BRUSSELS, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The far Eastern peace conference yesterday succumbed to failure in its efforts to negotiate a Chinese war settlement and left it up to the United States to take the lead in applying force against Japan.

The conference, angrily breaking off all negotiations with the Tokyo government, adopted a declaration branding Japan as an outlaw among peace-loving nations.

France, Italy, fighting Japan's ally within the conference and members of the new German-Italian-Japanese alliance, voted against the declaration on the grounds that it "opens the door for grave complications instead of for a settlement."

Denmark, Norway and Sweden, formerly allied in the Old "covenant group" and fearful of the consequences of forceful measures against the Japanese, abstained from voting although they approved the resolution of censure "in principle."

Despite Italy's negative vote Belgian Foreign Minister Paul Spaak, president of the conference, declared the declaration adopted.

The delegates of the 19 powers adjourned at 5:15 P. M. until next Monday afternoon to wait and see whether the United States will abandon her traditional isolationist policy and take leadership in applying strict measures—such as supplying arms and munitions to China—against the Japanese.

If Congress, which met in Washington today almost at the hour Norman H. Davis was casting the vote of the United States in favor of censure of Japan, refuses to alter the U. S. neutrality law the peace conference is doomed to absolute failure.

For without American leadership both Britain and France—deeply involved in European complications—will refuse to step out with any stern measures against Japan.

Delegates were pessimistic over the possibilities of any mandate from Congress to bolster President Roosevelt's recent attack on "aggressor" nations and his proposal for a "quarantine" of treaty-breakers.

Unless Congress modifies the neutrality law the United States can not take leadership because a formal declaration of war in the Far East would force President Roosevelt automatically to declare an embargo on arms and credits for either Japan or China.

Some delegates, foreseeing collapse of the conference, were already intimating that they would like to place on the United States responsibility for its failure.

The Scandinavian delegates, asking what the future course of the conference would be, were told by Spaak that it would be governed by the last paragraph of the declaration stating that the powers "must now consider what their common attitude will be."

Grand Jury Starts Plans Are Made "Big Shot" Roundup In Lottery Racket

Continued From Page One—An and alert grand jury went about its duty of clamping down on gambling rackets. Prospects of a fine, it was pointed out, hold no terrors for professional gamblers whose profits run into the tens of thousands but the thought of a jail sentence was said to be running the "big shots" to cover.

Along with many favorable comments heard on the streets regarding the action of the Grand Jury came simultaneously a public appeal by the Ministerial Association of Sanford to support the law enforcement officers in their drive to stamp out gambling. Characterizing lotteries as "a serious menace not only to good morals but to business as well," the Ministerial Association said "it is distinctly and definitely a low form of gambling."

Foreman of the Grand Jury is J. H. Colclough. The other members are: J. M. Hinesipher, clerk, Gus Schmah, C. N. Hudson, H. Grant, Walter S. Coleman, Howard Boteler, J. T. McLain, Jr., H. L. Final plans for their annual Thanksgiving Basket were discussed at the regular meeting of Troop 14 of the Boy Scouts of America, termed by officials the largest meeting of the fall season.

Next Monday evening, it was stated, their Venture Service, Charles Part, Lyman Baker, Clifford Proctor, J. N. Fields, Charles Vinning, Robert Alken, Eugene Davis, and Jimmy Carter. Government Of Chinese Moves Out Of Nanking

Hankow, 300 Miles To West, Becomes Seat Of Civil Authority

NANKING, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The Chinese government decided tonight to move to Hankow on the Yangtze nearly 300 miles to the west because of the threat to the capital by the Japanese armies advancing from Shanghai. Civil departments will be removed but officials emphasized that this did not mean abandonment of the capital and they agreed that the army would defend Nanking until the last with Chiang Kai-Shek, premier-Generalissimo himself in command.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Thousands of panic-stricken Chinese fled from three of China's great cities tonight to escape advancing Japanese armies and widespread bombing by Japanese warplanes. The great exodus was underway from Nanking, the nation's capital and the object of the tremendous Japanese drive into the interior from Shanghai.

Similarly civilians were fleeing from Tainan, Shanghai province capital north of the Shanghai war area, and from Soochow, the central point in the Chinese defense lines between Shanghai and Nanking. Japanese planes dumped bombs over the widespread area of Shanghai peninsula to smooth the way to Nanking for troops and naval vessels.

