I would like to introduce you to my family

My wife Ruth and two sons
James and Lane

You the citizens of this community elect your city commissioners to handle the affairs of your City government. The type of representation you receive is very important, and to a great extent determined by the man whom you elect to serve you.

The purpose of this advertisement is to better acquaint you with me and my views . . . and reasons for wanting to be your city commissioner.

I was born in Ohio. While in Ohio I owned and operated a fleet of buses, auto repair garage and super service station at the same time. 10 years ago I moved to Florida, and now live with my wife Ruth and two sons James and Lane at our home 2417 South Myrtle Avenue. My family and I are members of the First Presbyterian Church. At present I own and operate my own business at 401 East 1st Street.

I am a resident of Sanford by choice. I chose Sanford as the home for me and my family because I saw in Sanford great development opportunities. As the head of the family naturally I am concerned about job opportunities, not only for myself but for countless thousands who could and would settle here if we really gave Sanford a chance.

Everybody knows that our beautiful lake front and St. Johns River we have unlimited potentialities for development, yet the unanswerable question is why is there no development occurring. You and I know that foolishly we are using our beautiful lake to dump our sewerage in, yet we are just finishing a sewer project of over a million dollars and still we dump our sewerage in the lake. Some say we cannot afford the $200,000 to put in a sewerage disposal plant. I don't see how we can afford-not-to-build a sewerage disposal plant, that is if we want growth and progress in Sanford. I want to clean and develop our lake opportunities, and I will do all in my power as your city commissioner to build a sewerage disposal plant.

It is important that your city leaders encourage industrial development for more job opportunities.

Also you and I know our city zoo is a fine attraction for our city. Yet we all know that presently it isn't as attractive as it should be. Let's clean it up for all of us to enjoy.

I believe we need a year round recreation program for our youth and our adults, home folks and visitors too. We all know that as parents it's important that we provide wholesome, supervised programs of recreation and entertainment for our children, because if we fail them, who is really to blame for our juvenile delinquents-the parent or the child?

I believe we need a bigger and better street maintenance program. "A dollar spent wisely now on resurfacing our streets will save us $10 later" when we try to rebuild them.

The almost total lack of city maintained parks is deplorable. I want to see city maintained parks in every section of our city.

I believe all who ride by and see our so called city trailer park at 4th and French will agree that as it presently exists it is a disgrace. I pledge to do my best to see that we have a suitable and adequate trailer park site of which we can all be proud.

I believe that as a small local merchant, a family man, and a citizen of Sanford, I have a good understanding of the problems and opportunities that we all must face. I know one thing for sure-I'll do my very best to serve you honestly and fairly as your city commissioner. I shall be grateful for the chance to serve you.

Sincerely,

MERLE WARNER

L. Durocher Enters Mayfair Tourney Slated In December

Leo Durocher has notified officials in charge of the Mayfair Golf and Country Club's 15th PGA tournament of his entry in the tournament early in December, according to Frank McNamee, the Mayfair club's new manager.

Other baseball dignitaries who will be in Sanford for the tournament are Alvin Dark, Bill Pique, the new manager of the New York Giant's baseball team, and Eddie Brannick, traveling secretary of the New York Giants organization.

Car Hubbell, manager of the New York Giants' sprawling minor league team will be in Sanford to take part in the golfing event.

Leading events in the two-day tournament will include practice rounds Monday, Dec. 5, with qualifying rounds on Tuesday and a Pro-Am tournament scheduled for Wednesday.

Leading amateurs of the state will be in Sanford for this mid-week golfing event. PGA will furnish professionals to match the local golfers entered in the Wednesday pro-am.

Tuesday night, Dec. 6 has been scheduled as the evening when a cocktail party and buffet dinner will be served following which the playing for the pro-am tournament will get underway.

Many of the top golfers will be entered in the event. Frank McNamee said today as he made the additional announcements of top golfers and baseball stars who will be here.

A guest program will be mailed to more than four thousand persons throughout the country, said McNamee. And he explained that, in the past, only the very large tournaments have mailed such a program because of their not being able to complete such a forward mailing project.

"Plans for the Mayfair Open are fast taking shape," McNamee, Mayfair club manager said today.

Business Is Better Over Entire State

Business is definitely on the increase according to the barometer of business over the entire state. October sales tax collections in Seminole County totaled $2,769,422, which is an increase of $3,262,69 over the same month last year.

According to the percentage of increase in sales tax, sales should have shown an overall 18 1/2 percent increase.

The overall picture throughout the State of Florida shows that sales tax collections during the month of October (on September sales) totaled $5,949,016, an increase of $1,012,291 over the collections of $4,936,725 of October of last year, 1954. This is an increase of 20.5 percent and represents the highest percentage and highest dollar increase of monthly collections this fiscal year over last fiscal year. (Increase has been running about 16 percent higher this year, month for month.)

Total sales tax collections for the first four months of this fiscal year total $24,065,281 which is $3,546,102 more than collections for the first four months of last year, an increase of 17.4 per cent. (For the first four months of last year, collections totaled $20,519,179.)

October collections (September sales) are slightly below collections during September (August sales). September collections: $6,064,637; October collections: $5,949,016; December: $11,591. A decrease in sales during September is normal in the State. It should be noted, however, that the decrease this year is considerably lower than decreases in September collections: $4,064,637 (last year's decrease amounted to $4,064,637) in the State. The law passed by the 1955 Legislature and to new out-of-state enforcement provisions put into effect by this office to collect tax due on purchases made in other states.

Shriners Enjoy Event Friday Night In Club Building

More than 175 Nobles and their ladies from over the entire Sanford area, attended a barbecue dinner with "all the trimmings" which was held at the partially completed Shrine Club Building on Lee St. in front of the Mayfair Inn.

Illustrious Potentate A. J. Thomas and his Divan from the Bahia Tempo in Orlando were present with the Bahia Temple Band under the direction of Byron Baird.

In charge of the entire arrangements which were declared the "finest ever" were Harold Kautner and president Joe Corley.

Judge Ernest Housholder served as master of ceremonies and introduced the many personalities visiting the local Shrine Club at the Friday night event.

Friday Frank L. Miller, an outstanding figure in Shrinism throughout Florida spoke to the group and explained "a plan for the completion of the building at the Friday night event."

Judge Miller elaborated on the fine work of the building committee and the generosity of W. E. Kirshoff who donated the land on which the building was being erected.

Market Expects Big Volume Of Beans

A heavy volume of string beans is expected on the Sanford State Farmers Market, said Sandy Anderson, manager of the local market, in his report to L. W. Lewis, Director, Florida State Farmers' Markets, "Aid this week," said Anderson, "there will be good supplies of mixed vegetables and citrus."

Cucumbers are excellent quality, reported the Sanford State Farmers Market manager, and the prevailing weather conditions have effected good to excellent quality on all items.

Sales and volume, says Anderson, showed an increase over the previous week. Bean prices showed quite an improvement over last week, but prices declined on other commodities. Gross sales at the Sanford State Farmers' Market totaled $29,226.96 for 12,794 units, according to Manager Sandy Anderson.

