Radio Receivers May Provide Sound, Sight For Deaf, Blind

By PAUL RECER
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A scientist says small radio receivers implanted under the scalp and communicating directly with the brain may one day give sound to some of the deaf and light to some of the blind.

Dr. Jose M.R. Delgado of the Yale University School of Medicine said he already has demonstrated the feasibility of the scalp and communicating directly with the brain may one day give sound to some of the deaf and light to some of the blind.

"We call it a brain pacemaker," he said in an interview Wednesday at the annual national conference of the Neuro Electric Society.

Electronic signals are picked up by the small receivers and converted into impulses which stimulate selected portions of the brain, he said.

"In the remote future," he said, "we are thinking and considering that this could be used to replace damaged sensory inputs."

For the deaf person we could directly stimulate areas of the brain responsible for hearing. In the blind, it could be the same."

Delgado said the device could receive signals from a photo cell which detects light through a camera.

He said he would not expect the method to give more than a light meter works on a camera.

For the deaf, he said, "it's much easier and simpler. You could probably be able to receive intelligible signals."

Years of research on the system remain Delgado said.

The next step in his experiments, he said, is to see if we can condition some animal through sound waves and acoustic pathways."

The scientist said there is no danger that such a direct stimulation of the brain could turn people into human robots.

City Image Sinks With Marina Dock

Mutual agreement for expeditious culmination of the west harbor dock situation at Holiday Isle is urged by H. H. Hodges, chairman of the "blue ribbon" bankers committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, in a letter to Sanford City Commissioners and officers of Monroe Harbour, Inc. Hodges' letter follows:

"The Chamber of Commerce bankers committee was created in 1965 to develop a super attraction for Sanford, primarily to offset losing a million dollar a month payroll by the phasing out of the Sanford Naval Air Station.

"After overcoming major crisis after crisis, the Holiday Isle complex was finally completed in 1967.

"This spectacular development was hailed throughout the entire country as the finest fresh water facility in the United States. Finally Sanford had arrived, and was considered 'first class.' The jubilation did not last long. Disaster struck. The major portion of the floating docks on the west side of the Marina started sinking. It would be needless for this group to attempt to decide who was at fault. Obviously the courts will eventually decide that. Meantime, we are again reduced to second class.

"Will Sanford allow its image to sink with the docks, in the face of the greatest tourist attraction ever created—Walt Disney World? We don't think so.

"The Bankers Committee respectfully requests both parties to consider binding arbitration, and in the meantime repair and replace the docks, and construct the necessary protection from high winds on the west side of the Marina. Local banks recently reiterated their willingness to provide proper financing of the project upon acceptance of 'binding' by all parties. Further, an agreement should be made to hold each other harmless when a decision has finally been reached by either the courts or arbitration."

Powell's Trial Opens

Male Jury Of 12 Will Decide Her Fate

By MARION BETHA

State Attorney Abbott Herring presented opening arguments this morning in the first degree murder trial of Sylvia Powell, charged in the love triangle slaying of her husband, Maynard Powell.

Mrs. Powell, who before her incarceration appeared the epitome of fashion with smartly coiffed hair, wore her tresses in a simple style cascading loosely about her shoulders. She was attired in a tangerine and bone ensemble, with tangerine shoes. She is still wearing her wedding rings upon her left hand.

The all male jury of 12 with two alternates was seated shortly before 10 a. m.

Herring, in his opening, said that the defendant is charged with premeditated murder either by her own hand or in combination with another individual, making her an accessory before the fact.

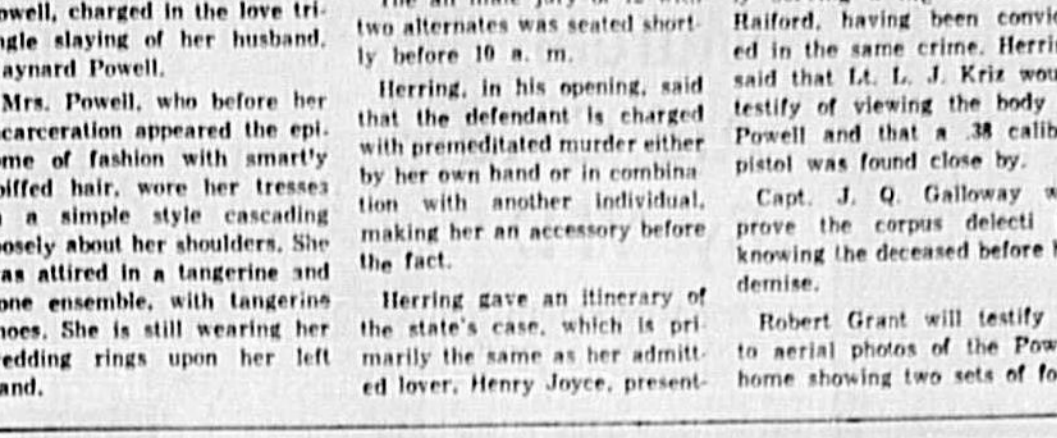

Herring gave an itinerary of the state's case, which is primarily the same as her admitted lover, Henry Joyce, presented serving a life sentence at Hainford, having been convicted in the same crime. Herring said that Lt. L. J. Kris would testify of viewing the body of Powell and that a .38 caliber pistol was found close by.

Capt. J. G. Galloway will prove the corpus delicti by knowing the deceased before his demise.

Robert Grant will testify as to aerial photos of the Powell home showing two sets of footprints in an adjacent field, and also receipt of boots, a gun, a projectile and cartridge taken from the trunk of Joyce's car.

Wayne Allen, Volusia county sheriff's department, will testify to finding a .38 caliber revolver in Joyce's car as well as an empty .38 caliber cartridge in Joyce's trouser pocket.

Don Champagne, ballistics expert, will tell of tests made on the projectile and gun (L. A. (Continued on Page 1B, Col. 4)

U. S. Nixes Lease To Sanford

By BILL SCOTT

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) has turned down the requested lease of Sanford Airport Building 310 to the city at $1 a year lease price.

The City Commission has indicated a desire to study the possible establishment of a jail complex at the airport facility if the former Navy barracks building could be modified into a security complex but, according to a letter to Sanford City Manager W. E. Knowles, from James K. Howe, FAA airport branch chief, the 40,000 square foot property must be leased at fair market value or $1.10 a square foot.

Howe explained that any airport structure not directly used for aeronautical purposes can only be utilized to derive the fair market price. "Therefore, the proposed lease of Building 310 by the city cannot, because of our concurrence under the conditions presented by your letter," Howe said.