Foreign military observers predicted the Japanese could reach Nanking within a month. Peking's bombed harbor on the water route to Nanking, and Chinese troop concentrations between the Chinese defense lines and Nanking.

By highways, rivers and canals the civilian population was leaving Nanking by thousands, spurred by reports of terrible destruction inflicted on Soochow by Japanese bombing planes. The normal population of Nanking is over 1,000,000.

Seven hundred bombs within 20 hours were said to have made a shambles of Soochow, city of 250,000 some 50 miles west of Shanghai, keypoint in China's Hindenburg line, formerly one of the country's most picturesque and prosperous cities.

Government officials remained in Nanking. The government announced determination to defend it to the last. This raised fears Nanking would suffer punishment similar to that of Soochow.

Yuanwards of the Japanese army, heavily reinforced by newly arrived troops, were reported within 12 miles of Soochow, having swept westward after the capture of Kunshan, 20 miles east of Soochow. Japanese lines still were 400

Senate Delays FDR Program In First Move

Continued From Page One—right this Fall. And all the reserves of individuals, corporations, municipalities, and States have been wiped out and the country as a whole is in nowhere near as good shape to meet the Roosevelt depression as it was to meet the depression of 1932.

The cause of the present depression, Spell argued, is a nationwide lack of confidence in the administration.

"I don't think they'll say any more about a chicken in every pot under Hoover, for they haven't got even a blackbird in every pot under Roosevelt," he snapped.

"How long we are going to get along experimenting and guessing, I don't know. But the American people are getting sick of these jumps in the dark."

In a statement commenting upon President Roosevelt's message to Congress today, John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican National Committee, declared: "Republicans in and out of Congress can be hopeful now that their repeated warnings have forced the President Roosevelt at last to face realities. He finally promises us tax revision. His promises are indefinite as usual but it does seem that the 'Roosevelt recession' has taught even Mr. Roosevelt that you cannot ignore economic laws and get away with it forever."

"When he spoke of taxes today Mr. Roosevelt might well have repeated the words he used in October, 1932, and then so soon 125 to 150 miles southeast of Nanking, but foreign military observers predicted they could reach the Chinese capital by mid-December. The Japanese were advancing in a fan-shaped formation nearly 100 miles long, stretching from the Yangtze River southward well into Northern Chekiang Province, with the center before Soochow.

Foreign advices said the bombing of Soochow had inflicted terrible casualties and enormous damage. Heavily further west, also was being punished. Japanese spokesmen said the bombings were necessary to "create panic among Chinese troops falling back to those points."

Dr. H. P. Eitinger, Austrian official in the Chinese Medical Service, reported that many wounded and the entire staff in a Soochow dressing station simply disappeared when the station was hit by a huge bomb.

Seventy Japanese warships were reported concentrated in the lower Yangtze River west of Taungjing Island to support the landings and islands (islands of fresh Japanese columns. On this wing the Japanese said they had advanced to within sight of the walls of Changshu, 25 miles north of Soochow, and threatened to cut off some 50,000 Chinese soldiers fleeing from Kunshan and Tainan.

forget. At that time he said: "Taxpayers are paid in the sweat of every man who labors... Our workers may never see a tax bill but they pay in deductions from wages, in increased cost of what they buy or, as now, in broad cessation of employment."

"We Republicans ever since have been reminding him of those words. At last our warnings have taken effect."

Indictments By Grand Jury Slated Friday

Lottery Tickets Are Scarce In Sanford As Grand Jury Adjourns Until Friday

Ritz "Bank Night" Is Interrupted

Deputies Seize Equipment In Sudden Descent Upon Theater

The Grand Jury which has been conducting an investigation into gambling operations in Seminole County adjourned yesterday afternoon after interrogating for 48 hours a parade of witnesses known to have been identified at one time or another with the "Cuba" or "Bolita" rackets in this section. The group is expected to meet again Friday morning at which time indictments, if any, will be returned.

Lottery tickets were scarce as hunters today as backers of the various systems ran for cover under the pressure of the Grand Jury investigation and an aroused public opinion. Early this afternoon there was considerable speculation among those who early in the week had purchased tickets, as to whether the backers would actually pay off.

Government Aid For Farms Said Favored By Geo. Washington

MOUNT VERNON, Virginia, Nov. 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today that George Washington's career made "almost certain" the first bill that would have favored the present-day government action to aid farmers.

