12 Persons Killed And Sixty Injured In Train Collision

Marine Troop Train Crashes Into Kansas City Streamliner In Louisiana

SIMMESPORT, La., Aug. 10—(AP)—A head-on crash of a Kansas City Southern streamliner and a 300-Marine troop train today killed at least 12 persons and injured 60 or more, state police reported.

None of the dead were identified immediately, the state police report said. The bodies were en route to nearby Morganza, La.

The wreck occurred about 7 A. M. in a desolate swamp area 60 miles northwest of Baton Rouge, La.

State police detailed 100 officers to the scene where communications were crippled by the wreck. Telephone lines paralleling the railroad were knocked down and only death messages could be telephoned out of the area.

Casualty reports varied widely but a Kansas City Southern employee at the scene verified the state police report that the known death toll was 12 persons.

Several of the cars and both diesel engines caught fire after the smashup. A passenger on the Southern Belle said Marines told him three or four officers were trapped in a burning car.

A Marine Corps spokesman in Washington said that one Marine was killed in the wreck and five others injured.

Louisiana police listed an unidentified child bystander as one of the dead.

About 20 ambulances answered the call and evacuated all of the injured to nearby hospitals and clinics.

Railroad wreckers and fire fighting equipment followed. One of the engines was still burning at 11 A. M. (CST).

Bus routes from the area were rerouted from Camp Lejeune, N. C., to San Diego. It left New Orleans northbound at 8 A. M. (CST). The Southern Belle left Kansas City at 4 P. M. (CST) yesterday and was due in New Orleans at 10 A. M. (CST) today.

Both trains were running on Texas and Pacific tracks at the time of the accident.

From the sketchy police reports it appeared that most of the casualties were from the troop train.

Bus routes were sent from Baton Rouge by the Kansas City Southern to bring uninjured troops to their destinations.

Willis Barge Co. To Expand Service Along Atlantic

ICC Approves Extension Of Lines Into New York Harbor

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—(AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized the C. G. Willis Barge Lines to expand operations along the Atlantic coast and to include service with self-propelled vessels.

Willis was given permission to purchase the water-operating rights of Pocahontas, Inc., Salisbury, Md., for $4,500. This action will cover the self-propelled operation and also permits Willis to extend his present northern terminus from Trenton, N. J., into New York harbor.

His present barge routes extend to Jacksonville, Fla., along the inland waterways.

The new authority permits service by self-propelled barges between intermediate points from New York to Jacksonville, but rules out through service between these two points.

Willis, headquartered at Norfolk, Va., plans to start service promptly with regular trips between Philadelphia and Savannah, Ga., expanding later to other areas.

Milk Commission To Supervise Milk Marketing Here

Upon petition signed by three of the four Seminole County dairies, the State Milk Commission today authorized the county to supervise the marketing of milk in this area at a meeting at the Court House yesterday morning presided over by L. K. Nicholas, Jr., administrator for the Commission.

Cost accounting statements will have to be prepared by the dairies and submitted to the Commission before minimum prices can be regulated, Mr. Nicholas explained.

Only minimum prices are established while ceiling prices are left to the individual dairy and its customers under the Commission rules.

The local dairies have not been under the Milk Commission for many years as a gallonage tax is levied to supervise marketing. At the present time Seminole County milk prices are one cent under the surrounding area.

Dairies represented at the meeting yesterday were Beacon Dairies represented by H. H. Jacobs, Spencer-Harden Dairy represented by George Harden and Green Valley Dairy represented by Dr. C. W. Baker.

Stetson Grid Coach Talks To Jaycees

The Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce played host to Stetson football Coach Joe McDowell last night at a dinner meeting at the Montezuma Hotel given over to a film featuring the gridiron exploits of the Hawks during 1950.

Coach McDowell explained the significance of certain Stetson plays and identified the players during the hour-long session of football highlights.

Bob Rohl and Willie Hunt are tied for paper balling honors with each having three to his credit as the Jaycees go into the final stages of what has been described as the most successful paper drive ever conducted in Seminole County.

The club was also congratulated on the fine turnout of more than 400 youngsters for the annual fishing rodeo held on Lake Chassahouicon.

FLORIDA PROJECTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—(AP)—The Senate appropriations committee has approved five Army civil defense projects for Florida totaling $16,478,948, Senator Holland (D-Fla.) said today.

The committee okayed $6,000,000 for the Central and South Florida flood control project. This is $1,000,000 more than the House voted.

Approved for the Jim Woodruff lock and dam was $4,900,000, same as the House.

The committee upped funds for improvement of Jacksonville Harbor from the House figure of $695,000 to $1,797,000. It included $285,000 for reimbursement for work done on Lake Wales in 1950. This had been denied by the House.

The House figure of $3,150,000 for deepening the intracoastal waterway south of Jacksonville was reduced by the Senate.

Crewman's Quick Thinking Saves Navy Carrier

FAST ACTION ON THE PART OF A CREWMAN aboard the carrier USS Intrepid, Richard in Korean waters, saved the day when a million-candlepower flare accidentally broke loose and rolled beneath a fully loaded "Skyraider" on the flight deck of the ship. The flare (top) began to burn as it rolled toward the plane. Below, Aviation Boatwain's Mate James L. Seng (arrow) saw the smoldering flare and tossed the blazing bundle to the side of the carrier. Kilbee Case Is Dismissed By Judge Revels

Former County Commissioner Is Cleared Of Hog Stealing

Hog stealing charges against former Seminole County Commissioner W. G. Kilbee were dismissed at 10:45 o'clock this morning by Judge P. B. Revels of Palatka, G. W. Spencer, attorney for Mr. Kilbee, announced at noon today.

Mr. Spencer had filed a motion to require the State to show whether it could overcome by new evidence the recent Supreme Court decision returning the case to Volusia county for new trial.

The court held that since the Supreme Court had said that the whole case had developed over a dispute as to ownership of some hogs and since the criminal courts are no place in which to try such a case, the State even if it could produce new evidence could not overcome the objection that the case was being tried in the wrong court.

Therefore, the case was dismissed and the cost of prosecution was charged against Volusia county.

The State was represented at the hearing by Murray Sams of Deland.

Mr. Kilbee was accused of stealing six hogs from V. P. Allman, Green rancher, on Nov. 8, 1949. His attorney repeatedly claimed that the case was at best a question of disputed ownership and not actionable in a criminal court.

