Defies Coolidge

Bert E. Haney, Democrat, of Oregon, refuses to resign from the Shipping Board as requested by President Coolidge. Haney has attacked the policies of the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

OHIO FARMER IS ONE OF HEROES IN BIG AIR DISASTER

ERNEST NICHOLS, a little grizzled farmer who raises turkeys, and some crops on a farm near Sharon, who grabbed the navy's giant dirigible by the nose-ring and pulled it to the ground.

Late today tales began drifting over the countryside about a man who had helped stop the plunging of the Shenandoah's nose over hills and valleys, after it broke from the middle and aft sections an hour earlier near Ava, 12 miles away.

Immediately the board of investigation, which is handling all phases of the disaster which remain to be cleared up, became interested in the story and Commander Jacob H. Klein, chief of the investigation board, said after the farmer had done "a good job and a great service."

Nichols was found today in an obscure barnyard feeding his turkeys and was apprised of the fact that he had done something important.

The story he told the Associated Press is as follows: Nichols (he pointed to a three room dwelling) when my neighbor called upon the telephone and said an airship was headed for my house and that I had better stop it. I ran out here it came right through our window, headed straight for the house. After drifting all that way after it broke up, it was getting pretty close to the ground and I sure enough was coming right toward my house.

COOLIDGE ENDS LONG REST IN NEW ENGLAND

Chief Executive Pulls Stakes And Heads for Washington After Eleven Weeks' Vacation in Swampscott, Mass.

Longworth Reports On Coming Congress

President Pleas With the Outlook for Next Session; Tax Reduction Is Discussed

SWAMPSCOTT, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Invigorated by his 11 weeks stay President Coolidge pulled stakes last night at his summer retreat and turned towards Washington enthusiastic over the successful winter in congress as outlined to him in conferences with administration leaders.

Before leaving President Coolidge received a most optimistic report from Representative Longworth, Republican, of Ohio, who will be speaker at the next house. Mr. Longworth said that the house will approve the tax reduction bill making substantial cuts in income rates before the first of the year. If successful this program will permit final action by congress on a tax bill before March 15, when the first hymns of New Year are due.

Pointing out that Chairman Green expected to call the ways and means committee together next month to formulate a revenue bill, Mr. Longworth said the measure should be ready for action on the floor by the time congress meets in December.

He also outlined a favorable picture to the executive of conditions in Europe whither he recently returned. He expects France to come to terms on a debt settlement but doubt if that country will meet the terms agreed on between England and the United States.

It was a busy last day for President and Mrs. Coolidge. Early this morning they motored to West Roxbury to spend a few minutes with Mrs. John Hazel, an aunt of Mr. Coolidge. At noon the fire chiefs of Massachusetts were received by Mr. Coolidge.

Tonight Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge joined their old friends and summer neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, at a farewell dinner at Red Gables, the latter home. Senator Butler of Massachusetts dined with them.

The executive plainly was in a happy mood tonight. Detained until a few minutes late in going to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stearns, the president led Mrs. Coolidge in a fast "dog trot" across the yard from "White Court" to Red Gables.

His visit here has proved very profitable to the executive from a health standpoint, his physician, Major James F. Coufal, believes.

The president had Senator Butler with him on his special train to Washington.

Train Leaves
SALEM, Mass., Sept. 10.—(AP)—The special train carrying President and Mrs. Coolidge to Washington, left here shortly before midnight. Mr. Coolidge will reach the capital today.

HUGE INDUSTRIAL MERGER ALARMS GERMAN LABOR

Proposed Consolidation of 5 Concerns May Mean Death Knell to Independent Companies Now in Operation

ESSEN, Germany, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The amalgamation of the five great Rhinish-Westphalian industrial concerns which is to be consummated in the near future, is viewed with concern in labor circles. It is feared that the promised merger between the combine and independent firms will mean the crushing or reorganization of the latter, with a consequent great labor shake-up and unemployment.

The combine is to embrace the Krupp, Phoenix, Rheinhardt, Thyssen companies and the Rhein-Elbe Union. The concerns remaining outside include the Klockner, Hoeh, Hannemann and Stumm concerns.

Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt, former ambassador to the United States, who is head of the Krupp directorate, is named as the prime mover in the scheme, which will mean a complete re-arrangement of the methods of production in the five concerns affected.

General production is to be replaced by specialties, each firm being allotted certain types of manufacture for which it is best fitted from the view point of geographical location and other factors which figure in determining selling prices and profits.

Oil Merger
A sensation has been caused in commercial and financial circles by the amalgamation of three large German oil fields of Deutsche Erd-oel Ltd., Deutsche Petroleum Ltd., and Raetoria Werke, Ltd.

The concerns had been engaged in a bitter fight and all previous attempts, covering a period of years, failed to bring about a reconciliation.

