Two Recent Events Spotlight Seminole County

Seminole County's many attractions will not be allowed to bluish unweaned and its many alignments for industry and business will no longer be proclaimed by many soloists.

Unemployment in our county is at a very intolerable point. Jobs are in small supply. New businesses, new industries, new enterprises are the only source for what is the need — JOBS.

Postal Reform

Now that Congress has signed postal reform legislation, hopes are high that new management and modern innovations soon will spruce up the mail service.

Democrat Campaigning For Three Years

Gov. Kirk Faces Sen. Askew On Nov. 3

By FRANK MURRAY Associated Press Writer MIAMI (AP) — Gov. Claude Kirk said he never thought about which Democrat he'd face in November elections, but that Democrat — State Sen. Reubin Askew — says he has been thinking for three years about beating Kirk.

Askew went to the governor's office for a conference that night. Rounds said, "He told Kirk the Legislature was going to override that veto and that there was going to be a teacher walkout and a school crisis."

The tall, graying and somber, well-groomed legislator has two adopted children. After his victory Tuesday night Askew said, "We intend to continue running a positive campaign for tax relief and tax reform."

Chiles Won Senate Nod 'In Walk'

Tradition Of HST Followed

MINOT, N.H. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says he is carrying on the Harry S. Truman tradition of "give 'em hell" campaigns. "I'm giving across this nation telling the truth and they still think it's hell."

The Republican vice president invoked the name—and noted political characteristics—of the former Democratic president in a speech Tuesday night to a GOP rally after noting that Truman had spoken in Minot exactly 14 years before.

The vice president bore down heavily on the Vietnam issue in a speech dotted with references to his two trips to Asia.

He declared that "if we were to cut and run before the South Vietnamese can adjust to the land themselves, South Vietnam would fall," leading to the murder of hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese and affecting the fate of at least six other nations. He did not specify the countries he had in mind.

"The best way to forestall such a calamity," he said, "is to elect Republican Rep. Thomas Kleppe in place of Democratic Sen. Quentin Burdick this November."

The race is considered close with some local observers believing the GOP candidate has cut considerably into Burdick's early lead.

A crowd of close to 5,000 heard Agnew's speech, applauding frequently. The only sign of dissent was a banner held up by a group of young people in the balcony at the start of the speech proclaiming, "We're not impressed."

Earlier, Agnew spoke to several hundred Republicans at a 350-per-capita reception and predicted that in November "we're going to score the biggest upset in an off-year election that this country has ever seen and part of it is going to be in North Dakota."

After taping a television interview here today, Agnew's schedule called for him to fly to Salt Lake City where he speaks tonight for Rep. Laurence Burton, running against Democratic Sen. Frank E. Moss in another tight Senate contest.

The vice president flew here from Sioux Falls, S.D., where he assailed the report of the Presidential Commission on Campus Unrest. He called the contention that President Nixon bears the responsibility for ending student disruptions "scapegoating of the most irresponsible sort."

In his Tuesday night speech, the vice president contrasted his trips to Asia with the fact that Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee and one of his frequent targets, has never been to Vietnam.

Long Wait Pays Double Dividends

By LARRY SPYGLY
Herald Sports Staff

Seventeen years, the long wait at Ovidio has been waiting for a "super" football season for the Lions and their "patience" appears to be paying off. Although the prospects for an undefeated season were dashed by the Sanford Seminoles last week ago when a 15-22 routing of the Lions, most fans are convinced that Ovidio once again has come to the forefront as one of the powers in Class A football and in points in two games has reinforced that very idea.

The key to Ovidio's future lies in their football program. The team's lack of a strong offensive line is the primary reason the south county school which had a tradition of winning in all the sports they attempted. Most of the deficit can be accounted for in the fact that Ovidio's offensive line is not strong enough to protect a halfback who is a superb runner. Football requires more participants than either of the other two major sports, and a small Class B school just doesn't have the manpower.

Last year Ovidio had a winning junior varsity after things got settled and many of these same players are now on the varsity doing their level best to play good football. Filler with winning spirit and the basic knowledge of the game they are playing, the fresh faces of the Ovidio varsity seem to have lit a spark of team effort and pride in the Ovidio Lions. Collectively, Ovidio has an abundance of talent on the football field, but no one heralds any one of the players as a "super star." This is justifiably so because most of the players are in their freshman or sophomore years.

Offensively the Lions don't have all their eggs in the proverbial basket. From the quarterback slot Tom Burch has directed the team well. Burch does his own thinking and calls most of the plays himself but when he needs Tom Burch to have himself to the wise advice of the coaching staff. Tom Burch runs a balanced offense, passing well and more accurate than most, but has yet to qualify in the Joe Namath league. The responsibility of providing their quarterback with adequate receivers have been assumed by Bruce Gerwin and Greg Hutchinson.

