Oviedo Man Gets 7 Years In Lewd Assault

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

An Oviedo man on probation for fondling a girl in 1981 was sentenced to 7 years in prison for a lewd assault on the same girl in December. In a separate case, an Orlando man was sentenced to 15 years probation for fondling a girl and performing a lewd act in her presence.

James Harvey Smart, 44, of 1255 Lake Charm Drive, Oviedo, was sentenced by Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. who ordered Smart to serve 8 years of probation after the prison term. Davis also revoked Smart's probation in the 1981 case and in that incident gave him an identical sentence of 7 years in prison and 8 years probation to be served concurrently.

According to the 13-year-old victim, Smart assaulted her Dec. 22 or 23.

The parents of the girl told deputies Smart had threatened to kill them and their daughter if they told authorities of the assault. They said they feared for their lives, according to court records.

Smart pleaded guilty in April to molesting the girl.

In the second case, William Robert Dawson, 41, of Orlando, received 15 years probation for a lewd and lascivious assault on a child and committing a lewd act in front of a child. At the sentencing hearing the victim and Dawson's wife spoke on his behalf asking that he not be sent to prison. His four grandparents were also at the hearing supporting him.

In April, Dawson pleaded no contest to the charges. He was accused of performing lewd acts in front of the girl, then 11, and then fondling and assaulting her at age 12.

The incidents reportedly stopped seven months ago and occurred at a home in Longwood, according to the arrest report. The incidents came to light after the girl told her mother who notified the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services. The agency then notified the sheriff's department.

Dawson is to have no contact with the victim until his psychologist say he can see her. The psychologist also spoke on Dawson's behalf and the state recommended the probationary sentence.

Middle School Unlikely

Crooms May House Troubled Students

By Richard Truett
Herald Staff Writer

Emotional pleas by black leaders Wednesday could not sway the Seminole County School Board toward converting the old Crooms High School facility into a middle school.

Most likely fate for the former all-black school: an alternative education center for students classified as disinterested, troubled or unsuccessful.

About 75 people jammed a special workshop session to hear the board discuss alternatives for Crooms and Goldsboro Elementary. Crooms has not been an academic facility for two years. And Goldsboro is in need of extensive repairs.

"If you take a school out of a neighborhood, you don't have much of a neighborhood," D.C. McCoy, who attended Crooms, told the board. "If you close Crooms my roots to school is dead," McCoy said.

academy in September 1926. It was named after Professor Joseph Nathaniel Crooms, a black educator. Two years ago area black leaders began a fund raising drive to fund a legal battle, if necessary, to save Crooms as an educational facility because of its sentimental and symbolic value to the black community.

"What I'm gonna say comes from the heart. Don't close Crooms. Many black parents feel we need our school back," Doris Thomas told school board members at the work session.

Benny Arnold, Seminole schools' assistant superintendent for facilities and transportation, outlined the results of a study exploring three options the school board has concerning Crooms.

• Goldsboro Elementary School could be moved to Crooms. But Arnold said that three new wings containing 15 more classrooms should be built, toilet facilities would have to be moved closer to classrooms, and a massive refurbishing of the entire school would have to be done for it to meet state guidelines. The cost is an estimated $3.66 million.

• Crooms could be made into an elementary school without the 15 new classrooms, but it would still require a massive refurbishing and remodeling costing $1.79 million.

• The facility could be made into an Alternative Education Center which would accommodate students from all over the county who are classified as disinterested, troubled or unsuccessful. This would cost $483,322.

"We have been working with this issue for two years. It is not any easier now than it was then," Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes said.

"We are not recommending closing Crooms. We have used it as best we could by keeping Blackshare there and using it as an in-service center," he said.

E.L. Blackshare, the principal of Crooms when it was a high school, is "maintaining the facility" along with with a secretary and maintenance man.

Chris Connor of the Goldsboro PTA said she does not want Goldsboro closed or moved. She cited several reasons why Goldsboro should remain open:

• The school is in a good location. About 75 percent of the students walk to school safely.

Too Much For A Dog?

A dog walks away from a trash pile on Sixth Street in Sanford. Despite the city's recent clean-up campaign, dumping persists in the neighborhood surrounding the street, as well as other areas in the city. But Sanford police have announced a campaign to crack down on litterbugs. See story page 3A.

Longwood Man Dies In Crash Of Light Plane

A Longwood man is dead and a Clermont pilot in serious condition today from injuries he received when the small plane he was passenger turned nose down and plummeted into a muck field in Lake County.

Killed was Carl Sark, 38. Pilot of the plane, James C. Corbett Jr., 45, was in serious condition in intensive care at the Orlando Regional Medical Center.

The accident occurred approximately 5:15 p.m. Wednesday about 3 miles south of Travares, according to Lake County Sheriff's deputies.

Sark, with multiple injuries, was evacuated from the crash site by helicopter to the Orlando hospital where he died at about 9 p.m. Corbett was taken to Waterman Regional Medical Center in Eustis then later transferred to ORMC.

According to Lake County Sheriff's spokesman Chris Giachetti the cause of the crash is not known but investigators were on the scene today from the Federal Aviation Authority and the National Transportation Safety Board.

According to an eye witness, the small plane climbed sharply, the motor stalled, then the plane nose-dived into the ground. The altitude of the craft is not known.

Both men had to be extricated from the crumpled wreckage.

"I'm amazed that either of them survived the crash," Giachetti.

Nationwide Manhunt

Convicts Give Escape Lesson By Example

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two convicted killers, let out of their maximum security prison to brief lawmen on how prisoners escape, have escaped.

The prisoners, experienced escapees, who were briefing officials on possible escapes and assaults on prison officials, broke out of jail before their meeting with corrections officials and have prompted a nationwide manhunt.

At first, authorities said Wednesday the convicts were brought to the Metropolitan Correctional Center to testify at upcoming trials. But later Warden O.C. Jenkins said both fugitives had been brought to Chicago from the federal penitentiary in Atlanta to provide "information on escapes and potential harm to correctional officers."

Bernard C. Welch, 45, of Great Falls, Va., was serving a 143-year to life sentence for the 1980 slaying of Washington cardiologist Michael Halberstam. Hugh Colomb, 31, of Rutland, Vt., was serving a 43-year term for crimes including voluntary manslaughter and armed robbery.

The two prisoners escaped Tuesday evening by breaking a hole in a wall and lowering themselves down six floors with an electric cord. They apparently used a barbell to break a narrow window and knocked out part of the surrounding wall. They then lowered themselves from the sixth story to a grass-covered plaza with a 75-foot-long electrical extension cord that was connected to a floor-polishing machine.

Federal sources have said Welch also may have identified underworld figures with whom he dealt as a burglar in fencing stolen goods.

"We're conducting an extensive manhunt," said U.S. Marshal Peter J. Wilkes.

Welch, considered an expert thief, escaped from a New York state prison in 1974. He lived well until his arrest for the slaying of Halberstam, brother of Pulitzer Prize-winning author David Halberstam, during a burglary.

Colomb, who escaped from the Rutland Correctional Center in 1974 and was later arrested and freed, was convicted of a 1977 armed bank robbery in Los Angeles. He was sent to the maximum security federal prison in Marion, Ill., where he stabbed a fellow inmate to death in 1970.

Demands Terrorists' Release

Jihad Threatens Lives Of Kidnapped

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The group suspected of bombing the U.S. Embassy and the Marine barracks in Beirut released pictures of four kidnapped Americans and two Frenchmen, warning of a "horrible disaster" if jailed terrorists in Kuwait are not freed.

"We will not be patient for a long time but instead will act in a way that will terrify America and France forever," said notes accompanying the photographs from Islamic Jihad — or Holy War — a fundamentalist group reportedly linked to Iran.

The pictures, delivered to Western news organizations and the Beirut newspaper Al Nahar, were released Wednesday after an Irish U.N. relief agency official was abducted in mainly Moslem west Beirut.

The latest kidnap victim, Aidan Walsh, was not mentioned in the ultimatum addressed to the American people, civil rights campaigner Rev. Jesse Jackson and the relatives of the kidnapped men.

The photographs showed Presbyterian minister Benjamin Weir, U.S. Embassy official William Buckley, Catholic missionary Martin Lawrence Jenco, Associated Press correspondent Terry Anderson and French diplomat Marcel Fontaine and Marcel Carton. All were kidnapped between March 1984 and March 1985.

Walsh, deputy director of the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestinian refugees was the 15th foreigner kidnapped in Beirut since March 1984.

Toll Climbs In MOVE Assault

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Mayor Wilson Goode, standing firm against growing public outcry over the police bombing of a suspected terrorist stronghold, promised a full review of the attack that killed at least 11 people and destroyed a neighborhood.

Goode rejected suggestions Wednesday that City Managing Director Leo Brooks resign for his role in the confrontation that led to two fierce gunbattles and an aerial bombing Monday of a house occupied by the group called MOVE.

"What happened was an accident," Goode said. "There was no plan that called for any destruction of that house by fire, by bomb or anything else."

"All steps taken on Monday were steps designed to preserve life."

"I am fully and totally responsible," the mayor said. "Everything that was done was done with my knowledge."

Goode said he will appoint a commission within a week to "review all the facts surrounding all the decisions leading up to and including Monday" that led to the bombing and ensuing fire that destroyed 53 houses and damaged eight. He proclaimed Sunday a day of prayer for the dead and 250 homeless.

"We want to pray for those who lost their lives. We want to pray for those who are homeless, the entire neighborhood and the entire city."

Workers Wednesday dug the bodies of two children and three adults from the rubble of the anti-establishment cult's burned-out headquarters.

The bodies of four adults and two children were found Tuesday.

The mayor said officials were aware of children in the house but did not consider them hostages because their parents were there.

Clarence Mosley, an assistant city managing director, said the gender of only one victim, an adult male, had been established. None had been identified.

Also found Wednesday were two shotguns, a rifle, unspent ammunition and what appeared to be unexploded bombs, Mosley said. A heavily fortified bunker was discovered in the basement.

Police decided to evict MOVE after mounting complaints by neighbors of filthy conditions and annoying noise from the house. The mayor said police had evidence the back-to-nature group was stockpiling weapons and explosives and planned to blow up the block to grab "international headlines."

Goode and other officials said the fire that erupted after the bombing was unexpected and likely started by the cultists inside.

"Dropping the bomb was the first mistake and it was followed by the catastrophe of letting it burn," state Sen. Vincent Fumo said.

But Goode and Police Commissioner Gregore Sambor stood by their decision, saying the bomb was intended to destroy a steel and wood battlement atop the house and blow a hole in the roof so police could hurl tear gas and water inside to chase out the occupants.

Wrong Side Of The Bench

MARYSVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — Former Municipal Court Judge Donald Wahlberg returned to his old courthouse — so that he could plead "not guilty."

Wahlberg, 50, has been practicing law in the Yuba County Marysville area since his defeat for re-election last November. He entered his plea Wednesday to charges of receiving stolen property and aiding a fugitive.

The former judge was arrested two weeks ago by Yuba County sheriff's deputies for allegedly buying a stolen computer and helping his brother-in-law escape capture.

NATION IN BRIEF

Congress Trying To Freeze Pentagon Spending

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress is taking steps to freeze Pentagon spending for the next fiscal year at this year's levels — tens of billions of dollars below what President Reagan had asked for in the first place.

The House opened debate Wednesday on its defense authorization bill, which, when all spending commitments are tallied, amounts to about $302 billion.

After inflation is added, the House bill's total is no higher than that approved for fiscal 1985 — but it still would amount to nearly a third of the nation's annual spending.

The Senate planned to open general debate on its bill Friday, now that its Armed Services Committee finished a second operation that cut the bill further so that it would show no real growth over this year. No major votes on the measures are expected until next week at the earliest.

Officials Try To Close Company

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Gov. Harry Hughes and key advisers met Wednesday in emergency legislation to abolish the Maryland Savings-Share Insurance Corp. that insures deposits at most state-chartered thrifts and expedite new coverage by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp.

Maryland's General Assembly will meet in emergency session Friday to consider abolishing the MSSIC and other proposals to restore public confidence in the state's savings and loans.

Meanwhile, Citicorp and Chase Manhattan Corp. were reportedly discussing a possible merger or purchase of the two financially ailing savings and loans — Old Court and Merritt — that triggered the run.

Gov. Harry Hughes' emergency order limiting withdrawals to $1,000 a month at the state's 102 privately insured thrifts also created some personal hardships, widespread confusion and disrupted business activity.

"This is not the governor's money, it's my money," Shirley Rosinsky fumed after being told she could only withdraw $1,000 from her account at one savings and loan.

Reagan Delays Tax Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan has decided to put off the unveiling of his long-touted tax reform plan until after Memorial Day because congressional leaders said they needed more time to work on the budget.

Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes said the president made the final decisions on the tax reform package Wednesday. Reagan had planned to make it public Monday and campaign for the plan in a nationally televised speech that night. But Republican leaders in Congress feared the program's Monday release would interfere with deliberations on the fiscal 1986 budget, so Reagan agreed to hold on to the package until May 28 and will make the televised address then.