Now the Deutsche Petroleum Company will take over the petroleum interests of the other two concerns and for this purpose the directors at their next general meeting will propose that the companies capital be increased from 24,000,000 to 35,000,000 marks.

The fusion will bring about a great reduction in overhead charges as the amalgamated companies will need to maintain only a single sales and distribution staff in each locality and it will also allow more effective handling of imports.

Another factor, in addition to the ruinous competition from abroad is said to have been the scarcity of liquid capital in Germany.

BULB CULTURE WILL BE TRIED IN THIS COUNTY

Sterling, National Garden Head, In City Today Investigating Soil Conditions in Surrounding Country

Shows Added Profit For Local Growers

Also Interested in the Lake Shore Development Project; Syndicate Will Build New Park West Of This City

W. W. Sterling, nationally known horticulturist, and head of the National Gardens, largest bulb center in the south, located 10 miles north of Daytona, is in Sanford today, investigating local soil conditions with the intention of later introducing the bulb industry to Seminole county farmers.

It is the opinion of Mr. Sterling that bulb raising by the celery growers here, after the celery crop is in, can be made a profitable venture for local agriculturists.

Mr. Sterling, in an interview today, points out that after Jan. 1, 1926, the government will prohibit the importation of bulbs from France and Holland, from which sources the bulk of the bulbs now used in the United States are received. He declares that this embargo will compel the cultivation of bulbs on this side of the Atlantic.

In his statement today, Mr. Sterling emphasizes the fact that Florida soil is the only one yet found in the United States suited for the production of the paper white narcissus and certain grades of gladiolus.

In seeking location for expansion in this state, Mr. Sterling states that this vicinity, with its productive soil, and its comparative freedom from the frost hazard, is ideally situated for the project which he has in mind. He points out that the farmers can grow a profitable crop of bulbs after the celery crop has been taken in, declaring that the ratio of profit will run 900 more on bulbs over that from celery.

In presenting some interesting statistics, in this connection, it is shown that the profit on the paper white narcissus runs as high as $4,000 per acre per year, while that on gladiolus will reach $2,500.

Neither Commander Landsdowne nor Commander Nordes had ever protested against the flights, he asserted, but were, on the contrary, confident that they would be successful.

To Be Congressional Probe
Chairman Butler, of the house naval affairs committee, who called on Secretary Wilbur today, announced later that a congressional investigation would be made of the Shenandoah disaster, the attack of Colonel Mitchell, and his criticism of the Air Service.

Both Mitchell and Captain Anton Heinen, dirigible construction engineer, who said the number of men in the airship had been reduced to the point that helium gas could not escape with the necessary rapidity, will be called before the committee to testify, the chairman said.

It also will investigate statements attributed to Mrs. Landsdowne, widow of the commander.

Local Shrine Club To Enjoy Banquet Here This Evening

Arrangements for the Shrine Club banquet, to be held this evening at the Seminole Cafe, have been completed, according to announcement made this morning by E. F. Lane, president, who stated that the committee in charge of the banquet plan to make this the club's first affair in some time, a premier social event.

The banquet hall of the Seminole Cafe has been appropriately decorated in the Shrine motif, it is said. The committee has arranged for a program of special music by an orchestra and several vocalists who have been engaged for the occasion.

Mitchell Huris Another Challenge At Officials; Wilbur Answers Critics

Navy Secretary Says Nothing Political In Shenandoah Flight; Confers With Steele

Says Commander Picked Flight Date

Landsdowne's Wife Did Not Criticize Wilbur, His Statement Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Secretary Wilbur, in a formal statement Wednesday, answered criticisms resulting from the loss of the Shenandoah and the seaplane PN-9, No. 1. He declared "there was nothing political whatever in connection with the flight of the Shenandoah," and that Commander Landsdowne and Commander Rodgers themselves selected the time of the two flights.

The statement was issued after the secretary had conferred with Captain J. W. Steele, commandant of the Lakehurst naval air station, and Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the Naval Bureau of Aeronautics, who returned to Washington today.

"It seems wise, without waiting for the termination of the formal inquiry," said the secretary, "to correct certain misleading statements that are being published."

The flight of the Shenandoah, he declared, was determined upon last June, and had no relation to the polar flight or to the Hawaiian flight. Col. William Mitchell, in his recent attack on the Army and Navy air service, referred to the Shenandoah flight as an effort to offset failure of the two other ventures.

Neither Commander Landsdowne nor Commander Nordes had ever protested against the flights, he asserted, but were, on the contrary, confident that they would be successful.

CROP YIELDS FOR THIS YEAR TO BE BELOW AVERAGE

Department of Agriculture Issues Report Declaring Drought Throughout South Has Harmed Many of Crops

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Crop yields this year will be, for the whole well below the average of recent years, the Department of Agriculture Crop Reporting Board, announced Wednesday in issuing its September production forecasts.

There is little improvement in the general situation over what it was a month ago.