The Volusia court, however, found Mr. Kilbee guilty and later sentenced him to two years in prison. Judge H. B. Frederick presided.

Appeal In Made For Flood Relief Funds

An appeal for contributions to the American Red Cross Emergency Flood Relief Fund was made today by Mrs. Joe Gonzalez, executive secretary of the Seminole County Chapter, who said that the campaign will continue until Aug. 15.

Pointing out that the quota has recently been doubled on account of the dire conditions existing in the flooded area, Mrs. Gonzalez said that both business houses and individuals should consider it a privilege to contribute to this essential service and that therefore no personal solicitations will be made. Donors are asked to send their contributions to Red Cross headquarters.

Koreans At East Berlin Rally

UNARMED UNIFORMED Communists from North Korea march in the East Berlin youth festival, where more than 100,000 young Reds from many parts of the world pledged allegiance to Soviet Premier Josef Stalin. Enthusiastic to the United States was stressed also at the German rally where N. A. Michailov, general secretary of the Soviet Union's League of Communist Youth, described Russia's belief in a North Korean victory over "United States aggressors" as "unshakable." Thousands Of Iron Curtain Youths Desert Berlin Red Peace Festival

BERLIN, Aug. 10—(AP)—German Red Cross officials reported today that a young girl member of the Communist east German youth attempted suicide after she was denounced by informers for visiting free West Berlin. They said the girl, frightened of punishment, fled from her camp in panic. She reached the western borders but, friendless and despairing of finding permanent refuge, she slashed her wrists.

BERLIN, Aug. 10—(AP)—Eluding tightened police controls, additional tens of thousands of Iron Curtain youths deserted the Communist world youth peace festival today to visit free West Berlin.

It was the second great invasion wave, staged by a new mass of youths whom the Communists had brought to the East Berlin festival from the surrounding Russian occupation zone. Shortages of supplies and housing for the two-week show require that the delegates be brought in shifts for visits of about five days each.

West Berlin authorities, who have the task of interviewing and entertaining the visiting youngsters, reported that about 700 had inquired about asylum in the West since the festival opened last Sunday. Only a small fraction are accepted for this, however.

Because of the already heavy financial burden of the refugees, only those are taken who prove they can't safely return home. The others are given a quick indoctrination of anti-Communist aims and advised to go home.

but held fast to the faith even under the pressure of Communist rule.

The Communist leaders also were reported to be confronted with scattered revolts among the foreign delegations to the festival. Western press reports claimed that the Belgian delegation protested against food served them, especially against maggoty sausage. East Berlin's cold storage facilities are known to be insufficient to the task imposed upon them.

A group of British delegates also was reported to have refused to move into their quarters until pictures of Stalin were removed. This group claimed they thought

Ottis A. Mooney Is Appointed Coach Of Seminole High

Line Coach Of Miami High School To Re- place Carl Kettles

The Seminole County Board of Public Instruction yesterday appointed Ottis A. Mooney as athletic director and football coach at Seminole High School. The appointment was made upon the recommendation of the principal, H. E. Morris, and the school trustees.

Mr. Mooney, a graduate of Rollins College and formerly assistant coach here in 1948 and 1949, comes to Sanford from Miami High School where he has been line coach for the past two seasons.

The new Seminole High coach began his football career at the University of Florida as a guard and tackle before playing on the Rollins varsity in his junior and senior years.

He replaces Carl "Goose" Kettles, coach since 1946 and a four-time football and basketball star at Rollins in the '30's. Mr. Kettles was also manager of the Cocoa Indians professional baseball club in the 1951 season.

The board also appointed Miss Dorothy Perkins and Mrs. Naomi Simpson as teachers in the Ovidio School. Mrs. Jane Higgenbotham to the Geneva School succeeding Mrs. Mary Totten Barnes who resigned.

In other action the board appointed Mrs. W. T. Chaney as lunchroom manager in the Ovidio school succeeding Mrs. Blanch Partin who was granted a year's leave because of illness.

Miss Betty Ault was appointed secretary to the principal of the Ovidio School on the resignation of Miss Billie Chaney.

The board replaced Mrs. E. E. Walker, who resigned as driver of the Sanford school bus on the East Side, with Mrs. Wilma Spier.

The Superintendent was instructed to call a meeting on Monday of Professor R. T. Milwee of Longwood, Professor W. A. Teague of Ovidio and Professor R. E. True of Sanford to discuss with Professor P. H. Bremer the establishment of land departments in their schools.

All members of the board were present with the exception of W. A. Patrick who was absent from the city.

Seminole County Tax Collections Hit 99 Percent

Tax Collector John Galloway today announced that collections of the 1950 tax roll amounted to 99 percent of the entire tax levy of $697,419.74.

In his annual report to the Board of County Commissioners for the fiscal year ending Aug. 1, Mr. Galloway said collections compared favorably with those of the previous year.

He stated that a great majority of the taxpayers in Seminole County took advantage of the 4 percent discount period last November when real estate and personal property taxes amounting to $280,708.58 were paid. This is more than half the entire tax roll.

Taxpayers saved a total of $17,786.10 in discounts allowed under law for payments made in November, December, January and February.

Mr. Galloway described this prompt payment as a fine demonstration on the part of the property owners of Seminole County in showing their willingness and ability to pay their taxes.

SATURDAY RACES

DAYTONA BEACH, Aug. 10—(AP)—Jerry Collins, president of the Volusia County Kennel Club announced today that Saturday afternoon races at the dog track here will be discontinued. The Chamber of Commerce had voiced a vigorous protest against afternoon racing here, merchants saying the practice hurt business downtown.

At a conference with Henry Coleman, C. O. president, Collins, while saying he believed the races helped rather than hurt business, announced he would discontinue the afternoon races regardless. He said he wanted to keep the good will of Chamber of Commerce members.

Vinson Warns Of Danger To U. S. Of A-Bomb Raids

Rep. Herlong Urges Legislation To Aid Class D Baseball

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—(AP)—The chairman of the House Armed Services Committee today told the House a $3,768,000,000 military construction bill is necessary because Russia has the atomic bomb and planes that can drop it on the United States.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) described the huge authorization measure as "the largest single military construction bill ever submitted to the Congress in peace or war."

He said there is more to come, as the bill is tailored to requirements of a $1,000,000,000 man armed force and a 95-wing air force. Vinson himself once week urged expansion to a 103-wing air arm and two additional giant aircraft carriers.