A report from a former Sanford and Seminole County man, now manager of the Fort Myers State Farmers Market is included in the overall outlook from over the State.

Though volume is steadily increasing in the Fort Myers Market Area, Manager Henry Witte, Jr., fears "the very low level prices on all items may cause some abandonment of crops if prices do not warrant harvesting."

Witte's report continued, "Excellent quality cucumbers led in volume averaging 11.87 per bushel with pickles averaging 23.66 per bushel, and squash and eggplant averaged less than $2.00 per bushel."

Volume of all items last week totaled 6,007 bushels, grossing $5,561.30. Witte concluded.

Churches Filled Yesterday

Sanford pastors preached to one of their largest audiences of the year yesterday.

Preaching yesterday at the First Christian Church Pastor Perry L. Stone said "Tithing is the regular Christian habit of setting aside and giving ten per cent of one's income to support the Lord's work, to advance God's kingdom on earth. It is an act of worship based on gratitude and love. It is a way of acknowledging God's ownership of all that we possess. It reminds us that we are not free to do as we please with that which belongs to Another. It also acknowledges our stewardship of material gifts as trusts from God. Stewardship is broader than tithing, and includes time, talents, and all of life, but tithing is a definite expression of the stewardship of money and property. Tithing is a testimony to God's goodness, a glad admission that we creatures are utterly dependent upon our Creator for his continued blessings."

"Tithing is an act of dedication by which we indicate that God comes first in our lives, and our own physical satisfactions and comforts come second. It is a form of discipline which serves to hold things physical and material in their subordinate places. Tithing requires enough thinking, planning and sacrifice to keep us ever conscious of God in our lives. It is the minimum Scriptural standard of giving. Abraham began it; Jacob continued it; Moses commanded it; Malachi confirmed it; and Jesus commended it." (Continued On Page Ten)

At its last meeting, the Seminole County Ministerial Association authorized the following letter, addressed to the Honorable Leroy Collins, Governor of Florida, Tallahassee:

"If you agree that the quickie divorce law should be repealed, I hope you will urge all candidates for the Legislature from your counties next spring to take a similar stand," he said.

"I am confident that if you do this there will be no difficulty whatever in passing this law when the Legislature next convenes," Collins made repeal of the 30-day divorce law one of the major proposals in his 1955 Legislative program. A bill to lengthen residence requirements in one year passed the Senate but died in the House.

Sanford To Receive Check For $7,900.26

Incorporated municipalities in Seminole County will receive a windfall of $7,900.26 from the cigarette tax collected within the municipal limits.

Money available for distribution from the smoke taxes collected in September 1955 amounts to $1,629,319.54. D. Williamson, director of the State Beverage Department, which collects the tax, has announced that of this $1,629,319.54 will go to the general revenue fund. The remainder of the $1,629,319.54 will be distributed to the incorporated municipalities.

Sanford will receive a check for $7,900.26. The town of Altamonte Springs is slated to receive $149.12. The town of Casselberry is scheduled to receive $205.91 as its share of the tax. The check for the town of Longwood amounts to $338.85, and Oviedo will receive $339.16.

Road Code Is Answer In Highway Problem

Tomorrow's Election To Start At 7 A.M.

A city commissioner will be elected tomorrow to serve a three year term on the Board of Sanford City Commissioners.

The city leader will be chosen from the two candidates, Merle Warner and David Gatchel.

There has been no noise from the candidates, no issues have been presented to the people to discuss, and both candidates have been working quietly in the background while citizens begin to guess and wonder who will be chosen for the deciding spot on the Board of Commissioners, left vacant by Mayor Denver Cordell who chose not to offer himself as a candidate again.

Merle Warner is the owner and operator of a service station on E. First St. while David Gatchel is a co-owner and operator of a free-clothes plant on 13th St.

Both candidates have made them. (Continued On Page Ten)

Modern Medicine Acquires New Eyes For Mrs. Lynn Lyon

By MARRION HARMAN, Executive Editor

It's hard to come to a conclusion that one is going blind. But that's exactly what Mrs. Lynn Lyon, 34-year-old Sanford housewife had to tell herself.

In April of 1954 she realized that her eyesight was fading away. Movies were harder to see. TV was fading to the background. She could hear but not see her five children at play. Even neighbors couldn't understand why they were not recognized.

And now, she sees through the eyes of a total stranger. It's hard to believe, but it's true. Mrs. Lynn Lyon has received, and with a 20-20 vision corrected to 20-20 by glasses.

Dial Outlines Request Plans For 17-92 Near Completion

William H. "Bill" Dial, Fifth District Board Member, told the Sanford Rotary Club today at its luncheon meeting that "the highway problems as I have seen them in the past six months could be solved with one commodity money."

Explaining the new "Dial Code" adopted by the recent legislature, Dial said it would be practically impossible to build any road in Florida that isn't needed, but some are needed more than others.

Dial Boards have had no control, no budgets, and operated at the whim of the Governor and there was a lag because of it. Dial told the Rotary Club today.

"We can't afford not to get a dollar's worth of road for a dollar of the people's taxes," he said. There are many miles of road in this district that need to be built, he commented, and we're trying to give the people roads. (Continued On Page Ten)

Approval Of Theme Of Annual Parade Spurs Enthusiasm

Approval of the theme of this year's Christmas Parade by the Seminole County Ministerial Association has spurred further work and enthusiastic response from the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce, co-sponsor of the parade with the Sanford Merchants Association.

The ministerial association, at its last meeting, approved the theme of the parade: "Let's put Christ back into Christmas," and encouraged participation in the parade by its member churches.

The Jaycee and Merchants Association has a committee that the parade is an annual event in Sanford and is not commercialized in any way whatsoever but it is primarily to instill the Christmas spirit into everyone and to create a happiness to prelude the local Christmas season.

Ed Hunt, chairman of the Jaycee Christmas Parade Committee, along with A. B. Peterson, Jr., Jaycee president, and committee member Garfield Willett, attended the Seminole County Ministerial Association meeting last week to answer questions from the members and to ask the (Continued On Page Ten)

Man Is Discharged From VC-9 Group Reenlists In VAH-9

It isn't often that a sailor can be discharged from one Navy activity, reenlist in another on the next day, and go on doing his job in the same place.

It happened to Raymond Allen Holderfield last week, and here's how. Holderfield, an Aviation Machinist's Mate First Class, was that his enlistment would expire on Oct. 31, 1955. Since enlisted personnel are normally discharged on one day and reenlisted on the next day, Holderfield realized that his reenlistment would coincide exactly with the re-designation of Heavy Attack Wing One squadrons which took place Nov. 1, and that he would be discharged from a squadron known as Composite Squadron Nine but would be reenlisted the next day in the same squadron with a new name—Heavy Attack Squadron Nine.

Thus Holderfield achieves two distinctions in as many days, by becoming the last man to leave the squadron under its old name, and the first man to enter it after it had been renamed.

Being in a "new" squadron does not change Holderfield's duties in any way, since the change in name ordered by the Chief of Naval Operations was primarily to assign a designation which more accurately signifies the squadron's mission.