Corn deteriorated on account of dry weather in large areas and indicated production is now 2,885,000 bushels, a loss of 65,000,000 bushels in the last month. The indicated crop is 448,000,000 bushels that produced last year but slightly under the average of last five years.

Generally throughout the South and in a large part of the corn belt the crop is not so promising as it was a month ago, while in Ohio prospects are the best in years. There was little change in Iowa.

Spring wheat yields are running slightly higher than earlier expectations. The crop is now forecast at 234,000,000 bushels, or 21 million more than early August conditions indicated and 1,000,000 more than was produced last year.

Winter wheat already harvested is estimated at 118,000,000 bushels, making the country's total prospective wheat crop about 700,000,000 bushels, or 22,000,000 more than produced last year, but 137,000,000 less than the five year average.

Irish potato prospects declined 9,000,000 bushels, because of hot weather.

Let War Department Take Any Action It Chooses, Asserts Air Chief, Still Defiant

Is Calmly Awaiting Government Action

Thinks Investigation Should Be Made Of War, Navy Bureaus

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 10.—"If the war department does not like the statements I made, let officials take any disciplinary action they want, court martial, or no court martial, but there will be no investigation, no plea, no defense on my part covering a question of that kind," Col. William Mitchell declared here Wednesday, answering a question as to what he intended doing if prosecuted by the war department for his statement of last Saturday.

"The investigation that is needed is of the war and navy department and their conduct in the disgraceful administration of aeronautics," he said.

Although Col. Mitchell was silent on the subject, fellow officers called attention to the fact that Col. E. D. Scott, of the inspector general's department, is stationed at Fort Sam Houston. He outranks either Col. Mitchell or Col. George A. Nugent, assigned by the war department to investigate Col. Mitchell's statements.

Col. Nugent is a member of the coast artillery corps. Col. Scott is not. They point out, too, that rivalry between the coast artillery and the air service is keener than between any other two branches of the service.

Col. Mitchell, after he has pointed out the superiority of air defense over coast artillery to repel an invasion from the sea.

"Again I have been asked to express my opinion on the so-called disciplinary measures that are being taken in my case by the war department," Col. Mitchell said. "So far, all I have to go on are the newspaper reports. It is entirely right and proper that an investigation should be made on any question involving military jurisdiction."

"Discipline is a different thing. Some people call it the unhesitating obedience of a junior to a superior officer. If, however, conditions that obtain are not properly estimated by superior officers and if superior officers are not that in fact but only in name then the discipline ceases, because the people who are under them recognizing that they are incompetent for their positions, fail to have the trust and loyalty in them which should be the case in any undertaking."

"In time of war, conditions have to be met squarely, willingly, but in time of peace questions of great moment to the country must and will be investigated by all the people of the country on their merits, otherwise we would not have representative government."

Secure the issue in this case, which is the fact that our aeronautics is in a disgraceful condition and our whole national defense is little better; is merely to delude the public.

Committee Arranges For Expenditure Of $20,000 For City Ads

After lengthy discussion, the publicity committee of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce, meeting yesterday afternoon with C. W. Rosevear, representative of the Dorland Advertising Company, arranged for the expenditure of $20,000 for advertising in Florida newspapers. This amount will be apportioned to cover a period of one year.

Mr. Rosevear, whose company is handling the contract recently awarded for newspaper and periodical advertising, was also instructed to arrange for advertising in Northern newspapers and magazines during the tourist season, the cost of which is not to exceed $7,500.

The committee, it is stated also reduced the amount of the appropriation for booklets from $8,500 to $6,000. It is expected that the contract for these booklets will be let some time next week.

3 Successive Homers Knocked By Yankees

MANY FAMOUS FILM STARS OF YESTERDAY NOW STRUGGLE ON IN POVERTY AND OBSCURITY

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Where are the famous movie stars of yesterday?

No fame is more fleeting than that based on the celluloid film. Star before it fifteen years ago there were Pickford, Fairbanks, Gish, Talman, and Swanson. But now their names hint of flimsy ghosts.

A few are happily married, some have sought seclusion at the corners of the earth, others still struggle on in the film world, forever grasping at that which has slipped from them forever—youth and fame. Several have dropped from riches to poverty.

The public had no other movie star before it fifteen years ago except Florence Turner.

But now the film glory that once was hers has faded with the rest of her forgotten kind—Marguerite Clark, Gene Gauntier, Florence Lawrence, Mary Charleston, Ella Hall, Marie Walenmy, Mabel Trammell, Mary Fuller, Helen Holmes, Lottie Briscoe and countless others.

only now and then does she get back even as an "extra" at $7.50 a day.

She is still not 35. In 1913 she went to Europe because of poor health and started her own film company. Due to the war it was a failure. All kinds of misfortune followed, until Marion Davies raised a fund to relieve her destitute condition.