Washington, Mr. Roosevelt said, showed by his own words "that he considered agricultural production even in his time to be much more than a local matter."

The President's remarks were delivered to the presidents of land grant colleges and universities gathered at Washington's home in connection with the 7th anniversary of the establishment of the agriculture department.

Because the Chief Executive was confined to the White House with a tooth ailment, his remarks were read by Secretary Wallace.

Advertise Old Goods And Help Business

The exchange of commodities is what is commonly known as business. When this exchange is rapid, business is said to be good; when it is slow, business is bad. One of the greatest handicaps to an exchange of new commodities is the difficulty of disposing of used goods.

The automobile dealer can't sell many new cars unless he finds a buyer for the customer's old car; a man in a market for a new radio or a new refrigerator can hardly be sold unless some disposition can be made of the old ones; a hunter who would like to buy a new gun hesitates because the old one will still be on his hands.

The hat could be added to indefinitely, but this would gain us nothing. What is important is for people to realize that through a more rapid exchange of used goods there will follow a quickened sale of new products. Both the individual and the merchant stand to gain.

The best way to speed up the exchange of used goods and thereby under the economic blood stream is to advertise in the classified sections of the Sanford Herald. A wider use of this medium will result in more prosperity for every one.

Hunting Season In Florida Opens Saturday Morning

County Judge's Office Open Evenings For License Sales

The boom of hunters' guns will soon echo through Seminole County as sportsmen tramp the woods and swamps in quest of game.

The hunting season officially opens at sunrise Saturday morning and many local sportsmen are greasing up their guns and water-proofing their boots in preparation for the opening day. The open season for ducks, however, does not begin until the day after Thanksgiving.

The sale of hunting licenses points to the fact, Judge H. W. Ware asserted, that a large number of persons will rush into his office at the last minute for their hunting licenses.

Up to the present time he has sold approximately 188 licenses as compared with the approximate 600 sold last season. In order that those who have put off purchasing their licenses may obtain one before the opening of the season, Judge Ware stated that his office will be open Thursday and Friday evening until about 8:30 o'clock.

With the advent of hunting also is revealed the fact that annually, according to statistics, there are from 300 to 400 deaths each month during the hunting season.

The National Rifle Association has advocated the following rules for hunters in an effort to reduce this annual toll of accidental deaths:

1. Never allow the muzzle of a gun to point to anything at which it is not intended to shoot.
2. Never touch a gun while the muzzle is pointed at any part of the body.
3. Never stand in front of any one loading a gun.
4. Never cock the gun and pull the trigger for fun.
5. Never shoot directly at a flat, hard surface as the bullet is bound to ricochet.
6. Never handle a gun without first opening the breech to be sure the gun is unloaded.
7. Never carry a gun loaded except when hunting and then be sure the gun is in a safe position.
8. Never climb a fence without first getting the gun through the fence first and climbing over on some other point.
9. Always give the gun a thorough cleaning after firing.

Market Made Ready For Its Biggest Year

Manager Michael Reports Many New Improvements As Winter Season Begins

Extensive preparations for the largest season in its history are being made at the Florida State Farmers Wholesale Market including many innovations whereby patrons can be served more efficiently than ever before, J. G. Michael, market manager stated today.

The building of a fence in front of the market and remodeling the market restaurant are the latest improvements being made, Mr. Michael said.

Price J. Angel, Sanford restaurant operator, opened the restaurant earlier in the week after supervising extensive renovations to the building and adding additional equipment in order to serve satisfactorily his patrons during the coming season.

In discussing the construction of the fence, the Market Manager stated that it was not his objective to exclude any farmers or buyers from the market but to provide greater safety for patrons and obtain a closer survey on the operation of the Market by checking all produce as it enters the gate.

"This fence idea is not a new idea with those connected with the Market, its advantages and disadvantages have been studied carefully by the Supervisory Committee of the Market and it was decided to build it only after the approval of many farmers, dealers on the Market, and truck buyers who come to the Market," Mr. Michael said.