SHS Triple Trio Will Entertain Local Lions Club

The Triple Trio of Seminole High School's Glee Club under the direction of Miss Ollie Ross Whittle will entertain members of the Sanford Lion Club at their noon luncheon meeting tomorrow at the Yacht Club.

All members of the Sanford Lions Club and their ladies are invited to attend the meeting to hear the local singing group.

Education School Slated Nov. 14-18 At Local Church

American Education Week has been observed annually since 1921, when it was established by the joint action of the National Association of the American Legion.

It has always been observed for the purpose of informing the public of the accomplishments and needs of the public schools and to secure the cooperation and support of the public in meeting these needs.

This week at Seminole High School the Student Council, under the guidance of Mrs. Gladys Smith and Miss Fred Ruser, has made plans to observe American Education Week with a series of daily programs. The National theme for this year is "Your Investment in America."

This morning the Future Teachers Club had charge of an interesting program entitled "Your Investment in Teachers." The Future Teachers organization is sponsored by Roger Harris.

Tomorrow, Nov. 8, National Loyalty Day. Faye Ashley will present an appropriate program. Wednesday, George Dabbe is in charge of carrying out the theme, "Your Investment in Fundamental Learning."

Perry Stone, pastor of the Christian Church will be guest speaker for the weekly chapel program. His subject will be "Your Investment in Better Living."

On Nov. 11, "Your Investment in a Strong Nation" will be the subject chosen by the guest speaker who will address the student body.

Parents and friends of Seminole High School are cordially invited to visit the school this week.

8 Florida Counties Have No Fatalities

Eight counties in Florida passed the first seven months of this year without a traffic death and fifteen counties have recorded two or more highway fatalities, according to the Florida Highway Patrol.

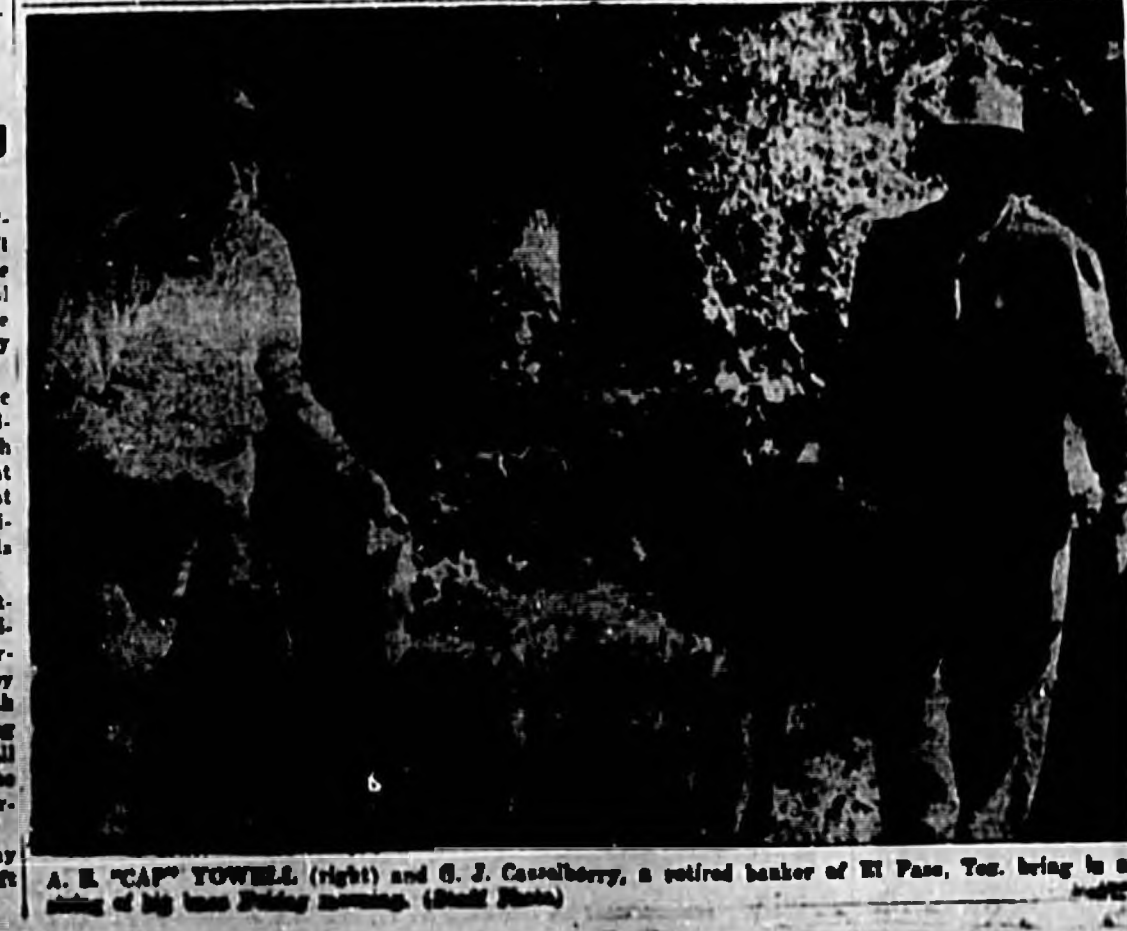

However, Seminole County is not fortunate as to be included in the death-free counties, but does not rank up enough traffic fatalities to be in the maximum group. So far this year, Seminole County has a total of six deaths within the county from traffic accidents.

Success by the patrol's records section showed that Duval led the state with 45 traffic deaths, Duval Beach had chronicled 31 to be the highest in the state. Polk was fourth with 22 traffic deaths, and Hillsborough and Broward were in fifth place in the number of highway deaths for the January through July period. Each had recorded 24.

In four of the counties recording the accident death figures, (Duval, Duval Beach, and Broward) U. S. Highway one runs through three and empties into the other. List of the non-death counties through July follows: Calhoun, Charlotte, DeSoto, Franklin, Gilchrist, Hamilton, Union and Washington.

Counties in which there were 10 or more traffic deaths, in addition to those already mentioned are: Volusia, 12 traffic deaths; Clay, 11; Escambia, 12; Lake, 10; Marion, 18; Orange, 12; Pinellas, 22; Taylor, 10; and Volusia, 11.

The statewide mileage death rate for the seven month period was six persons for each 100 million road miles traveled.

Machines Will Be Able To 'Look'

WATERTOWN, Mass., Nov. 7 (AP)—In a laboratory at the Army's big Watertown Arsenal you can see an experimental machine whose "children" may give America new war-making power.

In peacetime the machines may cut the cost of things you buy and make life safer.

These machines will be able to "look" through 30 feet of solid steel, according to scientists. As a matter of fact, the scientists say they could theoretically "look" through a straight steel rail 10 miles long—if such a thing existed. Other machines something like these are being studied by scientists elsewhere in the hope they may seek out cancer hidden deep in the human body.

The parent machine, referred to as a "bread board" model because it's experimentally assembled, is called "Model 1 Ultrasonic Flaw Plotter." The word "ultrasonic" tells you that it does its "looking" with something more like sound waves than light waves. But their frequency—10 million vibrations a second—can neither be heard nor felt by human sense organs.