"For eight years I have fought for a chance to come back," she said with tears in her eyes. "But nobody wants me. I guess I'm through."

ago when her face was badly burned in escaping from a burning building.

All the skill of specialists could not restore her lost beauty and the loss of her cinema fame was inevitable. However, she refused to give up the fight and is working as an extra in pictures here.

Marguerite Clark, once a noted star of the film world as Mary Pickford, and Mary Charleston, star of the old Vitaphone company, now are happily married. The former is the wife of Harry Williams of New Orleans, and the latter married Henry B. Walthall, the actor.

"I have found more happiness in my home than I ever could have found in the vain glory of seeking personal fame," says Mrs. Walthall.

Nine years ago, Mary Fuller, once a star, suddenly disappeared. It was as though some gulf of obscurity had swallowed her. Only recently was the wiseful Mary found living in seclusion with her mother in a Washington, D. C., suburb.

"I can't say I'm happy, but I thought I had gone as far as I could," she says.

Mable Trunnelle, another bygone luminary, is now Mrs. Herbert Prior, wife of an actor.

There are countless others who have fallen from lofty pinnacles into the abyss of obscurity.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Biological Survey was prompted to resent the assertion of Dr. William H. Hornaday, the zoologist, that the bureau isn't doing all it ought, to check destruction of the country's bird life, but the Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Entomology comes across with the information that the birds certainly are being destroyed.

"Nature has her balances," as Congressman Martin L. Davey, the treaty doctor, remarked to me recently, "and when they're disturbed it makes bad work."

"They eat so many, if there are enough birds, that the plants hold their own. The more birds the more plants. But destroy the birds or reduce their number considerably and the insects multiply enormously and at a prodigious rate, and simply sweep vegetation away."

That America's bird life has diminished greatly in the last generation or two no authority on the subject denies. Some of the Agriculture Department entomologists estimate that it has been reduced by half in 30 years. But they reply to remark that bugs are a good deal worse agricultural problem than they used to be, and that the reason is—there aren't so many birds.

Dr. Hornaday says not. He says it's inadequate yet, and the intimation that he thinks the departmental biologists know it but don't do anything about it because they're too completely under the influence of the American Game Protective and Propagating Association, whose members, he farther hints, seem to him more interested in hunting than in protecting and propagating game.

Denunciation?

Charges of criminal negligence and near treason brought against high Army and Navy officials by Colonel William Mitchell, deposed Chief of Air Service, in his attempt to affix blame for the recent disasters that have overtaken projects of the Navy Air Service should be well considered before judgment is passed. It should be remembered that Colonel Mitchell has ever been wont to paint his picture with a blackened brush, and that, no matter how worthy the cause he has espoused, there is an ever present, tainted breath of scandal in his testimony.

The average observer cannot, to any close degree approximate the truth in Colonel Mitchell's assertions. And it is very hard to believe that the men entrusted with the defence of a nation are so steeped in bureaucracy that they will imperil the lives of their fellow officers with a dangerous mission through either a sense of political duty or an ambitious quest of fame.

Aeronautical experts advance contrary reasons for the collapse of the once proud Shenandoah, and "who shall decide when doctors disagree?" It is only reasonable that the elemental forces combatted during the final moments of the fatal flight would have been tested the factor of safety in a structure more strongly braced and more securely anchored. Members of the crew are firm in their belief that no dirigible yet devised could have withstood the storm which sent the "Laughter of the Skies" to earth in a tangled mass of twisted metal and rent fabric.

The progress of aviation has been marked by a long list of martyrs who have sacrificed their lives in the interest of a science which is still in its infancy. The lessons learned in one crash have doubtless prevented similar failures later. The United States has been singularly fortunate in this respect, and the co-incident of two such catastrophes occurring simultaneously could well be used by a man long known for his extreme views and radical speech, as an opportunity to raise the cry of "Wolf."

It may have been a bitter feeling of resentment which compels Colonel Mitchell to thus point an accusative finger at those who earlier replaced his stars with an eagle rather than harken to his radical theories.

On the other hand, Colonel Mitchell is a firm believer in the severance of the Air Service from Army and Navy administration. His ideas for the creation of a departmental air to rule the nation's air destiny is not without its commendable features. He has been reduced in rank once for his enthusiasm in the face of departmental opposition. Having lost a position where his word carried some weight, he is confronted by the fact that in a minor office his views are enveloped by the mantle of oblivion, unless, by some spectacular, glorified grandstand play, he can once more emerge from the mass and direct the nation's attention to that which may, after all, be its crying need.

There may be, as well, good grounds upon which he can base the charges he has brought. Bureaucracy and political jealousy are not unknown in the capitol. Colonel Mitchell will be given the opportunity to state his case. Be that as it may, one cannot avoid a feeling of admiration for such singleness of purpose, and courage of convictions. No man, unless he is utterly without reason, will openly court public disgrace, and the possibility of being declared unfit to wear the uniform of his country's service, for the mere sake of publicity.