The city received title to Sanford Naval base property for $1 a year soon after the government relocated its facilities here to Albany, Ga. but because of the strings attached regarding the disposal of property, there has been an outcry for the city to buy the property for the quoted price of $800,000 from the General Services Administration (GSA), the agency charged with disposing of governmental property.

"Buying the property outright would remove some of the strings and allow the city to sell or lease airport property to private business without the approval of the FAA over the amount of lease rates and use of the property."

John Krider, Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce manager, moved at the Sanford Industrial Commission meeting March 4 to have the City Commission pursue the purchase of the airport to loosen the restrictions held by the FAA. The SIC approved the motion unanimously and it was forwarded to the commission.

Meanwhile, the city must look elsewhere in its efforts to obtain a jail facility to replace the present jail which is literally falling apart.

Gunter Will Be Honored

ORLANDO — Plans for the upcoming Sen. Bill Gunter Appreciation Banquet to be held Mar. 25 at 7 p. m. in the Park Plaza Hotel, Orlando, have been finalized, according to general chairman Jim Greene.

"As has been previously announced, Gov. Reubin Askew will be featured speaker and Mayor Carl Langford will introduce the governor and the rest of the program," Greene said.

In addition to Governor Askew, Sen. Wilbur H. Bon of Palmetto, president pro tem of the Senate, and former State Senator Leon McDonald, of Live Oak, also will speak briefly during the program.

Greene said tickets can still be purchased for the $20 per plate affair by calling him at 241-497 or writing P.O. Box 41, Orlando. All proceeds will be used in Senator Gunter's campaign for re-election to the Florida Senate in 1972.

PROS AND CONS ON INCORPORATION

Incorporation of a 300-foot business strip through DeBary as a municipality was debated by some 500 residents at the Civic Center, Myron Accardi (third from left, on stage) led the argument favoring obtaining a charter from the state Legislature. Majority of those present opposed the move.

Incorporation Talked By DeBary Residents

By GRETCHEN OPPENHEIMER

DeBary—Incorporation of a commercial strip along U. S. 17-92 was the issue for discussion before 300 community-minded citizens at a meeting at the Civic Center.

With the tightening up of drivers licenses through re-examination and lack of local bus transportation, DeBary merchants had voted last week to incorporate a strip 300 feet wide in order to retain senior citizens of the community. Tentatively proposed boundaries are the DeBary Manor and the railroad tracks located along Dirksen Drive.

Following the invocation by Rev. Lewis Bullard, of First Presbyterian Church, speakers for the evening were introduced. Earl Merrill, chairman of the public affairs committee, and Mrs. Charles Ulrich, co-chairman, were in charge.

Merrill expressed the fear that division and dissension over the incorporation issue were now apparent in the community instead of a more purposeful unity. Mrs. Ulrich agreed that the proposal to provide transportation sounded like a good one but that it seemed unlikely it would be provided free of charge.

First speaker introduced was Myron Accardi, DeBary pharmacist, who stated his position supporting the proposed incorporation. He felt that some residents were simply forced to move out of the area because they were no longer permitted to drive. He stated that incorporation would provide at least $20,000 a year through availability of cigarette tax and road money—without any increase whatsoever in any resident's taxes.

William E. Keller, whose position was against the proposed incorporation, felt it was not a plan to help DeBary's elderly and that the fiscal affairs of the community would be held in the hands of a chosen few. These individuals would be able to select their own mayor and what would be the result? (Continued on Page 1B, Col. 1)

At 80% Study Hike Drummond Balks

By GLENDA BRADFORD

WINTER PARK — Philip L. Ingels, manager of Consulting Services, VTN, Inc., and J. Michael Stunoy, metropolitan planner with the East-Central Council met with representatives of Orange, Seminole and Volusia Counties in the Winter Park City Commission Chamber.

The meeting was an attempt to reconcile differences which have arisen since VTN announced the total cost of the 22-month short range water, sewer and drainage study for the tri-county area would be $180,000 instead of the original projection of $100,000.

Seminole County Commission Chairman Greg Drummond stated that Seminole County would not pay for the 80 per cent increase in the cost of the study.

Speaking from a personal point of view Chairman Drummond said he could not see where the increase was justified. He continued he felt there was some "fat" and "ballooning" in the study by VTN.

Ingels answered that he was a Seminole County taxpayer and had prepared the planning schedule himself and could see no areas which had been "ballooned."

He added that the purported cost of $100,000 was merely kept referring to one's tentative estimate in the beginning.

Drummond explained he had heard of slight increases in estimates of contract work but he inferred that an 80 per cent increase was more than he could accept.

Stunoy resolved that the Planning Council has only one alternative to the VTN study. That is to scrap it and begin anew.

It is important that the study be completed by 1973 and a new study would take considerable time.

Nixon-Burger Leadership Spurs Court Reforms

When the lawyer-edited President of the United States, and Chief Justice Warren E. Burger of the Supreme Court lend their prestige, their experience and their influence to emphasize the need for court reform, this issue becomes transcendent, even in today's turbulent world.

Basic to the pressures for cutting red-tape, uncluttering court calendars, meeting modern challenges with modern methods, untangling from traditional bonds, is the enduring and overpowering search for justice.

President Nixon's characterization of the present failure of courts to supply justice as so obvious that nothing less than top-to-bottom reform of the judicial system is needed was aptly put as: "trying to push back a flood with a broom."

What Lawyer Nixon saw as most needed was "speedy trials" to bring about renewed public respect for the law. Recent months have seen this broad isue split into dramatic parts.

There has been sensational news stories which made Front Page news from coast to coast as those who have been through the judicial process and are now convicts, rebelled and were crushed.

Chief Justice Burger sees court conditions as needing reform in the judicial process but also he has made it clear that court relief could come by the use of "para-professionals" to free judges of administrative chores.

Such leadership in a Nixon-Burger approach to a solution is most important from the point of view that court reform, closely allied to the accompanying problems of correction, confinement and punishment, now has top priority at the national level.

Here in Florida the matter of judicial reform, an issue which the legislature has been in no hurry to face, can no longer be safely delayed.

We agree with a recent editorial in the Tampa

Tribune, which puts the case in two paragraphs: "Few can doubt that criminal justice in Florida is at a crisis stage; overcrowded prisons have suffered riots and even murders of inmates, and overburdened courts have had to free some defendants because of inability to give them prompt trials."

"Temporary half-measures have been adopted to deal with these conditions. But the public looks to the Legislature which meets in April for bold steps toward permanent improvement."

The Raiford State Prison riots have aroused public opinion to the point where serious, professional inquiry has been made. The clogged court calendars in Dade County, have created a crisis of their own which is duplicated, in lesser degree, in most counties.

