45 Are Employed By Firm Making French Lingerie

One of Sanford's newer enterprises is the Petite Paris which specializes in the manufacture of Parisian lingerie. This firm was started under the direction of Mrs. M. A. Yelvington who served with the Counter-Intelligence Service in Frankfurt, Germany during the last war. Her inspiration for this lingerie was gained on leaves during her overseas service when she noted the beautiful handmade undergarments of Parisian designers.

Mrs. Yelvington started a factory here upon her return to the United States and now employs 45 persons who make the articles by hand. She serves as president of the corporation and has been joined by her brother, Albert Fitz who acts as executive vice president.

On Jan. 20 Ozier-Weller Inc. secured from the City an option on a whole city block overlooking Lake Monroe for the building of a 50-unit apartment project, the most ambitious of its type ever undertaken here. Now devoted to use as a softball diamond the area has a frontage of 240 feet on Seminole Boulevard, with 350 feet depth on Palmetto and Hood Avenues. Located immediately behind the Greyhound Bus station and close to the business section, the $300,000 project is to include stores and a meeting hall for civic clubs.

Assisting the Oziers in their enterprises is a nephew, Lowell Ozier. "I like Sanford and am sold on the place," said Cecil Ozier who has lived here for more than a year. "One reason I decided to invest here is your City administration of young and progressive men. In addition, I believe that your waterfront terminal will be the key to future expansion here."

Foundations for the 125 units are now about completed and it is expected that the whole project will be ready for occupancy by Sept. 1, according to Ralph Cowan, chairman and George Williams, executive director of the Sanford Housing Authority. Elton J. Moughton is architect for the project. It will house about 500 persons.

Building is due to start soon on a 40 unit FHA project for white tenants at Third Street and Pecan Avenue. It will be named Edward Higgins Terrace in honor of the late Edward Higgins, who revived the housing projects while serving as manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

During the past year a number of beautiful homes of the $25,000-$50,000 type have been erected in the Mayfair section and facing Lake Monroe. The first of these was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Toke. Homes were erected nearby by W. V. Bitting and Al-

VACATION SETTING OF YOUR DREAMS

The Mayfair Inn — owned and operated by the New York Giants baseball club — lies beside the sparkling blue waters of 28 square-mile Lake Monroe in the heart of central Florida. Here, 128 miles below Jacksonville, is a tropical paradise — a land of golden-spangled orange groves set against a backdrop of swaying palms.

FREE GOLF

Mayfair Inn visitors receive free guest privileges at the magnificent 18-hole course of the nearby Seminole Country Club. Free transportation to and from the course in hotel station wagons.

FUN AFTER DARK

Skilled recreation directors fill your evenings with gaiety. They invite you to dances, movies, bingo parties or other group amusements nightly in the hotel. They find you partners for bridge, ping-pong or tennis on the floodlight courts.

SPRINGTIME IS GLORIOUS HERE

In March and April the Sanford countryside is ablaze with flamboyant tropical flowers; the perfume of blossoming orange groves fills the air. Nights are balmy; bright, warm sunlight beckons you every day to outdoor fun.

FOOD FOR A KING

Menus at the Mayfair Inn are prepared by an expert chef. Thick, tender steaks and chops, and delicious pastries are his specialties. Three times daily, his generous servings gratify your vacation-whetted appetite.

ALL-YEAR RATE: $10.00

SWIM IN THE MAYFAIR'S PRIVATE POOL

Beneath the palms that fringe beautiful Lake Monroe is the Mayfair Inn's de luxe private swimming pool. Picture yourself diving in its sun-warmed water . . . tanning healthfully on the private beach . . . lunching at an umbrella-shaded pool-side table.

BASEBALL THRILLS

In early March over 700 players from the Giants' 23 minor-league baseball clubs gather at the Giants' training base four miles from the hotel. Guests are welcome to watch these players in action on seven practice diamonds; free transportation is provided in hotel station wagons.

FISH FOR TACKLE-SMASHING BASS

Lakes and streams around the Mayfair Inn abound in black bass, hard-fighting monsters of 20 and 15 pounds. Every month of the year is open season. Expert guides, with boat and tackle, usually charge $10.00 a day.

RESERVE NOW FOR MARCH AND APRIL

Only a few rooms are still available at the Mayfair Inn during March and April. Immediate reservation is recommended. Write to Mr. Charles G. Marian, Manager, The Mayfair Inn, Sanford, Florida, in New York and vicinity, telephone Wisconsin 7-2682.

$1,386,201 Spent On Schools In 1950

200 Instructors Are Providing Students With Integrated, Modern Education

Seminole County boasts one of the finest educational systems in Central Florida with a total outlay of $1,386,201 having been spent during 1950 to assure the very best in facilities and teacher personnel.

Twenty schools staffed with 200 full time teachers and five special supervisors provide top-flight instruction for all children in the first through the twelfth grades.

Over $554,000 of the annual appropriation went into teachers' salaries last year, largest single expense of the school budget. Among the instructors, one is equipped with a doctor's degree, 27 with masters and 157 with bachelors' Average salary for teachers in Seminole County is $2,750 per year.

A total of 4,700 students are enrolled in the schools and 26 buses and four cars are provided for transportation in the rural areas.

During the past year two one-teacher schools have been consolidated with larger, more efficient plants and the system has shown general overall improvement following expenditures of some $27,000 on repairs and new construction.

Most of the money supporting the school system is derived from county and district taxes with the State of Florida supplying $611,000 and the Federal government contributing $24,750.

Present value of school property is estimated at $1,400,000 by T. W. Lawton, Seminole County Superintendent of Schools. Some $21,000 of bonded indebtedness is offset by $138,000 dollars in government bonds held by the school system.

Academic courses, vocational training, home economics, and manual training are offered in three white and one Negro school and all county schools offer art training under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Babcock. Music instruction is also available to all students under the guidance of Mrs. Escar Price.

Driving instruction, an important and often neglected part of modern education, is a part of the high school curriculum with dual control automobiles being provided by local automobile dealers.