"During World War two there was no threat of hostile bombing to this nation," said Vinson. "The chief threats to the internal security of this nation were coastal attacks by submarines and sabotage and neither threat was very substantial."

Today we face a vastly different situation. Russia has the atom bomb and the capability to drop it within continental United States.

"Against that threat, it is mandatory that we provide for the air defense of this nation," he said much has been done in building up a radar warning screen and establishing fighter interceptors bases, but more needs to be done to build up bases for the huge intercontinental bombers of the strategic air command.

Individual Incomes Reach New High

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—(AP)—Incomes of individuals increased in June to a new record rate of $251,100,000,000 a year.

The Commerce Department, reporting this today, said June personal incomes averaged $1,200,000,000 over May, on an annual rate basis, due chiefly to payroll increases of $500,000,000 each in private industry and in the government.

Wage and salary receipts, about 20 per cent since the Korean war began, moved to an annual rate of $106,100,000,000, with government payrolls accounting for $29,800,000,000.

Interest and dividend receipts of stockholders and bondholders stayed unchanged from May to June, at a $20,200,000,000 annual rate. Income of owners of farm and unincorporated businesses plus net receipts of landlords rose by $200,000,000 to a $48,200,000,000 annual rate.

Transfer payments, consisting mainly of Social Security and veterans' benefits, including the GI insurance dividends now being paid went up by $100,000,000 to a $120,000,000,000 annual rate.

QUALIFIED JUDGES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—(AP)—Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) said today he was trying to secure "better qualified" men by opposing two of President Truman's selections for federal judgeships in Chicago. He argued the Senate has a duty to maintain standards of the federal bench.

And he sought to lift the controversy "above the level of a power struggle with the President," Douglas added, through polls of Illinois lawyers on the qualifications of candidates.

NAVY COMMAND

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—(AP)—The Navy will complete its new high command Aug. 16, when Admiral William M. Fechteler takes over as chief of naval operations. Fechteler's nomination to the post left vacant by the death of Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, was confirmed yesterday by the Senate.

In the week before Fechteler takes office, Admiral Donald B. McGormick will be acting chief of naval operations. He is vice-chief under the new command set-up, having today relieved Admiral Lynde E. McCormick.

McGormick will succeed Fechteler as commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet Aug. 15 at a ceremony on board the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt at Norfolk, Va.

Talks Are Resumed In Silence As Dead- lock Over Buffer Zones Is Continued

U. N. ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 10—(AP)—Deadlocked United Nations and Communist truce negotiating delegations sat for two hours and 11 minutes in dead silence today, each waiting for the other to change his position.

The unprecedented silence was precipitated, the United Nations command said, when the Communists refused to talk about anything except a buffer zone located where they want it.

Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief U. N. delegate, proposed several alternatives to break the deadlock. Then he waited for North Korean Lt. General Nam H. head of the Red delegation to reply.

Nam said nothing.

For 131 minutes, nobody spoke. "The air was full of electricity," said Brig. General William P. Nuckols, official U. N. command spokesman.

He said General Nam flinched in nervous embarrassment, smoked cigarettes incessantly, drummed on the green-topped conference table with his fingers or his cigarette lighter, and glanced repeatedly at his wrist watch.

Occasionally he received notes from staff officers behind him. But he said nothing.

The other four Communist generals held occasional whispered conference most of the time, Nuckols said, they remained impassive.

Admiral Joy sat calmly, Nuckols said, "writing notes in a detached sort of fashion."

Joy appeared patient, sometimes bored, Nuckols said. Joy finally broke the silence.

The Admiral, without even clearing his throat, spoke in a clear crisp voice, observing that the two delegations seemed to be deadlocked on the buffer zone (Continued on Page Eight)

State Bank Assets In Florida Jump By $81,619,000

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 10—(AP)—Assets of Florida's state-chartered banks and trust companies increased by $81,619,000 last year. Their deposits increased $65,005,150.

The annual report of Comptroller C. M. Gay's banking division today showed 135 state banks and trust companies closed the business year June 30 with total assets of $744,414,136. A year before, 130 banks reported assets of $662,795,136.

Total deposits went up from $580,000,012 on June 30, 1950 to $651,512,092 a year later. Profits from national banks, which are not under the comptroller's supervision, are not included in the report.

The state banks reported 48 percent of their assets, $317,301,625, were held in U. S. government bonds. Another 22.58 percent was represented by loans and discounts totaling $159,039,149, up $20,500,000 from the year before. Total capital of the 135 banks, including surplus, reserves (Continued on Page Three)

"The Humble"

"True greatness is always humble. The lack of humility on the part of any one displays a sense of weakness somewhere. Self-conceit is always an attempt to overcome conscious weakness. True greatness can be humble without loss of power or dignity. Jesus stooped to conquer. The extreme simplicity of Christ's conduct is sufficient to follow as in the greatness of His character. How simply, and how beautifully, does the character of Jesus shine out in all the splendor of His humble service to mankind. After eight years as President of the United States, James Madison retired to his Virginia plantation and filled the office of justice of the peace. Real greatness rejoices in the privilege of doing little things for the good of others."

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10—(AP)—The moral of our men in Korea is terrific! reports Jack Benny, returned this week from entertaining troops in the front lines. "They know what they're fighting for," added the fiddle-hacking comedian. "Naturally, they want peace, but they want the right kind of peace, and they're willing to continue fighting until they get it."

(Continued from Page One) they had come to a non-political world youth gathering and didn't understand why it should be festooned with Communist posters and symbols. Western reports said some Arabians made the same protest. Morning rain soaked the outdoor portion of the festival program for this sixth day. The Communist propaganda machine now is turned on full blast for the festival high-point—Sunday's mammoth "peace parade" down famed Unter Den Linden to East Berlin's Red Square, the Marx-Engels Square. Communist leaders said more than 1,000,000 young East German blue-shirts would march in this anti-West demonstration. That would double the number who marched in last year's big White-russian demonstration. The foreign delegates, estimated by the Communists at 30,000 will have seats in reviewing stands.

Despite the big increase shown over the same date a year ago, assets of the banks on June 30, 1951, were $13,700,000 below the year's peak of Apr. 9, 1951. Cash accounts fell off $18,400,000 in the last three months of the business year. Deposits dropped $13,200,000. J. V. Chapman, head of the comptroller's banking division, said the fourth quarter drop in assets was an annual occurrence resulting from the seasonal nature of Florida's economy. He said it was reflected in reduced cash and reduced deposits because of withdrawals made by farmers to finance spring operations and other adjustments of finances at the end of the winter season.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Wisdom becometh as silver before God forever.—Psalm 61:7

We hear rumors that a cross was burned in Sanford the other night, but we are unable to verify it.