On defense Alan Daniel shares the responsibilities of the backfield in the ground gaining department. Daniel is the surprise package of the duo as he literally drags tacklers half again his size along with him. If there is superior material at Ovidio one of the best places to go looking for it would be the left half position occupied by the sophomore Dan Cox. The young Lion has two more years left this season to re-establish himself in the eyes of recruiters and scouts.

Another feather in the Ovidio-cap is Joe Miller. At practice one sees Miller practicing placekicking and punting most of the time. This is far from enough because it is all that he does and he does it well. In the field goal department Miller has a perfect record of 2-2. Although not quite as impressive, Miller's punts have averaged more than 25 yards a try. This would satisfy almost any coach with a stalled offensive unit down in their own territory. Ovidio Head Coach Tony Wise has termed Miller as "as good as many at major colleges and universities" and "one of the best in the central Florida area." If any of the Lions are to have college coaches and scouts clamoring at their door this year, assure that Miller will be among them.

In the unheralded linemen group one finds an alert group of about average proportions. So far in their limited game appearances for Ovidio they have provided the necessary pass protection for Burch and opened up holes for outstanding backs. Defensively the crew of John Stout, Tampa McGroarty, Mike Austin, Gary Thompson and Robert Davis have proven well worth their salt. Thompson and Austin along with defensive lineman David Jackson have great grabbed football. Some coming under spectacular circumstances which are indicative of their alertness.

Maddox Has No Control Over Controversial Fight

ATLANTA (AP) — Gov. Lester Maddox cannot block the heavyweight fight scheduled Oct. 26 between Muhammad Ali and Jerry Quarry, Georgia Atty. Gen. Arthur K. Bolton says.

Bolton ruled Tuesday that jurisdiction over the fight is left entirely to the city of Atlanta, where the proposed bout will be held, because the state has no laws pertaining to boxing matches.

Maddox asked Bolton last week to determine if he could take action to halt the fight. The governor said he "could" but would be "an affront" to veterans of the armed services in the state and added that he believes the bout should not be held until the departed world heavyweight champion has said he is ready to serve in the military.

All who prefer to see his Muslim name rather than Cassius Clay, was stripped of his title for refusing induction into the Army.

Maddox has urged Atlanta's city officials not to permit Ali to fight in the state and added that he is for his country. However, State Sen. Leroy Johnson, who helped promote the fight, said the match will be held despite Maddox's objections.

Johnson also said that Mayor Sam Massell has indicated that the bout can be held as scheduled.

After he was stripped of his title, Ali was forced from the ring more than three years as numerous cities throughout the United States and Canada refused to issue a boxing license to him. However, he had no difficulty in gaining a license in Atlanta and fought three opponents in an eight-round exhibition match here earlier this month.

He outpointed each of his opponents in the three exhibition bouts.

Chief Johnny Robinson Wins Defensive Honor

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "Really," said the Kansas City Chiefs' Johnny Robinson when told he shared the National Football League defensive player of the week honor with teammate Aaron Brown.

"That's a real big honor and I really appreciate it," added the Chiefs' veteran safety, who said he enjoyed running Monday night against Baltimore "to last a whole season."

"They had the ball almost the whole last quarter and our defense was working overtime," he said with a chuckle. "but it was worth it."

Although the Chiefs didn't get within 20 points, Robinson said "they scared us in the second half and we sure didn't want them to turn the game around."

'The Pack Is Back': Raiders Race To Victory

By JIM RICKENBACHER
Herald Sports Staff

The pack is back. No, not Green Day, but the Raider country team. The Raiders as well as prevailing winds swept over Lake City in a dual meet held on the SEC campus yesterday.

Bob Schou captured his second straight first place finish. Rex Fredrick came on strong after sitting out last week's race to take second place. He was followed by Duane Wallace and Danny Harfield respectively as the Raiders swept the first four places as well as the first through eighth spots.

Although Robert's time of 2:10 was much slower than his best it was still respectable considering the turbulent winds and soft track.

Victory was assured as the Raiders' runners advanced last week's defeat at the hands of defending state champ, Florida Junior College. The Raiders are off and running—racing for victory.

'Old Sarge' Continues On His Endless Journey

By DAVID MOFFITT
UPI Staff Writer

ATLANTA (UPI) — "Old Sarge" has packed his duffel bag and set forth on yet another leg of his seemingly endless baseball odyssey.

Ray Wilhelm, the 47-year-old knuckleballing relief artist who has pitched in more major league games (1,000) than anyone else, had hoped his journey would end last September when he joined the Atlanta Braves.

Atlanta is barely 100 miles from his Columbus, Ga., home and Wilhelm rejoined at the prospect of spending more time with his family and his hunting dogs.

But the Braves, in a surprise move, placed Wilhelm on waivers and he was picked up last week by the Cincinnati Reds to bolster their bullpen in the closing days of their battle for the National League's Eastern title.

The Braves front office has decided to rescue a team that fell from division champ to last place in one season. And what better way to start a youth movement than to release a 47-year-old player.