It is not easy to understand the attitude the government has taken toward the colonel's attack. The Navy, bearing the brunt of his denunciation, shrugs its epauletted shoulders, and calmly passes the buck to the Army, with the vague remark that, since the Colonel is an Army man, it is for the Army to mete out justice, while the Army maintains a reticent policy, pending an investigation which is slow in its inception.

Whether it is the fear of guilt, or an indifference calculated to belittle the stand taken by Colonel Mitchell, or the usual slow progress of a machine noted for its production of red tape in bulk, is a matter to be shown by time alone.

Be that as it may, it is regrettable that a man of such forthright and possessed of a dominant will, to gain a hearing for his ideals should, either by choice or the force of circumstance, employ the word "Treason" to that end.

Florida Gains Another Distinguished Citizen

In securing Dr. Hamilton 1914 as president of Rollins College at Winter Park, the board of trustees of that institution, has succeeded in bringing to Florida one of the outstanding educators of this country and a man who has had a distinguished career as author, editor and student of economy.

Dr. Holt is peculiarly fitted for the responsible duties which he is about to assume as the head of one of Florida's leading colleges. He is a graduate of Yale and Columbia Universities and holds an honorary degree from the former. He also holds an honorary degree from Ursinus College, W. Chester, the great Presbyterian University in Ohio and also Oberlin College in the same state.

The greatest work of Dr. Holt has been as editor of the Independent. He served as managing editor of that magazine from 1897 to 1913 when he became its editor and owner. From 1913 to 1921, Dr. Holt continued as the active head of the magazine, retiring at the end of that time in the capacity as consulting editor, a position which he now holds.

As editor of the Independent he became widely known for his views upon history, sociology and economics, three subjects which he majored in while at college. His vigorous and timely writings upon these subjects have been well received throughout the country that many colleges have used his magazine for supplementary class work.

Dr. Holt was president of the Third American Peace Congress, head of the American-Scandinavian Foundation and founder of the League of Enforce Peace. Other honors that he has held include vice-president of the Italian-American Society, trustee of the Christian Peace Union, member of the executive committee of the League of Nations Non-Partisan Association, executive director of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, chairman of executive committee of the American-Railtie Society, member of National Institute of Social Sciences, Simplified Spelling Board, French-American Society, the Pilgrims and other orders. Dr. Holt has been decorated by France, Italy, Sweden, Greece, Japan and others.

In becoming the eleventh president of Rollins College, Dr. Holt will bring to that institution additional reputation and prestige that will mean much to it in the educational world. His coming to this state will no doubt attract many other noted scholars as well as undergraduates, who desire to pursue their studies under the direction and influence of such an outstanding figure in the educational world.

In Dr. Holt's acceptance of the Rollins presidency, Florida gains another distinguished citizen whose leadership will bring him and his adopted state additional fame. The Herald extends its congratulations to Rollins College in particular and to Florida in general upon its good fortune.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

Frank McIntyre, the plumpest comedian on this continent, played vaudeville dates one season. One night after his turn he dropped in to a short-order restaurant near the theatre for a bite, before going to bed. Sitting next to him was a former circus acrobat, who did a horizontal-bar act on the same bill with McIntyre.

The acrobat was sawing away at the anemly knee-joint of a fried chicken leg. Though the knife was sharp and he was athletic, he made but little headway. He waved his arm toward a bottle of ketchup which stood upon the counter near McIntyre's elbow. "Say, ho," he requested, "pass me a horizontal bar, will you? De sea gull's got de rheumatism."

Labor Day in America. Argest Col. Mitchell? Not with Coolidge's Consent. A City of 50,000,000.

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1925)

LABOR DAY once more, a day without labor and with little thinking, and for 99 per cent of all the people merely a day for pleasure. Labor in this country, free from class consciousness assiduously cultivated in Europe, looks upon itself not as a class apart, and with good reason.

THE LABORING man of today may make of himself the business man of tomorrow, and the man of great wealth day after tomorrow. Social lines in the United States are not solidified or petrified. It's a short step from a sewing machine to a Rolls-Royce, from a set of tools to the head office of a big contracting concern.

Labor day is welcome. It's a holiday at exactly the right time. But so far as labor is concerned, it doesn't mean much.

COLONEL MITCHELL, formerly Brigadier-General, lowered in rank because he dared to tell the truth about aircraft conditions in the United States, has written a statement that will startle the country. His description of the farcical parade of battleships in the Pacific, and the ultra-farcical announcement that our fleet had conquered an enemy fleet and taken Honolulu, will interest the President.

COLONEL MITCHELL, written fearlessly, roughly and most unpleasantly for certain army chair gentlemen in Washington. Colonel Mitchell predicts that he will be put under military arrest for his statement.

Those that know President Coolidge, the millions of Americans that believe in him, believe that instead of allowing Colonel Mitchell to be put under arrest, the President will send for him and learn for himself the basis of the statements that Colonel Mitchell makes.