Scurvy is reported cropping up in Tallahassee, an AP report from the capital city reveals. We can understand that too.

Polish girls are being given military training. So says Voice of America. All part of the Soviet peace offensive.

Congratulations to D. K. McNab on his appointment as first judge of the Small Claims Court, and to the merchants for getting such a court established.

The salary of the secretary of Indiana's governor is greater than that of the governor. The latter gets $7,400 a year; the former, $10,000. But then, he works.

Uncle Sam is not limiting himself to any six divisions in Europe. We may want to send fifty over there before we get through with this thing.

Dan McCarthy almost says, but not quite, that he is going to be a candidate for governor next year. We think that we can safely bet that he will be, off the record of course, and not for publication.

The Chamber of Commerce board of directors is slated to meet Tuesday night and the 1951 is that something unusual is going to happen. Better, make it your business to be there.

This is a good season of the year to give your front lawn that new look. Time spent in mowing the lawn this summer will pay dividends in the form of a good stand of grass next winter.

Senator Taft is the man President Truman would like to see not the Republican nomination as he says. And for that very reason, perhaps, Senator Taft won't be nominated.

You can't fool all of the people all of the time, but you can fool some of the time. In Newport, Ky., a candidate for secretary of state who received 35,000 votes in the recent primary has just been committed to a mental institution.

The World Assembly of Youth meets in Mexico to hear its president Maurice Saurer. Mrs. Roosevelt and others say that the two nations of the world are not doing enough for their young people, implying perhaps that only Communist countries do the governments give young people everything they want. Young people who depend upon governments to support them, instead of supporting their governments, are the kind to build great nations, whether democratic or communist.

For those who take cheating seriously, the words of young Bob Bly, footballer, son of Coach Black, might well be worth a thought. "I have the deepest respect for West Point. We must make. We're going to pay for it. Accepted in that spirit, the game might well prove a valuable educational experience for those who attend it."

It is time for the government to get out of the business of running the country and let the people run it. The government is a necessary evil, but it is an evil that is becoming more and more necessary as the years go by. The government is a necessary evil, but it is an evil that is becoming more and more necessary as the years go by.

Making American Music

The violin is an old and respected instrument. It brings to mind a picture of European grace, of artistic virtuosity with long tapering fingers and Continental manners. The fiddle is listed in the dictionary as a synonym for violin, but the picture which the term brings to mind is entirely different. When you call a violin a fiddle you make a peculiarly American instrument out of it.

At an old fiddler's picnic held near West Chester, Pa., some 250 dyed-in-the-wool fiddlers gathered to talk about the old days and make the music they love. They had come mostly from Pennsylvania and six neighboring states, but there were a few fiddlers from the deep South and from Iowa among the old-timers. The air was filled with tunes that rolled and rolled, and feet tapped out the rhythms for such tunes as "Swallow in the Swamp" and "Rise and Let Me In, Joe."

America is spoken of in many foreign lands as being without a native music. In the sense that no Beethoven or Bach has yet been recognized among us they may be right. But what music could be more native to a land than that of the cabin-raiders where pioneers gathered to put up a new wilderness home. They danced to the music of the fiddle when it was finished. The fiddle was an easy instrument to carry. It went West in the covered wagons and in the circle of warmth from the pioneer campfires it made the dark a little less frightening, the new land a little less fearful.

The old tunes of the fiddlers survive and are heard again. The grained hands which play them may never have achieved fame on a concert stage, but who can say their music has not been important?

Women As Tax Gatherers

Federal tax agents are finding that women, while they pay their own taxes like anyone else, are sometimes inclined to be rebellious when it comes to collecting taxes from other people. When the Social Security tax was extended to domestic help, Internal Revenue offices all over the country found a notable slowness among housewives in filing the required quarterly returns of taxes deducted from the pay of their household help. A group of Marshall, Texas, housewives decided on an outright refusal to deduct the tax money and send it in. The answer of Internal Revenue came in the form of seizure warrants against the women's bank accounts.

The incident recalls the case of Vivien Kellems, manufacturer of New Haven, Conn., who refused to withhold income tax payments from the wages of her employees. In her case, also, the government's reply was seizure of money from her bank accounts. The case has entered complicated litigation, promising to extend over a long period.

In both of these incidents the claim of the protesting women is that the government has no constitutional authority under which it can compel private citizens to act as tax gatherers. This is a point which almost everyone in business would like to see clarified, for the Social Security and withholding taxes have aroused much valid objection. They are inordinately costly to large concerns, and are troublesome and time-consuming for small firms.

Most business concerns are run by men, and they have done a considerable amount of protesting and objecting about these two taxes. It appears to have been left to the women however, to take direct action.

Doom Of Berchtesgaden

Berchtesgaden, once the mountain retreat of Adolph Hitler, will be destroyed by the Bavarian government to keep it from becoming a neo-Nazi shrine.

The destruction of Berchtesgaden will sadden few people. But the destruction of the memory of Hitler will be more difficult. He was not merely an evil man; he was the personification of an evil idea. Unless men can forget ideas of racial or religious superiority, of cruelty, hatred and intolerance it will do little good to dynamite buildings.

In a world where men failed to sense their brotherhood no such shrine would be needed as a monument to Hitler and the hatred he preached. In a world where men lived together as brothers, no Berchtesgaden would ever be a shrine.

Sanford Forum

Editor, The Herald, Sanford, Fla.

If you can't CONVINCE them then CONFUSE them. I was not convinced but I was certainly confused after reading the two recent articles in the Sanford Herald by the City Manager.

After predicting a profit of $2,500 per year in one news item, the next news item jumped the profit to $12,500 per year by the simple procedure of raising the handling charges. The shipper would have something to say about increased charges or not the increased charges or not.

It finally gathered that F. C. Hillier was now predicting that the City of Sanford would expect a profit of $18,500 per year. If the project can be completed for $281,000, since the Engineers estimate three years ago was $350,000 for the building, and since building costs have increased about 40% this is, of course, an impossibility. To say nothing of the $41,500 for handling and conveying equipment, several thousand for office equipment and the fact that it will only be about half large enough to handle the volume of business necessary to make this much profit.

