WORK BOOSTS ESTIMATES OF ELECTION COST

Republicans Are To Spend Four Million Dollars Instead Of Three Millions As Was First Announced

Mails To Carry Much Of Party Propaganda

Increase Of Twelve Million Voters Over 4 Years Ago Blamed For Enlarged Cost

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—The Republicans will spend approximately $4,000,000 in the Hoover presidential campaign this year.

This figure was estimated today by Hubert Work, national chairman, after a conference with J. R. Nutt, Cleveland, national treasurer, Jeremiah Millbank, New York, eastern treasurer, representative, Frank Fort, New Jersey, national secretary, and H. L. Guttererson, executive secretary.

The Democrats have estimated their expenditures at between $2,000,000 and $3,500,000. These sums would result in the most expensive campaign in history. The previous figure estimated by the Republicans was $3,000,000.

For a week Nutt has been studying the budget estimates submitted to him by the various units under the national committee. He found the original estimate would be too low to carry on the type of campaign now being formulated. In 1924 the Republicans spent slightly more than $3,000,000. Questioned about the increased estimate Work said: "Well, there will be about 12,000,000 more voters this year than in 1924 and naturally it will take more money to reach that many more people."

He said postage would be one of the largest single items of expense, indicating the committee would flood the country through the mail with Republican literature and propaganda.

Contributions are coming in well, declared Nutt.

"We are getting them in every mail," he said. "Some are small and some are fair size."

He reiterated that there was no fixed limit on the size of contributions, but indicated the party management did not want single contributions of $500,000 or even $100,000, preferring lesser amounts from a greater number of people.

A formal statement from headquarters said the "legitimate expenditures" would approximate $4,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The Anti-Saloon League of America, while supporting Herbert Hoover for the presidency, will wage its campaign entirely solo. General Superintendent F. Scott McBride said on his return here today from a survey of five states.

The dry is raising its own campaign fund—with a maximum of $500,000 authorized—and will support proved dry for congress regardless of party affiliations.

The campaign to defeat Governor Alfred E. Smith is already under way, but will not reach full tide until early in September.

Coupled with this explanation of the league's plan of operations in the political war zone, Dr. McBride declared that if 90 per cent of the church vote is cast, Hoover will be elected.

"On the other hand," he said, "it is fully realized that if the drys in the churches are inactive and indifferent, the aggressive wet interests will be able to place Smith in the White House."

McBride declared that during his trip he found drys aroused in Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York and West Virginia.

He offered a prediction that a "very dry" congress will emerge from the November elections.

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 1.—Just before he finished a five-day vacation here today, Governor Al Smith announced he would have breakfast with George N. Peck, farm leader, at the Biltmore Hotel, New York City, tomorrow.

"It is a fair assumption that you will talk about farm relief?" the Governor was asked.

"Well," he replied, "I don't think the question of soil will be discussed."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—An explosion at the Indiana Refining Company at Lawrenceville, Ill., nine miles west of here, injured more than 40 men today. Five were believed to have been burned fatally, thirty-six of the injured men were brought to a Vincennes hospital.

VINCENNES, Ind., Aug. 1.—(INS)—An explosion at the Indiana Refining Company at Lawrenceville, Ill., nine miles west of here, injured more than 40 men today. Five were believed to have been burned fatally, thirty-six of the injured men were brought to a Vincennes hospital.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—A preliminary report from the State Department today indicated that the negotiations with Great Britain and France with regard to further naval limitation, but the chance for any thing definite being accomplished before 1931 which would affect the United States, is considered remote in American diplomatic circles. In that year the Washington naval disarmament treaty, which set up the 5-5-3 ratio for capital ships, expires.

The State Department has received from its naval attaché at London and Paris only the barest outline of the negotiations which have been going on between France and Britain, during the past year, and has at hand only the barest ground of events. Officials, deeply interested in Sir Austin Chamberlain's announcement in the British House of Commons that a compromise had been reached, professed to see little importance to the United States at this time.

The nature of the agreement is believed to be an actual recession by France of her viewpoint that naval limitations be on a basis of global tonnage, and an acceptance of the British view that definite limitations be made of ship categories. France is credited with having theoretically however, maintained her former position, reconciling the seemingly irreconcilable difference by agreeing to announce what she intends to build in each of the five ship categories.