And unlike X-ray or nuclear radiation, the ultrasonic waves can't hurt you.

Why will the offspring of Model 1 Ultrasonic Flaw Plotter increase the U. S. or power? And why will they make for a better peacetime world?

Such machines can find flaws in steel and other materials at far greater depths than the most powerful X-rays—and faster—and cheaper.

Carlton H. Hastings chief of the arsenal's nondestructive testing branch, recipient of national scientific honors in his field, explains X-ray-type inspection with the powerful betatron can penetrate, at best, 15 to 20 inches of steel. And even with a million volts, a single X-ray shadow photograph at that thickness requires 20 minutes to a half hour of exposure.

On the other hand, the new ultrasonic machine which has been under test for a year and a half, can do more than X-rays do—in one 20th of the time, Hastings says. And the mechanism costs only a tenth of the price of X-ray equipment.

Since there are no dangerous radiations, the new machines need not be kept behind concrete-and-lead barriers. They can be moved around.

Thus, they will increase not only the speed of inspection—but was a serious bottleneck in World War II mass production—but they'll also make possible inspection of vital items not inspected in the past.

What is the principle behind these ultrasonic machines? It has long been known that while a train is still perhaps two miles away—invisible and inaudible—some vibrations racing forward through the steel rails can be heard—warnings of its approach.

The machine in the Watertown Arsenal resembles in some ways a low power radar station. Using crystals of a chosen frequency it shoots the ultrasonic vibrations into the metal being inspected.

Then it "listens" for the echoes. The echoes tell the story for they'll echo back from any foreign substances or flaws—even from air in a bubble or air pocket.

After two years of engineering, in which Hastings collaborated, electro circuits delivered the "bread board" model and during the next year and a half, Hastings and his colleagues tested it "to see if it would solve the problems for which it was intended."

The machine has a jointed, flexing arm which can be nosed up and down, or two and fro, across the tested object.

The data panned up as the vibrating crystal is nosed back and forth is processed through a great number of electronic circuits and more than a hundred electronic tubes—finally reaching two television-like screens.

Here's where the machine's human element comes in. It doesn't present a like most electronic "brain"—a pattern which can be read only by a mathematician-physicist-engineer. It paints two clear illustrations: one of the shape of the flaw and one showing how deep it is.

The flaw can be "viewed" from different angles showing its three-dimensional shape and whether there is another flaw behind it.

True Democratic Candidate Would Have No Trouble

FENSACOLA (AP)—A true Democratic candidate would have little trouble defeating any Republican other than President Eisenhower in the 1956 election, Sen. Holland believes.

He wants the Democrats to nominate a "moderate" who is not controlled by either Southern Democrats or "ultra-liberal Easterners," the senator told newsmen yesterday.

The best combination, he said, would be a presidential candidate from a two-party state in the North or Northeast, and a vice presidential candidate from the South.

Holland, a member of the Senate Agricultural and Forestry Committee, said the price control situation is "confused" with the major farm organizations disagreeing on what type of legislation is best.

The committee recently completed hearings on price controls in Minnesota, Iowa and North and South Dakota.

Holland also said that the approximately $5 million dollars appropriated for expanding military installations in Florida during the 1955-56 fiscal year is second only to the total for Texas.

Constitutionality Of Laws Is Upheld

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The Supreme Court has upheld constitutionality of laws revoicing telephones and revoking licenses of hotels and bars where telephones are used for illegal gambling.

The 4-3 ruling reversed the Dade County Circuit Court in a case in which the Nineteen Hundred One Collins Corp. sought to prevent discontinuance of telephone service to the Shore Club Hotel on Miami Beach.

The court's majority opinion was written by Justice Campbell Thorne and Chief Justice E. Harris Drew and Justices Glenn Terrell and Elwyn Thomas concurring. Justices T. Frank Hobson, B. K. Roberts and Rivers Buford dissented.

"It is perfectly obvious from an examination of these statutes and their legislative history that they were leveled at the control and ultimate elimination of illegal gambling commonly known as bookmaking," Justice Thorne said.

"By passage of the acts, the legislature necessarily determined that such illicit gambling constituted a vice which justified the exercise of the state's sovereign police power in the interest of the public welfare."

"The acts therefore constitute an exercise of the police power to protect the public against the vices of illicit gambling and to establish a safeguard around the public treasury."

The lower court made no ruling on whether the hotel telephones actually were being used for gambling but said the laws were unconstitutional because they did not provide due process and made no

Female Squirrel Has Man Up Tree

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A rare snow-white female squirrel has Albert Britt up a tree. He doesn't know what to name her.

"My wife is trying to name it 'Snowball' like a cat or something," Britt said with a bit of scorn.

While the Britts are trying to settle on a name, the bushy-tailed albino is living it up in a bird cage, dining on bread and nuts. She is released occasionally for a romp around the room with her master.

Dear Voters of Sanford

To make certain that I have not overlooked asking for your vote and support in my candidacy for the Sanford city commission in tomorrow's election, I am using this means of contacting you.

My background begins in Sanford for I was born and educated here. I served in the Air Corps during the World War II, after which I graduated in business administration from Stetson University. I own my own home and am co-owner of the business which I manage.

I am seeking this opportunity of serving you as your city commissioner because of my desire to take an active part in the future growth of Sanford. I feel that I possess the necessary qualifications and I solicit your assistance in advancing sound principles in our municipal government.

"THINK—Sanford's future is in the hands of your city commissioners" is my campaign slogan and I hope that all of you will stop and think and will realize that your vote is important.

There are many important issues which will come before the city commission during the next three years, and I am sure that you want a man who will represent you in an efficient, economical and progressive manner, one who will have an open mind on all issues—a man who will not be a rubber stamp for any person, group or faction, and a man who has only the interests of Sanford at heart.

May I close with the reminder that tomorrow is election day, the day which you must take advantage of and exercise your right, privilege and duty to vote. I sincerely hope that at the polls tomorrow you will see fit to afford me the privilege of serving you for the next three years as your city commissioner. I pledge to you my very best efforts.

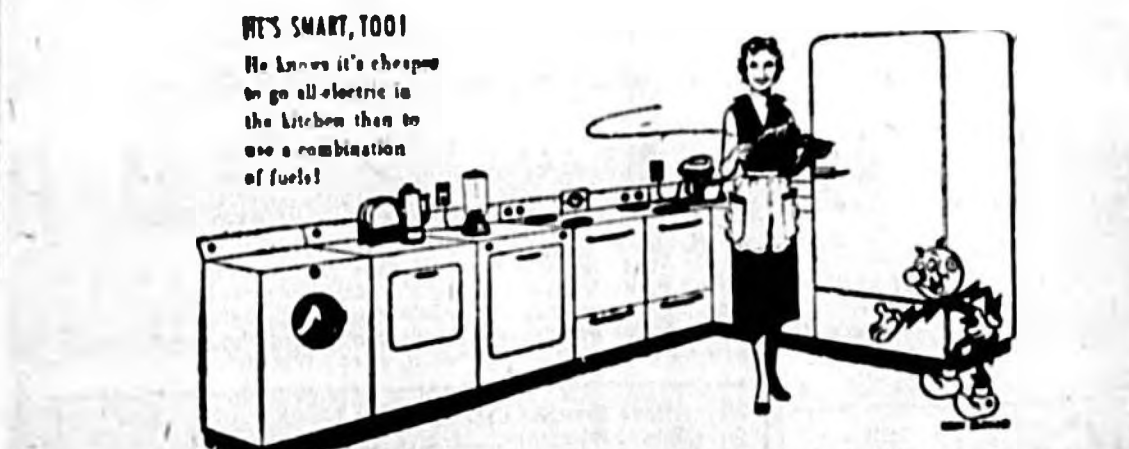

Sincerely,
David M. Gatchel

Tomorrow Is Election Day - An Important Date - Cast Your Ballot!