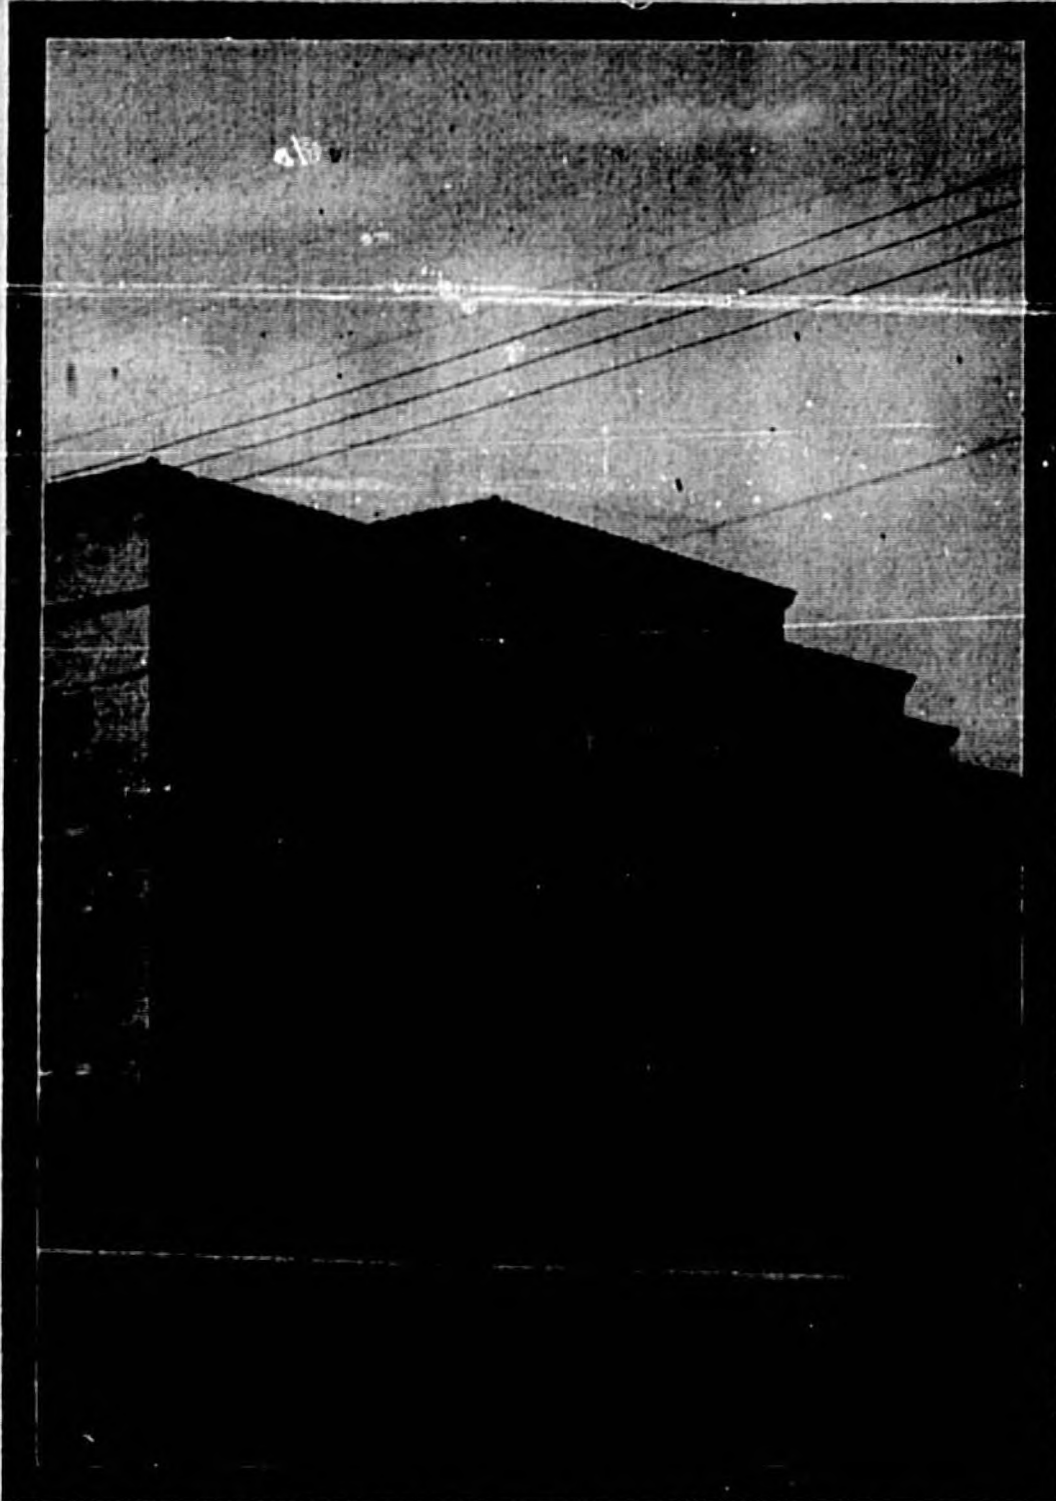

Seminole County has an extensive program of veterans' education which provides 200 students with courses from the elementary courses at the Sanford Vocational School.

Fred C. Murray, head of the veterans program, points out that veterans are enabled to prepare for any of several skilled vocations through courses offered by the Seminole County Institute. Twenty-one teachers work within the framework of the veterans education set-up.

Another of Sanford's adult educational organizations is the Vocational School under the direction of Mrs. R. C. Maxwell which offers courses at all levels to 95 students, 50 of whom are veterans.

The school recently conducted mock trials as an adjunct to its course in Commercial Law and every attempt is made to concentrate on the practical aspects of subjects in which the students are being trained.

Mrs. Ouida Wilson is in charge of lunchrooms operated at all schools on a self-sustaining basis. Smaller schools in the system receive federal aid under the hot lunch law provisions to enable them to provide nourishing meals.

SEMINOLE HIGH SCHOOL

State University Has $6,000,000 In New Construction

The University of Florida, located in Gainesville, 80 miles northwest of Sanford, had a registration this fall of 10,039 students.

Of the present enrollment, 7,996 are men and 2,044 are women. The University encourages R.O.T.C. training in which 2,530 are now participants.

More than $6,000,000 was spent for new construction last year. This included a new addition to the Engineering and Industrial Building at a cost of $1,000,000, additions to the library building with outlay of more than $1,380,000, and additions to the Law building costing $230,000.

In addition to these buildings three men's dormitories were erected at a cost of $2,000,000, a women's dormitory for $510,000, an administration building at $1,000,000 and a student service center costing $500,000. Gainesville, in which the University is located, is a city of beautiful homes. The University grounds cover some 1,500 acres and a wooded area of like size is used for its school of forestry.

A vast program of expansion is being considered for the University, including 20 new buildings. The plan provides for a student capacity of 10,000 of whom 8,000 will reside on the campus.

In 1947 the University became co-educational and now has more than 2,000 women students. Dormitories for women are under construction and additional dormitories for men are being provided.

Located at Gainesville since 1905 the University is the successor to earlier state institutions dating back to 1853. It has three main functions, teaching, research and extension. The teaching functions are carried out in the University College in which all students are enrolled during the first two years and in the professional schools.