VIENNA, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Members of the Jugoslav parliament, who have been in stormy opposition against the Belgrade government, have set up an independent parliament at Agreb (Agram), according to word from that city this afternoon. Eighty-eight, Croats, Slovenes, Montenegrins, Dalmatians, Mohammedans and German deputies constitute the rump parliament that held its first meeting in the old diet building at Agreb.

ever, obviously has put him back on his feet, so to speak. He again tips the scales at his usual 155-160 weight. The sun and wind have tanned his face and the lines of fatigue are almost wholly disappeared.

In seven months, Mr. Coolidge will retire, regardless of the outcome of next November's election. Already there has been much speculation as to the future he will pursue. It has been rumored persistently that he will become chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, the story being that J. P. Morgan took the job only temporarily when Judge Elbert H. Gary died on the condition that the President take it over when out of office.

Another report has it Mr. Coolidge will tour South America extensively, this story coming from the southern continent rather than from the United States.

But a third has it he will become president of Amherst, his alma mater, although a new dean was installed only about a year ago.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—In an effort to keep the Department of Commerce "out of politics," business men of United States have started a campaign for the appointment of Dr. Julius Klein, director of foreign and domestic commerce, as a successor to Herbert Hoover, it was learned today.

Taking the stand that the department is exclusively devoted to commercial and industrial activities, business men have laid their case before President Coolidge, representing that the selection of a secretary of commerce, based upon political considerations, would be unfortunate.

While it has been supposed generally that Hoover's successor would be from among the politically prominent Republicans, there now appears to be grounds for the belief that the president has been impressed by those who hope to keep the commerce department a "business bureau."

LEAGUE TO BE PROBED

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(INS)—A federal grand jury investigation into the activities of the national Hoover for President League will be made, according to U. S. Attorney Tuttle. This organization was reorganized recently by the Republican National Committee, following its attempts to obtain funds through the sale of advertising.

Three Georgians Maintain Innocence As Two Of Them Prepare To Die For Murder

ATLANTA, Ga., August 1.—(INS)—As the hour of death drew near for Clifford Thompson and Jim Hugh Moss in the death house of the state prison farm, there came today from those two and from Thompson's young wife in the Fulton tower—herself condemned to the electric chair—unbaken protests of innocence in his murder of Coleman Osborne, Murray county merchant, for which they were convicted. They will die Friday unless clemency is granted.

Last letters, full of declarations of innocence, passed between the couple. In his letter, Thompson said he would die with the same words on his lips.

"By my still saying that we were at home," he wrote, "it will go a long way with your case."

"If I don't never see you no more, sugar, I still love you, and I want you to be good and meet me in heaven, for that is where I am going."

While Thompson and his negro servant prepared for death at Milledgeville their lawyer, A. S. Johnson, went about a last desperate move to save them. The prison commission was to hold a special session to hear his appeal for a respite of 90 days, which he said will be utilized in making an extraordinary motion for a new trial on the ground of disqualification of one of the jurors.

If this fails, Johnson has said, he will appear before Governor Hard.

State Department, However, Doubts Accomplishment Of Anything Definite Until Washington Pact Expires

YANKEES BEATEN BY CLEVELAND AS MACKS WIN AGAIN

Champions Fail To Win Despite Ruth's 4th Homer; Giants Move Up As Cubs, Cardinals And Reds Lose

NEW YORK, July 31. (INS)—The spurt of the Athletics, coupled with the amazing slump of the Yankees, is getting to be an exciting as Serio's ride. Seven straight for the A's, and first place only 5 1-2 games away!

Despite Babe Ruth's 4th homer, the league leaders took another whiplash on the heater from Cleveland yesterday, 4 to 2. Ruth's mates couldn't do anything with southpaw Walter Miller while George Pipiras, attempting a comeback after being kayoed the day before, was practically ruined by Summa's triple with two on.

The Yanks have lost eight of their last 11 starts and manager Huggins is so shy of good pitchers that he is considering sending Ruth to the mound. The Babe's return to the box after years of out-fielding might be a flop, but how the gate receipts would soar!

Although outbatted, the Athletics nosed out the Browns in the ninth, 5 to 4. The reorganization of the Mackmen finds the veteran Cobb and Speaker on the bench, has in center field pitcher Orselli on first and catcher Fox on third.

The National League race also tightened up as New York won and St. Louis, Cincinnati and Chicago were beaten. The Giants took third place from the Cubs and Pittsburgh finally jumped ahead of Brooklyn into fifth place.

Rube Bressler, formerly of Cincinnati, kicked his business partner Ed Hixey, for a hit that gave Brooklyn a 2 to 1 win over the Reds.