But Ray Wilhelm? There must be more to the deal with the Cubs than shows on the surface.

The Braves acquired Wilhelm from the California Angels last year to help their own relief corps. His two wins and four saves in eight appearances won the National League West and the Braves bemoaned the fact that he was not eligible to pitch in the playoffs.

"He's seldom dumped behind the line," Wilhelm said.

The 37-year-old, curly-haired senior from South River, N.J., earned an A average last year as a sociology major and has a high B average for three years.

He wants to take postgraduate work in sociology after, or during, a probable career in pro ball.

Wilhelm wasn't especially effective before the All-Star break because his shoulder was bothering him — but has been outstanding since.

"My shoulder was tight," he said in explanation of his slow start. "I didn't say anything about it at the time because I didn't want to sound like I was trying to quit."

Once his shoulder came around, Wilhelm made it clear that he was planning on pitching for quite a while yet — maybe as long as 10 more years.

"I feel good," he said one night after a sparkling relief appearance. "As long as I continue to do the job, I'll continue to pitch."

Wilhelm was looking forward to pitching for the Braves in 1971 and it obviously never occurred to him that they might let him go.

Notre Dame Players Try A Little Harder

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Stuhldreher and many others, I put, Thiessman in that class and I think that's quite an honor.

Thiessman filed in for injured Terry Hanratty in the last three games of the 1968 season. He has been Coach Art Partridge's starting quarterback ever since.

Thiessman set a Notre Dame total offense record of 1,909 yards last season and set Cotton Bowl records of 231 yards passing and 279 yards total offense despite the 21-17 loss to Texas.

Going into Saturday's game at old rival Michigan State, Thiessman has a Notre Dame career total of 3,086 yards in 16 games. The Irish record is 4,833 by George "The Gipper" Gipp in four seasons, 1917-1920.

Thiessman, a curly-haired senior from South River, N.J., earned an A average last year as a sociology major and has a high B average for three years.

He wants to take postgraduate work in sociology after, or during, a probable career in pro ball.

The quarterback threw four touchdown passes last Saturday in a 48-0 slaughter of Purdue and Krause said the game film showed much more than that.

"Seventy per cent or more of the time, Thiessman charged plays at the line of scrimmage to handle Coach Bob DeMoss's good shifting defense," Krause said.

Notre Dame has had a lot of great quarterbacks. John Huard, Terry Hanratty, Ralph Gugliemi, Angelo Bertelli, John Lajack, Frank Cardillo (Ivory).

Thiessman's pitcher Joe Hoerner is co-captain of St. Louis travel agency. His former teammate, shortstop Dal Maxey, will be of the Cardinals, is a pitcher.

SJC Golfers Should Be Strong!!

Victory and defeat — two words that are synonymous with athletic endeavors. The first, foremost word, victory, is the word that has dotted SJC's athletic background.

Basketball has collected one state title. Last year's track team finished second in the state and eleventh in the nation. Baseball has won 30 games in the last two seasons.

What about Golf? Just another four letter word? To some people, yes. But not to Billy Goren, Alan Clark, Dennis McCollum, Hal Marchman, Charlie Locant, and Jim Rickenbaker. These are the boys in the band, the hand known as the SJC golf team.

Last year's team compiled a 19-5 record and finished first in the district and seventh in the state.

The first day found the Hawks in third place much to the surprise of other schools but the Hawks' second day performance setled doubts as to who was best as the Hawks' 1970-71 squad had very little in that the team had all but one of their starters returning. The team placed runner-up in the district and second in the state.

With experience and improvement from the returning players, Charlie Locant, the team captain, and the other players destined for a higher place than any golf team in Florida history.

Coaches Are 'Sad Bunch'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coaches Paul Bryant of Alabama and Johnny Vaught of Mississippi both were unhappy today as their football teams return to the practice field in preparation for Saturday's showdown at Jackson, Miss.

Bryant was especially critical of the Crimson Tide drill Tuesday, when the team worked on pass protection, goal-line defense and the kicking game. He said the passing-and-the-coaching-particularly were poor.

Vaught said the Rebels "must play better in all facets of the game" in Alabama and Mississippi currently are undefeated in the southern conference play and share the SEC lead with Auburn. The winners of their Saturday clash, second in a football double header at Jackson, will establish itself as a prime contender for the league title.

Auburn, meeting Kentucky at Lexington Saturday, worked on its kicking game and Coach Ralph Jordan was pleased with the result.

"I thought we had a good practice," Jordan said at the conclusion of Tuesday's drills. "We were on the field for two hours and most of it was full speed work."

Kentucky, meanwhile, worked on punting and punt coverage.

Coach Charley Shira of Mississippi State, which meets Georgia in the first half of the Jackson double header, also was less than pleased with the practice performance of his Maroons.