Here in Sanford there are city and district courts which sit, go through the regular routines and swear in juries, listen to both sides of the cases and where judges pass sentence.

We would advise any conscientious citizen who truly would like to see what President Nixon and Chief Justice Burger were talking about in urging court reform to attend several such sessions.

Then, a consequent step in self-education, would be a visit to the present jail facilities which are being used by the Sanford police department and the Seminole County Sheriff's office.

Such cursory information-seeking steps are not and cannot be considered as anything more than the slight opening of a Pandora's Box which now shows more and more signs of reaching an explosion stage.

Court reform, a hard look at judicial machinery and bar association guide-lines, will be taken across the nation in the months ahead.

We would like to see Florida in the top rank of those states who are courageous enough and dedicated enough to seek solutions which solve and not muffle or delay.

Beyond The Call...

Like so many other American soldiers serving their country in Vietnam, Dennis Fujii was "just an average guy" without "any hang-up." He dreamed of returning to his native Hawaii when his stint in the Army was up. Meanwhile, he carried out his assignments to the best of his ability.

Then one day Dennis Fujii found occasion to go beyond the call of duty. On Feb. 25, his medical evacuation helicopter was forced down at a besieged South Vietnamese Ranger base inside Laos. Even though the base was under heavy attack, Fujii gave up his space on a later rescue helicopter in order to make room for a wounded South Vietnamese soldier.

When Fujii learned that the only English-speaking Vietnamese had been killed or wounded, he took over as an impromptu liaison officer for American forces, directing aerial and artillery support of the base.

He carried out this indispensable task for four days despite serious shrapnel wounds, refusing to be evacuated because "these people are depending on me." He consented to be rescued only after all the South Vietnamese survivors had fought their way to safety.

The story of one man's heroism in an isolated sector of an unpopular, misunderstood conflict is significant for the whole world.

It serves as a reminder that men are willing still to die bravely on the frontiers of freedom—that love of country and a sense of obligation to fellow men continue to inspire the kind of valor that has always sustained the United States of America.

Red Eye, Red Sky

An old superstition goes, "Red sky in the morning is the sailor's warning," but in Germany a red sky on New Year's morn means much more: lightning, disease and war. As if the traditional hangover wasn't enough.

LOG ROLLING

CONGRESS OPPOSITION

Nixon's "Revolution's" Weakness

WASHINGTON — On what he calls is the heart and soul of his "new American revolution," President Richard Nixon is linked before he starts. One man will determine the fate of the Nixon's wishful dream of "revenue sharing" of federal income with local governments. That man is Wilbur Mills, of Arkansas, who as House Ways and Means Committee holds the national purse strings.

Unhappily for the President, Rep. Mills is against Nixon's proposal for returning federal funds to be spent by the cities and states.

On money matters Mills reigns supreme. It is his committee which decides how to tax and what to spend. A President can propose; the President can't spend. Congress, under no duress, expert and respected a chairman as Mills, finally disposes.

Congress has learned to listen when Mills speaks. They credit him with scholarly mastery of the issue before them, and an honest effort to reach a reasoned conclusion on the matter.

The President's "revenue sharing" plan was pushed out into swirling waters at this risky time for at least two reasons.

Nixon's chance of delivering on the domestic welfare programs he has advocated through a Congressional program for health, welfare and tax reforms, increases in social security and new controls on trade. They, in turn, hang on strong local pressure on Congress to appropriate for and authorize these parts of the Nixon "revolution."

The best chance for winning local backing of the President's plan, his strategic figure, is by giving cities, counties and states more say-so on the spending of the tax dollar. The hope is that this "two tax, you spend" policy between federal and local governments will build enough muscle power to persuade Con-

S. Viets Dare Foe To Stand

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Mao Tse-tung, who has been quite successful in guerrilla war, says it is more important to destroy one enemy division than to defeat 10.

The psychological blow is harsh, like stepping off at the bottom of a staircase only to find nothing there. Large numbers of hard-to-replace officers, sergeants and battle-hardened troops are lost. Enemy strategy tends to become unbalanced.

The South Vietnamese and Americans have had few opportunities to destroy sizable Communist units to date. The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese armies fade away. They're playing in part, by Hanoi's rules.

But there have been times when the North Vietnamese bunched and fought set-piece battles. At Dien Bien Phu, for one, against the French. For another, Dien Bien Phu gave a clue to the enemy would make its forces and slug it out—when crucial supply lines were cut. And when he believed he had his opponent surrounded and cut off from aid.

already protected—the bowhead, humpback, right and gray whales and the largest creature that ever lived, the blue whale, however many are left.

Since the first three are the only ones still sought by U.S. whalers, it means that commercial whaling has ended in this country. For the first time in 200 years, no whaling ships will be operating from these shores.

The directive will have little effect on the U. S. economy since the domestic whaling industry has been declining since the beginning of the century. Three small ships take about 100 whales a year, compared to 10,000 a piece by Japan and Russia.

It is to be hoped, however, that the U. S. example will spur the 14 other member countries of the Whaling Commission to a drastic reduction of quotas, if not an outright, world wide moratorium on hunting, until whale populations can recover.

During the 1960s, whale oil yield dropped from more than two million barrels a year to less than 400,000. Even though one million barrels a year could have been harvested indefinitely without endangering the whale, the International Whaling Commission, representing the whaling countries, regularly set quotas higher than recommended by their own scientific advisers.

At last something is being done about the slaughter, as far as the United States is concerned.

Last year former Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel announced a ban on the important of whale products. The United States had been importing about a third of the world total.

Now Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans has ordered the termination of commercial hunting of whales listed as endangered species.

The Delary Bridge Club met Tuesday, March 9 with 16 tables under the direction of Miss Ethel Johnson.

North-south winners were first, Mrs. Edwin Wacht and Mrs. E. O. Evans; second, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tappner; third, Dr. and Mrs. L. Munson; fourth and fifth a tie, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Plotrow with Bill Lyons and Morgan Hays; and sixth, Mrs. Robert Nicholls and Mrs. A. G. Besom.

East-west winners were first, Mrs. Ruth Gallagher and Mrs. Gladys Wolff; second, Mrs. Gloria Accardi and Mrs. Dolores Finn; third, Richard Stevens and Don MacNaughton; fourth, Joe Shoemaker and Mrs. Norman Meyer; fifth, E. M. Hinkle; and sixth, Arthur Whitley and Will Call.

Shelley Mebane Finalist In Dance Pageant

In the sixth annual Miss Dance of Florida Pageant, "Swing Into Spring," held at Winter Park Junior High School, March 6, Miss Shelley Mebane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mebane of Sanford emerged as one of the five finalists.