The Cardinals also were beaten by two of their castoffs, catcher Davis and pitcher McGraw. The latter's relief pitching and Davis's hit in the sixteenth won for the Phillies, 8 to 7. Don Hurst and C. Williams, each hit for the circuit with two on.

Faulker, Ott and Hegan, all of whom were wops on the high school circuit a couple of years ago, helped the Giants trim Chicago, 4 to 1. Faulker held the Cubs to four hits and Ott and Hegan nicked Pat Malone, former Giant, for homers.

Pittsburg two-timed Boston, 2 to 1 and 6 to 5. Grimes registered his 17th in the nightcap.

Alphonse Thomas of the White Sox whitewashed Washington, 6 to 0, and Harry Rice's homer in the ninth enabled Hollway of Detroit to win a 2 to 1 duel from Big Ed Morris of the Red Sox.

TEX IS PLANNING FIGHT BETWEEN TUNNEY, SHARKEY

Promoter Not Disturbed By Report Of Champ's Retirement; Rickard Dines With Gene And Bernard Gimbel

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
NEW YORK, July 31.—It may or may not be significant that while Gene Tunney was supposed to be preparing today the vocabulary of his professional career, his withdrawal from the sport of always stark to the status of international significance, Tex Rickard was quietly setting his plan to match Tunney with Jack Sharkey for the heavyweight championship next September.

Rickard admitted that he had good reason to believe it could be carried through.

"Don't forget, Tunney is signed with me for next year," Rickard said. "He signed that contract only two weeks ago and, at this time, he assured me that he would be ready to defend the title, provided I could develop a challenger who figured to give him a real fight. That puts it up to me and I'm going to try to come through."

Rickard dined with Tunney and Bernard Gimbel on Sunday but had nothing to say about what transpired. The fact, however, that he felt optimistic enough today to discuss a Tunney fight for 1929 indicated that his dialogue was not altogether of a discouraging nature.

There is only one suggestion that can be offered Rickard in this matter. That is to develop his contender with all due haste or resign himself to bearing up bravely without Gene Tunney's future assistance. Everything is against Tunney attempting a comeback if his proposed activity extends into a second year. He has taken the examples afforded by Dempsey and Jeffries too much to heart to attempt any fight, he thinks he might not win. He would come back for a victory; never, if he could help it, for a defeat. And he knows that two years off the canvass usually is about five years off one's professional life.

It seems to be taken for granted that Tunney's statement, to be issued this afternoon at a luncheon given by William Maloon, boxing commissioner, will announce his retirement from the heavy-weight title. The writer even thought an inadvertent admission to this effect this morning from the gentleman's secretary, to whom he had been talking about plans for the luncheon.

"Of course, the statement will announce his retirement," the writer asked.

"Oh, sure," came the unguarded reply.

Upon which, the young man got himself seized with panic and retreated almost tearfully that he knew nothing about it, couldn't speak for Tunney and wished to have the entire thought wiped off the record.

Speaking of significance again, it may seem possible that there is none connected with this incident because the young man I'm talking about is the same young man who is presumed to have worked so hard typing Mr. Tunney's formal statement to the press.

Milane Theater's 'Head Man' Contest Gets Many Replies

Dozens of letters in the prize contest for the list of 10 qualifications most needed by a "head man" of Sanford had been received today by J. L. Marentette, manager of the Milane Theater, who is staging the contest. Five dollars in gold will be given for the list of best answers, 10 passes to the Milane Theater for the third best list, and 5 passes for the third best list.

The hour for the close of the contest today was extended by Mr. Marentette until tomorrow night at 6 o'clock. The names of the winner will be announced at the theater Thursday night.

Two of the many lists of qualifications received are printed below: 1. Skill. 2. Knowledge of the needs of Sanford. 3. Ability to select the proper people to serve under him. 4. Courage to oppose and ring or person who tries to graft on the city. 5. Business ability to handle the city's business most economically. 6. Experience and knowledge of the various matters handled by other officers and employees of the city. 7. Foresight. 8. Knowledge of the city's past and its various suggest programs for the future. 9. The quality to avoid leading trouble. 10. Smoothing out matters. 10. Knowledge of conditions of the surrounding territory, farming, banking, real estate, transportation, etc. Submitted by V. S. Route 4, Sanford Fla.

1. Honorable. 2. Just. 3. Good Financier. 4. Knowledge of all affairs. 5. Faithful to his trust. 6. Confidence of the people. 7. Kindness to his fellowman. 8. Persistence. 9. Judgment. 10. Courage of his convictions. Submitted by H. F. Z. Sanford Fla.