WORLD IN BRIEF

31 Tamils Killed In Revenging Attack

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (UPI) — Attackers armed with swords, knives and axes boarded a ferry, killing 31 Tamils in apparent revenge for a massacre of more than 170 people by Tamil separatists, a government official said today.

Minister of National Security Lialith Athulathmudali said six men hacked and stabbed the ferry passengers, many of whom drowned after jumping into the deep waters of Palk Straits that separates Sri Lanka and India.

Twenty-four bodies were recovered from a nearby beach, the minister said. According to reports reaching Colombo, many of the injured passengers jumped overboard to escape from the attackers Wednesday. At least 30 people were injured.

Pope: Pursue God, Not Money

LUXEMBOURG (UPI) — Pope John Paul II celebrated a mass marking Jesus Christ's rise to heaven today and delivered a stern homily against what he termed "the insatiable and egoistic pursuit of pleasure."

"People today have been dazzled by progress and prosperity and often only look to the Earth," John Paul told the Luxembourgers. Luxembourg enjoys the highest per capita standard of living in Europe's 10-nation Common Market.

"When a man believes he can achieve self-realization exclusively by his own efforts, he alienates the desire for God which is in him, and gives himself over to the insatiable and egoistic pursuit of pleasure," he said.

P & Z Board To Review Homes-Offices Project

A developer wants to build a 906-unit development of homes and offices on property north of Airport Boulevard and east of Old Lake Mary Road in Sanford.

The Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission is scheduled to consider Joost Zydeveld's plan at its meeting at 7 p.m. today in the commission chambers of city hall.

Called "Placid Lake," the development, if approved, would be a combination of homes or apartments and offices, according to Rick Holloway of the city engineering department. The property is zoned general commercial and multi-residential.

The commission will also review a site plan for phase two of the Mayfair Meadows development, north of Paola Road and east of Oregon Avenue. Developed by the Babcock Co., the plans call for 80 townhouses to be built on the property.

Also on the agenda is a discussion of rules concerning buffer zones between residential and commercial/industrial districts.

Apartments Lead '85 Housing Starts

HOUSING BOOM

The upturn in the U.S. economy has led to an increase in home building. Housing starts, which declined sharply during the recession, rose from 660,000 in 1982 to more than 1 million in 1983.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Housing starts went up another 1.6 percent in April, taking the level of new housing activity to its highest point in a year, the Commerce Department said today.

But building permits showed there could be a slowdown in the near future, dropping 4.9 percent.

Although April's gain in housing starts was not spectacular in itself, it built on the enormous March increase of 14.3 percent and took the annual rate of starts to 1.913 million, seasonally adjusted.

Housing has been the brightest spot in an otherwise lackluster economy, keeping construction employment and production of supplies and materials strong.

The level of housing starts was the highest since April 1984's 1.949 million rate. So far this year the monthly starts figures have averaged 1.823 million, well above 1984's total production of 1.749 million new houses.

The increase was all in multi-family apartments, which increased 5.9 percent while single family starts slipped 1 percent.

And the April increase was accomplished despite a 15 percent decline in starts reported in Midwestern states that trimmed some of progress out of the unusual 58.9 percent explosion of housing starts in that area in March.

Analysts say the totals could be swollen by apartment projects being rushed by developers afraid any tax reform legislation could take away some of the generous tax breaks afforded housing.

In addition, states, counties and cities are hurrying to use up their quotas of tax-exempt mortgage bonds, also afraid the authorization from the federal government will not be renewed.

The major reason why we have good starts is that we have an explosion in the tax-exempt aid to the Afghan refugees this year.

—Retained a recommendation of the Kissinger Commission on Central America to support $1.2 billion a year in economic aid for three years to the region.

—Supported $5 million in aid to the non-communist resistance in Cambodia and called on nations of the region to provide the same type of aid.

—Passed a non-binding amendment by Sen. John Kerry, D-Mass., calling on the Philippines to uphold democratic standards or possibly lose future U.S. aid.

—Led by Lugar, defeated a proposal by Sen. Jeff Bingaman, D-N.M., to delete $100 million from the foreign military assistance fund and channel it into the Food for Peace Program.

—Accepted an amendment by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., denying future military aid to Marxist Mozambique unless it plans to radically reduce the level of Soviet military advisers in the African country.

—Approved providing a minimum $15 million in medicine, clothes and similar supplies to the refugees, who could include guerrillas, fleeing the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan. The State Department plans to provide another $4 million in humanitarian

Senate Passes $15 Billion Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, weary from fights over money for Nicaraguan rebels and President Reagan's budget, has settled for compromise to pass its first comprehensive foreign aid bill in four years.

Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, worried over two days of debate on the $14.8 billion bill that an agreement to avoid crippling amendments might collapse and wreck chances to pass the bill.

Many senators were considering restricting or promoting Reagan's policies in Central America — including Lugar. He planned to strike an amendment by Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., that bans the use of foreign aid for the rebels fighting to overthrow Managua's leftist Sandinista regime.

Lugar and Pell persuaded their colleagues to avoid controversial amendments that could imperil the bill.

With that the bill swept to passage, 75-19.

The administration has said it has no intention of providing foreign aid assistance to the Contras although it seeks a separate authorization of $28 million for them.

Last month Congress denied $14 million to the rebels and Lugar did not want to reopen the divisive debate.

The bill authorizes $14.8 billion in economic and military assistance to foreign countries, an additional $1.5 billion in emergency economic assistance to Israel and $500 million to Egypt.

The bill was $417 million below Reagan's request — economic assistance was reduced $74 million and military aid by $344 million.

Oviedo Man Accused Of Fondling Girl

A 45-year-old Oviedo man has been charged in connection with a sexual assault on an Oviedo girl.

Oviedo police said the man allegedly fondled the girl on April 3 after she stepped out of the shower at her home. The girl and her mother reported the alleged assault to Oviedo police and a Seminole County victim advocate. After the allegations were made the suspect was arrested at his home.

BOTTLE BALLISTICS
 A Winter Park woman accused of hurling a wine bottle through the window of a pizza parlor has pleaded guilty to throwing a deadly missile.

The maximum penalty for throwing a deadly missile is 15 years in prison through the recommended sentence is a year in the county jail.

Creva Lee Lee, of 2500 Howell Branch Road #156, entered the plea before Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. No date was set for sentencing.

According to court records, Marvin Nuesale, manager of a Casselberry Pizza Hut, told deputies that Ms. Lee and two companions created a disturbance, refused to pay their bill and as they stormed out Ms. Lee threw an empty wine bottle through the window of the restaurant on state Road 436 at Howell Branch Road.

The flying glass scratched a man, woman and child sitting near the window, but their injuries were not serious, deputies reported.

The two other women later paid for their food and wine while Ms. Lee was arrested.

Tuesday, said the suspect was known to the victims, who were not identified in the arrest report.

The driver of the car forced into the ditch was injured and there were other passengers in the vehicle including children. They were not hurt, the report said.

The suspect fled the scene and the trooper reported that residents on 13th Street, Sanford, began calling Sanford police to report he man was driving carelessly along that street.

Acting Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said Wednesday he could find no record of those complaints calls, but police assisted the highway patrol in working the accident on Southwest Road.

A highway patrol spokesman said today a complete report of the incident will not be available before Friday.

 An 18-year-old Casselberry man who allegedly tried to pocket his bong, a pipe used to smoke marijuana, when Winter Springs police approached him on Bear Creek Nature Trail, Winter Springs, has been charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Police said the bong was too big to be pocketed and the man handed it over along with a bag of pot when they asked for it at about 7:20 p.m. Tuesday.

Eric Monroe Rasberry of 814 Leopard Trail, has been released on $500 bond. He is scheduled to appear in court May 23.

STOLEN CHECK PAYOFF
 A Sanford woman who allegedly cashed one check stolen from a Sanford church and tried to cash a second has been nabbed by Sanford police and charged with uttering a forged instrument, grand theft and dealing in stolen property.

The first check, one of several stolen from St. John's Missionary Baptist Church, 920 Cypress Ave., was cashed at Park & Shop, 2467 S. Park Ave., Sanford, on May 11, a Sanford police report said.

The suspect was caught at about 10:50 a.m. Tuesday when she returned to the same store and tried to cash another check. Store employees reported the transaction to police and the woman was arrested at the store, the report said.

Embargo-Inspired Fuel Standards In Jeopardy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A decade after the oil embargo prompted Congress to mandate more fuel-efficient cars, the administration wants to take a new look at the miles-per-gallon standards. So do General Motors and Ford.

In 1975, Congress, fearing more oil shortages, approved the Energy Policy and Conservation Act that established fuel economy standards for passenger cars.

The level was set at 27.5 miles per gallon beginning with the 1985 model but gave the Transportation Department leeway to adjust that level in future years.

Now the administration, citing an abundance of oil and a reduction in the price of gasoline, feels it is "appropriate" to re-evaluate the 10-year-old levels.

William J. Silvey, the deputy assistant secretary for policy, planning and analysis for the Energy Department, conceded fuel efficiency improvements have contributed to a savings of one million barrels of oil a day in the last 10 years.

But Silvey told a Senate energy subcommittee, "This does not mean, however, that it is necessary or desirable for the government to mandate efficiency improvements in the transportation sector."

The administration has the strong support of Sen. Don Nickles, R-Okla., chairman of the Senate subcommittee that could initiate any changes in the law.

At a hearing Tuesday, Nickles said, "It seems to me that imposing stiff fines on automakers who fail to meet the standards) and possibly jeopardizing the economic health of an entire industry, is not the road Congress should be traveling now."

General Motors and Ford, anticipating renewed demands for large cars, have filed petitions with the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration to lower the standard for the 1986 models and beyond from 27.5 miles per gallon to 26 miles per gallon. Chrysler is opposed.

Helen Petrauskas, vice president of Ford, said, "Failure to revise the standard would be unfair to consumers... It would also be unfair to full-time manufacturers who have made investments in fuel economy."

"It seems doubly unfair to virtually remove import restrictions and then restrict the most competitive U.S. products," she said, adding that curtailing production would eliminate U.S. jobs and impair Ford's ability to fund future fuel economy improvements.

Marina Whitman, a vice president of General Motors, said there has been a "resurgence in demand for family-size cars."

Unless the standard is lowered, full-time manufacturers, to achieve compliance, face the prospect of restricting product availability, which translates into plant closings, job losses and lower economic growth.

But Robert Miller, an executive vice president for Chrysler, said "We strongly object to any rollback" that would give General Motors and Ford "a completely unearned competitive windfall."

Sanford Cracking Down On Litterbugs

Next time you're tempted to throw that can of half-finished soda out your car window and into a Sanford ditch, think twice. It could cost you a few days in the slammer or a couple hundred dollars.

The Sanford Police Department, after receiving numerous complaints about trash dumping in the city, is cracking down on litterbugs. Acting Police Chief Steve Harriett announced this week that the department would step up patrols in areas where the most complaints have been received and arrest violators of Florida's litter law.

Many of the complaints have come from residents around Sixth Street and the Master's Cove apartment complex near Airport Boulevard, Harriett said in a memo to city commissioners.

Those caught throwing trash, cans, bottles, cigarettes or other smoking materials along the highway, in a lake or stream or on private property will be charged with violating the state litter law, which is a second-degree misdemeanor. If convicted a person may be jailed for up to 60 days and fined up to $500. The person may also be ordered to clean up the area he or she littered.

Harriett conceded in the memo that such efforts in the past have had a "minimal effect" on the problem because officers must observe the litterbug in action to make a case.

"Personnel and time constraints prohibit the police department from being able to watch this continually," he said in the memo.

He recommended that property owners clean their property first and then police would step up patrols to deter further littering.

End Apartheid In America

They live in polluted squatter camps. They toil in factories by day, but at night they are hunted like animals. They produce the crops, but they are not permitted to own the land. They serve in homes but sleep in shacks. They have no rights, no representation in government, no freedom of speech in a land which is a democracy. If they are passive and do their work, they are tolerated by the white elite. But if they organize, they are fired and returned to their homelands. Periodically the owners of the land become appalled by the squatters and bulldoze the camps. Their children, born far from their homelands, are strangers in the new land and strangers in their fathers' land. Generations live in a separate society, serving the main society, but denied its rights and privileges.

These victims of apartheid are not thousands of miles away in South Africa, but here in America. We call them illegal aliens, but their status and their living conditions are not that different from the blacks of Soweto.

Americans are justly incensed by the horrors of apartheid in South Africa. But students protesting against apartheid at U.S. universities are blind to the system of illegal alien farm labor in the United States. Concerned Americans raising money to boycott South Africa are unaware that the waiters and busboys serving them at fundraisers are illegal aliens. The joggers who eat fresh strawberries at the roadside avert their heads from the field workers stooping in the sun, who live in the squatter camps of California and other states.

South African apartheid is evil, a system which dooms that land to despair and bloodshed. But South Africa is at least honest about its separate and unequal society. America is not. An estimated 6 million to 12 million illegal aliens live in this country, picking our crops, working in our sweatshops, an invisible minority.

Yes, many are better off economically than their brothers in their distant villages. So also the blacks of Soweto are better off than those in the impoverished homelands. But the illegal aliens are not free. They live in constant fear of being caught in the wrong place and deported.

And yet they are working for the benefit of employers who know they are illegal, know they have no rights, and exploit them.