Tomorrow is election day! Tuesday, Nov. 8 is an important date in the history of Sanford, Florida as voters turn out to name their choice to represent them on the Board of City Commissioners.

To be remembered by the individuals casting their ballot for the man-of-their-choice, is the fact that a number of important issues are before the commissioners for decision. These issues have not become public property as they should become. Most of them have been handled in "informal gatherings", away from the ears of those who are required to pay the bill.

Your candidate must be one who will bring the issues before the people for decision, and your candidate must be one who will abide by the decision of the people rather than the decision of the few.

Certainly, your representative in city government must be one who will put the bill for the city's operation on one bill, properly explained, properly discussed. No one wants to pay hidden bills, but rather, wants his accounting in a straight forward manner.

Uppermost on the agenda for the City of Sanford is a plan for a recreation director, an often by-passed issue that has not yet been met with full thought as to the assets such a program would provide, not only the citizens as individuals, but the merchants and industrial folk in our midst. The plan looked for most by industrialists who want to move their business ventures to the Sunshine State is one that includes a well-rounded recreation program, year 'round.

The candidate of the voter's choice must take advantage of every opportunity to increase the income of the city without a burden on the city's government. Long range planning must include such foresightfulness that has been, in the past, overlooked.

If you are a voter in the City of Sanford, you certainly want to know what is in the future when your tax dollar is spent. A long range program of city improvements, city expansion, including area, water and sewer, must be formulated. Operating from hand-to-mouth is not an economical operation, as citizen voters well know.

Vote for the candidate, is our contention, that speaks out to tell the voter how he believes and what he will do, then follow that commissioner and watch him, as you do the others on this important board operating your city.

The new commissioner must face an issue of better pay for city employees. It is a costly issue, but an important one for the welfare of those who take care of you through their departments of city government. Highly paid officials and poorly paid workers is a situation that should be corrected immediately. Your vote should go to the candidate who will meet this issue fairly and squarely for the benefit of all.

The voter must analyze his candidate and choose the one who will carry out a forward-looking program to benefit the most.

Your vote is an important one because it must be counted and added to the total that will elect a candidate.

It is important that you vote, and cast your ballot for the candidate YOU believe will serve YOU best.

Remember, tomorrow is election day!

Forecasts For 1956 Popping Out

NEW YORK (U.S.)—Business forecasts for 1956 are popping out all over the place today—and way ahead of schedule.

Businessmen usually don't indulge in the game art of re-forecasting before mid-November. This year they're out in force already.

And with few exceptions they're predicting a continuation of good times at least until mid-year.

Some guess that 1956 will be a sizeable more prosperous than 1955. Most, however, hold that the rate of gain will slow down from now on, but with times fully as good, and maybe better than at present.

The reason people are curious about next year at so early a date may be two-fold: 1. With business unexpectedly good, many are asking, "How long can it last?" 2. The President's illness focused attention early on what might happen to business in the coming year.

Even at the time he was stricken, most businessmen agreed that the momentum of the boom would carry through the rest of this year.

Now, six weeks later, it's generally agreed that business confidence hasn't been weakened.

In the six weeks there have been announcements of new plans for building more plants and for adding improved equipment.

Industries included in these new plans for construction—much of it next year—are: steel, oil, chemicals, glass, paper, aluminum, aviation, electrical equipment, motors and utilities.

With so much building assured, the boom will have one of its props well bolstered. The home building industry also predicts more than one million new homes will be built next year, down only a little from this year. The other big prop, the auto industry, is especially vocal right now with predictions of another big year ahead.

With all this optimism about good times continuing, there are nevertheless a few cautions.

These warn of trouble spots that might develop: 1. Falling farm income; 2. Soaring record consumer debts and mortgage totals; 3. The chance that the present trend toward building up inventories might lead to a glut and thus to a cutback in orders; 4. The unrest in a world still just testing out "the spirit of Geneva"; and 5. The uncertainties that plague every presidential election year and threaten to be unusually worrisome in the coming one.

Carlos Armas Says Course Is 'Up'

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—Guatemala's president, Carlos Castillo Armas, says his course is neither to the left nor right but "up."

Castillo, thin, dark, intense, 41, and a former army colonel, led the successful revolt last year against the regime of President Jacobo Arben Guzman.

That regime was considered to be under the influence of the Communists. Castillo took office as a rigid anti-Communist. Reports from Guatemala indicate he has crushed them by driving them out of the country or underground.

Castillo is backed by the U. S. government, which invited him for an official visit and a tour of the country. He arrived two days ago and while here is a guest of the government in the Blair House, opposite the White House.

He talked briefly of his government and his ideas as he sat in a Blair House parlor. He spoke English hesitatingly and with an accent.

He was asked: "There have been guesses that your government in the end would wind up on the far right in that country?"

These guesses are wrong, he said, and continued: "My government will not go to the left or right but up. That means it will be government of justice, of what is good for my people and the main interests of Guatemala. There can be no turning back."

For example, he said, under the previous administration there has been a land reform program. Distributing land to farmers. That land, Castillo said, was expropriated by the government.

He said his government is not taking land from anyone but is continuing to provide land for those willing to work it by various arrangements, none of which forces anyone to give up land he owns.

He was asked: "Do you think that under your government Guatemala has achieved complete democracy?"

He said he does not think Guatemala has achieved complete democracy in one year, at least not in the sense that the United States is a complete democracy. He explained what he meant:

In the United States a majority of the people are educated and experienced in democratic practices, the economy is on a high level.

"Our government in Guatemala," he said, "is democratic, but our population is 14 million. Only one million of them can read." The population is 60 per cent Indian, and 75 per cent of the people work in agriculture.

He added: "A democratic society is not just a political system. It is made up of other things, which you have here, such as education and good working conditions."

He said his administration is working hard for better education among the people and better incomes and working conditions.

While he didn't say so, Castillo no doubt hopes that by his trip through the United States and his speeches here he will build up confidence in Guatemala and his administration and attract American investments.

He returned to an expression of what he meant by "up." He said:

"I was thinking of freedom of the press, social benefits, economic development in Guatemala, an education program."

He said there are many shades of thinking in Guatemala and he will steer a middle course among them, using the services of those who can be helped.

"I have friends," he said, "in the Catholic sector. They would like to influence the government. That is not possible. I am going to keep church and state separate. There will be absolute freedom of religion."