"There are several reasons for the fence," Mr. Michael continued, "the principal reasons are as follows: First, to make only one entrance into the Market and one way drive around the Market in order to secure a more orderly flow of traffic, thus avoiding probable accidents. Second, a man will be posted at the gate to welcome both buyers and sellers, acquaint them with the Market's method of operation, assign all those who wish to sell their own produce to proper stalls, advise as to traffic regulations, get the names and addresses of all buyers who come into the Market, answer questions and, in general, try to make everyone feel at home. Third, inasmuch as much trouble has been experienced in trying to keep children, especially those on bicycles, from getting killed, or injured, these children will be kept away from the Market unless accompanied by parents. Fourth, to keep hitch hikers, tramps, etc., out of the Market. Fifth, all incoming produce will be checked so that an accurate record may be kept of the volume of business handled by the Market yearly."

"One particular fact that we want to impress upon every farmer is that he can sell his own goods on the Market if he wishes so to do. No sales will be allowed on the grounds, however. Every load of unsold produce entering the Market will be assigned to a stall and the owner will be privileged to sell it to anyone he sees fit, whether it be to a dealer on the Market, a truck buyer, a merchant, or what not, as long as it is sold at wholesale. No retail sales are allowed."

"In putting this system into effect, the Market is asking for the co-operation of all interested parties. The market is here to help and not hinder and if you are asked by the 'man at the gate' to park here, or there, remember that the request is made only in order to make for a more orderly system of handling the produce grown by Florida farmers."

Elks "Little Colonel" Buried In Umatilla

Linnard Jones, known as the "Little Colonel" to his many friends in the Elks Lodge, an inmate of a crippled children's hospital in Umatilla, was buried yesterday, according to George Thurston, Exalted Ruler of the Sanford Lodge.

The Elks, it was stated, had cared for the lad at the Harry Ann's home for a number of years and he was always pointed out to visitors of the home because of his outstanding personality in spite of his incurable condition.

The boy was bedridden from 1923 until his death Sunday, suffering from tuberculosis of the spine.

Floral offerings from many admirers surrounded the little coffin yesterday. There were flowers from a conscript in an out-of-state prison. Others bore the cards of Governor Clegg and former Governor Sholtz. Some came from New York bankers, from circus officials and from persons in Pennsylvania, Connecticut and California.

The boy was buried at Umatilla.

Sanford Line Stops Miller But Lose As Leesburg Noses Out 6-0 Win Over Blackcats

Sanford Offensive Is Weak But Miller's Outfit Has To Take To Air For Yardage In Battle Of Defensive Power

Displaying a defense that couldn't be downed by the Leesburg offense, Coach B. A. H. Wilkinson's Sanford Semi-Pro Blackcats returned from Leesburg last night with a moral victory tucked under their belts although they went down fighting by a score of 6 to 0 in favor of the Leesburg Lions headed by George Miller.

Sanford had formed a defense which it was boasted would stop the Lee Miller but all Leesburg and Leesburg backers thought it "hollywood" and predicted that Miller would go wild but something happened to Miller and what it was is almost unbelievable.

Miller carried the oval 12 times during the ball game and on one of the punts he traveled 16 yards and that left a total gain of 9 yards during the other 11 trips with the ball and for the first time in Miller's football career he was stopped and by a semi-pro football team.

The Sanford outfit while stopping Miller completely, found Pop Lambert, 200 pound fullback, a man who carried off much of the game's honors along with halfback Dave Davis and Lambert's passes were the only offensive strength that Leesburg displayed throughout the evening.

Subsidy Recommended To Develop Flying

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The Maritime Commission recommended to Congress today that loans and subsidies be made available for developing trans-oceanic aircraft. The proposal was included in a report on foreign air commerce.

The Commission emphasized, however, that there is no need at the present for aircraft subsidies comparable to those granted surface shipping. The principal need now, the Commission said, is for 75 percent construction loans to help swing "the high initial engineering development cost" of the huge new flying boats.

Labor Committee Renews Its Effort To Compel Consideration Of Legislation

Senate In Fight Over Lynch Bill

Southern Filibuster Is In Progress To Defeat Measure

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The House Labor Committee renewed its effort to force consideration of the Administration's wage-hour bill today while Congress consumed more of the annual session in talk rather than legislative work.

Chairman Norton, New Jersey Democrat, announced that only two of 21 labor committee members had voted for recalling the bill for reconsideration. She said the committee majority would wait to obtaining the necessary number of signatures—218—on the petition that would bring the measure direct to the House floor.