These include colleges of agriculture, architecture and allied arts, arts and sciences, business administration, engineering, forestry, law, pharmacy, physical education, health and athletics, music, and the graduate school.

Organized research is carried in agriculture under the auspices of the 10 state agricultural stations, the main one of which is in Gainesville.

Research in engineering is done through the Engineering and Industrial Experiment Station, a unit of the college of engineering. Agricultural short courses, and Continued On Page 3

More than a hundred miles of free access to the Atlantic ocean was given the people of Florida by two state agencies when the State Road Department and the State Park Department created the Overseas Parkway from the mainland to Key West. Seminole High Has Total Enrollment Of 514 Students

Academic Standards At School Compare With State's Best

By ED HARPER

Largest unit in the county is Seminole High School with an enrollment of 514. Twenty-five teachers provide instruction for the ninth through twelfth grades under the supervision of principal Herman E. Morris. A member of the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges, the academic standards of Seminole High compare favorably with the best in Florida.

Through its Student Council, headed by Clarence Clause, High School students have a strong voice in the internal affairs of their school taking part in organizing the Homecoming exercises, the May Day ball and many other activities of interest primarily to the student body. Excellent training for responsible tasks is thus provided as well as a sense of being a part of the school's policy-making apparatus.

Among the activities at the high school is the 60-piece band outfitted in the school colors of Orange and Black. The band, one of the finest in Central Florida, participated in the Orlando and DeLand Christmas parades last year and entertained between halves at local football games. A comic dance and marching program was put on by the group under the direction of B. E. Black at the intermission of last year's homecoming game with Leesburg.

Miss Ollie Reese Whittle directs a glee club of 200 students which gives periodic concerts throughout the year. It participates in the state and district music festivals and presents programs for a variety of civic organizations during the school year.

Clubs in which Seminole High School students participate include: Tri-H-Y, Pan-American Club, the Pep Club, Debating Society, Key Club, Latin Club, Theatrical Club, and Future Homemakers of America.

Miss Rebecca Stevens is faculty advisor for the Tri-H-Y of which Pat Casabe is president. The club has as its announced aim the extension throughout the community of the standards of Christian character. Mainly a service organization, the club meets twice a month. Members must maintain a scholastic average of 85 or better in order to remain in the club. Among its activities are the sponsorship of a football banquet at the close of the season, a party for freshman girls at the beginning of the school year and tea party in the spring for senior girls and mothers.

MONTEZUMA HOTEL

the club sponsors a variety of school activities during the year among which are a Christmas Dance and Mother's Day banquet. Mrs. Boyd Coleman sponsors the Latin and Theatrical clubs which are organizations for Latin students and those interested in drama. A banquet is staged each year by the Latin club.

Interest in South and Central America is stimulated each year by the Pan-American Club under the direction of Mrs. Hamilton Blisbee. Each year the club stage a Pan-American Day to promote a better understanding of the problems of the Spanish-speaking nations to the south.

The Pep Club, girls' service group boasting 60 members, sponsors a basketball banquet each year as well as a Christmas program to provide toys for needy children. High scholastic standards are maintained by the club from its members.

Seminole High School's debating society, directed by J. C. Wells, is affiliated with the National Forensic League and members participate in debates with other schools throughout Central Florida.

Miss Barbara Ruprecht directs the activities of the Future Homemakers of America which is devoted to preparing its members to become skillful and modern housewives. The club sponsors a tea for mothers in the fall.

Rudolph Smith edits the Celery Fed, school paper, which presents the views of the students on school affairs in its columns which are written exclusively by and for the students.

Seminole high is justly proud of its annual, the Salmagundi which has consistently received a first class rating, highest possible, from the National Scholastic Press Association. In 1948, the local publication was the only one in Florida to receive the All-American accolade which was also awarded the Salmagundi in 1942 and 1943.

The school library staff composed entirely of students is headed by Miss Edna Chittenden who teaches them the importance of training in reference work and the use of large libraries.

various correspondence courses. The University Library has more than one half a million volumes, including an outstanding collection of Floridaiana. Station WRUF, broadcasting AM and FM programs is maintained, and it was here that Sanford's Walter Red Barber got his start as a sport broadcaster.

Dr. J. Willis Miller became the president of the University in 1947 and under his guidance much progress has been made in its expansion and development.

Junior High School Gives Specialized Art, Music Courses

Sanford Junior High School, composed of the seventh and eighth grades, is equipped with a fine plant including lunchroom which serves 64 percent of the student body hot meals.

The school's activities include the San-Ju-Hi, school paper, special music and art courses and a woodworking shop.

A fully developed sports program is supported by the school including touch football, basketball and softball teams.

Principal R. E. True points with particular pride to the 900 volume school library which is developing an interest in literature among his students. The library is run almost entirely by the children and is one of the most successful experiments in student responsibility conducted at the school.

Two-hundred and fifty seven pupils now receive instruction at the school under nine teachers and a visiting music supervisor.

Principal B. C. Steele has developed a wide variety of student activities at the Sanford Grammar School during his five years as principal including a May Day festival, program of folk dances and special physical training aids during the children's play periods.

Nine teachers and two special art and music instructors provide the 270 students with a sound basic curriculum as well as developing their special talents along the lines in which they may be talented.

Mrs. Margaret Graham conducts special classes to correct speech impediments and faulty speech among the children.

Art classes are held by Mrs. Millard Babcock and music instruction is offered by Mrs. Ester

Sanford Boys Attend Camp Winona

Morris Reveals Purchase Of New 3,000 Acre Camp Site In Neighboring County

By ED HARPER
Within a few miles of Sanford is a virtual frontier paradise abounding in game, fish and all varieties of wildlife. In the midst of this wilderness beauty is located the Seminole County Boys Camp on the shores of Lake Winona.

Each summer for the past 25 years Camp Winona has been a second home and camping heaven for dozens of boys who are familiarized with wildlife and taught self-sufficiency during their two weeks stay.

Facilities for swimming, boating, archery, shooting, Indian lore, handicrafts and pioneering exist as well as training in life guarding and first aid.

The camp was first organized in 1926 as an adjunct to the local YMCA and was later taken over by Herman Morris, principal of Seminole High School, in order to provide a summer camp for local boys.

Beginning with equipment to care for only 20 boys, the camp last year had 89 boys in its six dormitory cabins and six full time camp counselors to instruct them in various phases of camp life.

The day at Camp Winona begins with morning exercises at 7:00 A. M., followed by a flag-raising ceremony and breakfast. After "Camp Cleanup" morning classes in various sports are held until 11:00 A. M. when a free-for-all swim involving all the youngsters is held.