"Southwest State, which faces Baylor in a nonconference game, went through a hard drill," Coach Charley McClellan said he was pleased with the action.

Georgia went through a two-hour workout and Coach Vince Dooley later indicated that cornerback Phillip Sullivan and coverage.

"I think we had a good practice," Dooley said. "We were on the field for two hours and most of it was full speed work."

Kentucky, meanwhile, worked on punting and punt coverage.

Coach Charley Shira of Mississippi State, which meets Georgia in the first half of the Jackson double header, also was less than pleased with the practice performance of his Maroons.

Council Action

N. Orlando Eyes Vote Registration

NORTE ORLANDO — Village Council has taken under consideration changes in the election ordinance to conform to the county's registration in the future, all voters in the county also will be registered in the village.

CHARTER CHANGE — Discussion was held upon changing the village charter to hold elections to be held simultaneously with that of other south Seminole cities. However, Freeman said that this would necessitate a request to the state legislature, after which the proposal would be submitted for public review before the legislature under local bill hearings. An alternative would be to submit the proposal to the people under the charter amendment provision of Home Rule, but Freeman cited the former as being less expensive.

In any event, Freeman said that the present terms of office would not be affected and a charter revision much apply to future elections. A question was raised concerning the use of county registration books, mandatory under state law next year, in that the village elections are held in March, with that of the county in November. Freeman said that a list of certified voters of the date preceding the village elections could be requested from the county office, and that the Su-Filled with emotion, the voice blurted out a history of personal problems that had progressed to the point of being ready to end it all—in a final fling at suicide.

Firm Nixes More Auto Policies

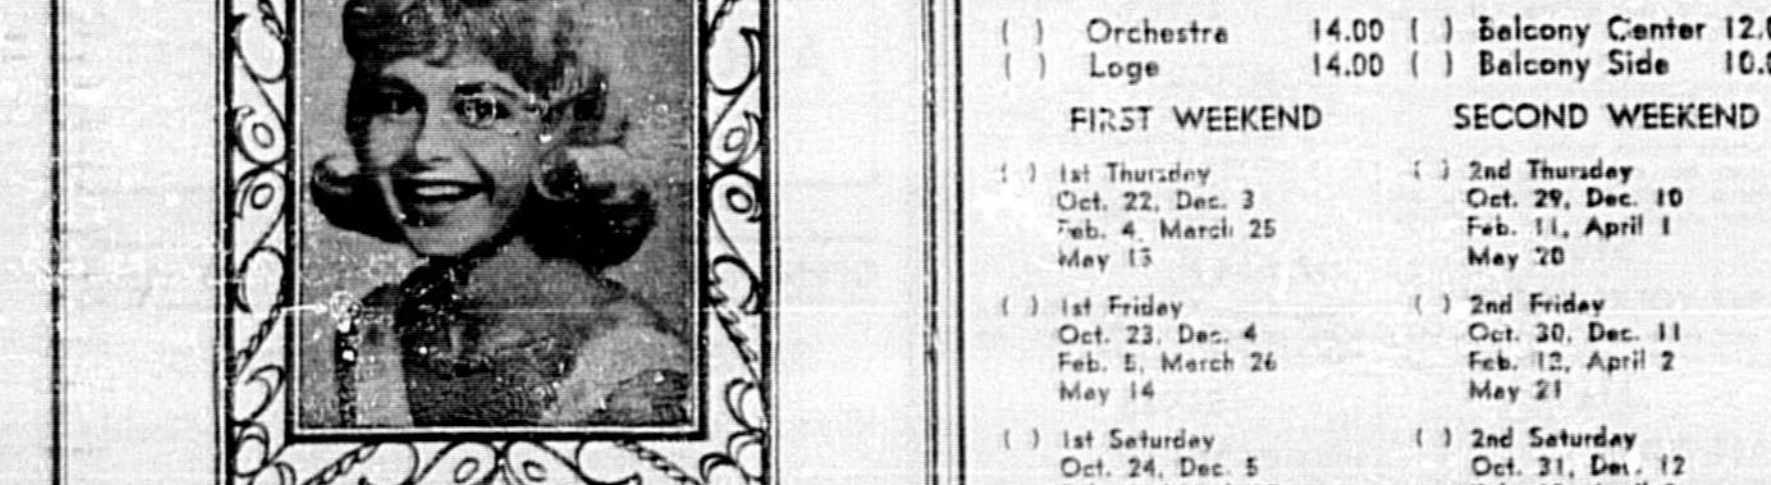

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Nationwide Insurance Co. has advised the state that, effective Thursday, it will not write any new automobile insurance policies in Florida, state officials report.

The notice came in a letter received Tuesday by State Insurance Commissioner Howard Williams' office.

"They will renew what they have on the books," said Deputy State Insurance Commissioner Harry Landrum. Asked if he felt this might be the start of a trend by other firms, Landrum replied: "I don't know, I hope not."

