Columbus, Ga., June 9. The Industrial Index says in its issue of this week:

"Reports of bank clearings, building permits and postoffice receipts for May constitute indisputable evidences of prosperity. They not only show gains, which in some instances are notable, but these gains are increases over months which made gains as compared with previous months.

"There was a gain of the immense sum of $17,968,456 in the May clearings of the banks of Atlanta, Ga., as compared with May of last year. The clearings of Columbus, S. C., banks established a new high record for a month in the history of that city, the total exceeding by nearly $600,000 the previous high record, which was for a month in 1913. Clearings in Savannah, Ga., banks increased by $5,223,584 and there were increases of more than half a million each in Columbus, Ga., and Montgomery, Ala. Clearings in other cities show substantial gains.

"The receipts of the postoffice for May in Atlanta were the highest for any May in its history. There was an increase of 22 per cent in the postoffice receipts of Macon, Ga., and of 19 per cent at Jacksonville, Fla.

"Building permit valuations at Miami, Fla., amounted to $58,438, the total for May last year having been $64,900.

"Exports in April from Florida ports amounted to $2,486,486, the total for the preceding month having been $1,717,259.

"A company with capital stock of $4,000,000 has been organized at Savannah, Ga., for Savannah business men for the purpose of operating an ocean steamship line with headquarters in Savannah.

"Birmingham, Ala., voted $1,000,000 of school, auditorium and electric light plant bonds.

"Fort Worth, Tex., voted $1,000,000 of bonds for constructing roads.

"A company has been incorporated to build an electric railway in South Carolina. Approved by the state board of public utility commissions and electric power commission.

"A total of 100,000,000 were given to the state of Florida by the federal government in 1915, the largest amount ever given to any state.

To secure the rights of our citizens at home and abroad; to guard the honor and uphold the justice and influence of our nation; to maintain the integrity of national law. These are the cornerstones of civilization. We must be strong to defend them.

The present war shows that it is the supreme duty of civilization to create conditions which will make peace permanent. Our country must be ready and able to take its part in that work.

The peace which we desire for our country is not the peace of submission and cowardice, but the peace of justice. War and its evils will not be done away with suffering injustice to ourselves or others, nor to pledging ourselves to drastic action for international right if we do not prepare the force which would sustain such action.

We can perform our rightful part in promoting permanent international peace only by a willingness and prepared ability to defend our own rights and the rights of other nations. We earnestly desire to keep the peace. But there are higher things that we must stop, as Washington and Lincoln kept them for us.

Adequate provision for the common defense has become the task of foremost natural concern. We must be ready in spirit, arms and industry.

Methodist Notes

Last Sunday was "Decision Day" in our Sunday school. After the regular lesson session, Rev. Steinneyer, gave a most helpful talk. "If Sometime, Why Not Now?" was sung by Mrs. F. E. Steinneyer. The attendance is keeping remarkably well for the summer. We hope each one will feel their responsibility in the Sunday school and be there every Sunday. Let nothing hinder you from attending your church services.

The Intermediate League held its regular meeting Sunday afternoon, opened with President Clayton Bailey in the chair and Marie Bragg as leader. The Devotional Group having the meeting in charge, and also singing the song "Rev. Steinneyer gave a very impressive talk. The pledge was taken as usual.

The members of the Junior League will give a lawn social at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Phillips, 117 Park avenue, Friday afternoon, June 10, from 2 to 5. All parties are invited. The Junior League is a pleasure to all and is a help to all. The Junior League is a pleasure to all and is a help to all. The Junior League is a pleasure to all and is a help to all.

One of our little members, Master Charles Abernathy, had the misfortune of having an automobile run into him Saturday afternoon and was injured. We are glad to hear that he is recovering.

Rev. F. E. Steinneyer left Tuesday morning by automobile to attend district conference.

The Ladies' Missionary Society met Tuesday afternoon. The ladies were very busy and a very interesting time was spent.

Miss Katherine Wilson, one of the Beginners teachers leaves the week for Tallahassee to attend the Normal school there this summer.

Miss Ethel Henson, a Primary teacher will leave with her parents this week for the beach, to be gone a month.

Miss Lulu Earnworth, member of the Daughters of Wesley, Class has gone to Tallahassee to attend the graduating exercises there and then goes to Tennessee for the summer.

Sunday night the new officers of the Intermediate League were installed as follows: Clayton Bailey, president, Martha Brown, vice president, Elizabeth Steinneyer, treasurer, Frank Chappell, secretary, Marie Bragg, Supt. Devotional Dept., Carolyn Spencer, Supt. Social Dept., Gladys Adams, Supt. Literary Dept., Mollie Abernathy, Supt. Missionary Dept., Julia Lang, organist, Byron Stevens, agent for Era.

The service was most impressive. The young folks have a fine League and are doing excellent work.