If a Barge Line can be induced to handle the service, it is a very good thing. The Barge Line is a very good thing. The Barge Line is a very good thing. The Barge Line is a very good thing.

being eliminated. If the imaginary Barge Line can find Southbound tonnage. They definitely will not operate a one way service. They want five hundred tons both directions.

If P. C. Hillier had not stated in the original survey that "generally speaking, the competitive situation prevents and prohibits an average level of port terminal changes which will provide just compensation and a fair return upon the property devoted to that use" in other words, NO PROFIT CAN BE EXPECTED. Also, that the investor in Municipal Port Terminal Bonds should be assured that there will be some source of revenue to meet the funded debt obligations, in case the operation of the Docks should incur a net deficit.

If this same P. C. Hillier had not admitted before witnesses that he thought Jacksonville would benefit from the Sanford Terminal. Since he would have nothing to lose and everything to gain the survey and statements made since the survey by Mr. Hillier O.B.A.S. CAN BE IMPARTIAL.

Certainly no other thinking business man would have been so bold as to say that in a project so sure as death.

It is time for the government to get out of the business of running the country and let the people run it. The government is a necessary evil, but it is an evil that is becoming more and more necessary as the years go by. The government is a necessary evil, but it is an evil that is becoming more and more necessary as the years go by.

SOLDIERS WHO USED THE WRONG KIND OF LEAD

THE WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(AP)—It may be all right to keep on trying to get through the Iron Curtain to the Russian people, but let's not kid ourselves about the success we're having.

This week Eddy Gilmore, who has been the Associated Press correspondent in Moscow for years, has a brief but significant sentence in a story he sent from the Russian capital.

"The War," although it has lasted times does not seem to realize it has little opportunity to influence public opinion in the Soviet Union.

Since the Russian Communists run the country with an iron hand, they control all the outlets for information: radio, newspapers, and public speakers.

Because they want to stay in power and would crush any opposition, they tell the people what they want them to hear or read. It's one-sided but that's all the Russian people get.

The State Department's Voice of America broadcasts to Russia, but the Communists have done their best, which seems to be pretty good, to jam it out.

It probably would be one of the great illusions of our time to assume great numbers of the Russians are pausing to hear about us or from us. Here we have learned to look with suspicion on anything from the Soviet government.

It seems likely the Russian people may have somewhat the same feeling toward us, since the Communists have had a long time to condition them and propagandize them into that attitude.

It's easy to assume that because we value freedom so highly, the Russian masses must want it just as intensely. But the point is they've never had it so they can hardly know what they're missing.

Government's New Building Freeze Proves To Be Milder Than Expected

By KARL R. BAUMAN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The government's temporary "freeze" on construction has turned out to be something much milder.

For buildings with scarce materials on hand or in sight, it might even mean a short-term burst of building activity.

Officials of the National Production Authority (NPA), interpreting the agency's construction order of Aug. 5, held today it does not prohibit the starting of industrial, commercial and housing projects.

It forbids new construction to set up strict limitations on the amount of controlled materials—steel, copper and aluminum—which may be used in such projects after Sept. 30.

If a builder has the needed materials—or can get all but small amounts of them—the regulation does not prevent him from starting construction.

But builders who have the needed materials on hand, or in sight, need not apply for an authorization to start new projects.

Here is a specific example of an industrial plant, factory or facility project may be started without authorization provided the project will not require more than 48 tons of carbon and alloy steel, 4,500 pounds of copper and 1,000 pounds of aluminum a quarter after the controlled materials plan goes into effect.

For a commercial building, requirements per quarter after Sept. 30 must not exceed two tons of steel and 200 pounds of copper a quarter for completion.

It is the same pattern for residential types of housing. For residential structures of one unit, the quarterly allowance of steel after Sept. 30 is 1,450 pounds of steel and 160 pounds of copper, with no allowance for aluminum.

Economic mobilizer Charles E. Wilson has indicated that housing can look for needed materials for at least 250,000 units next year. He has not announced a specific figure, but has said the housing construction should at least equal this year's total of 250,000 units.

Soviet Press Says U. S. Is Alarmed Over Peace Plan

Russian People Told Americans Afraid To Face Real Issue

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The Soviet press said today American newspapers were "unable to hide their alarm" at the proposal of Soviet President Nikolai Shvernik for a five-power pact of peace.

Soviet readers were told that the U. S. State Department rejected the proposal on "the awkward pretext" that the existence of the United Nations made such a pact superfluous.

"It is typical," said a story carried by all Moscow papers, "that both the announcement by the State Department and the stories in the American press carefully refrained from facing up to the real essence of Shvernik's message and the resolution of the presidium of the Supreme Soviet."

The Supreme Soviet's resolution expressed friendship for the people of the United States. The Soviet press has published this along with Shvernik's proposal and the U. S. congressional resolution of friendship for the Soviet people adopted a month ago.

The story continued: "The question at issue is the proposed five-power pact, but it remains unanswered: 'What are the powers the U. S. R. wants to sign such a pact as Russia, Communist China, Britain, France and the U. S.?'"

The story accused the U. S. press—and the U. S. government—of ignoring points in the Soviet message dealing with:

- 1. "Partial ending of trade" between East and West.
2. The denunciation of the U. S.-Russian 1947 trade agreement.
3. Soviet charges of discriminatory measures against the U. S. R. by the U. S.
4. The charges that more anti-Soviet measures were adopted after President Truman sent a letter expressing friendship for Soviet people by the U. S. to issue visas to leaders of Soviet culture."

The press still is giving the exchange of friendship messages a big play. Stories about reactions to it were spread over the entire third page and part of the fourth. There were many dispatches from Communist countries as well as from Western countries, and apparently the Moscow press intends for some time to keep the story alive.

force and will be used to strengthen its ground installations and bases in the United States, in the territories and overseas. Among the latter are bases to cut the striking distance on Russia.

Meanwhile considerable sentiment for investigating radio-television broadcasting of baseball games cropped up at House hearings on how organized baseball operates. If the Congress members do go into that, it won't be until October.

The present hearings were recessed until fall after Rep. Herlong (D-Fla.), one-time president of the Florida State League, described the workings, trials and tribulations of a Class D league.

Herlong said "a saturation of radio broadcasts of major league games" was responsible for a falling-off in attendance at minor league games.

Rep. Willis (D-La.) suggested the committee call for testimony from broadcasters. This was greeted with warm support from Reps. Wilson (D-Tex) and McCulloch (R-Ohio).