BERRY'S WORLD

The pageant fashioned along the same lines as the national Miss America Pageant, featured competition in leotards, evening gown and talent.

Shelley was the youngest contestant and her dance routine was an interpretive ballet, "The Yellow Rose of Texas." She wore a black costume enhanced with yellow roses and a modified cowboy hat.

The contest was judged by some of the country's leading masters of the dance arena and each year winners receive scholarships to New York's finest dance school.

Semoran Junior Women Sponsoring Free Pre-Schoolers Reading Class

By GLENDA BRADFORD

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Any parents interested in having their children, ages 3 to 5, enrolled in a supervised reading time can now do so through the efforts of the Semoran Junior Women's Club.

MRS. JOHN C. METZGER arranges poster display for the month of March on the St. Patrick's Day motif to entice children into the reading area in the new South Seminole Community Library building at Altamonte Springs. She is one of the members of Semoran Junior Women's Club who are sponsoring a reading class for pre-schoolers. (Glenda Bradford Photo)

As a community service, the club sponsors a reading class at 10:30 a. m. at the South Seminole Community Library in Altamonte Springs. The course runs in series of six weeks. The present course is now in its third week. In addition to reading there are skits, singing of songs and finger plays.

To entice young readers into the children's section of the library, the club makes a display each month which is placed in the children's corner. This month's display depicts St. Patrick's Day complete with leprechauns and shamrocks.

Deltona Happenings

By ELLA MAY FRAZER
ANTWERP CIRCLE will visit the Florida Audubon Society headquarters at Maitland on March 17. They will have luncheon in a nearby restaurant before going to the Audubon Society Group meets at Deltona Shopping Plaza at 9 a.m. and cars will proceed from there.

CAMELLIA CIRCLE will hear Philip E. DeBorja, future entertainment, and speakers, and membership canvassing. Mrs. Bell served luncheon at 1:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Richard Lindmeier, 1762 Philadelphia Court, Deltona.

NEW ENGLAND CLUB Gerry Ball, president of the New England Club of Deltona, called a meeting of the trustees and officers of the Club recently, at his home. Those present included Albert Carnigan, Carl Johnson, Fred Adams, William Knox, Mary O'Leary and Marion Stewart.

The show will begin at 10 a.m. on April 7 in the Educational Building.

Door prizes will be given to lucky ticket holders. Tickets will be sold. The public is invited to attend.

GAS HEATS WATER BEST!

Extravagant claims such as "fast recovery" and "you never run out" made for non-flame water heaters just don't stand up. The facts are that a two-element 30-gallon non-flame water heater normally recovers about 11 gallons an hour, a comparable 30-gallon gas model will recover over 30. Size for size and price for price, gas heats water better, faster and cheaper...

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We moved to a larger city from a small town last summer. Our 16-year-old daughter doesn't make friends easily, so she has been rather lonely and blue.

Last week she wrote a letter to a girl friend in our school town. She went off to school and asked me to mail it for her. It was addressed, but not sealed. I don't know why, but I read it. Now I wish I hadn't. It was full of awful lies! She told her girl friend that she had a steady boy friend, abby, she hasn't even had a date, but that summer picnic is worth a lot of money, isn't it? I never would ask a bereaved person a question that might upset him. Why can't relatives and friends extend the same consideration to me?

NEW CASTLE DEAR NEW: Because they are neither as considerate nor as intelligent as you.

DEAR ABBY: I used to have a beard, too, but I don't have one anymore. I was wearing a beard when I met Joyce. We really dug each other. She didn't say she disliked my beard, but she kept telling me how great she thought I'd look without it. I didn't take the hint. After Joyce told her friend about my beard and she is going wild!

SAD MOM DEAR MOM: Because she's sad, too. She's lonely, bored, friendless and ashamed of her unexciting life. It's not as serious as you think. She's also immature. The "wild" forbidden drug scene seems glamorous to her, and while she's smart enough to stay straight, she'd like her friend to think she's "in" with the ing gum in my beard a few times. I decided to shave it off. Sincerely yours,

CONFIDENTIAL TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: "Mice and moose, ducks and deer, hawks and hamsters mate largely by instinct. Man does not. While some instincts and reflex behavior is connected with his mating, most of it is learned. Man is not born with the knowledge of how to mate. He must either be taught, or learn slowly through trial and error. What is learnable is teachable. And that sums up the purpose of this book."

The above is the introduction to a fine, easy-to-understand book titled "A Doctor Speaks Out on Sexual Expression in Marriage" by Dr. Donald W. Hastings. It is published by Little, Brown & Co. and I recommended it highly for couples who say, "The mat, he must either be taught, or learn slowly through trial and error. What is learnable is teachable. And that sums up the purpose of this book."

South wouldn't make three spades. He would be one trick down but that would be better than letting North play one no-trump and go down two tricks.

Standard American bidders have the same trouble today but those who use Stayman land at the right contract. They simply

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M. D.

CASE Q-502: Don P., aged 20, is a psychology student. "Dr. Crane," he began, "why are girls so intent upon getting a wedding ring?"

"It is merely their desire to flout their success in winning a man."

"Do they flash their wedding band, much as the Indians carried scalp on their belt, as a mark of social distinction?"

"Adults Only" has long been a sign at movie theaters.

"I generally imitates unduly frank sexual plots that are not supposed to be for the teenagers."

A wedding ring likewise intimates much this same "Adults Only" prestige.

All throughout childhood, youngsters have craved to reach that "Promised Land" where they are not subject to an early curfew and where they can be independent of "parental 'hoosing."

A wedding band thus indubitably symbolizes a girl's freedom from her parents.

Since it also involves social prestige among those that have not yet entered marriage, girls often grow neurotic over their lack of a wedding ring.

In high school romances, the girls who are repressed or unloved at home by their feuding parents, then repose an abnormal belief in the magic world for which that gold band is the "Open Sesame."

Some teenage coeds thus seem almost more interested in getting a wedding ring than in the husband who furnishes it.

The same is true of the diamond engagement ring or even the class ring they wrangle from their "steady" high school escort.

"Going steady" is likewise in the same category of prestige symbols that girls often flaunt before their female classmates.

The girl with a "social-climber" urge will thus indulge in various forms of show-off behavior when she gets a ring.

She will lift her left hand repeatedly to stroke back an

Cabinet Acts To 'Save The Dome'

By RICH OPPLE
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The State Cabinet today sent an architect back to the drawing board Monday night on plans for a new Capitol Center as a permanent structure to "save the dome."

The cabinet and legislative leaders met at Hillcrest Country Club to review revised plans for Phases Two and Three of the proposed 16-story executive tower, under criticism because it overwhelmed the nearby Supreme Court building. Executive office facilities would be merged with House and Senate chambers, in one low flat building immediately behind the existing Capitol.

