.

ROCKVILLE, Md., Sept. 23 (AP)—Detective Capt. James A. Kelly said today that George A. Neill, 22-year-old war veteran, has admitted slaying his 11-year-old niece, Isabella Mallon, near her Philadelphia home about two weeks ago.

Kelly, a Philadelphia officer, made that statement to reporters as he left with Neill for Philadelphia where a murder warrant has been issued. Neill was arrested last night at a dairy farm near Olney, Md. He had worked there since Sept. 8.

The girl was last seen alive Sept. 8. Neill, when arrested, was quoted by Detective Sgt. James Anderson as saying he was with Isabella the day she disappeared but that he had sent her home alone because he had been drinking.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—The Trieste radio said the Communist-controlled union, Sindical, called a general strike today in Trieste. The announcement was followed swiftly by an Allied Military Government declaration that the strike was "the first Communist attempt to hamper the essential life of Trieste and bring discredit to the Free Territory," which came into being a week ago.

Body Of Montez Harris Brother Found In Lake

A home-made wooden foot paddle invention that evidently failed to work is considered by police as the probable cause of the drowning Saturday night of Nathaniel Harris, 73-year-old negro Tampa ship yard worker and brother of Montez Harris, 417 East Second Street. The body was recovered at 10:00 o'clock this morning from Lake Montez near the Municipal Pier by Sheriff P. A. Meo and W. W. Johns of the Coast Guard Unit. Lewellen had been reported by his sister as missing since Saturday night.

At 4:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon R. L. Gilyard, county employee, and former City patrolman found the clothes of the aged negro in east Fort Mellon Park near the Boulevard and notices police. Montez Harris, summoned to the police station, identified the clothes as those of his missing brother.

For several days police and Sheriff's deputies have been searching the water front for the body of the negro, but it was not until this morning at about 9:30 o'clock that John Young, a negro velvety worker, while fishing from the pier, sighted the body near the seawall extending from the pier and notified a negro companion, William Owens, who had been fishing from the other side. They proceeded to the office of Sheriff Meo who at once dispatched Deputy Charles Beck to find a boat to retrieve the body. Bill Johns, Gulf Station operator, was also notified. Sheriff Meo joined him and the boat returned to the pier.

The United States at times furnishes one-third of Japan's food, he explained. "It boils down to the fact that the American people have been supplementing the food of the entire Japanese nation. It looked like Japan was going to have a bumper crop and then came the floods."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—With meat and other prices soaring, Secretary of Interior Krug suggested today eating more fish. Krug said fish production is now at its peak for the year and that prices are about the same as last year with some popular items lower. He added in a statement: "Fish and other seafood are among our most nutritionally valuable foods. Since this is so, housewives, hotels, restaurants, and other food-dispensing institutions would do well to look to the fishing industry for an increasing part of their protein food needs."

ROME, Sept. 23 (AP)—In the first test of public opinion since Premier Alcide De Gasperi dropped Leftists from his cabinet last June, a right wing coalition called "The List of the Rooster" swept a local election Sunday at Caserta, the Interior Ministry announced today.

Nearly complete returns showed that the rightist coalition—comprising Quilinquists, Monarchists and Liberals—pulled 7,492 votes to 3,284 for De Gasperi's Christian Democrat party and a mere 649 for the people's block—Communists and minor leftist groups.

The rightist total was swelled even more by another group of liberals and monarchists which got 1,009 votes on a separate ticket.

A meeting of the 40 and 8 will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Legion Hut, Chester Miller, "chef de gare" will preside.

Vishinsky Again Assails Marshall For Incorrect Explanation Of Deadlock

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—Russia launched a new broadside against the United States today after Secretary General Trygve Lie in an extraordinary appeal called on the bitterly quarreling big powers to bury their differences in the interest of peace among the United Nations.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, opened his new offensive by charging Secretary of State Marshall gave an "incorrect" explanation of the big power deadlock on Korean independence.

He then assailed Marshall—who was sitting before him—for supporting UN consideration of recommendations for revision of the Italian peace treaty. Vishinsky charged that any action on this question was a violation of the UN Charter.

Vishinsky spoke in the 55-nation General Assembly today on its agenda, which already had been approved by the same session. He demanded exclusion of the items on Korea and Italy.

Meanwhile, the Arab countries lost the first round of the Palestine battle when the Assembly overrode their objections to creation of a special 55-nation committee to consider the Palestine question.

On the Korean question, Vishinsky said Russia twice had submitted constructive proposals but these had not been accepted by the United States. Therefore, he said, "The American delegate must bear the responsibility" for the deadlock.

He said the Korean issue could not legally be considered by the General Assembly.

Turning to Italy, he declared that the United States' several times "has shown lack of precise attitude on such questions." This case, Vishinsky went on, is "another example of the lack of ability of the United States to respect international agreements which have been freely entered into."

Vishinsky said those who support the present deadlock in the Italian issue have a "rather strange conception of justice."

Vishinsky asked permission to make a free statement of general Soviet policy, but Dr. Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil, Assembly president, ruled that he must confine his remarks to the subject of items on the provisional agenda.