Chairman Celler (D-NY) said that could be decided later. His judiciary committee has been inquiring into organized baseball's operations with particular emphasis on where they stand in relation to the anti-trust laws.

Herlong urged passage of "some kind of legislation" to "make it possible for baseball to go on as it is."

Willis, when suggesting they hear from broadcasters said he would have to study a long time before he could vote for anything that might deny major league baseball broadcasts to peoples miles away from the game.

McCulloch, agreeing, commented: "It might have the effect of ruining a lot of radio stations."

SOUTH AMBOY BIRTH NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J., Aug. 10.—Suits totaling $476,000 were filed today by 108 persons seeking damages for personal injuries received in the South Amboy munitions explosion of May 19, 1946.

The blast, which shattered South Amboy, Perth Amboy and nearby communities, killed 31 persons and injured hundreds. It caused property damage estimated at $10,000,000.

a big play. Stories about reactions to it were spread over the entire third page and part of the fourth. There were many dispatches from Communist countries as well as from Western countries, and apparently the Moscow press intends for some time to keep the story alive.

Health in LATER YEARS
Old age can be a blessing with good health and the feeling of having something important to do. Old folks should always be treated with affection as well as respect—mental therapy works wonders for most of the minor ailments of age. The old should be visited by a doctor from time to time; they need to get their troubles off their chest. If the doctor's prescription is followed, they will fit in accurately here.

Pre-storm pruning is a timely garden chore now, even though you may have already had a good wind or two. Remove all dead wood, broken limbs and misplaced branches. Extra high tops should be cut away now, before September. Plants recently transplanted should be staked. Successive pruning will tend to give the tree a broader crown, which will, in most cases, improve its appearance. While roses rest through the warm days you must continue to prevent the appearance of black spot. Spray every week or ten days with a good fungicide. A fault of many ornamental Hibiscus is that they often drop their buds before maturity. It is impossible to know a single direct cause of this, because there are many reasons why healthy buds yellow and fall. Let us assume that we are dealing with plants which were properly planted in order to further isolate the possible causes of bud-dropping. It is apparent that some varieties almost never drop buds, whereas other varieties some of which are now marketed, will drop more than fifty percent of healthy buds. This is found to be true regardless of cultural conditions or other factors which might influence buds to drop. Such plants should be immediately discontinued from nursery stock and care should be exercised in hybridizing to avoid using parental plants showing this tendency. Assuming that we are dealing with a variety of Hibiscus that is well planted and possesses the inherited tendency to develop buds into flowers, the following is submitted as reasons why buds drop. More Ways Than One Of Getting A Fur Coat-You Might Grow One

By HAL BOYLE

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(AP)—Does your wife want a new fur coat? Well, tell her to grow her own. All it takes is a couple of chinchillas and a little time—say five to ten years. Then she should have enough chinchillas to make herself a fur coat that sold for $30,000 a generation ago.

Raising chinchillas today is one of America's fastest growing livestock industries. Some 5,000 people in the United States and Canada now are breeding the furry little beasts for fur or profit. All you need to start with is a pair of chinchillas in love, and they sell anywhere from $600 to $1,050 a pair.

Dale Mathews, 22, an Army veteran who was graduated this year from the University of Minnesota, is a typical chinchilla rancher.

"When I got out of the Army in 1947, I had saved up some money," he said, "and I decided to spend it on clothes and a new car. In May of 1948 I bought a pair of chinchillas for $1,400."

Dale now has a herd of 12 of the valuable gray little animals, and recently sold a pair that got him back his original investment.

"In ten years I should have a stock herd of 200 or 300, not counting others I expect to sell," he said. "I intend to raise them as a sideline only, but they can be made into a real business. There are people now making $10,000 to $20,000 a year from them."

Chinchillas, natives of the Andes Mountains were hunted almost to extinction by 1910, when their pelts cost $185. In 1923 M. F. Chapman, a mining man, succeeded in bringing 11 to this country. Most of the 50,000 to 60,000 chinchillas now in this country stem from his small herd.

"It will take another seven years before the chinchilla fur market develops," Mathews said. "The industry needs 500,000 to 1,000,000 pelts a year before it can really get going."

But raising the hardy little animals—they only weigh about a pound—is no trouble. "It costs only about $3 a year to feed one," he said. "And a man can easily take care of 100 pairs and still carry on a full time job."

What man's chinchilla fur priced is its fabulously soft texture. Only one hair grows in a human follicle; 60 to 70 sprout from a chinchilla follicle.

The pearl gray rodents look like a cross between a small rabbit and a white mouse. They eat grain pellets and vegetables, are nocturnal, friendly and monogamous. Mama bosses the family.

If you put another female in with a mated pair," said Mathews, "the wife immediately starts a fight with her. She doesn't want her in the same pen."

The chinchilla mate—usually for life—at six months, have one to three litters a year, and live to be 10 to 12.

"They are vermin-free and odorless, and about the only disease they ever get is constipation," said Mathews. "Usually you can cure it with one rain."

If you put pelts to average $100 or more, but says even if they drop to $25 he can still make money from them. As a fully grown chinchilla weighs only about a pound, it takes 160 skins to make a fur coat.

So if your wife wants to raise her own chinchilla cloak by 1955, she'd better start now. One thing about chinchillas—you can't hurry them.

present (in general) the use of stored food within the plant body, it may be concluded that sun loving plants placed in excessive shade produce less bloom because they are denied the ability to manufacture the material which produces bloom.

The majority of Hibiscus plants like the full sunlight. Shade grown Hibiscus do bloom less than sun grown plants and probably drop more buds than those grown in more sunlight.

A common cause of bud dropping is over fertilizing with commercial fertilizers. Such practices tend to withdraw water from the plant and generally upset internal functions. Commercial fertilizers, in general should be applied sparingly but frequently.

The best commercial fertilizer as regards content is the one especially recommended for Hibiscus. A fertilizer containing secondary and trace elements is highly desirable for this area—it may cost more, but in buying fertilizer remember, you get what you pay for.

Insect or fungus infestation are likely to cause buds to drop, scale, thrips, aphids, fungus, etc. tend to weaken the plant by sucking out plant juices.

Low temperatures may cause bud drop, particularly if there is a sudden drop in temperature.