But Stone's revised plan came in for flak from several officials including Comptroller Fred Dickinson.

"I'm not going to vote for a glass bubble to be my state Capitol," Dickinson said. "I will look much like the existing one, but longer, higher and bulkier. He said he found the sketch while examining validation papers for the $10 million bond issue used to finance the Phase One of the Capitol Center."

Dickinson rejected to a lack of a dome. The contemporary building would be topped by a transparent bubble. None of the buildings would be domed. Even the federal dome on the existing Capitol — which would be trimmed back to its 1845 proportions and used as a museum — would disappear.

1,200 Migrants Are Jubilant For Aid

MIAMI (AP) — Nearly 1,200 jubilant Florida migrant workers held a candlelight procession to a Roman Catholic Church in Immokalee Monday night and celebrated a thanksgiving Mass after President Nixon declared South Florida a disaster area because of crop failures.

Many of the migrants were among the crowd of 500 who went back to their shacks bitter and angry Sunday after waiting 20 hours near Nixon's Key Biscayne retreat near here in a vain effort to appeal personally to the President for help.

About 15,000 South Florida field hands have been out of work since a January freeze destroyed a major portion of the area's vegetable crops.

The President Monday pledged $2.5 million in federal aid to help the migrants.

A migrant leader at the church service in Immokalee said, "This step on the part of the federal government was unprecedented in the history of aid to migrants who in the past had received few social security or other unemployment benefits."

"We need more food stamps," said Ron Moore, Rodriguez, president of the Organized Migrants in Community Action. "And the majority of the families are a month behind in rent. They also need money to pay water bills, light bills and gas bills."

Several hundred families have been evicted from their homes, and hundreds more have had their utilities shut off, Rodriguez said.

"The emergency funds will be distributed to the migrants through state unemployment offices under the administration of the Department of Labor."

"This doesn't include people in Lee and Hendry Counties," Rodriguez said. "There must be some way to provide help for those people, too."

"If we could get a couple of doctors into the Immokalee area that would help a lot," Rodriguez said. "There are so many people who need medical aid and there are no doctors to help them."

Archbishop Coleman F. Carroll of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of South Florida said the archdiocese would contribute $10,000 to help the migrants.

The federal Department of Agriculture is providing food stamps for the needy and is working with state and local officials and private relief agencies to increase the aid through the food stamp program. The Florida White House announced before Nixon returned to Washington.

Economy Sagging Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — After hiding it for two straight months, the nation's economy has again displayed its sagging pace, setting back the Nixon administration's hopes of a quick recovery.

The Federal Reserve Board delivered the bad news to the administration Monday, reporting its key industrial production index fell four-tenths of 1 percent in January.

The decline followed two consecutive monthly advances in factory output, when the economy rebounded from last fall's General Motors' strike.

But the snapback was not nearly as strong as the administration had hoped, and the February tumble in output showed Nixon has far to go in getting the economy moving again.

The drop disclosed continuing weakness in the economy, reluctance of big business to invest in more production and consumer hesitation to spend savings.

Nixon has pledged a good year for the economy in 1971 and has turned to deficit spending and easier money policies to make it go.

The slackness of the economy also partly explains the rapid decline in interest rates, with corporate demands for loans at a relatively low level with money plentiful.

Last fall, when the auto strike was in full swing, the administration forecast the economy would begin to turn up at the beginning of the year.

All the evidence won't be in until the government announces next month the total output of goods and services for January, February and March. But the drop in industrial production for February left little to cheer about for now.

Auto output did bounce back, increasing by 8 percent last month and reaching an annual rate of about 9 million units.

Output of most home goods and consumer staples declined, along with commercial aircraft and industrial, commercial and defense equipment. Production of farm equipment and steel and construction materials gained, but output of other durable and nondurable materials was down.

The index stood at 164.8 percent of the 1957-59 base July 1960 peak.

Penalty For Marijuana Would Be Cut By Solons

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Two legislators—a Republican and a Democrat—introduced a bill in the Florida House Monday to reduce first-offense possession of a small amount of marijuana from a felony to a misdemeanor.

But Attorney General Robert L. Shubin told the House Task Force on Drug Abuse Monday he does not agree with this approach, and thinks it would lead to putting even more young people behind bars.

The bill filed by Reps. Lewis Whitworth, D-Miami, and Jim Tillman, R-Sarasota, would reduce the maximum penalty for possession of up to four grams of marijuana on a first offense to 90 days in jail or a $500 fine. Larger amounts could bring up to two years in prison and a $1,000 fine.

Four grams is the equivalent of about one-seventh of an ounce, presumably the amount of marijuana in one "stick."

The bill also would transfer the marijuana statutes from the narcotic drug law to the drug abuse law.

"Medical testimony indicates that marijuana is not, in fact, a narcotic," Whitworth said. He added that the lighter penalty might salvage the productive life of a person who otherwise might be sent to prison with hardened offenders and labeled a felon for the rest of his life.

The bill has strong endorsement from Gov. Bobbie Aikin, Senate President Jerry Thomas and House Speaker Richard Pettigrew.

Shubin said studies on the addictive potential and psychological effects of marijuana still are incomplete. He added that reducing the penalty to a misdemeanor would result in putting more rather than fewer young people in jail.

"It is my judgment and has been my experience that judges are less likely to adjudicate or sentence first offenders for possession of marijuana with the existing stiff penalties," Shubin said.

Shubin recommended a uniform drug control act similar to one on the books in Maryland, which includes a schedule for controlled dangerous substances and drug control centers, and requires a prescription for obtaining hypodermic syringes and other paraphernalia used by addicts.

Commisses Attack Ammo-less Allies

By J. WALKERSTORFER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops continued to withdraw from the Sepone area of Laos today under heavy enemy pressure, abandoning an ammunition firebase when it ran out of ammo, according to reports from the northern front.

The South Vietnamese fled from Firebase Lolo, nine miles southeast of Sepone, because U.S. helicopters couldn't get through the hail of North Vietnamese antiaircraft fire to bring them artillery shells.

About 1,500 men of the 1st Infantry Division pulled out of Lolo Monday night and made a night march to Landing Zone Brown, another South Vietnamese base five miles to the east.

The South Vietnamese spiked their artillery pieces and left them behind. Immediately after the withdrawal, U.S. B52 bombers attacked the base and the area around it.

The South Vietnamese Command in Saigon refused to admit the withdrawal. "South Vietnamese forces still hold Fire Support Base Lolo," said a spokesman, Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien. "We will not comment on press reports."