Nationwide is the third largest direct writer of auto insurance in Florida—behind State Farm Mutual and Allstate.

Landrum said that an increase in the number of policies that have been written plus stock market losses cutting into the firm's resources to back these policies up, are the primary causes for the decision.

mission authorize a study for the safety factor of all schools relative to sidewalks. The request stemmed from a complaint from residents in the Milwee Middle School area relative to children walking down SE 427 because of high grass in front of Milwee and there were pockets of sand, which might preclude the use by students. It was decided that if the sidewalks are of school property that the school board be apprised of the situation and be requested to clean them.

Drummond, however, requested that the survey be updated. He said that he observed children walking down the highway adjacent to Milwee four abreast where there was a sidewalk and that students were demonstrating an antagonistic attitude.

He suggested this should be the responsibility of the schools to give proper instruction to the children relative to safety factors. He further stated that he had checked the sidewalks in front of Milwee and there were pockets of sand, which might preclude the use by students. It was decided that if the sidewalks are of school property that the school board be apprised of the situation and be requested to clean them.

Cook up a bargain. And that's exactly what clear, flameless electricity is. In fact, the average price paid per kilowatt hour by electric families today is one-third less than it was in 1957. So go right ahead and rely on flameless electric for cooking...hair drying...dishwashing...shaving...cooling and heating your home. Because when it comes to serving you with economy, there's just no match for flameless electric!

Hildegard Tells Age (Almost) And Other Secrets

By HELEN HENNESSY — NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — Blonde, trim and clear-eyed she came across the dining room at King's Inn in New York, wearing a warm smile and a "knock 'em dead" navy and white costume. Glamour walked in with her and immediately you knew why the word "incomparable" has become synonymous with Hildegard.

Close over her skin is smooth and clear. "I'm over 50, but that's ALL you'll get," said Hildegard who has authored a book of her beauty secrets, called "Over 50—So What?"

Hildegard has never had a face lift. "Not yet," she said. "I've got my wrinkles every night."

This startling piece of intelligence could boggle the mind. But don't get your electric iron at "low" and go to work on your own visage. That's not the way it's done. The chaste, author has a special little iron designed for that purpose. But it's not available in the United States. All her other beauty tricks are.

"It frons on my cream so that it gets into the pores," she explained. "Every step of my career was hard for me," she recalled. "I had two handicaps to conquer — my painful shy which is a real drawback in show business and an inherited tendency to overwalk."

"To be fat was unthinkable," she admitted, "and so my motto became, 'She who indulges, bulges.'"

She overcame her two bugaboos. From the silent movie house and vaudeville she went on to become the darling of supper clubs around the world, to give command performances for royalty and to sing at the White House. And she is still packing them in at the smart night spots.

Her secrets for staying youthful, vital and useful she shares with us in her book. These hold down to a daily routine of prescribed exercises, vitamin supplements, sensible eating and drinking only pure spring water.

"My affiliation with Mountain Valley Water of which she is a vice president happened by accident," she said. "At the Puritan Room at the Plaza I had just toasted a beer manufacturer. I told him that I knew his beer was excellent but that I only drank pure spring water. An executive of the spring water firm was in the audience and so delighted with the unexpected endorsement that he talked later and he hired me."

It sure sounds like an easier way to get a job than answering the want ads.

Hildegard, whose signatures in the world of glamour are the dainty lace handkerchiefs, long white gloves and fussed roses, naturally has definite opinions on fashion.

"I think long skirts are only for evening," she said. "A little below the knee is all right for day, but no longer."

She claims that it's a myth that European women have an edge on American women as fashion leaders. "The average American woman is far better turned out," she said. "Even a poor girl can look like a million in America."

Hildegard believes that to be with the times, not before or after them in fashion, is the surest way to be in good taste.

Another side of this remarkably successful woman is her investment in humanitarian projects and her deep religious convictions.

She is on the board of directors of Young Women's Towne House, a home for girls who come to New York as strangers to seek their careers. And she devotes much of her spare time to the Blue Army of Our Lady of Fatima, an organization of 23 million members in 67 different countries, whose main cause is world peace.

When the "Incomparable Hildegard" says "Bless you," she means it literally.

The "Incomparable Hildegard" who still packs the super clubs nightly and carries attractively, by her own admission, 50 odd years of living.

Mrs. M. R. Strickland Addresses Group UDC Chapter Begins Season

Mrs. F. E. Roumlatt Sr. was hostess for the September meeting of the UDC Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy which was held at her home on Palmetto Avenue.

Mrs. Victor Greene, president of the chapter, presided. The meeting was opened with the reading of the ritual followed by the Flag Service led by Mrs. T. J. Taylor, chaplain.

Following reports of officers, chairman and other items of business, the business session was adjourned for the program presented by Mrs. M. R. Strickland who gave an interesting and informative talk on the life of Jefferson Davis.