"There are many Guatemalan people whose services could be used who are on the left—but not the Communists. On the left I include those who favor labor legislation and social benefits."

"And I have friends on the extreme right among the reactionaries, those who would abolish labor unions and wipe out social benefits."

That business and industry lost half a billion dollars last year because of stock market fluctuations.

That Christmas may be really getting close, or I wouldn't be getting so much time thinking about money. (Anybody want to trade one dirty $10 bill for a couple of nice, clean, red-headed woodpecker stamps?)

That a pocket edition of Lillian Hellman's best-selling autobiography, "Lillian Hellman," sold out a first printing of 10,000 copies in 10 days.

That Irvin K. Krammer, 28-year-old owner of the Hotel Edison, retained a fashion expert to advise his lady guests on what to wear while in New York.

That 26 women in Short Hills, N.J., by collecting and melting down old eyeglasses frames, have raised enough funds in the first quarter of the year to provide new eyeglasses and artificial eyes for 100,000 people.

That a good hearty laugh will relieve many persons of the fear they have a heart ailment. The feeling of pressure around the heart often results from a habit nervous people have of forgetting to breathe.

That if your stomach gets upset at her work, it may be because your office is getting the wrong color. Psychologists say color affects the emotions. Green is supposed to lessen excitement, blue induces tranquillity, a yellow is useful and warming.

Therefore the psychologist recommends these colors as best suited to the modern business office. But don't overdo it—the tired hands may fall round sleep on the job.

Spotlight On Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD UP— "You never know you've got the talent until you try it." So says Eartha Kitt and she should know.

She first found fame as singer in the Broadway revue, "New Faces." She scored as a record star with runaway hits like "C'est Si Bon" and "Santa Baby." She became a night club headliner and then went back to Broadway as a dramatic star in "Mrs. Patterson." Now she's blossoming out as a TV dancer and is writing her life story to be published next year.

Eartha had been insinuating her career, between dance rehearsals for NBC's color spectacular, "Show Biz," which hits the home screens this Sunday.

Eartha had been insinuating her way through a dozen of the '30s with dance coach Tony Charnell, who said he once had a star who learned nothing as fast. Eartha was originally not only to sign on the show but she took over some duties when Shirley MacLaine bowed out for a movie date.

"This is the first time I've really danced since I learned a star," she said.

Bike Safety Club Will Be Formed At Joint Meeting

Mrs. Francis Murray, safety chairman of Southside P-TA, has called a joint meeting of all Seminole County P-TA safety chairmen Wednesday at 1 p. m. in the Administration Building on Commercial Ave.

This meeting will be for the purpose of forming a bike safety driving club for boys and girls of Seminole County.

Mrs. Murray stated that through this organization "we hope to teach those who ride bikes the traffic rules and regulations that are so important to safe driving." Also, we want to teach them better care of their bikes because a bicycle which is not properly cared for is not a safe bike to ride on busy streets and highways," she continued.

Bikes of all members of the club will be inspected for safety and registered at the court house. This registration is for the bike owners protection. Chief Roy Williams will be in charge of safety training.

It is hoped that all parents will back this movement by having their children become a member of the club. The club is a part of the P-TA's regular school safety program. This meeting will be opened to anyone who is interested in safety for boys and girls on bicycles.

IN THE FOREFRONT of a collegiate fashion trend which is sweeping the country are these three coeds who are showing off their "Crissy Legs" socks recently put on the market by Burlington Industries, of Greensboro, N. C. The "Crissy Legs" creations are knitted at Asheville, N. C., then sent to Puerto Rico where unique motifs of wool yarn are embroidered on by hand. Shown here are two patterns, "Only A Rose" and "Strawberry Patch," which come in colors of navy, charcoal, red and white. The socks are Burlington's answer to the trend toward Bermuda shorts which has caused girls to want some sort of fully tuckable below the knees. Modeling the colorful legwear are, left to right, Ann Gray, Durham, N. C., a junior at Greensboro College; Mildred Miller, Sanford, a senior at Woman's College of the University of North Carolina and Paul Harris, Toccoa, Ga., a junior at Woman's College.

Modern Medicine

way when a friend of Mrs. Lyon's parents and brother-in-law, mentioned to her doctor, attending her for an eye ailment, the predicament the Sanford housewife was in.

The friendly doctor suggested a visit to the Miami physician whose experience included the transplanting of a cornea from one eye to another.

And on March 4, 1955, both Mr. and Mrs. Lyon were in Miami to consult with the doctor who might help Florence Lyon regain her eyesight.

The rapidly moving chain of events took only a matter of a few days to bring climax when a call was received that an eye was available. That was at 4:20 p. m. March 8. Only 30 minutes were required to check in at Mt. Sinai Hospital and in another 2 hours Mrs. Lyon was on the operating table.

"I wasn't scared one bit," Mrs. Lyon said. "And with a local anesthetic, there wasn't any pain. I knew I would see again," she said.

There were two phases of the operation. The cornea from Mrs. Lyon's eye had to be removed. Then in its place was grafted the cornea of the eye of a stranger who had died only a few hours before.

The cornea is a sort of camera lens to the eye. Light is admitted to the eye through this transparent part of the coating of the eyeball.

So many precautions were necessary to insure the success of the operation. The eye had to be bandaged so that no light could penetrate. Then Mrs. Lyon's head had to be weighted by sandbags to prevent even the slightest movement or jar that might dislocate the new cornea which had been sewed in place by silk. There were 12 delicate stitches.

These 12 stitches were removed after three days. When the bandage was removed, Mrs. Lyon could see again, the operation was a success.

It seems as if it is my own eye, Mrs. Lyon says. There's no difference except that perhaps on real cloudy days my eyes might water a little.

Anyway, with the new left eye, Florence Lyon was able to help her husband in the store, Lynn Dry Goods on West 13th Street. She did typing, and other work that she had never done before.

All the while, however, she was losing the complete sight in her right eye.

On October 4 she went to Miami and in about 24 hours she was notified that there was another eye available. This time she went to Jackson Memorial Hospital for the operation about 1 o'clock in the morning and it was underway by 7 a. m.

Mrs. Lyon said that this time the operation took a much shorter period and she could watch it with her good eye.

Just one more trip and the job will be complete. She must go to Miami for a new lens for the right eye.

Then, she can see with perfect vision just as if she had never had any eye trouble before. She can see her five children now, watch them in all of their activities. She can see Tommy, 5; Patti, 7; Jimmy, 8; Lynn Jr., 10; and Dot Lee, 16. And she can, better than ever, help her husband in the store, pass her neighbors with a cheery hello, enjoy movies and her TV.

Modern medicine is wonderful in its many aspects, even in the restoring of two brand new eyes. It's one thing to realize, and become convinced that blindness has enveloped you. But, it's something else again to see through the eyes of a stranger.

Through the entire sight-restoration, Mrs. Lyon's parents' whose home is in North Miami at 18200 NE 13th Ave., would come to Sanford to take care of the children while she was in Miami for her operations. Mr. and Mrs. Harry GaNun would trade places ed it on two occasions (Mt. 23: 23 and Lk. 11:42)."