Lolo had been under tank and artillery attack since Sunday night, and two North Vietnamese regiments were believed moving against the base. Three South Vietnamese soldiers had been reported killed and more than a score wounded, but there was no report on casualties during the final hours of fighting or during the night withdrawal.

Other military sources speculated, however, that the South Vietnamese pulled out of the Sepone area because of a massive North Vietnamese buildup there. The fighting around Lolo Monday indicated that Saigon's forces may have to abandon plans for a thorough search along Route 911 and fight a rear guard action as they retreat toward the border.

'TWAS A GOOD CHASE WHILE IT LASTED. It's back to the old corral again for "Wendy" who led Motorcycle Officer Doug Bishop in particular and the Sanford police in general a merry chase through city streets yesterday before being corralled and captured for the second time in recent weeks.

County Study Approved Powell Trial Opens

By LARRY NEELEY

The Seminole County Commission will narrow the possibility of establishing a governmental study commission under the provisions of home rule. The consensus of the board at this morning's meeting was to create a study commission that would look into the county governmental structure. Commissioner Ed Yarbrough was rejected to work with County Attorney Harold Johnson to complete a preliminary proposal.

The commissioners had previously drawn up a proposal for a study commission to look for areas where duplicate services were being offered by both the county and municipalities that could be combined. The Seminole County cities opposed the measure because they felt it approached consolidation which they did not want.

Commission Chairman Greg Drummond, one of the strongest proponents of the earlier government study commission, had insisted that the study commission would not be a step toward consolidated government but rather a more efficient government structure at both the county and municipal levels. The Orange-Seminole state legislative delegation turned thumbs down on the proposal primarily because of the opposition from the cities.

Drummond made the suggestion to the commission this morning that it put together a commission to study county government and particularly the fee offices, when queried by Commissioner Al Davis as to what the county would learn from the study commission that they (the commissioners) do not already know. Drummond replied that he had been on the commission two years and Yarbrough for six years and there was plenty about the county government that they didn't know.

Drummond termed the present governmental structure archaic. He said that the county is operating with a government from the 19th century and is not in the 20th century let alone the 1970's as far as government structure is concerned.

The commissioners indicated that the study commission would study all fee offices in the county including the constables, justices of the peace and small claims court. Drummond said that it was not fair to study the fee offices on the basis of the fee system alone and should pursue the possibility of incorporating salaries for each of the offices in the budget for the next fiscal year which begins Oct. 1. He said that five of the county's fee officers had indicated a desire to be placed on salary.

'Wendy' Leads Second Chase Cops Play 'Cowboy' Again

By GARY TAYLOR

If you saw a motorcycle officer driving through your yard, or witnessed a police officer sitting on the front of a cruiser with a rope in his hand, trying to lasso a horse yesterday, you weren't seeing things, it was just the Sanford police department playing cowboy again.

Actually, Police Chief Ben Butler is thinking seriously of asking the City Commission to construct a corral behind headquarters.

Motorcycle officers Doug Bishop and Bob Herrocks, along with Ralph Russell in a cruiser, set out yesterday afternoon in a wild chase that took over an hour, starting at 420 Elliott and ending on 22nd Street, west of Sanford Avenue.

When the horse was first spotted, he took off south on Elliott to the stadium and then ran west across Mellonville Avenue to Bay Avenue. He turned south, crossed Celery and stopped in a wooded area at 14th Street. Here the officers nearly ended the chase. But just as Bishop was about to grab hold of the horse, he reared away and the wild chase was on again.

Bishop left his cycle at 14th Street and mounted the front fender of the police cruiser. They followed the horse east all the way to Sanford Avenue, where he turned south, running the stop sign, and going all the way to 15th Street. He headed east on 15th Street to Palmetto Avenue where he headed south to 20th Street. Then he headed back to Sanford Avenue and went down the middle of Sanford Avenue to 22nd Street, where he turned into an alley and was apprehended in a back yard.

Bishop spent part of the time riding on the fender and part of the time talking the horse on foot. In the process of catching the horse, he lost his whistle and a corral which some woman had handed him during the chase.

This is the second time in two weeks the police department has caught "Wendy" owned by Nancy Fitts, 118 Shirley Ave. The first time, Gene Pharis and Lt. Edward Hayden caught the horse and locked it in the stadium. Two days later it had disappeared.

Mrs. Fitts had called the county maintenance department and got the horse.

This time she reported the horse missing only minutes after Bishop led it back to the station on his cycle.

Girl Arrested For Dope

By BILL SCOTT

An 18-year-old Seminole High School girl was arrested Monday on a narcotics charge by Sanford police who went to the school and removed her from a classroom.

Det. Sgt. Edward Hughes reported Mattie Mae Pierce, 1102 Southwest Road, was charged with possession of narcotics after police found paraphernalia in her possession.

The student was lodged in Seminole County jail in lieu of $1,000 bond after her arrest that occurred when police acted on confidential information gained at the school. She was arrested on a warrant obtained from Justice of the Peace Robert Carroll on a complaint signed by Dets. Hughes and Sgt. Ralph Russell.

By Casselberry Florida Power Pact OK'd

CASSELBERRY — The City Council formally adopted an ordinance last night granting a 30-year electric franchise to the Florida Power Corporation. The franchise will give Florida Power the right to "construct, operate, and maintain all facilities needed to provide electric power" to the city, and will bring in to the city six percent of Florida's Power's revenues here. The franchise has long been discussed by the council in conjunction with Florida Power representatives.

Another step toward the upgrading of city streets was taken last night with the council's authorization of the preparation of an ordinance setting up regulations for a paving escrow. When this ordinance is finished and adopted, it will require landowners to contribute $5 per linear front foot to an escrow fund prior to the issuance of a building permit.

The money placed in this fund will draw interest for the depositor, and if the money is returned to him due to lack of work on paving, the interest will be held in the fund for a maximum period of five years, but this is subject to extension upon agreement of both parties. City Attorney Kenneth McIntosh is currently at work on the preparation of this ordinance.

Street lighting was again on the agenda of last night's meeting. "Before I get off this council," Napier stated last night, "this topic will be regulated."

Council Chairman Edith Duerr questioned the setting of a new precedent for shorter distances between lights, and pointed out that the current street lighting budget of $10,397 would not be adequate for this.

In other action last night, the council accepted the plat calling the city "ways behind."

Two Robberies Yield $125 At Motel, Store

Sanford and Seminole County authorities reported armed robberies both occurring Monday night. Sanford Detective Paul Whitley is investigating a report by Frank J. Parris, 1 Lakeview Motel operator, who told police he was found with shreds of bed sheets by two men, who also gagged and robbed him of between $40 and $50 about 10:30 p.m.