The absence of certain mineral elements such as manganese, copper, zinc, boron, etc., in the soil often produces growth disorders and bud drop. Special secondary and trace element compounds are now available for ground application and the more customary (and temporary) nutritional spray is often used with gratifying results.

Overwatering, especially in poorly drained soils, may cause buds to drop, and on the other extreme, lack of water results in bud drop. These last causes are easily corrected.

All Criticism Of Franco Cut From Aid Bill

Consideration Of Tax Increase Methods Begun By Senate; Bentley Testifies

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—(AP)—Senate Democrats today cut out all criticism of General Franco from the aid bill. The House Speaker, Rayburn (D-Tex.), said today that when Congress could wind up its work, he does hope, Rayburn said, that the House will be able to take a recess of two weeks beginning about the latter part of next week.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—(AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today cut out of a subcommittee report on foreign aid today criticism of the Franco regime in Spain.

The full committee approved the report, which quoted General Dwight D. Eisenhower as saying the West is so strong, it is "ridiculous" to be overly afraid of Russia and the Iron Curtain countries.

Before taking final action, however, the full committee struck out of the report a section which said:

"No one questions that Spain would be a useful ally in the event of a Communist attack in Europe. Yet many people question whether the acquisition of such an ally is worth the price that would be exacted by way of compromising the moral and spiritual values shared by the free nations of the Atlantic area."

"One of the enigmas that struck the subcommittee as it examined the Spanish situation was that any American assistance to Spain would in fact strengthen General Franco, thereby reducing the likelihood that the Spanish people would regain their freedom as those of religion, democracy and progress."

The full committee also cut out a section of the report which included a reference to the fact that both countries are "governed by dictators."

Senator Brewster (R-Me.), an advocate of aid to Spain, a reporter who led the fight for revision of the Spanish section. The full committee left in the report, made by a subcommittee of nine which toured Europe and reported in July a recommendation.

War Games Begin In North Carolina For 110,000 Men

FORT BRAGG, N.C., Aug. 12—(AP)—Exercise Southern Pine was opened today with a mythical enemy aggressor trying to crash through a defending U.S. force and capture the Raleigh-Durham industrial area. The two-week maneuver involving about 110,000 troops and armor is America's biggest field training test since World War II. Many of the ground troops will leave for Germany this fall to join General Dwight D. Eisenhower's Atlantic Pact army.

The mock war is being fought in the pine-woods sandhills surrounding Fort Bragg in southeastern North Carolina near Fayetteville. Troops and planes of a make-believe enemy have pulled a sneak invasion of the South Carolina coast and are marching up toward Fort Bragg. They have landed an armored spearhead at Raleigh.

Leffler Reports Fish Estate Ready To Put Up $500,000 For Hospital

The Fish Estate is prepared to pledge 60 percent of the cost of a hospital in Seminole County not to exceed $500,000 with the balance to come either from the federal government or the sale of County bonds, W. A. Leffler, one of the trustees of the estate, told the Rotary Club at its luncheon today.

Mr. Leffler said that the money for the estate's part in the project is in sight and that the next step should be to get a commitment from the government to put up the balance. Lacking that, he suggested that the County Commission should go ahead with a bond election for $400,000.

He said that plans have already been drawn for the hospital by an architect though they might have to be revised as they call for a 50 bed hospital while the government has recommended a 60 bed hospital for Seminole County. A hospital of 50 beds is now being built in DeLand by the Fish Estate in co-operation with the government which is putting up 50 percent of the cost, Mr. Leffler added. Pointing out that the cost of

Opponents Of Local Progress Hit By Whitney

The St. Johns-Indian River canal is one of Sanford's most vital needs and is now being blocked by back-passing, skulduggery, and downright falsehoods, Manager Ed Whitney of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce told the Rotary Club today at its noon meeting.

"And what is more," he added, "either the Federal Fish and Wildlife Association or the U. S. Army Engineers have lied about it."

In a talk which bristled with invectives against those who criticize the Chamber of Commerce for doing nothing, as well as against those who are themselves actively or passively obstructing the work of the Chamber, Whitney called for the creation of a master plan of progress with special emphasis on new industries as the key to future growth.

"We have got to make up our minds," he said, "whether we want new industries here, if we want them we have got to get together and go after them and then give them what they want to get them to come here. If we are not prepared to do that, if we decide we do not want them, then we ought to quit talking about them."

Among other important projects which Mr. Whitney listed as needed in Sanford are two wayside parks which the State is now preparing to build and maintain, but which he said are being obstructed by those who have not yet been united.

Motorcade Scheduled To Go To Dog Track

The motorcade scheduled to go to the Volusia County Dog Track tomorrow night will assemble in front of the Chamber of Commerce building at 6:45 P. M., Chamber of Commerce Manager Ed Whitney announced today.

Free passes for the special Seminole County night are available at the Chamber of Commerce office and Mr. Whitney urged that all who plan to attend to register at the chamber office.

Among those who will attend will be Miss Flo McGill, Miss Sanford of 1951.

Morgan said over the weekend that many of the violations involve some of the biggest concerns in the country. One case, he said, has "possible international ramifications and involves about $5,000,000 in illegal profits."

Gromyko To Head Soviet Delegation; Acheson Predicts Disruption By Reds

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—(AP)—Russia has informed the United States it will send a delegation to the Japanese peace treaty conference opening in San Francisco Sept. 4.

The State Department said Andrei Gromyko, deputy Soviet foreign minister, will head the four-man group.

Russia's acceptance came as a surprise. Moscow had been invited along with 49 other countries last July 20, but it had not indicated whether it would accept.

The State Department's press officer, Michael J. McElmurtrei, said Russia gave no indication whether it is prepared to sign the draft of a Japanese peace treaty.

Moscow has repeatedly denounced the proposed treaty. It has contended the pact is another device by the United States to tie the Japanese firmly to the U. S. orbit.

The treaty draft has been drawn up mainly by the United States under the leadership of Ambassador John Foster Dulles, Republican foreign policy advisor to the State Department.

Besides Gromyko, other Russian delegates to the conference will be Alexander S. Panuyshkin, Soviet Ambassador to the United States; G. N. Zharinov, Russian ambassador to Britain and S. A. Golunski, of the Russian Foreign Office.

All Missionaries In Red China Are Put Under Arrest

HONG KONG, Aug. 12—(AP)—Missionaries being ejected from Red China said today the Communist appear bent on eliminating all Christian churches except their own "reform church."