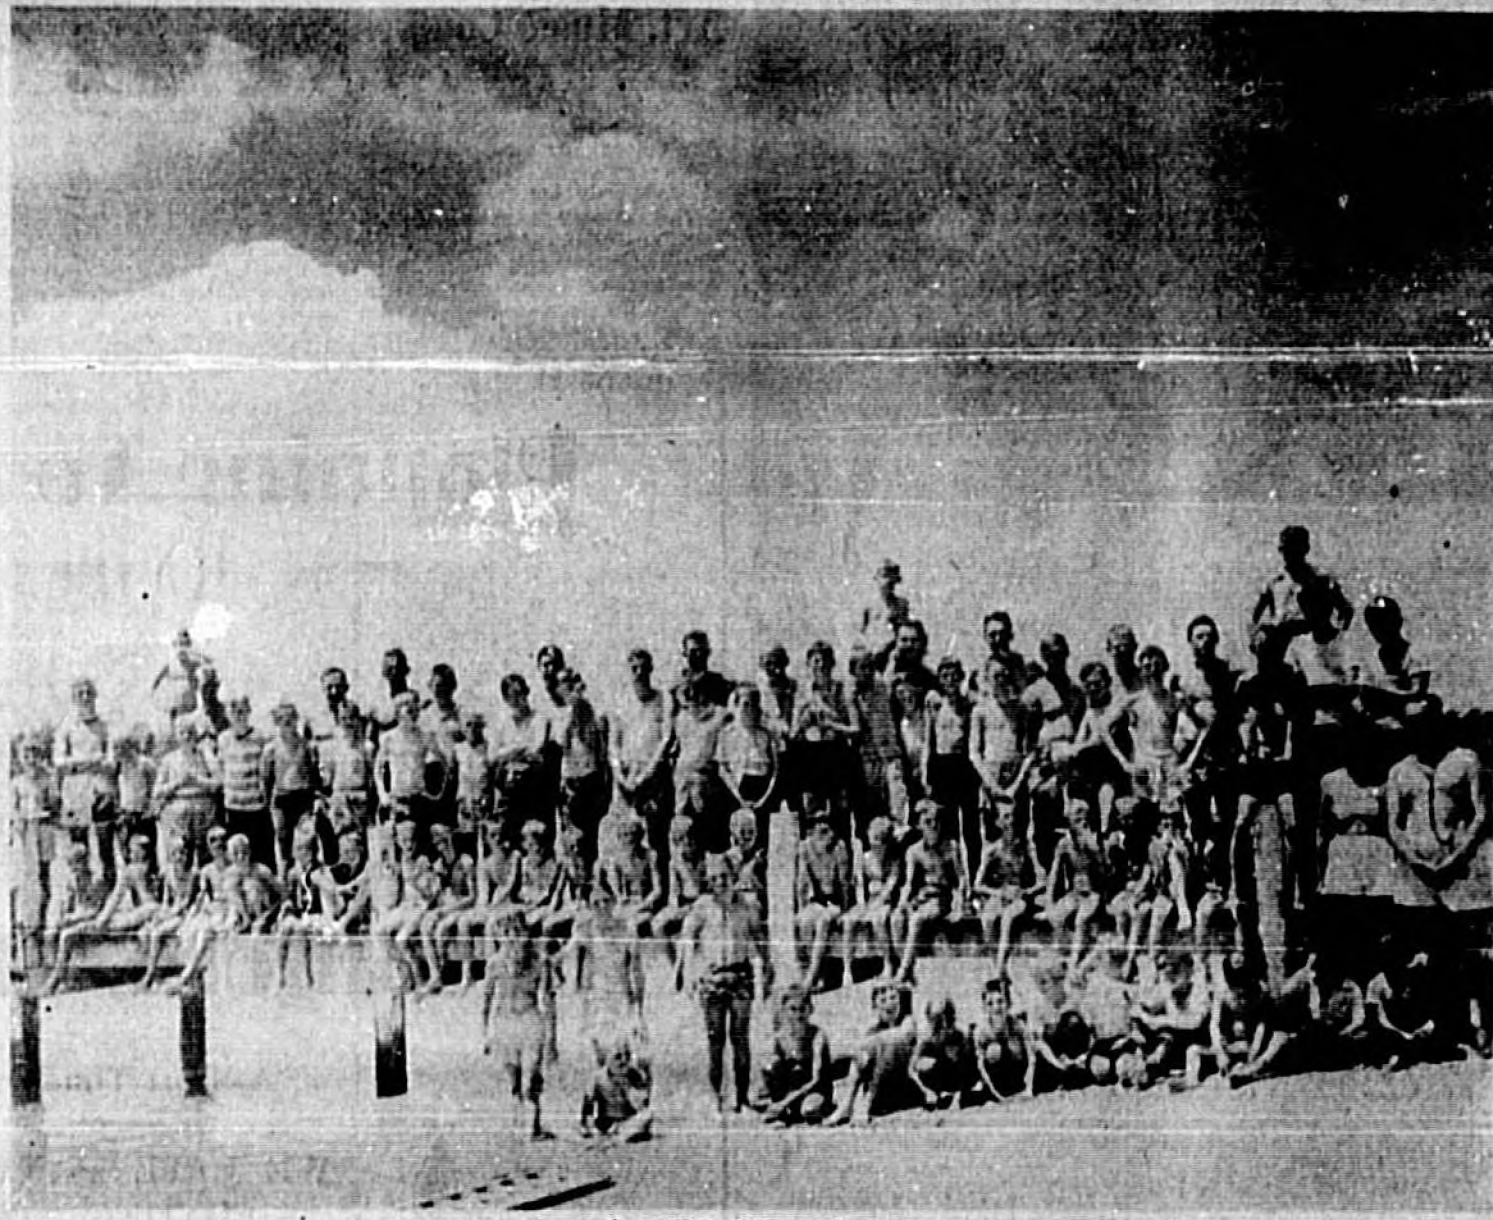

A one hour rest period is mandatory following lunch after which the boys are allowed the freedom of the camp for hike and games until 4:00 P. M. when afternoon water sports are held.

After dinner the camp program turns to organized sports such as diamond ball, volleyball, badminton and basketball among the various cabin teams.

Over 34 acres of the camp site boys roam on hikes and outdoor camping trips throughout their stay. Sandy bottomed Lake Winona is fed by clear cool water from De Leon Springs providing the healthiest of all possible environments.

Fishing, one of the sports most enjoyed by youngsters at the camp, is particularly good since in the private preserve the stocks are not depleted to any extent.

Boys are accepted at the camp between the ages of 6 and 16, but in recent years all those wishing accommodations have not been able to go because of lack of space.