The men left in a pickup truck after first ripping the telephone from the office wall. Parris struggled free and called police from a telephone in another apartment.

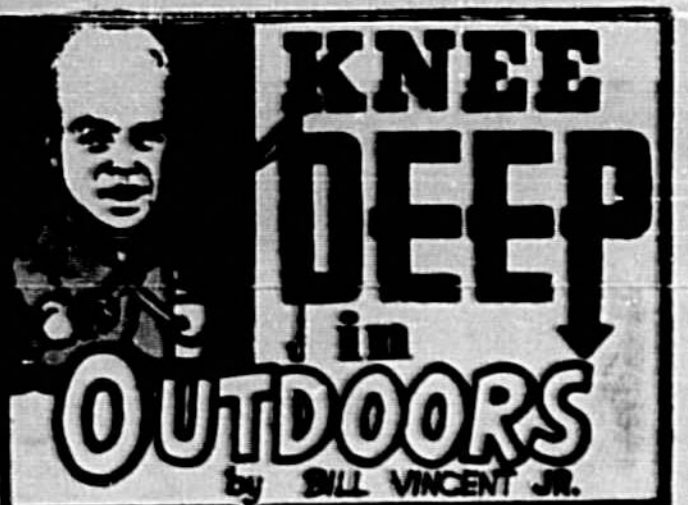

County Deputy Sheriff Willie reported the robbery of Kwik Stop Curb Market on Bear Lake Road of an estimated $75, according to Lynn Clark, store employee, who stated two men entered and forced her to open the cash register.

The men escaped in a 1959 model pickup truck along Bear Lake Road into Orange County, the victim said.

Mrs. Clark said one of the men held his hand in his pocket and it was a gun.

She described the robbers at about 24 years of age, one blond and the other black hair.

Going To Birmingham: Southern Lee, Robinson First SJC Raiders To Sign

Greg Robinson and Harry Lee became the first Seminole Junior College Raiders to sign scholarship to four-year schools yesterday. Assistant coach Jim Hatfield of Birmingham Southern was in Sanford yesterday to sign the pair.

Robinson was the team leader in assists this last season with 154. He had 175 rebounds, an excellent performance for a point. He was 129 of 290 from the floor for 49.5% and 96 of 166 at the line for 57.5%, scoring 353 points.

Make Your Wardrobe With Milady's Fabrics, Easter Pretty Shoes At Vale's Jr. Shoeland

By CHARNER LEONE

It's almost time for graduation, and all of the delightful parties that accompany it—the teas, the coffees, the pool parties. And it's almost that time of year that so many young couples choose for their wedding.

Fashions are changing so. Last year's minis have given way to hot pants and midis. Colors are becoming brighter and even bolder.

Wardrobe selection has never been so exciting.

And smart girls are preparing now for the busy season ahead. They're buying fabulous permanent press fabrics and slinky, feminine knits of all types. They're buying small, demure prints for the peasant look, wash and wear denim, and all kinds of fabrics for bathing suits. They're buying fabrics that will allow them to truly "do their own thing!"

With this tremendous turnover in fashion it's little wonder that more and more women are making their own clothes.

Caroline Holtzclaw, the fashionable owner of Milady's Shoppe of Fine Fabrics in downtown Sanford offered some reasons for the sudden upsurge in home sewing.

"Styles are changing every day. It seems, and today's materials are wardrobes of 'no care,'" she pointed out, adding, "and of course with prices on clothing reaching new heights recently, it's little wonder that more women are sewing their own clothes!"

And, it's fun to sew—to be

MAKE YOUR OWN LINGERIE! It's easy and fun. Let Caroline Holtzclaw show you how to make all kinds of lingerie, including girdles! This beautiful peignoir costs less than $12 to make, but would retail for three times that much!

creative and have precisely what you want to wear.

Caroline and Dick Holtzclaw (the famous bass baritone Richard Wentworth) founded The Milady's Shoppe in 1962. In that time they have come to know the people they serve, and know that quality fabrics and trims are always in demand.

Consequently, The Milady's Shoppe stress quality in everything they sell. Their materials are top quality. When you make a dress, for instance, from their fabrics you will be assured that it will look as pretty in a year as the day you buy it. It won't stretch or fade as many fabrics will, and it will be easy to take care of.

Caroline is an expert seamstress. "I learned at my mother's knee," she joked. She's been sewing most of her life, and makes all of her own clothes. She is a fountain of information for those of us who are not so talented!

In response to popular demand Caroline is now giving lessons in lingerie making. In three two hour sessions which are arranged at your convenience, Caroline will show you how to make all kinds of pretty, practical underthings, from slips and nightgowns to girdles, peignoirs and panties. There is a very small charge for these classes, and The Milady's Shoppe has in stock all of the materials you'll need.

Caroline and Dick are especially proud of their beautiful array of trims. They have an impressive stock, the complete you're likely to find anywhere in Central Florida. It runs the gamut, from cotton trims to beaded evening trims. Amy Retheuil, an attractive talented teenager is in the store after school and on weekends to help you, and of course, Caroline and Dick are always there.

So there is plenty of help to guide you to prettier clothes.

For your convenience The Milady's Shoppe will accept MasterCard and BankAmericard.

"We've been in business for almost 10 years now," chimed in Dick, "and we're looking forward to at least 10 more!"

And it's that attitude that will make shopping at The Milady's Shoppe a delightful instead of a chore!

Remember Easter Day back in the "olden days?" About two or three weeks before that special day your mother took you downtown to buy your Easter outfit that would serve for your "good clothes" until you outgrew them.

A dress (or a suit), new socks, maybe even underwear, and, above all, shoes...

The shoes would lay in tissue paper in their box. You'd steal a glance at them before you went to bed at night to make sure they were "all right" and you'd shine the carefully until they reflected your smile back at you.

New Shoes. The stiffness, the smell of new leather. The festivities that Easter signifies it is all wrapped up with that pair of new shoes.

Vale's Junior Shoeland has a beautiful selection of new shoes for infants and children that will bring back pleasant memories. There are the timeless popular Mary Janes and brand new square toes for little girls. And traditional and mod styles for little boys.

Betty and Ed Vale opened their remarkable new store last fall in the Longwood Plaza. Vale's carries the renowned Edwards prescription and regular shoes for children, the Markell prescription shoe and the Uniroyal Keds for children and adults (Grasshoppers). They also have the Dr. Scholl's shoes for professional.

Quality is the key to Vale's. "The children will outgrow our shoes before they wear them out," said Betty Vale sincerely. "And any mother knows what a really remarkable statement that is."

"The quality is higher than the price," Betty added.