Americans want to disinvest from firms doing business with South Africa. But we do not disinvest from farms and factories and restaurants and hotels that hire illegal aliens in America. We maintain a system by which it is legal to hire illegal aliens but illegal for them to work here, a system equal in hypocrisy to the pass laws of South Africa.

Americans look the other way when dealing with their own system of apartheid. And Congress, by its repeated deadlock, has ratified the system of illegal immigration and illegal labor. Some sing of the virtues of illegal labor for the United States economy. They resemble the Afrikaaner apologists for apartheid who turn up a newspapers, arguing the justice of their system, or their predecessors in the American South, the gentlemanly apologists for that benign, Bible-recognized institution, slavery.

Apartheid is racist wherever it exists. It is inhuman in South Africa and inhuman in Southern California. It destroys the moral fabric of our society and leaves a legacy of discrimination and suffering.

But we are blind to it. We point our finger at the South Africans and feel self-satisfied at our enlightened society. While the waiters bring us fresh strawberries picked by illegal aliens living in ravines and hootches. Here, Today.

We have no direct power to halt apartheid in South Africa. But we can and must stop illegal immigration and exploitation here. We must make it illegal for employers to hire illegal aliens. We must offer amnesty to aliens, to bring them out of hiding. We must abolish apartheid in America.

'Cuckoo' Beats No Comment Any Day

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is a great equalizer in the White House press office. Assistant press secretary Mark Weinberg brought from Europe a Black Forest cuckoo clock, which he picked up on an advance trip to Germany to plan the president's journey. The cuckoo bird jumps out every half hour, loudly proclaiming "cuckoo, cuckoo." It beats "no comment."

Reporters were happily surprised at how talkative was the president at times, particularly on the last days of his European journey. In Madrid and Lisbon, he seemed to want to talk, and fielded many of the questions with humor. When told that Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev called him the "forward edge of the war menace," he said in effect, "Look who's talking." But since he returned to the White House, his encounters with the press have gone back to the old controls with reporters going for days without seeing him although he is involved in events on his public schedule they would like to cover.

Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes, who is told when the press can see the president, believes the best defense is offense, taking umbrage at reporters who question the "openness" of the administration.

When wraps are put around a relatively friendly president, reporters know that the aim is to shield him from inevitable questions on the fouled-up terrorist attack in Beirut, the tax reform bill and a host of other issues on the front page.

In Reagan's case, his top aides often have felt better equipped to answer the questions than subjecting the president to them.

Aides say Nancy Reagan intends to travel abroad again — solo this time — as part of her personal crusade against drug abuse among youth.

The countries have not yet been selected. She also is expected to continue her campaign in Asia when Reagan attends the economic summit in Japan next spring.

The first lady wore a glittering mauve beaded gown to the state dinner in Lisbon on the last stop of the president's European tour and for accessories wore huge show-stopping drop earrings of pearls and amethyst. At a press reception before the dinner, she told reporters they were costume jewelry and not the gift of some rich potentate.

Bubble Belly Tribute

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although he claims to have quaffed at least 5,000 different beers the world over, more than any other living person, Howard Hillman rates not so much as a tiny mention in the Guinness Book of World Records.

Statisticians are duly informed that Rosie Schedelbauer, a West German barmaid, established a record, of sorts, in Konice in 1981 by covering 15 meters in four seconds with five full steins in each hand. The brand, or brands, of beer she carried is not given. Nor is there any reference to Hillman's feat among the eight categories of beer superlatives Guinness salutes (speed drinking, mat flipping, etc.).

The latter omission may seem a trifle unfair because in his new book, The Gourmet Guide to Beer, Hillman rates a Guinness product at five mugs, his highest accolade. This tribute does not necessarily mean you can drink five tankards of Guinness with impunity. It is merely Hillman's way of including that brand among the 1,000 or so "quality" beers he has found in the world.

His book rates 500 beers on a scale of 0 to 5 mugs and I was surprised to find the two domestic brands I buy rated at one stein each. The surprising thing was that Hillman deigned to include them at all for he leans to imported beers.

Well, perhaps "leans" is not the proper verb to use in this context. Hillman, nevertheless, regards Ireland, England, Germany and Belgium as the world's "standout" brewing countries.

As that listing indicates, he is not all that crazy about Asian and American beer. Domestic brands, he contends, are too "bland."

I encountered Hillman at a beer-tasting he staged here while on a promotion tour for his book. He having been a wine connoisseur in a previous incarnation, I expected him to substitute "head" for the "nose," or bouquet, that wine critics love to run on about. But he, I noted, uses both terms.

For instance, we are told that Block Horse premium beer has a "malty nose," whereas Brasseurs there has a "pale, tan head."

Other points made by Hillman: —There is no such thing as a "beer belly." Hillman, who has a relatively flat stomach, said abdominal protrusion could more properly be called a "liquid belly."

—Watch for the size of the bubbles. A quality beer generally has small bubbles when poured whereas a mediocre beer that contains an artificial effervescent likely will produce bubbles as large as carbonated soda pop.

FHWA Whistle Blower Shown The Door

By Jack Anderson and Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — A government engineer has been fired because he persisted in a vain attempt to save the taxpayers billions of dollars.

The engineer, Floyd Stanek, was fired last February, after he disclosed his determined efforts to get the Federal Highway Administration to use pre-stressed concrete on federally funded roads. The technique requires far less cement and steel than standard paving methods.

His dismissal notice, which had the sickening flavor of a Soviet political trial, accused him of undermining "the confidence of the public in the integrity of the government."

A report he wrote and sent to Congress "unfairly and injudiciously attacks the origins, legitimacy, integrity and worth of a program endorsed by the FHWA," Stanek's boss wrote.

It's hard to deny that Stanek was injudicious — perhaps even a bit rash. But if anyone was unfair, it

Weighty Decision

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan faces a momentous decision this fall and the consequences could be global.

He has to decide whether the United States will continue to abide by the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty, SALT 2, or stop observing its terms.

The accord, signed by President Jimmy Carter and Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev in Vienna in 1979, was never ratified by the Senate. But when he came into office in 1981, Reagan said he would abide by it. So did Moscow.

Now comes Assistant Secretary of Defense Richard Perle, a hardline neo-conservative, telling Congress that in his opinion it is time for the United States to stop abiding by SALT 2.

In that way, the United States will not have to retire any missiles when it puts the new USS Trident to sea trials in the fall.

Reagan, asked at a London news conference if he agreed with Perle, said, "Everyone has got a right to express in opinion and he was doing no more than that."

But Perle has opposed arms control in most instances, and as a top Pentagon official his "personal opinion" may be reflected in world chancelleries as more than that.

Reagan said there is "considerable evidence" that the Soviets are not adhering to the treaty and that observance is "one-sided." And if that is the case, he said, "then there's no need for us to continue."

He insisted that the United States, despite its own heavy arms buildup and new weapon research, is not violating "or going beyond the terms of that treaty."

About the time that the president was putting the SALT 2 treaty in jeopardy, the Kremlin was saying it intends to abide by it.

was Stanek's superior.

They hired a cement industry association to study the paving technique Stanek had advocated. It was hardly a surprise that the cement manufacturers recommended using substantially more cement than Stanek says is necessary.

Internal agency documents obtained by our associates Corky Johnson and Indy Badwar show that Stanek's bosses were determined to muffle the troublesome whistle blower.

On Dec. 29, 1983, for example, Stanek received a memo from Richard E. Hay, director of highway operations research and development, threatening to charge him with absence without leave if he used government work time to criticize the agency. Among the forbidden activities were "self-initiated media contacts and other discussions and meetings not specifically authorized by FHWA wherein you present your personal views on FHWA activities, policy and procedures."

This was shortly after Stanek forthrightly informed his bosses that our office had contacted him.

In a bizarre interpretation of the situation, Hay accused Stanek of trying to intimidate others. "Attempts to intimidate, involve or implicate your fellow employees by sending them copies of your so-called documents of record... shall cease," the director ordered.

Last June, Stanek drew a two-week suspension for using government time and property to prepare the report he sent to members of Congress.

Last January, officials rifled Stanek's desk and confiscated his computer disks. "The disks were not, as you contend, stolen from the desk in your office," Stanek was informed by memo. "Rather, they were removed from the government desk in a legitimate and appropriate exercise of FHWA's management authority. The disks are in our possession."

How To Educate Engineers

By United Press International
Engineering education in the United States today is characterized by burgeoning undergraduate enrollments, faculty shortages and diminishing numbers of graduate students, according to a government advisory committee.

These problems may put the nation at a disadvantage in global competition, but can be remedied, the National Research Council committee said in a special report on education.

"Inaction would pose risks that should not — and need not — be taken," the report said.

Among the committee's recommendations: raise faculty salaries to the level earned by engineering Ph.D.'s in industry, induce colleges to recruit from among government, industrial and military retirees, and offer more Ph.D. fellowships with stipends equal to at least half the starting salary of a new engineering graduate.

Other suggestions: upgrade equipment and facilities, postpone disciplinary specialization until graduate school and give undergraduates broader exposure to non-technical subjects such as the humanities.

The National Research Council is a branch of the National Academy of Sciences, a private organization that advises congress on technical and scientific subjects.

New Sweetener
The American Chemical Society reports that scientists have come up with a new artificial sweetener that has the taste and low calories of aspartame (NutraSweet) but has greater stability in liquids.

The new sweetener was developed by Dr. Herbert Seltzman and associates at Research Triangle Institute in Research Triangle Park, N.C., as part of a government program to produce sugar substitutes.

Seltzman says the new compound, designated as RTI-001, belongs to the same chemical class as aspartame and is the most promising of 14 similar compounds investigated by the scientists.

Few Earthquakes
The global earthquake death toll was 77 last year — the lowest since 1949 when 80 people died in earthquakes, the U.S. Geological Survey reports. Earthquakes in 1983 killed 2,322 people.

The survey also said only $7 significant tremors — ones that cause casualties or considerable damage — were recorded around the world in 1984. That was down from 70 significant earthquakes the previous year and was the lowest number since 1977 when only 42 were recorded.

the seized disks show that Stanek was intruding in matters that were none of his business. This was reflected in his dismissal notice, which said: "That the FHWA or some other government agency may be concerned with such subject areas, as you have written, does not mean such areas are official duties of Dr. Floyd Stanek. Your official duties are those assigned to you or approved for you by your supervisor."

Stanek was even accused of soliciting a gift or favor from a potential government contractor. Stanek readily acknowledged that, in a letter to the inventor of the paving technique, he asked for advice on raising money to "expose things that are not in the best interest of the nation's highway technology."

Stanek added that he had already spent $1,000 of his own money on one report, in which he claimed he could save the government $300 million. He was not permitted to attend the Transportation Research Board's annual meeting, where he had planned to distribute the report.

Library Land Deal Hits Snag

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

A snag has developed in the plan to purchase a five-acre parcel off the Oxford Road extension near state Road 436 in Casselberry for site of the new Casselberry library.

County Administrator Ken Hooper told county commissioners Tuesday the sellers of the property, a group of developers headed by Norman Rossman, are asking for five changes in the purchase contract for the property.

Hooper said the sellers want to exclude .2 acre of the tract from the sale, and want permission to erect an advertising sign on an adjacent tract and to place a construction trailer for another site on the property. They also want the county accept a special warranty deed in the purchase and are asking the county to grant a utility easement across the property.

He said the county has been demanding a warranty deed because it would guarantee that there are no liens against the property. He said a special warranty deed does not include this guarantee.

The commissioners insisted that it must be given a warranty deed and they refused to exclude any of the property or to allow the sign. They said, however, they would grant the easement as long as it is not through the part of the property where the library building will be constructed or through the proposed parking area.

In other business, the commissioners instructed Hooper to discuss with Altamonte Springs City Manager Phil Penland exactly what the city would like the county to do regarding annexations.

The Altamonte Springs City Commission last week asked the county to reserve an area on the perimeter of its city limits where the county would raise no objections to annexations. The request came after Assistant County Attorney Guy Minter appeared before the city commission warning that the county would challenge in the courts a proposed annexation.

The county has taken three

Seminole cities to court in the past whenever annexations created enclaves — county areas wholly or partly surrounded by city territory. Creating enclaves via annexation is forbidden under state law. The county has successfully challenged a annexations in the past of Heathrow by Lake Mary and of Deer Run in Casselberry as well as the annexation of a small tract in Longwood.

Hooper was told to set up a joint meeting between the county commission and the Altamonte Springs Commission after he clearly understood what the city wants.

Seminole County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff said if the cities continue annexations the county would lose its tax base. Actually persons whose property is annexed to a city must pay both city and county property taxes. The annexed territory, however, is removed from the fire district — the areas where the county may levy a fire tax to support the county fire department.

Landowner Gets Commercial Zoning; Sanford To Repair Marina Boat Ramps

The Sanford City Commission approved on a 3-2 margin a request to rezone a lot on the corner of West 18th Street and French Avenue from single family residential to commercial so the owner can compete with surrounding businesses.

Bobby Jackson, of 107 High St., Lake Mary, said the emergence of new businesses surrounding the property — a convenience store, a mini-warehouse and a hotel — forced him to make the request. He wants to build a business on the lot, although he did not tell the commissioners what type of business he wants to build. A vacant house now stands on the property.