Many of the answers were too lengthy for publication but will be carefully considered before awards are made in the contest. Address communications to Box 740 or leave at box office at theater.

Berlin Envoy of Good Will Gets Paris Welcome

Gustav Hartmann, Driver of Hack, Pilots Old Buggy To French Capital Amid The Shouts of Fellow People

PARIS, July 30. (INS)—Want to be a diplomat? Can you buck steers, handle a lasso or pilot an airplane? Failing that, can you at least navigate a home H. P. back? If you cannot your place is not in the silk hat brigade of this day and age.

Gustav Hartmann, the Berlin hack driver, did a lot of diplomatic work when he drove his vehicle all the way from the Spruce metropole to Paris. His old wagon was hailed by the local press as the "Spirit of Lovance." Never since the war has a German been so enthusiastically welcomed and dined by natives of every class and station.

Now it is the turn of Emile Hennin, oldest cocher in the Seine City, to reciprocate the visit of Hartmann. Emile is already on his way with his old "hoose." The trip will take some two months. At that time, Coette is faster than Erasmus, Hartmann's hay consumer. That was definitely established when Hartmann was in Paris. At that time, Coette ran a match race against Erasmus along Boulevard Saint-Michel. Coette won by a clean out bag length.

Other efforts by the new school diplomats to cement international friendship include pushing a handcart from Paris to Rome. One graduate recently helped Franco-Dutch relations by doing hand-springs every inch of the way from Amsterdam to Paris.

Beans In The Pot

Some like 'em hot,
Some like 'em cold,
Some like 'em in the pot,
Nine days old.

HERE'S a stunt worth remembering. When you come in to your summer shack or camp, it is mighty convenient to find right in the pot a can of beans, spaghetti or pea soup, all ready to have water poured on and boil a few minutes.

That is all there is to your preparations for a satisfying meal except to have the right kind of can opener to slice off the top of the can when it's hot.

No Cut Hands

There is a can opener in captivity which will do just that thing, and it will also lift the can out of the boiling water without burning your fingers. The opener consists of two handles with a cutting wheel on the end of one and a wheel with rough-edged edges on the other. Holding the two together is a pin and a lever. To use it, simply open the handles as if they were scissors, and with a wheel on either side of the rim of the can, grip them. At this stage of the game you have a pot later. Put the can on a table, and holding the can opener handles with one hand, turn the little lever clockwise with the other. The opener remains stationary, the can turns, and presto! the lid is off, cut smoothly and neatly around the side of the can. This fast detail is especially valuable if you are opening something like asparagus or salmon and want the contents to come out without being crushed. The can-opener can be used with equal success on any shaped can.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 1. BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY: MY STRENGTH - Blessed be the Lord my strength.

Prayer - Lord, Thou didst make us but a little lower than Thyself and crowned us with glory and honor.

PRAYER FOR WOMANKIND: God, give each true good woman Her own small house to keep - No heart should ache with longing.

No hurt should go too deep - Grant her age-old desire: A house to love and sweep.

Give her a man beside her - A kind man - and a true - And let them work together And love - a lifetime through, And let her mother children As gentle women do.

Give her a shelf for dishes, And a shining box for bread, A white cloth for her table, And a white spread for her bed, A shaded lamp at nightfall, And a row of books much read.

God, let her work with laughter, And let her rest with sleep - No life can truly offer A peace more sure and deep - God, give each true good woman Her own small house to keep.

The tax millage of St. Petersburg has been reduced from seventeen to fourteen and seven tenths.

They are trying to induce Vice President Dawes to clean up Chicago, isn't that what he tried to do with the senate?

Judging from comments of state taxers on the libel suits against The Herald some of them have heard of Mr. DeCottes before.

"Dr. Livingstone, I presume," said Stanley in Darkest Africa, but in the Arctic nowadays a rescue party can not be so sure what eminent lost explorer it has found.

Connie Mack is wearing smiles again. Reason: the Mackmen have cut the Yankees' lead from eleven and half games to a mere six and half contests.

Despite a disappointing exhibition thus far American athletes lead the field in points in the Olympic Games. Even when bad they're good.

In Sweden General Nobile and his party were hissed. In Italy they were cheered. It probably caused the explorer to recall that "there's no place like home."

When Postmaster New announces that the postoffice department faces a big deficit that's not news, but let him tell the world it has broken even once and that will be worth a streamer head.

The City Attorney is quoted as remarking that he has The Herald where he wants it now. We might add in passing that sometime in the near future the citizens of Sanford may have Mr. DeCottes where they want him.