- CAMP WINONA

This has prompted Mr. Morris to procure 3,000 acres of fine rolling wood land some 12 miles from Sanford near Osteen in order to accommodate all the applicants. Here on 21 lakes he has developed ambitious plans for horseback riding, boating and pioneering trips into the virgin wilderness of the area to install a feeling of self-reliance and confidence in the boys.

Highlights of the summer program include a gopher race and visit by "Indians" played by camp counselors and older boys in the camp.

Each section of the camp catches its own gopher, paints and names him and all the animals are placed in a large circle. The one breaking out first is declared the winner.

Another stunt which fascinates the youngsters is a flashlight relay race across the lake in which the flashlight baton is passed from runner to boatman as a difficult trial is navigated.

Climax of the camp festivities is a student stunt night which features a Negro minstrel show as well as entertainments devised by the camp members themselves.

One of the most popular features of the camp is the stories told around the camp fire before bedding down each night. Every year a continuing tale is told with the ending withheld until the first day of the following year's camp.

Lake Winona and the surrounding area abound in ancient Indian myths and legends which fascinate the youngsters. One of the most awesome is the tale that Chief Oskewow called to his lost daughter Winona so long that her name will come floating back if called over the lake. Since the echo over the lake is one of the finest in Florida, the younger children are particularly impressed.

1,500 Students Are Now Registered At Stetson University

John B. Stetson University, located 17 miles north of Sanford at DeLand, is a fully accredited institution of higher learning, consisting of a College of Liberal Arts, a College of Law, a School of Music and a School of Business. J. Ollie Edmunds is president of the University.

The campus consists of 24 acres situated in the northern part of DeLand and 76 acres of land at the DeLand Air Base, three miles north from the downtown campus. The University started the Fall quarter with 1,555 students. There are 28 buildings on the University campus and seven buildings at the air base.

A Reserve Officers Training

Unit, authorized by the Secretary of the Army, was established at Stetson last summer. Regular army personnel are assigned to the unit and conduct the instruction. Lt. Col. Ike F. Bonifay is in charge of the unit and is professor of military science and tactics on the faculty of the University.

The University has an endowed library of approximately 112,181 volumes together with 400 periodicals and a separate law library of more than 17,000 volumes. Also included in the library facilities is a library of music and records for the School of Music.

The University commons has an attractively furnished lounge and two cafeterias. All meals are prepared by an experienced chef under the supervision of a trained dietitian.

Football, basketball, baseball, tennis and golf are among the intercollegiate sports at Stetson.

There is also a full program of intramural athletic for both men and women.

The University has had four presidents—John Forbes, Lincoln Hulley, William Sims Allen and Dr. Edmunds. President Edmunds is the first graduate of any Florida institution of higher learning to return to his college as president.

Scholastic standards are high, accounting for the large numbers of graduates continuing their work in the leading institutions of the country and the almost negligible number of failures among these advanced students.

The College of Law is the oldest in Florida, and celebrated its Golden Jubilee in 1950.

Outstanding tourist attractions such as Silver Springs, Cypress Gardens and Marineland all report record breaking attendance as the steady stream of winter visitors continues to increase.

All Best Sellers Are Included In Sanford Library

Over Four Thousand People Used Facilities Last Year

All the best sellers in both fiction and non-fiction are included among the 732 new books which have been added to the Sanford Municipal Library during the past year, according to Mrs. E. J. Moughton, librarian, who pointed out that over 4,200 persons used the library last year for reference work alone.

Recent additions to the library shelves include Boswell's London Journal in the non-fiction line which tells of his life in London in the mid-eighteenth century.

Also to be found there are "Out of This World" by Lowell Thomas, Jr. who describes his journey with his famous father from India over the Himalayas into Tibet. This book is made even more interesting with colorful illustrations of their travels.

Other non-fiction books include "The Rings of Fate" by Winston Churchill; "Family Remains" by Ogden Nash; "Nuts in May" by Cornelia Otis Skinner; "Immortal Magyar" by Frank G. Slaughter; "Interview With India" by John Frederick Muhl; "Haida's Golden Sands" by Professor and Mrs. A. J. Hanna of Rollins College; "Kon-Tiki" by Thor Heyerdahl based on the adventures of six men who cross the Pacific on a raft; "Lin Yutang on the Wisdom of America"; "We Fell in Love With Quebec" by Sidney W. Dean and Marguerite Moore Marshall; and "Early American Automobiles" by Floyd Gilmer.

Among the works of fiction are "Daughter of Strangers", Elizabeth Boatswain Cook; "The Town", Conrad Richter; "Nightmares of Bengal", John Masters; "Rivers Parting", Shirley Barker; "The Pepper Tree", John Jennings; and "Joy Street" by Frances Parkinson Keyes.

The library, located at Fifth Street and Oak Avenue, is of attractive Spanish design under large, shady oak trees. The beauty of the polished woods in the floors and book cases inside combine with good lighting and quiet atmosphere to provide a pleasant spot for reading or relaxation.

Visitors in Sanford can easily obtain temporary resident cards, according to Mrs. Moughton who said that during the last war the personnel of the Naval Air Station were especially welcomed to the facilities of the library and that this would be true when the Station is reopened in May. An effort has been made in the past several years to secure books and magazines which would whet the interest of younger children and teenagers, with remarkable results. Mrs. Moughton stated that the younger generation as a whole is reading a better class of books including biographies and instructional volumes. The local library specializes in children's books and always has on hand all current magazines.

Pointing out that the library is well-equipped with reference books, Mrs. Moughton said that many Stetson University pupils are frequent visitors at the local library. The teachers of Seminole County feel free to bring classes of pupils to familiarize them with the facilities of the library and subscribers include residents of Seminole County, DeLawaree and many winter tourists who had reading among their requisites for a pleasant winter. Assisting Mrs. Moughton are Mrs. Robert Brewster and Mrs. F. P. Rine.

Rollins College Began In Sanford On April 28, 1885

Rollins College, organized and incorporated at a meeting of 21 charter trustees in Sanford in the old Lyman Bank, on April 28, 1885, and located about 17 miles south of Sanford, is the oldest institution of higher learning in Florida. It was made possible through a gift of $50,000 by Alton W. Rollins of Chicago for whom it was named.

Under the tutelage of Dr. Hamilton Holt, who retired as president a year ago last June, Rollins has developed the conference plan of education and the individualized curriculum. Both are aimed at personalizing education, goals which have been realized to a degree attained by few other American colleges.

When Dr. Paul A. Wagner became president of Rollins College at the age of 31, he stepped into one of the most difficult educational positions in the country. As successor to Dr. Holt, his every move was watched critically. It was natural that his policies would be compared with those of the predecessor.