Commissioner David Farr said the lot has a "higher use" than a vacant house, but added he wasn't "thrilled" about a mini-warehouse or hotel going on the property.

Diane Smith, of 1413 Oak Ave., opposed the rezoning because she said a business would create more traffic in the area and aggravate the condition of a stream behind the property. Ms. Smith, who owns property southeast of the lot, said Mill Creek is already filled with trash from commercial dumping.

Jackson said the waterway is a stormwater drainage ditch, but Ms. Smith said it is designated as a stream by the state Department of Environmental Regulation.

Mayor Bettye Smith and Commissioner Robert Thomas voted against the measure.

In other action Monday: The commission voted to repair the public boat ramps at the Sanford Marina. The ramps were closed last month after marina officials said propulsion from the engines of the Star of Sanford dinner cruise ship created five foot dropoffs at the end of the ramps.

The city has filed suit against the Star of Sanford charging it damaged the ramps. But while awaiting action on the suit, Commissioner David Farr said the ramps need to be open again for public use.

City Manager Frank Faison estimated it would cost about $26,500 to repair the ramps but the project will be bid.

City Attorney William Colbert told the commission a judge could hold the city liable for the damages. If so, the city could not collect the cost of repairing the ramps.

The commission filled a vacancy on the city's Board of Adjustment. Gary Schaffer, of 219 Woodmere Blvd., Sanford, received the commission's unanimous approval. Farr nominated Schaffer, citing the "agelessness" he displayed during his recent campaign to clean up his neighborhood.

Schaffer replaces Bob Karns, who resigned earlier this year. The 5-member board hears appeals from developers who cannot meet city building and land use requirements because of natural conditions on the property beyond their control. Members are not paid and serve 3-year terms. Schaffer said it was his first position on a city committee.

FBI Accused Of Setting Up Truck Thefts

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — FBI agents in Kentucky created a five-state crime wave by giving informants a "license to steal" in an undercover sting operation that produced no arrests, a citizens watchdog group said.

The FBI confirmed Wednesday it is investigating the allegations by the Better Government Association of Chicago, but refused to discuss the case.

J. Terrance Brunner, the executive director of the BGA, said FBI agents in Kentucky recruited and trained informers to commit burglaries and peddle the merchandise to suspected "fences."

"They started a one-man crime wave in this area," Brunner said.

Brunner said the BGA had tape recordings of Larry Long, the special agent in charge of the Lexington FBI office, and former Delane Colvin discussing the undercover operation.

The BGA charged that Long authorized Colvin in 1979 to steal a heavy truck from a Louisville Ford dealership and $50,000 worth of equipment from the nearby Cummins Kentuckiana Diesel.

Spring Football

Brinson: Friday's Scrimmage Will Gauge Progress

Spring Football practice at Seminole High School has passed the halfway point. Which means the Fighting Seminoles are two weeks from the May 30 Spring Jamboree and one day from a controlled scrimmage.

First-year head coach Dave Mosure said Friday's 3 p.m. scrimmage will give him a good indication as to how far his boys have progressed. Mosure said he thinks his Tribe is already ahead of the schedule but would like to see the troops whaling on each other Friday afternoon just to reinforce his notion.

Mosure is not one for hollow praise, so when he takes a deep breath and says, "This has been a real positive spring so far," you can believe him. The big question is — how positive for a 6-4 team which must replace 16 of 22 starters?

The returnees are easy to remember. Backs Dexter Franklin and Dennis Lawrence, along with All-Conference tackle Brian Brinson and linebacker Jerry Little head the defense. Guard Carl Tipton and tackle Alan Kendall are the mainstays on offense.

With such a shortage of experience, Mosure is really counting on strong leadership from his veterans. So far, he says he's gotten it. "The attitudes have been real strong," he says. "And the heat has been tremendous. But we haven't cut back on them."

"If we continue to improve week after week and have a good summer of weight training, we're going to surprise some people."

The formation of the new Seminole Athletic Conference should make things interesting. Fittingly, the first SAC championship will be determined in football. All county schools will play one another.

Where do the Seminoles fit? Senior Brinson says somewhere near the top. "Everybody knows we lost quite a few people," says Brinson, who came out of nowhere to be a first team All-County and All-

Conference selection last year. "People say that we don't have the ability of last year. Everybody is telling us it's going to be a rebuilding year."

"But I don't think so. The seniors are determined. We're not looking at it as a building year — but as a winning year."

That's the kind of attitude which impresses Mosure. Brinson, a 5-8 1/2 190-pounder, should again be a force in the middle of the defensive line. Mosure thinks, too, he can be a solid offensive performer at guard.

Brinson says he's giving it his best

"I'm learning the plays all right and I've been throwing the blocks," he says. "I still got a lot to learn but it's coming."

Brinson, because of his stellar junior season, has assumed some of the leadership defensively. He says, however, he's not impressed with his own exploits. "Coach (Mosure) might tell the guys I was All-Conference," says the modest senior. "But I don't brag on myself. I just line up like everybody else. I treat it like I'm a newcomer. If I give it my best effort, they'll do the same for me."

Which Brinson expects to happen Friday. "On scrimmage day everybody has a high intensity attitude," he says. "The defense is looking forward to hitting the offense and the offense is looking forward to hitting the defense. Then, we'll be looking for progress to see how much we've learned from day one."

Brinson says he thinks the Tribe defense, which ranked second in Central Florida last year, will be a strong area. "Our secondary is a strong point with Franklin and Lawrence," he says. "Jerry Little will be good at linebacker. The line has to rebuild but the defense is looking pretty good although we got to shape up in some spots."

Of which defensive tackle is not one of them.

TEPEE TALK — Mosure says this will be the second controlled scrimmage of the year. The defense won the first one, 28-20, which he says surprised him since the defense is usually way ahead of the offense at this time.

Here's the scoring system for Friday.

If the defense stops the offense on four downs, it gets two points; if the defense forces a turnover, it gets three points; if the defense scores, it gets six points.

If the offense gets a first down, it gets one point; if the offense scores, it gets six and conversions are two points; a field goal is three.

Don't Run A 'Fowl' With Law

By Larry Williams
Special to the Herald

It's okay to return a fallen hatchling to its nest, but it would be cruel to take it home with you. It's also illegal.

Every spring individuals "rescue" newborn wildlife from the woods. Almost always such acts of kindness result in the animal's deaths.

People see a fawn or a baby raccoon all alone in the woods and they figure the animal's mother has abandoned it. It is human nature to feel compassion for the animal and try to help it, but the fact is, the animal has a much better chance of surviving if it is left in the wild.

It is unlikely that the mother has abandoned her young. Maternal instincts are extremely strong in wild animals.

A doe might dart across the path of a predator to lure danger away from her newborn fawn. Once she is out of danger, she will return for her fawn.

If someone picks up the fawn before the doe returns, the tiny animal is likely to die from the stress of captivity or from diseases that the newborn can't resist in captivity.

Even if the animal does survive, it is impossible or extremely difficult to ever release it into the wild again. Once an animal becomes dependent on humans for food and protection it becomes an easy target for predators and it may be unable to make the transition from accepting food handouts to searching for sustenance in a wild environment.

Even so, keeping the animal in captivity isn't in the best interest of the animal or the keeper.

For one thing, it is beyond the means of most people to take care of wild animals properly unless they happen to have a zoo. Besides the threat of disease and stress, people tend to forget that any wild animal can be dangerous.

Captive deer have been known to attack their keepers. Wild animals simply don't belong as pets. They rarely adjust to captivity.

Contrary to popular belief, wild birds and animals do not abandon their young when they bear the human scent. Therefore a young bird that falls from its nest can be returned gently and immediately.

But taking the bird home to mature it to adulthood is nearly impossible. No one can do it as successfully as the bird's parents.

Florida laws prohibit possession of native wild animals (except squirrels) without a permit. The maximum penalty for violations is a $500 fine and 60 days in jail.

Dell Abernethy, owner of Osteen Bridge Fish Camp, said the hot weather is taking its toll. "I don't know if the fishing has slowed down or the fishermen have slowed down," said Abernethy.

Frank Dodson, Sanford, caught seven schooling bass Saturday morning.

Lee Esty, Sanford, snagged a 16-pound catfish, reports Dell.

Chuck McIntosh, Sanford, had a nine-pound, one-ounce bass Sunday.

Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith signs a proclamation declaring Tuesday as Seminole High School Boys Track Day as Optimist Club of Sanford President Ernie Butler, left, and Seminole track coach Ken Brauman look on. Brauman's boys won the State 4A

Track and Field Meet Saturday. Sanford's city government, the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce and the Optimists are combining forces to honor the team this Tuesday with a noon luncheon at the Western Sizzlin' in Sanford.

Sanford To Honor Successful Track Teams Tuesday

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Seminole High School's successful track teams get their first taste of the banquet tour Tuesday when they will be the guests of the Sanford city government, the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce and the Optimist Club of Sanford for a noon luncheon at Western Sizzlin'.

The three organizations combined efforts Wednesday and Mayor Bettye Smith proclaimed Tuesday as "Seminole High School Track Recognition Day" for the teams' outstanding showings in last Saturday's state meet.

Coach Ken Brauman's boys won the state title by 17 points over runners-up Hialeah Miami Lakes. It was the second state title in the school's history. The first came in 1966 under the tutelage of coach Dick Williams, former county commissioner.

Coach Emory Blake's girls finished fourth in the state. The Lady Seminoles, who return all but three performers, were just five and one-half points behind state champion Orlando Oak Ridge.

"We're extremely proud of all the competitors," said Mayor Smith Wednesday just before signing the proclamation. "It's a proud moment for them and for the citizens of Sanford. We want to recognize them for the honor they have brought us."

Seminole's boys took 10 players to the state meet and it was the depth which paid off for the championship. Miler Billy Penick and triple jumper Alvin Jones each won individual championships. Leo Peterson accounted for 10 points with second-place finishes in the long jump and triple jump. Frank Barnett finished second in the 120-yard high hurdles.

The mile relay team of Deron Thompson, Louis Brown, Ken Temple and Eric Martin finished second as did the 440-yard relay team of Pat Davis, Brown, Thompson and Barnett. The mile medley team of Barnett, Brown, Thompson and Penick finished fourth. Cliff Campbell competed in the 440-yard dash and was winning with 100 yards to go before he injured his ankle and didn't place.

All told, it added up to 50 points compared to 33 for second-place Miami Lakes.

Glenda Bass, left, and Louis Brown were two of the key members of the Seminole High track relays teams.

Seminole's girls used a state-record performance by Shownda Martin in the 880-yard run, victories in the mile medley relay and mile relay along with a third place in the 440-yard dash by Trina Walker to compile their 31 points.

Freshman Martin's 2:10.2 half mile erased the old mark by over three seconds and brought a standing ovation from the crowd of over 7,000. Sheila Crawford, Glenda Bass, Dorchelle Webster and Walker were on the winning mile medley team. The record-setting mile relay team was composed of Bass, Martin, Webster and Walker. Charita Medlock competed in the long jump and 110 low hurdles but didn't place. Medlock made it to the finals of the long jump but scratched on all three attempts. Catherine "Kitty" Anderson matched her season's best 5-2 in the high jump but didn't place.

Along with the state competitors and Mayor Smith, other honored guests Tuesday with be Bob Hughes, superintendent of schools, Jack Horner, president of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, Wayne Epps, principal of Seminole High School, Jerry Posey, athletic director at Seminole High School, Glenn Erickson, Optimist Governor of the Florida District, Brauman, Blake and Nate Perkins, assistant girls' track coach.

Medlock Leads Girls Into State Heptathlon

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

With one athlete returning for her third try and two more with tremendous all-around talents, Seminole High will be among the favorites in the State Heptathlon Friday and Saturday at Leto High School in Tampa.

Senior Charita Medlock is competing in her second heptathlon (it was the Pentathlon two years ago) while freshmen Shownda Martin and Dorchelle Webster are taking their first crack at it.

The competition gets underway Friday at 4 p.m. with field events followed by running events at 6:30. Saturday's field events start at 9:30 a.m. with the running events starting at 6 p.m.

The heptathlon consists of seven events including the shot put, discus, high jump, long jump, 110 high hurdles, 220 dash and concludes with the 880 run. Athletes will complete three events Friday and the four Saturday.

With the versatility of the two freshmen, and the experience of Medlock, Seminole coach Emory Blake believes this is his best team ever.

"I thought we were stronger going in the year I had Arlene Jones, Charita and Tony Hardy. But, with the bearing the 880 has on the meet, we're going in a little stronger with Shownda and Dorchelle."

With 880 being a key part of the heptathlon the Seminoles' chances are strong. Martin has run a 2:10.2 which won the 4A State 880 title last week and also ranks as the top time in Florida history in the half mile.

If Martin runs around 2:10 in Saturday's race, that will be worth about 1,000 points. It usually takes around 4,700 to win the individual title. Webster is also an excellent half miler.

Along with her 880 prowess, Martin does the 220 in 25.2, high jumps 4-10 and long jumps over 17 feet. The entire Tribe trio does over 17 feet in the long jump. Medlock is also strong in the hurdles.