Mrs. Strickland, on her vacation travels this summer, had the opportunity and privilege to stop and visit this historic spot and the library cottage where he wrote which is located between Biloxi and Gulfport, Miss., on U.S. Hwy. 90. This stopover visit qualified her vivid and marvelous description of the house and its gardens, grounds and furnishings which have been carefully restored.

She stated that Beauvoir has now become a Jefferson Davis Shrine by an Act of the 1940 Mississippi Legislature. Through a per capita assessment the general organization of the UDC contributed $5,480.66 toward the restoration. Concluding her talk, she stated that the character, conviction and conduct of Jefferson Davis made him in words and deeds, a great American.

Immediately following this inspiring talk, Mrs. Roumlatt presented a rare photograph of Jefferson Davis taken in 1867. This was a gift to the Chapter bought recently in Lisbon, Portugal by Mrs. Guy Bitala nee Margaret Spencer, daughter of Morris H. Spencer, and Ruth Roberts Spencer. The gift will be a contribution to the Gamble Mansion Confederate Museum at Ellenton, Fla. by the Norman DeVeve Howard Chapter of Sanford.

All enjoyed a delightful social hour when the hostess served a delicious ice course. Those attending this first meeting of the season were: Misses: Martin, Bran, Victor Greene, Fred Harris, L. D. Hastings, G. E. McCall, H. B. McCall, C. E. McKee, Edwin Meisch, G. Toy Roy, Charles Steenworth, H. E. Strickland, T. J. Taylor, A. B. Wallace, W. B. Wallace and Glen Wimlish.

As President of the Confederate States of America. After the defeat of the Confederate armies, he became in his last years a symbol to which the oppressed Southern States turned for inspiration and strength during the ordeal of the Reconstruction period. To the Confederacy which he loved and served so well, he devoted the last years of his life to writing his "Rise and Fall of the Confederacy" (two volumes) and "Short History of the Confederate States." The title from which he wrote is called Beauvoir which means "Beautiful View."

Lamb Still Popular In World

By TOM ROGGE
Associated Press Writer

You might not care for it stuffed with or not, but lamb and olives as they did in lush 17th century Greece, and the Roman custom of basting it with a fishy brine might sound pretty far out.

But lamb, served in its infinite varieties, is still an eye catcher on menus around the world.

The ancient Israelites, most of whom were shepherds, developed a fondness for lamb, and the Old Testament gives one of the earliest recorded directions for eating it.

Before the flight of the Jews from Egypt, the Lord instructed them to take a lamb. Then, said the Lord, "And they shall eat the flesh in that night, roast with fire, and unspiced bread; and with bitter herbs they shall eat it." (Exodus 12:8).

There is a versatility about lamb that lends itself to a broad range of cooking techniques varying from the hot curries of the East Indies and the shish kebabs of the Middle East to the hearty mutton stews of Britain and the barbecues of America.

England made roast lamb with mint sauce a classic, while the Middle Eastern chefs roasted it with fragrant herbs and pistachio nuts.

But the sons and daughters of Erin, weighed in with a dish that has achieved immortality. Recipes for Irish stew can be found in Escoffier, Maynard, and virtually every other edition of cooking. They differ in many ways, but the best agree on one point: Good Irish stew is not a thin, watery soup with meat and vegetables floating in it, but a robust dish of meat, potatoes and onions cooked slowly until it is thick, rich and delicious.

Lamb is an ancient symbol of spring and its flesh is popular at religious festivals, including the Christian Easter and the Jewish Passover.

In older days it was the custom in England and many other lands to roast a whole sheep stuffed with such ingredients as currants, raisins and bread, soaked in cream and egg yolks and sugar.

Orthodox Greeks put on an Easter Feast that is lavish to put it mildly, and lamb is the centerpiece. It leads off with a special soup made of the head, neck and liver of a baby lamb, which is traditionally served after the midnight Resurrection service.

Then comes the centerpiece, the roasted lamb. Traditionally, it is cooked in an open pit, but today many Greek hostesses have a neighborhood baker cook it in his spacious oven.

The Greeks are also fond of broiled lamb chops and give them an added zest with sprinkled oregano and lemon juice.

But one of the most exciting Greek dishes is moussaka, a baked meat custard that blends ground lamb, spices, eggs and cheese into a memorable repast.

BAKED LAMB MOUSSAKA
1 1/2 pounds potatoes
16 oz vegetable oil for deep frying
1 cup chopped onions
2 cloves garlic crushed
1 pound ground lamb
16 oz can tomatoes well drained
1 tsp. dried oregano
1 cup white sauce
1/2 cup cottage cheese
1 slightly beaten egg
2 ounces olive oil
Salt and pepper

Peel potatoes and cut into 1/4 inch slices. Deep fry in hot fat until golden brown and drain. Arrange half the potatoes in an even layer in bottom of a 8 X 12 inch pan. Sauté onions and garlic about four minutes in olive oil until onions are soft and golden. Add lamb and cook until red color disappears, stirring gently with a large fork.