Now 33 and a sophomore president, he has quieted most of the speculations. The enrollment is at capacity—621. His administration has been efficient and business-like. His approach to the problems of education has been enlightened.

At present Rollins is in the midst of its winter extra-curricular activity. The 16th annual Economic Conference was held Feb. 1-3, with leaders of industry, labor, economics and education discussing the theme, "The Impact of World Affairs on the American Economy."

The annual Founders' Week celebration starts Feb. 18, and will come to a climax on Feb. 25, with publication of the 20th edition of the Animated Magazine. Distinguished representatives of business, the arts and education groups will read their manuscripts, from the raised platform that serves as an editorial office. The "subscribers" or audience, will be seated in an amphitheatre around the editorial sanctum.

One of the highlights of the magazine will be the appearance of Basil Rathbone, star of movies, stage and radio. Following Founders' Week will come the Bach Festival, Mar. 1-3. This musical treat attracts music lovers from every section of the country. At present Rollins is rushing its Hot lunches are provided by the school lunchroom which serves some 90 percent of the students mid-day meals. This program is supported in part by federal aid and is designed to give the children a more balanced diet while in school.

Every year since their creation, Florida State Farmers' Markets have proven their value because of the outlet they have provided for small farmers to obtain the maximum prices for their produce.

Annual receipts of Florida's hotels and tourist courts amount to more than 112 million dollars, versus $400 million for the state.

Two other schools, also provided with hot lunch facilities and special courses in art and music, serve grades from one to four. Mrs. J. C. Mitchell is principal of the South Side Primary School and Mrs. J. B. St. John heads the West Side Primary School.

Plans Launched To Found Here Sanford Museum

Library And Antique Collection Of General Left To City

Efforts are being made to erect in Sanford a museum to house the valuable library and antique furniture that were once the property of General Henry S. Sanford, founder of this city, and other articles of educational and historical interest.

The movement to build the museum was initiated by the Sally Harrison Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, a group that had already provided markers at the various sites of pioneer forts and Indian battles which took place here prior to the founding of the City.

For some time the priceless period furniture presented to this community by Mrs. Carola Sanford Dow, daughter of General Sanford, was kept in storage in the Sanford Atlantic National Bank Building. Through the efforts of the D. A. R. in co-operation with the members of the Sanford Woman's Club, the collection has been put on display in the balcony of the Woman's Club auditorium.

On Jan. 8 a group representing men and women from 21 Seminole County organizations met at the Woman's Club, and made plans for the formation of a Seminole County Museum Association to promote the project.

The following were appointed by Mrs. C. R. Dawson, acting chairman, as members for the Association Committee: Joel Field, Mrs. Miriam Russell, Yolie Williams, Jr., R. K. Ricks, Elton Moughton, Jr., Mrs. Charles Ginn, Mrs. C. Stewart Brown, Mrs. Fred T. Williams, Mrs. W. B. Britson. Mrs. Dawson is also a member.

General Sanford was born June

ANNIE RUSSELL THEATER

15, 1823, at Woodbury, Connecticut. In childhood he was tutored and later studied at Cheshire Academy. He next attended Washington College, which is now known as Trinity, but after two years he was compelled to leave because of asthma. Physicians advised him to travel for his health. So in 1841 he took several sea voyages and later went to the Far West, where he lived among the Indians for a while. For a time he traveled abroad and studied at the University of Heidelberg, where the J. U. D. degree was conferred upon him. At Trinity he was given the LL.D. degree in 1849.

In 1846 his diplomatic career was begun when at the age of 23 he became an attaché to the American embassy in Russia under Minister Ralph F. Ingersoll. From then to the time he became Minister Resident to Belgium on Mar. 20, 1861, he performed various other diplomatic services.

He married Gertrude De Puy of Philadelphia, and they had eight children.

In 1871 General Sanford became interested in Florida. He took a trip up the St. Johns River and he decided to make investments in this section. He purchased 12,535 acres at Lake Monroe on the St. Johns River. This tract of land was then known as the Levi Grant.

He became acquainted with Judge Wofford Tucker, who had come here about 1870; and then formed a business partnership. The natural advantages of the location appealed to these two men, especially the river, which afforded easy and cheap transportation facilities; and they decided to lay the foundation of a town.

The services of Capt. R. H. Marks and John A. McDonald were secured to make a plat of the town. Sanford Avenue was the first street to be cut. In laying out the town, General Sanford donated land to each denomination which consented to build a church, and also lots for the schools with a park for each. In the winter 1871 General Sanford returned from Sweden bringing 75 Swedes and settled them on a tract of land west of the town, which he called St. Gertrude in honor of his wife. An orange grove was planted, but it was found that the land there was not suited to citrus culture; and the higher land being preferred for orange groves, another site was chosen, where 30 acres were cleared and planted.

This became known as the Belair Grove, where in the fall of 1872, 75 more Swedes were brought over and located. This became the experimental ground for General Sanford's citrus nursery, and many varieties of full-bearing orange, lemon, and kumquat are even now mingled with the giant oaks and tropical foliage of this plot.

General Sanford's studies, travels, and connection abroad enabled him to conduct a wide variety of horticultural experiments. It is due to him that Florida was introduced to many new cultures, notably that of the lemon. He was liberal in distributing stock for budding to other growers. Up to this time nothing but the native sweet orange had been cultivated.

He imported many trees from Europe, such as lemons, oranges and limes. The other fruits on his groves included: almonds, pineapples, mango, fig, pomegranate, loquat, or Japanese plum, sour sop, custard apple, maumee apple, guava, Barbados cherry, pecan, olive and peach.

In 1876 the following plants were reported as doing well: China or Peruvian bark, the true variety that furnishes the best quinine; coffee, Japanese persimmon, New Zealand flax, Barbary date palm, the tea tree.

The grove thrived so wonderfully that in 1876 General San-for) was induced to increase it to 100 acres.

As the settlement grew, it became a question as to what it should be called. One day when General Sanford was having tea with Judge Tucker and his daughter, Miss Louise Tucker, the naming of the town came up in the conversation. Miss Tucker said that there should be no question about it, but that it should be named for its founder. So on a set day they gathered at Judge Tucker's to dedicate the town. An orange tree was planted in the yard to commemorate the event. Thus was the city named Sanford.

General Sanford died at Healing Springs, Va., May 21, 1891.

At one time General Sanford said, "Sanford lies at the mouth of New York Harbor, and will one day be the greatest city of interior Florida as its soil, its health, and its climate justify me in believing its resources for pleasure resorts and for business are unlimited."

Sales of Florida retail food stores total more than 541 million dollars annually, according to the Census Bureau.

22 Percent Of Forest Sales Are In South

More than 22 percent of receipts from 1950 timber sales on the nation's national forests came from within the Southern Region.