The Vale's realize how difficult it is for parents to find attractive prescription shoes for their style-conscious children. In fact, finding well fitting, attractive, reasonably priced non-prescription shoes isn't easy!

So the Vale's have stocked a wide variety. They have the narrow widths and the wide widths that are so hard to find. They carry the very "in" crinkle patents in red, white or black for little girls. And they have the most adorable white military rain shoes with a buckle for boys from toddlers up. And for the younger set there are barefoot sandals that are pretty enough for Sunday School.

Betty and Ed realize that shoes for children must be every bit as stylish and well fit as their counterparts for adults.

So they have included in their impressive inventory tennis shoes that mom will envy! They have the darling Krazy Keds for the toddler set and the striped Keds for boys, as well as their regular line of narrow to wide Keds for infants and children.

The country motif at Vale's is friendly and welcoming, even for the most timid child. Enticing tiny ceramic frogs and ducks peek from behind the shoe displays. Fascinating Pennsylvania Dutch "thick signs" to ward off evil spirits gaily decorated the walls, and comfortable carpeting and custom chairs make Vale's a unique place to shop.

And if for no other reason, it's a nice idea to stop at Vale's just to welcome a fine business such as Vale's to Seminole County. Why not visit Vale's in the Longwood Plaza and meet Betty and Ed and find out for yourself what a charming, well-established business they have.

Your Fine Antiques Are Safe With Bix Service Company

By CHARNER LEONE

The azaleas are blooming. And that means, traditionally, time for that super thorough ritual of spring housecleaning.

Even the garage or storage room!

The bedroom suite with teddy bear decals that Junior outgrew years ago... and the end table that was so badly stained last winter during your annual open house... or that darling table you just couldn't resist at your first auction... it's time to give them the attention they deserve. (No, that doesn't mean to take them to the dump!)

If you're ambitious you can strip and refinish them yourself. But if you have any experience in this line, you know what a messy, tedious job this can be—and time consuming too as they clutter up the car and turpentine permeates the house.

By all means, call Bix. Now! Bix is a nationwide business that specializes in furniture refinishing. They are located in Fern Park on Highway 17-92.

And they offer a new service that will appeal to you if you are the kind that likes to feel the pride and accomplishment of doing it yourself. Bix will strip the old, built up varnish off of your furniture so that you may apply the stain, varnish or wax yourself, just to your own liking.

"Refinishing's fun when the work is done," claims Richard J. Schill, the local Bix dealer. "Ninety percent of the work is preparation," explained Schill carefully.

At Bix the stripping process involves not only the removing of the old varnish, shellac and lacquers, but all painting surfaces, regardless of their age.

As an added feature they remove base paint pigments and stains to restore the wood its original color.

Bix uses no lyse or other caustic material. They rely solely on an exclusive Bix process, using a remover developed by the Bix laboratory.

Congress Feeling Heat Of Giant SST Lobbyists

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Charles J. Stenholm of Youngstown, Ohio, is feeling the heat of a heavy lobbying campaign. It's almost as if he were being asked to choose between the city's bustling steel mills and foundries and her Mill Creek Park and Beaver Creek.

Jumbo Jet Becomes Economic Headache

WASHINGTON (AP)—The jumbo jet, once heralded as the airline's dream, has become a very large economic headache for the already financially pressed industry.

SAVE OUR SHAD was the theme of the recent Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce waterways committee meeting which included participation by state and local persons who are seeking to stop the decline of shad fish in the St. Johns River.

On 3rd Anniversary Calley Case To Jury

By H. D. QUIGG
FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—On the third anniversary of a slaughter that sinned the conscience of a nation, the government commits to six combat-tested officers today the case of murder against Lt. William L. Calley.

General And Colonel Accused Of Murder

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (UPI)—A highly decorated Army officer, colonel and "some generals consider them selves God," formally charged two of his superiors Monday with covering up the electric shock torture of a woman and the murder of five prisoners in Vietnam.

New Shop Center Near

By HILL SCOTT
Only a stockholders' meeting remains to complete a large scale real estate transaction that will bring one of America's largest discount department stores to Sanford as owner and lessor of a shopping center at U. S. 17-92 and Onora Road.

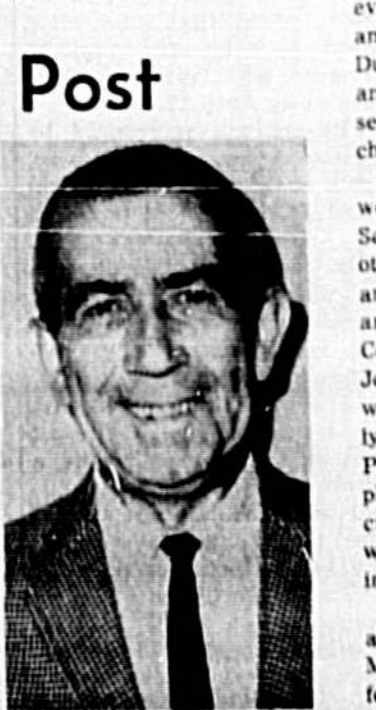

NIGHT SCENE AT FLORIDA TECH UNIVERSITY
The lights burn fairly late at Florida Technological University with hundreds of area residents taking classes in the evening program. In the picture above, the new FTU Administration Building sits majestically across from the reflecting pool separating it and the Library Building on the campus south of Oviedo.

Service Expected In Fall Auto-Train Awaiting U. S. OK

Sanford could be getting 800 daily visitors. "Additionally, there'll be a marked impact on the economy of Central Florida, and this could be coming true sooner than most people believe."

Defense Scores Point On Gun Introduction
The 38 caliber RG revolver which was taken from the trunk of the automobile of Henry Joyce, convicted murderer of Maynard Powell, and which a ballistics expert is anticipated to testify fired the projectile which killed Powell, was produced in Circuit Court this morning at the trial of Sylvia Powell, charged with first degree murder in the case.

Jerry Brown Wins Mayoralty Post
NORTH ORLANDO — Granville (Jerry) Brown, former councilman who waged a one-man campaign against the standard plans of the defunct Gulf American Corporation in the development in the Village, became the mayor of North Orlando in municipal elections held yesterday. Brown defeated incumbent councilman Winton Hurt. Brown polled 57 votes to Hurt's 14.

Four unopposed councilmen were elected. Charles Rowell polled 62 votes for the two year term in Group 1. Charles Kelley received 63 votes for the Group 4 seat, a one-year term. Herbert Fox, presently chairman of the Village planning and zoning board, received 63 votes for the Group 3 seat, a two-year term. A newcomer to the political scene, Troy Pland received 67 votes for election to the Group 5 seat on council.