Add the tomatoes and cook over low heat for another five minutes.

Season with oregano, one tsp. salt and 1/4 tsp. pepper. Cover potatoes with half of the meat mixture, use rest of oregano for another layer and top that with the remainder of the meat mixture.

Add the creamed cottage cheese and the egg to the white sauce which has been warmed but is not hot. Spread this mixture over the meat and set it five or six inches below the broiler until puffy or golden brown.

Serve from the casserole with a red Beausjolais.

Serves 4-6 persons.

Swedish Apple Pudding

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Swedish Apple Pudding is probably the top favorite among all the Scandinavian desserts. Put this recipe for this delicious offering in your collection of dishes, really vague.

Here, for example, is how these recipes usually run: "Layer 1/2 cup sugar, whipped cream and buttered bread crumbs in a pudding dish, finishing with whipped cream and a few raisins (optional)."

A cook who appreciates exactitude is likely to ask, "What kind of applesauce, homemade or canned? Should the cream be seasoned? What kind of crumbs fine dry or moist? And how much butter goes on the crumbs? What size dish is it? Is it practical to use? Should the pudding be chilled before serving?"

When we explained to a home-economist friend about such sloppy recipes, she offered us one she had worked out to the last detail. This recipe is based on several from Swedish cookbooks translated by our friend's Swedish neighbor.

When we tried this Swedish Apple Pudding at our house, we found the recipe a delight: easy to follow, delectable result. We also liked the fact that the dessert could be prepared well ahead of serving. As a matter of fact, a portion of the pudding that was leftover still tasted good after an overnight stay in the refrigerator. However, to have the crumbs at their crispest, the pudding should be served the same day it is made.

SWEDISH APPLE PUDDING
12 thin slices white bread
1/2 cup (1/4 lb stick) butter
1 tablespoon sugar
2 1/2 cups chilled homemade applesauce (see recipe below)
1 1/2 cup chopped (medium) fine blanched almonds
1 container (1/2 pint) heavy cream (1 cup)
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Raspberry Jam

Trim crusts from bread; with fingers tear bread into small crumbs; there should be about 2 1/2 cups, not packed down. In a 10-inch skillet over low heat, melt 1/4 cup of the butter. Add half the crumbs. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons of the sugar. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly with a fork, until crumbs are browned—about 5 minutes. Turn crumbs out of skillet onto a flat surface to crisp.

In skillet melt remaining 1/4 cup butter; add remaining crumbs and 2 tablespoons of the sugar; brown as before; turn crumbs out of skillet as before. There should now be about 2 1/2 to 3 cups crumbs.

Stir almonds into applesauce. Beat 1/2 cup of the cream until it begins to thicken. Gradually beat in remaining 1 tablespoon of the sugar and 1/4 teaspoon of the vanilla; beat until thick.

Spread 1 cup of the crumbs in the bottom of a 1 1/2-quart square dish or similar straight-sided dish that can be brought to the table. Spread with half the applesauce, then with half the whipped cream.

Add another cup of crumbs, remaining applesauce and remaining whipped cream. Spread with remaining crumbs. Chill.

Just before serving, beat remaining 1/2 cup cream until it begins to thicken. Gradually beat in remaining 1 tablespoon sugar, then remaining 1/4 teaspoon vanilla; beat until thick. Place spoonfuls of whipped cream on top of pudding. Add a dab of raspberry jam to each mound.

Makes 4 to 8 servings.

(For Swedish Apple Pudding)
2 pounds cooking apples
1/4 cup water
1/2 cup sugar
Wash apples and quarter without peeling or coring. Cut away blossom ends and any brown spots. Place in a large saucepot. Add water, cover and cook over medium-low heat until apples are soft—about 20 minutes. Stir occasionally so apples don't scorch. Drain off any water in pan.

Spoon apples, one-third at a time, into a food mill placed over a bowl of saucepan. Strain, discarding peel left in mill after each straining. Stir in sugar, if applesauce is very juicy, place in food mill over a bowl and let excess liquid drain off.

Makes about 2 1/2 cups. Use as directed in Swedish Apple Pudding.

Keep paper baking cups on hand and use them to line muffin cups when you are baking muffins or cupcakes. Saves pan washing.

Georgetown Paving Proposal On Agenda

By MRS. R. B. THOMAS JR.
The Georgetown Community Improvement Association is holding a meeting of importance to all taxpayers citizens living in the Georgetown area. The most important item on the agenda is a discussion concerning the paving of the streets. The meeting will be held at the Sanford Civic Center Thursday at 8 p.m.

Everyone concerned is urged to be present.

The Women of St. James AME Church are now engaged in finalizing plans for their annual observance on Sunday, Oct. 11.

Their theme, "Today's Christian Women Help Humanity Through Service," will be expounded during the course of the two programs being presented for spiritual and instructional enjoyment.