A statement of the City's financial condition is being mailed out with every water bill this month. It's the first time in the history of the City that such a thing has been done and we are wondering what prompts this sudden desire to tell the "dear people" something about their affairs.

The Chrysler and Dodge motor companies have consolidated to form a $400,000,000 corporation, the third largest automobile manufacturing concern in the United States. Some see an impending three-cornered motor war between Henry Ford, General Motors and the newly formed combine.

American people buy enough automobiles to assure each of these tremendous profits so there is really little excuse for such a trade conflict.

Where Voters Have A Voice

The City of Fort Myers is about to hold its second recall election within a period of less than one year. Petitions asking for the recall of three of the five members of the city commission have been filed with the city clerk and the date of the election will be set within a few days.

These three commissioners have aroused the ire of Fort Myers voters not through misdeeds but rather through a lack of ability to agree on a paving program for the city which has been hanging fire for more than twelve months and for alleged "general inability to handle the city's affairs."

They have heard delegation after delegation of citizens, had paving program presented for their consideration and have as yet agreed on nothing. Naturally, the citizens of Fort Myers have become discouraged by these repeated delays and the bickering which has accompanied them.

The recall election will be held within about thirty days. The voters of Fort Myers will flock to the polls and cast their ballots either for or against the commissioners.

Gene Tunney Retires

The sports world is speculating today over the retirement of Gene Tunney, who yesterday announced relinquishment of the heavyweight title and abandonment of a ring career, which in a period of ten years lifted him from an obscure fighter to a championship and a fortune of two million dollars.

Those who place discredit upon Tunney's announced intentions say his absence will last only until such time when Jack Dempsey returns to the ring and is generally recognized as the outstanding claimant for the championship belt, which Tunney has offered to the winner of an elimination tournament to be staged by Tex Rickard.

We believe Gene Tunney's conduct in the ring is ample reason for disbelieving any ulterior motives on his part. Certainly the champion offered conclusive reasons for his action. There is no outstanding contender and prospects are that there will be none for at least two years.

Although somewhat indefinite about his future plans, Tunney let it be known that he contemplates entering the business field. Three years ago in an interview in Tampa, he disclosed a life-long ambition to be a banker.

AN OUTSIDE VIEW

LAKELAND LEDGER

Making two Floridas where only one Florida exists today is a subject that has aroused some interest abroad. As the New York World says, it is not a new idea, but the World argues that the resort interests in the south will give the dream more color than it hitherto has possessed.

The campaign to divide Florida into two states by separating the lower half of the peninsula and calling it South Florida is not a new movement. Agitation for a division has been going on sporadically for many years, but up to this time it has made little headway because the would-be

FLORIDA LEADS AGAIN

TAMPA TIMES

Florida is out in the lead again. This time it is in respect of June building. According to the national building survey issued monthly by S. W. Strauss and company of New York, based upon authorized building permits, June construction in Florida amounted to $2,714,435, giving Florida first place among the southern states.

The others of these states followed in this order: Oklahoma, $3,190,394; Tennessee, $2,532,242; North Carolina, $2,624,282; Kentucky, $2,235,590; Georgia, $2,133,777; Alabama, $2,100,452; Virginia, $2,051,970; Arkansas, $1,238,452; South Carolina, $321,605.

To be sure the June total for this year was no as large in Florida as it was in 1925, say, but it was $600,000 over that of last year and greater than that for any other southern state. The showing is a pretty good one

Mrs. George Cowan Honored At Party

Mrs. Howard Long entertained at a lovely bridge party Tuesday afternoon at her home on Park Avenue honoring Mrs. George Cowan, a recent bride, and Miss Sue Hunter of Charlotte, N. C. The rooms were decorated with a combination of pink crepe myrtle and oleander which beautifully carried out the color scheme of pink and green.

At the conclusion of several interesting games of bridge, scores were tallied and it was found that Miss Claire Zachry held top score, for which she was awarded a novelty porch pillow. Miss Marcia Patterson received the prize for low score, a dainty hand-made handkerchief, and the cut prize, a bud vase, went to Mrs. A. W. Epps. Mrs. Long presented each honoree with a shoulder bouquet.

After the awarding of prizes the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Lee Peck and Mrs. L. P. Hagen, served a delicious salad course in which the colors pink and green were predominant. Mrs. Long's guests were: Mrs. George Cowan, Miss Sue Hunter, Mrs. Lee Peck, Mrs. L. P. Hagen, Mrs. Grant Wilson, Mrs. Lloyd Boyle, Mrs. A. W. Epps, Mrs. Al Lee, Mrs. John Melisch Jr., Mrs. Floyd Palmer, Miss Marcia Patterson, Miss Claire Zachry, Mrs. Graham Hunter, and Mrs. J. H. Cowan.