The wages and hours bill has been tied up in the House since the last session. Across the Capitol, the Senate remained in the grip of a southern filibuster against anti-lynching bill. Senator Cullum, Texas Democrat, had the floor.

Ware Issues New Appeal For Help On Annual Drive

The People of Seminole County are not responding to the annual Red Cross Roll Call as they should, County Judge E. W. Ware, chairman of the Roll Call Committee, asserted today.

The response of the people of the community is not so good as in previous years, the Chairman of the Drive, said, and pointed to the need for additional workers as one of the causes and requested that anyone who could devote a portion of his time to the annual drive contact Mrs. Karl Nordgren, chairman of the City Committee.

To correct the belief that Seminole County did not derive any benefits from the money collected in the drive, Judge Ware pointed out that if a dollar was paid for a membership, 50 cents of this was spent directly in Seminole County for local relief, and the other 50 cents sent to the National Association. Any amount over the 50 cents sent to the national Association is spent in this County, he said.

The quota for this County for this year has been set at 400 members and up to the present time approximately 100 have been secured.

The drive closes Thanksgiving Day and the Chairman of the Drive requests the people of Sanford and Seminole County to cooperate to make it the outstanding success it has been in previous years.

Florida's Destiny Closely Allied With Agriculture

By L. M. RHODES
State Marketing Commissioner

Florida's destiny is to be one of the most advanced agricultural regions in the North American continent and the woody portion of it is particularly fitted for the production of high class and sea island cotton. One would mean $10,000,000,000 additional income to the Nation, $4,000,000,000 more to the 16 Southern States, and $180,000,000 additional to the income of Florida. Since the work of the Chemurgic Council is of vast importance to Florida, its possibilities are unlimited and the value of its services hard to estimate. It is estimated that new uses of agricultural products and saving of the waste products of the farm, through chemical discovery application, invention, and advancement will double the income of the farms of the United States in a decade. Since 40 percent of our national income is from the South, and 1 1/2 percent from Florida, the doubling of our agricultural income during the next 10 years be properly placed, efficiently managed, and not overdone in number, so they will not collapse of their own weight or be destroyed by competition. The Marketing Bureau has furnished rules and regulations for the operation of these markets, supplied them with market news, information and Federal-State shipping point inspection, acted in an advisory capacity, and rendered every service possible. But since the Marketing Bureau touches in market news reports, Federal-State shipping point inspection, marketing advice, cooperative sales, and other services, the sales of practically all the marketing transactions in the State, and a very small percentage of the farm products of the State is sold through these markets, space does not permit me to give them the personal attention I would like to. Certainly Farmers' Markets, to supply the ever-increasing truck movements, are destined to play an important part in the marketing of the agricultural products of Florida, if Florida is to play an important part in the food supply of, and contribute materially to the health and prosperity of the entire nation.

WAR ON SPENDING

Florida ships one out of every 10 cars of fresh fruits and vegetables produced in the United States. Our groves and vegetable farms are within 1,000 miles or 26 to 48 hours of the great market centers which distribute these products to 70 per cent of our total population. But the economic changes taking place in the Southern States, or 1-3 of the states in the Union, of which Florida is one, the magnitude of Southern industry, the tremendous rapidity of its recent advancement, involving the expenditure of $1,000,000,000 since 1930, $450,000,000 of which was spent in 1935, in constructing, improving, enlarging, and modernizing the industrial capacity of the Southern States will greatly increase the demand for Florida products and give Florida greater marketing opportunities. These states are at the very marketing threshold of Florida, three twelve within 24 hours run by truck or train. This group of 15 Southern States which are in the very front yard of Florida have 22 percent of the area, 28 percent of the population, 24 percent of the wealth, 19 percent of the manufacturing, 28 percent of the agriculture, 26 percent of the railroads, 38 percent of the high ways, 25 percent of the total income of the United States and furnishes 24 percent of all our exports and only imports 13 percent of all our imports. This rapidly growing section had an output in 1935 of manufacturing $9,500,000,000; agriculture $4,000,000,000; mines, quarries and wells $1,000,000,000; a total material income of more than $15,000,000,000, and paid wages amounting to $1,500,000,000. The wholesale trade of these 15 Southern States was $11,500,000,000, and the retail trade was $8,500,000,000; a total of $20,000,000,000. This is the fertile field at our door, in which to market Florida products, easily accessible to our Farmers' Markets by truck or rail.