The sermon at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church yesterday was delivered by Evangelist the Rev. William H. Stephens Jr., on the topic "A Brand Plucked From the Burning."

He said, "Lot's experience shows how the ordinary things of life can change the whole course of one's life. His is a story of a man who tried too hard. He wanted for himself and his family all the advantages of the world and for worldly things he was willing to sacrifice spiritual things."

"In the New Testament Lot is declared to be a just, or righteous man. He was very much like our Christian's are today — not all that he should have been. He was a worldly Christian with a second-hand religion. His life is in direct contrast to Abraham's, who was called the friend of God. He was with Abraham in a pilgrim walk but was only half-hearted in his religion, having no visions of God, lacking the grace and character of Abraham, building no altars."

"Lot was also a backsliding Christian. He was willing to compromise with sin and wickedness in order to gain worldly advantages. Though he probably had no intentions of becoming polluted with the evil of Sodom, he was soon living in the midst of that wicked city and became an integrated part of its activities."

"And, Lot was an unhappy Christian. The New Testament relates that his soul was vexed from day to day. He deliberately placed himself in the way of temptation. Whenever he deliberately placed himself before the temptation the battle is half lost. The unhappiness of compromise is the greatest unhappiness in all the world," he said.

The Rev. Philip Schlessmann, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, chose his sermon from the topic, "The Secrecy of Laborers in the Lord's Great Harvest Field." The text was from Matt. 9:35-38.

Rev. Schlessmann said, "When Jesus looked out over the multitude he saw eternal souls, estranged from God, surrounded by dangers that threatened their everlasting welfare, souls steeped in error and delusion. His heart became full of compassion and he wanted his disciples to feel that same compassion, the compassion to win souls by faith in the Son of God."

"Jesus warned them that there were few laborers who would go out with the true gospel message among these people and seek out the harvest."

"The Son of God speaks to us today and extends to us the same message, telling us that we still lack laborers in his harvest field. He wants us to take into consideration how many truly are going the world's way, how many still have not heard the calling of God, how many have spurned the gospel. Jesus died for all on the Cross. His great compassion is to have his message of love spoken to all."

"What does He tell us to do about it? First He says, 'Pray Ye The Lord of Harvest.' He wants us to ask for laborers to step forward and to spread that message. Secondly, through prayer, He wants us to take our place whether it be as a General or as a Private in His army of Christian soldiers to enlarge the force of laborers in His harvest field. The season is right, the crop is great, let us fill the cribs with the blood-bought souls for Jesus' sake."

during the times of operation. Mr. GaNun, 72, visiting his daughter in Sanford, passed away Saturday morning following a brief illness.

selves known on the top issues of the day. Merle Warner said, "It is the duty of the City Commissioners to begin immediate negotiations for a franchise that will be for the best interest of the city."

David Gatchel, in speaking before the Jaycee organization said, "My mind is open. Frankly, I do not know what is best set for the city," as he spoke on the franchise problem.

Warner insisted that fluoridation is a matter for the medical profession to decide. "As long as the doctors say it is okay, then I will say it is okay."

Gatchel insisted that the fluoridation program, "is too expensive. We cannot afford it," he said.

Merle Warner, on the tax situation in the city said, "The power to tax is not in favor of insurance taxes for this reason. Even if it does seem to be the only way to get things for the city it does not justify itself." On the same question he said, "The only answer is for the city government to quit sitting around in indecision and take some positive action to put Sanford on a sound economic basis."

David Gatchel, on the same question of taxes said, in a letter to The Sanford Herald, "I believe it is best that we maintain at a minimum our tax millage as long as the assessed valuation is at the present rate." And he further said, "If after all the economical practices possible have been utilized, the city still finds itself in need of additional funds for general operation and the demands for the citizens, I, before raising millage or levying recalled 'nuisance charges' would be in favor of studying the possibility of raising assessed valuations and lowering the millage."

Voting in the city election will begin tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock at the polls located in the Commissioners room of the City Hall. The polls will remain open until 7 p. m.

City Clerk H. N. Sayer said that the list of qualified voters for the election would total about 3,500.

the taxicab, driven by James Calvin Tanner was traveling South on Oak Ave.

Property damage was estimated by Patrolmen Arnold Williams and Ben Butler at $401 on the Bell sedan and $425 to the taxicab.

Two passengers of the cab were slightly injured. They were 71-year-old Miss Ella Hare and 61-year-old Mrs. Bessie Wilson, both of Orange City.

The Sanford Police Department accident report stated that the Plymouth driven by Bell and owned by Mrs. Anna Tully, ran through the stop sign at the intersection, and that the taxicab, owned by the Yellow Cab Co., as well as the private car, were both exceeding the speed limit.

Sanford Police Chief Roy Williams was listed as a witness to the accident.

An accident at 10:09 p. m. at the intersection of Fourth St. and Park Ave. sent two to the hospital for minor injuries sustained in a two car crash.

A 1954 Hudson Jet 4-door sedan was traveling north on Park Ave. and being driven by Arthur Dahringer, 72-year-old DeBary retired man, when it collided with a 1953 Ford Tudor driven west on Fourth St. by Stanley Wendell Harper, a 22-year-old Tyndall Air Force Base service man.

Property damage was estimated at $150 to the Hudson and $1,000 to the Ford. However, a street marker into which the Ford crashed, on the northwest corner of the intersection was broken off.

The Sanford Police Department reported that Arthur H. Dahringer received lacerations to his left knee and contusions of the chest while Elizabeth S. Dahringer received a slight concussion and bruises on the knee.

In charging Harper with "careless and negligent driving," Patrolman L. E. Rock of the Sanford Police Department, who investigated said that Harper had just pulled away from the stop sign

"We want to make this year's Christmas Parade one of the finest that we have ever staged," said Hunt, as he explained the purposes of the parade and the endeavors of the Jaycee group.

"The themes of our floats have been pinpointed," said Hunt, "and each one surrounds a religious topic." And he continued, "we believe that these themes and floats, entered into the parade by churches, church organizations, Sunday Schools, mission study groups, and other church affiliates will do much to inspire new thought of Christmas and instill the Christmas spirit into both young and old."

Details and plans for the gigantic parade to be held this month on Wednesday, November 30, 2:30 p. m., are being carried forward by organizations, schools, churches, and others request a part in the annual event.

Another accident, shortly before midnight Friday, occurred at the intersection of 20th St. and the Old Lake Mary Road when a 1917 Mercury Sedan crashed into the side of a 1949 Ford with both cars declared a total loss by the investigating officer Trooper T. Mark Mack of the Florida Highway Patrol.

The Mercury was traveling south on the Old Lake Mary Road when it smashed into the Ford. The driver, Jonathan Randall, 30-year-old junior of Cocoa was charged with "reckless driving, willful and wanton."

The Ford automobile, driven by David Gerald Hosack, 20-year-old man of Osteen, turned over at least twice, said Trooper Mack.

There were no injuries as a result of the smashup.

that will produce the most miles of driving.

"You can't talk about roads without talking about politics," he said.