The President of the United States is interested in the security of the United States, and in the men whose lives are alleged to have been sacrificed to ignorance and political advertising. COLONEL MITCHELL has already been lowered in rank because he told the truth to the people and to Congress. Any order to put him under arrest for his statement would certainly be submitted to the President before going through.

And it is not conceivable that the President would permit that drastic suppression of free speech. PROFESSOR IRVING, of Columbia College, who estimates the probable population of New York City in 1945 at 50,000,000 is interested in the architectural problems that will come with a city containing more people than all of France or England. Future architecture will depend on flying machine development in the next forty years. If the helicopter, flying straight up and down, is made a success, architects in forty years will plan their buildings for flying machine landings.

And regardless of the helicopter, it is probable that another half-century will see the office and manufacturing buildings big enough, half a mile square perhaps, to allow for airplane landings. IF NEW YORK City is to have 50,000,000 population forty years hence, what will the population of other American cities be—Chicago, Los Angeles, and future cities in Texas, Florida or Washington.

CITIES WILL grow to monstrous size, as the dinosaurs of the hundreds of centuries ago. And probably, like the dinosaurs, after the cities have grown too big, they will die out.

Human houses will live on mountain tops and hill tops in small separate communities, with plenty of room for each. They will fly down to their work, not in cities, but in fertile valleys or in big individual factory buildings of steel and glass. "It hath not yet been shown what we shall be," and, what is more, no man living at present can guess the future.

PAUPERISM IS dying out in the United States, thanks to better wages, widows' pensions, more enlightened medical care, and especially campaigns of health advertising, carried on by the great life insurance companies.

Only 100,000 in our population only 7.5 are in poorhouses now. And that is exactly 7.5 too many. In 1914 there were 215 out of 100,000 in the poorhouses. Things have improved since the war forced up wages.

IT IS suggested that railroads be forced to combine in great transportation units, and that they make their own selections, "rather than have the Government do the choosing for them."

Why not have a selection of well informed men, railroad men of course, acquainted with traffic conditions, make a survey of railroads, and let the Government know which combination should be made in the interest of economy and of efficiency? PRESIDENT COOLIDGE will certainly not think it wise to leave these combinations to selfish interests based on opportunities for stock jobbing, combining broken down roads with good roads for the sake of immediate profit, rather than more efficiency. Perhaps under the terms of somebody's else's highway, jam on all the gas and proceed to tackle a problem in differential calculus with empty-headed glees.

There are usually four cars in the problem and they are all moving at different speeds. It is impossible for the fool to know the speed of his own car, though he probably doesn't. He must guess ahead of him and the two cars just approach. The fool isn't equipped mentally for guessing. He simply swings off his own side of the road and takes the chances. But the devil is waiting for him, over-berthless, and rubbing his hands with delight in anticipation of the hour of his reception.

THE AIR DISASTERS JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL

The entire country has been saddened by two air disasters in which some of the most daring and efficient aviators in the service have lost their lives. The loss of the Shenandoah with a list of fourteen fatalities and the virtually certain loss of the naval seaplane with five aboard have been added to an extraordinarily long list of naval mishaps within the past two or three years.

The crew of the Shenandoah gave their lives to the advancement of the service they loved—in one of duty "with their boots on." They were heroes in the endless conquest of man over the conditions of nature in which he has found himself enclosed. Their names will be written along with others in the log book of aviation with the highest credit marks to show that they gave their supreme effort to the promotion of the newest mode of transportation.

The first thought among the skeptical on reading of these disasters will be to conclude that aviation can never be made practicable, that the elements and hazards they offer are too stubborn to yield to human ingenuity. But it is the fact of failures that means the ultimate success of all branches of aviation. The same has been said of every mode of improved transportation that has ever been tried and found to be finally successful. It is only a matter of some twenty years that the Wright brothers first flew in the air and astonished the world with their feat. Many then prophesied that flying could never be made practicable. Yet today the greatest government on earth has adopted flying as the best means for the rapid dispatch of mail. The record of the steam-turbine, the record of the automobile might be surveyed to show that the dreamers triumphed over the prophets of doom and that it success only spurred the determination to overcome initial failures. So it will be with aviation. The day will come when ships of the type of the Shenandoah, with weaknesses and faults corrected, will be common. Failure is only an incident in the path of progress. Faith in aviation has not been shaken.

Government support of lighter-than-air craft may be withheld for a time because of the loss of the Shenandoah and the cost in building another airship to replace it. The loss of so much helium gas will delay the construction of another ship that can be used for military purposes. The Los Angeles, which was built in Germany, cannot be used for other than civil purposes. The country needs a new dirigible for experimental use.