WAR ON SPENDING

Some of these requirements will be unifying efforts of all selling agencies; meeting competition with appearance and quality; advertising to increase and maintain demand; secure a just and fair rate structure, so as to expand our marketing territory; match centralized buying power with organized selling power, being able to furnish excellent quality in sufficient quantities; market products that can meet the most rigid specifications in the trade, and increase the consumer; eliminate destructive competition in the ranks of our own industry; put ourselves in position to cooperate with other producing sections of the United States, in regulating the supply of similar products to key markets. This may require new concepts of unified effort, and mutual well-being; the exercise of collective common sense.

Freddie Employs Strategy To Get First Long Pants

By FREDDIE BARTHOLOMEW
HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 17.—I finally have my much desired long pants. Of course, my Aunt Cissie naturally didn't want me to go into long pants, feeling, as most mothers do, that her boy will be a man when he goes out of short pants.

Cissie postponed the time when I should leave short pants for so long that I decided to take matters in my own hands.

I might mention at this time that the publicity department was also somewhat against my going into long pants, because the studio wished to keep me the little English boy wearing short pants. Perhaps this was done so that there would be something about me which would be a little unusual to Americans. What with the publicity department against me, and Cissie against me, I didn't have a chance in the world, so I decided to use strategy.

I proceeded to make an agreement with Cissie that I would wear short pants for a year, unless long ones were given to me. I then took my strategy and agreement to Col. W. H. Nellett, our attorney, who immediately fought me some logic.

When I walked into Cissie (I say walked, but I was really strutting like a drum major) her face was a study of mixed amazement and sadness. I reminded her of the clause in our agreement and bared that they had been

'RECEIVED' OWN KICK

GOLDEN, Colo., Nov. 17.—(AP)—George Rout, Western State halfback, "received" his own kick-off for a touchdown. Rout booted a long one against Colorado Mines. A Mines player only touched the ball, which rolled across the goal line. Rout galloped downfield and fell on the oval in the end zone.

I think, although I am not sure, that I have almost fully reconciled her to the fact that I am now definitely and officially in long pants, and that as for our agreement, she can't do a thing about it!

As for myself I made sure of my victory by quickly getting rid of all my short pants.

Japan Completes Virtual Conquest Of North China

Area Equal To Germany, France And Spain Is Captured

By TAYLOR HUNNEY
AP Foreign Service Writer
Three months of "almost" war for control of the Shanghai delta, has effectively screened Japan's virtual conquest of China's five northern provinces—an area equal to that of France, Germany and Spain combined and with a population only slightly less than the United States.

By a strategic feat at Shanghai, the Japanese have held the flower of China's German-trained army to the defense of 500 square miles of rice-paddy terrain which they swept over 200,000 square miles of North China, an empire twice the size of Japan.

The war at Shanghai started August 12—just three months ago. But the real struggle began in North China last July 7 when night maneuvering Japanese troops clashed with Chinese 10 miles west of Peiping.

Under the protocol signed after the 1900 Boxer uprising of Chinese against foreigners, Japan, and other world powers, maintained a North China garrison. Troops of that garrison engaged the Chinese guards at Marco Polo bridge at midnight July 7. No one knows who fired the first shot.

Similar incidents had occurred before, ending with Japan gaining the new concessions from China. This time, however, a China made nationalistic-conscious by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek began moving in troops for determined resistance.

Those troops, ill-trained and half-equipped provincials that they were, countered the Japanese drive for a month while the national government prepared to move in its well-trained and fully equipped regular army. At that point the pattern of Japanese strategy took on familiar shape and the war shifted suddenly to Shanghai just as in 1932.

On August 9 Chinese killed two Japanese marines outside the Shanghai airdrome. China said they were spies. Japan asserted it was the latest of a long series of unprovoked attacks and her international settlement guards began to take defensive measures. Chinese troops rolled into the area and on August 12 fighting broke out in the northeastern quarter of the International Settlement. China had no alternative but to fight for Shanghai, since it guards the approach to Nanking, capital of General Chiang, whom the Japanese had determined to eliminate from the Chinese government.

In those three months probably one of the most concentrated battles in history has been fought on the area, crisscrossed by rivers and small creeks, northwest of Shanghai.

Shanghai itself has probably known graver horrors of war than any other modern city; thousands of civilians killed in air raids, vast areas of the native city used out, hundreds of millions of dollars of property destroyed.