Dial, outlining Governor Collins request for roads, and the Road Department, named the five points presented on April 5, 1955 to the Legislature in Tallahassee. Building of roads and bridges on the basis of need and merit and not on a political handout, was the first phase of the request. "I want to pay particular tribute to the local delegation for the part they played in putting across the Governor's program. They were in there fighting," said Dial.

Explaining the manner in which roads were planned, he said that there were only three types of highways: arterial, primary and secondary. He added that the planning commission of the Road Board looks at every road, noting its condition, the communities it serves, and the travel of the road. From this information a rating is given. It is in accordance with these ratings that roads are built, Dial explained.

Commenting on the necessity of spending money on arterial highways, he said, "that's the reason we have to tell your county commissioners that we will have to improve 17-92 or 441, because they're part of the arterial system."

Concluding his talk with the Sanford Rotary Club today, Dial said, "I have had a report today from Richie Green, district engineer, and the plans for the 17-92 project are 80 per cent complete." And he added, "I see nothing that will stop the letting of the contract this year. That's our hope, and we're hoping that in the next budget we can add something to it."

Local Ministers

The Seminole County Ministerial Association has been informed of your appeal to assist in efforts to repeal the state's 'quickie' divorce law.

"We heartily endorse every effort to raise the moral standards of our state. Therefore, we wish to commend you for your stand in this matter. We will be glad to give our wholehearted support to this effort."

"Since, whatever we do to make it easy for people to violate the divine standard of Almighty God, relative to the sacred institution of marriage, is contrary to the will of God and the welfare of our state; then certainly we agree that our state should get out of the business by encouraging by short time residence inducement the breaking apart of our most sacred institution - the home."

Whereas, private home ownership is a stabilizing influence which not only strengthens the economic and moral fibre of our community and nation, but which also contributes to the happiness and well-being of the American family, and

Whereas, 6,000 Savings and Loan Associations of the country are playing a major and essential role in serving the thrift of more than 16 million persons, and in providing the funds for financing almost 40 per cent of the homes built or sold in this country each year, and

Commissioners Approve New Zone In Building Areas Of Community

Longwood Council Studies Improper Parking Problems

The Longwood Town Council, in its regular meeting yesterday, cracked down on improper parking, delayed a report to the City Clerk in regards to water collections, and also set a meeting with the building committee for the new medical center before a permit be granted for its construction.

The Council ordered Chief of Police Claude Lajo to make arrests for improper parking in the area adjacent to the Suprex Market that recently opened. This order also applies to trucks unloading at that project into the street. Chief Lajo had been serving warning tickets in this location since the stores' opening about two months ago.

Town Clerk Charles Morrison requested a decision in the collection of water bills of multiple dwellings with only one meter. One local resident had refused to pay the minimum rate for each of the two dwellings she owns. The council decided to await the survey report of the water system now being compiled by Albert O'Neil, Orlando engineer, and expected to be available in the very near future.

Town Councilman Law Arnold requested that the building permit be granted for the erection of the new medical building. However, after discussion it was decided to meet with the building committee this coming week in regard to a minor detail. The Council decided that the building would be placed 50 feet in from both Wilma and Church (west) Streets due to the narrowness of both streets.

Official Probers Report Evidence Of Plane Explosion

DENVER — Evidence that something "foreign" exploded with a "bomb-like" blast is reported under study by official probers of Nov. 1 United Air Lines crash which killed 44 persons.

Disclosing this, James N. Peyton, chief of the Civil Aeronautics Board's CAB investigation division, said last night the rear luggage hold of the DC6B plane was shattered by the explosion.

Sidewalls of the luggage compartment "were pushed out and the floor was in pieces," Peyton told a reporter.

It appeared something "foreign" exploded in the airliner crash near Longmont, Colo., he said. Asked to explain "foreign," Peyton said he meant something "not a part" of the plane.

"We said luggage stored in the No. 4 compartment had an acrid smell, like gunpowder, or an exploding firecracker."

Peyton would not say it was a bomb that exploded. He said: "We know there was an explosion on board. There were several peculiar aspects but I don't know the answer yet."

Sportsmen Assured Studies Being Made

Congressman Syd Herlong assured sportsmen, with the release of a letter from Col. E. E. Kirkpatrick of the Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, that studies are being made on the effect the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control Project will have on wildlife.

In a letter to Congressman Herlong, Col. Kirkpatrick says that the Corps of Engineers has approved the transfer of $17,000 to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service for use in the fiscal year on wildlife studies for Central and Southern Florida Flood Control Project.

The letter continues, "The Fish and Wildlife Service will use the funds for studying the effects of the proposed project works on fish and wildlife in the Kissimmee River Basin, Upper St. Johns River Basin, and related areas of the project." As you are perhaps aware, Col. Kirkpatrick wrote Congressman Herlong, the Fish and Wildlife Service has established a field office at Vero Beach under R. H. Macomber for carrying out these studies. Gene Wallace of the Florida State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission also has offices in Vero Beach cooperating with the Federal agency in making the studies.

Col. Kirkpatrick says in his letter that, "The transfer of Corps of Engineer funds to the Fish and Wildlife Service to make these studies possible will contribute materially to the progress of our planning and designing for project works and will effect the maximum consideration of fish and wildlife values in project planning."

He says, in his letter to Congressman Herlong that, "This office will continue to closely coordinate with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission to assist these agencies in carrying out their responsibilities in conservation matters."

Col. Kirkpatrick's letter concluded, "Such large organizations as the Florida Wildlife Federation have been most interested that flood control project planning have the benefit of close coordination with Federal and State conservation agencies." And he said, "The transfer of funds to make such continuing efforts possible is tangible evidence of the Corps of Engineers desire to do this plan."

Death Ends Lovers' Quarrel Last Night

LOS ANGELES — A lovers' quarrel ended in death last night for a movie studio prop man William Tripp, about 50, and Mrs. Rhoda MacIntosh, 40, police reported.

Detectives D. J. Johnson and C. W. Nance said Tripp blasted Mrs. MacIntosh three times with his 12-gauge pump gun, reloaded and blew his head off.

The officers said a neighbor, John Chilberg, gave this account: Mrs. MacIntosh came running out of a west Los Angeles apartment house, screaming: "He has a gun."

She hid behind her automobile, parked in the driveway, but Tripp saw her and three times they circled the car in a deadly chase. Then Tripp fired. As Mrs. MacIntosh lay on the ground Tripp stood over her and pumped two more rounds into her chest.

He ran into the house, got more shells, lay down beside the dead woman, pulled the tune he had fastened to the trigger, and killed himself.

Tripp was a prop man for 20th Century-Fox Studio. Friends said he and Mrs. MacIntosh quarreled often.

Brothers Give Up Playing Hokey

WAYNESBORO, Va. — Robert Lee Pultz, 11, and his younger brother Edward, played hokey from school here yesterday and hid out in a building at the city farm.

The object was a dynamite cap unknown in the boys' place of hiding was a storehouse for dynamite.

Luck was with them, though. The dynamite cap exploded but nothing else did. Robert was wounded in the face and chest — not seriously. Edward wasn't hurt at all. They were off playing hokey.