One lesson from the latest disaster is that the government unity its air service. Another is that failures only mean the will to succeed. Still another is that aviation be placed in the hands of its friends and taken from the control of fault-finders and non-flying critics. An additional lesson, one that needs to be learned very thoroughly, is that aviation must not be sacrificed for the sake of economy.

A CAULDRON FOR HIM TAMPA TIMES

A brand-new cauldron is reserved for the latest style of human fool—the man who takes a risk in passing the car in front of him on a crowded paved country highway.

A pin-headed pie consumer will manage to struggle through the third grade at school and then quit because the multiplication table is too much for him, says the Wichita, Kansas, Eagle. The simplest problems in mathematics are beyond him. He will then obtain a car through somebody's else's labor, take to the paved country highway, jam on all the gas and proceed to tackle a problem in differential calculus with empty-headed glees.

There are usually four cars in the problem and they are all moving at different speeds. It is impossible for the fool to know the speed of his own car, though he probably doesn't. He must guess ahead of him and the two cars just approach. The fool isn't equipped mentally for guessing. He simply swings off his own side of the road and takes the chances. But the devil is waiting for him, over-berthless, and rubbing his hands with delight in anticipation of the hour of his reception.

RAHNER-HARDY WEDDING, LOVELY SOCIAL EVENT AT SKYLAND, N. C.

SKYLAND, N. C., Sept. 10.—(Special to The Herald)—A lovely Asheville event, which will be of interest throughout the south is the wedding of Miss Emily Nyce Rahner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Rahner of St. Augustine and William Jennings Hardy, of Sanford.

The wedding was at the home of the bride's parents in Skyland, N. C. The large front porch, decorated by Mrs. W. A. Knight, was a bower of palms and fern, with an improvised altar adorned with candles and white roses.

Entering from the livingroom, the two ushers, Joseph Rahner and Paul Lake of Sanford, came first. Miss Adelaide Knight, a pretty bridesmaid, then entered alone, wearing peach chiffon and carrying an arm bouquet of pink roses. Miss Margaret Hardy, sister of the groom, also wore peach and carried pink roses.

BLOCKMEN NOSE OUT TAMPA AND COP SERIES LEAD

Saints Leader Doubles In Eleventh to Drive Barnes In With the Winning Tally; Cobb Gets Poor Support

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Manager George Block led his Saints to a 5 to 4 victory over Tampa Wednesday afternoon, St. Petersburg thus assuming a lead of two games to one in the Florida State League pennant series.

Block's double in the eleventh inning with Barnes on base drove in the winning run after his three singles during the earlier part of the contest kept the Saints in the running. Cobb pitched well for the Smokers, but numerous errors by his infield and a costly misplay by Charlie Allen in the outfield, cost him a victory.

The Saints counted three times in the last of the ninth to tie the score, Block's single driving in two of the runs. Houston, who had two bad innings when the Smoke's scored all their runs, was relieved in the ninth by Harry Stagg, a recruit from Indiana, who held the Smokers safely the rest of the way.

Cubs Take Eleven Inning Tilt From Loop Leading Buck

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Chicago won the final game of the series from the Pirates yesterday, 9 to 7, in eleven innings, making the count three out of four from the League leaders. The Cubs broke through the tie in the eleventh when hits and errors resulted in three tallies. In the local half, Cuyler tripled and Traynor singled, but Hoffman tightened up and ended budding rally. The game was marked by poor fielding and Kaufmann's wildness.

Score by innings: Chicago 000 030 030 03—9-14-2 Pitts. 030 000 300 01—7-13-4 Batteries: Kaufmann and Hartnett; Kremer, Adams, Morrison and Smith.

Editor Writes Book On Politics In Jail

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Marco Rodrigues, managing editor of the Correio da Manhã, recently was released after serving a prison sentence of one year, imposed in a suit for libel brought against him by former President Epitacio Pessoa. Rodrigues utilized his time in prison writing a book about the political, social and economic conditions of his country which will be issued in two volumes consisting of about 1,000 pages. Practically all of the work was written without references.

Franco-Spanish Drive Against Riffians Gets Under Way In Corocco

PARIS, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The long heralded Franco-Spanish offensive against Abd El Krim's Riffian tribesmen and their allies has begun and soon will be in full swing, it was said in official quarters today. The Spaniards, after their successful landing on the shores of Albuemas Bay yesterday, are marching on to Ajder to the south. Franco-Spanish forces, numbering between 150,000 and 200,000 are, or shortly will be attacking Tetuan in the northwestern section of Riffian territory and She-shuan, further to the south.

A piece of linen, 6,000 years old, recently examined by the chairman of the Irish Linen Society, was found to be as perfect structurally as are the linens made today.

ATHLETICS TAKE SERIES FINAL BY COUNT OF 9 TO 7

Four Pitchers Used to Halt Washington Rallies; Peck Drives in Six Runs With Homers in Two Innings

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics got an even break in the four-game series with Washington by winning a slug-fest yesterday, 9 to 7, thereby reducing the Senators lead to seven games.