"Shownda's weakest event is probably the hurdles," Blake said. "She ran them yesterday in practice and did pretty well. She should come out pretty good in the meet."

"Medlock is the veteran."

Track Field

Decathlon.....8A

added Blake. "I'm looking for her to basically carry a lot of the weight."

The highest team finish by the Lady Seminoles was third in 1983 and the Tribe finished fourth last year.

Lake Mary's Lady Rams are looking to improve on their eighth place team finish of a year ago. Lake Mary's trio will be seniors Fran "Flash" Gordon and Sonya Walker and junior Anquetta Whack.

Gordon was 12th individually a year ago with 4,143 points.

"Fran's worst event is the discus," Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson said. "But she has improved in it. I hope she'll be in top 10 this year, that's All State. Maybe even in the top five."

Gordon has done just about everything and does most events well. She is strong in the 880 (she won the event in the heptathlon as a sophomore), the 220 and the hurdles. "Flash" is also capable of going over 17 feet in the long jump and she has high jumped 4-9 this season.

Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks also performed well in the State Heptathlon a year ago with a sixth place finish. Leading the way last year were the Spearman sisters, Rochelle and Michelle. The Spearman's are seniors this year and will look to get Lake Howell a higher ranking in the heptathlon. Both are very versatile athletes with Rochelle's strongest events being the hurdles and long jump. Michelle is the leader in the 220 dash.

Last year's champions, Belle Glade Glades Central, is among the favorites again this year along with Seminole High.

"I think Seminole High would be the team favorite," Gibson said. "Martin could win the whole thing if she does decent in the shot and discus. Most people, like Martin, who are good in the long jump and 220 usually aren't that good in the 880. But she's great in the 880."

Smith Resigns Position

Baseball

Gary Smith, baseball coach at Lake Brantley High School the past two years, said he resigned that position Wednesday.

Smith, 38, became the fifth head coach at Lake Brantley to resign this year. He follows girls basketball coach Renny Betris, girls track coach Jim Marshall, football coach David Tullis and boys basketball coach Bob Peterson.

"My kids are involved in baseball and softball and I want to have a chance to see them play," Smith, who like Betris, Tullis and Peterson, said he wanted to spend more time with his family. "I'm going to miss it. We have a lot of good kids coming back."

Smith also said he wanted to concentrate more of his energy on football where he will work with new coach Fred Almon with the defense. "We've got a lot of work to do with the football team," he said. "I coached with Fred before and I want to do a good job for him."

Smith's two-year record at Lake Brantley was 35-24. His first team won 18 games and finished second to Apopka in the 4A-9 District tournament. This year's team was 17-13.

The Patriots return all but five players, three of which were starters, from this year's squad. "It's a good job," said Smith. "I hope they get a good coach to come in and take over. They should have a great team next year."

Lake Brantley athletic director Bob Peterson said the Patriots will open up the position. "We will be accepting resumes for the next two weeks," said Peterson. "We'll try to make a decision by the first week of June."

Rader Rap: Everything Went Right But Result

United Press International
 With whispers growing that Texas manager Doug Rader will be fired, the Rangers' play demonstrates loud and clear why he is in that predicament.

Texas first baseman Pete O'Brien bobbled Hutch Wynecar's soft ground ball, allowing Dave Winfield to score the winning run in the 10th inning Wednesday as the New York Yankees defeated the Rangers 6-5.

"We were going to throw him (Wynecar) nothing but changeups to get him to hit the ball on the ground, which he did," Rader said. "Everything went right, but the result."

Winfield opened the 10th with a walk off Dave Schmidt, 1-2, stole second and moved to third on Don Baylor's fly to deep left. After Ken Griffey was intentionally walked, Winfield scored on O'Brien's misplay.

"It was a do-or-die play," O'Brien said. "Winfield got a pretty good jump. Even if I get it, I don't know. He's a pretty fast human."

The loss was the Rangers' fifth straight and dropped them to a major-league worst record of 9-22. Owner Eddie Chiles said he was dissatisfied with the team but added that what he intended to do regarding Rader was "no one's business, but the Rangers and the owners of the Rangers."

Texas is 155-191 under Rader since he took over in 1983.

The Yankees, who have already changed managers this season, reached the 500 mark for the first time this year with their fifth victory in their last six games.

Dave Righetti, 2-2, who stopped a Ranger rally in the ninth, earned the victory, giving him a win or save in 11 of the Yankees' 15 victories.

A's 19, Brewers 3
 At Milwaukee, Mike Davis belted two homers, drove in six runs and scored four times, helping the A's to their fourth straight win. Davis now has 12 homers this season. The A's pounded six Brewer pitchers for 17 hits. The 19 runs were Oakland's most in a game since it scored 21 on June 14, 1969.

Royals 5, Indians 1
 At Cleveland, Charlie Leibrandt, 4-2, tossed a six-hitter and Steve Balboni slugged a two-run homer, pacing the Royals. Before a meager crowd of 4,169, Kansas City won its fourth straight while the Indians absorbed their third consecutive loss. Don Schutze, 3-3, was the loser.

Angels 9, Blue Jays 6
 At Toronto, shortstop Tony Fernandez's two-out error prolonged a ninth-inning outburst and Jerry Narron capitalized with a pinch-hit grand slam, lifting the Angels. The Blue Jays' bullpen had a string of 27 2-3 scoreless innings before the six-run avalanche in the ninth.

Mariners 7, Red Sox 1
 At Boston, Mark Langston allowed one hit over seven innings and was supported by back-to-back homers by Gorman Thomas and Alvin Davis, leading the Mariners. Langston, 5-3, walked seven, struck out five, allowing only Marc Sullivan's first major-league homer in the fifth.

White Sox 5, Orioles 2
 At Chicago, Greg Walker's three-run homer with one out in the bottom of the eighth snapped a 2-2 tie and supported Tom Seaver's 292nd career victory. Seaver, 4-1, gave up four hits over eight innings. Don Aase, 4-1, took the loss.

Twins 5, Tigers 3
 At Minneapolis, Randy Bush's two-out bases-loaded single scored Mickey Hatcher with the winning run in the bottom of the 11th inning, lifting the Twins. Curt Wardle, 1-2, won his first major-league game. Aurelio Lopez, 0-2, took the loss.

Randy Bush singled in the bottom of the 11th to drive in a run and lift the Twins past the Tigers Wednesday.

Hoyt Turns Turkey, Cards Feast, 14-4

United Press International
 In a city famous for its zoo, LaMarr Hoyt is pitching like a turkey.

Acquired by San Diego during the off-season as the centerpiece of a major deal with the Chicago White Sox, Hoyt has failed to regain the form that saw him win the 1983 American League Cy Young Award.

He was the victim Wednesday night as the St. Louis Cardinals thrashed the Padres 14-4. Jack Clark blasted a three-run homer to highlight a 15-hit attack and Joaquin Andujar notched his sixth victory.

Andujar, 6-1, pitched 6 2/3 innings, giving up 10 hits, walking one and striking out three.

Hoyt, meanwhile, fell to 2-4 with a performance was reminiscent of the Padres' starters who were rocked in the 1984 World Series. He allowed eight runs while getting only three outs.

"I've had pitchers who have first-inning trouble, and I've told them just to go out and pitch like it was the second inning," San Diego manager Dick Williams said.

The problem with that advice for Hoyt

N.L. Baseball

was that there barely was a second inning.

"I don't know if it affected him," Williams said, "but LaMarr was sitting on the bench a good seven minutes before the start of the game. Maybe he should have been warming up."

Clark, who has hit a home run in each of the seven parks he's played in this season, drove in four runs. Andy Van Slyke knocked in three runs and Terry Pendleton drove in two.

St. Louis took a 6-0 lead in the first. Willie McGee, Tommy Herr, Ozzie Smith and Andujar had RBI singles and Clark had a run-scoring double. The sixth run was scored on a throwing error by second baseman Tim Flannery.

Braves 3, Phillies 2
 At Atlanta, Terry Harper drilled his second homer of the season with none out in the bottom of the 10th, lifting the Braves. Harper led off the 10th by cracking an 0-1 pitch over the left-field fence off reliever Kent Tekulve, 2-1.

Braves reliever Bruce Sutter, 2-0, earned the victory.

Pirates 3, Giants 2
 At San Francisco, Jason Thompson drew a bases-loaded walk off Scott Garrels, 2-2, with one out in the ninth to lift Pittsburgh. Don Robinson, 2-0, pitched two hitless innings of relief for the victory.

Reds 2, Expos 1
 At Montreal, Joe Price, starting because Cincinnati ace Mario Soto had a sore right elbow, tossed a three-hitter over eight innings to pace the Reds. Price, 1-0, making his first start of the season, walked two and struck out eight. Pete Rose had two hits and needs 69 to break Ty Cobb's all-time career mark.

Tim Lincecum, who had five straight hits going into the game, was 0 for 4. Raines returned to action after missing two games with a sprained left wrist.

Mets 5, Astros 3
 At Houston, Danny Heep hit his first homer and Dwight Gooden improved to 6-1 to lift New York. Gooden allowed eight hits in 6 1/3 innings, walking two and striking out one. Jesse Orosco went 2-2-3 innings for his fifth save. It was the Mets' eighth victory in their last nine games.

Gerald Perry, left, unloaded a two-run homer to tie the game in the ninth inning and Terry Harper ripped a solo shot in the 10th as the Braves nipped the Phillies, 3-2, Wednesday.

Thompson Leads Trio Into State Decathlon

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

TAMPA — They call the Olympic decathlon champion "The Greatest Athlete in the World." That's because it takes everything to be a great decathlete. Speed, strength, coordination, leaping ability and stamina.

After winning the 4A State Track Championship this past week, Seminole High will go for the State Decathlon gold Friday and Saturday at Lelo High in Tampa. The decathletes will compete in 10 events, five on each day, including the shot put, discus, long jump, high jump, pole vault, 100 yard dash, 120 high hurdles, 220 dash, 440 dash and mile run.

The meet will start Friday at 4 p.m. with field events with running events starting at 6:30. Saturday's field events start at 2 p.m. Each team will have three competitors whose scores will be added up. All classifications (1A, 2A, 3A, 4A) compete on the same level for the decathlon title.

Seminole's trio, Frank Barnett, Leo Peterson and Deron Thompson competed in last year's Decathlon Competition and took home a fourth place finish. With those three back again, Seminole's chances are strong. The only thing holding the Tribe back could be its little work in the decathlon this season.

"We haven't worked as much on it this year," Seminole coach Ken Brauman said. "With the cancellation of the Five Star (decathlon) and with us being in contention for the state track title, we haven't paid that much attention to it."

Thompson was the leader of the decathlon trio last year as he finished fourth individually. Barnett was 10th with Peterson further back.

"Deron's probably a little more well rounded in all the events," Brauman said. They're skilled in different areas. In the decathlon, if you're good in the sprints you've got it made. The tables are weighed heavily in favor of sprinters."

Thompson and Barnett are both strong sprinters and Barnett is the best in the hurdles. Peterson excels at the long jump and is also the team's top high jumper. One event that a lot of athletes have problems with if they're not familiar with it is the pole vault. Both Thompson and Peterson have cleared 10 feet in the pole vault.

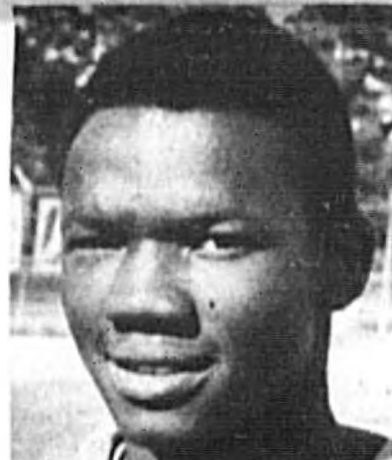

Lake Mary's Rams will not have a team score but will take two competitors to the State Decathlon. Billy Caughell and John Ames.

Caughell is strongest in the shot and discus but has good speed for a big man. Ames is a good sprinter and excels in the hurdles.

"I expect Caughell to score a lot if his leg holds up," Lake Mary coach Mark McGee said. "For a big guy he has good flexibility and speed. The biggest thing he might struggle with is the hurdles."

"Ames had done the decathlon the last couple years so he has the experience," added McGee. "He's been out every day practicing just about everything."

The state of Florida first held the State Decathlon Championships in 1968 and, for the past

Deron Thompson is called the Tribe's most well rounded athlete by coach Ken Brauman.

13 years, it has been dominated by the Tampa Bay area schools. Those schools don't necessarily win the individual titles, but they seem to breed enough decathletes to take home the team crowns.

Since 1971, Tampa area schools have won 11 of the 13 championships. Winter Garden West Orange broke up Tampa's reign by surprising almost everyone to take the 1984 decathlon title.

"Some of those people in the Tampa area work on it a little more than others," Brauman said.

One of the individual favorites will be Courtney Hawkins of Lake Worth. John L. Leonard, along with being a good sprinter, Hawkins also excels in the hurdles and pole vaults. 13 feet Michael Timpson of Bialeah Miami Lakes, would be among the favorites but he has indicated he won't compete for the decathlon title.