Military experts agree that possibly 500,000 troops have been engaged along the 25-mile battle zone from Shanghai northwest to the Yangtze river as well as hundreds of warplanes and more than three-fourths of the Japanese navy.

Under the continual pounding of the guns of the Japanese fleet and the deadly raids of her modern warplanes, the Chinese slowly have been forced back, but not without terrible losses to both in troops and determined resistance.

Three times they fought back Japanese efforts to land before sufficient Japanese troops got a foothold for the drive inland. Then, doggedly fighting each step of the way, the Chinese withdrew to their first line of defense after exactly a month of almost continuous battle.

There they held out for six weeks until they retired Oct. 26 to their long-prepared "winter line" about five miles to the rear and completely out of range of the Japanese fleet.

Against that line the Japanese have massed the full force of their superior mechanized army for repeated smashing efforts to cut off the Chinese right flank from the protection of the neutral international settlement.

But while the Chinese in the south held the Japanese advance to a scant 20 miles, Chinese resistance in the north all but collapsed without the support of the Chi-new regulars being used at Shanghai and Japan began consolidation of her conquest of North China's five provinces of Chahar, Hopei, Shantung, Suiyuan and Shensi.

WHEN RESCUE FOR SHIPWRECKED SAILOR NEARED

This remarkable picture of rescue at sea shows one of the sailors of the Greek freighter Tseny Chandria, arms extended and supported by a life belt, just before he was snatched from the dreath waters off Cape Hatteras by a rescue crew from the coast guard cutter Mendota. The Greek ship, carrying a cargo of scrap-iron, sank off the treacherous coast of North Carolina when it ran into a storm. Fifteen of the crew were rescued.

'LET 'EM GO!'—AND GO THEY DID!

At the signal cry, "Let 'em go," the bluebloods of American hounds, take to the field in the furtry chase of the National Foxhunting Association near Jackson, Tenn. Eager as race horses, 103 dogs broke from their handlers at the shrill cry from the master of hounds.

France Denies Ultimatum On War Shipping

Japanese Agree That "Warning" Against Sales To Chinese Was Not Ultimatum

Japs Proclaim Blockade Rights

Material Aid To China Would Be Hostile Act, Japanese Say

PARIS, Nov. 18.—(AP)—French Foreign Office and the Japanese Embassy formally denied today that France had received an "ultimatum" from Japan to cease transporting war materials to China over the French-owned railroad from Indo-China to Yunnan. Nevertheless Senator Harry Berenger, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who declared in a speech that Japan had "warned" France, still insisted his statement held good since he had not used the word "ultimatum."

In Brussels it was said Japan would regard as a hostile act by the countries concerned any decision by the Brussels conference to accede to China's appeal for material aid in the Far Eastern conflict.

If the Brussels conference of 19 countries decides upon aid to China, as asked by Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese ambassador to France and conference delegate, Japanese circles said, Japan would have to consider the situation "very seriously."

Bishop Of Puerto Rico Preaches Here Soon

The Rt. Rev. Charles Blayney Coleman, Bishop of Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, will preach at the Holy Cross Episcopal Church here Sunday, according to the Rev. Martin J. Bean, pastor of the church. The Rev. Coleman has served as Bishop in the mission work for 24 years and has had considerable experience even prior to that time. In 1905 he went to Cuba to become the Dean of the Trinity Cathedral in Havana and has served in that field since that time.

Advertise Old Goods And Help Business

The exchange of commodities is what is commonly known as business. When this exchange is rapid, business is said to be good; when it is slow, business is bad. One of the greatest handicaps to an exchange of new commodities is the difficulty of disposing of used goods.

The automobile dealer can't sell many new cars unless he finds a buyer for the customer's old car; a man in the market for a new radio or a new refrigerator can hardly be sold unless some disposition can be made of the old ones; a hunter who would like to buy a new gun hesitates because the old one will still be on his hands.

The list could be added to indefinitely, but this would gain us nothing. What is important is for people to realize that through a more rapid exchange of used goods there will follow a quickened sale of new products. Both the individual and the merchant stand to gain.

The best way to speed up the exchange of used goods and thereby unblock the economic blood stream is to advertise in the classified section of The Sanford Herald. A wider use of this medium will result in more prosperity for every one.