Eddie Rommel, Mack's fourth pitcher in the game, saved the contest when he relieved Groves in the eighth and stopped Washington's rally. Simmons tripled with the bases full in the sixth inning, giving the Athletics their winning margin.

Roger Peckinpaugh almost won the game for the Senators single-handed, knocking out two home runs in successive innings, the third and fourth, and driving in six of Washington's seven runs.

This comeback of the Athletics bids fair to prolong the American League pennant issue, but with only about a score games remaining on each club's schedule, it is still a forlorn and very hopeless task for the Mackmen to overcome their rivals.

Al Simmons, slugging center-fielder, Lefty Baumgartner, and Eddie Rommel, veteran knuckleball twirler, were the heroes of the Athletics victory.

Even the hereleugh batting of Peckinpaugh was not strong enough to stop the rampaging Mackmen who banged away until they overcame the Senators' big lead with a sensational five-run rally in the sixth that drove Zachary from the box. All told the Athletics shelled three Washington twirlers for 15 hits.

Simmons' telling blow for the Athletics was made off Russell, Zachary's successor.

Zachary had been found for two runs previously in this inning, and five altogether were brought in before the final out. This rally by the Athletics followed a succession of thrusts by Washington with Peckinpaugh in the leading role which drove out Rube Walberg, Mack's opening mound choice, with the bases full, two runs already in and two out in the sixth. Lefty Baumgartner, rushed into this breach, retired Peck for the third out. This was the only batter Baumgartner faced.

One-Profits Value Unit-Built Construction

Make Studebakers Bargains in Quality

BECAUSE Studebaker builds for Studebaker cars all bodies, all engines, all axles, clutches, differentials, steering gear, springs, gear sets, gray iron castings and drop forgings—it is possible to give purchasers two advantages:

1. A price advantage: Because Studebaker eliminates extra profits which all other manufacturers (except Ford) must pay to outside parts or body makers. Thus Studebaker is able to use steel of extra toughness, fine northern white ash and hard maple, wool upholstery, plate glass, painstaking workmanship to precision standards, and extra equipment, such as gasoline gauge, clock, stop light, etc.—yet charge no more than competing cars.
2. A construction advantage: Because all parts are not only designed to constitute one harmonious unit, but are Unit-Built in Studebaker plants. Being built as a unit, every Studebaker functions as a unit. This results in years longer life, scores of thousands of miles of excess transportation, greater riding comfort, minimum repair costs and, finally, higher resale value.

The net of it is this—the one-profit Studebaker with its unit-built construction offers you a bargain in quality.

There are others in our general price field who also build quality cars. But for models that are at all comparable their prices are higher.

Others, who once built quality cars, made material sacrifice in order to secure a price advantage. These cars are value for the man or woman who want a kind of a car. But if he wants a bargain there is only one answer—Studebaker.

Consider, for instance, the Standard Six illustrated above. It has wool upholstery, plate glass; fine trim to hide all tack and ornamental hardware; clock; gasoline gauge; dash; automatic windshield cleaner; door locks on ignition; steering gear, door and tire carrier all operated by a single key. Slam the door and the sound says "Swing on the door. Run one wheel up curb and note how the doors still close. Sit on the firm, heavy fenders. size balloon tires. Test the comfort of the rear seat. Its genuine wool upholstery of two layers of washed, quilted cotton, one of genuine curled hair and extra long, closely held together by small coil springs. Run the engine—the most powerful in its size and weight, and ing to the ratings of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Come in and see this in quality—the lowest priced closed car ever sold by a maker.

"It Certainly Is a Smart-looking Car"

That's what everyone has to say who has seen the latest Ford cars. You'll hear it among automobile men, as well as from motorists generally.

That such attractive motor cars could be offered without the slightest increase in prices, seemed incredible to a public long familiar with Ford values.

Yet enthusiasm for the smart new appearance can never supersede the fact that it is the quality of materials and workmanship that has made the Ford the world's leading automobile value. New beauty has not crowded out traditional Ford reliability.

The very volume of Ford output demands absolute accuracy of every working part. The steady flow of production is dependent upon parts fitting together perfectly; inaccuracies would interrupt and delay assembly. And to this precision must be largely credited the uniformly fine performance and freedom from trouble of all Ford cars.

Closed cars now shown in color are unusually pleasing; new and finer upholstery gives an artistic harmony to the cars. Bright nickeled radiators feature the closed cars and nickeled headlamp rims are on all types. The fenders are larger and longer, and the running boards are wider.

Comfort is increased by the cars' lower center of gravity, by the low, deep, wide seats, by the added foot room, and by many other refinements that contribute to your ease, convenience and safety.

Here is the ideal car for a woman's personal use—good-looking, trustworthy, easy to handle and inexpensive to maintain. Here, too, is a practical car for any family—that every member of the family can enjoy.