"Frank (Barnett) talked to Timpson and he said he wasn't going," Brauman said. "Hawkins will probably be the favorite."

Cox 2-Hits Elks; Ball Takes Lead

Baseball

Ball Motor Line may have gotten its big break Wednesday in its hunt for the Sanford Junior League second half title. While Ball right-hander Ronald Cox tossed a two-hit shutout at Elks, Knights of Columbus knocked off Moose to leave Ball Motor in sole possession of first place.

Ball Motor improved to 4-0 in the second half with the win while Moose fell to 2-1 and Elks to 1-3. Knights of Columbus joined Moose in second place at 2-1.

Cox was at his overpowering best Wednesday as he struck out 12 and walked four in a 7-0 victory for Ball Motor Line over Elks at Chase Park.

The only hits for Elks were Karl Carter's single in the second and Willie McCloud's double in the sixth. On the other hand, Ball Motor rapped out eight hits off a pair of pitchers.

Ball scored three runs in both the third and fourth innings to sew up the win. In the third, Jimbo Lucas smacked an RBI double while Cox added a run-scoring single. In the fourth, Lucas stroked another run-scoring double and John Hendricks ripped an RBI single.

Lucas was 3 for 3 for the game to lead Ball Motor at the plate while Burnette Washington was 2 for 3. Leadoff man Kevin Nathan was 1 for 2 with four stolen bases.

Elks had a couple scoring opportunities but Cox closed the door on them. In the second, Carter led off with a double, stole second and third, but Cox struck out the next hitter, got Ty Koke to hit into a groundout to third and struck out Robert Miller. In the sixth, McCloud socked a one-out double and stole third but Cox whiffed the next two hitters to end the threat.

BRINSON TOSSES 5-HITTER
 In Wednesday's first game at Chase Park, Dwight Brinson fired a five-hitter and was backed by a 12-hit offensive attack as the Knights of Columbus upended Moose, 8-4.

Moose jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the top of the first on Scooter Leonard's RBI single but the Knights answered with three in the bottom of the inning. Ray Williams led off with a single, stole second and third, and scored on Ron Coffield's base hit. Coffield also stole second and third and scored on brother Bobby Coffield's single. Derrick Fritton's two-out double drove in Bobby Coffield with the third run.

Moose battled back to tie the score at 4-4 going into the bottom of the fifth when Tim Thomas' triple drove in Anton Reid with the go-ahead run. The Knights then tacked on three runs in the sixth to tee the win.

Williams led the way for K of C with three hits while Ron Coffield, Bobby Coffield and Fritton added two each. Leonard had two of the five hits for Moose.

First Federal ran its league-leading record to 11-0 Wednesday with a 17-7 rout of Sunland in Sanford Little National League action at Bay Avenue Field.

First Federal pounded Sunland pitching for 14 hits. Joe Wiggins led the way with a single, double, triple and four RBIs. Mike Dillon was 2 for 3 with a grand slam homer. Andrea Williams was 2 for 2 and scored five runs while Alonzo Brundidge also added two hits.

Wiggins went the distance on the mound and was rocked for 10 hits, but he pitched out of a number of jams. Ned June and Eric Wynn had three hits each for Sunland while Quinn Byrd added a pair of singles.

BIG 5TH LIFTS POPPA JAY'S
 A six-run fifth inning paved the way for a 10-7 victory for Poppa Jay's over the Railroaders Wednesday at Fort Mellon Park.

Key hits in the big inning for Poppa Jay's included Demetrius Plesley's solo homer, a two-run triple by Mike Thomas and an RBI double by George Martin.

Poppa Jay's took a 10-2 lead into the bottom of the fifth when the Railroaders erupted for five runs. The first run came on Lorne Jones double. Then, after two walks, Jimmy Caraway blasted a grand slam homer to pull the Railroaders within 10-7. Reliever Maurice Fisher got out of a jam in the bottom of the sixth to preserve the win for Poppa Jay's.

IN BRIEF

Lyman Names Mandy, Henley As Best Athletes For 1985

Sheila Mandy, who excelled at volleyball, soccer and track, and Mike Henley, a standout performer in football and baseball, were honored as the Lyman Female and Male Athletes of 1985, respectively, at the Lyman High School spring athletic awards Tuesday.

Mandy, a junior, was an All-County performer in volleyball and soccer. She was a key member of the Lady Greyhounds' state-championship soccer team. For the second straight year, Mandy, a forward, was an all-stater. She ran the sprints and relays for the track team.

Henley, meanwhile, was an All-County first-team linebacker and was Lyman's hottest hitter down the stretch when it won the District 4A-9 baseball tournament. The senior outfielder finished with a .359 batting average.

Henley will play football this fall at the University of Pennsylvania.

Also honored Tuesday were four-year letter winners Kim Faulkner (tennis), Amy Lister (tennis), Jamie McNamee (tennis), Valerie Price (softball), Riane Richardson (softball), Jay Dittmer (golf) and Sheri Kershner (golf).

Most valuable players were Krister Kaiser (softball), Matt Breen (golf), Kershner (golf), Eric Hochman (tennis) and Faulkner (tennis). Steve Grundorf, a distance runner, received the Adam DeMino Humanitarian Athletic and Scholarship award.

NAACP Attacks Memphis State

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — The Memphis branch of the NAACP has attacked Memphis State University for the lack of attention it gives black athletes.

The school's basketball program, which finished 27-3 this year and was ranked fourth in the nation, is also currently under scrutiny in a federal gambling investigation.

The NAACP charged Tigers basketball coach Dana Kirk with ignoring his players' problems and said its own investigation showed Memphis State fails to give enough academic help to black athletes.

"We fail to see how a head coach with such disregard and lack of concern for his players should be continued to that position," the NAACP wrote university president Thomas Carpenter.

Maxine Smith, executive secretary of the NAACP, suggested Kirk should be fired.

"If he does not have time to answer their questions, to deal with them in any way ... then we need a new coach," Smith said.

Kirk defended his program.

"We haven't had any problems with anybody. Everybody (athlete) that's started has finished," Kirk said. "We've had one transfer in the last four years, and that's a tribute to our program."

Draw Decides Preakness Plan

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The strategy of early Preakness Stakes favorite Chief's Crown could be decided by the result of today's draw.

If speed merchant Eternal Prince draws an inside post for Saturday's 110th Preakness, it will further enhance his trainer John Lenzini's plan to imitate the wire-to-wire style that lifted Spend a Buck to victory in the Kentucky Derby.

An inside position for Eternal Prince could force Chief's Crown trainer Roger Laurin to order that his horse try to challenge early for the lead in the 1 3/16 mile race, the shortest of the Triple Crown races.

However, Laurin is not revealing details of the strategy he will use for Chief's Crown.

"Absolutely not," Laurin said when asked if he had made any decisions yet. "We won't even do that until Saturday afternoon. You can't all of a sudden change because of one race."

That race was the Kentucky Derby, where favored Chief's Crown placed third and never seriously threatened the winner, Spend a Buck.

Spend a Buck has not entered the Preakness because owner Dennis Diaz has opted to chase a possible $2.6 million purse in the May 27 Jersey Derby.

Wylde Show Biz Struts Stuff

He's 2 for 2 and counting. Can he win more than 12 straight? Can he break his own record of 17 wins in a season? Can he qualify for the $10,000 Sprint Championship starting on Friday — and if he does can he win it like last year's winner All-America My Unicorn?

Only time can give us these answers, but if what happened Saturday night is any criteria, the answer to all these questions is a resounding, yes, barring an unforeseen injury.

Before the largest crowd (3,642) ever at Seminole Greyhound Park, Wylde Show Biz took the measure of My Unicorn and a classy field by winning in the best 5/16 time (30.63) of the season. Wylde Show Biz showed mid-season form and proved that he is an All America.

Breaking from the four hole, he was out first and was leading at the 1/8 by one length in the stretch he lead by five and won by nine and one-half lengths. Char Nicholas closed with a rush and closed out My Unicorn for second.

After 12 performances the track handle is up 25 percent and the attendance is up 20 percent. — Hap Ison

Bayhead Hits Ace With Anderson

By Larry Castle
Special to the Herald

It was only a couple of months ago that I had the unpleasant task of writing about the closing of one of the top tennis clubs in the area, the Altamonte Springs Inn and Racket Club.

Along with the closing of this club, one of the top teaching pros in the area was out of a job. Tim Anderson had given a lot to his time to the club and had, indeed, made it into one of the very best in Central Florida.

There was a large and active member, and, of course, all were very sad to see this fine club close down. Tim was a bit disillusioned with it all and for a short time even considered getting out of tennis.

That did not happen fortunately. Tim Anderson is back in tennis and the people in the Sanford-Lake Mary area are going to be glad of it because Tim has been named the pro at the Bayhead Racquet Club.

When Bayhead hired Tim they got one of the best and most innovative teaching pros around. Long known for his enthusiasm and down right hard work, Tim has also come up with some of the most clever and unusual ways of promoting tennis at his club that you have ever seen and I believe that the members at Bayhead are in for a real treat when they get involved with some of Tim's programs.

Of course he is also an excellent tennis teacher and will be giving private lessons, group lessons, and clinics for all ages. One really big bonus for the club with the hiring of Tim will be a very good and completely stocked pro shop. Also racket stringing and gripping with be offered.

Tim is 33 years old and he and his wife, Joy, live in Winter Springs. They have a two-month-old daughter and her name is Abby. A graduate of the University of Florida, Tim started his tennis teaching career at the Americana Racket Club in 1974. He was at the Americana from 1974 until 1979.

In 1979, Tim took over as the head pro at the Red Carpet Inn in Altamonte Springs. The name of the motel-tennis club was later changed to the Altamonte Springs Inn and Racket Club and the word started to get around that this was "the" club to play and practice your game. Tim had made the club into a very warm and fun place to play.

All levels of players from top high school and college stars to rank beginners found Tim's club a great place to play. There was a program for everyone and a player of any level or skill could find a game.

Tim helped many of the local high school players develop their games. Such top-notch players as Joey Perry, Ron Roamin, Chris Meyer and Brian Morrissey practiced under Tim's guidance. Tim and wife Joy also helped out the local college teams and on several occasions held fund-raising tournaments for SCC and Rollins.

In fact, on one occasion they raised over $1,000 in only three days for the SCC program. Even now, when many of the former SCC, Rollins, or Valencia tennis players come back to the area to visit they make sure that they call or go by and see Tim and Joy.

I've known Tim Anderson a long time and I feel that Bayhead did itself proud by landing this young man. We wish Tim and Joy the very best in their new venture and commend the folks at Bayhead for their choice.

Nightclub Owners Deny Trafficking

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The operators of two popular Pittsburgh nightspots have denied any knowledge of any drug trafficking by National League baseball players at their establishments.

Sports Illustrated magazine said in its May 20 issue that players met dealers and negotiated cocaine purchases at Chauncey's and Houlthian's, both in Station Square, and at Michael J's tavern in the Banksville section.

The magazine said the transactions were uncovered by federal investigators as part of a two-year probe of drug trafficking involving major leaguers. Sports Illustrated said between 20 and 30 players have been questioned.

Some players spent "tens of thousands of dollars" a year in Pittsburgh drug deals, the magazine said. Transactions also took place in a parking lot near Three Rivers Stadium and in hotel rooms.

James Ecker, a lawyer who represents Chauncey's owners, called the article "ludicrous" and "patently unfair."

Two of Chauncey's managers, Kevin Wade and Dave Tomsko, acknowledged that baseball players and other professional athletes frequent the nightspot but said they have never seen any drug transactions in the establishment.

Former Pasco Sheriff Acquitted Of Illegal Compensation Charges

DADE CITY (UPI) — Former Pasco County Sheriff John Short was acquitted late Wednesday of two counts of accepting unlawful compensation.

A Pasco County Circuit Court jury of five men and one woman deliberated just under two hours before finding Short innocent. He had faced up to 10 years in prison if convicted.

Short was accused of making millionaire John Moorman a special deputy and giving him special privileges in return for unauthorized compensation.

The charges stemmed from Moorman's purchase of Short's sailing travel agency and from Short's purchase of Moorman's house for $60,000, a house he sold 18 months later for $133,000.

Prosecutors charged that Short benefited from the deals and, in exchange, appointed and maintained Moorman as part-time deputy.

Short was removed from office by the governor after he was indicted, and was defeated in a bid for re-election last fall. His indictment followed a series of stories by the St. Petersburg Times dealing with the manner in which Short operated the sheriff's department. Times reporters Lucy Ware Morgan and Jack Reed were awarded the 1985 Pulitzer Prize for investigative reporting for the series.

Pajcic Quits Job To Campaign

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — State Rep. Steve Pajcic, a Jacksonville Democrat running for governor, plans to cut his legislative term in half next month and leave the House to work full time on his statewide race.

Pajcic said Wednesday all public officeholders should give up their current jobs when they make a firm commitment to run for another post, even though the state's "resign to run" law may not require it.

Senate President Harry Johnston, D-West Palm Beach, the apparent target of Pajcic's ploy, said he has no plans of stepping down. Johnston announced his candidacy for governor last month and promised to run the Senate as non-politically as possible — but said he would not resign.