The 1950 cut of timber from national forests of the South paid $6,942,698 to the U. S. Treasury, according to J. Herbert Stone, Regional Forester, Atlanta. Lyle F. Watts, U. S. Forest Service Chief, in his annual report, says 1950 receipts from all national forests totaled $30,714,292.

During the 1950 fiscal year, southern national forests sold 338 million board feet of sawlogs, 200,000 cords of pulpwood, 120 million small poles and posts, 31 million board feet of cooperage stock, 4.5 million board feet of chestnut extractwood, and 62,000

Postmaster Field Cites Growth From Newer Industries

"Sanford's future growth hinges on the continued exploitation of its tourist attractions and the development of its unexcelled advantages for certain types of industry," says Postmaster Joel Field, president of the Kiwanis Club.

Pointing out the recent public improvements as evidenced by the new baseball stadium and the terminal project, Mr. Field was enthusiastic over the future possibilities of Seminole County as an industrial center.

"With the completion of the terminal three methods of freight transportation will be available for prospective manufacturing concerns," he explained.

But development of Sanford's industrial potentialities should not obscure the tremendous possibilities for attracting tourists which the area possesses, he emphasized.

Revealing that more than half the revenue of New York City is derived from the influx of tourists each year, Mr. Field said that Sanford is taking that lesson to heart in its plans for expansion.

Mr. Field, who came to Sanford in 1909, remembers well the history of the city and recalls the early days of the Clive Steamship line and its flagship, "Okeola" named after the Seminole Indian Chief who led his tribe against the United States in the Seminole Indian War.

Reminiscing over the ancient trolleys which used to connect downtown Sanford with the Cedar Falls, Mr. Field told of the steady growth of the city in the period following World War I.

He pointed out the steady growth which began in the following years: 1919, the large number of improvements which have been planned or are in the process of being completed since then.

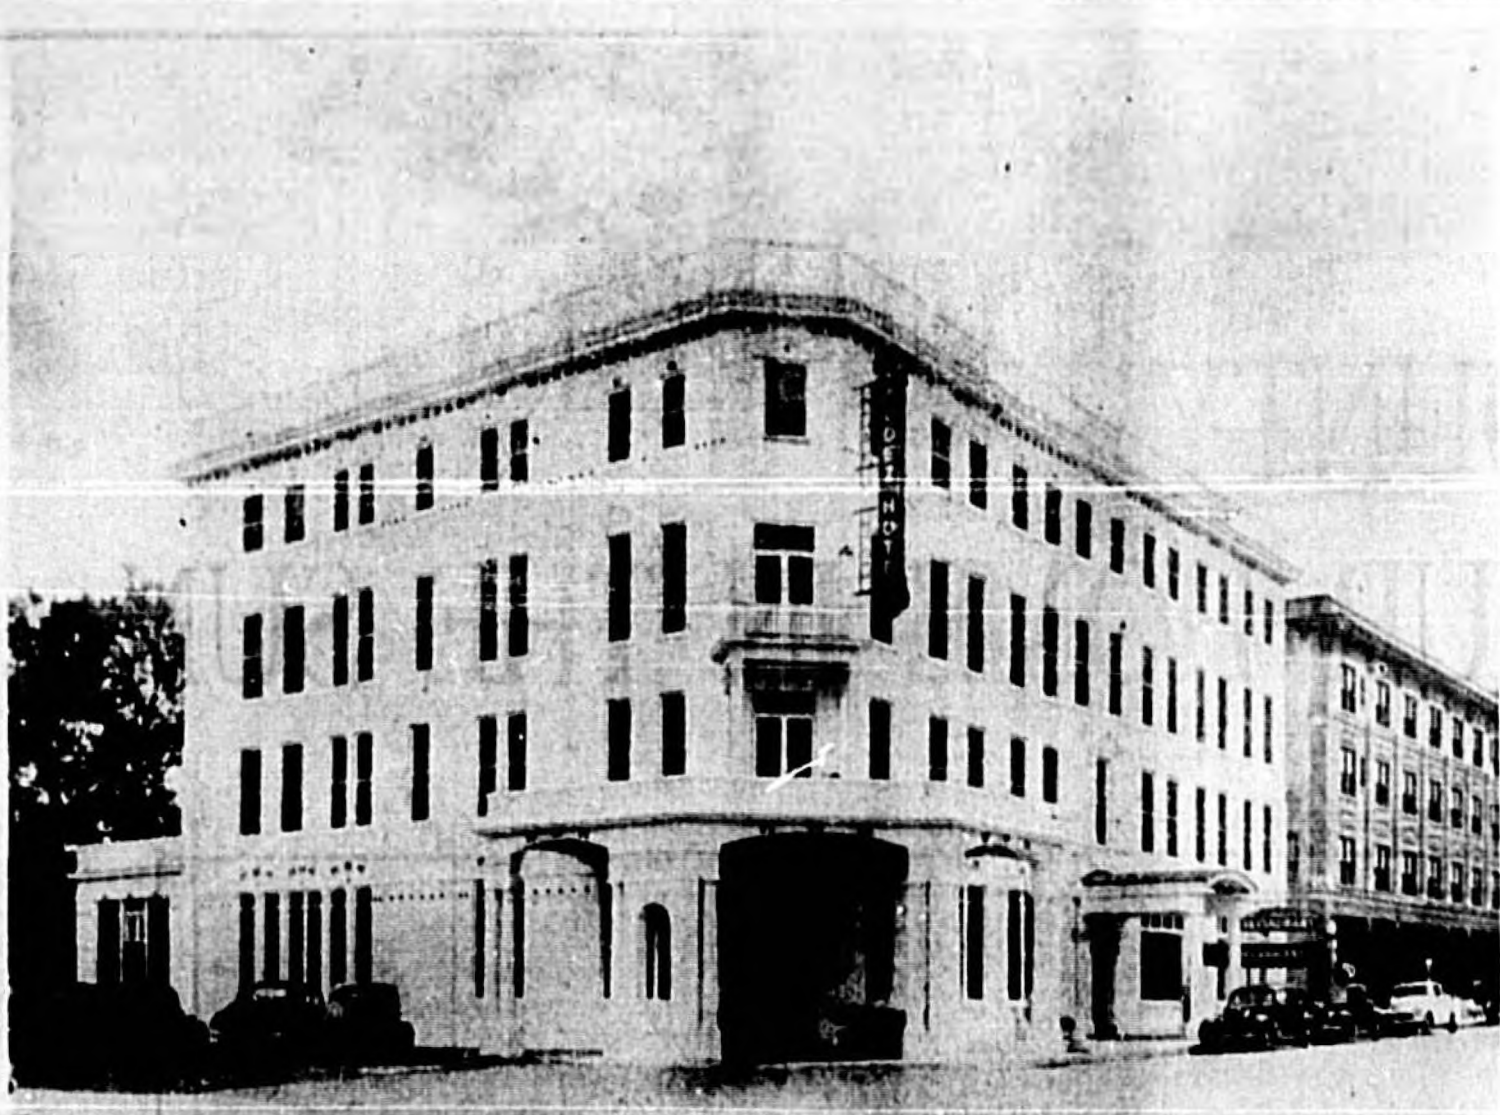

Citing the invaluable nationwide publicity supplied Sanford by the New York Glens, George Barr School and Florida Fashions, Mr. Field was emphatic in his belief that these organizations have benefited the town not only materially in payrolls and new money, but in the nationwide publicity from their advertising which has carried the name of Sanford to areas where it was previously unknown.