The Catholic Church is bearing the brunt of Red activities now. Travelers from Peking said every foreign missionary in the Red capital is either in jail or under house arrest. The report said Chinese Christians are under pressure to join the "reform church."

The Rev. Harold Rigney of Chicago and 18 other Catholic missionaries were reported jailed July 25. Rigney, only remaining American missionary in China and former rector of Catholic Fudan University, was bound when taken to jail. He was an Air Force chaplain in World War two.

Simultaneously with the arrests, the Reds took over 12 of Peking's 17 Catholic parishes. Catholics are the only large body of foreign Christians left in China. There are about 3,000 foreign Catholics in China, all time high was 5,000 in 1949.

Only 100 or so Protestant missionaries remain in China.

Sister Kenny Coming To America Without Necessity Of Passport

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 12—(AP)—Sister Elizabeth Kenny, a leader in the fight against polio, told a Sydney Sun reporter today she is incurably ill and has little time left in this world.

The world famous nurse did not name the disease with which she has been stricken, but the reporter said she was shaking and looked ill.

Miss Kenny, who is 65, said she would continue her fight against the ravages of polio "until I die." She will leave Thursday for the United States on a route to an international polioymyolitis conference in Copenhagen, Denmark. She will be under a nurse's care on the trip.

"I am unwell and incurably so," she said. "I only hope I will be spared the time to come home again. I am very happy in my beautiful Toowoomba home among my own relatives and the people among whom I made my discoveries on poliomyelitis. I want to end my days at home."

Her journey to the United States is eased by the fact that the American Congress, in a special bill granted her the "freedom of the United States." She is the second person in history to gain this distinction which allows her to travel back and forth without passport or immigration formalities. The first was General Lafayette who won the right for his services in helping the American colonists gain their independence from England in the 18th century.

"I have an abiding and deep love for America and the American people," Miss Kenny said, "and I have been a church member since I was a child and now go to the ..."

French Cabinet Member Killed By Estranged Wife

Dr. Chevallier, War Hero, Was Influential In Politics

ORLEANS, France, Aug. 12—(AP)—Presty Yvonne Chevallier was formally accused today of the murder of her war-hero husband, Pierre Chevallier, just a day after he became a member of the new French cabinet.

The formal charge was lodged by an examining magistrate here after an inquiry into the shooting yesterday of Dr. Chevallier, 42, who just had been named Secretary of State for Technical Education, Youth and Sports in the new cabinet of Premier Rene Pleven.

French authorities had ordered a sanity test for the wife, but there was no indication yet whether a psychiatrist had examined the black-haired woman.

Mrs. Chevallier, a handsome woman in her late thirties, called police to her home and was quoted by them as announcing: "I have just killed my husband." Investigators said she told him she was a Communist and that she often had had affairs with other men.

Staten Islanders Are Stranded By Sick Call Strike

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(AP)—"Sick" crewman of Staten Island ferries stranded today to return to work, thousands of commuters stranded at the water's edge on their way to work. Union committees said the crewmen, who had reported sick in a demand for more pay, would be back on their jobs by noon. The committee set noon Friday as a deadline for the city to meet its pay demands.

Members of the group said they believed their agreement had broken a deadlock between the Senate and House on terms of a formula which, they said, would require a 10 per cent cut in current federal payroll costs, amounting to many millions.

The compromise also would authorize a 50,000-unit low-rental public housing program in the fiscal year which started last June 30, in contrast to a 2,000-unit program which the House had approved.

General Nam Il Demands Parallels Only Line For End To Korean Conflict

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR, MUNCHEON, Korea, Aug. 12—(AP)

The chief Communist armistice negotiator said tonight Korean truce talks "will not make any progress" unless the United Nations changes its demands on where to create a buffer zone.

The statement from North Korean Lt. General Nam Il was broadcast by the Red Pyongyang radio ten hours after he had again refused to change his truce demands.

The Red position is so firmly fixed that in Monday's negotiation session Nam Il rejected a United Nations statement as "not satisfactory" as soon as it was delivered.

And a U. S. communique said, Nam Il made the rejection while "speaking from a previously prepared and translated paper."

In the Pyongyang broadcast Nam Il called on the U. S. delegation "to change its attitude" and "to take into consideration our demands" for a buffer zone along the 38th Parallel.

He said if the Korean truce negotiations are to "make any progress at all" U. S. negotiators must "change their distorted demands" they have made up to now.

U. S. spokesmen have made it clear that the Allies will not consider a demarcation line on the 38th Parallel. They say the Reds must change their stand if negotiations are to proceed.

No progress was made in today's one-hour and 20-minute session—the 10th devoted to the same question.

General Matthew H. Ridgway, United Nations commander in Korea, apparently hasn't much confidence in the cease-fire talks now going on at Kaesong.

But he's banking heavily on the fighting spirit of his men, if (Continued on Page Six)

Navy Patrol Plane Reported Missing With 12 Crewmen

KODIAK, Alaska, Aug. 12—(AP)—Four-engine Navy patrol plane with 12 crewmen aboard was reported missing today in Alaska. It was the fourth plane to have vanished since the Alaska and British Columbia coasts since July 21. They carried 50 persons.

The Navy PBY-2 Privateer disappeared yesterday after taking off at 7:35 A. M. from its Kodiak base on a routine operational mission.

The Kodiak Naval Station said nothing was heard from the big plane after it gave a position report at 10:14 A. M. Its fuel supply would have been exhausted at 9:35 A. M. Alaska time last night.

Names of the three officers and nine enlisted men in the crew were withheld.

An air and sea search was started yesterday after the bomber was presumed lost. Fog and rain curtailed rescue efforts. Planes of the 10th air rescue squadron at Anchorage were standing by today awaiting clearing weather.

Meanwhile, there was no slackening in the hunt for a Korean airlift DC-4 with 38 aboard which disappeared July 21 over the Alaska panhandle between Cape Spencer and Yakutat, about 500 miles east of Kodiak.

Six days later a ski-equipped single-engine Norseman plane vanished in the same area enroute from Mt. Hubbard to Yakutat. It carried the pilot and the wife and daughter of a millionaire New Jersey scientist, Walter Wood, who was conducting experiments on the mountain for the Arctic Institute.

On Aug. 4 a chartered Queen Charlotte Airlines single-engine plane was lost on a 37-mile flight from Mutchlik Arm to the tiny settlement of Tofino, on Vancouver Island, B. C. The pilot was flying six passengers to Tofino from logging camps on the island.