Mrs. Fannie Butler, professor of English at Valencia Junior College, Orlando, will fill the guest spot during the 10 a.m. services.

The youth of the church will be at the helm at 8 p.m. Their speaker will be Miss Linda Johnson.

The public is cordially inited to worship with the St. James Church family.

Observance chairman is Mrs. E. O. Young; committee women, Mrs. Rosa McCoy, Mrs. Sylvia Stultworth, Mrs. Annie McGill, Mrs. Annie K. Wright, Mrs. Miriam Johnson, and Mrs. Katharine B. Holly. Rev. W. M. Burke is pastor.

The youth and young people's department of First Shiloh M.B. Church had their election of officers for the 1970-71 season this past Sunday.

The elected officers are as follows: President, Bruce Scott; vice president, Bronnette Decker; secretary, Linda Whitehead; assistant secretary, Wilma Jones; treasurer, Pamela Dunwoody; chaplain, Kimberlyn Washington; parliamentarian, Carolyn Whitehead; reporter, Debra Cooper; and assistant reporter, Arlene Carter.

Submitted by Mrs. Kathryn J. Thornton, Mrs. Agnes Hall and Mrs. Shirley Allen, Rev. J. Edward Combsley, pastor.

The Women's Improvement Club will meet tonight at the American Legion Building on West 12th Street at 8:30 p.m.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Agnes Fields, Mrs. Wilhelmina Richardson and Miss Fannie Moore.

On Friday night this group will offer an electric blanket. Tickets may be purchased from any of the club members. This also will take place at the American Legion Building, Mrs. Mabel McClain, reporter.

Patricia Campbell was feted on her fourth birthday with a party given by her mother, Mrs. Estelle Peterson last Sunday.

We wish to express our deepest sympathy to the family of the late Harper L. Douglas. During these hours of sadness, you must not feel that you share this void alone. We are all with you. "We" as defined below.

As former co-workers in this Seminole teachers and administrative arena; as fishing companions on the river banks or in a boat; as church leaders and members who feel that God has selected you for another job in His upper room. As students who once sat before you in a classroom and tried to gain more knowledge through your teaching.

As athletes who through your coaching learned that good sportsmanship is more important than winning a game.

And last, as friends who have shared so many happy and memorable hours together and yet realize that you were only preceded to us for a brief period of time.

We want you to know that we loved him but God loved him best.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4:30 tomorrow at Trinity United Methodist Church.

The body will lie in state from 1-4:15 p.m. at the church. Burial will be at 11 a.m. Friday at Greenwood Cemetery, Orlando. Wilton Eichelberger Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

Constitution Changes On Ballot

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—On Nov. 3, Florida's voters will get the opportunity to approve or reject seven amendments to the 1968 state Constitution.

The most controversial amendments are two that would give 18-year-olds adult responsibilities and the right to vote.

The amendment lowering the voting age may be averted if the federal government already has given 18-year-olds the right to vote effectively Jan. 1. Unless this federal law is overturned in court tests, the Florida amendment would be superfluous.

The second amendment would give 18-year-olds the right to gamble at race tracks and drink in bars, but would also burden them with such responsibilities as the right to execute legal contracts to sue and be sued.

Another proposed amendment would combine Florida courts into two levels in counties with populations above 100,000 and three levels in smaller counties.

This judicial reform amendment would replace Article 5 of the Constitution. Last Thursday, the Conference of Circuit Judges met in Tampa and passed a resolution supporting the amendment.

But county and juvenile court judges, who would gain circuit court status and pay, will campaign for it, as will many lawyers.

A fourth amendment would permit issuance of state-backed bonds to finance construction of local anti-pollution facilities. A fifth would permit the sale of state-owned land only when such a sale is in the public interest.

Conservation groups have thrown their weight behind these amendments.

IS THAT A GOOD AD ... ?

If your advertising in the newspaper was printed with a special kind of ink that became visible only between 8:00 and 8:01 Monday, and then disappeared, the chances are you wouldn't think such an ad was worth much. You'd reach only a small number of your total potential customers — those who happened to be reading the newspaper Monday evening at precisely the time your ad appeared. And who, in fact, happened to be turned to the particular page on which your ad appeared at that precise moment.

And yet, this is exactly what happens to advertising in media other than print. If your customers are not tuned to the right station, or channel, at the right time and paying close attention, your advertising message can slip away, never to be recovered.

Newspaper advertising is available at the buyer's convenience. He doesn't have to be at a certain place at a certain time to get the message. The buyer can read and re-read your offer... he can clip the advertisement for future reference.

Perhaps, equally important, the prospective customer looks at newspaper advertising because he wants to. It is never an unwanted interruption. Newspaper readers pay to have your advertising brought into their homes and they read it at their leisure. Your ad is read at any time, night or day, when your customer is relaxed... and receptive. When you invest in advertising, invest in the medium that gets results, the classified section of