"Each of these businesses has brought to Sanford new people; each has contributed to broadening the name of Sanford throughout the country," Mr. Field declared.

Mr. Field, a past commander of the local American Legion Post, pointed out the many opportunities open to young men for opening businesses of their own. He recalled his own success following the first World War in the trucking business. "I must have hauled 'jillions' of crates of celery," he said in reviewing a career which has spanned almost half a century in Sanford.

During his tenure as postmaster Sanford's Post Office has become the fastest growing in the nation due to the tremendous volume of mail handled by the Florida Fashions enterprises, he said.

Since 1910 when Post Office receipts were $87,126, they have doubled each year until in 1950 the

Rotary President Reports Sanford Fine For Tourists

"With the beautiful St. John's River, excellent hunting and fishing and ocean beaches within easy driving distance, Sanford is fast becoming a winter haven for tourists," Orville Touchton, president of the Rotary Club, said in reviewing the attractions of Seminole County.

Mr. Touchton, assistant manager of the Stine Machine Shop, also emphasized the excellent conditions suitable for light industry which exist in the Sanford area.

Pointing to the Florida Fashions organization as an example of the tremendous success an infant industry can find here, Mr. Touchton said he thought many similar organizations might find this part of the state particularly attractive for location.

Mr. Touchton, who is an artist in iron work, and designed the new type drive-in bank window for the Florida State Bank of Sanford, pointed out that this city possesses all the advantages necessary for the successful development of industry, including excellent highway and rail connections as well as a 12-foot channel on the St. John's River.

An Army pilot during the war stationed at Belfridge Field in Texas, Mr. Touchton drew attention to the fine potentialities for growth the city enjoys in normal times with a ready-built airport with modern facilities located on the outskirts of town and arterial highways entering the city from all sides.

And in the Mayfair Hotel, owned and operated by the New York Giants baseball club, he sees what may well be the beginning of a large scale tourist development in the city which will bring it up to a par with the finest in Florida.

"Excellent facilities now exist for winter visitors," Mr. Touchton asserted in describing the new swimming pool, tennis courts, golf course and hunting and fishing in the county.

"Evidence of the city's capacity to support new industry is abundant in the rapid growth shown by Sanford in the past ten years," Mr. Touchton said.

"It seems reasonable that if one industry, such as Florida Fashions, finds the locality favorable for such rapid development, others will also be able to build plants here with excellent hopes for success," he added.

Florida State Fair and Gasparilla Carnival circulars are being distributed throughout the nation by the AAA, railroads, bus and airlines. Over a hundred thousand circulars are being distributed by the Fair, Gasparilla and the State Advertising Commission.

Jewelry store sales in Florida total more than $2 million dollars a year, according to the Census Bureau.

Stage Is All Set For Whiskers Derby

OCALA, Feb. 12—(Special)—A record crop of whiskers was sprouting in Marion County today, as contestants in the 1951 Whisker Derby started the annual competition for prizes to be awarded during Southeastern Festival Week, Feb. 24-Mar. 2.

There was considerable fanfare as the beard growing contest got under way. A long lineup of contestants awaited their turn for the required registration shave in a local barber shop. St. Senator Wallace E. Strugis, president-designate of the upper branch of the 1951 legislature, doffed his coat and wielded the razor on the first derby entrant while many flashbulbs popped.

Among interested spectators was John (Nick) Nicholson, popular radio announcer, who won the 1950 Whisker Derby over a large field in which many hirsute fashions were represented, many of them on the comic side.

This year's Whisker Derby, already far ahead of last year in number of contestants, is just one of many events to be highlighted during the 1951 festival, which has as its principal attraction the annual Southeastern Fat Stock Show and Sale.

Also claiming top billing is the annual four-day championship rodeo sponsored by the DeSota Lions Club. This rodeo is the first event to be staged in the new, steel rodeo and horse show arena recently completed as an addition to the livestock show pavilion. The big, covered arena seats 5000 persons, and is combined with other facilities to make the layout one of the most elaborate to be found anywhere in the South.

tons of pine distillate wood, according to W. H. Fischer, Chief of Timber Management in Region Eight.

That sales volume, says Assistant Regional Forester Fischer, represents a value of $9,363,000, well above the receipts total for last year—$7,100,000. It represents 1,001 separate sale contracts and the equivalent of $14 to per thousand board feet, not including some $23,500 worth of products which cannot be estimated in board feet, such as gum naval stores, Christmas trees, and shingles.

Florida retail stores have an annual payroll of more than 500 million dollars, according to the Census Bureau.

Florida gasoline service stations do an annual business of more than 124 million dollars, the Census Bureau reveals.

Shoe repairing is a three million dollar business in Florida with shoe repair shop receipts amounting to $3,197,000 annually. Shoeshine parlors do $93,000 worth of business annually.

New Smyrna Plans New Swimming Pool

New Smyrna Beach, nearest point to Sanford on the Atlantic Ocean and made famous by its ruins, Indian mounds, and history as one of America's oldest cities has developed a new outlook. "We have given up trying to advertise our antiquity and are going out for modern improvements," commented City Manager John C. Ferris recently.

Municipal buildings are well planned and beautifully kept. Most of them are comparatively new. The combination City Hall and Library was built in 1937 as a WPA project. The municipally owned Chamber of Commerce building went up in 1935 and the new fire station in 1947. Ferris, who is a graduate engineer from Alabama Polytechnic Institute, designed and built the fire station. Dedication was held in 1948. It is the city's newest building, but won't be for long.

Plans are being drawn now for a $75,000 Youth Center and swimming pool which the city hopes to begin in January. Plans for the building, which would provide for the recreational needs of the city's more than 200 teen agers, are modernistic and include a dancing area that can be converted into an auditorium and stage.

Almost ten million dollars are spent in Florida annually for funeral and crematory services, according to the Census Bureau.