Mary Pickford Will Be Seen At Milane In Film 'Pollyanna'

Critics everywhere assert that "Pollyanna" is one of the greatest picture-plays ever filmed. The reason this is that the philosophy upon which the story is based constituted a theme which at the present time has an unusually wide appeal. This production will be the feature at the Milane Theater today.

Undoubtedly Mary Pickford, with characteristic far-sightedness, had this in mind when she chose this celebrated work as her first vehicle for the United Artists Corporation.

There is a great craving at the present time on the part of the public, according to best informed showmen, for something more than mere entertainment. Of course, diversion is always the paramount thing whenever amusement is considered, but at the same time people want something big and compelling—something that will drive home a few truths without preaching a sermon or spoiling the flavor of a show which is meant to entertain.

Such a story is "Pollyanna," with its cheerful philosophy of gladness. It is believed that this production, coming at a time when the country is upset by a period of readjustment, will have an unprecedented reception from the picture patrons.

Miss Pickford points out in this story that even when things are bad they might be worse. This thought, planted in the minds of people who are dissatisfied with wage conditions, or who think they are not getting a fair price for their goods, will tend to stimulate a line of mental activity which will result in stabilizing conditions.

Unemployment Situation Minimized By Head Of Labor Statistical Body

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—The unemployment situation in the United States is not nearly as alarming "as estimates from some sources would indicate," Ethelbe T. Stewart, chief of the Bureau of Labor Statistics declared today.

Though this statement came only a few hours after publication of an American Federation of Labor report which said that 11 per cent of the organized wage earners in 24 cities were unemployed, Stewart did not directly refer to the federation estimate.

Admitting some slackness in the building trades, Stewart said that "enormous numbers" of men usually employed in those trades were being taken care of by seasonal highway construction and other regular summer activities.

The federation's estimate reported 22 per cent of union men in the building trades out of work.

While deprecating alarmist views of employment today Stewart declared conditions would probably be little better until "a labor adjustment" was effected.

Certain trades are overcrowded, he added, giving as an example coal mining, in which it is estimated there are 250,000 more men than jobs. On the other hand, he contended, there is room for many more skilled workers in newer trades, such as automobile, radio and electrical equipment manufacturing.

The number of wage earners in each trade will have to be more evenly adjusted with the number of jobs before employment conditions can be permanently bettered, Stewart explained.

Local unemployment situations are often aggravated by wide publicity of building projects which never materialize or are delayed, he declared.

Thousands of construction workers have come to Washington in hope of getting work in the widely heralded $50,000,000 government building program, only to find that it may be years before construction begins.

In spite of a few pressing local employment problems, however, national employment situation is "fair," Stewart maintained. For the first few months of the year it grew steadily better and for the past two months has held about even. There is no reason to believe that it may become a serious problem in the near future, he declared.

Contests For Senator And Governor Attract Interest Of Tennessee On Thursday

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 1.—(INS)—The Tennessee Democratic primary campaign neared an end today with greatest interest in the contests to be decided tomorrow about evenly shared between the race for United States senator and the four-cornered gubernatorial struggle.

K. D. McKellar, senior senator from Tennessee, who is opposed by Finis J. Garrett representative in congress from the ninth district and Democratic minority leader in the house claims the state by 75,000 majority, a figure which the opposition ridicules in counter claims.

McKellar bases his claims for a decisive victory on comparative legislative records. While he has been a warm advocate and supporter of such popular measures as farm relief along the line of the McNary-Haugen bill, soldiers bonus, and other laws and proposed laws with group backing, he points to the opposition of Garrett to some of these measures particularly the farm relief bill.

McKellar also has a firmly established state organization, and is especially strong in west Tennessee where the largest Democratic registration in history has just been completed. The Garrett forces, while offering no specific estimate, claim victory ahead.

In the race for chief executive of the state, Governor Henry Horton, who succeeded the late Governor Austin Peay, who died in office, is opposed by Hill McAllister, defeated by a few thousand votes by Peay two years ago, and by Lewis Pope and D. W. Dodson. Horton's opponents claim there was an agreement between Horton and Peay that Horton would not be a candidate for governor this year. Horton's administration was also attacked for acts in connection with the state highway department.

Horton recently forced the resignation of C. Neil Buss, highway commissioner, an act which resulted in considerable criticism and serious charges.