The 1970 "resign to run" law is designed to keep public officials from using one office as a stepping stone toward another.

But Both Bodies Back Down On Education Reforms

House, Senate Pass Different Budgets

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida House and Senate passed different versions of a new $14 billion state budget but both want a retreat from some of the educational reforms adopted last year.

The two houses next will appoint a conference committee to begin bargaining on the differences in the spending plans (SB 1300 and HB 1380) for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Both budgets adopted Wednesday call for giving teachers a 6.5 percent pay raise.

The Senate, on a voice vote, adopted an amendment sponsored by Sen. Betty Castor, D-Tampa, suspending further designation of "master teachers" who will receive a $3,000 salary bonus this summer. The lawmakers put up $19 million for the controversial program last year but problems in statewide testing and conflicts in personnel evaluations of teachers held down the number qualifying for the extra money.

The House beat a different retreat route from last year's ambitious classroom incentive plan, which had been under fire by teacher unions. The unions said personal biases of school principals and judgment variables in teacher testing would foredoom any merit pay plan.

The House version of the budget would take $10 million from the "merit schools" program — which the Senate decided only to study — and a like amount from the budget for extending the school day to seven hours.

Both versions of the budget would put about $20 million more into the general teacher pay raise pot, to give all teachers a 6.5 percent raise next year rather than 6 percent.

Aside from the 6 percent general pay raise for teachers, other items in the Senate budget would provide a $28 million increase in state child care programs, $3.4 million more for community care of the elderly and a 3 percent increase in aid to families with dependent children, the state's basic welfare stipend.

The House spending plan includes provisions to hire new Marine Patrol officers, increase Florida Highway Patrol pay, boost funding of child care programs and provide lawyers for death row inmates under death warrants.

Reporting on the master teacher program Tuesday, the Department of Education announced that 6,198 teachers had been evaluated in the upper one-fourth among their peers. In personnel reviews run by school principals. That was 135 fewer than the maximum number authorized by the Legislature last year — and written tests in each teacher's individual topic are still to be graded and figured into the total.

Castor estimated that no more than 1,500 to 2,000 teachers may ultimately get the salary bonuses.

Sen. Curtis Peterson, D-Lakeland, tried to delete all the "master teacher" money from the budget and transfer the money to the teacher pay raise pot. The Castor amendment softened that, leaving money for those teachers who "survive" the current testing flap, while transferring the rest of the money to the pay raise fund.

"Senators, all over Florida, your teachers have been humiliated," said Peterson. "They've been ashamed and disgraced. They're looking for somebody to blame and they're looking right at you."

Critics in both houses said Florida's "Teacher of the Year" did not qualify for the master teacher designation and one of the teachers nominated for NASA's space shuttle flight next year also failed to qualify.

...Crooms

● There is much unused room at Goldsboro in which new buildings and facilities can be built.

● Goldsboro has a better media center and a better auditorium than Crooms.

● Crooms does not meet elementary school students' needs.

"The black and white communities are working together and it's a good feeling," Connor said. "We're sitting down and we're talking. We're getting things done. Don't close Goldsboro. Let's work it out; we can find a way."

Hughes told the board they must decide what to do with Crooms before the court forces them to make a decision. The school was specified in the federal court's 1970 desegregation order for Seminole Schools and how it is to be used still come under the court's jurisdiction. In 1970 the court specified it was to be used to house the 9th grade of Seminole High School. Two years ago the 9th grade was incorporated into the student body housed at Seminole High.

Hughes said he favored the alternative education proposal. "I think that deserves a lot of consideration," Hughes told the board.

Arnold said that a survey done by state officials is needed to prove that a middle school is needed before state funds can be used and the board can act on that option. "At this time it would be difficult to justify turning Crooms into a middle school because of declining enrollment," Arnold said.

Board Chairman Nancy Warren told the crowd that student population is increasing in the high school and elementary school levels but not in middle schools.

Board member Pat Telson

evoked a loud round of applause when she told the crowd that she would like to see both schools remain open. "There is so much growth, we need to look at every facility," Telson said.

Board member Bill Kroll said he was not in favor of turning Crooms into an elementary school because it would cost too much money. He favored renovating Goldsboro instead.

"I will not vote to move Goldsboro anywhere," Board Member Jean Bryant said. And the audience again applauded.

With the options of moving Goldsboro gone and making Crooms a middle school costly, Hughes said there was nothing left to do with Crooms except use it as the Alternative Education Center proposal which brought a firestorm of protests.

"The school will not be a dumping ground for bad students and bad administrators," Warren said. She explained that if Crooms is made into a school of Alternative Education that it would draw students from middle schools and high schools throughout the county who have trouble fitting in to regular school.

As of yet there is no curriculum established for an alternative education center. Kroll recently toured the state looking at how other counties operate their alternative education centers. "Dr. Crooms was an innovator. This is a chance for this community to have an innovative school," Kroll said. "It's the only choice this board really has," he said.

He said Crooms could be a school of choice which could offer a broad curriculum to students who are just not making it in regular school. "It would give students a chance to have teachers address their specific needs and spend more time with them," Kroll said.

Kroll said that if Crooms is made into an alternative education center, it would help those students whose needs are not being met.

All the others are free except UNWRA information officer Alec Collett, a Briton and another American, Peter Kilburn, a 60-year-old librarian at the American University of Beirut, Islamic Jihad warned "for the last time" that relatives should pressure the U.S. government to secure the release of Moslem extremists imprisoned in Kuwait for a series of bombings against French and U.S. targets in 1983.

"The release of our brothers in Kuwait means to us the release of all your relatives in custody," said Jihad in a typewritten statement in Arabic.

"We are quite sure that the Kuwaiti rulers, who are the agents of America and the Zionists who occupied Palestine, are not capable of rejecting the demand of your governments which control these agents," it said.

"Raise your voices against the criminal America ... and we will release the detainees in our custody and if you do not there will be no more dialogue between us.

"We warn you that any contact between you and your kidnapped relatives will be cut and that the punishment will be a horrible disaster in case you do not act seriously in this respect and pressure your governments to intervene and set (our brothers) free," the statement said.

Islamic Jihad previously claimed responsibility for kidnaping the six. It had provided a video of Buckley in January but Wednesday's photographs were the first confirmation of the five others.

The group claimed responsibility for several attacks in Beirut, including the Oct. 1983 bombing of the Marine headquarters that killed 241 U.S. servicemen and the April 1983 suicide bombing of the U.S. Embassy in which at least 63 people died.

SCCA Ends Season With Trio; Names New Board

A record crowd attended the final concert of the season presented by Seminole Community Concert Association at the Lake Mary High School Auditorium May 6. According to SCCA subscribers, The Canterbury Trio was a favorite of the season for many.

The brilliant American musicians displayed their individual virtuosity in a perfect blend of melodious chamber music. Violinist David Cerone, Cellist Jennifer Longham, and pianist Ann Epperson are accomplished artists in their own right who have earned special recognition as soloists both in the United States and abroad.

At the conclusion of the excellent lyrical performance there was an immediate rousing standing ovation followed by an encore of a familiar melodious Fritz Kreisler number.

At intermission, a short business meeting was conducted by President George Foster. The following officers and board members were ratified by the members to the Seminole Community Concert Association.

New officers for 1985-86 are: Annette Wing, president, Marla Norman, vice president, publicity chairman; Randy Kelly, vice president, stage arrangement chairman; Craig Orseno, vice president, membership chairman; Pat Foster, secretary; and Marian Rethwill, treasurer.

New board members are: Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Coleman, the Rev. and Mrs. Leo King, Mrs. S.W. Fleming (Mickey), Mrs. James Lash (Dolores) and Walter Stockton.

Continuing for last year as board members are: Shirley Mills, Mable Piety, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Meade Cooper, Katherine Doucher, Joe Liebert, Jean Boyd, Lourine Messenger, Virginia Burney, the Rev. and Mrs. Archie Buie III and James Thomas.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, outgoing President George Foster was presented a plaque of appreciation on behalf of the Board of Directors by Annette Wing.

Following the concert the association and artists joined in for a gala reception. An arrangement of fresh seasonal multi-colored flowers interspersed with fern and ivy, donated by the Sanford Flower Shop, center the table. The long banquet table was overlaid with an exquisite Army-Navy cloth. Fruit punch was poured from an antique crystal punch bowl at one end of the table and a silver punch bowl at the opposite end.

The talented board members furnished delicious home-made finger foods. According to the new president, "Everyone raved over the delicious strawberries dipped in chocolate sauce, the pecan tarts, chocolate chip cookies, and the fresh vegetables with horseradish dip, to name only a few."

The reception was highlighted by the genial, vivacious artists who mingled among the members, Mrs. Wing said.

Lourine Messenger, outgoing membership chairman, and Craig Orseno, incoming membership chairman, signed up a large number of the members and their guests for the outstanding upcoming 1985-1986 season.

The Seminole Community Concert Association proudly presents the Myron Floren Orchestra as the highlight of next year's season. Mrs. Wing said. For membership subscription, contact Craig Orseno at 331-766. Subscription prices remain the same as last year. # Minister Says Unity Is Christianity's Purpose

DEAR ABBY: As a minister of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), I want to applaud your response to "Cut Off in Virginia," whose son-in-law has forbidden her and her minister husband from visiting their home. You said, "Until you respect your daughter's right to religious freedom, forget about your 'rights' as a grandparent. You have none." Good for you!

Dear Abby

Christ in the United States and Canada, conveying the same message.

However, not all my readers agreed with me. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: Your curt response to the grandparents who told their son-in-law that his son was going to hell indicates that you are as intolerant as you accused these grandparents of being.

If you were in a burning building, would you be insulted by a warning from a fellow man? The intent of religious zealots is not to insult, but to warn. It would behoove us all to examine and re-examine our beliefs. For just because the Constitution of the United States guarantees us freedom to worship God in any manner that we choose, it does not guarantee that God will be pleased with that choice.

We must put aside the popular misconception that as long as we are sincere, we'll be pleasing to Him. Many, many examples in the Bible show that He wants "Cut Off's" letter indicates a lack of understanding of both the Gospel and the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ). Sure we believe in "believers baptism" and understand that to be immersion. However, we have never claimed to be the only Christians, and have worked to bring the unity of Christ's people, recognizing all Christians, whatever the denomination, to be brothers and sisters in Christ.

I can only pray that "Cut Off" will someday be able to ask the forgiveness of her daughter and son-in-law and come to know their love and the love of the grandson.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WAITING TO HEAR: According to Anne Harrison Clark, national director of public affairs for the March of Dimes, in response to my suggestion that readers send a dollar to President Reagan for his birthday for the March of Dimes, approximately $48,500 was raised.

Most well-wishers sent a dollar, but some sent two or three (one for each of their healthy children, they explained). A Texas woman, apparently gung ho for the March of Dimes and President Reagan, sent a check for $500!

Mrs. C.F. Greene, Liberty Love Day chairman, was presented a small Statute of Liberty insignia. Mrs. Talamadge Wiley reported on the activity of many members in knitting and crocheting articles for Veterans Hospitals.

The two delegates to Continental Congress, Regent Mrs. E.P. Kelly and Mrs. Paul Mikler, gave accounts of the recent Continental Congress. A large poster with pictures and articles taken from The Washington Post was displayed by Mrs. Mikler. She described the color and pagantry of the opening ceremony as "most impressive," according to Frances Lyons.

Regent Kelly gave some highlights of the events of the Congress which were "educational, inspiring and enlightening," Mrs. Lyons says.

Regent Mrs. Kelly was one of the hostesses for the Florida tea which honored dignitaries of the State of Florida as well as DAR.

Homage was paid to the memory of General Douglas MacArthur with the U.S. Army Band paying special tribute, the regent said.

All in all it was a memorable occasion for both delegates on their first visit to Continental Congress and both came back fired with enthusiasm and pride in all the work done by NSDAR.

As Regent Mrs. Kelly so aptly put it "We are all volunteers and work for God, home and country."

Old Americans Month

Forty Niners Conduct Health Fair

May 15 "Old Americans" month. In keeping with this thought the Forty Niners (over 50) group of the First Presbyterian Church of Sanford participated in a Health Fair detailing community services available to "older Americans."

The Fair was presented by Ouida Stacey Barrineau, family nurse practitioner and nurse educator at the Central Florida

Community Center. Mrs. Barrineau introduced representatives of various groups offering services needed by senior adults.

Rick Cantrell, representing the Central Florida Blood Bank, noted that the bank dispensed 250,300 pints of blood per day to seven county area hospitals — over 100,000 pints last year. There are 15 branches of the blood bank in the seven county area, plus four mobile units. Only 5% of those eligible in Florida donate blood, yet 60% or 6 out of every 10 people will need blood sometime during their lives. Cantrell urged community support to meet this demand.

Linda Giddens said that Citrus Home Health Care, formerly Bay Area health care, provides nurses, therapy and intermittent skilled care in the home. Sun Home Health Care puts nurses, aides, and homemakers in homes. There is also a "Tuck in" service. Helpers arrive about an hour before bed time to perform such services as may be required at this particular time of day.