Cards of Thanks. I wish to thank the people of Commissioners District No. 1, President No. 1, and my friends of the county at large for the expression of their confidence in me as shown by the vote and assistance at the polls Tuesday.

Sincerely, L. V. Brunney.

To my friends in Sanford and Seminole county I wish to express my appreciation of the loyal support given me on June 6th.

STUPID PLAYS AMUSE
Play in Central Association Described by Ned Egan.

More Mistakes Made in Minors in Week Than in Big Leagues in Whole Season—Three-Base Hit Counts for Single.

According to Ned Egan, the "Man of the Week" in the "Man of the Week" more home runs are made in class C and D leagues in a week than you see in the big leagues in a season. Egan de-

Waterloo was playing at Muscatine, and Wetzell, Muscatine's right fielder was on first base, and Sours of the same team at bat. Sours gave the hit and run signal and Wetzell started down for second base as soon as the pitcher began to wind up. Sours hit a long fly. Just as he reached second base Wetzell thought he saw that Waterloo's left fielder reaching up to catch the ball.

Without waiting to see whether the fielder made the catch, Wetzell raced back to first base. Meantime the ball had soared high over Hills' head and Sours turned first base and raced for second. Wetzell passed him at full speed going in the opposite direction. When Sours reached second he thought that he had made a mistake about seeing the ball fall safely, and started back to first. Simultaneously Wetzell saw Hill chasing the sphere, and he again began the dash for second and once more both players passed each other on the dead run, both badly confused. The result was that a hit that should have been good for a triple and a score went for a single.

And all this happened without the umpire being entangled in the home head play.

THIRD BASE EASIEST TO STEAL, SAY STARS

"Ty Cobb, king of base stealers and Buck Herzog, veteran infielder, believe that third base is the easiest cushion to steal. 'Ty's' reason for thinking so is that runners can take a bigger lead off second than off any other sack. 'Buck' says the runner is helped by the fact that the third sacker must take the ball at a hard angle and the runner has more room in which to slide around him.

DEVORE DELIGHTS IN STORY
Catcher Toff, Appointed Umpire in Eastern League, Announces Batteries in Novel Way.

Next to the story about McGraw telling him that he had three deaf men and 18 dumb ones on the Giants, Josh Devore delights in telling the one about Catcher Jack Toff. After being released by Toronto, Toff was appointed an umpire in the then Eastern league and his first assignment happened to be in the Canadian city where he had formerly played. Taking the megaphone to announce the batteries, Toff shouted: "Muller and Starns for Newark, Rudolph and McGinley for us."

Abacadabra a Fever Cure. Long before a change of climate came to be advertised as a cure for hay fever, an idea the railroads have been suspected of foisting, a simpler remedy was thought to be the word abacadabra. This magical word was once used as a charm against ague and fevers. Its meaning is disputed. As a charm it was written to form an inverted triangle by dropping the last letter at each successive repetition.—Kansas City Times.

Beautiful Home Wedding. At the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. James Cochran Higgins, the marriage of Miss Lillian Higgins to Mr. Ralph Wight took place on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives. The promulgence of the two families both in Georgia and Florida, the popularity of the young couple and the beauty and charm of the winsome bride, surrounded the wedding with unusual interest. The bride is the second youngest daughter of Mrs. James Higgins. The groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wight and is identified in business with his father in the Wight Wholesale Grocery Company of this city.

A prettier setting for a wedding could scarcely be imagined than the attractive home presented on Wednesday night. At the western end of the living room where the impressive marriage ceremony of the Catholic church was read by Rev. Father O'Riordan, an altar had been improvised before which the vows were made. Beautiful in its white purity, its tall lighted candles shrouded in white, with vases of carnations placed between them, great masses of ferns and graceful spreading palms, surrounded the base of the altar before which was the white satin priest-dieu. The huge colonial fireplace and mantel was banked with ferns and white roses. The beauty of the room was completed with palms and ferns and vases of roses placed about on the tables. In the hall and in the room a court of white and yellow carnations, and the wedding coats of white and yellow, green masses of yellow daisies filled every available space. The potted plants formed an exquisite border of greenery and white flowers, the room was filled with the fragrance of the late roses and the continental black dress suits of the bride.

The bride, wearing a beautiful gown of white tulle, with a long train, and a crown of white flowers, was escorted to the altar by her father, Mr. Henry Wight. The groom, in a dark suit, followed her. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father O'Riordan, who read the vows and pronounced them man and wife. The bride and groom then kissed and the bride threw a bouquet of flowers to the bridesmaids. The ceremony was concluded with a prayer and a benediction.