The McAllister and Pope forces are said to have combined so as to attract all the Horton opposition votes. In Tennessee the high man wins, that is, no runoff will be necessary in order to poll a majority as in some states.

On the Republican side, John T. Raulston, who presided at the Scopes evolution trial at Dayton, Tenn., is a candidate for governor being opposed by Raleigh Hopkins. Hopkins is making a bid for the Republican nomination on the plea that should Raulston get it, the Democrats would make capital of the Dayton trial and inject "monkey-business" into the general election in November.

Milane 'Head Man' Contest Extended To Thursday Night

Answers giving the 10 best qualifications needed by the "head man" of the Milane continued to pour into the Milane Theater today, J. L. Maronette, manager of the theater, announced this morning. Because of the keen interest in the contest, time for submitting answers was extended again today. Under the new ruling all answers must be at the theater by 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Names of the winners will be announced at the theater tomorrow night.

Five dollars in gold is being offered by the theater for the best answer submitted. A second prize of 10 passes to the theater and a third prize of five passes are also offered. Answers must be addressed to Post Office Box 740 or left at the Milane box office. The question is: What are the 10 most essential qualifications needed by Sanford's "head man"?

Among the answers received yesterday were:

1. He should be endowed with plenty of honesty.
2. Willing to work in harmony with the people whom he is serving.
3. Realize he is a public servant and not seeking for his own personal gain.
4. Have the ability to be a friend to the ordinary working man and employ ways and means to lower taxes.
5. He should be a man of means and not depend on the city for home building and general living.
6. He should see that officers employed uphold and enforce all laws.
7. He should attend to city affairs himself and not depend on other executives.
8. He should be fearless and speak out the truth no matter how it hurts.
9. A man with love for community.
10. One with visions of a great Sanford, harbors, a wide deep river, steamboats and with the substantial resources make these visions a reality in time to come.

FARM HELP PLAN IS PRESENTED BY NAVIGATIONBODY

Improvement Of Mississippi River For Navigation Purposes Advocated As Best Way To Secure Relief

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 1.—(INS)—With the Democratic and Republican parties still tussling with the question of farm relief, the Missouri River Navigation Association, comes forward with a solution of its own.

Substantial and permanent farm relief is offered in the improvement for navigation of the Missouri river and the entire Mississippi system, the Association points out in a recent pamphlet.

The plan of the Association, which includes among its ranks hundreds of prominent citizens from the states in the Missouri Valley, reads in part:

Better Freight Rates

"A net saving of 2 1/2 cents a bushel in the freight rates on wheat from Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas will be effected when navigation is opened on the Missouri river from Kansas City. This saving nearly doubles the net profit made by Kansas wheat growers on the basis of a net profit of 5 cents a bushel estimated by the department of agriculture on the 1925 wheat crop.

"Assurance that lower transportation costs will be passed on to the farmers and represent an increased profit on his crops is given in the pamphlet. It quotes Julius H. Barnes, prominent American grain exporter, who says: "Grain markets are so liquid and grain prices respond so readily to every influence it is no longer a theory but demonstrated by the record of a thousand price responses that a reduction in the transportation rate will immediately reach the farmer."

Herbert Hoover, Republican presidential nominee to whom the farm vote means so much, has said: "Our agriculture is based upon higher standards of living than those of foreign competitors. If we would maintain these standards we must admit nothing in economy of transportation. Every cent we can save in transportation to market is an addition to the income of the farmer, and an assurance that we can maintain these standards in agriculture."

"The people of the Missouri river are demanding the improvement and the navigation of the Missouri river alone with the balance of the Mississippi river system as a relief to agriculture from the present high freight rates," the pamphlet adds.

Big Wheat Crop

"The seven states," the pamphlet continued, "through which the Missouri river flows or which it borders produced in 1927 265,137,000 bushels of wheat—41.88 per cent of the entire United States crop; 21,965,000 bushels of rye, 55

GOVERNOR IS SUMMONED

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Following sensational charges of Governor Huey P. Long that someone in the city hall was faking the smoke screen to allow gambling to be resumed in New Orleans, acting Mayor Wainwright today asked district Attorney Stanley to summon Governor Long to appear before an extraordinary session of the grand jury late Friday to tell what he knows of the situation.

Unemployment Situation Minimized By Head Of Labor Statistical Body

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—The unemployment situation in the United States is not nearly as alarming "as estimates from some sources would indicate," Ethelbe T. Stewart, chief of the Bureau of Labor Statistics declared today.