Nancy Edwards, director of education at the Central Florida Regional Hospital, mentioned various support groups that will be meeting during ensuing weeks: diabetic classes for diabetics, a diabetic support group for diabetics and their families, "I Can Cope" for cancer patients and families, a cancer support group and stop smoking classes.

Mrs. Barrineau stated that the Central Florida Community Center, formerly the Migrant Clinic, operates on a sliding fee basis and is open to everyone.

Following the Fair, refreshments were served and the group was entertained by the Dixieland Cloggers from Lake Mary under the direction of Sarah Lyons. Cloggers were: Michel Lyons, Michelle Lyons, Emily Lyons, Emily Mero, Haley Binger and Lisa Lee.

Health Investigators Want To Know Why

Sugar Town Has World's Highest AIDS Rate

BELLE GLADE, Fla. (UPI) — Federal and state health sleuths have launched an investigation to learn why a small community in the heart of Florida's sugar cane belt has the world's highest AIDS rate.

To date, 37 of Belle Glade's 16,500 residents have been diagnosed as having acquired immune deficiency syndrome and more than half the victims have died.

Dr. Carolyn MacLeod, director of the Institute of Tropical Medicine in Miami, told an international AIDS conference last month that Belle Glade's AIDS rate is "the highest rate in the world, higher than New York, San Francisco, Miami or Los Angeles."

State and federal health investigators began looking at medical records in Belle Glade on Monday and a larger team from the national Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta will join them next week.

Dr. Mark Whiteside, also of the tropical medicine institute, said he thinks investigators will discover that environmental factors are involved in Belle Glade's AIDS cases.

"I think you'll find a distinct difference between the cases in Florida and the rest of the country,"

Whiteside said. "We have more cases involving young people, females, blacks and Hispanics. There are more uncharacteristic cases here."

Whiteside said sanitation and sewage problems in Belle Glade may have something to do with it. He also believes mosquitoes, and possibly rats, could be spreading the disease.

Until now, homosexual men, intravenous drug users and hemophiliacs were listed as being at high risk of contracting the disease.

"But I think the cases in Belle Glade are actually a result of environmental problems in the tropics," Whiteside said.

Whiteside said 30 percent of the AIDS victims in Belle Glade are Haitian and another 20 percent have none of the classic characteristics associated with AIDS patients.

Dr. John Witte of the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services said theories like Whiteside's are speculative at best.

"We are not trying to prove or disprove any theories," Witte said. "We just want the best basic understanding of what it is that's been going on down there."

AIDS destroys the body's immune system, leaving the victim open to infections.

Down On The Farm

Americans Say Farmers Need Even More Aid

Sonja Hillgren
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Governors, seeking to get Americans more concerned about the farm economy, commissioned a Gallup Poll that found three-fourths of Americans think government aid to farmers is about right or too little.

But citizens told pollsters they dislike the focus of current farm programs.

Montana Gov. Ted Schwinden, who released the poll results at a news conference, said he did not believe Americans were as knowledgeable about agriculture as they are.

"We thought the process of education would be more difficult," he said.

The poll, described by Gallup Vice President Leonard Wood as one of the largest studies ever of public perceptions about agriculture, grew from the governors' effort to move agriculture on the national agenda. Governors plan to use the poll results to highlight agriculture's problems.

Gallup polled a national sample of 1,507 adult Americans in December, before the big burst of publicity about farm credit problems this year.

Schwinden, a Democrat, said Reagan administration proposals to reduce spending for agriculture contradict

American opinion. "If they are not on a head-on collision with public attitudes, it's pretty close to that," he said.

A near majority of Americans, 49 percent, believe government is not giving enough help to farmers, and 26 percent think current aid levels are about right.

But the public, which holds agriculture in high esteem and is willing to spend money to help farmers, according to the survey, is skeptical about current price support programs the administration would like to reduce.

Fifty-eight percent of Americans believe farmers would be more efficient if price supports were dropped, and 73 percent believe government policies help big farms and not family-size farms.

More than three-fourths of Americans disagree with cutting U.S. farm production and instead want to distribute more food to poor Americans or export it, although they believe exports push up food prices.

But only one in 10 claims to have heard of farm legislation before Congress that will set farm policies over the next few years.

Schwinden is chairman of the governors' project that commissioned the poll, chairman of the Agriculture Committee of the National Governors' Association and a wheat farmer.

Idaho Gov. John Evans, also a Democrat, said the poll showed Americans are concerned about adverse environmental effects of farming and would accept a proposal to idle highly erodible land.

One-Parent Families On Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of traditional families has declined since 1970 while the number of one-parent families doubled and now constitute 26 percent of all "family groups" with young children, the Census Bureau says.

The bureau also reported that the proportion of black family households maintained by women alone in 1984 was 31 percent, more than three times the proportion among white households.

The figures are contained in a new Census report, "Household and Family Characteristics, March 1984," which is a final version of the March 1984 Current Population Survey. An earlier version was released in August.

The study said married couple families with children under 18 years old constituted about 29 percent of all households in 1984, slightly below the 1980 proportion but substantially less than the 1970 level of 40 percent.

The bureau also said there were 85.4 million households in the United States last year, of which 62 million were family households where at least one other person is related to the householder.

In 1984, 59 percent of all black families with children were one-parent homes, up dramatically from 36 percent in 1970, the study said. For whites in similar circumstances, the figure was 20 percent, doubled from 10 percent in 1970.

"Despite the high incidence of lone parents among blacks, 65 percent of all such family groups in 1984 were maintained by whites," the report said. That is a slight drop from 69 percent in 1970.

Other findings of the report include:

—Approximately 69 percent of all households were in metropolitan areas, about the same proportion as 1970.

—Regionally, the Northeast contained 21 percent of all households, 25 percent were in the Midwest, 34 percent in the South and 20 percent in the West.

—The average size of a household dropped from 2.73 persons in 1983 to a new low of 2.71 persons in 1984.

Catholic Bishops Urge Protection For Family Farms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new chapter in the U.S. Catholic bishops' draft pastoral letter on the economy calls for development of policies that preserve and economically protect the vanishing moderate-sized family farm.

"The decline in the number of moderate-sized farms and evidence of poor resource conservation raises serious questions of morality and public policy," the new draft says. "As pastors we cannot stand by while thousands of farm families caught in the present crisis lose their homes, their land and their way of life."

The 15-page chapter urges "governmental intervention in the farm sector be redirected to give first priority to small and moderate-sized farms."

"A half-century of federal farm price supports, subsidized credit, production-oriented research and extension services, and special tax policies for farmers have made the federal government a central factor in almost every aspect of American agriculture," the draft said.

"No redirection of current trends can occur without giving close attention to those programs," it said.

The chapter on farm and agriculture policy will be part of the larger pastoral letter, Catholic Social Teaching and the U.S. Economy. The first draft of the letter — without the farm chapter — was released in November and the total letter will be debated by the bishops when they meet June 14-18 in Collegeville, Minn.

A final vote on the controversial letter is scheduled for November 1986.

The letter calls for the nation to develop policies to experiment in "economic democracy," which would give higher priority to the needs of the poor. It has been sharply attacked by conservatives, both inside and outside the church.

"The current crisis appears to us to call for special measures to assist viable family farms that are threatened with bankruptcy or foreclosures," the draft said. "Operators of such farms should have access to emergency credit and programs of debt restructuring."

Soaring Phone Bills May Leave Thousands Without Service, Two Consumer Groups Say

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Local telephone rates nationwide soared 20 percent the past year and if unchecked, they may force up to 6 million people to go without service, two consumer groups say.

The Ralph Nader-founded Public Interest Research Group and the Consumer Federation of America examined telephone rates in 33 states — covering 85 percent of the nation's population — in wake of the 1984 breakup of American Telephone & Telegraph.

In a report, "Ring Off the Wall: An Alarming Increase in Residential Phone Rates, 1984-1986," they said:

—Residential rates rose by about 20 percent, or $2.5 billion, in 1984.

—Since Jan. 1, local phone companies in 15 states have asked for residential rate hikes, even though 14 of them were granted increases last year.

—"If this trend continues through the rest of 1985 and state regulators grant the same percentage rate requests as in 1984 (47 percent), residential rates will rise another $1.5 billion."

—"1984's residential rate increases plus 1985's projected residential rate hikes may force over 6 million people to go without phone service by the end of 1986 unless state and federal policy makers move to preserve affordable phone service."

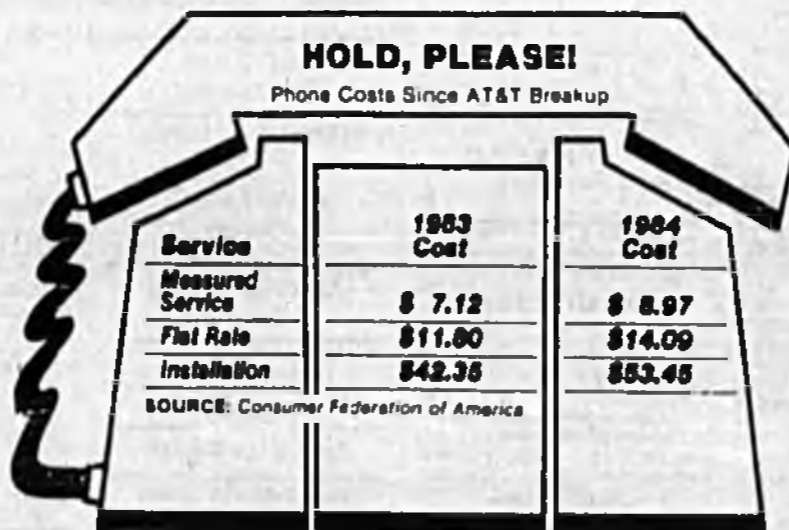

"Baloney," replied Joe Gagen, a spokesman for the U.S. Telephone Association that represents nearly all of America's 1,400 telephone companies. "They are painting a worse-case scenario that isn't close to reality."

Gagen said federal statistics show the average urban residential monthly flat rate charge in 1984 was $11.80, up from $10.50 in 1983. The flat rate charge is for an unlimited number of local phone calls.

He said the average monthly urban residential bill for measured service rose from $7.12 to $8.97. Budget service is for a limited number of local calls.

In rural areas last year, he said, the average monthly flat rate and service rates last year were $10.15 and $6.25, respectively.

"Our data shows that people don't disconnect because they

"1984's residential rate increases plus 1985's projected residential rate hikes may force over 6 million people to go without phone service by the end of 1986 unless state and federal policy makers move to preserve affordable phone service."

—Nader Report

can't afford local rate service, $7 or $12 a month," Gagen said. "They disconnect because they can't afford $45 in long distance calls."

In their report, the consumer groups noted that effective June 1, residential rates will rise $1 a month as a result of the Federal Communication Commission's approval of a telephone access charge.

Gene Kimmelman, the consumer federation's legislative director, said the report's figures were based, in part, on a model devised for AT&T to project the impact of rates changes and demands for phone service.

"Residential ratepayers have become the deep pockets of the local phone companies," he said.

"Despite their strong economic performance... and low inflation rates," telephone companies are enjoying big rate hikes.

Pamela Gilbert, an attorney with the public interest group, said, "Congress, the FCC and the states must act to put a lid on local phone rates to ensure that the breakup of the Bell System does not mean the end of affordable phone service."

Effort Launched To Eradicate Polio In The Americas By 1990

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Polio is a plague of the past for the United States, but not for some of the nations to the south.

A total of 489 cases of polio was reported in 10 countries in the Western Hemisphere last year, but Dr. Albert Sabin, who developed the live-virus polio vaccine, says the actual number of cases may be 10 times as great.

For $100 million, the Pan American Health Organization believes polio can be wiped out in the Western Hemisphere in five years. The organization launched a major effort Tuesday to eradicate polio from the New World by 1990.

"We must put an end, once and for all, to that spectre of crippling disease which still looms before the children of the Americas," said Dr. Carlyle Guerra de Macedo, the organization's director.

"The time has come for us to say that it is unacceptable for any child in the Americas to suffer from polio."

Guerra de Macedo outlined a five-year program to raise the immunization level of children in all countries of the hemisphere to at least 80 percent to 85 percent. This, officials said, should wipe out the disease in the New World.

Only 12 percent of children under 1 year of age in Haiti receive full polio immunization, according to figures of the Pan American Health Organization. Peru listed 26 percent coverage, Ecuador 36 percent, Guyana 41 percent and El Salvador 44 percent.

All other nations in the hemisphere had polio immunization coverage greater than 50 percent, but only 18 of 39 nations recording such data had coverage greater than 80 percent.

Guerra de Macedo said one-third of the $100 million needed to eliminate polio in the hemisphere will come from donations from wealthier nations and institutions, with the remainder coming from the countries themselves. "In spite of the financial crisis which currently pervades this region,"

"For most of them it will mean the reprogramming and more efficient utilization of resources which are already being spent in health."

Polio reached a peak in the United States in 1952, leaving 57,628 people paralyzed. The first polio vaccine was declared safe and effective in 1955 and since then polio was virtually eliminated in the nation. There were seven cases reported in the U.S. last year.

But of the 40 other nations in the Americas, Mexico, with 137, had the largest number of reported polio cases last year. Peru was next with 102 cases, followed by Brazil with 82, Honduras with 76 and Haiti with 27.