The wedding presents of crystal and silver, dainty china and costly bric-a-brac were displayed in an upper room. Mr. and Mrs. Wight left shortly after the ceremony in their car for Daytona Beach, en route to Cairo, Ga., where the honeymoon will be spent with relatives of the groom. The bride is a handsome and charming young woman, and the groom is a well-to-do and successful business man. They are both well liked in the community.

At Lyric To-night
Peggy
Peggy is a whirlwind from America, who bursts into a little Scottish hamlet and sets everything topsy-turvy and then set straight again. It's the only way of setting them to rights and Peggy knows it. Her uncle is a crabbed old man and the villagers are for the most part a forlorn lot, and not much inclined either to love or to charity. Peggy is brimming over with both. She wins the hearts of the little children before she has been in the village a day and gradually she brings about a great and wonderful change in their elders. Of course there is a young chap who falls in love with her—he happens to be the "Mecister"—and when she has made him prove that his gospel contains Christianity as well as religion, she gives herself to him. Peggy is a picture of rare beauty and intense heart appeal and is star is an actress of rarely equalled charm and popularity.

Before she accepted Triangle's offer and made her first screen play, "Peggy," Billie Burke was one of the handful of stage stars who could go out any season and pack every theatre she played in. She has a distinct personal appeal that has given her a wonderful following. And all the charm, all the dramatic ability, all the wondrousness that have contributed to her marvelous stage success are transferred to the screen in Peggy. A remarkable supporting cast includes Wm. H. Thompson, Wm. Desmond, Charlie Ray and Thelma Salter.

Panza, Max Davidson, in search of adventures. The Don is mounted on an old white horse, yeilded Rosinante, his squire bestrides a mule. At an inn the knight meets Dulcinea (Fay Tincher) a humble "slavey" and picks her as the lady for whom he will fight. A muleteer, jealous of Don Quixote's attentions to the girl is thrown downstairs when he interferes. There is a grand mix up in the night, when Dulcinea strays into the knight's room. The muleteer and the landlord belabor the knight, and Sancho also gets into the melee.

As a result the Don and his squire are locked up in the stable for the rest of the night. In the morning the forgetful knight rides off without settling the score and Sancho is tossed in a blanket as a penalty.

Don Quixote sees some windmills and mistakes them for giants. He attacks them with his lance and is overthrown. Seizing a wing he is revolved through the air and is thrown off. After he recovers from this painful mishap, the knight continues on his way. He meets a barber on the bank of a river, vanquishes him, and takes his basin away from him, thinking it is a helmet belonging to the king. With the basin on his head he rides off.

Next the crazed knight attacks a body of guards and convicts on their way to a galley ship, mistaking them for a band of robbers. Cardenio (George Walsh) who is one of the convicts, excites the pity of the Don, who listens to his troubles. He rescues the sweetheart of Cardenio just as she is being compelled to marry Don Fernando. Chester Whitely after which he finds Cardenio as he is going to jail, and rescues him from his lady love, Lucinda (Irene Mitchell).

Pretty Wedding at Osteen
A marriage of much interest to the many friends of the young couple in Sanford is that of Miss Mary Louise Leonard and Mr. Roland Elmer Quarterman of Daytona, which was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Leonard at Osteen on Wednesday morning, Rev. Father O'Riordan officiating.

The wedding was a pretty home affair. The parlor, in which the ceremony took place was attractively decorated with vines and orange blossoms and potted plants. An arch had been erected and covered with quantities of vines with fragrant orange blossoms peeping between the leaves. Beneath this arch the couple were married. Overhead decorations were vines of the white star jessamine and southern smilax. In the living room roses were used in profusion, their beauty entrancing the charm of prettily arranged palms.

The attendants were Miss Agnes Berner of Sanford and Mr. Phil Leonard, a brother of the bride. The bride was charming in a becoming coat suit of grey silk poplin with which was worn a dainty blouse of white Georgette crepe. A stylish hat of Georgette crepe with slightly drooping brim was trimmed with coral ribbon and a silver ornament completing the pretty costume. A corsage bouquet of white roses was worn at the waist.

The bridesmaid was very attractive in a pretty gown of white marquisette and lace, with pointed tulle, large round collar and short sleeves. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Mary Leonard, a sunny disposition and attractive personality endearing her to a large circle of friends.

Daily Thought
From the moment woman set about doing things for reasons, instead of merely finding reasons for what she wanted to do, there was no saying what mischief she would be at next. G. H. Shaw

Just a Delicate Hint
Allen, aged five, was passing the afternoon with his aunt in the suburbs, and after he had been at play for a time he said: "Aunt Mary, mamma said I wasn't to ask you for a piece of pie, but she didn't tell me not to take it if you offered it to me."

Two Classes
The college is divided into two classes—those who wear a stiff collar on Sundays and those who do not—Yale Record.

Hardly Possible Happening
If the sea were to rise or the land fall 20 feet the Delaware and Chesapeake bays would disappear.