Though this statement came only a few hours after publication of an American Federation of Labor report which said that 11 per cent of the organized wage earners in 24 cities were unemployed, Stewart did not directly refer to the federation estimate.

Admitting some slackness in the building trades, Stewart said that "enormous numbers" of men usually employed in those trades were being taken care of by seasonal highway construction and other regular summer activities.

The federation's estimate reported 22 per cent of union men in the building trades out of work.

While deprecating alarmist views of employment today Stewart declared conditions would probably be little better until "a labor adjustment" was effected.

Certain trades are overcrowded, he added, giving as an example coal mining, in which it is estimated there are 250,000 more men than jobs. On the other hand, he contended, there is room for many more skilled workers in newer trades, such as automobile, radio and electrical equipment manufacturing.

The number of wage earners in each trade will have to be more evenly adjusted with the number of jobs before employment conditions can be permanently bettered, Stewart explained.

Local unemployment situations are often aggravated by wide publicity of building projects which never materialize or are delayed, he declared.

Thousands of construction workers have come to Washington in hope of getting work in the widely heralded $50,000,000 government building program, only to find that it may be years before construction begins.

In spite of a few pressing local employment problems, however, national employment situation is "fair," Stewart maintained. For the first few months of the year it grew steadily better and for the past two months has held about even. There is no reason to believe that it may become a serious problem in the near future, he declared.

RUBBISH TAUGHT IN MANY SCHOOLS AVERS EDUCATOR

Dr. Wilbur Says Worthwhile Subjects Should Be Presented To Pupils; Calls Many Traditions Outworn

By International News Service
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—"Better for our school children to know the significance of rites on a tree than the number and dispositions of the wives of Henry VIII."

This was the statement of Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Leland Stanford University before delegates to the eighth annual convention of the National Conference on State Parks recently in session here.

Characterizing much that is taught in our schools as rubbish, Dr. Wilbur urged the advancement of the state park movement in California as "necessary adjuncts to the school system."

"From an educational standpoint," Dr. Wilbur said, "our National and State parks should be shrines to which our children go for inspiration and education."

Outworn Traditions

"Outworn traditions have been handed down in our school systems. Baptism in this goal of education is supposed to be necessary but the pool at this time is stagnant with this traditional rubbish.

"Those who have been dipped in this pool are not educated.

"It is more important to our civilization for our children to understand something of the races that have gone before and of their cultures than to know the number of soldiers killed at Marengo.

"One can get a better idea of history by studying some of the old Russian forts and Spanish

Sunshine soil and water

Florida possesses all three in an abundance and with a diversity and a combination of natural advantages that is unmatched on any other spot on earth

FLORIDA'S extraordinary natural advantages to a considerable extent are generally known. Yet their real tangible value to the economic welfare of the State is too seldom realized and are only just beginning to be utilized.

Florida's unfailing, life giving sunshine, aside from its health advantages, provides a year-round growing season. The State's fertile soil grows an unequalled variety of plant life and covers a wealth of rare minerals. Its plentiful waters add life to its soil and abound with an endless variety of fish and sea food.

Florida deposits of phosphate, one of the most essential minerals for plant and animal life, are the most extensive in the world. Florida is second among the States in the production of naval stores and is one of the nation's greatest lumber producers.

No other state equals Florida in the production of grapefruit and celery. Sixty-one per cent of the country's peppers, 57% of its eggplant, 24% of its tomatoes, 21% of its watermelons, and a large percentage of many other fruits and vegetables come from Florida. During its 10-month shipping season each year Florida sends out nearly one hundred thousand carloads of fruits and vegetables, or an average of eight solid train loads per day. The Sunshine State ships one-tenth of all the fresh fruits and vegetables marketed in the United States.

Yet, the land now under cultivation in Florida amounts to only one-half of one per cent of the crop land of the entire country. The growth of the State's agricultural importance is evidenced by the fact that since 1922 the average value of Florida farm land has increased from $64.00 to $100.00. No other state shows an increase that is even half as great.

Today the progress in farm development in Florida is greater than ever before. A rapidly growing highway system is opening up new territory and making it more accessible to markets. More land is coming under cultivation and more and more people are realizing the unequalled advantages Florida offers from an agricultural standpoint. More intensive and more efficient marketing methods are increasing the value of Florida crops.

Year in and year out—when the Northern demand is greatest—when prices are highest—each new harvest from its sunshine and soil and water brings increasing wealth and prosperity to the Sunshine State—wealth and prosperity that will grow with increasing momentum as the years go by.
