Many of the craft are harmless fishing boats, but now and again a fully armed V.C. vessel is found and a enough man power to hold hot fight ensues. The Coast Guard may not be given the down Campbell's Lloyd Givens publicity other branches of the armed services are receiving, who gave Grooms a headache but the lads serving under the revered banner with the motto with 24 Semper Paratus - Always Prepared - are doing a superb half. job in southeast Asia.

speaker at the training meeting February 11 was in LCDE T. E. Banner, USCGR. Mrs. Banner is presently at things looked up as the San-U.S. Coast Guard Reserve Training Center in ford squad played a tough de-Orlando. She has had a noteworthy career in the SPARS since fensive opening quarter. But the women's branch of the Coast Guard had its inception in moments later, Campbell's World War II. Commander Banner spoke on the relationship team exploded and Givens between the Coast Guard and the Auxiliary and on military blasted off to lead both teams

That same evening Commodore Sam Levy presided over Pacing the Sanford five's the installation of eight new members of Flotilla 41. These scoring were Moses Haws with are: William Lemmon; Leonard and Corene Andrews; Dr. 19 points followed by Freddie W. Spencer Way and Olga Way; John Harris, Jr., and James Dennis and Lenon Anderson and Jane Redifer. Welcome aboard, shipmates!

The Commodore, in conclusion, announced that FC Vince Holmwood had qualified as an AUXOP or Operational Member of the Auxiliary. Of 2,665 members of the Auxiliary in the 7th CG District, only 18 are so qualified. It is believed that Vince thiel Williams with 12 markis the first AUXOP in the 4th Division. He has been presented ers. with a certificate confirming the AUXOP status and the Campbell had a slight edge covered silver AUROP pin will be forthcoming. Many hours of over their opponents as they study and demonstration of practical knowledge has made entered the locker room at this possible for the Flotilla Commander. We hope more mem- half time. In the third quarhers will strive to become specialists along with Vince.

From medieval days, sailors have known the term fore- back as they fought despercastle, shortened to foc-sle. Vessels of four and five centuries ately to put a stop to Givens. ago were constructed with raised areas at bow and stern But the Daytona attack was known respectively as forecastle and sterncastle. Almost in- just too much for the Sanford variably the crew lived in the forecastle - hence, "foremast" five as Campbell continued hands. Today they may dwell astern or amidships, but their their margin. quarters remain "foc'sle."
